SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1967

This Town... That World

We shiver when we say it—but this is Blackberry Winter.

Yes, sree, those Cincinnati Reds have a good pitching staff. Name of Abernathy.

NOTES ON A COMET

This guy who signs his contributions, "Mumpsimus," left the following on my typewriter, the other morning, more than likely with the idea of reminding me that the guy with the scythe was just two jumps behind:

"If you are alive 20 years from now you will be able to see Halley's comet."

I am reminded that on the date when this heavenly visitor wandered into view, Nov. 17, 1835, Mark Twain was born. The famous humorist later wrote, "I came in with the Comet and I will go out with the Comet." And he did—on April 19, 1910, the day the comet reached its perihelion.

This dates me, I am aware, but I saw Halley's during its 1910 sweeps across the evening skies. I make this admission to give some advice to youngsters who may, if they're lucky and the world behaves itself, be around when the comet reappears in 1937: Don't let anybody frighten you with a little, ol' comet.

RANIER GETS FISHTRAP JOB

To Lay Lines for UFG, Build Access Roads In Reservoir Area

Because of the construction of Fishtrap Reservoir in Pike county by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, United Fuel Gas Company has started to move many of its production field facilities which lie within the pool's boundary.

J. R. Henning, superintendent of the southern production division, said the company's district office at Nigh will be relocated about a mile east of its present location. The office is approximately 22 miles north of Grundy, Va. Eight employees work out of the office. Joe Yates, county, is district foreman in charge of Millard, formerly of Floyd county.

Mr. Henning said the company has operated the Pike county field about 20 years.

United Fuel plans to install over seven miles of field gathering lines and construct 29 miles of access roads. The contractor is H. B. Ranier Construction Company, of Prestonsburg. Included in this phase of the work will be a parallel pipeline crossing under the main part of the reservoir. Company employees will build two new measuring stations and relocate three others.

Because of the water level of the dam's pool, it will be necessary to raise three wells. The extensions will be made with casing. One wellhead will be increased 22 feet. Earth will be piled around each well so that a 50x50-foot work pad of earth will result. The fill for one of the wells will require 5,000 cubic feet of earth. These wells are on Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River.

The relocation work is expected to be completed in October. The company will be reimbursed for its cost.

COURT ENDS APRIL TERM ON TUESDAY

Grand Jury Returns To Conclude Session; Rum Defendants Jailed

The Floyd circuit court ended its April term trial sessions Tuesday with the conviction of a liquor defendant, and the trial juries were dismissed. The grand jury, however, returned today (Thursday) to complete its work, and will make its final report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, later in the week.

The conviction which ended the term was that of Bill Stone, of Manton, who was held guilty of a liquor possession count by a jury and was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for 60 days. He had been indicted on a third-offense violation.

Two other whiskey possession cases, both alleging the third offense, were called Monday, and both resulted in the same fine and jail term that Stone drew. Melv Click, of Allen, entered a plea of guilty and waived jury trial. He was given 10 days' liberty before the beginning of his jail term. The other defendant, Raleigh Barnett, did not appear for trial, but his attorney entered a plea of guilty for him. A capias is to issue for him.

Trial of Banner Burchett on his appeal to circuit court from his quarterly court conviction on a possession charge was continued till September. The case was originally docketed for trial, Wednesday.

TWO HIRED FOR CENTER

Burchett To Head 5-County Program For Mental Health

A $41,111 grant from the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity will result in a three-month extension in the Kentucky Child Welfare Research Foundation's rural day-care program in Floyd and Letcher counties.

The grant, announced earlier this week by Congressman Carl D. Perkins, will provide $20,332 to the Big Sandy Area Community Action Council for day-care centers in the Floyd county towns of Auxier and McDowell, and $20,779 to the Leslie, Knott, Letcher and Perry County Community Action Council for centers in the Letcher county towns of Blackey and Fleming-Neon.

Commissioner Maurice A. Harmon, Kentucky Department of Child Welfare, said the day-care centers will provide services-in-kind in lieu of matching funds.

Harmon, who is also executive director of the Foundation, said Floyd county will provide such services as space (See Story No. 6, Page 3)

COMBS SAYS AREA CRUELLY EXPLOITED

Bert T. Combs, former governor of Kentucky, predicted in New York today (Thursday) that the war against poverty "will be America's longest war," and he defined the Appalachian mountain region as a major battleground.

Combs, chairman of the board of trustees of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, spoke before the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., which gave awards to him and the hospitals for helping the sick in Appalachia.

For half a century, Combs declared, "we have permitted conditions to exist which have created the Appalachian problem. The area has been ruthlessly exploited. The valuable natural resources of the region have been pillaged by those whose only motive was financial profit."

Combs prescribed education as the ultimate solution to the Appalachian people's problem, but first, he said, poverty must be eliminated and good health must be restored. "You can not educate a hungry child, nor a sick child," he remarked.

SUSPECT IS SOUGHT IN 'MEDICARE' CASE

When the grand jury returned today to complete its work for the current court term State Detective Chester D. Potter was waiting to present to its members testimony seeking the indictment of one of two men who, posing as Medicare representatives, last March 18 robbed elderly Dan Osborne of his life savings.

Potter said Tuesday he will seek the indictment of John Joseph Carroll, of South Carolina, as one of the pair who robbed Osborne at his home on Frazier's Creek, near

Floyd Schools Head On Scandinavian Tour For Education Study

Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools, is one of 30 American educators now on a tour of Scandinavia under sponsorship of the National Association of School Administrators.

Clark is the only Kentuckian in the party. The educators during the tour will study the school systems of Norway, Sweden and Denmark. The Scandinavian countries were selected as the most literate in Europe.

Supt. Clark, who left April 16, is expected to return to the United States, May 9.

LAKE GETS NEW SPECIES

Half-Million Rockfish Are Released In Dewey By Fish-Wildlife Dept.

Half a million rockfish fry are being released in Dewey Lake this afternoon (Thursday), Bernard Carter, director of the Division of Fish, Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, announced.

The rockfish were flown to the Prestonsburg-Pointsville airport by chartered plane from South Carolina. Rockfish, also known as striped bass, are a salt-water species. When the Ross-Santee Reservoir in South Carolina was created, rockfish which had come up the river to spawn were trapped in the freshwater lake and, surprisingly enough, thrived and reproduced.

The stocking of Cumberland Lake and other Kentucky impoundments to rockfish was begun a few years ago. The fish have grown well but have not reproduced.

Rockfish fry liberated in Cumberland Lake last year are now 8-9 inches long. Carter said the fry being released in Dewey should within two years attain a length of 15-16 inches.

The fisheries director said the fertilization of Dewey Lake which was recently directed by the Fish & Game Commission will probably be done, the first week in June. Before that date, division personnel will make a study of the lake. Then the (See Story No. 8, Page 3)

INEZ-P'BURG ROAD CONTRACT DATE SET

554 Receive Shots At Clinics, First Day; Epidemic End Is Seen

With 554 children receiving vaccine for the prevention of measles Wednesday, the first day of three designated this week for a series of measles clinics, Dr. Russell L. Hall, health doctor, saw an end to measles epidemics in the county.

Dr. Hall predicted last week that if as many as 1,000 children are immunized the result will be no further major outbreaks of the disease. Now, he expects the number to pass that total.

The clinics are being held at 14 school centers. The last will be held Friday at the Prestonsburg and Clark elementary schools, beginning at 9 a.m. and ending at noon. Children, ages 1 through 12, are being given the free shots.

ADVERTISING SET BY ETB FOR OCT. 20

Middle Fork Road Costing $1.5 Million May Open Next Year

At Inez last Saturday for the dedication of Martin county's new Doctors' building, Gov. Edward T. Breathitt announced that the contract to build the Inez-Prestonsburg road will be advertised, October 20.

The eight-mile stretch of road, which will shorten the distance between the two county-seats by 12 miles, will cost an estimated $1½ million, half of which will be paid by federal funds.

To reach Prestonsburg now, Martin countians must travel 23 miles to Paintsville over mountainous, twisting KY 40 and then 16 miles on US 23.

The new Middle Fork road will bypass Paintsville and go via Debord, Davella and Odds and along the shore of Dewey Lake.

It will involve construction of 5.21 miles in Johnson county and three miles in Martin county.

Breathitt said the work will be finished and open to traffic next year. He said right-of-way buying would begin in a few weeks, as soon as final plans can be reviewed at Frankfort.

"Because it is a federal aid project," Breathitt said, "the Highway Department has had to move deliberately through all the steps of public hearing, survey, engineering and right-of-way required by the federal government on such projects."

