FLOYD MINES TO OPERATE, FULL SCALE

MIDDLE CR. MINE SHIPS 200 CARS DURING WEEK

Every coal mine in Floyd county today (Thursday) will either be running coal onto tipples or will be cleaned up for later heavy runs. It was predicted here as word came that an agreement had been reached between Southern operators and the United Mine Workers of America.

The agreement came at the instigation of President Roosevelt himself after the Labor Mediation Board had failed in its negotiations between workers and operators. It, in effect, raises the wages of Southern coal field workers $1 a day—from $5.60 to $6.60 a day, while the Northern coal field contract provides for a daily wage of $7.00.

This agreement is temporary, however, until a final settlement can be reached, since John L. Lewis, UMWA leader, demands the same wage scale in both sections. The 40-cent pay differential still faces negotiators on a retroactive basis.

As Floyd mines were ready to resume operations, two new mines are entering the field. The Princess Elkhorn Coal Company on Middle Creek will begin work when the "all clear" signal is given, has been ready for a week now. On Johns Branch, near Maytown, the Reed interests have their tipples installed and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company has laid to the scene of future operation. This mine will by May 15 be one of the section's big producers, it is predicted.

Princess Elkhorn on Middle Creek, is preparing for work ahead, has stored huge quantities of coal weeks. This week, it was reported, around 200 carloads of coal were shipped from the mine from this storeroom, and the entire tonnage, it is said, was purchased by the rail company.

Death of Cancer Fatal Friday Mrs. Layne

Long ill with cancer, Mrs. Molly Layne, 60 years old, wife of Tom Layne, died Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Bill Robinson, of Mossy Bottom, Floyd county.

Daughter of the late James and Honaker Cecil, Mrs. Layne was born and reared in the Betsy Layne community. She had been a devout member of the Freewill Baptist church for more than a quarter of a century.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son and two daughters: Ernest Layne and Mrs. Madge Cyphers, of Betsy Layne, and Mrs. Robinson of Mossy Bottom; also by two brothers and one sister: Malcolm Cecil, Cincinnati, O.; John Cecil, Logan, W. Va., and Mrs. Minnie Woods, Allegheny, Pa.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the Betsy Layne school building, the Rev. Jesse Maynard, Isaac Stratton and A. Wright officiating. Burial was made in the Loar cemetery at Betsy Layne.

P'BURG HIGH GRAD ACTING AS JUDGE IN DEBATE MEET

Robert Runnels, son of Mrs. W. P. Runnels, West Prestonsburg, and a sophomore at Berea College, is in Lexington this week acting as a judge in the national high school speech tournament being held there at Henry Clay high school. Mr. Runnels is a member of the Berea College debate team.

District debate winners from Maine to California are competing in the tourney for national honors in debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, declamation and humorous reading.

The National Forensic League, of which all high schools competing are members, has chapters in leading high schools of the country. Prestonsburg high school is a member of the League, and Mr. Runnels was, as a student here, a charter member.

BAILEY HELD IN SLAYING

MARTIN COUNTY MAN IS IN JAIL HERE, AWAITING ACTION

Five of eight persons arrested in the strangulation-slaying of Mrs. Gladys Chafin Bailey, 23, were held to the May grand jury at the conclusion of an examining trial Friday before Martin County Judge J. C. Fletcher at Inez.

Wallace Bailey, 24, husband of the slain woman; Elsie McCoy, 16, and Amos Jarrell, 19, and Elmer Jarrell, 22, brothers, were bound over without bond on murder charges. Dock McCoy, 19, a cousin of Elsie, was held on $2,000 bond as an accessory after the fact.

Wallace Bailey was brought to the Floyd county jail for safekeeping till action is taken by the grand jury.

Those released were Tivis Jarrell, Dorothy McCoy and Doug Chapman.

Mrs. Bailey's partly nude body was found April 13 on the Kentucky bank of the Tug river, near the Kermit toll bridge.

County Attorney J. Blaine Clarke said remarks made by Elsie McCoy after the body had been found "broke" the case. He said testimony presented at the examining trial supported the state's contention that Bailey strangled his wife so that he could marry Elsie McCoy and that Amos and Elmer Jarrell and Dock McCoy were with him either at the time of the slaying or shortly thereafter.

In his argument to the court he contended that the slaying was the result of a well formulated plot conceived some weeks ago.

Mrs. Mary Chafin, mother of the slain woman, said her daughter had left home on the night she was killed to meet Bailey in an effort to "patch up troubles" prior to the birth of her second child.

21 CARLOADS OF FOOD SENT

BY WPA TO MEET LABOR SHUT-DOWN EMERGENCY

Twenty-one carloads of foodstuffs were ordered shipped this week to Floyd county to meet the emergency created by unemployment of miners, it was announced by WPA officials.

County Judge E. P. Hill said Monday that 3,334 mine families will be certified for WPA aid, and referral agency workers here were expected to certify entire lists of needy mine workers as furnished by local union authorities.

