This Town-- That World

Home from Los Angeles and the Democratic convention, Bob Francis is doing his handshaking with his left hand. He explains: "I used my right hand to shake with Kennedy, Johnson and Stevenson. Haven't washed it since."

Rockefeller says nix on the idea of being the G.O.P. nominee for Vice President. The fact is, he would like to apply the same expression to Nixon's idea of being the No. 1 man on the ticket.

PALEFACE NAMES--UGH!

A historical paper seeking to fix the origin of names is all wrong on at least two counts, it appears. It puts both Thealka and Helechawa down as stemming from the noble redskin but both sprang from more modern origins.

Thealka was named for Alka Meek, who was later to be the wife of John C. C. Mayo, late Eastern Kentucky financier. The story is told that Green Meek directed a sign painter to inscribe on the side of a steambot which he owned and which plied the Big Sandy the words, "The Alka," in honor of his daughter. The welder of the brush, however, put the two words together and thus came up with the name, "Thealka," which later became that. (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

AUTO MISHAP KILLS WOMAN

Three Others Injured In Two-Car Collision At Paintsville, Tuesday

Mrs. Nancy Sparks, 31, of West Van Lear, was dead on arrival at the Paintsville Clinic Tuesday afternoon, shortly after she and three others were injured in a two-car collision near Paintsville.

Mrs. Sparks was the widow of Ora Sparks whose death, May 16, at the David mines of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company was ascribed to a heart attack.

Three other persons were injured in the two-car collision that claimed Mrs. Sparks. Injured seriously was a passenger in Mrs. Sparks' car, her brother, Douglas Wallen, of West Van Lear. His condition is improving, it is said. Bill Smith, 36, of Boon's Camp, driver of the other car, is in a serious condition at Veterans hospital, Huntington, where he was taken Tuesday evening. James Compton, 26, of Paintsville, a passenger with Smith, was hospitalized but suffered no serious injuries, it is said. Another passenger in the Sparks car, a Mr. Copley, escaped injury.

Mrs. Sparks was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Wallen, of Williamsport. She and her husband had no surviving children. Surviving brothers, besides Douglas Wallen, are Mrs. Myrleen Walters, Auburn, Ala., Edgar Poe Wallen, Ashland, Karen Gay Wallen and David H. Wallen, both of Williamsport.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 1 p.m., Friday, from the River United Baptist church, the Revs. Gern Walters and C. J. Sparks officiating. Burial will follow in the family cemetery under the direction of Preston Funeral Home.

INJURED AT MINE

Walter Crace, 54, mine foreman for Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, of David, was injured Tuesday at 2 p.m., when slate fell and pinioned him against a mine motor. He suffered lacerations and internal injuries. He was taken to the Prestonsburg General hospital where his condition is not critical, it is said.

POWER PLANT CEREMONIES ARE PLANNED

Combs, Wyatt and Sporn Are Scheduled Speakers; Contractors Are Listed

Kentucky Power Company will have a ground-breaking ceremony August 2, for its $39-million Big Sandy plant. The ceremony, beginning at 10 a.m., will signal the start of construction of the 265,000-kilowatt plant about five miles north of Louisa on Kentucky Route 3.

Featured speakers on the program will be Governor Bert Combs, Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt and Philip Sporn, president of American Electric Power System, of which Kentucky Power is a part. F. M. Baker, vice president and general manager of Kentucky Power, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Public officials, industry leaders and the general public are invited to attend the ground-breaking ceremony. Music will be furnished by the Louisa high school band. Parking facilities will be provided at the plant site, which is located on a 36-acre tract bordering the Big Sandy river in Lawrence county.

Announcement of plans to construct the Big Sandy plant was made in March. Upon completion in late 1962, the power plant is expected to use 750,000 tons of coal annually from Eastern Kentucky mines.

The site and design of the first unit will permit addition of a second unit when further economic development of Eastern Kentucky requires it.

Excavation work will start immediately after the ground-breaking. Mr. Baker announced that Kentucky Power let a contract to the Green Construction Company, Oak Town, Ind., for the excavation and moving of an estimated 500,000 cubic yards of earth at the site. Equipment will move onto the site within a few days. Earth moving will commence on August 2, and will be completed in October.

Various contractors will build the plant. Peak employment is expected to reach 600 workers. Upon completion, the plant will be operated by about 90 Kentucky Power employees.

Westinghouse Electric Corporation will build the steam turbine and generator for the plant. It will be capable of supplying more than the electric service requirements of all of Kentucky Power's customers. The additional output will be absorbed by the seven-state AEP System power network. The generator (See Story No. 3, Page 2)

Prestonsburg Youth Is Student Of Science At Tennessee College

JOHNSON MEASURES ISOTOPES. Larry Johnson, of Prestonsburg, learns how to measure the half-life of radioactive isotopes at the Summer Science Training program at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

A Prestonsburg teen-age "scientist" will go back to high school this fall with a better grasp of his subject, thanks to a summer training program at the University of Tennessee.

Larry Johnson, 15, of Prestonsburg high school, is one of 48 sophomore boys at the second annual Summer Science Training program at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Johnson.

This program, which ends Friday, July 22, was financed by the National Science Foundation. Dr. J. W. Wood, U-T chemistry

Girl Scouts Schedule Visitors Day, Sunday At Camp Chatterawha

Sunday was visitor's day for the Girl Scouts at Camp Chatterawha on Dewey Lake near Prestonsburg. A steady stream of parents and grandparents broke the daily routine of the campers, who showed their visitors around to the playing field, the swimming dock and the lodge. The heartiest of them were taken to see the tent sites—Rockridge, Pioneer and Lakeview.

A normal day would find these girls busy learning to canoe, taking instruction in life-saving, doing shell craft, or making plastic-lined beach-bags. At their own tent sites they learn to live with new girls, to be neat, to cook over an open fire, and to sing new songs around the dying embers.

A registered nurse, Mrs. Regina B. Mayo, is in attendance. She presides over a fully-equipped first-aid station and a doctor is on call. The Floyd County Health Department has just completed tests on both the drinking water and the lake water where swimming classes are held. Both were approved as safe.

SURVEY FINDS SMOKING RISE

Floyd County Bought 4,974,000 Packages Of Cigarettes in '59

(Special to The Times)

New York, July 14—What effect has the furor over cigarette smoking and lung cancer had on the smoking population of Floyd county?

Judging from the latest figures on cigarette sales in the area—practically none. Local residents are consuming more than they ever did. Per smoker, it amounts to 15 per cent more, on the average, than it did 10 years ago.

Since 1953, when the health issue came to the fore and caused people to cut down drastically in their smoking, cigarettes have made a big comeback. What turned the tide was the timely appearance of new filter-type cigarettes, with their purported protective features. Since then, there has been an annual increase.

Floyd county residents smoked a total of 4,974,000 packs of cigarettes during 1959, several per cent more than in the prior year, on the basis of regional statistics issued by the tobacco industry and nationwide data from the Department of Agriculture. (See Story No. 9, Page 5)

UK STUDENTS TAKE LIVES

Johnson-Co. Man Is Gunshot Victim; Riley Found Hanging

Two University of Kentucky students took their lives at Lexington last week only three days apart.

Jack Donald Meade, 26, of Paintsville, who would have graduated in January, died of gunshot wounds inflicted in his rooms Thursday of last week. Amos Riley, Jr., 21, a post-graduate student from Maryland, was found hanging in his room Saturday night.

Meade, a Paintsville high school graduate, was a veteran of the armed services, a member of the Key Club, Letterman's Club and other school organizations.

Riley was doing post-graduate work in physics. Fayette Coroner Chester Hager was continuing an investigation this week but had been unable to question all the witnesses he wished.

Meade was the son of the late Nollis Meade and Mrs. Beulah Ward Meade, of Paintsville. Surviving besides his mother, are four brothers and three sisters: Arnolis Meade, Lexington, Dr. Howard Meade, Paintsville dentist, Charles Meade, Washington, D. C., Curtis Meade, in Michigan, Mrs. Helen Pack, of Jenkins, Mrs. Lou Schweinfest, San Francisco, Calif., and Miss Marguerite Meade, Paintsville.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. from the Paintsville United Baptist church, the Revs. O. I. Williams, F. F. Riggsby and C. J. Sparks officiating. Burial was made in the Wells cemetery.

MOBILE X-RAY CLINICS SET

Dr. Russell Hall Asks Public Participation In Free Health Work

The mobile X-ray trailer, donated for use in Eastern Kentucky counties by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be in Floyd county Aug. 9 through Aug. 19, it was announced this week by the Floyd County Health Department. A schedule of locations for the mobile unit starts at Prestonsburg and ends at Harold.