He said that when the project was authorized more than a year ago, it was not foreseen that a large amount of federal aid to Kentucky would be withheld. He referred to a cutback by President Johnson ordered last fall to cope with inflation and mounting war costs in Vietnam.

"Now that some of our funds have been restored and the promise made that the remaining funds will be restored," the governor said, "we are now able to move ahead."

The new road will be designated as KY 3, which now ends at Inez. It will connect with US 23 at Lancer.

Breathitt said 50 parcels of property will have to be acquired, all in Johnson county except one. Extra personnel will be assigned to speed land acquisition, he added.

WORK BEGINS ON FESTIVAL

Ky. Highlands Event Set at Amphitheatre For June 23, 24, 25th

Work preparing for the staging at Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre here of the second annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, June 23-25, has been begun with the issuance of invitations to participants in the 1966 festival to return for this year's event and with the search for new talent.

Mrs. Edith F. James, program director for the festival, said Monday that more than 100 persons took part in the first festival and that she hopes to increase the number of participants this year. Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio, as well as Kentucky, were represented at the 1966 Festival.

The folk festival this year is being sponsored by the (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

STATE POLICE PROBE WOMAN ABDUCTION

State Police this week investigated the reported abduction of a Floyd county woman from her home last Saturday night and her mistreatment at the hand of three men who spirited her away in a car.

The investigation followed the appearance at David, later Saturday night, of Mrs. Minnie Patton Ousley, widow of Bob Ousley, of Goose Creek. Mrs. Ousley, a woman in her fifties, had been divested of her clothing. She was later taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, for treatment of cuts and scratches which she had suffered.

Details are lacking at Ousley apparently was unable, when found, to give a coherent account of the night's happenings, except to say she had been beaten and thrown from a car on the mountain overlooking David.

Three young men were wanted for questioning, but neither had been named in a warrant as of Wednesday afternoon.

Constable Kenneth Roberts, of Garrett, reported to the County Judge's office Wednesday that Angelo Dudley, also of Goose Creek, was severely beaten Saturday night by three men.

One man was jailed Tuesday by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and State Detective Chester D. Potter on a petit larceny charge in the theft last Thursday of two guns from Kendall Conley, of Garrett. James Jacobs was jailed; warrants have been issued for the arrest of Berlin and Randolph Jacobs.

One of the guns was recovered at Wayland where it

E'TOWN GIRL NAMED QUEEN OF FESTIVAL

Elizabethtown Community College's Jacqueline Carter won the coveted crown of Festival Queen at the second annual Mountain Dew Festival, held last week-end on the campus of Prestonsburg Community College, but it was the host college that won on the basis of overall results.

Prestonsburg scored a total of 330 points to 275 by Ashland Community College, the runnerup. Alice Lloyd was third with 155.

As was the story in 1966 when the first festival was staged, the representatives of 10 community and junior colleges competed in a shower of April showers. Other colleges taking part were the Williamson and Logan, W. Va. branches of Marshall University, the Somerset, Southeast, Kentucky Community Colleges and the Quicksand Wood Utilization Center.

Winners in the various events:

Archery—Ashland in both male and female individual; badminton—South east in men's doubles, Logan in women's doubles; basketball—

Williamson; bowling—Prestonsburg men, Somerset women; golf—Prestonsburg; pool—Ashland; rifle meet—Prestonsburg; table tennis—Williamson men, Ashland women; tennis—Ashland in all five divisions; track meet—Ashland; volleyball—Prestonsburg men, Alice Lloyd women.

The host school won on overall points by leading in seven events and placing second in four others.

Miss Annette Rexroat, of Somerset, was first runnerup, and Miss Judy Pettit, of Ashland, was second in the queen contest.

Individual awards were made to the following:

Bowling—Sam Smith, Alice Lloyd, high game; Roger Stewart, Prestonsburg, high series; Judy Morgan, Somerset, high game and high series. Golf—Roger Stewart, Prestonsburg, low in men's play; Judy Morgan, Somerset, low for women.

GIRLS SCORE AS SPELLERS

Bonanza Girl Wins 'County Bee'; P'burg Student Is Runnerup

Thirteen-year-old Carol Ann Holbrook, eighth-grade pupil of the Bonanza school, is the 1967 Floyd county spelling champion.

She won the title at the county bee here Saturday when she spelled "owing," the word missed by the runnerup, Sarah DeRossett, 12, of the Prestonsburg grade school, and then, as required by contest rules, negotiated the next word, "treasury."

Both the winner and runnerup won the right to represent the county in the regional bee to be held at Huntington, W. Va., May 13. The winner of the regional will go to Washington, D. C., to compete for the national title.

All 15 school champions who entered the county finals here Saturday were presented a dictionary by the Floyd County Board of Education and a Papermate pen by the sponsoring newspaper, The Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

Three P'burg Students Win Superior Rating At Music Festival

Three Prestonsburg students rated superior in the instrumental section of the Pikeville region, state music contest, held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The "superior" performers were all in the solo division — Marcia Watson, clarinet; Patricia Flanery, alto saxophone, and Pam Goble, bass clarinet. The Prestonsburg high school band was given a rating of "excellent." Four other Floyd county school bands — Wheelwright, Betsy Layne, McDowell and Wayland — competed but their ratings were not available.

The three students rated as superior were joined by Patty Taylor and Susie Hale, also of Prestonsburg, in the all-festival band.

All are students of Franklin Honeycutt.

GO TO UTAH

Mrs. B. L. Sturgill and Mrs. Epp Lafferty will leave Standford Field, Louisville, today (Thursday) for Salt Lake City, Utah, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Arland Dye and family. They were accompanied to Louisville by Mrs. Sturgill's daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hignite.

GUESTS AT LODGE

Dr. and Mrs. Sam Cook, of Harlan, entertained to dinner at May Lodge, April 21, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Layne. Following dinner, a decorated birthday cake was presented to Mr. Layne by Dr. Cook, congratulating him on his birthday. During their week-end stay here, they were entertained in the Layne home.

HERE FROM WEST VIRGINIA

Miss Evelyn Coyner, of Cloverlick, W. Va., visited her cousin Mrs. Sally Ligon Clark, here last week. On the week-end they attended the races in Lexington and visited Miss Lois Coyner at Versailles.

IT WOULD HAVE PAID TO WAIT

Thirty years or so ago, Floyd county lost a plant to another county which was built at a cost, even in those days of solid money, of around a million dollars.

The plant was lost, with all its years of tax revenues, because Floyd county refused to wait ten years before beginning the taxation of the new installation. As a consequence, Pike county has benefitted from tax revenues and most of the plant payroll for upwards of 20 years and will continue to benefit nobody knows how long.

We point to this instance of shortsightedness to warn any who may be interested that an unwillingness to wait on the manufacturing plant located here and give it a chance to become a profitable business before demanding its unionizing could be equally disastrous for Floyd county.

The Floyd County Times is not anti-union. On the contrary, it recognizes the gains made for human rights and for the economy of the nation as a result of collective bargaining. But it cannot believe that premature action to organize an infant industry will serve organized labor or the individual worker to any good effect if the industry already here is damaged and other industry is frightened away.

The plant wanted Floyd county, 'way back then, to wait 10 years before collecting taxes. Floyd county refused—and lost. Now, a wait of two or three years is desired. Floyd county needs to profit from sad experience.

POSTHUMOUS AWARDS MADE TO VIETNAM WAR VICTIM

Mrs. Dixie C. Campbell, of Russell, Ky., formerly of this county, has received the Bronze Star with "V" device for heroism which was awarded posthumously to her son, Pfc. Andrew J. Campbell. The award was made for heroism displayed by Pfc. Campbell on April 11, 1966 while engaged in military operations with his unit, Company "C", 2nd Battalion, 16th Infantry, 1st Infantry Division, in Vietnam.

lic of Vietnam Military Merit Medal and the Gallantry Cross with Palm, which were awarded posthumously to her son by the Republic of Vietnam.

Presentation was made by Major Henry C. West, Jr., U. S. Army, at the National Guard Armory, Ashland, at a formation of Headquarters Company, 201st Engineer Battalion, and 202nd Army Band, Kentucky National Guard. The citation for the Bronze Star read as follows:

"For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force: On this date, Private First Class Campbell's company was engaged in fierce combat with an estimated Viet Cong battalion. Private First Class Campbell was helping defend the company's western perimeter. The Viet Cong were attempting to break through the perimeter on his side and overrun the company in three human wave assaults. Private First Class Campbell was fighting savagely, trying to hold back the Viet Cong. He was last seen engaging the insurgents as close as five feet to him. Private First Class Campbell gave his life, but in so doing prevented the Viet Cong from breaching the company perimeter. Private First Class Campbell's outstanding display of aggressiveness, devotion to duty, and personal bravery is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, the 1st Infantry Division, and the United States Army."