The 21 carloads of foodstuffs en route here are approximately 15 carloads more than the monthly supply sent to Floyd county, it was said.

Although the wage dispute is temporarily settled, it is believed that the commodities will be distributed as planned to the miners.

25 Per Cent Raise Threatened Floyd For Taxation

County Judge E. P. Hill this week received notice from the State Tax Commission that a hearing will be held in the tax commission's offices, Frankfort, on a proposed blanket increase on Floyd county real estate.

The increase has been tentatively set at 25 per cent on town lots and lands.

Floyd county's total assessment, as submitted to the tax commission, is $9,081,584.

He has been granted a temporary discharge from service because of repeated attacks of air-sickness, but will be recalled in about 90 days, when he will enter an officer's training school for a special course in bombing, with a base pay of $75 per month. On the completion of this course he will receive his commission as Lieutenant with $245 per month base pay.

EARL COMES HOME

Pvt. Earl B. Martin, former assistant editor of THE TIMES, spent the week-end at Minnie with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Martin. Earl was recently transferred from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, to Ft. Thomas, Ky. With the Cincinnati Reds playing across the river, how they're gonna keep Earl away from the ball game is now the U. S. Army's problem.

W'WRIGHT MAN ASPHYXIATED

IS CORONER JURY'S VERDICT IN DEATH OF McILORY

That John Thomas McIlory, 27, who was found dead in a Wheelwright bathroom Sunday evening, died of accidental asphyxiation, was the opinion expressed by a jury empaneled Monday by Coroner Elliott Prater.

Physical evidence indicated that McIlory, manager of the soda fountain operated at Wheelwright for the colored, had, in preparing to take a bath, turned the gas flame under the heater too high and died of the fumes. He was found on the bathroom floor in the home of John Roup where he was a roomer.

McIlory, it was said, was preparing to leave Sunday night for Western Kentucky whither his wife had preceded him to operate a drygoods business of which he was half-owner.

Physicians employed artificial respiration for three hours in an effort to resuscitate him, it was said.

The victim was a member of a well-known Springfield, Ky., family, and had many friends in the upper Left Beaver section. He came to this county, shortly after his marriage, late in 1939. The body was taken to Springfield for burial.

SINGERS FROM FLOYD WIN HIGH HONORS AT FESTIVAL

Competing with more than 1,000 other singers from Kentucky high schools, Prestonsburg students Friday in the 17th annual state high school music festival at Lexington collected perhaps more high rankings than any other Kentucky school of commensurate size, it was said this week.

Prestonsburg singers collected one "superior" rating, three "excellent" and four "goods." In addition, 11 students of the school were selected on the basis of their performances in competition to sing in the all-state chorus directed by George Howerton, of Northwestern University, Saturday afternoon.

Jane Carroll Hager, soprano soloist, gained the "superior" rating.

Rating of "excellent" was won by

MISS BOYD, MR. HOLCOMB ARE WED ON APRIL 17

Announcement is made this week by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Boyd, Prestonsburg, of the marriage of their daughter, Madge, to Mr. Eugene Holcomb, Huntington, W. Va., on April 17.

The nuptial ceremony was solemnized at Catlettsburg, Ky., the Rev. W. C. Pierce, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church there, officiating.

The bride, an attractive and popular member of Prestonsburg's young set, is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and later attended Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College, Richmond. Mr. Holcomb, also a graduate of Prestonsburg high school, is a sophomore at Marshall College, Huntington, where he is a pharmaceutical student.

Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb are at home to their friends in Huntington.

MIDDLE CREEK ROAD BROKEN

TO COUNTY LINE, SUPERINTENDENT OF WPA SAYS

W. A. Toney, county superintendent for the Works Progress Administration, announced this week that ground on the Prestonsburg-Salyersville road was broken Monday to the Floyd-Magoffin line and that the route will be completed by June 15, if obstructions are removed along the right-of-way.

The obstructions cited by Mr. Toney are two school buildings and a residence.

THE TIMES was told Tuesday by district highway department headquarters, Pikeville, that the state is ready to award a contract on completion of the Magoffin county end of the route when the Magoffin fiscal court completes purchase of rights-of-way.

Surfacing on the highway in this county, done by WPA labor with county and state machinery, is being kept apace with grade and drain work.

The Left Fork of Middle Creek road, leading to the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company operations on Lick Fork, was recently placed in the hands of the highway department after work had been begun by WPA, but the anticipated contract on the route has not been awarded. "The WPA would have had the work completed by this time, if it had been given the machinery promised," a Works Progress Administration official said this week.

FLOYD PLAIN SONG CHANTERS SET NEW RECORD

Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James and her Plain Song Chanters from Floyd county this week are setting an attendance record at the National Folk Song Festival in Washington, D. C., for singers of ancient ballads.

They left Wednesday for their fourth appearance on the national festival program. No other group has been invited for as many national folk appearances.