"Everyone 20 years old or over is urged to visit the trailer, especially those persons who have had close contact with causes of tuberculosis," Dr. Russell Hall, health officer, said. "If a person has had a positive skin test he or she is urgently requested to avail themselves of this X-ray service."

"A positive skin test does not mean that the individual has tuberculosis," Hall continued. "It does indicate, however, that someone in the family or close acquaintance may have active tuberculosis to which he has been exposed. No person under 20 years of age is to come in for an X-ray unless he has had a positive skin test," he emphasized.

Exceptions to the general rules as to those who could procure an X-ray, Hall noted. Physicians may refer anyone, also no woman in the first three months of pregnancy will be X-rayed by the unit. Other pregnant women may (See Story No. 7, Page 2)

RURAL ROADS ARE STARTED

Under New Program; Machinery Arrives Under Leasing Plan

Two rural road projects are now under construction as a result of the state-county pact entered into recently by the fiscal court, County Judge Henry Stumbo said this week. Work began soon after arrival of $73,000 worth of machinery leased by the county with option to buy.

Roads on which grade and drain construction has been started are the Right Fork of Bull Creek and Hen Pen at Melvin. Each is approximately one and half miles long. Gravel surfacing will be done later.

Judge Stumbo said he hopes to keep two such projects going throughout the construction season.

Under the agreement with the Rural Highway Division the state will pay Floyd county hourly rates for machinery and for machinery operators. Ex-Magistrate Glenn C. Burchett, is foreman of the new road program.

New Driver-Librarian Completing First Calls; Succeeds Paris Conley

Roland Jones, of Printer, who was employed recently by the Floyd County Library Board as driver-librarian of one of the two bookmobiles operated in the county, has begun work and this week was completing his first round of calls.

Mr. Jones is a teacher of five years' experience. His employment fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Paris Conley, driver-librarian in the section of the county embracing Magisterial Districts 1 and 2. Homer Lee Hall is driver of the other bookmobile serving the remainder of the county.

Charles Clark, new superintendent of Floyd schools, became ex-officio member of the Library Board, July 1, succeeding V. O. Turner.

FARM EVENT IS SCHEDULED

At Betsy Layne; Davis Will Make Farm Tour, Discuss Gardening Work

The annual Farm Family Field Day will be held Saturday, July 30, at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Layne, of Betsy Layne, it was announced this week by Robert M. Jones, county agent. The Laynes were hosts to the Field Day program five years ago.

"Mr. Layne is noted throughout this and adjoining counties for the outstanding gardens he raises," Jones said. "Every gardener in the county should make a special effort to attend. The program this year will be devoted almost entirely to gardening and food preservation. With much added interest in Floyd county, this should work nicely with the interest of most of the people in the county."

The program will include a kitchen planning demonstration by Biddy Worley, home economist with the Kentucky Power Company. This will be of interest to women planning to remodel or build a new kitchen.

Hubert Davis, extension specialist in vegetable production, will make the farm tour with the men, and discuss different production problems. Mr. Davis will also discuss the family garden improvement program. Awards for the winners in the county program will be presented.

Everyone attending is requested to bring a picnic lunch. The three banks in the county are providing cold drinks for everyone. There will be judging contests for everyone, and prizes will be presented.

"Mr. and Mrs. Layne would like to have their friends visit them on Saturday, July 30, and anyone interested in learning more about gardening, canning and kitchen planning is invited to attend," Jones added.

Community Drainage Job Completed On Middle-Cr.

Cooperation among several Floyd countians has brought about the completion of a community drainage project on the Caney Fork of Middle Creek. Richard Ousley and George Thornsberry, working with their neighbors, have recently completed the project. Technical assistance was provided by the Soil Conservation Service.

The farmers secured and paid for a dragline, or shovel. The stream channel, which had silted (See Story No. 11, Page 5)

Completes Study

Miss Josephine Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Calhoun and a graduate of Prestonsburg high school in the class of 1959, completed a private secretarial course at the Spencerian College, Louisville, July 11. She plans to work in Cleveland, Ohio. She took a course in Nancy Taylor charm and modeling and is a Nancy Taylor secretary.

DR. DAVIDSON HEART VICTIM

Revered Physician Is Claimed At Home; Located Here In 1932

Dr. Andrew Jackson Davidson, 77 years old, died Sunday morning at his home here of a heart attack.

Although he had been in ill health for several months, the revered physician's passing was unexpected and came as a shock to relatives and friends over a wide area.

A native of Ivel, this county, he was born April 2, 1883, the son of John Preston Martin Davidson and Judith Martin Davidson. He was graduated from the University of Louisville Medical School in 1909 and had practiced his profession since that time—the last 28 years in Prestonsburg. Dr. Davidson practiced medicine in Tampa, Fla., and Topeka, Kans., before locating here in 1932. In addition to his general practice here he served as mine physician for the North-East Coal Company at Auxier and the Sandy Valley Coal Company at Water Gap.

Dr. Davidson was a life member of the American Medical Association and the Southern Medical Association, and a member of the Kentucky State and Floyd County Medical Associations, a member of the American Legion and a past master of Middletown Lodge No. 722, F. & A. M. He was a devout member of the First Methodist Church, of Prestonsburg.

Last year Dr. Davidson commemorated fifty years in the practice of medicine with open house at his (See Story No. 4, Page 2)

PROGRAM IS PROPOSED FOR 'DECLINE' AREAS

Population changes such as have occurred in Kentucky where population of 79 counties of the state's 120 is decreasing rapidly, are matters of great public concern.

So says Ralph Ramsey, University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service rural sociologist, who this week released a study of the state's population trends.

Floyd county's population dropped from 33,500 to 41,000-plus in the recent census. The two Eastern Kentucky Congressional districts, the Seventh and Eighth, were the only districts in the state on the "losing" side. All others gained.

Ramsey suggests a four-point investigation of "decreasing counties" to (1) See if government ownership of land for forestry or recreation would be feasible and permanent residence discouraged in these areas; (2) Study the resources to see if industry can be attracted or tourism promoted; (3) Learn whether state or federal governments should increase aid; and (4) Study merger of adjoining counties to pool hospital, high school, college and government services.

Ramsey warned: "Action can be taken or delayed that will affect the population change. Assuming the trends will continue, each county needs to plan to meet the changes."

Ramsey said that since 1900, population of 21 counties increased, 20 counties showed little or no change, 44 increased to about 1920 then started a decline and 35 had rapid increases to 1940 or 1950 and declines since. The latter two now constitute the 79 "decline" counties.

Counties close to manufacturing centers or army posts have showed a continued increase. Those with stationary populations have medium-size cities and have had some increases in employment in manufacturing or services.

There were 44 agricultural counties which reached maximum populations about 1920, Ramsey said, and have since decreased slowly. In some counties, such as Lawrence and Muhlenberg counties, recent power plant construction has helped

Floyd Retarded Children To Benefit From Movie

The annual drive for funds by the Floyd County Retarded Children Council will benefit from a movie, "This Earth Is Mine," to be shown by the Almar Theatre, at Allen, July 27, it was announced this week. The movie will star Rock Hudson and Jean Simmons.

All proceeds of the movie will be donated to the Council, Harold Smith, manager, announces. The picture will be shown as many times as necessary he said. Tickets will be handled locally by the Junior Woman's Club and other civic organizations.

The B. & D. Motor Company, of Allen, will give a car away in the fund drive, it is noted.

DAMAGE SUIT ASKS $50,000

Negligence With Truck Loaded With Explosives Alleged Against Firm

A total of $50,000 is asked in a damage suit filed in circuit court here Friday for injuries suffered by a 10-year-old Floyd county boy in an explosion at Wheelwright last month.

The plaintiff, Douglas Ray Hall, sues by and in the name of his father, John M. Hall, Sr., naming the L. W. Ruth Construction Company as defendant.

The company's truck was used to transport dynamite and dynamite caps, explosives used in digging holes for the stringing of a telephone line, and was left unattended while parked in Branch Hollow at Wheelwright, the petition alleges. The boy was playing on or near the truck and caused the dynamite to explode, suffering allegedly severe and permanent injuries about his eye, face, head, legs and body. It is also claimed he was badly disfigured.

The suit, prepared by Atty. Burnis Martin, claims small children had previously played about the truck, that agents and employees of the company knew the truck was easily accessible to them and that they negligently left the truck unlocked and unattended.

Claims for damages include $10,000 for bodily injuries, $10,000 for pain and suffering, $5,000 for disfigurement, $5,000 for medical and hospital care, and $20,000 for loss of future earning power.