At the same ceremony, Mrs. Campbell received the Republic of Vietnam Military Merit Medal and the Gallantry Cross with Palm, which were awarded posthumously to her son by the Republic of Vietnam.

LAWN TIPS BY DR. EARL NEW

Your lawn is a complex plant community. In it are roots of grass, trees and shrubs, and sometimes those of bordering annual and perennial flowers. Therefore consider the needs of all plants—not just grass—when considering liming your lawn. An acidity test is the only way to determine the need.

Plants such as pin oak, hollies, magnolias and dogwoods, grow best when the soil is slightly to moderately acid (6.3 to 5.5 ph). Most azaleas and rhododendrons require 5.5 to 4.5 ph for best growth. Many will do well in the 6.3 to 5.5 range if a deep (3 to 4 inches) organic mulch is maintained and ferrous sulfate or chelated sulfur is regularly applied. Obviously, indiscriminate liming of lawns where these plants are present is not desirable.

Fortunately, established bluegrass and bluegrass-red fescue lawns will grow adequately in a 6.3 to 5.5 range. Thus there is no need to lime for grass growth unless a soil acidity test is below 5.5 ph. Even then keep the lime away from the roots of azaleas, rhododendrons and other plants which require highly acid soils.

When liming is needed, use a good grade agricultural lime in an amount that will not raise the ph above 6.5. Usually, the fine particles will raise the ph about halfway to that point; the coarser ones act later to hold it around 6.0 which is a very desirable level.

AKERS IN GERMANY

Berlin, Germany—Army Pfc. Fermin E. Akers, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond B. Akers, was assigned March 29 to the 6th Infantry in Berlin, Germany. Pvt. Akers entered the Army in October, 1966, and was last stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif. He is presently a light weapons infantryman with Company C of the 6th Infantry's 3rd Battalion. Akers was graduated from Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, Ky., in 1966 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. His wife, Barbara, lives in Allen, Kentucky.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30 and 20 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(April 16, 1937)

Milford Case, 11-year-old son of Honaker Postmaster Sid Case, died instantly Tuesday afternoon when he was struck in the chest by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun in a field near his father's home. Residents of the Middle Creek section, finding their road practically impassable after the winter months, dug into their own pockets and came up with a road fund of $73. They rented a tractor and grader, at $20 a day, and after three days' work had the road from the West Prestonsburg bridge to Hillsboro graded and serviceable once again. The period of time over this week and last finds a total of 230 Floyd county youths of the 260 enlisted here on their way to CCC work points throughout the county. Prestonsburg high school football coach Greenwell this week submitted to Floyd county coaches a plan to hold a track and field meet here, May Day. Prestonsburg is presently being beautified by a group of National Youth Administration employees, who are planting trees and shrubs along the highways and on the school grounds. Married: Miss Genevieve Kathryn Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Chalmers Haynes Frazier, of Martin, April 14 at the M. E. Church, South, here.

Twenty Years Ago

(April 17, 1947)

Although coal production was estimated above 90 percent of normal, with most mines of this section returned to operation after inspection by safety committees and federal inspectors, there remained a strong possibility this week that some mines will never reopen. Highlight of circuit court action here this week was the sentencing to two years each of two men convicted under the new state pistol law. Music, color and beauty featured the first Floyd County Music Festival, staged by the county's schools here Saturday. Lt. Col. John R. Sharp, of the Corps of Engineers, announced Monday that construction of Dewey dam on Johns Creek, suspended for the winter, will be resumed May 1. Police Chief Epp Lafferty reported this week the escape from the city jail, after midnight Saturday, of 10 of the 26 men held in the jail on drunkenness charges. Porter Field, new baseball park here, was being readied for play this week and is expected to be in good condition by the April 27 opening date of the Eastern Kentucky Baseball League. Asthma aggravated by privations suffered during 14 months in a German prison camp resulted in the death Saturday of Jake Hamilton, 33, at the home of his father, Jesse Hamilton, of Amba. Married: Miss Bertha Akers and Mr. Joe McClanahan, both of Betsy Layne, April 1 at Pikeville; Miss Vivian Hatcher and Mr. Gerald Ward, of Paintsville, April 6 at Jacksonville, Florida. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Alex Vernon Allen, of Allen, a son, April 14; to Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Hall, of Melvin, a son—Jerry Lee—April 10. There died: Mrs. Ella Miller, 56, last Wednesday, at the home at Water Gap of her daughter, Mrs. Alex Collins; Mrs. Marie Spencer Hayes, 26, of Eastern, at the Gearheart hospital, Martin, Wednesday; Mrs. Rebecca Moore Stumbo, 66, Friday at the home of her son, J. M. Stumbo, of McDowell; Reuben Conley, 74, at his home at Estill, Sunday; Mrs. Mildred Caudill Clark, 27, April 6 at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Gary Dean Patton, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patton, of Hueysville, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Tuesday; John Wesley Prater, month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Prater, at the Prater home at Whitaker, Tuesday.

(April 24, 1947)

Three Floyd residents killed in a car-truck collision on the highway near Hunter, Sunday afternoon, were: Timothy P. Henson, 87, and his wife, Mrs. Abbie Catherine Henson, both of Beaver, and Bill Bryan Salisbury, 49, of Hunter. The Kentucky Department of Welfare extended to 642 residents of the county during March aid totaling $14,593, statistics released this week by the Department show. Roy Wills, son of Ex-Magistrate and Mrs. W. A. Wills, Prestonsburg, is believed to have been the only person inside the Monsanto Chemical Company plant at Texas City, Texas to escape alive when last week's explosion of an explosive-laden French steamer in the Texas City harbor forced off chemicals in the plant and converted the city into a shambles. Anthony Newsome was wounded by a shotgun blast Friday near his home at Grethel. The Floyd fiscal court Wednesday voted the $600 appropriation necessary to continue for the fiscal year the work of Home Demonstration Agent Requa Kincar. J. M. Hall, Prestonsburg, and Johnny Hall, McDowell, Saturday purchased from Circuit Judge E. P. Hill the Bus Station Cafe here. Married: Miss Betty Joyce Crowell, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Wade Hampton Hodges, of Bluefield, W. Va., April 7 at Bluefield. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hill, of Hillsboro, Ky., a daughter—Linda Carol—April 21 at the Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: Tilden Howard, 70, at home on Little Point, Wednesday; Mrs. Anna Neeley Meade, 82, Monday at home on Abbott Creek; Mrs. Julia Spradlin, 77, of Town Branch, Tuesday at the Prestonsburg General hospital.

He has been a church deacon since 1948 and is now a member and Brotherhood secretary of the First Baptist Church of Allen.

Mr. Ketterhagen and his wife Anita spend some time fishing and traveling.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ACKNOWLEDGES SUPPORT

As chairman of the Floyd county Easter Seal Campaign, I want to express sincere appreciation to all the wonderful people who supported our drive, which ended Easter Sunday.

The many volunteers who gave of their talents, time and money, those who helped publicize the story of crippled children's needs, including Floyd County Times and Radio Stations WPRT and WDOC can be assured that their efforts are deeply appreciated by our local campaign committee as well as by the youngsters who benefit from gifts to Easter Seals.

Easter Seal care for physically handicapped children today means useful, self-reliant, independent citizens of tomorrow.

As everyone knows, the work of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal Society, goes on year 'round, so it's never too late to give to help a crippled child.

Detective Potter said elderly persons have been victimized in the past by men posing as roof repairmen and rug salesmen. An instance of such a violation was that in which a Johnson county woman lost about $700 to a roof repairman who, as she was counting out his pay, snatched all her money and fled. He later repaid the woman, Potter said, but escaped imprisonment because the case against him lacked strong substantiation.

Mrs. Dingus Named Ward Chairwoman

County Judge Henry Stumbo, Floyd chairman of the Ward-for-Governor committee, this week announced the appointment of Mrs. Gwendolyn S. Dingus as county chairwoman.

A regional rally for Ward will be held Friday in Morehead at the University Fieldhouse, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Floyd county is included in this campaign event for the former Commissioner of Highways and Conservation.

Appearing with Ward will be Foster Ockerman, state campaign chairman; and Mrs. Ben Combs, campaign chairwoman. Mrs. Ward is also expected to be in Morehead for the program.

Dr. Allen, Burchett Elected at Meeting Of Wildlife Group

Dr. C. L. Allen, of Martin, was elected president of the Seventh District Wildlife Federation at the recent federation meeting held here, and Robert Burchett, president of the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club, later at the same meeting was elected vice-president of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen.

