HOW MANY DIMES?

Everyone to his trade 'tis said. D. W. Howard, of Betsy Layne, is a teacher and in between, a gardener. A good one, too. Substance of squal is that he's no merchandiser. Which begins a short-short.

He bought a package of mustard seed this spring, was impressed by the small quantity the vendor could sell for a dime. So, when the seed germinated in the garden plot, he decided to save the seed, thinking maybe, he would at least know how many dime's worth there were in the lot. So, the seed were gathered, the chaff blown away, and the small, black embryos of future plants were put-up in pint jars. There were five and a half of 'em. How many dimes is that? Nobody seems to know but if you need mustard seed, he has 'em.

A CASE OF BIG HEAD

Belvard Friend, amateur gardener, worried about his cabbage patch while the incipient drouth threatened. But no longer. After the last rain he informs all and sundry, with a straight face: "The rains gave my cabbage the big head."

NOW, WHO WOULD?

The residents of the creek, disgusted with drunks of the old style who rode up and down the road, firing indiscriminately at objects on the way and at the moon, organized a group action that got a few fellows hauled into court and fined. Pursuant to a continued action, one old fellow, who considered himself a sort of peacemaker, and leaned a mite towards the law-breakers, was summoned before the grand jury. He made up his mind, that by some means or other, he would evade indicting his friends. Everything went well for his plan

BLACKBURN,
INJURED INTwo Auto Accidents,
Succumb in Hospital;
Other Passengers Hurt

Charles Edward Blackburn, 19, son of Chief of Police Earl Blackburn, of Wheelwright, being rushed to a hospital after a truck accident near Virgie, on Shelby Creek, Pike County, last Saturday, received injuries in a second accident when the rescue car crashed into a wall 100 feet from the hospital. He died at 5:45 a.m. the next day at Virgie Memorial hospital.

Young Blackburn, who was a sophomore at Eastern State college, at Richmond, received injuries while riding as a passenger in a pickup truck, driven by Ronald Curry, 24, when the truck ran over a 20-foot embankment on U. S. 23, three miles north of Virgie, at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. Monroe Jones, whom it is alleged, was drinking, stopped his car to take Blackburn and the two other occupants of the truck, to the Virgie hospital. The second accident occurred soon afterwards. Multiple lacerations, and a possible brain concussion are given as the cause of death.

Curry, the truck driver, was treated at the Virgie hospital, as was Tutor Hall, an occupant of Jones' truck. Hall suffered a broken collarbone. Jones and J. D. Hatfield, who was riding in

NEWMAN DIES
IN ACCIDENTAt Ligon Mine Tuesday;
Failure of Car Brakes
Contributed to Death

Crushed between a railway car and the timbers that support the tippie at Block Mine, Ligon, George B. Newman, of Hi Hat, lived about three minutes Tuesday morning after the accident occurred at 7 a.m.

Mr. Newman, a tippie employe, was releasing a railway car through the tippie. It is thought that he applied the car brakes, and finding they would not hold, he attempted to swing clear and was fatally injured. The entire lower part of his body was crushed.

Mr. Newman was a son of the late Sil Newman and Betty Howell Newman. His widow, Maggie Hall Newman, survives. Surviving are two sons and a daughter: David, Ira Deane and Lavena, all at home.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Ambers Newman, Hint Newman and Orbie Newman, all of Hi Hat, Charley Newman, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Maude Crawford and Mrs. Ocie Crawford, both of Hi Hat, and Miss Martha Newman, at home.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Friday) at 10 a.m. at the Clear Creek United Baptist church, the Revs. Johnny King, Wallace Calhoun and Millard Blanton officiating. Burial will follow in the family cemetery under direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Farm Committee Elects
Officers for New Term

The Farm Advisory Committee to the Extension Service met last Saturday at the office of County Agent O. E. Boggs and elected officers for the ensuing year. J. B. Clarke was succeeded as chairman by Henry P. Scaif, G. S. Martin was elected vice-chairman, and Mrs. Lewis Burchett, secretary. The Green Pastures supplement to the Floyd County Times was authorized at the meeting. Next regular meeting of the committee is planned for November.

CONLEY ASKS
FISCAL COURTTo Pay Only Claims
Authorized in Budget;
Cash Basis Advocated

"Starting July 1, this year, no claims against the fiscal court will be paid unless there is money for it set up in the budget," County Attorney Hollie Conley, said at last week's meeting of the court. "Any man that sells anything to the county, be it goods or services, should receive his pay every 30 days. The only way to do this is to start allowing only claims that are authorized by the budget," he added.

Conley pointed out to the court the statutes governing payment of claims by the fiscal court. The statute provides penalty of $50 to $200 for each claim or obligation made where there is no budgetary provision for it. "Enforcing this law is the only way we can ever get on a cash basis," Conley told the court.

The fiscal court met last Thursday and discussed the payment of claims against the county. Judge Henry Stumbo told the magistrates the county had about $60,000 worth of claims to pay and only $21,000 with which to pay it. Conley thinks when all the claims are in, the total amount of unpaid bills against the county will run to $70,000. One man has a claim of $18,000.

"If the court will go along on what I suggest about payment of claims," Conley told The Times this week, "we will be on a cash basis in three years."

The fiscal court met again today (Thursday) to explore means of paying its bills.

Marshall Leads Officers
On Raids Last Week-End
At Garrett and Mud Creek

Government agents, led by Noah Friend, deputy U. S. Marshall, called on Sheriff Gorman Collins last week-end to assist in several raids for violating liquor laws. Seven places in the county were searched. Largest amount of illegally possessed wine and beer was at Garrett.

Seventy-eight pints of wine and beer were taken from a car owned by either Fred Hall or his wife, Ora Hall. Two cases of beer were found in the house. Sixty-seven cans of beer were found on the premises of Jack Allen. A quart of moonshine was found in the possession of Willie Shepherd. All were arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner at Pikeville.

May Napier's place, near the Floyd-Knott county line was raided by the government agents and approximately 70 cans of beer were confiscated. The agents had a search warrant for Ed Napier of the same vicinity, but as he

Accredited Vet Lack
Is Said To Be Danger
To Rabies Control Law

Health Administrator M. V. V. Clarke, of this county, attended the district meet of the State Department of Health at Hazard, Tuesday, and heard the assembled health officers discuss the many perplexing problems connected with enforcement of the several pieces of legislation pertinent to health regulations passed by the last General Assembly.

There was a panel discussion of all the recent legislation, but the so-called dog law came in for the most talk. Mr. Clark said that from all the counties represented at the meet, not one had an accredited veterinarian to vaccinate dogs. "Unless the Department of Health permits an individual or individuals, without an accredited veterinarian's standing, to vaccinate dogs in these counties, I can foresee that the program of rabies control will bog down," he told the group.

AUTO WRECK
INJURES SIXYoung Korean War Vet,
Giving Relatives Ride,
Suffers Multiple Cuts

Six persons were hospitalized, two of them in serious condition, Tuesday afternoon, at the Prestonsburg General hospital as the result of an auto mishap when a car being driven by Estill Lee Shepherd, 24, a veteran of Korea, left Highway 114 (Middle Creek Road) near the residence of James Greene, and plunged over an embankment into a locust grove.

Shepherd, a son of Estill Shepherd, of West Prestonsburg, had as passengers of his car at the time of the accident, five of his brothers and sisters. Ruth Shepherd, 18, a nurse's aide at the hospital here, suffered cuts and her condition was considered serious yesterday. Ronnie, age seven, suffered a broken arm. Barbara, 12, and Donnie, 15, have been released as was 3-year-old Eddie Wayne Shepherd, who escaped with a few scratches and a sprained ankle.

Shepherd suffered severe cuts and lacerations but is not considered as being in serious condition by hospital attaches. His car was totally wrecked.

STATE SURVEY
NEARING END16% of Persons Tested
Have Histoplasmosis;
5% Have Trichinosis

Approximately 500 skin tests have been given persons in this county for trichinosis and histoplasmosis, M. V. Clarke, health administrator, says. The tests are being given by the State Department of Health, at Wheelwright this week and final tests will be given at other places in the county next week. Drs. Howard DeHaven and Ted Guiglia, both of Louisville, are giving the tests. They have been at work in this county since June 22.

Sixteen percent of persons taking the histoplasmosis tests were found to be positive reactors and five per cent were found with positive reactions to the trichinosis tests. No reactors were found for histoplasmosis in children under the age of 12. There were twice as many reactors found in the histoplasmosis tests in males as females, Clarke says.

In commenting on the high percentage of men and boys showing positive reactions to histoplasmosis tests, Clark noted that fewer men than women applied for either of the tests. "I want to encourage all adult males to take advantage of this opportunity and have the tests made," he said. "It may be the last opportunity for a long time," he added.

Greenup Dam Project Called
First Step in Canalization

President Eisenhower approved, Monday, a $2,000,000 appropriation for the initial work on the Greenup high-level dam. Senator John Sherman Cooper said this week. The recommendation was submitted to Congress in a supplemental budget estimate Wednesday. If the recommendation is approved, work on the $58,000,000 dam would start this fiscal year.