To sing the religious chants that date back to Chaucer and which have been preserved in Floyd county's hills—musical gems hidden until discovered or recognized by Mrs. James, a few years ago—the Chanters will sing both Thursday afternoon and evening. They are Mr. and Mrs. Tom James, George Goodman, Albert Hall, Sam Laferty, P. D. Laferty.

TURNER DIES IN EXPLOSION

GAS FIELD WORKER KILLED SUNDAY AT HUEYSVILLE

Decapitated body of J. B. Turner, 52-year-old gas field worker, was found in the yard of his Hueysville home late Sunday afternoon, a matter of seconds after a terrific blast had startled the community from its Sabbath quiet.

The explosion came as members of his family awaited his return to his nearby automobile from the Turner residence which they were vacating to move to Prestonsburg.

The blast, believed to have been that of gelatin or dynamite in close proximity to Turner's head, took place while he was inside an outbuilding at the rear of the home. Roof and walls of the small structure were hurled yards away, in all directions. Outside the building the body was found.

Tragic Coincidence

Mrs. W. N. Martin, who resides at Allen, 15 miles from the scene of the tragedy, was a passenger in an auto passing through Hueysville when the explosion occurred, and saw parts of the building hurtle upward. She hurried to the scene—to find that her brother had been killed.

A jury empaneled by Magistrate Joe Prater held that Mr. Turner came to his death "as the result of an explosive force, the cause of which is unknown." The jury did not attempt to determine if the tragedy was accidental or suicidal.

A son of the late John and Rhoda Gearheart Turner, the victim was born and reared on Salt Lick Creek, a few miles from where he died. He

ROUTE'S SURFACING TO COST $90,000, BID SPECIFIES

Contract for the surfacing of 7.79 miles of the Left Beaver Creek highway from a point near Hunter to the vicinity of Gearheart was awarded last week to the Gay-Coleman Construction Company and the Gorman Construction Company on a bid of $94,000.60.

The surface to be applied to this part of the route is practically the same as that begun last year by the Gay-Coleman Company on a contract for the surfacing of 6.2 miles on the lower end of the road. Last year's work was done with a slag aggregate, while that let to contract last week will be of limestone or gravel aggregate.

Work on the new contract is expected to start as soon as work orders are issued.

The Gay-Coleman Company already is preparing to resume work on the lower section of the road, completion of which was prevented last year by cold weather. The work was not begun there last year till early September.

Last year's contract on 6.2 miles of surfacing was awarded on a bid of $61,788.56, as compared with this latest award of 7.79 miles for $94,000.60.

Other highway contracts awarded for this section of the state follow: Letcher—Surfacing 5.821 miles of Tille-Elsieccal-Flint road, Robert M. Robinson, Owensboro, $61,825.95, traf-

RATLIFF CASE, LAST MURDER TRIAL SET

NO JURY SELECTED FOR MAY TERM OF COURT

Murder docket of the April circuit court term was being ended Wednesday as Tommy Ratliff, charged with the murder of Waid Cross in a hotel room here, was up for trial.

H. H. Ramey, Salyersville attorney, was designated special judge to preside during the trial. Circuit Judge Stephens having disqualified.

The current term ends Saturday, to be followed by the May civil term, beginning Monday.

Circuit Judge Stephens, for the first time in modern Floyd circuit court history, has no jury for the coming court term. He announced that the term will be exclusively devoted to trial of equity cases with which the docket is cluttered. Approximately 1,500 equity cases are on the docket.

"We have the criminal docket now the lowest in my recollection and the ordinary civil docket on a current basis," Circuit Judge Stephens said. "During the May term we hope to get this equity docket down, also."

For the butcher-knife slaying of James Lewis, negro, Ernest Buckner, of the same race, was acquitted last Thursday. He claimed he stabbed Lewis in self-defense after having been attacked, with others standing around him. The Commonwealth contended that Lewis was stabbed when offering no offense or resistance.

Charges of voluntary manslaughter and of failing to stop and render aid, both growing out of the death of Bob Hale, on the Mayo Trail, near Emma, were dismissed against Gene Harris, Prestonsburg man who was accused of driving a truck which was alleged to have struck Hale. Evidence heard failed to establish the fact that Harris was driver of the truck. A FBI agent who examined hairs from Hale's horse and from the truck stated that the samples submitted to him were from a reddish-colored horse but refused to state that they were from the same animal.

Dr. Stumbo Announces Laboratory Opening In Two Hospitals

Installation of a laboratory in each of his two hospitals—the Beaver Valley at Martin and the Stumbo Memorial at Lackey—were announced this week by Dr. W. L. Stumbo as completed in conformance with specifications of the State Board of Health.

At the same time Dr. Stumbo announced the connection with the two hospitals of Pedro Bernaido Bunoan, M.T., of New York, who installed the laboratories and will be technician in charge. Final inspection of the laboratories will be made by the State Board of Health.

Pre-marital blood tests may be quickly procured through the facilities of the two laboratories, it was stated. Among various other laboratory tests now available to the section served by the two hospitals, Dr. Stumbo said, are tissue, basal metabolism, Freedman, blood count and hemoglobin, Weidall and Vandenburg tests.