Dr. Allen succeeds Dr. John Clay Rice, of Jackson, as head of the district federation. William R. Hardin, of Inez, was named vice-president. The secretary will be appointed by Dr. Allen.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to thank James Harmon, William Amburgey, and members of the Tom's Creek Free Will Baptist Church, and all those who by their presence, flowers, cards, or acts of kindness have shown so much thoughtfulness and sympathy to us in the passing of our loved one, Bertha L. Stratton. We also wish to express our appreciation to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

MORE SPECIAL CLASSES

The number of Kentucky school districts providing classrooms for special education of exceptional children increased from 39 in 1956 to 117 in 1966, according to the Kentucky Department of Education.

Raymond Copley Quits Conservation Officer Post After 22 Years

Raymond Copley has resigned his post as conservation officer after 22 years' service with the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources.

He began work Monday with the U. S. Corps of Engineers and has been assigned to ranger duties on Dewey Lake.

A successor has not been named, leaving Floyd county only one conservation officer, Don Meade, of Hi Hat.

REVIVAL TO BEGIN

A revival meeting is scheduled for the Church of God of Prophecy at Ligon, beginning Sunday night. The evangelist will be Ralph Hall, of Bristol, Tenn. Everyone is invited.

TALENT A-PLenty MARKS LIBRARY WEEK OBSERVANCE

Floyd county talent was on display at the Floyd County Library here throughout last week as National Library Week was observed.

The observance was concluded Sunday with a tea, an exhibit of art by Floyd county artists and recognition of Henry P. Scaif, of Stanville, for his history, "The Last Frontier," and other published works.

Mrs. R. V. May, library board chairman, expressed appreciation of the interest shown in the library by citizens of the county and various groups. Blaine R. Hall, county Library Week chairman, introduced Frank E. Harmon, who spoke on the subject of Kentucky historians and lauded the work done by Mr.

Scaif. The latter attributed his interest in history to the early encouragement given him by his mother and contributed historical information of interest to the gathering.

Mrs. May introduced Mrs. Ruth D. Sowards, who presented a book to the library from the Kentucky Chapter, National Society of the Dames of the Court of Honor, as an honor to Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, president of the Kentucky Society and herself a writer of poetry.

An interesting feature of the week was an art exhibit, the work of pupils of Mrs. Frankie Best at Prestonsburg Community College. The talent of the student-artists and the students of Prof. Sam Bitman at the college here whose poems were read on Poetry Day, last Wednesday, drew much favorable comment. Published poems by Blaine Hall were read by Mrs. W. W. Burchett and Mrs. Robert Allen as a part of the Poetry Day program.

Crafts of Scouts from Betsy Layne, Allen and Prestonsburg were exhibited Thursday, and Friday, Homemakers' Day. Thirteen women modeled wearing apparel which they had designed and made. Homemakers' paintings, needlecraft and other items were displayed.

Children's Hour was held Saturday with Mrs. Woodrow Allen reading stories for youngsters and explaining the various displays, including the art produced by Prestonsburg Community College students.

Mrs. Amanda Conley Passes Away Sunday At Nursing Home Here

Mrs. Amanda Burchwell Conley, 77 years old, of Water Gap, died Sunday at the Mountain Manor Convalescent Home, here, following an extended illness.

Death Claims Porter Here Last Saturday After Year's Illness

Henry Porter, well-known Floyd county man and one of the oldest residents of the area, died Saturday afternoon at the Mountain Manor Convalescent Home here at the age of 91. Death followed an illness of a year.

A son of Henry L. and Armenta Wells Porter, he was born on Cow Creek October 13, 1875. Most of his life was spent on his farm on Long Branch of Johns Creek, below Dewey Dam.

A teacher in his early manhood, he later was in business in Huntington, W. Va., and at one time was associated with the coal mining industry. He was a member of the Methodist Church. His wife, Myrtle Clark Porter, died in 1958.

Survivors include two sons and a daughter, Henry Howard Porter, with whom he resided at the farm, Gene Morgan Porter, Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Ruth Scott, Kenova, W. Va.; five grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and several half-brothers and sisters.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday at 11 a.m. from the chapel of the Preston Funeral Home, Paintsville, by the Rev. Leslie Rogers. Burial was made in the family cemetery.

Back in 1910, the newspapers were full of all sorts of dire predictions about what might happen. Poisonous gases, they quoted so-called astronomers as saying, might envelop the earth. Superstition had its inning, too, and there were recorded several cases of what we called hell-scared religion among the sin-fulest.

Then, on that day, April 19, 1910, the day when the "tail" of the comet would sweep nearest the earth, they said the heat might become so great that breathing would be difficult and it might even be more than we could do to keep the old pump going. And that very prediction is why I tell all and sundry not to worry if they're around, come 1987.

That April day was the coldest of the spring.

THE MAIN INGREDIENTS

Switching from the celestial to a more mundane state, there is the story told of the Kentucky mountaineer who moved to Texas and in due time wrote back to his parents to this effect:

"This is a nice country, I reckon. It needs a lot more water and a better class of people, but everything would be all right if you and Mom would come on out."

Eventually, the answer came. His Dad wrote to say he would like to see him and all that but that he reckoned he had lived this long in Kentucky and this would be where he would die.

"And, son," he continued, "you say that place needs more water and better people. Boy, if hell had them two things it would be all right, too."

IN THE MAIL

Mrs. Arley E. Hayes, formerly of Hi Hat, writes from Hazard:

"If you have ever asked yourself, 'Am I a saint or sinner?' I would recommend that you apply for a state job, in which it becomes necessary to send an interviewer into your neighborhood or community to question your neighbors about your character and they think it is strictly confidential. This recently happened to me, I understand that three of my neighbors tagged me as a chronic alcoholic."

"After having been promised immediate action on my application, this report resulted in long delays and silence. It has even shaken my husband's faith in me. When I said to him, 'I have done everything that I can do to get that cotton-pickin' job — do you have a suggestion?' he said, 'Yes, give me a divorce and I'll find some one who does have a job.'"

Heard the one about the guy who had a go at the machines and the tables in Las Vegas? Back home, a friend ribbed him: "Hear you cleaned up in Vegas." "Well," the erstwhile gambler replied, "let's put it this way: I went out there in an $8,000 Cadillac and came back in a $45,000 Greyhound."

The ARH board chairman reported that the hospital system, which experienced a deficit of $630,385 in its first nine months, was now breaking even in operations, although it still needs approximately $1,834,000 in working capital.

Combs, a Baptist, received from the Presbyterian Board an award praising him for "dedicated Christian leadership" and expressing gratitude for "concern which helped give health and hope through Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc." Combs was governor in 1963 when the Kentucky Legislature helped the Presbyterians establish ARH.

The award to the ARH board and hospitals expressed "gratitude for the creative role played in making possible continued and extended health care in a time of regional and national emergency."

WEEK AT LAKE CUMBERLAND AVAILABLE TO FLOYD YOUTH THRU FISH & GAME PROGRAM

Between 75 and 100 Floyd county boys and girls could spend a week on Lake Cumberland, at one of the finest youth camps in the nation, this summer—if they will get busy.

The opportunity to attend Camp Earl Wallace is made possible through the cooperation of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and its Junior Conservation program, with the county's two fish and game clubs providing free transportation for the youngsters to and from camp.

The cost per youngster is $11.50 for the entire week. This includes meals, training classes, evening movies and plays and insurance for each child enrolled.

Any boy or girl who is in the sixth, seventh or eighth grades, is a member of a conservation class at his or her school and attends the monthly classes is eligible to attend the camp. Floyd county boys will leave by school bus for camp, June 12. Girls will go on August 7.

Camp Earl Wallace has facilities to accommodate 250 boys or girls per week over the 11-week camping season.

Youngsters who are interested in the camp should send applications to Bernard Baldrige, Junior Conservation supervisor, R. 2, Box 1, Martin, Ky., before May 1, with the $11.50 fee. In the event that any boy or girl is unable to attend camp, the fee will be refunded.

James Courtney Slone, Former Floyd Teacher, Succumbs in Tennessee

Funeral rites for James Courtney Slone, former Garrett high school teacher, who died April 16 at Greeneville, Tenn., following a heart attack, were held Tuesday of last week at Greeneville. He was about 60 years old.

Mr. Slone had resided in Greeneville, the last 20 years. He was a member of the high school faculty there and was a past master of Greeneville Masonic Lodge.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Slone and was a native of Knott county. He leaves his wife, two children and the following brothers and sisters: Robert Worley Slone, Lexington, Commodore Slone, Mrs. Rilda Watson and Mrs. Frankie Jane Jacobs, all of Pippa Passes, Mrs. Keller Whittaker, of Frankfort, and Miss Alice Slone, of Cordia, Ky. He also leaves three grandchildren.