"The Greenup Dam will back water up the Big Sandy as far as lock No. 2," Cooper said. "It will provide the first step in the canalization of the river. I foresee that it will have a beneficial effect on the coal industry of Kentucky," he added.

Cooper, together with Senator Bricker and Representative Jenkins, of Ohio, have held a number of discussions with the White House and executive agencies in urging approval by the budget bureau of the appropriation.

The Greenup project envisions a non-navigable, gated dam of 32-foot normal lift between pools. The locks will consist of two parallel chambers. The main chamber will have clear dimensions of 110 by 600 feet. The pool itself will extend 62 miles to the existing Gallipolis Dam. Construction is scheduled to end in 1961.

The dam is the second high-level dam to be recommended by President Eisenhower. The other is the New Cumberland Dam just below Pittsburg.

A third dam is proposed at Markland, Ky. Cooper expressed hope that "we will succeed in obtaining budget approval from the President for this project next year."

Road Employees Reduced;
Lack of Money Is Given
As Cause; Layne Retained

At a meeting of the fiscal court June 30, the number of road employees of the county were reduced to three—Shelley Woods, Eugene Hopkins and Rev. Carl Layne. Reason given by the court for reducing the number of employees was "due to the fact that the county finances are insufficient and the amount available for the constructing and maintaining of the roads is far short of the expected amount."

At a meeting held last Tuesday, Kendall Martin and Sam Leslie were employed on the road system at an hourly rate of one dollar. Glenn Burchett, as previously reported was re-employed as road foreman.

W. W. Cooley, Circuit Court Clerk, was added at a recent meeting of the court, to Social Security coverage, as a law librarian. The salary of the County Court Clerk's chief deputy was raised from $350 to $400, the extra compensation being for the added duties as custodian of the Social Security records.

"These dams will improve transportation on the Ohio, and attract new industries to this area, with investments of millions of dollars being anticipated. Thus the project will give tremendous impetus to industrialization of the Ohio Valley and provide a strong foundation for prosperity and high employment. It is part of the solution for the unemployment conditions existing in coal-producing areas of Kentucky and West Virginia."

Cooper said that the new Greenup Dam would serve one of the most vital industrial areas. He noted that the Ohio carries more freight than any other inland waterway.

"In 1929, when the Ohio was first canalized, it carried 22,000,000 tons of freight," he said. "Now it carries 64,000,000 tons. But conditions of the existing 46 locks and dams are so serious, that further growth of the Ohio Valley will be impaired unless the obsolete structures are speedily replaced."

Cooper said only two of the locks and dams are under 25 years old, 21 are from 31 to 35 years old, and 23 have been standing from 35 to 50 years.

"It costs $690,000 a year for maintenance costs for them and this will be saved when the Army engineers' plan for 21 modern large-pool dams replaces them," he declared.

FARMERS SIGN
ASC PROGRAMFor 1954 Cost-Sharing;
Soil Fertility Improving,
Alex Spradlin Points Out

There are 2,535 farmers in Floyd county's farm program under the auspices of the Agricultural Stabilization Committee and 1,077 have signed up for cost-sharing in this year's program. Alex Spradlin, manager of the local ASC office, said this week. Four hundred seventeen have asked for cost-sharing in the first quarter period, ending April 30. Remainder of the farmers have asked for cost-sharing in the second and third periods of the program year.

Twenty permanent type practices were completed in the first period of this year and are ready for payment, Spradlin said. A total of $1,235.16 has been earned on practices, like tiling and clearing land of bushes for grass.

"We would have had a lot of completed practices but soil analyses were a little late due to getting the soil-testing laboratory started, so farmers could not get their fertilizer and lime recommendations on time," Spradlin explained. "Payments will be carried over for those farmers who could not complete their practices into the second and third periods," he added.

Spradlin explained the results of last year's practices. "Drought knocked over crops and grass seeds out last year. A few farmers, though, were successful. It was not the fault of the farmers."

"Farmers are learning more and more about good practices," Spradlin said. "They are buying fertilizer and lime, and applying it. The gen-

Fiscal Courts May Not
Substitute a Salary
For Coroner's Fees

Fiscal courts may not legally substitute a salary for present coroners in place of fees, the attorney-general's office said last Friday. The opinion by Assistant Attorney-General John B. Browning was in reply to a query from Boyd county Coroner Russell Compton.

This opinion would invalidate the voting of the $1,000 annual salary to James Carter, Floyd county Coroner, at a recent Fiscal Court meeting, unless the matter was taken to court and litigated favorably.

Compton said the 1954 Legislature amended the law to provide that coroners may receive "out of the county treasury such monthly compensation as the Fiscal Court of each county may fix."

"But," the opinion continued, "coroners now in office could not receive such salary since the State Constitution forbids any change in the pay of a county officer during his term of office."

It was not indicated that the ruling of the attorney-general's office would be contested in court from this county.

Dudley Fine is First
Of Kind for Burning
Trash After 4:30 P.M.

Ballard Dudley, of Maytown, was given a $10 fine and $15.50 costs recently in county court for violation of the forestry laws. Dudley was charged with burning brush before 4:30 p.m., during the month of April.

This conviction for burning brush before 4:30 p.m. was the first of its kind, Forest Ranger Forrest Burchett says. The law forbids brush burning before that time during the months of March, April and May, in the spring, and in the fall months of September, October and November.

MOTHER OF 3
BEING SOUGHTBy Police in 3 States;
At Veterans Hospital

Mrs. Fannie Edna Clifton, missing from her home here since June 28 and the object of a three-state alarm of state police instituted by her family was found Wednesday, in Toledo, O. She is the wife of James Clifton.

The Prestonsburg wife and mother who left for the Veterans' hospital at Huntington, June 28, after several appearances in different cities and calls to a local bank for money, contacted her family here yesterday.

Frantic search by relatives, a television broadcast of her disappearance, a three-state alarm of the state police and a detailed description of Mrs. Clifton in news stories had failed to reveal her whereabouts. Relatives suspected Mrs. Clifton had been the victim of a "blackout" from which she is said to suffer.

She is a veteran of the WACS, and the mother of three children, age three, seven and eight. Being in ill health, she has been treated at the Veterans' hospital in Huntington for sometime, the last time for five weeks. She was given a leave to return home for ten days and at the expiration of that time, started back.

When relatives here didn't hear from her soon after her supposed return to the hospital, inquiries were made. It was learned she had actually returned there, had visited a friend in the hospital, telling her she would come back that afternoon for commitment. She did not return, hospital attaches said.

COAL TONNAGE
DECREASESFigures for First Half
Of Year Shows Decrease
Prevalent in Other Fields

Coal production in the Big Sandy field for the first half of this year decreased by 1,438,850 tons, or 23.600 per cent, from the tonnage for the same period in 1953.

Tonnage for the first half of 1954 totaled 4,655,570 as against 6,094,420 for the first six months of 1953.

These are figures compiled by The Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association.

During the same period, the Hazard field production decreased from 3,051,100 tons in 1953 to 2,481,700 tons in 1954.

For the first half of the current year, the Big Sandy mines produced 2.55 per cent of all the country's coal production, while the Hazard field produced 1.36 per cent of the total.

Reduction of production in the Big Sandy and Hazard fields is in

EMERGENCY FUND NEEDS
FOR POLIOResearch Is Announced
By State Representative;
Coin Collectors Placed

Emergency March of Dimes mailing pieces and coin collectors will be distributed over this county soon, Ray Howard, chairman of the local chapter of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation said this week. These coin collectors are being sent to stores and other public places in an effort to raise public funds to meet the grave financial situation in polio research, Mr. Howard added.

Stuart Schlageter, state representative of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation for Eastern Kentucky, in a letter to all chapters this week said:

"All chapters recently received a letter from Mr. Basil O'Connor about the decision of the board of trustees for the National Foundation to call for an emergency drive for funds in view of our precarious financial situation. Mr. O'Connor also said that we must continue to provide the means whereby those stricken with infantile paralysis will receive the care they so desperately need and that we cannot stop at the very time when our work with the vaccine gives such brilliant promise that infantile paralysis will be wiped out forever. Only because of your intense devotion to the fight against infantile paralysis do I dare ask again for your unstinting help—and once again I ask it in behalf of our children.

SCHOOL BOY
KILLS SELFAfter Attempt to Reach
Former Home at Ligon,
Fails at Middletown, O.

A nostalgic for his former home in this county was given as the cause of the death of 14-year-old Frank Vance, of Fairborn, Ohio, who shot himself with a shotgun at the home of his father Emmett Vance, last Thursday. The boy, who had always wanted to return to Ligon, left home several days before his death, and was making his way to this section, when he was apprehended by a state police at Middletown, Ohio, and returned to Fairborn.

At the time of death, his father had started to work, and was seated in his car, talking to his wife, who is the deceased boy's step-mother, when they heard a muffled shot inside the house. Rushing inside, they found the boy dying from a shot fired from a 16-gauge shotgun. The blast entered the stomach, and went through the pelvis. He died instantly. The time was given as 6:10 a.m.