Hayes, Floyd Student, Morehead Delegate To National Meet

Paul E. Hayes, 18-year-old senior from Fed, this county, was the official delegate of the Morehead State Teachers' College at the four-day convention of the Grand National Student Legislative Assembly held in the Phoenix hotel, Lexington, recently.

Although the membership in the assembly was limited to 150, college students from all parts of the nation were in attendance at this annual meeting. The assembly, sponsored by Winthrop College, was planned to give to civic-minded college students an opportunity to actively participate in the enactment of public legislation. The entire assembly was carried on by the students, free from faculty coaching; students were free to form parties, to elect college student officers, to introduce bills, and to do all other functions which are performed by the Congress of the United States.

Hayes, who is a son of W. P. Hayes, of Fed, was selected to represent Morehead by a committee of faculty members because of his scholarship, his participation in extra-curricular activities, and because of his interest in this type of activity. While at the convention he was elected chairman of the Democratic party caucus; was appointed chairman of the Committee on Taxation, one of the 16 committees in the House of Representatives; and a number of bills were introduced by him, two of which were passed.

Hayes spoke last Thursday before the convocation of the entire college concerning his activities at the convention.

Besides being an honor student at the college, Hayes is president of the college Debate Club, vice-president of the Mathematics and Physics Club, and is an active member of the Future Teachers of America. He will graduate from Morehead in August with a Bachelor of Science degree and with majors in Mathematics and Physics.

through it and remembering the days when we studied grammar much as one might today study Chinese and cross-word puzzles. Be it said at first, the book is astonishingly useful today and could be revised to fit our needs in my own college. The thing that makes the book a piece of folklore is its having influenced so many generations in and out of school.

In our day we memorized definitions and rules as if they were charms. There were twenty-two rules in Harvey, all of which we could parrot off so glibly that people might have thought that we knew what they signified. But grammar was not a matter of using language correctly; we could parse and diagram the longest summer's day and memorize paradigms galore, without ever stopping to correct a single glaring error in our speech. We said, very rapidly and with the superior feeling that comes from perfect memory: "A noun or pronoun used as the predicate of a preposition is in the nominative case." That was good, but we turned right around and said, "This is Jim and me," very much, I fear, as many people still do, whether they were brought up on Harvey or Rigdon or some later grammar. Being able to say the rule was the thing. Basically the rules in Harvey are quite sensible, if they are explained, but whole generations have said this about the preposition: "A preposition is a word that shows relation between its object and the word upon which the latter depends," without an inkling of what "relation" and "latter" mean. If the teacher had suddenly asked us to explain this definition, which she didn't, we would have looked astonished and told her that what we gave was "in the book." In fact, our grammar was in the book but not often in our daily speech. The boy who could diagram the longest, most abstruse sentence in Harvey might still be the worst user of speech in the whole neighborhood, in or out of school.

A thing that impressed me in my recent examination of Harvey was the fact that the illustrative sentences had become a part of our very lives. We took the sentences for more than their use of grammar; they became strange comments on things in general. I remember that somebody in one of the sentences had a "medico-theological exterior," something queer that we did not guess the meaning of, and the teacher did not enlighten us. Also, some girls were "in tears and white muslin" in another sentence; we knew what both were but had difficulty in seeing how girls could be in both at the same time.

Over at the back of the book was a section now omitted from grammar texts, "Prosody." We liked this about as well as diagramming and parsing, for we could scan poetry and read it in a sing-song fashion. Many of the quotations there became a part of our poetical learning, for we memorized them as we memorized everything else, good and bad. One of these quotations has profoundly affected my thinking from that time till this:

"That very law that moulds a tar
 An bids it trickle from its source,
 That law preserves the earth a sphere
 And guides the planets in their course."

Emerson did not say that, but he said the same thing time and again in other words. And thus we little benighted country youngsters, hidden behind the hills and regarded by those who had ever seen us as rather hopeless, had come in our books upon a truth that pushed the hills farther away and opened up a big world that is yet growing wider. And all because Mr. Harvey had to find some illustrations for his grammar, now out of date.

In Rowan county, 600 farmers have placed orders for superphosphate. Lime is being used in larger quantities than ever. "The soil is being improved rapidly, with large, high-quality crops, too," says the county agent, Charles L. Goff.

January 4, 1941

I have this day become a candidate for the office of County Judge of Floyd County on the Republican ticket. If elected, I will build a poor home for the poor people, old men and women who are thrown out on the mercy of the people and not able to maintain a home, and for the little children that are kicked about from pillar to post without a chance in life. Think of the crippled and blind that are mistreated. I pledge my support to extend roads to the isolated and forgotten districts of the county. For results, vote for

DIAL SALISBURY, For County Judge.

To the Democrats of Floyd County: I hereby announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for County Judge.