COUNCIL OF STATES MOVES TO KENTUCKY

Frankfort, Ky.—The Council of State Governments has voted unanimously to move its national headquarters from Chicago to Lexington. Gov. Edward Breathitt recently told the Council's executive committee that he was "extremely pleased with the decision." Breathitt said, "Lexington and Kentucky will be the focal point for much of the activity for strengthening state government. It also means the Kentucky state government will have a reservoir of research materials, ideas and talent at its doorstep."

FOUR FEDERAL PROGRAMS SUPPLY STUDENT FUNDS

High school juniors and seniors were reminded this week that there are four federally supported programs that could financially help them go to college.

Dr. M. Howard Bryant, director of higher education for Region III of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, especially urged college-bound seniors to find out about the aid for which they may apply. "Frequently," Bryant said, "we get last-minute requests for aid from students who don't realize that their college may have several federal and other assistance programs that could help them." Since the aid is distributed by the college, the student should immediately contact the financial aid officer of the college.

"Only a few years ago, a college education was largely a status symbol reserved for youth who had affluent parents, or for youth who were extremely bright, or outstanding in athletics," said Bryant. "Fortunately, this situation has changed." The current trend in many institutions is toward giving financial "package plans." These are combinations of funds from several sources, both government and private, that are tailor-made by the college to fit each student's particular financial needs.

Dr. Bryant urged citizens throughout Kentucky to keep an eye out for talented youth who might not know about the many sources of help for them in higher education, and to encourage them to finish high school and go on to college.

The four major federal student financial aid programs are the National Defense Student Loan Program, the College Work-Study Program, the Educational Opportunity Grants Program, and the Guaranteed Loan Program.

Practically all U. S. colleges and universities are in the National Defense Student Loan program. Borrowing directly from the college, the undergraduate may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year, to a total of $5,000. The graduate student may borrow up to $2,500 a year, to a maximum of $10,000. Interest and repayment begin when the student has finished, for a period up to 13 years. Borrowers who become teachers may have part of the loan cancelled. Next year in Kentucky, 3,876 students in 33 colleges and universities will borrow about $2,951,299.

The College Work-Study program provides jobs for students who need employment to help pay their expenses. Generally, while attending class full-time, students work 15 hours a week and work 40 hours a week during summer and other vacations. Students may work in dining halls, laboratories, libraries, or in maintenance work in the college. Or the job may be an off-campus one in a public or non-profit organization, such as for health, education, welfare, or recreation.

At present, the average salary earned in the Work-Study program is about $700 a year. 4,334 students in 24 Kentucky colleges work in the program at a federal cost of about $2,893,641.

"Educational Opportunity programs," Bryant said, "is a new program begun last fall. It is intended for undergraduate students in such extreme financial need that without the grants, they could not attend college." 2,719 Kentucky college students are currently receiving the Educational Opportunity Grants, which range from $200 to $900. Hugo Miller Speaks
At Woman's Club Meet

Wayland, Ky.—"The problems around the world sooner or later become our problems, for whether we like it or not, we are our brother's keeper," Hugo Miller, consultant in social studies for Floyd county, as he spoke last Monday evening to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club on the subject, "International Affairs." He was introduced by Mrs. M. M. Collins, program leader.

"The United States will never retreat from its world leadership," continued Mr. Miller. "If we should relinquish our leadership, it might mean the eradication of life itself."

Mr. Miller then listed and explained the various alliances to which the United States is signatory. He emphasized that no leader in this modern age of transportation and communication could we practice isolation, but must retain our leadership of the free world and strive to build a better world through education—scientific, physical, linguistic and religious.

Concluding, he quoted, "If America ever ceases to be good, America ceases to be great."

After the program, the president, Mrs. L. B. Price, conducted a business meeting, at which the main topic was a discussion of the forthcoming election of officers.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and Mrs. L. B. Price. There were 13 members present and three guests, Mrs. Marcelous Dunfee, of Garrett, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Drift.

U. S. Army, Vietnam (AHTNC) — Army Specialist Four Billy R. Burkett, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Burkett, Allen, is participating in "Operation Junction City," the largest military operation to date in Vietnam. The operation was launched on the theory that national Viet Cong political and military headquarters might be located in the area along the Cambodian border.

Meeting little VC resistance, the operation has been successful in the confiscation of large quantities of food and arms.

Burkett is a team leader in Company A, 4th Battalion of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade's 31st Infantry.

Who Has Experience in Frankfort

The Taxpayers' Day

Yes, the taxpayers' day will be May 23rd, 1967, and time for the Boston Tea Party to get into action and overthrow these 100, 110, 120 and 130 percenters taxers. The Breathitt administration has done nothing except to raise big salaries and appoint more employees with exorbitant salaries and who do little or nothing. Floyd county is running over with state employees with two, three and four in the same family. All the people have heard for the last few years is tax, tax, tax and tax. The taxpayer has been bored and gored to such an extent it is difficult to meet his tax bill. This administration has picked the bones of the taxpayer until his bones are bare, but the time has now arrived when the people who pay the bill can go to the polls and do some picking themselves.

You have the same administration for Ward who moved heaven and earth in an effort to crowd down your throat the Constitutional amendment last year, which amendment was defeated by almost 400,000, and at the same time John Sherman Cooper defeated John Y. Brown, by 218,000, Brown only carrying 7 counties out of 120. Now the Administration is using every effort possible to force Henry Ward upon you so that their program may be carried further to your detriment. This Breathitt administration should be defeated and thereby restore the state government to the people where it rightfully and justly belongs. This administration is deathly in fear of what is about to befall it.

Happy Chandler, Ward's opponent, in the past has always carried out the promises he made to the people. He removed the lien from the old age recipient's home as he promised. He repealed the sales tax as promised. You can depend upon his word that he will do something about this 100% matter which has burdened and oppressed the taxpayer out of existence. Back in the days of Professor Clark of Hindman and Professor Byington you were taught that 100% was as high as you could go but these brain trusters have found a way to add 10, 20 and 30% more than mathmatically can be done.

Nebuchadnezzar has already written over the door (Daniel 5:25) but these Breathitt supporters and Ward's have been unable to properly read the sign, but after May 23rd it will plainly reveal the message over the door.

Vote for A. B. Chandler, a man who keeps his word. You can't go wrong when you vote for your own salvation and may these political henchmen and supporters of Ward flee from the wrath to come on the 23rd day of May, 1967.

Remember, this is the taxpayers' day and may your vote shake the foundation of the state Capitol from the foundation to the roof. And then and only then will taxpayers be recognized. Go to the polls and think before you vote. Vote for your own welfare and not the politicians and get their hands out of your pocket and you will sleep sounder. May 23rd will be a blessed day for you and your family, which should go down in history as a memorable day for the taxpayers.

The Guaranteed Loan program allows the student to borrow from his bank, credit union, savings and loan association, or similar lender. Although any student may borrow, the program is directed toward easing the heavy burden of educational costs for the middle-income family. If the student's adjusted family income is less than $15,000 a year, the federal government pays the entire interest (six percent) during the school years, and half the interest (three percent) during the repayment period after the schooling.

"In spite of the 'tight' money market which existed when the program began, and still exists," Bryant said, "between July 1, 1966, and January 28, 1967, over 260,000 U. S. students borrowed around $206 million. During this time, 2,120 Kentucky students borrowed $1,314,630 for college.

In Kentucky, the Guaranteed Loan Program is administered by Billy F. Hunt, Secretary, Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority, 319 Ann Stret, Frankfort.

Southern Bell Mgr. Says Obscene Calls Can Now Be Traced

In many cases it is now possible to trace nuisance and obscene telephone calls through the use of recently developed equipment now available in exchanges in this area, W. S. Gibson, II, Southern Bell manager, said this week.

Gibson said the equipment will be used more and more in the future as the telephone company and law-enforcement officials step up action against nuisance and obscene calls.

"Southern Bell has long been concerned about the problem of nuisance and obscene calls," said Gibson, "and we want to do everything we can to help bring this type of call to a halt."

The method of call tracing now being used by Southern Bell does not involve any wire-tapping or listening, Gibson pointed out. He said the equipment records the number from which the nuisance and obscene calls are placed and that the police then take the steps toward arrest and conviction.

Kentucky law provides a penalty of one year in jail, a fine of not less than $50.00 nor more than $1,000, or both, upon conviction of making obscene calls.