The boy, who was a sixth-grade student in Bath Township school at Fairborn, is survived by his father and step-mother. His mother, the former Mrs. Sam Vance, who survives, resides in Baltimore, Maryland. Surviving also are the following brothers and sisters: Emmett Vance, Everett Clinton Vance and Mrs. Mel-etta Vance, all of Baltimore; David, Ernest Vernon, Larry, Loretta, Alice Fay and Haley Caroline, all at home; and Juanita Vance, in Alaska.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday of this week at the Clear Creek United Baptist church, the Revs. Johnny Jones, Mark Burkes and others officiating. Burial followed in the Clear Creek cemetery under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Hit-Run Driver, Arrested by Trooper,
Breaks X-Ray Machine While at Hospital
And Damages Cell in Jail, before Quieting

John Estep, of Dwale, is in jail here awaiting trial on several charges he incurred as an aftermath of a brush with the law and others, last Friday. His adventures, occurring while drunk, officers say, began when he sideswiped a car, at Allen, belonging to Cecil Meadows and removed his car from the highway to evade pursuit. State Trooper Keneth Armitage arrested him soon afterwards, took him to the Beaver Valley hospital, at Martin, where while being given surgery, he went on a rampage of violence and broke the X-ray machine in a couple of places.

Brought to jail here, he started to take his cell apart. Result was a damaged stove, et cetera. Jailer Prock Hayes called in the services of Chief of Police Ep Laferty, who pacified him. After Laferty's departure, Jailer Hayes had to handcuff Estep to protect jail property.

Judge Henry Stumbo revealed that Estep is in jail in default of $1,200 in bonds on three charges of destroying public property, drunkenness and breach of peace.

PROCLAMATION

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:
WHEREAS, the conservation of our soil and water resources is essential to the public health, safety and welfare of our present generation as well as generations yet unborn; and,

WHEREAS, the rich topsoil of Floyd county is still being permitted to wash away faster than it is being saved despite the fact that never before has the safeguarding of soil and water been so vital; and,

WHEREAS, this damage is not confined to individual farms but contributes to the floods, highway damage, silting of reservoirs, forest deterioration and public health; and,

WHEREAS, this enormous loss can be stopped by the establishment of complete soil and water conservation programs recommended by soil conservation districts; and,

WHEREAS, Lawrence W. Wetherby, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, has proclaimed July 25-August 1 inclusive as a statewide Soil Conservation District Week.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Henry Stumbo, Judge of the County Court, of Floyd County, do call upon all citizens of Floyd county to observe the period of July 25-August 1 inclusive as and request all persons and organizations concerned with the land to unite with the local soil conservation district supervisors in an effort during the period to stimulate among the county's population a full realization of the desperate need for conserving our soil and water resources. I especially urge our soil conservation district supervisors to increase their activities during this period to reach the greatest number of citizens in our county.

Martin-Grigsby Vows Said At Martin Mormon Church

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Martin, of McDowell, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis, to Mr. Pete Grigsby, Jr., son of Mayor and Mrs. E. P. Grigsby, of Martin, on July 7, at 2:00 o'clock, at the Martin Mormon church. Elder M. M. Miller officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The vows, exchanged before an altar banked by ivy intermingled with gladioli and cathedral candelabra holding white candles, were preceded by music played by Mrs. Chalmers Frazier. Charles Grigsby, brother of the groom sang "Because". Sammy Martin, Jr., brother of the bride, was junior usher and lit the candles before the entrance of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Robert S. Wellman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

The bride wore a full-length gown of imported chantilly lace with ruffles of organdy down the front of the full skirt. The fitted waist had a yoke of nylon organ trimmed with pearls, and the pointed long sleeves touched the wrists. The veil of illusion was attached to a braided bandeau. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley with ribbon streamers. The matron of honor wore a street-length light blue lace dress, with blue lace bandeau covered with pearls. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Mayor E. P. Grigsby, father of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Julius Martin, brother of the bride, Jerry Grigsby, David Grigsby, brothers of the groom, Roy Ratliff, Donald Frazier, Bob Martin, Sammy Martin, Jr., brother of the bride.

Mrs. E. P. Grigsby sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the ceremony.

A reception followed immediately after the wedding in the church parlors. Assisting at the punch bowl were Mesdames Edgar Jones, Arnold Turner and Clarence Turner. Mrs. M. M. Miller cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake.

The couple left immediately for a three-week trip in the west. The bride wore a blue nylon dress, with white accessories and pink corsage of carnations. They will both return to college this fall.

REP. PERKINS DISAPPROVES Admission of Red China To World Organization; Joined By Other Members

Representative Carl D. Perkins, Wednesday of last week, made it unanimous for the 10 Kentucky members of Congress in their opposition to the proposal that the United States pull out of the United Nations if Communist China is admitted.

The two senators and seven of the eight members of the House expressed strong opposition to the admission of Red China now. But all nine rejected the proposal of Senate Republican Leader Knowland that the United States quit the international organization if Red China is voted into membership.

Perkins, a Democrat, who has been at his home in Hindman because of his mother's death, telephoned this statement:

"My views on Communist China are well-known. We expressed ourselves in the House strongly on two occasions in opposition to the admission of Communist China because we believed it would be a devastating blow to peace throughout the world.

"But another devastating blow would result from our automatic withdrawal. "I feel that our leaders should exert their efforts toward establishing better diplomatic relations between the non-Communist group within the United Nations.

"The threat of Senator Knowland to withdraw in times like these is, in my judgment, unsound. "A negative approach will have a bad psychological effect upon other democratic nations of the world. Now is the time for the Executive to step in and let our allies know we intend to work still harder against the admission of Red China and at the same time, to uphold the principles of peace involved in the United Nations Charter.

Maybe we could break this heat-wave by asking for a prediction that it will continue. Oh well, even a turtle never gets ahead until he sticks his neck out.

This one comes via Dr. A. A. Page, of Pikeville. Seems the head of one house, after reading a report on the scarcity of outstanding citizens in the country, looked up and inquired in a rather surprised tone. "Do you realize how few really important men there are today?" "Why no, dear," answered the staff side serenely, "but no matter how many there are, I know that there's one less than you think."

WOULD TWIT TOO TWICK

Years ago when this pinch-hitter for the vacationing editor was a gangling teenager around the farm, his mother had a big raw-boned, tongue-tied hired man that thought up the most inopportune times to pull out a crosscut saw to increase the winter's wood supply. He had big arms, that made others ache with the sweep, sweep of the big Henry Diston. As a conversationalist, the hired man, though with his tongue tied, was a knock-out.

There was one spring when the day had been long, but by luck the corn patch was hoed out at two in the afternoon. There were visions of the rest of the day off, but the tongue-tied Paul Bunyan pulled out the crosscut. This junior ed pulled a few weak strokes, suddenly thought of an errand he must do at the forks of the creek store. The big man on the other end of the swinging saw was informed of its urgency.

The hired man, raised up, took a disgusted look at his puny helper and said "You want to twit too twick."

Which reminds, that maybe this column wasn't quite quick enough.

SCHOOL NOTES

By Ottis D. Sparlock
Supervisor of Instruction

interested in all phases of home economics, American family life, youth work, and to a limited extent, in poultry. She came to this country by plane and landed at La Guardia Airport, New York, April 24. From there she went to Washington for a four-day stay. After that she stayed in three different Michigan homes. The Salyer home, at Eastern, is her first Kentucky visit.

While here, she spoke at two Kiwanis meetings, to the Floyd County 4-H Club Council and to a Presbyterian Youth group. Several remarks on the way she handled the questions, the sessions, resembling press conferences. Young Floyd countians will remember her a long time, which is actually part of the LPYE program.

Miss Specks remarked on the many differences between German and American educational systems and the contrasts in family life. "Family life here is more casual than in formal Europe. Children have more freedom here than in Germany," she says.

One thing that impressed her here was the friendliness of the people. "They are so kind—so friendly," she remarked, telling of instances of attention, she had received from members of American families.

She is impressed also with the labor saving devices of American homes, and the modern conveniences in them. We have more television sets than her country does, but in Germany everyone has a radio. They have plenty of washing machines, but fewer refrigeration units. Wealthy people in her country have T-V sets, she says. She takes a rather dim view of television, considering it as a luxury, not as a necessary adjunct of a happy family life. A few Americans, it is suspected, may agree with her.

She has no fear of Communism taking hold in West Germany. She lives in the British zone, near Cologne, on the Rhineland and sees refugees from Communist East Germany every day. She tells of the amazement of the Russian soldiers who first came to Germany. They were not expecting curtains or bathrooms in the workers' homes. She was a little sarcastic when she said the Russians were thinking: "We must bring them Paradise."

Her sacrasim continues when she says: "The Russian make history to read only as good for them. They say Rusians invented the railway engine, the first airplane, that all great modern inventions were Russian." She ridicules Communism and its attitude towards religion. "Stalinism is God with them. A good Communist thinks only of Stalin and the good things he received from him. Belief in God, to them, is silly, only old women believe in God."

Miss Specks, who was 16 when the war ended, was required to belong to a group organization called Hitler Youth. All youth work, except the official Hitler Youth organizations, was forbidden in Germany under the Munich house painter. That is all changed now. There are many and varied groups, like church youth work, and land-youth groups, which is comparable to our 4-H club work.