Everybody who knows me will swear to that. Elect me and I will make you a County Judge serving all the people. If you do not elect me, I will still be the same Doug Hays, serving our party as every good Democrat should.

SOMEBODY HAS A JOB TO DO

WHAT do you associate with Calcutta? To us, mention or sight of the word recalls the Black Hole, that den of death that shamed humanity. But to the city of Calcutta does not belong the blame for that horror-haunted word and spot. The Hole, through the choice and evil of men, happened to afflict the city with its existence.

By the same token Prestonsburg as a town should not be anathematized because of the foul odors that have so long haunted it, miasma-like, from open sewers.

But, to rid itself of a foul and degrading associate, to rid itself of a threat to the public health as well as to atone for unforgettable offense against the olfactory senses, the town must take some action—now.

Either the municipal government must accept this task at least in part as its own responsibility; either that—or three or four citizen(s) must accept it wholly as theirs.

So let us have some action—a decision from the City Council, one direction or other. No further delay, please.

Prestonsburg, a fair name, should not be synonymous with stench!

Ratliff Murder Case Set

When the jury in the trial of Johnnie Prater, charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon, failed to agree, Judge Stephens dismissed two jurors who had heard the case.

Three-year term of Lawson Brown, convicted as an accessory in the slaying at Drift of Lawrence Collins, was probated. In probating the two-year term of Emmitt Tackett who was convicted, several years ago, of manslaughter, Judge Stephens pointed out that Tackett's petition had been supported by affidavits and letters from several prominent citizens and officials and that his act of probation was merely in accordance with promises of clemency said to have been promised Tackett by the late Judge Caudill.

Tivis Colley and Roy Hamilton drew a one-year term for breaking an entering a store.

The grand jury resumed work Tuesday and will adjourn Friday. Ten true bills were reported Tuesday afternoon. Major indictments filed are:

Adam Hays, Estill officer, neglect of duty; Earl Miller and Chester Patrick, destroying public property; Ellis Brown, forgery; G. C. Griffith, selling an auto without title; Frank Wilson, forgery (two cases); T. J. Fitzpatrick, Jr., reckless use of a deadly weapon; Ernest Compton, child desertion; Garland Kendrick, child desertion.

FAMED EXPONENT OF MAGIC HERE ON MAY 8

All the tricks of the master magician are offered the public in the appearance of Birch, famed exponent of magic, at the graded school auditorium here Thursday night, May 8.

Even more spectacular than slicing a young lady, is the Hindu Rope Mystery, the thrilling spectacle of a piece of rope rising into the air, a Hindu boy climbing the rope, and then disappearing at the command of the magician!

Also included in the Birch performance are such bewildering illusions as the Vanishing Pony, in which a beautiful Shetland is caused to vanish while suspended in mid-air; the Challenge Packing Box escape in which Birch will attempt to escape from a strong box constructed by a local lumber company; the beautiful Silk Mirage where yards and yards of gorgeous rainbow silks appear from nowhere; the Canary and the Mazda Lamp, in which a live canary is shot into a burning light bulb; and fifty other amazing illusions.

Miss Mabel Sperry, brilliant young xylophonist, is the assisting artist. A star of radio and concert fame, she brings you delightful melodies on her World's Fair Miramba.

The advance ticket sale has already started and tickets may be purchased from high school students. Proceeds will go to the Prestonsburg senior class, which is sponsoring the entertainment.

BALL SEASON INAUGURATED

WAYLAN D. DRIFT, CLEAR CREEK WINNERS

The Big Sandy Baseball League got off to a rousing start Sunday—even if a last-minute revision of its team lineup was necessary as two teams withdrew and new teams were drafted to serve in their stead "for the duration."

Wheelwright jumped the traces to the Kentucky River League, and Thealka decided just not to play. Allen-Harold came in for Wheelwright, while Ligon formed a team to take the place of Thealka in Division B of the league.

Division A activities all took place in this county as Wayland defeated Prestonsburg here, 6 to 5, and Drift walloped Pikeville here, 8-3, while Clear Creek was swamping Allen-Harold at Clear Creek, 19 to 2.

B Division scores were unavailable in time for publication.

THE TIMES will be glad to publish weekly scores and standings of all teams if information is mailed to reach this office not later than Tuesday morning.

The doubleheader here was preceded by opening day ceremonies which was featured by the appearance of the Martin high school band in its new uniforms and the flag-raising in centerfield. Mayor E. P. Arnold threw out the first ball.

Prestonsburg jumped off to a two-run lead in the first inning, thanks mainly to loose defensive play by Wayland, and blasted V. Patton, the visitors' starting pitcher, from the box in the fourth when three runs crossed the plate. Roark and Branham clouted homers in this inning, and Maynard's triple ended Patton's work for the day. Rollins came in to work the remainder of the game and hurled shut-out ball.

Besides his excellent relief stint on the mound, Rollins socked one of R. Patton's pitches far and high out of the park to win his own game in the eighth. Although R. Patton, big righthander, was charged with the loss, he hurled excellent ball after relieving Leslie at the start of the sixth.