Southern Bell suggests that any individual who receives a nuisance or obscene call hang up immediately. This often discourages the caller, Gibson said. If the calls continue, then the victim should call the telephone company business office. If the call is serious, such as a threat to life or property, then the victim should also call the police.

QUESTION: WHO'S POOR?

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington, D. C.—A strange thing happened to two psychiatrists who went with a team to help "unfortunate, deprived" children in poverty-stricken areas of Appalachia.

They did find people in need of help. But they found other things.

They said: "We have seen few 'neurotic' problems in mountain schools. Teachers do not describe and we have not seen that mixture of ability and non-performance that characterizes the child with a 'learning block'."

"We have to comment," they noted in describing the poverty of Appalachia, "on the difference between a (poor mountain) youth who may have 'little' in the economic sense ahead of him, but a firm idea of exactly who he is, where he comes from . . . and what he would like . . . and a (city middle-class) youth who has a 'lot,' (but who is uncertain) . . . about where he will go or what he will do . . ."

The two psychiatrists, Dr. Robert Coles, of Harvard, and Dr. Joseph Brenner, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, found a "greater sense of family, of shared allegiance to parents and grandparents that somehow makes for relatively more co-operative activity, frolic and eventually work than one sees among many other American children."

They found brothers and sisters living and playing together "without evidence of the charged, defiant 'individuality' one finds so often in middle-class city homes!"

They believe "a nation that knows widespread delinquency" virtue of youth's rebellion and which has "almost made a fast departure from home" will be interested in what makes these Appalachian youth stick to the family and strongly want to return home if they do move away.

The secret, the two men found, was that these young men and women have strong ties to cousins, to neighbors, to a host of relatives as well as parents. These ties come, said the psychiatrists, because "even before adolescence, mountain children learn that a family is no laughing matter—no temporary arrangement characterized by divorce, constant movement and a strictly limited membership, lucky to include anyone outside a set of parents and . . . a matching set of children. Kin-relatives of one sort or another—have a real and well-known meaning."

"Since families mean a lot, in old age they continue to mean a lot. The elderly are usually spared that final sense of abandonment and uselessness so commonly the fate of the middle-class suburban aged."

In addition, the two medical men said, they found in the mountain children "a developing intimacy with the soil, the land's surface and variations, its changing height, its bodies of water, its ability to produce food or supply ore . . . Children learn to care for animals, to feed them and clean up after them, to help them in sickness . . . to have them as company, a kind of un-complicated, non-human company."

They told of a white mother who recently left Appalachia for the North. She had said, "You get up here and you can get a job better than back home, but whether its worth it or not, to tell the truth, I'm not sure. The other day I told my husband that I don't think my children ever see the earth any more. There are the buildings and the sidewalk and the roads, and there are some more buildings . . . I'm going to be telling my little kids that some day we'll go back home and they'll see what the earth looks like, and the trees, and then they'll be able to walk they please . . ."

It may be that these so-called "deprived" have something to teach us of the privileged city middle class. Perhaps there should be a reverse "poverty program."

NATURE TRAILS • By RUFUS M. REED

TWO OF MY BEST LOVED BIRDS

Two of my best loved birds are the yellow warbler and the goldfinch.

These birds have many fine features and characteristics. The yellow warbler comes back to our region about the 15th of April and looks like a golden sunray flitting about the greenery yard-trees or orchards. Most people call it "the yellow bird," as it is the only bird that looks "all yellow." When it returns in the spring, it looks as bright as if it had just been dipped in a bath of liquid gold. It has a loud, spirited and cheerful song and is always busy flitting through the trees, catching harmful insects and singing its loud, cheerful tune. It enjoys being around the premises of man and is seldom seen out in the deep woods. It is a small bird—a shade smaller than the goldfinch, which is also called "the wild canary."

The yellow warbler seems so happy to be back in the spring it sings almost all the day, and its spirited song seems to say: "Sweet, sweet, sweet, sweeter, sweet, chee, chee!" This bird flies all the way back from South America on its northern spring migration, to be back where it was reared. It likes to build its nest around orchards and in willows, along a stream. Sometimes it will build in hedges or along old fence rows, but never out in the woods. Its favorite nest-building material is cattail down, gathered from the long, blackish pods of the cattails. It also uses strips of bark to make its nest secure. The female lays about four greenish-white eggs spotted with brown or black.

The yellow warbler is a valuable bird to have around the garden or orchard. In early spring, as the obnoxious insects begin to swarm out to lay their eggs, the yellow warbler may be seen chasing them through the new-leaving trees. It captures such harmful pests as codling moths, the cutworm moths, cankerworm moths and many others.

The yellow warbler is one of the most intelligent of all birds. It knows how to outwit the sly female cowbird when she sneaks to the nest and lays one of her eggs with the warbler's eggs. This little bird will refuse to incubate the cowbird's eggs and outwits the poacher by putting a fresh layer of straw over the eggs. If the cowbird tries again to slip one of her eggs into the yellow warbler's nest, she will put another tier of straw over it. Nests have been found containing as many as three or four stories which the yellow warbler built to outwit the cowbird.

The yellow warbler is, no doubt, the best-known of all the large clan of wood warblers; its bright yellow gold makes it conspicuous when it comes back in the spring. This is a bird that deserves our best protection and should always be a welcome visitor about the lawn or orchard.

The Goldfinch: This bird is also bright, lemon-yellow in the spring but the male is handsomely dressed in gold and black. His breast and back are gold and he wears a jaunty black cap on the forehead and has black wings and tail. He is also called, "wild canary," "thistle bird" and "American Goldfinch."

The goldfinch is the most affectionate of all the birds. The male is especially tender and solicitous of the young and shows loving care and tenderness toward his mate. He often calls to her in a sweet, caressing voice as if saying, "Sweetie, sweetie." He calls to the little ones often and seems to say, "ba-bee, ba-bee." This is said to be one of the tenderest and sweetest calls heard in nature.

The goldfinches are mainly seed-eaters, so they seldom migrate far, and flocks of them are often seen in mid-winter. Those persons who suffer from hay fever due to ragweed pollen should give the goldfinches good care and many thanks, for they eat many bushels of ragweed seeds during the winter and can soon clean up the seeds in a large patch of them. They also eat the seeds of the evening primroses, grass seeds and other obnoxious weed seeds. In spring and summer, the goldfinches also devour many harmful insects, such as cankerworms, plant lice, grasshoppers, cutworms, beetles and others. They are often seen around the dandelion plants, eating the seeds, which they catch as they float out on their silk parachutes. They also eat many thistle seeds and use thistle down to build their nests in late summer. They wait until the thistles mature their flowers and have down, so they can use the down to line their nests.

A goldfinch can also be recognized when flying overhead, as it makes an up-and-down, undulating flight; it flies up, then seems to let loose and dip down and back up again in a wide semi-circle, and as it bounds up and down, it gives out a joyous cry of, "per-chic-o-ree!" This bird is also full of ecstasy in the spring and always shows a fine disposition; so the goldfinches are called "birds as light-hearted as butterflies."

In the spring flocks of goldfinches get together to hold their spring jubilee. Hundreds of them will congregate in an orchard when the apple trees are in bloom, and they all begin to warble and sing like canaries. It is one of the most joyous celebrations heard or seen in nature. They seem to be so happy at the coming out of the apple blossoms and the joys of unfolding spring. So they flit in and out among the blossoms and keep on warbling together. Often the celebration will last for several days, until the apple blossoms fall. I always listen for this joyful jubilee of the spring and I call it "the spring jubilee of the goldfinches." I am often made to wonder how such small birds can hold so much joy and give so much of it to make the world happy.

The goldfinch has been chosen as the state bird of Iowa, New Jersey and Washington.

Floyd Kin Learn Of Death of Neal Apr. 22 in Vietnam

Floyd county relatives learned last week-end of the death of combat injuries received in Vietnam of Ronald K. Neal, 21, son of Mrs. E. G. Polan, Huntington, West Virginia.

A member of the Navy's newly formed No. 1 SEAL (Sea, Air Land) combat team, he was wounded April 7 and died Saturday morning in a field hospital in South Vietnam. Neal recently appeared in a CBS-TV newscast by Walter Cronkite explaining the SEAL program. He had arrived in the battle area only two days before he and 11 others were wounded by mortar fire.