There is one thing running like a bright thread all the way through Miss Specks' talk, some of it unsaid but pointedly inferred. It is the sense of freedom the youth of Germany, West Germany, of course, enjoys. She doesn't fear Communism because the free nations are a bulwark against it. She doesn't fear Hitler either. He is dead, no intelligent German believes he is alive, the folklore of the ignorant to the contrary notwithstanding. She tells of the many instances of how his people tried to kill him, of how Rommel committed suicide because he failed in a plot against him, of how, once a plane in which Der Fuhrer had been flying, exploded only a moment after he left it. "Hitler was probably the Devil, everybody said," she added.

Last year, the French youth, who stayed with the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe, at Eastern, under the exchange plan, spoke at Betsy Layne high school. Asked what impressed him most here he replied, jocularly and gallantly, that it was the pretty girls. Miss Specks is often asked here by American friends about marital plans. She replies she is 24, too old for an American boy, maybe young for a German. She says, when pressed, that German boys are as good looking as young Americans, the inference being that one of them will be lucky, too.

The French boy last year, the German girl this year, and no matter who comes next year to visit us under the International Farm Youth Exchange program, none could foster more good will between American and foreign youth than these two.

Entering school is a very important event for both parents and children. What parents do and say right now is going to make a lot of difference in how their children like school and how they get along in school.

Sometimes well-meaning parents turn their children away from school without realizing what they are doing. Many children are a little fearful about going to school the first time—even those who pretend not to be. Parents should take the attitude that school is a pleasant place and that going there is natural and part of the child's growing up.

Never use the school or the teacher as a threat. Always speak of the school as a pleasant place where there are friendly teachers and interesting activities.

The child's mental and emotional maturity is most important. If, before entering school, the child is encouraged to get along with other members of the family, if opportunity has been given him to play with others, he will make a quicker adjustment to the school situation.

A calm, happy home atmosphere and understanding of the child's point of view does much to help his emotional stability.

Encourage your child to develop a spirit of adventure in trying to figure out problems for himself.

By the time he reaches school age he should have developed some independence. He should be able to dress himself and put away his belongings.

The compulsory entrance age for children is seven years, but they may enter school if they will be six years of age on or before December 31. Some children will not be ready for school even though they will be six years old by December 31. The school law permits them to wait until they are seven years old, but if they will become seven during the year they should enter during the first week of school. Rural school will start on Tuesday, July 27. On Monday, July 26 there will be a conference at Martin for teachers. Parents are invited to attend this meeting. They will especially like to see the film entitled, Skippy and The Three R's. It is a 28-minute motion picture designed primarily to show adults how the fundamentals are being taught.

You are always welcome at school and you will be given special invitation to attend meetings of teachers. You and the teacher have the same objective—to make the child's life happy, satisfying, and successful. If you have a problem concerning your child ask the teacher about it now. He will be glad to discuss with you the problem.

Highway Zones Are Increased

Frankfort, Ky., July 12 — The State Department of Highways has announced an increase in the number of location engineering zones in Kentucky from four to six, realigning counties so that no highway district will be split between two zones.

Location engineers located in the zones are responsible for all road surveys of the department, and the changes were made to better distribute the work load and to save on travel time and expense, Commissioner of Highways William P. Curdin said.

The two new zones will have headquarters in Beuchel and Morehead. The Beuchel Zone will include all the Louisville Highway District and will be headed by R. O. Beauchamp, a 27-year employe with the department.

Under the Morehead Zone will come the Flemingsburg and Pikeville districts. Zone chief will be Willard F. Sherrow, who has been with the Department 21 years.

The other zones and districts they will embrace:
Madisonville Zone—Paducah and Madisonville districts; Bowling Green Zone—Elizabethtown and Bowling Green districts; Lexington Zone—Covington and Lexington districts, and London Zone—Somerset and Jackson districts.

DROWNS WHILE WADING

Annette Bentley, 16, waded into water over her head and drowned yesterday in the Middle fork of the Kentucky River. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bentley, Hyden.

Julian Kidwell, Washington county, used a bulldozer to dig a trench six 75 feet long, 15 feet deep, at a cost of $60.

Soil Conservation

By L. R. JOHNSON

Supervisors of the various Soil Conservation districts were in Panama City, Florida, Monday and Tuesday of this week for the annual Southeastern convention of the National Association of Soil Conservation districts.

The farmers who govern Kentucky's 122 Soil Conservation districts will have leading parts in this meeting. State Association President A. Threhold, of Corinth, headed the Kentucky delegation.

L. W. Murdock, Farmington, was again chairman of the Southeastern Area Education committee. B. H. DeWeese, a supervisor of the Barren County Soil Conservation district, was asked by NASCD Area Vice-President A. D. Holmes, Jr. Callion, Alabama, to serve as a member and special advisor of the Publicity Committee.

Holmes said the two-days conference program was arranged to "stress committee work on policies and activities to be recommended to State and National Associations of Soil Conservation Districts for the next 12 months."

Tom Moore, of Cliff, is well pleased with the 1,250 feet of tile which he recently installed. He will be able to grow anything on the 6 or 7 acres that was wet.

Joel Martin, of Salt Lick, has finished 1,125 feet of tile. The swamp below his house which was covered with cat tails was plowed with a tractor, disced and planted to corn three days after tile line was finished. Approximately 6 acres of the 15-acre field was greatly improved.

Lee Justice, of Buffalo, has established a grass waterway.

If you have soil conservation problems, see one of the Soil Conservation district supervisors, or L. R. Johnson, Sizemore building, Prestonsburg.

LOUISVILLE. — Dairy farmers of Kentucky will vote August 21 on a proposed year-round check-off on their milk and cream to provide funds for a dairy products promotion campaign.

Wine Say Success Lies In Big Voter Turn-Out

Democratic Congressional candidate James Wine stated here this week that his best chance for victory in the August primary lay in a big turnout of voters.

Wine, seeking the nomination for the House seat from Kentucky's Seventh Congressional District, declared that he had received the good wishes from Eastern Kentuckians in all walks of life in each of the 13 counties in the district.

"I appreciate their good wishes and I shall do everything I can to keep them," he said, and added, "I have toured the 13 counties in this district as thoroughly as any one man could, and I feel that I can win if those who are for me get out and vote on election day."

Wine declared that he was opposed by a "well-oiled machine" which could command scores of cars, workers and the offer of temporary jobs to aid in getting out the vote for his opponent.

"This is my first campaign for office," he said, "and I do not have the 'organization' behind me. But I do have the good wishes of a great army of good people on whom I am counting to help me win."

"I'll be new in Congress," Wine said. "But I'll be fresh enough to holler for Eastern Kentucky. Nobody has ever hollered for anything for us in Washington. If they did, they never hollered loud and long enough to be heard. . . . We've been nice, quiet and polite too long," Wine continued. "It's time we started hollering long and loud and put the people first."

The 13 counties in the Seventh District are Pike, Floyd, Knott, Martin, Johnson, Magoffin, Letcher, Perry, Breathitt, Lee, Wolfe, Morgan and Elliott.

LAW-MAKERS' 1954 COSTS

Are $508,923 To Date; Ky. Tax Research Group Gives Itemized Listing

An examination of the cost of the 1954 General Assembly shows that to date $508,923.11 has been spent. This figure does not include the cost of certain items of printing which have not been completed.

The breakdown of the payments shows that Floyd county's legislators were paid, as follows: Senator Doug Hays $2,583.30; Representative Lon C. Hill, $2,548, and Rep. E. H. (Ted) Stumbo, 2,552.50.

The total amount is broken down into varying payments on mileage for each legislator, $50.00 for allowance in lieu of stationery, $600.00 allowance for expense and $1,850 per diem, plus $5 a day for Senate members acting as presiding officer for a day or days.

The figures released by the Kentucky Tax Research Association shows the breakdown of the legislative cost as follows:

Total amount paid to members of House and Senate, $353,332.40; social security—state's share, $5,152.70. Total amount paid to employees of House and Senate, including salaries, per diem, bonus, compensation to clergymen, social security—state's share, $117,493.68; other expenses, printing, paper, office supplies, etc., $32,944.33—total $508,923.11.

When these expenses are added to the amount paid the members of the General Assembly, $353,332.40, the total of the legislative cost to date is $508,923.11. The unpaid expenses for printing and other costs will probably make the total of the session approximately $550,000.00.

During the session 253 bills were favorably considered by both Houses of the General Assembly. This made an average cost per bill of $2,011.55. The total cost of the session divided by the 138 members who were elected to the General Assembly would give an average cost per member of $3,687.85. The total cost divided by the number of days in session would give a daily cost of $11,063.55.

Section 42 of the Kentucky Constitution specifies that the regular sessions of the General Assembly shall be limited to 60 days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, every two years. Section 6.190 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes provides for per diem payments of $25.00 to each of the members of the General Assembly while in attendance at sessions. During the 1954 session the members of the General Assembly voted an additional expense allowance of $10.00 per day for sixty days.

The legislature was in session only 46 days of the 60 days authorized by the Constitution and many of the members were not present on all of these 46 days. In spite of the limitations contained in the Constitution and Section 6.190 of KRS, per diem was paid to each legislator for 74 days. The odd amounts paid to day while the Senators were acting members of the Senate are caused by additional payments of $5.00 per as presiding officers of that body. Additional payments were made to 23 Senators totalling $220.00 which was for 44 days.