'OLD DEBTS' BOND ISSUE PLAN FAILS

Proposal To Liquidate Old County Indebtedness Fails To Draw Support

County Judge Henry Stumbo's suggestion that the Floyd fiscal court vote the issuance of bonds to pay off old debts which have accumulated over a period of several years failed Friday to win the support of the magistrates.

Magistrate Grover Holbrook introduced a motion to implement Judge Stumbo's plan but it failed of a second.

Judge Stumbo explained that for the first time in possibly 30 years Floyd county this year owes no bonded indebtedness but that budget excesses on current expenditures over the years have piled up a debt which may run from $75,000 to $100,000. The budget commissioners this year allocated $20,000 for payment on these old debts but this, it was pointed out, amounted only to "a drop in the bucket."

Some old debts were paid in full out of the $20,000, a fraction of others was paid, and nothing was paid on many.

Judge Stumbo proposed that the court carefully inspect all claims, determine exactly the total amount due, then issue bonds and pay the long-waiting creditors. After that, he said, it would be the duty of the court to stay within the bounds of its budget and incur no debts which could not be paid on a current basis.

"As it is, we pay a little on some of these debts, nobody is fully satisfied and most of them are plain dissatisfied," Judge Stumbo said.

MARSILLET GIVES BOND

On Knifing Charge; Whirlwind Raids Made By Troopers, Deputies

Ezra Marsillet was placed under $1,000 bond Saturday after he had been jailed by Prestonsburg police in the knife-slashing of Luther Wright at the Marsillet home in West Prestonsburg Friday night.

Wright was treated at the Prestonsburg General hospital where 14 stitches were required to close the gash across the back of his neck. He later was released from the hospital and now is at the home here of a sister, Mrs. Georgia Horn.

Wright said he was cut without cause. Chief of Police Bill Potter said Marsillet admitted, after a warrant had been sworn out for his arrest, that he cut Wright. He said Marsillet indicated one of his children had been struck. Marsillet was drinking, officers said. (See Story No. 5, Page 2)

WOMAN'S CLUB SPARKS 'OPERATION CLEAN-UP'

A grassroots interest and participation in Operation Clean-Up will be sought by the Floyd County Health Department as it joins in planning for beautification of the county, Dr. Russell L. Hall, Floyd health doctor, said this week.

Although the move will be an effort that cooperates with the plans of Gov. Bert Combs, it actually has been in the making for some weeks, even prior to the Governor's recent announcement of clean-up plans for the whole state, particularly the eastern section. The Drift Woman's Club was host at a recent meeting attended by representatives of other Woman's Clubs, of business firms, the health department and other groups.

The work there toward locating a central dumping site of garbage and refuse from a wide area of Left Beaver Creek continues, and now Dr. Hall is hopeful that other clubs as well as all citizens may become interested in a similar plan.

Some organized garbage collection has been done in the county for the last few years, but promiscuous dumping is widely practiced even where this service is rendered.

The health doctor added that the interest of bankers and other business men would be enlisted, to the end that they would be induced to invest in swampy, near-worthless land which would serve as central dump locations. Such land, he said, can be built up by continued dumping and systematic covering of the refuse over a period of years.

ADMINISTERING THE BONUS PROGRAM. Although litigation and lack of money at present are holding up payment of the Kentucky bonus to veterans, the work of studying applications and processing them for approval goes on at Frankfort.

How Social Security Applicants May Save Time, Told by Morris

"Considerable time may be saved if the applicant for social security brings adequate information and evidence with him when he is ready to file his claim," James A. Morris, field representative of the Pikeville Social Security office said recently.

The usual necessary data are his social security account number card (or record of the number), his withholding statement for the last previous year's work, and proof of his age. Self-employed persons should bring in a copy of their last year's income tax report, the schedule of self-employment income (Schedule C or, in the case of farmers, it is Schedule F), and evidence of payment of tax—such as their cancelled check or money order receipt.

Proof of age should be a record established some years ago—such as a family Bible, insurance policy, military record, or any other available evidence. The applicant should also bring a record of his wife's date of birth, the date of their marriage, and dates of birth of any minor disabled children.

Any worker who does not have all the information listed should contact his social security representative or the Pikeville district office for suggestions as to evidence which might be secured in order to complete his claim.

Morris suggested that any person approaching retirement age might wish to keep this article for reference. In the near future, he will give information concerning the required evidence for other types of social security claims.

Morris will be in the Employment Office in Prestonsburg each Thursday, between the hours of 9:30 and 2 P. M. to give information and service to residents in this area on social security matters.

COOLEY IN GERMANY

Grafenwohr, Germany—Army Pfc. Ernest L. Cooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooley, of Dwale, Ky., recently participated with other personnel from the 4th Armored Division in a six-week field training exercise in Grafenwohr, Germany.

The exercise, conducted under realistic combat conditions, was designed to evaluate the combat effectiveness of the unit, a major element of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

Cooley, a gunner in Headquarters Company of the division's 66th Armor in Illesheim, entered the Army in December, 1958, and completed basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Prestonsburg high school.

Four state troopers and Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis staged a whirlwind raid Saturday afternoon on six Floyd places for which search warrants had been procured, and intoxicants were found in five of the six, they reported.

Four of five persons arrested—Mrs. Bennie Blackburn, of Knotley Hollow, near Lancer, Jim Blanton, of Allen, Wade Little and Buddy Hall, of Abner Fork, entered pleas of guilty before Magistrate Grover Holbrook. All paid $50 fines, with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blanton, who may face grand jury action. The jail terms were suspended for those fined. A fifth, Wayne Allen, of the Miners Club at McDowell, asked for trial and was admitted to bond.

Others jailed within the week included:

Hubert Allen, driving recklessly, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson; Edd Kidd, contributing to juvenile delinquency and permitting an unlawful driver to operate his car, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler and Harold Lewis; Loretta Newsome, driving a car without license; Floyd and Troy Mann, grand larceny, accused of taking a woman's pocketbook at a Martin place of business. They were jailed by Policeman A. J. Reed, of Martin.

Babcock & Wilcox Company will build the 150-foot-high boiler, which will be of the pulverized fuel fired, reheat type. It will have a capacity of supplying 1,890,000 pounds of main steam per hour and 1,534,000 pounds of reheat steam per hour.

An unusual feature of the plant will be its use of a cooling tower, which will provide cool water for steam condensing purposes. The plant will become the second ever to be built in the American Electric Power System with a cooling tower, the other being Appalachian Power's Clinch River plant at Carbo, Virginia.

MEADE PARTICIPATES

Grafenwohr, Germany—Army Specialist Four Audry C. Meade, son of Mrs. Octavia Meade, of Betsy Layne, Ky., is participating with other personnel from the 44th Artillery in a month-long field training exercise in Grafenwohr, Germany. The exercise is scheduled to be concluded July 27.

The exercise, conducted under realistic combat conditions, was designed to evaluate the combat effectiveness of the unit in defending a vulnerable area against an enemy air attack, firing at surface targets and defending itself against a surprise chemical and atomic attack.

Specialist Meade, a driver in the artillery's Battery A in Karlsruhe, entered the Army in 1955 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in October 1959.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1955 graduate of Betsy Layne high school.

MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

The marriage of Miss Jacqueline Louisa Hensley, daughter of Mrs. Zeila S. Archer, Prestonsburg, and Mr. Elbert Bill Trospen, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Trospen, of Corbin, Ky., was solemnized at 4:00 p.m., June 25, at Duncan Memorial Chapel in Floydsburg, Ky. Dr. David Nelson, of Highland Baptist Church, Louisville, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with tapers in candelabra, palms and white flowers. Wedding music was presented by Miss Martha Wooten, organist, from Scottsville, and Mrs. William M. Rowe, vocalist, of Prestonsburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Edmund A. Smith, Jr., of Louisville, wore a gown of white silk organza, featuring a scalloped neckline with appliques of chintilly lace decorated with seed pearls, long sleeves and a fitted bodice. The full floor-length skirt ended in a chapel train. Her double-tiered, finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and pink sweetheart rosebuds.

Miss Julia Mayo May, Prestonsburg, the maid-of-honor, wore a street-length frock of pale pink silk organza featuring a sabrina neckline, cap sleeves, crushed cummerbund and full skirt. Her matching contour headpiece held a short circular veil and she carried a French bouquet of pale pink carnations and stephanotis.

The groom's father served his son as best man. Ushers were Wayne Pearson and Tom Max Conley.