Young Neal was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Osborne, of Ashland, formerly of Prestonsburg, and was a cousin of State Representative Ted Osborne, of Lexington. His stepfather is president of Polan Industries, Inc., in Huntington.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a brother, Julian Neal, of the U. S. Air Force in Hawaii. The body will be returned to the United States within 10 days, and burial will be made in Arlington National Cemetery.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Lately I have been trying to tell some of the younger generation about the former importance of springs. Many of my listeners must think I have a very fertile imagination when I mention how the first settlers here sought out a spring for the site of a house. Many of the places where that was so important are now dependent on other sources of water. In fact, many of the springs of earlier days have completely disappeared. In my whole bird-observation area I do not know where there is a spring that still serves as it did from early times until fifty years ago. Two elderly springs are fairly close to where I live, but one is largely now a mere pile of rocks over a trickle stream that now sometimes goes completely dry in summer; the other one still has an antique springtime look about it and still puts out a big stream, which a man-made pond a few yards away stores for the stock on the farm and for irrigating. I do know that some less-known springs, formerly not used, have been capped and are now under the pump for house and stock-barn uses. But most of the water now comes from individual wells or, and this is rapidly developing, from new water systems. At the present rate of building, in 10 years a house that is not on a water line will be as queer as one today that does not have R. E. A. Springs were so valuable and so prominent formerly that they gave their names to communities and churches and schools and country stores. As the communities grew and became less dependent of the springs, sometimes the original names seemed almost comic. One such place, written about by travelers across the Barrens in pioneer times, has now become a mere oozy trickle, putting out only enough water for a domesticated animal. In the early 1800's it was as definite a place as the villages of the time; people measured distances by how far they traveled to or from the springs. There grew up a great fondness for mineral springs. Any spring that had a large percentage of mineral content in its water soon attracted attention. Thus grew up dozens of hostleries, ranging from rather primitive to elaborate and expensive. There was rarely, in those days, a community that did not have, within a day's drive, just such a place. Some of these places drew people from far away; I can recall having seen special hacks used by one such place, which would be driven out to the railroad to meet every passenger train. Passenger trains and the very fashionable place have alike gone out of commission in that area. Before cars were a part of every household, a summer vacation trip to a watering place, with plenty of good food served, was regarded very highly. Within a hundred miles of Bowling Green there must have been at one time fully 10 such areas, some of them with one and some with many hotels. And most other areas had similar accommodations.

The springs also had a very special place in the lives of plain people who stayed at home and took care of their families and their stock. My own Sulphur Springs, until long past my days at Fidelity, was a neighborhood institution. It was right by the side of the road near Sulphur Springs Methodist Church (which keeps its name but is now a mile and a half away on a ridge in Fidelity itself). Everybody depended on that spring. Because of it, nobody was greatly concerned if the cistern water ran low in the summer. With some large barrels in the wagon bed, we could haul all the water needed and even fill up our cistern again after it had run low and had been cleaned and scrubbed. The spring became a meeting place for the neighborhood, because of the church, of course, but also because of the supply of water, which never varied in volume from season to season, never showed any surface contamination, and welled up through pure white sand. No wonder we of that area had difficulty in adjusting to springs elsewhere that were contaminated by surface drainage and even sewage. It took me years on end to resist the temptation to drink from every spring I saw, for I remembered Sulphur Springs and many others of my childhood.

Wheelwright Minister To Take Retirement

The Rev. Adolf Bergman, pastor of the Wheelwright Community Church, announced last Sunday to his congregation that he will take full retirement at the close of this conference year in June.

In 1964, Rev. Bergman took a retired relationship in the Detroit, Michigan Methodist Conference. Since July of 1965, he has been pastoring in the Kentucky Methodist Conference. Of his more than 40 years in the Christian ministry, Rev. Bergman spent more than 20 years in Europe, in the former Free Baltic States of Estonia and Latvia and one year in Denmark from where he came to the United States in June, 1946.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bergman will move back to Michigan where Mrs. Bergman will resume her public school teaching career in her home state.

"The Iron Law of Life" will be Rev. Bergman's sermon topic at the 11 a.m. worship service in the Wheelwright Community Methodist Church Sunday (April 30).

McDowell Gets Off To Great 1967 Start With 3 Wins In Row

The McDowell Daredevil baseball team is off to a great start this year, winning their first three games.

The Daredevil pitching staff has limited their opponents to only two runs in three games. These runs were both scored by Prestonsburg.

The Daredevils started off the season in fine fashion as they swept a doubleheader from Maytown. In the first game the Daredevils got one run from Barry Hall who made it to first on a single, stole second and third, and scored on Jerry Moore's single. The final score: McDowell 1, Maytown 0. The winning pitcher was Jerry Moore who gave up 1 hit, 1 walk, and struck out 8. In the second game Donnie Hall pitched a no-hitter as the Daredevils won, 6-0, on 9 hits.

Tommy Martin pitched the third game and gave up 7 hits, 2 walks, and struck out four. He got seventh inning relief help from Donnie Hall who blanked Prestonsburg the rest of the way. Pitcher Tom Martin hit a three-run homer off Prestonsburg reliever Page, who came on in the second inning. The final score: McDowell 9, Prestonsburg 2.

Magoffin Coal Loads Lightened, Repair Work On Highway Is Begun

Coal traffic which has left KY Rt. 7 in damaged condition has been lightened and the Department of Highways has commenced repair work, brightening the spring road picture in Magoffin county.

Charles Hovatter, president of Terry Elkhorn, has been given permission by Magoffin fiscal court to widen a county road in the Gun Creek area to allow his trucks a new avenue of ingress to his tipple.

Now the loaded trucks travel on past the end of Mountain Parkway extension as far as Ivyton, moving to KY 114 and then to the Gun Creek road. Meanwhile, Highway Department crews have been patching breaks in the road, but Commissioner Mitchell Tindler denied reports weight limits on Rt. 7 would be raised. Any increase in weights allowed there would have to be approved by the highway commissioner.

Agents of the Department of Motor Transportation, who left 36 unresolved cases on the Magoffin county court docket, have not returned to check the road, although they have been operating in neighboring Breathitt county. Most of the 36 cases deal with truck matters other than weights.

County Judge Hager Watson held the 36 cases in abeyance after three juries failed to convict drivers charged with overweight.—Salversville Independent

CLUB HONORS MRS. MARTIN

The Drift Woman's Club met April 17 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, for a dinner meeting and installation of officers.

After the dinner the club moved to the recreation room where the Contest committee surprised the outgoing president with "This Is Your Life, Mary Martin." Nancy Cooley was master of ceremonies. The Drifters sang a song, "Our Mary," accompanied at the piano by Paul Hoffman, Mary's sister, Lizzie, reminisced about their school days together. Peg Hewlett highlighted their social activities while neighbors at Drift, Mary's untiring club work as a member was told by Rebecca Reed, and Maxine Reitz elaborated on her club work as president. Anna Hoffman feathered her cap with all her activities as president.

Mrs. Joe Justice, of the Pikeville Woman's Club, installed the new officers.

Mrs. Linda Turner presented the outgoing president with a Past President's pin, and Mrs. Bill Hoffman, 1967-'68 president, with a President's Pin.

Guests were Mrs. H. D. Hewlett, Mrs. Cecil Duncan, Paul Hoffman, and Mrs. Joe Justice.

CARD OF THANKS

To all who bore our sorrows with us for the one who had to leave us and fall in the hands of our dear Saviour with whom I do believe he is resting away from that battlefield but who is missed so much in our home: We want to thank those who gave the family room and food through the time of the funeral and all who sent so many beautiful flowers; the ministers and the brothers and sisters of the church for the services and Rev. Willard Blanton for the humble prayer before leaving the funeral home with the body; the Hall Brothers and their employees for their sympathy, kindness and respect for the family and friends.

By HAROLD R. WALLACE
Soil Conservationist

Paul Horn, a new cooperater with the Floyd County Soil Conservation District, started installing a tile drainage system on his land in the Cliff community last week.

Three hundred feet of five-inch clay tile is needed to provide adequate drainage from seepage. The field to be drained is used for hay production.

The tile job on the Horn farm is being installed by hand. Other installation methods that can be used for applying this practice are backhoes and ditching machines.

This job was planned, staked and designed by U. S. Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned Floyd county.

Jenny Wiley Chanters To Sing at Paintsville; Williamson To Speak

Wallace J. Williamson, III, Ashland businessman and historian, will be the principal speaker at the May meeting of the Johnson County Historical Society, at the Paintsville Country Club, May 5, at 6:30 p.m.

A former professor at both Yale and Princeton Universities, Williamson will speak in observance of Kentucky's 175th anniversary of statehood. The Jenny Wiley Chanters of Prestonsburg, a widely recognized group under the direction of Mrs. Edith James, will present a special musical program of pioneer and folk songs in connection with the anniversary observance. Kentucky Young Historians from the Meade Memorial and Paintsville high school chapters will be recognized for their outstanding program during the current school year. The two clubs tied for runner-up honors for the state championship.