In addition to the direct expenditures to members, clerks and other costs of $166,000.00 for the 1952-1954 biennium and that part of the appropriation for the Statute Revision Commission of $77,900 allocable to the period January 1, 1954 through June 15, 1954 could well be considered as legislative expense.

No Compromise This Time!

It was over twenty years ago that he took title to his first motor car—and, since that time, he has owned and driven almost a dozen different automobiles.

And yet, every time he accepted the keys to a new car, he knew in his heart that it was a compromise.

For—like so many millions of his fellow men—he had his heart set on a Cadillac!

Well, there's no compromise this time! The magic moment has arrived. The papers are all in order... the keys are in his hand... and the car of his dreams is waiting for him to take the wheel. It's his!

And, if you could but ride with him on that first journey, you'd understand what it means to have a motoring dream come true.

You'd see excitement in his eyes as he rolls majestically through the city's traffic—and puts his Cadillac through its thrilling paces on the open road.

You'd see honest pride in his face as he sits, calmly and serenely in the driver's seat, and catches the admiring glances of his fellow motorists.

And you'd sense the joy in his heart as he turns down that familiar street and heads for the happiest homecoming of the year!

In short, you'd witness a motorist in his finest hour—living out an experience that has no counterpart in the world of transportation. It is a thrill and an inspiration and an education—all rolled into one.

A friend of ours put it this way. "There are two kinds of automobiles," he told us. "There are Cadillacs—and there are all the others."

Whether or not you've driven "all the others", we can't say. But of one thing we are certain: Until you've spent an hour in the driver's seat of a 1954 Cadillac, your motoring education is not complete.

Why not come in soon and do so?

Schlageter advised Mr. Howard that 600,000 Polio Pioneers across the nation have completed the series of three shots in the current polio vaccine trials. Latest figure, he said, were that 655,412 children had received the first inoculations and 639,779 the second.

Five hundred forty-six March of Dimes chapters in 44 states and Hawaii have exhausted their funds and are requesting additional funds, it was said by Schlageter. $4,000,000 in cash advances and other emergency aid went to county chapters in the first half of 1954. Kentucky chapters have received $94,175,000 thus far. During June alone $900,000 in emergency aid was dispatched. To meet the desperate need for patient aid, money was "borrowed" from funds allotted for research and education.

While still primarily attacking children under 10 years of age, Polio has fanned out, striking increasing numbers of adults in recent years. Men and women 20 years of age and over accounted for 15 per cent of the polio cases during the years 1944-48. In 1952, the number of adults stricken had increased to 22 per cent. More women than men 20 years of age and over were affected.

UK County Agent Thomas L. Pirle estimates Livingston county farmers planted 30,000 acres of corn or 8,000 acres over their quota.

Later in the week she called a local bank and funds were wired to her by a bank employee. She told the bank she had lost her pocketbook. The call was made from Huntington.

A few days later, further inquiries revealed, she showed up at the home of a sister, Mrs. Jean Meeks, in Columbus, Ohio. She told Mrs. Meeks, she didn't know how she had got there, that she had "blacked-out" and had no money. Mrs. Meeks saw her to the bus station, bought her a ticket for Prestonsburg, at 11:50 a.m., last Wednesday.

There has been some discussion over the endorsement that appeared in the Floyd County Times last weekend signed by a group of public office holders of Floyd County, who have been elected by the people and do hold a public trust. The concern comes from the fact that these public officials and state job holders have attempted to misrepresent the issues of this campaign and have attempted to distort the record of the present Congressman. We think that the people who live at the expense of the taxpayers have an obligation to be truthful with the people.

First, let's ask these men on the payroll of the taxpayers to tell us in the next issue of this paper just ONE, not TWO, but ONE accomplishment during the tenure of office of Carl Perkins that has aided, in any way, the people and the industries of the seventh congressional district. We think further that it is time the people understand just what the record of the incumbent is, in view of the fact that the people crave action, not promises. The people detest reading headlines of promises while standing in the breadlines.

Let's ask these men to place Mr. Perkins' record before the people. We fear from the endorsement that they have not looked at Mr. Perkins' record, or else they would have so boldly misrepresented the facts. A man is only good as his record and this is the medium by which he is judged.

These people say that they support Mr. Perkins because 1. He has led the fight for federal aid to education—record shows that Mr. Perkins has not led any fight on subject since he has been a member of congress, let alone as important a matter as federal aid to education. We are all for education and if Mr. Perkins was so valuable in the fight, let him tell the people what he himself accomplished and whether or not it was his bill that was voted on by congress.

2. Mr. Perkins has a record with regard to his efforts to secure greater coverage of employment through increased benefits in social security. We are not sure that through increased benefits in social security we would have increased employment, but, accepting this statement, let's ask—do you know the record? If so, what law, if any, was passed through the efforts of Mr. Perkins? Who introduced the bill? And who were its sponsors? Remember, you need to look at the record.

3. Mr. Perkins' record as to the residual oil importation question is very well known. He merely introduced a bill, H. R. 5894, along with 42 other congressmen from coal producing regions to ask for limitations of foreign residual fuel oil. Let Mr. Perkins tell the people whether it was his bill that was voted on by Congress. Let Mr. Perkins tell the people if he has attended one single meeting on the subject of restricting foreign oil importations. Let Mr. Perkins tell the people if his colleagues in congress had enough confidence in him to solicit his support in their efforts with the Simpson Bill. Let Mr. Perkins tell the people whom he blamed for the failure of the Simpson Bill. This, too, is a matter of record.

4. Mr. Perkins' record with regard to the canalization of the Big Sandy River is common knowledge among the people who have been interested in this movement and who are solely devoted to progress in the Big Sandy Valley. It is hard for us to believe that you men would mention canalization and Carl Perkins in the same breath. Let Mr. Perkins tell the people his stand and position on canalization in 1950 at that session of congress when with the support of our own congressman the canalization of the Big Sandy River would have become a reality. Did Mr. Perkins appear with the Big Sandy Valley Improvement Association before the Public Works Committee that year? Did he ever make a statement favoring the canalization project that year? Do you know what he told his colleagues in the Kentucky delegation that year about canalization? This, too, is a matter of record.

5. The matter of critical labor surplus area is not much of an achievement for a congressman to boast about. Neither is the fact that the area is receiving surplus commodities. Rather, we think the people of Eastern Kentucky want jobs, not handouts. Let Perkins tell us how his efforts have caused the government to buy and burn coal. We mean Eastern Kentucky Coal. Is he acquainted with the coal purchase contract of the Atomic Energy Commission.

It is apparent from the statement signed by the group in question last week that they are completely ignorant as to the record of achievement for the man they endorse. These men evidently are not concerned with the record but are campaigning with the idea in mind that's WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE COURTHOUSE CROWD IS GOOD FOR THE PEOPLE. This is not true and the people know it. It is hard for taxpayers to believe that these men are not interested enough in progress to find out the actual truth involved in these issues and that they should try to mislead the people. Let's ask these men to look at the record and again say to them to tell the people just one thing that has been accomplished by their man that would benefit Eastern Kentucky. The people want action, not promises. Progress, not politics. Vote for Eastern Kentucky and a man who will represent all of Eastern Kentucky. Vote and work for James Wine for Congress.

June was a comparatively good month in the Big Sandy field, with the total reaching 892,280 tons. Production in May was 798,740 tons.

This is considered a seasonal upturn caused primarily by the opening of traffic on the Great Lakes and stockpiling by coal consuming industries in anticipation of the miners' annual 10-day holiday which began June 28.

Another factor was the freight-rate reduction of 35 cents a ton by railroads hauling coal from the Appalachian region to the Lakes.

For the week ended June 26, the Big Sandy mines averaged working 3.93 days, bringing the average days worked so far this year to 80.83 days. During the corresponding week of last year these mines worked an average of 4.44 days out of a normal five-day week and the total for the first half of 1953 was an average of 93.26 days.

The Hazard field produced 140,700 tons of coal during the week ending June 26 in comparison with 171,900 tons in the corresponding week of last year. The Big Sandy field produced 246,010 tons for the week, whereas the total was 295,770 tons for the corresponding week last year.

Pikeville, Ky., July 13—One of the earliest organized groups to contribute to Pikeville Junior College's "living endowment", the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club, was inadvertently omitted from early lists of those making pledges to the fund, Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said today.

"The Lackey-Garrett club not only was one of the very first organizations in this section to cooperate in the current drive to make Pikeville a four-year college, but for years has aided boys and girls who wanted to attend college," Dr. Page said. "The club's help has taken various forms - encouragement, funds for those who lacked them, and even transportation in some cases."

Mrs. C. B. Ison, of Garrett, is president, and Mrs. J. Crittenden Wells, of Wayland, treasurer of the club, which has been called one of the most active in this part of Kentucky. The group is said to be one of the few in this district to own its own clubhouse, purchased and dedicated last April.