In the nightcap Drift, like Prestonsburg, scored all its runs in the first four innings but was more successful in protecting its lead. Kit Stumbo, veteran righthander, hurled hitless ball for five innings and then turned the job over to young Fred McSurley, who allowed three runs on four hits during the remaining four innings. Drift, meanwhile, was hammering Pelphrey and Hamilton, Pikeville twirlers, for 14 safeties, two of which were doubles by Buck Stumbo and P. Butcher.

At Clear Creek, Allen's young team was thoroughly drubbed but not discouraged. Moore's knuckle ball held the Allen team well in hand throughout. Clyde Spurlock, who has returned to the management of the team, predicted this week that his boys will soon be giving a good account of themselves. Spurlock in 1939 guided Allen to nine straight wins.

Magistrate Henry Stumbo, catcher for the Clear Creek team, exercised considerable authority with the bat, hitting safely four times in six trips to the plate, two of his blows being homers.

EASTERN KENTUCKY PROGRESS IN AGRICULTURE CITED

By H. C. HAGGAN
Morehead State Teachers' College

Agricultural development was at a low ebb 15 years ago in Eastern Kentucky. If we take an inventory today of the progress down through the years it is an interesting story. Many contend that there was no hope, there was no use trying to develop the poor land, that those seeking to bring about improvement were wasting their time. But let us take an inventory of some of the changes brought about during this period.

Fleming, Mason, and Morgan counties were about the only ones throughout the Eastern part of the state that employed agricultural agents. Then came Carter county and from that time on the employment of county agents was rapid. Practically every county in Eastern Kentucky has one or more county agricultural agents and many counties employ Home Economics demonstration agents. Fleming and Mason counties were about the only two counties that had Smith-Hughes Agriculture in their high schools. Today, every county in the eastern part of the state has one or more Smith-Hughes Agriculture teachers and additional departments will be established this fall.

There were no 4-H clubs. Future Farmers of America, Utopia, or Homemakers' Clubs in this section. Today these are operating in every county and are doing a splendid piece of work. This section has no "Master Farmers" nor "Master Homemakers," but today this area has furnished its share in competition with the rest of the state. Eastern Kentucky has furnished several winners in The Courier-Journal annual contest of home improvement. Every county in this area is electing its committeemen to work with the county agricultural agents, soil conservation service and other agencies planning for better development of their farms. These agencies have put

WHEELWRIGHT LOSES, 26-0

VETERAN PIKEVILLE TEAM DEFEATS FLOYD 11

Pikeville high school and Wheelwright high school ended their spring football drills in a game Saturday at Pikeville where the Panthers took a 26-0 victory over Walter Price's Wheelwright eleven on a muddy field.

The Panthers presented a line-up of veterans that the inexperienced Wheelwright could not match. The Panthers with a full team of veterans to return next year easily outplayed the Floyd county boys. Pikeville lost but three men from its entire squad of last year's players.

The Panthers gained possession of the ball on the kick-off and did not give it up till they had struck pay dirt. With Newsome carrying the ball on successive plays the Panthers crossed the goal line and the extra point was picked up with a pass to Hamilton to give the "Hatchermen" a 7-0 lead.

In the second quarter Pikeville struck twice. Ishmael passed to Hamilton to add 6 points but a line plunge failed to gain the extra point. A few minutes later Newsome went over from the six-yard stripe for the third Panther tally. The extra point was gained on a line plunge over left tackle. The Panthers led, 20-0, at the half.

The Pikeville steam roller got going in the third quarter and Ishmael went over from the 10-yard line, but failed to add the extra point. This was the last of the Pikeville scoring and a number of younger players finished the game.

Outstanding for Wheelwright was a big fullback named Cleo Cordell. Cordell, a senior, is not eligible for fourth year high school competition. Weighing 200 pounds and a real line plunger if there ever was one, he has received offers from several colleges.

children of this section is a serious social and medical problem.

Dr. Barbour attributed the situation to "the poor quality of the land, and consequently to the poor milk, eggs, vegetables and other foods available to the average child."

"The absence of lime in the soil," Dr. Barbour said, "is leading to early disintegration of children's teeth. Perhaps nowhere else in the nation are there so many children with such poor teeth."

"Pellagra," he said, "is frequently encountered among children of the Eastern Kentucky district; and because of the absence of iron in the water and soil, not only in Eastern Kentucky, but in all the Appalachian region, many children are suffering from goiter."

Dr. Barbour said that more lime was distributed on farms of the district last year than in any other similar area in the nation, but added that much more is needed.

Other speakers, on technical problems of the profession, included Dr. R. Arnold Griswold, of the University of Louisville, and Dr. J. R. Ruegger of the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. Clyde Sparks, Ashland, was elected president of the association.

A co-operative bull association has been formed in Yeaman community in Grayson county.

over the best program of adult education throughout the state and each year at the Farm Home Conference at the University of Kentucky. Eastern Kentucky sends its share of leaders in order to bring back the best practices for their communities.