After the ceremony, guests were received on the chapel lawn. Following a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 1733 Bachman Drive, Louisville.

Whitesburg Man, Vet Senate Clerk, Familiar Demo Convention Figure; Serves As Clerk Of Four Conclaves

A familiar voice boomed out last week at the national Democratic convention in Los Angeles as the roll-call of states, "Alaska" . . . "Alabama," and so on was made to show Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts the party's overwhelming choice for the Presidential nomination.

Young men of the party obviously were in charge there, but this was a veteran who stood, center-stage. This was his fourth convention in the role, and he had the distinction of being the first man introduced last Wednesday night.

The veteran was Whitesburg's Emory Frazier, official clerk of the convention. His convention appearance revived these memories for Thornton Connel, Courier-Journal writer:

I remember "Frizzy" Frazier, as we called him, when he was a scrub football player at the University of Kentucky just before the start of World War I.

"Frizzy" was of medium height, and thin and friendly and, although he knew he couldn't make the team, he went out to practice daily to help those who could.

"Frizzy" as I recall, took a terrible beating from some of the hettier gridmen.

"Frizzy" was introduced as reading clerk of the convention by permanent chairman LeRoy Collins, Governor of Florida. "Frizzy" is chief clerk of the United States Senate. He is an old hand at conventions. I have seen him at several.

Before attending the University of Kentucky, from whose law college he was graduated after service in World War I, Frazier went to high school in Lawrenceburg. After he was admitted to the Kentucky bar he went to Whitesburg, which he said "was just opening up," and hung out his shingle.

I was in touch frequently with "Frizzy" while he was in Whitesburg and was Whitesburg's first mayor, but I never will forget the drama and how he faced it at Woodland Auditorium in Lexington, in 1951, when former Governor A. B. Chandler and Jack Howard, of Prestonsburg, were competing for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant governor.

"Frizzy" had known both Happy and Jack in Lexington during his University of Kentucky days and he was a good friend of both, as he was of most students and acquaintances.

To see Happy and Jack running against each other, and knowing that one had to lose, was too much for "Frizzy." He was calling the roll to see who would win and he winced at every answer, for whom-ever it went. Both Happy and Jack were his friends. He hated to see either lose.

His emotions finally became obvious, and it was with a sob in his voice that he called the roll.

As everyone knows, Happy won over Jack and later went on to be Governor and United States senator and Governor again.

Frazier recalls today, with a slight trace of homesickness, his days in Whitesburg.

"The town was just opening up," he repeats. "It had no paved streets, no sewer system, no water system. In fact, my wife and I installed the first bathtub the town ever had and we had it connected with a well."

"That was about 35 years ago, but Frazier liked the town and the people. And just for the heck of it, he decided to run for the Kentucky legislature.

He told a reporter a few years ago: "I got into politics because of a funeral sermon I preached."

The body of a war casualty had been returned to Whitesburg after the war, and the local American Legion post, of which Frazier was commander, was called upon to stage a military funeral.

"I got Washington's farewell address, Thanatopsis, and a couple of other things together and fixed up an oration," he said.

"The military funeral was advertised with handbills. I guess everybody in the county turned up at the cemetery. We shot off the muskets and I did the preaching. It must have been all right."

Anyway, "that young fellow, Frazier, who did the preaching" was soon identified as the same man who wanted to go to Kentucky's House of Representatives.

A few days later the election was held and Frazier won. Washington came later.

but Jefferson county (Louisville) also has picked up a lot of these migrants, 44,000 between 1940 and 1950. Harlan county demonstrates the "loss" counties most graphically, having lost 23,000 persons between 1940 and 1950 from migration.

The migration has had other effects. Some counties have gained when workers in Jefferson county plants moved to nearby counties such as Oldham and Bullitt and started commuting. Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties near Cincinnati have gained likewise.

Ramsey noted counties of "great increase" have growing pains, as schools become crowded and revenue lags behind requests for governmental services. "Decline" counties have opposite problems, as revenues decrease and a more sparsely settled rural area raises costs of such services as utilities, mail routes, school bus service, road-building, etc.

SOIL CONSERVATION By L. R. JOHNSON Soil Conservationist

GRASSY WATERWAYS

The grassed waterway is one of the soil conservation practices which costs the least to install. A waterway adds to the convenience of the farm operator as well as helping beautify the farm. Many times the grassed waterway slows down or completely stops erosion and aids in removing excess water runoff.

Elza Bolen, of Garrett, has recently completed a waterway.

Many farmers have been discussing waterway construction and are expecting to sign up with the A. C. P. The government aids in financing this conservation practice.

Any farmer who has a small, meandering, eroding, or sluggish water stream will profit by a grassed waterway. See the A. S. C. and contact your soil conservation right away.

of a Johnson county railroad station and postoffice.

And Jack Howard, Prestonsburg attorney, can personally vouch for the fact that Helechawa is entirely of paleface origin. This spot was a station on the old Ohio & Kentucky Railway, and it was so named for Helen Chase Warren, daughter of the railway line's president.

Mr. Howard should know. In his younger days he and others from the White Oak section in Morgan county would walk overland, catch a train and ride it to Helechawa where they would alight and walk another six or seven miles to the Hazel Green Academy to do a bit of book-work. Then the walk back to Helechawa and the return home. It was out of these overland treks that Helechawa earned from these youngsters an even more colorful name—"Hell Each Way."

WE AGREE

Out of my conversation with Jack Howard about this and other matters pertaining to other years and places I came up with the discovery that we are in almost perfect agreement that perhaps the greatest contribution science has made to the race has been the elimination of corn-thinnin'. It develops that both of us had given considerable thought to an invention which would mechanically pull those extra stalks and thus spare young backs.

It is passing strange that it did not occur to two such minds that maybe the solution to the problem would be to plant fewer grains to the hill.

TIPS FROM AN EXPERT

Now for some hot-weather fishing tips which reach this desk from a so-called fishing expert. The remarks in parentheses are not by a fishing expert, and I'll give you three guesses as to his identity.

1. Wear an old hat lined with aluminum tinfoil which insulates against heat and protect, the angler from the sun. (Better yet, wear a cap that won't blow off, get there before the sun comes up and leave early.)

2. Use polarized sun glasses to cut the surface glare and thus be able to see the fish beneath the surface. (What fish?)

3. Take along a fishing thermometer. (The fish I catch do not have a fever.)

4. Keep the catch out of the hot sun. Clean and scale your fish before taking them home to the little woman. (Pooley! The little woman will take care of that fish-scaling matter when and if friend husband brings any home by the simple expedient of handing him a fish-scaler, pointing toward the dor, and hissing, "Gill!")

This Month Only!

Because The Times did not notify its subscribers of the 3% sales-usage tax on in-Kentucky subscriptions in time for them to renew before the effective date of the tax on July 1, we are bearing the tax ourselves through the month of July. (The truth is, we did not know till too late that subscriptions are taxable.)

Beginning August 1, we will be obliged to add the tax. That means that subscribers in Kentucky will pay $3.09 a year for The Times on and after that date. Out-of-state subscriptions, which are $4 a year, are not affected by the tax.

On that date we also will cancel all subscriptions that are in arrears more than one month. This is an absolute necessity because of the increasing cost of newsprint and newspaper production.

RANCH HOUSE CONSTRUCTED OF STONES FROM 50 STATES

(From Wayne, W. Va. County News) Construction of an unusual home for himself led to a profitable career for Boyd Thompson, Jr., a Wayne countian.

Thompson, 32 years old, of Eighth street road, built his home with stones from all 50 states and three foreign countries.

"They kidded me and said I had rocks in my head," says Thompson, who used at least half of the stones from places outside West Virginia.

The large rambling ranch-type house stands on a level lot on the Eighth street road ridge in Wayne county. Thompson also used stones to build such additional features as fireplaces, patios and an enclosed barbecue pit. The house proper was completed about two years ago and took about two years and one month to build.

Thompson was born at Lavalette, the son of Boyd and Viola Thompson, and attended Buffalo high school. His wife is the former Zelma Engles, daughter of Elgie Engles, of Sky View Drive, Wayne county.

Thompson collected stones for three years before starting on the house.

He and his family conducted their stone-foraging trips during vacations and week-ends. Last year alone, stone-hunting trips help put 29,703 miles on his automobile. He's still collecting them to complete two rear patios and also plans to build a stone arch connecting his house and barbecue.

Some of the stones came from such far-away places as Germany, Cuba and a South Pacific island—all brought to him by friends who also helped him gather many of the stones from the states.

Thompson said that he has been in about 35 of the states. Many of the stones he obtained, however, by writing state Chambers of Commerce. That's how he got those from Hawaii and Alaska.