Progenitor of Hays Family, Indian Tomahawk Victim

BY HENRY P. SCALF

Betsy's Run, a tributary of the North Fork of Fishing Creek in Wetzel county, West Virginia, was named for Elizabeth Drago, who was killed there by the Indians in 1788. Her daughter Elizabeth married John Hays, and their descendants peopled Eastern Kentucky.

This murder of Mrs. John Hays' mother is the beginning in time and place of the Hays family history.

Mrs. Drago or Drygo was probably a widow at the time since her husband is not mentioned in the early records. She, with at least two of her children, Charles, 4, and Elizabeth, 11, was staying at Prickett's Fort. The fort was situated at the mouth of Prickett's Creek, on the east side of the Monongahela River, five miles below Fairmont. Built in 1774, it was a haven for settlers fleeing from Indian massacre. Mrs. Hays, being so close to the atrocity, preserved the story for the early chroniclers.

Her mother and Charles had gone to a garden, about half a mile from the fort, to pick beans. They were seized by the savages, she was tied to a tree out of sight, and her captors went back to the garden path to await those they knew would soon search for the captives.

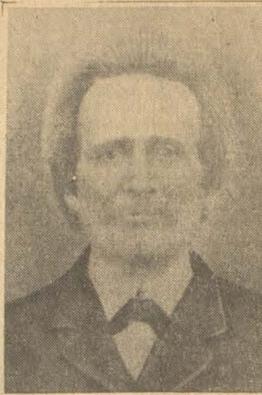

In a short while, Elizabeth and another sister came out of the fort, went to help their mother pick beans. Along the way, they became frightened at something and raced for the fort. Jacob Straight and Nicholas Wood went to see about Mrs. Drago and her son, but the Indians fired on them, killing Wood. Mrs. Straight and her daughter, being out of the fort and hearing the firing, fled for its walls. The daughter sought refuge in a thicket, the mother under a rock shelving. The Indians passed close by Mrs. Straight's place of concealment in pursuit of her husband and she heard the blow that killed him.

The Indians retreated and were pursued by Capt. David Morgan. They tied Mrs. Drago on a wild pony, it dashed away and her leg was torn on a limb. The savages tied it up, but the loss of blood so weakened her she could barely travel. They scalped her on the creek that bears her name. Her son, Charles lived with them until he was 27, married a squaw and reared a family.

He died with them in one of their Ohio towns and his children, two girls and two boys were given to one of the Hayeses at the time of the Morgan Treaty, and they were reared in his cabin at the present Jacksonburg.

John Hays and his wife Elizabeth moved to Jacksonburg in 1805 from Prickett's Fort. John Hays, the pioneer Right Beaver Creek settler, was born about 1797, because he married in Floyd county on March 10, 1815, to Elizabeth Anderson. Tradition in the Hays family avers that she was from North Carolina, but the Floyd county marriage indicates the Andersons may have been at the time residents of Big Sandy. There had been before the migration to Big Sandy a close association between the Hays and Anderson families. Elizabeth Drago Hays had a sister Malinda who married an Anderson.

John Hays and his wife, Elizabeth Anderson Hays selected for their homestead a tract of land where the C. & O. railway depot now stands at Lackey. They built a large, double log house. Here their children were born. Anderson, afterward known as Captain Anse, of the Confederacy, was born April 22, 1822. Other sons and daughters were Wilson, known as "Net", David, Daniel, a daughter who married a Griffith,

CAPT. ANDERSON HAYS
(1822-1912)

MRS. RACHEL SIZEMORE HAYS

and Elizabeth, who married Jesse Wicker. They were the grandparents of Dr. M. V. Wicker, of Wayland.

Brothers and sisters of John Hays, the Lackey settler, were Thomas, who settled in Lawrence county, another brother, his name unavailable, moved to Pulaski county, and Hiram, who settled on Beaver. Thomas was the grandfather of William P. Hayes, who put an "e" in his name, and the ancestor of Paul E. Hayes, a Prestonsburg attorney.

Few families were living on Right Beaver when Anderson Hays was a child. There were, besides the Hays family, John Morris, some of the Martins, Joel-Gearheart, Christopher Walker, John Jones, father of Clabe, the feudist, and a few others. Clabe Jones, born in 1826, recalled that Jones Fork was named for his father, who was from Hawkins county, Tennessee.

John Hays had a "house-raising" to build the big log house he lived in till his death. The sons were now able to help the neighbors who came. Assembled at the Hays "raisin" were a few women to help Mrs. Hays cook. One of these was a Katherine Smith, who it was said by Clabe, was a concubine of his father's. Clabe's mother, who was Rebecca Arnold, of Virginia, sought revenge on Miss Smith here at the gathering.

"My mother gave her a rap over the head with a club," Clabe told his biographer, J. W. Hall, "then seized her, pulling her over the yard fence to the road and beat her with a club until she could not stand up, and then put her foot on her neck and pulled all her hair out and left her lying in the road and then fled to the woods." John Hatcher, sheriff of Floyd county at the time, went after her, but she hid in a gap and shot him through the leg. It must have been a long time before the Hays family desisted in recalling the day of the "house-raising." Clabe was six years old, and Anderson Hays was seven at the time.

From 1810 to 1954 John Hays bought land on Right Beaver Creek. He died during the Civil War, the exact date undetermined. When the shooting was all over, Captain Anderson, who was living in Breathitt county, executed a deed to David Hays, his brother, under date of Oct. 16, 1865 to "All my legal and equitable interest in and to the lands owned by my father John Hays and upon which he resided at the time of his death, situated on Beaver Creek, at the mouth of Jones Fork." This deed infers that John Hays had not been dead very long.

Anderson Hays married Rachel Sizemore, three years younger than himself. She was a daughter of Golden Hawk Sizemore, whose name was corrupted to Goulding by the oldtimers. It was said he was either

Carriers Apply Under New Gas Law

Frankfort, Ky., July 12—Kentucky Department of Revenue officials said today that several thousand motor carriers have applied for licenses under provisions for the Kentucky Gasoline Use Tax Law, which became effective July 1.

The Department also issued a reminder to those carriers who come under the law and who have not yet applied for licenses.

The law, enacted by the 1954 Session of the Kentucky Legislature, supplements the old gasoline tax law and requires payment of tax on gasoline purchased outside Kentucky for use within the state.

Persons subject to the law are those who operate for-hire or private vehicles for more than 18,000 pounds gross weight which cross the boundaries of Kentucky. There are no exemptions. Operators coming under the law should apply to the motor Fuels Tax Section of the Department of Revenue, here.

Kentucky vehicles operated only in Kentucky, using Kentucky tax-paid gasoline, are not subject to any of the provisions of the law.

Gasoline users are required to file monthly returns and pay any tax due on or before the last day of the month for the preceding calendar month. The first return is due on or before August 31 for the month of July.

Severe penalties are provided in the law for failure to comply. Any person subject to the law, who operates without a license, may be punished by both a fine and imprisonment. Penalties are also provided for failure, neglect, or refusal to file the required return.

FRANKFORT — Eversole a Co. Co., London, asked the Public Service Commission for authority to increase rates to consumers if wholesale rates on gas it buys are raised. The utility said in that eventuality it would need an increase of five cents a thousand cubic feet.

WE SUPPORT CARL D. PERKINS For CONGRESS

We support Carl D. Perkins for Congress because he has bravely and conscientiously represented the interests of the people of Eastern Kentucky.

Here are some of the reasons.

His record of attendance at Congressional sessions is unexcelled.

We are for Mr. Perkins because he has led the fight for Federal Aid to Education.

We are for Mr. Perkins because during six years in Congress he has helped to secure greater coverage of employment with higher individual benefits in the social security field.

We are for Mr. Perkins because of his fight against the importation of cheap foreign oil which has reduced the coal markets.

We are for Congressman Perkins because of his interest in the industrialization of the Big Sandy Valley. He fights for Canalization of the Big Sandy Valley and for Locks and Dams to provide an adequate water supply.

Mr. Perkins has sought to relieve unemployment in our area by encouraging the federal government to declare our section a critical labor surplus area, a step in the direction of securing benefits for new industry and government buying of coal. He has secured government surplus commodities for needy persons.

His voting record is 100% for the laboring man, schools and old age assistance.

We are for Mr. Perkins because he is sincere, sober, and accommodating.

housekeeping near Letcher and when he was not busy with the many duties incumbent upon a mountain farmer, he indulged in his favorite sport of hunting. Trips were made to Buckhorn, where deer and bear were plentiful. On one of these trips to Buckhorn, he returned without his horse and gun. He had traded them to a large acreage of land on Jake's Fork and Dan's Fork of Buckhorn. He moved there. In a few years he owned 2,100 acres in this mountain fastness.

Anderson and Rachel had ten children—eight sons and two daughters. James was captured by Union troops in the Civil War and was confined in an eastern prison for two and a half years. Elizabeth, called Betty, married Bill Dobson, settled on Bell's Fork, then Breathitt county. George Hays and his two sons, Farris and Dan, by political legerdemain were able to rotate in the office of High Sheriff of Knott county for 20 years.