Rural Electrification has come to Eastern Kentucky and has wrought unbelievable changes in home and farm equipment.

Let us take an inventory of the crop and livestock development. In 1926 Korean clover was not to be had in the state, and today one can hardly find a farm that does not have a planting of this crop. Hybrid corn has come within the past few years and now fully 75 percent of the farms are producing this crop. Tobacco has found its place on the farm and the prices brought by the mountain crops have compared favorably with that of other sections of the state. A wide use of limestone and phosphate has brought increased acreages of legumes that eventually will lead to better soil improvement. Italian rye grass and winter vetch are now lengthening the pasture season. Purebred sires and other livestock are to be found in every county. Modern poultry houses are numerous throughout the area and the highest rated hatchery in Kentucky under the United States Improvement Plan is to be found in Lawrence county. The new developments are too numerous to mention.

Editor's Note—Floyd county's percentage of increase in the use of lime last year was the state's highest.

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared By Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

MR. MOTORIST, HOW "TYPICAL" ARE YOU?

Meet Mr. John Doakes, the typical American motorist. He is between 40 and 45 years old, and has a wife and two children, a boy and a girl. He works and lives in a small community of less than 5,000 inhabitants, and the value of his home or farm is between $4,500 and $4,280. The chances are just about 50-50 that he owns the property himself.

Although he is self-reliant and self-supporting, his income is relatively low, only $20 to $30 weekly. His bank account shows a balance of $500, and the face value of his life insurance policies total $900.

This is the picture of the typical American motorist as revealed by studies of the American Petroleum Industries Committee.

The Doakes family rides in a closed car that is between four and five years old, and is now worth about $225, although it was worth more when it was bought in the used car department of the local automobile merchant more than a year ago. The fact is the Doakes family has never bought a brand-new automobile, believing they could get more transportation for their money by purchasing their vehicles second-hand.

The Doakes family drives about 8,500 miles a year. Most of this driving is to and from business, for family shopping, and other family and commercial business purposes. The remaining 45 per cent of the travel is done during the summer vacations and for other social and recreational purposes. Only 10 per cent of the trips taken, however, are farther than 30 miles from home.

Like all Americans these days, the Doakes family is becoming tax conscious. The federal and state gasoline taxes they pay each year on the 650 gallons of motor fuel they use totals $35.75, while their license plates and drivers' licenses average them $12.50 more. In addition, they paid federal taxes on lubricating oil, tires and tubes, parts and accessories, so that when the family budget was closed at the end of the year, the Doakes family discovered that their automobile taxes had amounted to almost $56.

NOSTRADAMUS HAS BEEN RIGHT SO FAR; PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW MORE ABOUT HIS PROPHECIES

MUCH has been written in recent months about Michael Nostradamus, French physician and astronomer of the 16th century, whose predictions of events 400 years in the future will have proved remarkably accurate.

In Lexington, Ky., a recent search in the ancient library of Transylvania College uncovered a rare copy of Nostradamus' book, which had lain unguarded and unused in the library for over a hundred years.

The prophecies were written in French by Nostradamus before 1560 and translated into English and published by Thomas Ratcliffe and Nathaniel Thompson in London, England, in 1672. It is a copy of that issue that Transylvania possesses.

One prophecy, after referring to the rise of the British empire, says it will be "soon all powerful on the sea, this for three centuries." Another predicts an event which might be interpreted as the World War in which "from fishes of steel and machines of flying fish, the mass attack shall be repelled in the woods" (Belleau and Argonne), and "no child in Germany shall obey any longer."

Description of the League of Nations prediction: "The speeches shall displease . . . days drag into weeks, into months, years; finally, they shall all fall. The leaders shall condemn the law as useless."

Is it Germany of the post-war days and the newly-risen Hitler to whom Nostradamus refers in this prophecy: "The miserable republic shall be usurped by a new leader under pretense of redemption from bondage?"

Is reference made to "Mein Kampf" in the declaration, "His book shall be read to the army—a false greatness."

Is Hitler's mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden referred to in the prediction: "Before the siege, the leaders confer in secret meeting. The Great One, bloody emissary, goes to the rock taken in an iron cage." It might be argued that "the Great One" is Hitler and "the iron cage" the elevator used to reach his secret retreat.

More startling are the words of another prophecy in the light of the Hitler-Mussolini conference and course of action: "The two leaders meet in their secret temple; one strikes, the other waits, making little noise. Then he shall give the last blow and they shall divide the corpse."

If the French prophet foresaw these troublous times, he saw hope ahead, too, as "the Isles of the Commonwealth (Great Britain) shall recover vigour against their enemies; those of the outside, starved, overcome, shall suffer greater want than they ever did."

"At last the two leaders (Hitler and Mussolini?) shall be disjoined by the hunt." In the same connection Nostradamus seems to see the United States as the saviour of civilization. Says he: "By the humane rule of Anglican, this daughter of the English Isles shall re-establish unity and justice."