"It cost me three dollars for shipping charges on the stone from Alaska," Thompson recalled. Since Hawaii and Alaska became states after his house was built, he has these new states represented in his stone barbecue.

The stones, as much as possible, were selected for their color or unusual type of shape. Imbedded above the garage door is a petrified root from California. Another stone from California shows the imprints of sea shells which once were attached to it. Also represented are iron ore, sulphur and quartzes. "Anything odd and different—it's there," Thompson said.

"I always wanted to do something with my hands," he said, "and prove I could do something different."

Even though no one in his family was connected with the building business, Thompson partially satisfied this urge by building his first house at the age of 17. Later, he saw an article in a magazine about how to build a stone house, and "I just knew I could do it," and decided to build a house of stone when he purchased the Eighth street road lot.

The idea of using stones from unusual places was born on a visit to Carter Caves (Ky.) State Park. He noticed two unusual stones there and, on impulse, brought them home and put them on his vacant lot, and then began scouting other areas for stones. Then friends began helping him when they saw that he was serious in his quest.

When he started building his home, he was an employe of the Appalachian Power Co., and had to work on the house in spare time. "It seemed like I never stopped working," he recalled. "I paid for everything as I went along and we moved into the garage and lived here while working on the rest of the house."

Today, the completed home stretches more than 125 feet from the end of the two-car attached garage to the end of the patio-connected barbecue pit. Built on the edge of the ridge, the house contains seven rooms on the upper level and four rooms in a rear lower level. The rear level includes a second kitchen, the game room, a storage room and Thompson's "gun shop." Collecting guns is another of his hobbies. He fashions many of the gun stocks.

He quit his job with the power company and became an independent contractor, building houses for other people. Last year he built five houses and now is building his fifth house this year.

MARTIN

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lafferty and son Chester, of Cliff, recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lafferty here.

Mrs. Abe Parson and Doug and Judy spent Thursday night with her uncle, Coon Moore, at Rush, Ky.

Mrs. Harry Lafferty has returned home after spending a few days with her brother, T. R. Peters, and Mrs. Peters, of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lafferty and children, of Ohio, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lafferty.

All the friends of Mrs. Laura Frazier, who is in the Prestonsburg General hospital, wish her a speedy recovery.

Timothy, Jimmy and Craig Shepherd enjoyed a birthday party given by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Shepherd. They received many nice gifts from the following: Dortha Allen, Terry Ackers, Ricky Ackers, Sandra Shepherd, Mary Shepherd, Douglas Shepherd, Mrs. Jarrell, Gale Shepherd, Micky Shepherd, Mary Frye, Nira Branham, Judy Parson, James Scarbury, Emma Hill, Darrell Fitch, Lenville Fitch, Carol Shepherd, Stanley D. Pack, Tersea Huff, Sharon Frye, Mary Beagley, Patsy Pack, Mrs. Clinton Huff, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ousley, Mrs. Phillip Fitch and Mrs. Abe Parsons. Refreshments were served, and games were enjoyed.

Mrs. Grace Preston and her brother, Marvel Blevins, of Paintsville, spent the week-end with Mrs. Alka Fitch.

FOOT-ROT TROUBLE

Heavy parasite infections and foot-rot, two things that hit sheep flocks hard, may be prevalent this summer if present wet-weather conditions prevail.

FULL-SEASON HYBRIDS

The University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station agronomy department's grain breeders think a full-season corn hybrid is best for silage purposes in Kentucky.

Among the local population above the age of 14 this was equivalent to a rate of 169 packs a year per capita.

Generally, throughout the United States, consumption amounted to 190 packs a year for this age category and, in the East-South-Central states, 140 packs.

The reports show that Americans, with their 190 packs of cigarettes a year, are the smokingest people in the world. Runners-up are Great Britain, with 150 packs, Canada with 144 and Australia, 119.

Some 35 million men in this country and 23 million women are cigarette users, says the Agriculture Department. It expects that the ratio of women smokers will increase much faster than that of men in the next few years.

As to the cost of this little pastime, while it isn't very large at the per-pack level, it runs to enormous size on an annual basis. Cigarettes smokers in the United States spent no less than 6.1 billion on it last year, the government's figures show.

In Floyd county, the cost came to $1,188,000 or about $40 per local smoker.

in level or almost level with adjacent bottom land, was deepened and straightened. The result was better pasture and better meadow. Tile drainage can now be done and row crops produced.

Richard Ousley has installed 530 feet of tile and Mr. Thornsberry installed 400 feet. Even though the past spring has been exceptionally rainy, row crops are doing fine.

Notice To City Taxpayers: Rare Eastern Kentucky Fossils Collected By Van Lear Family

Please come in and pay your city taxes. You don't want your friends and neighbors to pay their taxes and you not pay yours. I am taking this tax collection in order to help you. If you can't pay all at one time, pay part, and make payments out of it. The city needs the money. Be a good fellow and pay. I will be in the Municipal building from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Each day from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., and from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. I will be in my office next to the Jim Nunnery store building.

The Virgil Phelps family of Van Lear, Johnson county, started a hobby about 12 years ago that continues to grow in interest and volume—that of fossil collecting. Eastern Kentucky and southern West Virginia have the best Pennsylvanian Period fossils to be found anywhere. Specimens most abundant are Lepododendron, three species of Sigillaria, Calamites, Cordaites, Ullodendron, and several different ferns. The Phelps sell many of these fossils to natural science supply houses, and have exchanged with collectors all over the United States. They estimate they have shipped around 3,000 pounds in the last five years.

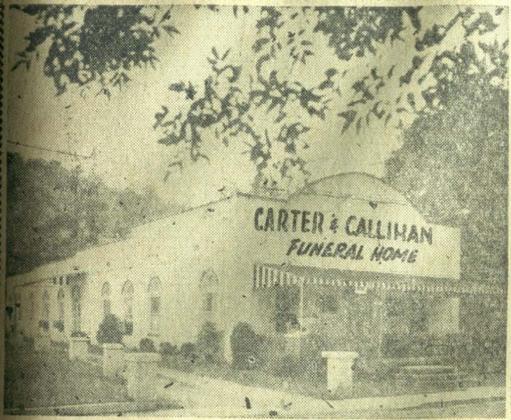

More of the rarer specimens, such as seeds of the fern tree, Trigonocarpus and Locops, are found in Johnson county alone, and Mrs. Phelps has sent many of these to museums, including the Smithsonian Institute and the Peabody Museum at Yale. A group of 25 or more paleobotanists came from Louisville to hunt for themselves in April, after a fossil exchange with Mrs. Phelps. Though most of the collecting at present is being done by Mr. and Mrs. Phelps and son Keith, Kelly, a fourth-year student at Pikeville College, and a daughter, Mrs. Jane Music, take part whenever possible.

Make good use of the many fresh fruits on July's market. Peaches, for example, are delicious with cereal for breakfast; baked with ham as part of the main dish; or in a pie, with cream and sugar, or with ice cream for dessert.

Over 100,000 boys, men and women of Lonesome Pine Council have been members of the Boy Scouts of America since its founding 50 years ago. Today local Boy Scout membership numbers 4,200.

FASHIONABLE AND UNFASHIONABLE AILMENTS

In my years of being associated daily with scientists I have heard of new names for diseases about as fast as they were given. It has been a little hard on me, though, for I fear I have forgotten what these same high-falutin' aches used to be called. Back in Fidelity and Poduck. What has become of "billious colic"? It used to be common and could be talked about, even by refined ladies. Of course, it and lots of other ailments, were treated with calomel. And where is calomel itself? I do not recall having seen any reference to it in contemporary articles in years and years. There are not even dire things prophesied for the users of it, as used to be true back in the days when every doctor prescribed it for nearly everything. I suppose that "risings" still rise, but they have so many names that one word would not do for them. Maybe there are just not so many of them, anyway, since so many new drugs have been invented to rub on or swallow or have squirted into the blood streams, "Carbuncles," too, seem on the way out, but they stayed around long enough for me to have, some twenty-five years ago, a series of them until some shots discouraged them. One of our small boys at Fidelity heard that big word and promptly called it "tarbuckets," a name it bore all the rest of my days there. I have stood by a number of times and watched my father lance a rising or a carbuncle and felt no special sympathy for the sufferer, for everybody had them.