Lewis, another son of Anderson's, was called Redheaded Lewis. He went courting to the Forks of Troublesome, then Letcher county, after the Civil War and married Margaret Everidge, daughter of "Bareheaded" Solomon Everidge. It was said Everidge never wore a hat. Lewis was a justice of the Peace of Letcher county, at McPherson, now Hindman, when Knott was made a county. He was Knott's first county court clerk.

Letha Hays married Daniel Hays, and Wesley and Anderson, Jr., were merchants in Perry county for over half a century. David, another son of Anderson's, served as Commonwealth's Attorney of the Pike-Letcher judicial district, and Nelson, who although not the youngest, still lives at 88 years of age on Troublesome. It was Nelson who lost an eye, but could see good enough to shoot Clabe Jones when the Hays' and Jones' were feuding. Clabe, who hated the dark-skinned Nelson, always referred to him as "the one-eyed nigger," and kept out of his way.

Meantime while Anderson and Rachel were rearing this large family the Civil War came on. Anderson received a commission as Captain in the Confederate army, and Clabe Jones, dodging the law over in Perry county because he had killed a Coburn who had reported him as a Yankee, enlisted in the Union army. In the war began the many brushes, the Hays' and Jones' were to have for years.

The first brush was when Clabe and Captain Shade Combs were guarding some sick Yankees at the mouth of Carr's Fork. Captain Anderson attacked, and although only Clabe, Rev. Ira Combs and a few others had guns, the Confederates were held at bay long enough for the sick men to get away. Sometime later the Confederates were encamped at the mouth of Lott's Creek, below Hazard. The Unionists, under a Captain Strong, attacked Anderson. Clabe was along. Since the Confederates were outnumbered, Captain Anderson retreated towards Virginia, leaving a lot of war supplies on the ground. Captain Anderson, as a harbinger of things to come, never forgave his enemies several men, one of them being this defeat.

In the war Captain Anderson lost Wesley Grigsby, an old friend. Wayne and Sim Combs were wounded. He was in the Battle of Middle Creek, fled with the rest of Marshall's forces, pursued by Col. James A. Garfield's Unionists. He was attached to Col. Jesse Caudill's command for sometime. At the Battle of Cynthiana he was captured by the Federal forces, carried over the Ohio River, held prisoner for a while, but the dullness of the incarceration palled. He and several others dug their way out, swam the Ohio River, got back to Kentucky, and eventually to Buckhorn.

The war being over, Captain Anderson snatched his uniform, moved away from Buckhorn to Hays Branch, one mile above Hindman. Here he and his son Lewis built a water mill, serving a wide area for grinding corn meal, a necessity in the mountains. His son Lewis became, beside a Letcher county Justice of the Peace, a postmaster of McPherson, the forerunner of Hindman.

Time passed, Lewis Hays (1851-1917) who had married Margaret Everidge (1856-1936), in 1873, began to deal in stock and merchandise. He had the first store in Hindman. Across from the Hays farm lived his friend, Peyton Duke. With the aid of Duke and others, he grew influential.

Captain Anderson and his son Lewis were mainly responsible for the solid Democratic majority of Knott county voters. The Captain himself never forgave his Union enemies, particularly Clabe Jones, and as the Hayses were in a position of influence, the Civil War was carried over into the political wars after Knott was formed. Knott was made a county in 1894.

When Knott was formed, Lewis' children were all born. Lucinda, who married Prof. George Clark, was born in 1875. Wesley Richmond (nick-named Doug for some reason) was born in 1877; Alexander Sidney, who died in 1937, was born in 1879, and Rachel, the youngest, in 1881.

The day the commissioners arrived at the Forks of Troublesome to set up the new county, they found a large crowd from three counties—Floyd, Letcher and Perry. The populace considered it an hour to celebrate, and the men of affairs at the time retired to Lewis Hays' home to get away from the crowd. Dissension had set in. Bolling Bill Hall, of Upper Beaver, was being deprived of his Tax Commissioner's job in Floyd county by being out to the new county, and refused to act as commissioner to lay the county off into magisterial districts. Lewis Hays was being relieved of his duties as Justice of the Peace in Letcher, but in compensation was becoming the new county's first clerk.

The county, being duly organized, the Hays family stayed in the political saddle, slipping seriously only once. That was when Captain Anse, as he was called by everyone, ran for jailer on the Democratic ticket and Clabe Jones on the Republican. Clabe was elected. When he arrived at Hindman, the first thing he did was to cut potholes in the log jail to poke a rifle through.

Now Clabe was just finishing up a feud or two, chiefly with Talt Hall and Bad John Wright, and if he had not had staunch allies in the Bateses, Vances, Slones and Draughtons of Right Beaver, the Hays clan would have put him out of commission. These men helped man Jones' Fort, which was the jail.

Once when Clabe went after the cows, near dark, a volley of shots was fired at him and he escaped by flinging himself on the ground, pretending to be dead. Jones got one of the Hays clan in jail. The Hayses and their friends were muttering about a siege. Clabe imported his gunmen, swore them in as deputies. Both sides, the Joneses and Hayses procured warrants for each other. In the night the Hayses and their adherents took up quarters in the old Draught house opposite the jail. The two forces were arrayed for battle. Next morning, the stillness of death settled on Hindman. No one seemed inclined to move first.

Jones taunted them to come over and eat with him. Lewis Hays replied, "No thanks, we've had our dinner." Shots began to be exchanged and the Hayses led by Anderson and Lewis, retreated to the lower floor. Finally, retreating to the cellar to avoid the heavy fire, they awaited assault. It came when John and Andy Sloan charged at the cellar. A bullet brought John down, mortally wounded, and Andy was shot, although not fatally.

As the besiegers moved in, the Hays men beat out the cellar wall and ran for a woodland, bullets flying after them. One or more of them would have been killed but for a Hays man on the opposite hill who began firing. Clabe retreated to the safety of his log jail.

Hindman was for a long time, as Prof. George Clarke expressed it, "an armed camp." Men would ride into town, full of liquor, shoot off their guns, and retreat. One of these bad men was Enoch Helton who was shot in the mouth. He recovered, lived long enough to try to arrest Talt Hall at Norton. Talt killed him and was hanged for it at Wise court house.

Tired of all the gunplay, a group of citizens went to Frankfort to talk to Governor Simon Buckner. There was Prof. Clarke, Sheriff Watts, Heuram Francis, Lewis Hays and others. They wanted rifles and ammunition. "We got the guns and cartridges," Professor Clark said afterwards, "even if Pearl Combs did fall asleep in the presence of the governor." Hindman quieted after that.

Lewis Hays continued to run his general store for years. He ran for both the offices of county court clerk and circuit clerk, and was elected. While not engaged in his official duties he hauled goods from Norton, Va., or from deep down in Kentucky from London and Rothwell. He used a team of horses, but when the railroad stopped at Whitehouse on Big Sandy, he began to haul merchandise from there. The road was so bad on this route he was required to use ox teams. Years passed and his son Doug took over the teams and he and Hubbard Francis, as well as other merchants, hauled from Prestonsburg.

After the "troubles" were over at Hindman, Old Clabe Jones, as he was called by everyone, and the Hayses were reconciled, although we must believe Clabe kept a weather-eye" on one-eyed Nelse. Clabe was a landless, restless old man, and would visit the Hays families. They would talk about the wars, of incidents like when Dick Vance, John Slone and Dolf Draught "shot up" the courthouse after dark because they were indicted.

"You could pick up the record books and the bullets would fall out," Senator Doug Hays reminisces. Prof. Clark married Lucinda Hays, daughter of Lewis, in 1897, and under his tutelage education made progress. Clarke died several years ago. His widow survives. Surviving today are a few of those who remembered when Knott became a separate county. Mrs. Clark is one.

Senator Doug Hays remembers the occasion well for when the commissioners came they were smoking cigars and these were the first he had ever seen.

Other persons living today who can recall the launching of Knott county are Farris, Dan and Johnny Hays, Elliott Dyer and Rachel Stidham, Dr. J. W. Duke, who was there, died a few months ago.

Gone are some of the men who made mountain history, men like Captain Anderson Hays, who died in 1921, at the age of 90. His wife, Rachel Sizemore Hays, survived only a year. Lewis Hays died in 1917 and his wife, Margaret Everidge Hays, lived on until 1931.

The family's history is a chronicle of life on the border when settlers fled to the forts to escape Indian captivity or death; of emigration of the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, there to find itself living under the almost intolerable conditions of the Civil War, when there was not even a semblance of law; of bitter feuds and life in isolation while the rest of the state was building roads and schools.

That they were ever seeking to break their bonds is preserved in the tradition of how Lewis Hays, son-in-law of old Solomon Everidge, instigated the old man's journey to Hazard to request Katherine Pettit and May Stone to found a school at Hindman. Lucy Furman, quotes him as saying to introduce himself, "Women, my name is Solomon Everidge. Some calls me the granddaddy of Troublesome." He went on with his appeal for aid to his people. "When I heard of you women, I walked the 22 miles across the ridges, to search out the truth of it."

Hall; the Lewis Hays Bible; a manuscript on the Hays family prepared by descendants of Captain Anderson Hays for the writer; information supplied by Ova Wicker Haney, of Hodgenville; Floyd county court records; remembrances of Senator Doug Hays and an article in the Hindman News, May 1, 1952, by Lucy Furman.)