It is common knowledge that Hitler is very superstitious. It is also common knowledge that he is aware of the prediction of Nostradamus concerning his rise and fall and ultimate death. According to Nostradamus, the war will end with victory for the British around 1943 and Hitler will be imprisoned in an iron cage for the remainder of his life.

Speaking of Campaign—Or Were You?

(Providence Enterprise)

Reports indicate that prospective candidates are being solicited for printing and novelties from out of the county firms. They are offering a variety of "novelty inducements" and cut rates. It might be well for those seeking office to consider whether these once-in-four-years solicitors can be of any help to them, now or later.

The newspapers in this county print news and helpful items the year round for candidates and those interested in politics. Many columns of space and a lot of type setting are required to print and publish the local, county, state, and national political news, and contrary to widespread opinion, newspapers do not get rich off politics.

Charges made for publishing announcements of candidates and for printing candidates' cards, placards, with and without pictures, and for publishing messages and statements during the heated period of each campaign are well established custom and are not higher than is consistent with fair profits on each job and by comparison with what newspapers in neighboring counties charge for the same services.

Before candidates send their orders for candidate cards outside the county, depriving the newspapers of this revenue, they are asked to consider all the angles and decide whether they will profit by so doing.

Of course, the county papers do not have the large buying power of some of the big city shops, cannot buy stock as cheaply, might have to charge you a little more for some kinds of job printing. . . . But here your work will be done as and when you want it; and we will be here, at home, to see that you get satisfactory service.

KIWANIANS TO MEET IN JOINT SESSION

Eastern Kentucky Kiwanis Clubs will meet in joint session with the Paintsville Club Friday evening. A large delegation of Kiwanians from Prestonsburg, Pikeville and other towns are expected to attend the meeting.

The meeting will be presided over by J. B. Wells, Jr., president of the Paintsville Kiwanis Club. Addresses will be made by Mr. Wells, by Kelly J. Day, of Pikeville, and others. The meeting is being promoted by Mr. Day lieutenant-governor for Division 1 of the Kentucky-Tennessee district, in co-operation with the Paintsville Club. Other clubs in the division which are expected to send delegations are Ashland, Jenkins and Salyersville.

FARMERS MAKE EARLY PLANS FOR CROPPING SEASON

Already this year several farmers in Floyd county have arranged with the Big Sandy Production Credit Association for funds to carry on their 1941 operations. Luther J. Conley, association representative, said this week. In line with this trend, the association expects a good number of applications for short term loans during the next few weeks.

Cheered by anticipated favorable prices resulting from demand created by increased business activity, farmers generally are concentrating their plans on reducing operating costs rather than an expansion of production, Mr. Conley explained.

Dairy herds in Lawrence county will be T.B. tested again after July 1. Dairies buying milk and cream require periodic testing for Bang's disease, as a public health precaution. Farmers are receiving premium prices for high-quality dairy products.

Mayor Arnold threw out the first ball at the baseball opener here Sunday, then went home and wrote a "Clean-Up Week" proclamation. Reports on his control of the horsehide indicate that he should also proclaim a personal "Warm-Up Week."

REMINDER

Did you receive a letter, recently, asking for a small contribution to the Kentucky Crippled Children's Commission? And did you forget to do

CONFESSIONS OF A HERO-WORSHIPPER

Back in '27, when I was old enough to be more adult, I found myself a new hero to worship—a hero more gallant, more human, far finer than all those gods with feet of clay whom I had idolized as a boy.

Here was a man among men—daring, young, tall and straight, modest, intelligent, a Viking of our own land cast in a mold more heroic even than those warriors gone to Valhalla.

I thrilled at the spontaneous welcome our country gave him.

I found his later courtship of the demure daughter of a distinguished man a romance that was not only beautiful but also typical of his gentility and his admiration of gentlefolk.

When his little son was missing I haunted the radio, hoping with him against hope that the baby would be restored to him. I have never admitted it till now—but I prayed that the little tow-head would, somehow, come back safely to his father and mother. And when word came that the babe had been found—found dead—something in me seemed to die.

Then I cried out with him against gangsterism in America, bade him godspeed as he left these shores seeking sanctuary in foreign lands.

When he made a notable contribution to science, my pride in him increased.

But when he turned his tongue and all the force of his reputation and all the power of his position to discouragement of those who oppose or would oppose the Hun and all his barbarian hosts and henchmen, scoffing at those governments that gave him and his forebears their only sweet tastes of freedom—then I lost the last of hero-worship I shall ever have.

My hero could not be daring and submit to defeat by Hitler.

My hero could not be straight and tall, and bend the knee to a dictator. My hero could not be intelligent and lower his mentality to the brute-scale of the Nazis.

Lindbergh, you let me down, and it was dirty, dirty of you.

But I myself do not count. The sin and the shame of it is that you have let yourself and a nation of 130,000,000 Americans who were once as proud of you as they are today of their country—you let them down.