Where is "toe itch," that uncomfortable disease of barefooted boys? Was "dew poison" the same thing or another ailment? With either one abold of you there was nothing funny about it. Now toe itch yields quickly to a home-made remedy. Just tie a yarn string around the affected toe and wait for results; of course, you could medicate the string, but that is not necessary. A sore toe used to be a badge of being a boy. Not to have one probably meant that you might be a sissy. I can remember how people asked small boys about their sore toes and sometimes took a look at the progress of the disease or cure. A typical gag of the time was that some boy would promise to show his sore toe to somebody who would do something for him: "Gimme that apple core, and I'll show you my sore toe." Since shoes are so common, do boys have sore toes or even toes?

I must have been nearly grown before I actually knew of a case of appendicitis. In general, internal operations were feared so much that they just did not exist. The only early one I recall was a last-ditch stand to save the life of our local "Captain," really a first lieutenant

Bosier Cooper, 82, Dies At Home After Stroke; Rites Held Wednesday

Bosier Cooper, 82, of Estill, was claimed by a stroke following an illness of four days at home at 3:45 p.m., Sunday. He was a retired miner.

Mr. Cooper was a native of Magoffin county, the son of James and Sarah Kemlin Cooper. His wife, Dora Boyd Cooper, survives. Surviving sons and a daughter are Wales Cooper and Wilbur Cooper, both of Estill, Walter Cooper and Mrs. Aileen Harris, both of Detroit, Mich., and Otto Cooper, Springfield, Ohio. A brother, John Cooper, of Emma, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Jordan, Olive Hill, Ky., survive.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, at the Martin Branch Free Will Baptist church, the Revs. Green Boyd and Doug Burkett officiating. Burial was made in the Miners cemetery at Eastern under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

As early as 1802, a crude stone furnace on Red River near Clay City, Ky., produced iron from ore found in the region. Ruins of the furnace are still visible.

State's Election Process Improved By Reform Laws

Kentucky has six major new laws to insure honest and democratic elections.

They stem from pledges by Gov. Bert Combs and Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt to bring about voting machines for every county, elimination of fraud in absentee balloting and more prompt and earlier reporting of election returns.

One of the two relating to voting machines requires every county to have them not later than the 1963 primary election. The statute increases the state share of election costs by allowing the county $50 for each precinct using machines. The measure appropriates $150,000 for fiscal 1960-61 and $180,000 for fiscal 1961-62.

The other voting machine law permits the State Property and Buildings Commission to issue revenue bonds to buy machines. The commission will then sell the machines to the counties under rent-purchase contracts. Rentals will be used to retire the bonds.

A new law provides for a public examination of all absentee ballot applications on the 14th day before an election. The county board of election commissioners is authorized to reject applications upon giving notice to the applicant. County clerks and deputies who are candidates at the election are not allowed to notarize absentee ballots. An absentee ballot cannot be counted if the voter is in the county on election day. Special provisions are made for voters in the service of the United States.

Another law decreases from five to three days the time in which the county clerk is required to forward election returns to the Secretary of State. This was needed to eliminate excessive delays in reporting that make possible fraudulent returns.

Blind voters are authorized under another law to choose a person other than an election judge to assist them in operating voting machines.

A new law requires each county board to notify every registered voter that he will be unable to vote if he moves to a different precinct without transferring his registration. This notice must be sent by first class mail within 90 days before a primary election. The voter is purged if the notice-letter is returned undeliverable at the record address.

At the Jubilee Camporee July 22-24 at Elk Garden, Virginia, 1,000 Boy Scouts and Explorers from Lonesome Pine Council will be joining an estimated 3,000,000 camping out this week-end at other Camporees, the National Jamboree, and Scout camps.

Woman's Club Hostess To Tea

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club entertained at an informal tea held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Spradlin, Martin, on June 28. The home and tea table were decorated with spring flowers. The table centerpiece was arranged by Mrs. R. H. Messer. On arrival, each guest and club member was furnished a hand-printed name card. The club president, Mrs. T. A. Combs, presided at the punch bowl and other members assisted at the tea table. Guests present were Mrs. Bob Dermont, Mrs. Jack Dingus, Mrs. Lawrence Keathley, Mrs. Lloyd McGarey, and Mrs. Bill Wells. Members present were Mrs. Glenn Spradlin, Mrs. T. A. Combs, Mrs. Carl Martin, Mrs. Emmet Tackett, Mrs. John G. Hall, Mrs. John P. Sammons, Mrs. John W. Hall, Mrs. Hazel Adams, Mrs. Charles Marshall, Mrs. Ray Allen, and Mrs. John Sherman.

Ligon Congregation Of Jehovah Witnesses To Attend Church Meet

The Ligon congregation of Jehovah's witnesses received invitation this week to attend the Peace Pursuing Circuit Assembly of the group in Knoxville, Tennessee, to be held July 22-24, at the Chilhowee Park administration building. Nine hundred delegates to the event will be from the East Tennessee and Southeast Kentucky area.

"Now as never before in the history of man have the nations greater need to pursue peace, not just with their fellow man, but with God," Burnis Jones, local congregation overseer, stated.

Jones, who has just recently returned from an eight-state, four-day gathering of 14,000 of Jehovah's witnesses says, "Our assembly at Chilhowee Park will be similar to the larger gathering just concluded in being an educational Bible seminar for those who attend. L. E. Reusch, of the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society, and the featured speaker in Nashville, will conduct the group meetings in Knoxville.

Another law decreases from five to three days the time in which the county clerk is required to forward election returns to the Secretary of State. This was needed to eliminate excessive delays in reporting that make possible fraudulent returns.

Blind voters are authorized under another law to choose a person other than an election judge to assist them in operating voting machines.

A new law requires each county board to notify every registered voter that he will be unable to vote if he moves to a different precinct without transferring his registration. This notice must be sent by first class mail within 90 days before a primary election. The voter is purged if the notice-letter is returned undeliverable at the record address.

Kentucky Forest Fires Number 4,128 in 1959, Prevention Head Says

Kentucky had 4,128 forest fires in 1959 and T. O. Helm, chairman of the state forest fire prevention program, said this week "This is going to stop."

He said more money would be spent to (1) bring more acreage under protection, (2) hire additional personnel, and (3) buy more equipment.

In Frankfort, Gene L. Butcher, the Conservation Department's director of forestry, said the fire-fighting budget has been increased by $286,000 for 1960-61 under the new revenue program.

"Last spring there were 1,767 fires which burned 76,817 acres of timberland in Kentucky, probably the worst spring season in history," Helm said.

There are 10,774,000 acres of privately-owned timberlands in Kentucky, but only 7,000,000 acres in 50 counties are under protection. Butcher said 20 additional counties will get protection during each of the next two years.

The budget increase also will allow for the purchase of 47 two-way radios, 19 one-half ton pickup trucks equipped for fire fighting, 10 fireflow tractors and 32 lookout towers in 1960-61.

And part of the increase will be spent this year to hire two new senior forestry aides whose primary duty will be to enforce forest fire laws and investigate violations. Also 19 forest guards will be hired, Butcher said.

"We know what can be done with an adequate forest fire program," Helm said. "Of the 4,128 fires last year, 3,144 were on protected land with a loss of 85,197 acres of timber. But the 984 fires on unprotected land show a comparable loss—74,203 acres," he said.

Campbell-Trusty Vows Solemnized At Martin

Mrs. Wanda G. Campbell and Mr. John Paul Trusty were united in marriage Thursday evening, July 7, at the Church of Christ, Martin, Ky. The Rev. John Paul Blitter performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the two families and close friends.

Mrs. Trusty had as her matron of honor Mrs. L. L. Lynch. Mr. Wade Trusty, brother of the groom, served as best man. Mrs. Trusty resigned her position at Our Lady of the Way hospital to join her husband at his home in Richmond, Va., where he has been employed the past 10 years.

Many Kentucky farmers are being plagued now with weedy corn, says S. H. Phillips, University Service agronomist. Much of the corn is too high for cultivation and weed control will have to be done with high-clearance spray equipment. Sprays will control broadleaf weeds but grassy weeds will be a problem.

EARLY PRESTONSBURG FOOTBALL TEAM

Over four decades ago Prestonsburg had a champion football team. It was proud of the name, The Big Sandy Champions. It successfully played Paintsville, Louisa, Auxier, Pikeville and other towns.

Shown here in the picture are, front row, left to right: Unidentified person, James Davidson, (unidentified), "Dutch" Mann, "Bear" Herald, Willard Workman, and unidentified. Standing, left to right are two unidentified persons, Jack Davis, George Vance, Tom Lahun, Willie Flannery, Jerry Stephens, N. M. White, Jr., who was the captain, and unidentified man.