TOBACCO BUD WORMS

The tobacco bud worm seems to be giving the tobacco growers a lot of trouble this year. This little worm can be very destructive on tobacco if not controlled because he eats out the bud and stops the growth of the plant. He is very hard to find before he has done a great deal of damage because of his size. When he first begins to work on the tobacco plant, he may not be much larger than a hair. The control is very easy and inexpensive. All you need to do to control the bud worm is to dust the plant with a 10% DDT dust.

LONDON—Britain reportedly has offered to give up her role as sole guardian of the Suez Canal as part of a new defense settlement with Egypt.

SIDE DRESSING TOBACCO

Tobacco growers should avoid using too much nitrogen on their tobacco because an excessive amount of nitrogen will give you a tobacco high in nicotine and low in quality, which the buyers do not want to buy. So before you side dress your tobacco with ammonium nitrate consult your county agent and see if you need to go to the added expenses. I would like to see every grower in Floyd county receive a top price for their tobacco this year.

Court Upholds Legality Of Motor License Law

Kentucky's new motor-vehicle license law, challenged on grounds it violated two sections of the State Constitution was upheld last Friday by Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery, of the Franklin County Circuit court.

The measure will get a final test before the Court of Appeals, and attorneys hope to get a ruling when court meets July 19.

Based on the number of licensed vehicles, it affects more than 900,000 owners.

Effective in mid-June, the new law requires owners of vehicles to prove payment of personal-property taxes before a vehicle license is issued or produce proof that no tax was due.

Judge Ardery's ruling was given in a suit brought by O. J. School, Versailles automobile dealer. He contended Albert E. Rose, Woodford County Court Clerk, had refused to issue a car license. Neither was present at today's hearing.

The judge held, in effect, that if the State

OBSERVERS HONORED

Frankfort, Ky., July 12 — Governor Wetherby named July 14 as "Ground Observer Corps Day in Kentucky" and called for its appropriate observance to honor "The many faithful volunteers who have assisted in this cause to the end that our warning system might be complete."

"The Ground Observer Corps is a vital part of the Civil Defense program," according to the Governor, who cited the fact that approximately 8,000 Kentuckians have devoted time and effort to the Air Defense of the United States by working as volunteers in Air Force Filter Centers and as spotters at Ground Observer Corps posts.

"To attain satisfactory operation several thousand more citizens are needed to help fill gaps in our radar system and to provide low altitude surveillance against enemy aircraft, while unselfish devotion and united effort upon the part of all citizens is necessary to protect our nation from aggression and to preserve freedom."

Nine Floyd Students At Pikeville College For 2nd Summer Term

Pikeville, Ky., July 13 — Nine Floyd County students, five of them former "emergency" teachers, are among the 62 enrolled for the second term of summer school at Pikeville Junior College.

Only 15 emergency teachers are in the entire group, Dr. A. A. Page, college president, announced today. Three, including one Floyd countian, expect to complete the requirements of the Temporary Certificate and leave the emergency ranks this summer, he said.

SPORTS CHATTER

By Gordon Moore

One of the biggest golfing events ever staged in Eastern Kentucky will be the 15th annual Paintsville Invitational Golf tournament this week-end.

The 18-hole course is one of the finest and most beautiful courses in the valley. It features play up the hollows, across the Big Sandy river, over three lakes and numerous hazards of sand traps and bunkers.

Already some 250 golfers from Kentucky, West Virginia, and Ohio have entered, far outnumbering last year's 167 countians.

More than $500.00 will be at stake for the pros, and defending professional champ George Hoffer, of Huntington, West Virginia, has agreed to defend his crown this year.

Carl "Buddy" Mahan, of Versailles, won the amateur title last season.

The 1954 pre-season University of Kentucky football roster includes the greatest number of Eastern Kentucky candidates ever to seek a berth on the University grid squad.

The roster lists: Ralph Moran, back, Belfry; Duke Curnette, tackle, Ashland; Bob Bennett, guard, Russell; John Goble, guard, Prestonsburg; Bob Stambaugh, guard, Ashland; Bill Wheeler, tackle, Pikeville; Jerry Beatty, end, Pikeville; Jerry Beatty, end, Paintsville; Delmar Hughes, back, Prestonsburg; Ivan Curnette, back, Ashland; Don Brewer, back, Ashland; Bob Phillips, back, Pikeville.

IS IT WORTH IT?

Baseball, the national pastime, is inherent with some fans while others within various contacts with the game have brought about intense interest. In my own particular case either category will fit.

The All-Star game is one of the great spectacles of baseball, possibly overshadowed only by the World Series.

After watching this year's classic in Cleveland, Tuesday afternoon, it comes times to weigh the advantages of fandom against the disadvantages.

Advantages: 1—None of the monetary level, but self-gratifying.

Disadvantages: 1—One trip in the neighborhood of 725 miles in the short space of 13 hours. 2. Loss of two nights sleep not to mention a day's work. 3. Lack of sleeping quarters, but several parks were available. 4. The Cleveland Police department felt it was better for a Floyd County Ford to be quartered in police auto pound rather than illegally on a busy street. 5. The usual summer heat, warm beverages, cold hotdogs, half-roasted peanuts, then a bad investment as the American League won 11-9. 6. The departure of two, crisp green notes with picture of Andrew Jackson glaring you in the face as they are lifted from their hiding place. 7. Now to spend the rest of week replaying the game for the people who were lucky enough to stay home and watch it on television.

But, that's baseball and we'll be back next year . . .

Moore Rules Dodgers Pennant Winners Over Cardinal Team Protest

In his last official act, resigning Little League Commissioner Gordon Moore ruled that the Dodgers 15-9 play-off conquest stands and the Dodgers, managed by Vernon Blackburn, are the first half pennant winners.

Two grievances were listed in the protest, the first involved the use of pitcher Junior Young, who is a registered pitcher on the Dodger roster. Earlier last week, the commissioner informed coaching personnel of both clubs that in the play-off contest, any registered pitcher was eligible to pitch, regardless of previous games played or pitched during the week.

In regard to grievance number two, the attendance of the nine Dodgers players at Sunday School had no bearing on the outcome of the play-off game in question. It was suggested at a previous meeting of League personnel that all players be requested by their managers to attend Sunday School, at least twice a month, but no penalty was established or imposed at that meeting if they failed to comply with the manager's wishes.

Dodgers Top Cardinals 15-9 In First Half Playoff

The Dodgers captured the first half pennant race in the Prestonsburg Little Baseball League by whipping the Cardinals 15-9 in the play-off game, Saturday night.

Both teams ended the season with identical 6-3 marks, Thursday. The play-off game was played under protest, but Little League Commissioner Moore overruled it.

SOMETHING FISHY . . . TWO REELFOOT FISH DEALERS FACE POSSIBLE $28,800 FINES

Frankfort, Ky., July 9 — If two Reelfoot Lake fish dealers are convicted of all charges filed against them in their trial in Federal Court at Paducah on October 25 and are fined the maximum penalty, their fines will total $28,800, Billy Jones, U. S. Assistant Attorney at Louisville, who will prosecute the case, has announced.

Defendants in the suit filed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service are Marvin Hayes, Hayes Fish Company, Samburg, Tenn., and Elbert T. Spicer, operator of Spicer Fish Company, Hornbeak, Tenn. Hayes was named in 108 counts involving shipments of crappie, sunfish and striped bass from Fulton, Ky., to St. Louis and Chicago fish houses. Spicer was named in 36 similar counts. In addition to the fines each count could carry a prison sentence of three months. Should the maximum penalties be imposed, the cases would comprise the largest in the history of law enforcement by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the law enforcement divisions of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Jones made the announcement of the trials after a conference on June 9 with William Davis, Regional Supervisor of Enforcement for the Service, Atlanta; Robert C. "Cotton" Soaper, U. S. Game Management Agent for Kentucky; J. T. "Boots" Hammond, U. S. Game Management Agent for Tennessee; Frank Phipps, Chief of Enforcement for the Kentucky

Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, and his assistant, Carl Thomas; and Fred Williams, Chief of Enforcement for the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission.

Charges against the Tennesseans resulted after State and Federal enforcement officers intercepted shipments of crappie in St. Louis from both the Hayes and Spicer Companies. According to Williams, only a small number of the crappie were tagged in accordance with Tennessee law. In addition, a Federal game management agent in St. Louis reported an illegal shipment of black bass, a violation of Federal law. Williams, Hammond, Soaper and other officers also turned over other evidence to the U. S. Attorney.

Huntington Man Wins Auto Race at Allen

The winner of the main race at the Sandy Valley Speedway last Sunday evening was Johnnie Patterson, of Huntington, who drove car No. 48, a 1939 Ford. There were 19 entrants competing for $600 in prizes.

"Pop" McGinnis, of Huntington, furnished plenty of colorful maneuvering in the race as did Gene Wagner of Olive Hill, Gene Comstock, of Chesapeake, Ohio, and Johnnie Ringstaff, of Catlettsburg. There were no spills or wrecks at the week-end meet. There were five heats with a feature race.

Local drivers entering recent races were John P. Wells, Amos Gray, Bob White and "Red" Saunders.