Lewis C. Woods, Jr., field representative for the Kentucky Historical Society, will head a delegation to the banquet from the state organization.

Tickets may be purchased from YHA members at Meade Memorial or Paintsville. Ticket orders mailed to the Johnson County Historical Society, Paintsville, Ky. 41240, will be accepted until April 29.

I, C. Ollie Robinson, Clerk of the Floyd County Court, hereby state that Fred McGinnis and Dortha McGinnis have been voters in the Mouth of Beaver Precinct number 10 for several years, and have been residents of Banner, Ky., residing near the Big Sandy River. The two have voted consistently at Precinct number 10 and their votes have never been challenged by anyone except after they voted in the Special Election in July of 1966. With the precinct boundaries not being too descriptive and being somewhat confusing, I would state that the two were legal voters in the Special Election held in Floyd county in July, 1966.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to friends, relatives and neighbors for their acts of kindness and thoughtfulness upon the illness and passing of our beloved mother, Bertha L. Stratton, and to those who sent floral offerings and food and performed many acts of kindness. We especially desire to thank the Revs. William Amburgey and James Harmon for their words of consolation; the choir and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service and those who assisted in any way. All have our everlasting gratitude.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The following letter was submitted for publication more than two weeks ago and was unduly delayed.—Editor.)

VOICE IN OBJECTION

EDITOR, The Times:
Two photographic essays appeared last week in The Dayton (Ohio) Daily News on the work of Programs in Appalachia Through Christian Effort (PACE) in this area. We object to some aspects of the presentation of the material and have written the Dayton paper to this effect. The letter addressed to them is enclosed.

Editor
Dayton Daily News
Dayton, Ohio
Dear Sir:

The Dayton Daily News last week ran two photographic essays on the work of Programs in Appalachia through Christian Effort, a church-related, self-help organization with headquarters in Paintsville, Kentucky. The axiom that pictures speak louder than words proved true in this case. While the text (which sought objectivity) spoke of renewal, the pictures proclaimed the more familiar theme of rural poverty. One picture depicted a boy playing with a used tire and bore the caption, "Prestonsburg Boy and His Favorite Toy." Actually, the location depicted is a hollow 25 miles south of Prestonsburg in an area called Mud Creek.

The text mentioned economic progress represented by new industries, recently constructed public service buildings, and government initiated programs. Pictures substantiating this growth would have been in order even if the "poverty pictures" provided more human interest. Prestonsburg, for example, last year received a Chamber of Commerce award for being the city to have most successfully promoted a program for tourist attraction. Jenny Wiley State Park in Floyd county had nearly a million visitors last year.

The pictures precondition readers to anticipate the now familiar litany of woe in Appalachia, and the many readers who skip the text or simply scan it will have reinforced in their consciousness an image not conducive to growth and not an actual reflection of the concerted efforts made in the Appalachian sector of the United States towards equal participation in the national growth.

In the articles only one paragraph of statistics appears, but these are grossly inflated and do not reflect the totality of East Kentucky, but rather the more isolated areas with stubborn concentrations of substandard conditions. Thus intestinal parasites are attributed to 75 percent of the children of one county, when, in reality, that figure obtains only for the children of a creek area in that county. Unemployment in the mountain counties would run closer to 20 percent rather than the 53 percent cited. And this figure will be significantly reduced by several new industries now building in East Kentucky. Illiteracy is listed at 32 percent and malnutrition at 4 percent. These two figures are probably four times as high as they should be.

As a point of information, the clinic operated by Programs in Appalachia through Christian Effort is located at Warfield (Marion county), Ky., and not in Paintsville as indicated in the article. Also, Prestonsburg is not in the process of obtaining new public buildings including a courthouse, library, health center, and a community college. It already has them. Undoubtedly, its city officials would much like to see a photographic article on the many fruits of their community labor. A number of these county seats are alive with growth projects on behalf of the common weal.

There is unintentionally a hint of conflict between fundamentalism and the Catholic minority presence. "Their fundamentalism doesn't permit them to deal with an industrial society," it is noted. The suggestion on our part is simply that our social doctrine (as enunciated by our church and its bishops) gives direction to our efforts in the social order. Integration of religious principles into the secular sphere as a directive force is a reality for us while it is not, in large measure, for fundamentalism is not typical of the mainstream evangelical churches with whom we, as a church, are increasingly involved in the social order, which is perhaps the best milieu for ecumenism.

Our program did not invite reporters from any newspaper to feature our work which, in terms of duration and accomplishments, is still in the fledging stage. When they appeared we indicated that we would rather they not write a story unless it were a balanced vehicle of expression of the total picture and considered the sensibilities of those who feel too much exposure has been given to the negative aspects of the problem. While no one would deny the problems, there is legitimate fear that excessive and disproportionate publicity of poverty would create a distaste for location of future industry—when, in fact, Eastern Kentucky has abundant natural resources and work force. The article's author is correct in citing Harry Caudill's observation that East Kentucky is America's Switzerland. In fact, Caudill notes that the wealth of East Kentucky in mineral resources is greater than Switzerland. In view of the marked growth of 1966, the future of Eastern Kentucky appears brighter than ever before in history.

We wish to thank John Nichols and Ryan Sanders for their efforts in objectivity in matters that can sometimes prove controversial and complex. But we wish that the photographs had presented a better balance and that the few statistics had been more accurate. We hope future published material of The News on this area will reflect the intensity of efforts here to renew and to revitalize.

Vocational Teachers Install Paul Miller As President for '67

Paul Miller, vocational agriculture teacher at Maytown high school, was installed Saturday at Morehead State University as the new president of the Eastern Kentucky Vocational Teachers Association.

Mr. Miller was graduated from Berea College in January, 1965, and came to Maytown the following September. He is a native of Greenup county, and resides at Langley with his wife, Sue, a Berea College student from Sylvia, North Carolina.

In his two years at Maytown Mr. Miller has developed an active Future Farmers of America program which has brought many honors to its members and recognition to the school.

Ky. State Police, Attys. To Observe Law Day on May 1

Kentucky State Police and local attorneys will observe May 1 as Law Day throughout Kentucky. This day, which is sponsored by the American Bar Association, is an endeavor to strengthen the local bar and police relations.

The hoped for result of this initial program is an idea and suggestion exchange that will come about as representatives of the Bar and Law Enforcement Agencies exchange thought.

Local police organizations have been asked to join in this program by opening their stations to interested citizens.

All Kentucky State Police posts are observing the day by holding open house, with an invitation extended to all interested persons wishing to attend.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Reid, of Price, Ky., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mabel Deane Reid, to Mr. Tommy Ray Woods, son of Mrs. Florence Woods Bussey, of Allen, Kentucky. Miss Reid is a sophomore at Prestonsburg Community College. Mr. Woods is in the Air Force. A June wedding is planned.

South Shore Girl Bride of Nunnery

Announcement has been made of the recent marriage of Miss Anita F. Mercer, South Shore, Ky., to James H. Nunnery, Jr., Portsmouth, Ohio.

The young couple was married on April 3, in First Church of God, Wise, Virginia, by the Rev. Charles Estep.

Mrs. Nunnery is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mercer, is a graduate of McKell high school and King's Daughters' hospital Nursing School, Ashland, Ky. She is employed at Mercy hospital, Portsmouth.

The bridegroom, son of the late James H. Nunnery, Sr., Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Frank Purdy, Portsmouth, is a graduate of South Portsmouth high school and Kentucky School of Mortuary Science, Louisville. He has been employed at Carmen Funeral Home, Russell and Flatwoods, Kentucky.

ENDICOTT

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Elste and daughters, of Baltimore, Maryland, visited here recently and picked up Mrs. Elste's mother and sister, Mrs. Lucy Reed and Mary Keathley, and took them on a sight-seeing trip through Washington, D. C., Maryland, Arlington Cemetery and other places of interest.

Sidney Reed, of Endicott, was called to Williamson, W. Va., April 1, because of the death of his mother, Mrs. Elzie Reed.

Game Harvest Survey Scheduled May 1st

If you have a hunter in your household, the Department of Fish and Wildlife wants to know about him.

In an effort to determine the amount of various species of game harvested statewide last year, the Department will begin a telephone survey, May 1. A battery of telephone operators will call Kentucky residents during afternoon and evening hours from 5 to 9 p.m.

If a hunter is present in a household and wishes to cooperate with the Department in the game harvest survey, he will be mailed a questionnaire which he should fill in and return to the Department of Fish & Wildlife (postage will be paid by the Department). The questionnaire, which will list many species of game which are hunted in Kentucky, will request that the hunter state the number of times he has hunted during the last year. The survey will not end until at least 2,500 persons have been contacted.