The picture was taken on the campus of Mayo College at Paintsville about 1915. The First National Bank presents these pictures of our historic region as a bit of its friendly service with the hope they will contribute to your understanding of our historic heritage.

Floyd Pony Leaguers Named To Participate In Frankfort Tourney

The Beaver Pony League officers met Monday night in the Turner-Elkhorn building at Drift and made their selections of the tournament team that will represent the league at Frankfort's Juniper Hill Park next Monday.

The Beaver League team will meet the team from Winchester at 5 p.m., in the first round of the Eastern area tournament. The winner will play the team from Frankfort on Tuesday. The losing teams from Monday's game will meet the winner of Tuesday's game for a two-out-of-three-game series starting on Wednesday, July 27, at 5 p.m. This will decide the winner of the Eastern area. The winner will then meet the Central area winner at Castlewood Park in Lexington the following week.

The tournament team representing the Beaver League consists of: Michael Wells, Jimmie Setser, Michael Wells, Wayne DeBoard, and Ronald Wicker, of the David Redlegs; Keith Lawson, Jimmy Ray Cox and Danny Slone, of the Garrett Braves; Bob Tallent and Burgess Lowe, of the Maytown Indians; Wade Blackburn, Willard Osborne, and Eddie Lawson, of the Drift Cubs, and Kenny Ratliff and Jerry Patton, of the McDowell Reds.

Rudell Wicker, manager of the David Redlegs, will be the tournament team manager. Boys from the various teams will gather at the Forks of Middle Creek at 8 a.m., Monday, to be assigned to the automobiles that will take them to Frankfort.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS
 GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting—"at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Education Said
Hope of Alcoholic
By KCA Chairman

By Louis M. Foltz, M.D., Chairman
Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

Although in this age mankind has harnessed the atom and is now concerned with conquering space, the alcoholic is placed in jail because of lack of understanding and the fact that many times there is no other place to put him.

But, education will in the long run bring prevention. It is a widely accepted fact in public health that many diseases will never be controlled through treatment practices and that a combination of treatment and education is the only answer. This is especially true of alcoholism, where education is needed (1) to erase the stigma which keeps nine out of ten alcoholics hidden and away from treatment; (2) to replace the hostile public attitude with one of acceptance and understanding, and (3) to decrease vulnerability of future generations by instilling better overall mental health attitudes and practices.

The Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism believes it is of first importance to bring about early diagnosis of the disease of alcoholism, so that cases will come to treatment before they reach their advanced stages.

Acceptance of alcoholism as a disease is passing through the same stages of evolution which tuberculosis did a generation ago. Today tuberculosis is on the way out as a leading public health problem, and this is directly the result of an enthusiastic educational program, combined with treatment.

According to a recent opinion poll by Gallup, more than 50 percent of the people of the U. S. accept alcoholism as a disease, compared with slightly more than 10 per cent ten years ago.

So the problem of alcoholism is not a hopeless one as many persons believe, but as research, treatment and education progress, the hope for eventual control of this disease becomes increasingly bright.

MORRIS FAMILY

Investigation by heirs of the supposed huge estate of John Coburn in Floyd county upon which taxes were paid in 1890 reveal many interesting bits of historical information on the Morris family. It will be recalled that John Coburn, about whom there was a feature story in The Times a few weeks ago, married first Mary Emmaline Morris, daughter of William Morris.

A Mr. Hardy, of Lexington, who is assiduously pursuing the matter for the Coburn heirs, telephones this column that he has definitely connected the Eastern Kentucky Morris family with Robert and Governor Morris who financed George Washington during the Revolution.

Whether or not John C. Coburn, or his wife, Mary Emmaline Morris, owned the huge estate in Eastern Kentucky as supposed from his tax record of 1890, it is certain that John Morris and John Nicholson patented an empire in land in six states. Hardy notes that these two men, operating as the North American Land Company, patented these acreages:

Pennsylvania, 647,046 acres; Virginia, 923,621 acres; North Carolina, 717,249 acres; South Carolina, 957,238 acres; Georgia, 2,314,796 acres; and Kentucky, 431,043 acres. This land was patented in 1795.

John Morris became bankrupt in 1798 and was confined to prison in Philadelphia but was released under the provisions of a new law in 1801.

Hardy notes that there is a huge amount of literature on the Morris family in the Congressional Library in Washington. He says the relationship of Robert Morris, the chief financier of Washington, and Governor Morris who assisted is not clear. Robert Morris executed a will in 1801 and established a trust fund for his descendants, including those in Eastern Kentucky. William Morris, father-in-law of John Coburn, refused to accept any part of the fund and in 1845 wrote the United States Treasury that he was refusing because he didn't need the money.

WOOTTON BIOGRAPHY

Bailey P. Wootton, onetime Attorney General of Kentucky and an able jurist who hailed from Eastern Kentucky, is the subject of a biography just published by his wife, Clara Wootton. It carries an introduction by Dr. Thomas Clark, head of the history department of the University of Kentucky. It is titled, "They Have Topped The Mountain." The title is from a quotation from one of Wootton's speeches about the circuit-riding lawyers of Eastern Kentucky.

Copies may be ordered from Blue Grass Press, 422 Ewing Street, Frankfort.

MORGAN IN BIG SANDY

Was John Hunt Morgan, the intrepid Confederate cavalry leader of Kentucky ever in the Big Sandy valley? This column has been asked that question several times. The answer is in the affirmative.

Morgan launched his last Kentucky raid from Wytheville, Virginia, May 31, 1864, came through Pound Gap and on June 8, captured Mt. Sterling. It was while at Mt. Sterling that a subordinate forged an order and confiscated all the cash in the Farmers Bank of Kentucky. Morgan was angry when he found he was possessed of the townsmen's money but the Federal troops were pressing him and the money was carried away, preventing him from turning it back over to the bank officials. He went on to capture Lexington.

Morgan's force was shattered at the Battle of Cynthiana, June 11, and he retreated with depleted forces toward Flemingsburg, thence to West Liberty. He continued to retreat toward Virginia by way of Salyersville, Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Pikeville (it was Piketon then.) He reached Abingdon, Va., June 20.

There is a tradition that Morgan stopped at a Prestonsburg home and ate a meal while his horse was hitched in the backyard awaiting to be mounted.

The most colorful of all the Confederate cavalry leaders was killed soon afterward at Greenville, Tenn., betrayed by a woman he trusted.

ANSWERS TO YOUR TAX QUESTIONS
BY WILLIAM E. SCENT
KENTUCKY'S COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE

Q. Were Kentucky individual income taxes reduced as a result of the Sales and Use Tax Law?

A. Yes. The Income Surtax was repealed and the credit for personal exemption was increased from $13.00 to $20.00 effective January 1, 1961.

Q. Does the permit holder receive any compensation for his services in reporting and remitting the tax?

A. Yes. The permit holder is allowed to retain 2% of the tax found to be due on the return.

Q. May a retailer absorb the tax if he desires?

A. Yes. He may absorb the tax although he is not permitted to advertise that he is doing so.

Q. What major groups of sales are not taxable?

A. Non-taxable sales include:
1. Property which will be resold.
2. Sales of property to be delivered by the seller outside Kentucky, for use outside Kentucky.

3. Sales which are specifically non-taxable including gasoline, feed, seed, fertilizer, real estate and services.

Q. Are "occasional sales" subject to the tax?

A. No. "Occasional sales, generally defined as two or less sales per year, may be made without the holding of a permit or the collection of the tax.

Q. Will utilities be subject to additional tax as a result of the Sales and Use Tax?

A. No. Although the sales tax will apply to those sales, the 2% gross utilities has been taken off.

Q. Are charges for repair work on automobiles taxable?

A. Labor charges are not taxable if charged separately on the invoice or statement. Only parts and materials are taxable.

Q. Is the sale of new motor vehicles subject to the sales tax?

A. No.

Dutch Elm Disease Hits Two Kentucky Counties; No Control Is Known

Presence of Dutch elm disease in two Kentucky counties was reported this week by the University of Kentucky Experiment Station plant pathology department.

R. A. Chapman, pathologist, said the identification was made on a tree in Lexington and one in Columbia, Adair county. In the last 10 years, he said, the disease also has been identified in specimens from trees in the Covington-Newport area and in the Princeton and Paducah areas.

"Dutch elm disease has destroyed large numbers of elm trees in the New England and Middle Atlantic states and now is causing considerable loss in North Central states," Chapman reported. "Its presence in several widespread localities in this state suggests it will probably become more severe in the future."

Chapman said no effective control is known. There are methods to slow its spread from area to area, but where the disease has been long established it has continued to spread, killing most of the elm trees in the process. The disease is one of two to which American elms in Kentucky are subject. The other is called "phloem necrosis." But, Chapman said, "the old native elm trees that have survived in the Central Bluegrass area, and probably in other state areas, are immune to phloem necrosis."

Most imported elms, which are susceptible to both Dutch elm and phloem necrosis, have been killed by either disease, he said.

Five Floyd Students Seek Masters Degrees At Morehead College

Five Floyd county students are candidates for a Master of Arts degree at Morehead State College at the August commencement exercises, President Adron Doran announced this week. In addition there are eight from Floyd county who are candidates for a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Seeking Master of Arts degree are Sandra Sue Dillman, of Langley, Carl Thomas Home, of Auxier, Edgar A. Meade, of McDowell, Nelson R. Allen, Hueysville, and Forrest S. Curry, Wheelwright.

Candidates for Bachelor of Arts degree are William Edward King, of Printer, Nadine Hale Hicks, of Hippo, Mary J. Stone, of Blue River, Glennis Ramey, of Langley, Jim Osborne, of Melvin, Joseph Patterson Tackett, III, Prestonsburg, Pauline B. Conley, of Garrett, and Ruhemah Baldwin, of Tram.

Dr. Doran said a total of 128 students are candidates for the bachelor of arts degree, 11 are candidates for the bachelor of science degree and 51 are candidates for the master of arts degree in education.

He said that 196 candidates for degrees represent over 10 Kentucky counties and 12 other states. Commencement exercises will be held on Thursday evening, August 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Button Auditorium. Grace Weller, President of the Kentucky Education Association, will deliver the commencement address.

Research Keyed To Assist Area Of East Kentucky

Eastern Kentucky farmers will get a good look at research keyed to their area with the annual field day Friday, July 22, at the Robinson Experiment Substation at Quicksand, Breathitt county.

Tours of the experimental plots and projects, including greenhouse, fruit plantings, vegetable plots, poultry, sheep and corn and srogum work will be included, and lunch will be available at the station.

Dr. Frank J. Welch, dean of the College of Agriculture, and director of the University of Kentucky Experiment Station and the Extension Service, is one of the speakers. He will talk on "Opportunities for Research Development for Eastern Kentucky." There also will be discussion of some of the Robinson substation research projects.

Charles Derrickson, superintendent of the station, said the session will close by 2:30 p.m.

William Basil Belcher, Father of Garrett Man, Succumbs At Pikeville

William Basil Belcher, 87, of Elkhorn City, died at 5:30 p.m., Tuesday at the Pikeville Methodist hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was the father of N. F. Belcher, of Garrett.

Mr. Belcher was a retired carpenter and former shoe shop operator at Elkhorn City. He had been ill since June 18, when he suffered a stroke. He was a son of Enoch and Louise Belcher. His wife, Allie Bartley Belcher, survives. He was a member of the Regular Baptist church for 45 years.

Surviving, besides his wife, and son N. F. Belcher, is another brother, G. M. Belcher, of Elkhorn City, and a daughter, Mary Caroline, in West Virginia. Brothers and sisters are John B. Belcher and Orville Belcher, both of Elkhorn City, Mrs. Lizzie Huffman, Venters, Ky., and Mrs. Callie Reynolds, Paintsville.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 10 a.m., Friday, from the Cedar Grove Regular Baptist church at Elkhorn City, ministers of the Regular Baptist church officiating. Burial will be made in the Salyers cemetery under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Resolutions of Respect

In Memory of Brother Carl H. Corbin who died June 25, 1960. Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem and hath received as his reward, the white stone with the new name written thereon. And Whereas, The all-wise and merciful Master of the universe has called from labor to refreshments our beloved and respected brother. And Whereas, He having been a true and faithful brother of our Order, therefore be it Resolved, That Zebulon Lodge No. 273, F. & A. M., Prestonsburg, Kentucky, in testimony of her loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days and that we tender to the family of our deceased brother our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family. Floyd Youths To Attend Camp On Lake Cumberland

Forty-six boys from Floyd county will spend a week at Camp Earl Wallace on Cumberland Lake, beginning July 25, as a part of their course in conservation education work. The group is sponsored by the Floyd County Fish and Game Club. While at camp the boys will receive instructions in swimming, first aid, casting, archery, nature study, hunter safety, rowing and the operation of an outboard motor and boat. Conservation officers for Floyd county are Don Mead and Raymond Copley.

CORRECTION Listed as a student appearing on the Morehead State College honor roll last week was William Martin. Mr. Martin's name should have read, William Hite Martin, Jr.

Warning! Boat Owners And Drivers License

We now have a supply of licenses for boat owners. Bring the following information with you when you apply: Name of vessel, make and model of engine, type of fuel, year model, serial number if any, length (overall), beam, height, draft, maximum capacity, type of hull material (wood, steel, etc.), date of delivery.

We also have several hundred drivers' license which expired in January, February, March, April, May and June, 1960, which should be renewed before it is too late. If you only knew the trouble you have when the time has run six months past due, you would renew on time. These written tests are hard to pass now and that is what will happen to you if you wait overtime.

The marriage of Miss Frances Sherradon Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Phelps, of Martin, Ky., and Dr. William C. Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Franklin, of Port Lavaca, Texas, took place at 2:00 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, June 18, in the Church of Christ at Martin.

The church was decorated with an arch of white gladioli and white tapers. The double-ring ceremony was performed by S. C. Honeycutt, minister, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Jobie Click, Jr.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length gown of lace and net over taffeta. The fitted lace bodice was topped with a scalloped sabbina neckline with long sleeves. The very full skirt, worn over large hoops, was accented by panels of lace and net. Her veil of silk illusion was fastened to a low shell with small tiara top, touched with sequins and pearls. She carried a natural orchid and white carnations on a white, lace-covered prayer book.

Mrs. Douglas Helton, of Huntington, W. Va., sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a street-length dress of pale blue dacron and eyelet, with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

Mr. Clyde Franklin, father of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were James Phelps and Douglas Helton.

The mother of the bride wore blue lace with matching accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a silk dress of navy blue, with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held at the home of the bride.

Immediately following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon in New Orleans, La. They will reside at 1121 Lyndon Street, Houston, Texas.

Dueling Pistol Used By Burr Is Displayed

The pistol used by Aaron Burr in his duel with Alexander Hamilton in Weehawken, N. J., July 11, 1804, is on display at the Old State House, Frankfort, headquarters of the Kentucky Historical Society.

The weapon, a converted percussion lock with an 11-inch barrel, fires a two-ounce ball through a smooth bore. It is in excellent firing condition.

For 15 years prior to the duel, Hamilton pressed forward a vicious and unrelenting attack on his number-one political adversary, Burr. Burr, for the most part, reacted to Hamilton's "grudge" with equanimity and dignity. The campaign of 1804 for governor of New York, however, was an exceptionally bitter one between Hamilton and Burr. Soon after his defeat, Burr called for satisfaction from Hamilton for having allegedly made such statements as Burr is a "dangerous man and one who ought not to be trusted with reins of government."

When Hamilton equivocated, Burr challenged his political opponent to a duel. Hamilton, at first evasive, finally consented. Each man fired a shot, Burr was untouched. Hamilton received a mortal wound and died the following day.

Burr's second marked the pistols used in the duel and gave both to the famous Col. James Bowie. Bowie carried them as personal weapons in his belt but lost the Hamilton one while swimming in a Louisiana bayou. Later he gave the Burr pistol to Dr. Carr, superintendent of the U. S. Arsenal in Baltimore. Carr gave it to Thomas F. Marshall of Kentucky. It went next to Thomas' brother, Edward C. From Edward, the pistol descended to his son, Louis Marshall, a Versailles banker. When Louis died, his widow inherited the Burr pistol and in 1927 presented it to the society.

BRUCellosis-FREE

Five counties which have received "modified certified brucellosis free" ratings must be recertified within the next 12 months, according to the State Department of Agriculture. They are Elliott Trigg, Wolf, Calloway and Graves. To maintain its certification, a county must have 20 percent of its cattle and herds retested every three years the agency explained.

Stringent Salary Limits Are Applied By Kentucky

Kentucky has more stringent limitations on salaries than any other state, President Frank G. Dickey said at a recent University of Kentucky summer school convocation. "If the Constitution is not revised and if the mandate of the Court of Appeals limiting salaries to the present Constitutional levels goes into effect this coming January, the University of Kentucky will be set back a half century," he declared. President Dickey said it is impossible to conceive of trying to operate a great state university in competition with business, industry, professions and other universities if the school is limited severely in the compensation which can be given to professors.
