

Plan Talks On Problem At 2 Dams

Dewey Silt Dams Held Acceptable But Funds Short

Net result of the report (July 5, Floyd County Times) by the U.S. Geological Survey that Dewey and Fishtrap lakes are silting in at from three to seven times the normal rate is the announcement that Kentucky natural resources officials plan to meet with Army Corps of Engineers representatives later this summer to discuss the situation.

Dave Rosenbaum, director of water resources for the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, indicated the meeting will be held to discuss how silt from strip-mining operations can be prevented from filling the two impoundments.

Meanwhile, the Corps of Engineers has under consideration a proposal that silt dams be built in the headwaters section of the lake to halt the inflow of silt.

"As far as I know, the Corps has accepted the silt dam concept but is short of funds," Dean Murray, Dewey Reservoir manager said.

Fishtrap is losing about 150 million gallons of storage capacity a year, the new study shows, while Dewey Lake is losing 47 million gallons a year.

The study showed that the amount of silt flowing into the two reservoirs ranged from 2,890 to 21,000 tons per square mile where strip mining predominated, compared with 732 to 3,470 tons in areas where there are mainly underground mines.

Rosenbaum said the Corps has periodically surveyed the two water impoundments and knew that they were filling with sediment. The projects were designed to handle a certain amount of

2 Drivers Draw $500 Fines Each

Two men were fined $500 each July 5 by district court juries on drunk driving charges, and another, facing the rare charge of negligent operation of a motor-propelled boat, drew a fine of $140 and costs.

Those who received the heavy drunk driving fines were Phillip Blankenship and Elmer Franklin Fields.

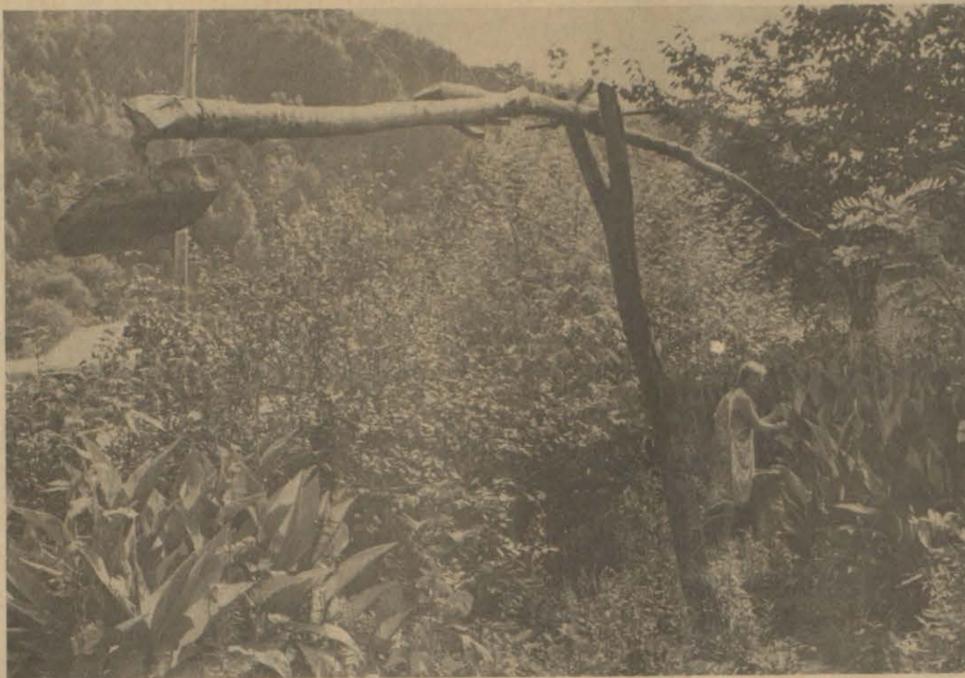

Dale Elam was the defendant in the motorboat operation case.

Other convictions at the court session: Willmer Conn, drunk driving, plea of guilty, $50 fine and 10 days in jail, term to be served from Friday through Sunday of each week till satisfied; Larry Prater, reckless driving, jury trial, $100 and costs; Danny Allen, drunkenness, jury trial, $100 and costs and 30 days in jail.

Cases continued included these:

John C. Combs, no headgear and no motorcycle operator's license; Robert D. Friend, drunk driving, cash bond forfeited; Ishmael Little, failing to stop at the scene of an accident; Timothy A. Slone, reckless driving, bond forfeiture; Paul A. Steffey, reckless driving, bond forfeited; Foster D. Blankenship, drunk; Timothy Crum, drinking; Frank Hamilton, drunk; Terry Thacker, disorderly conduct.

The drunk charge against Randall Stuart was dismissed on motion of the county attorney.

Federal, County Funds To Build Shop Br. Bridge

A bridge will be built over the Left Fork of Beaver Creek on the Shop Branch road (CR 1231, also known as Cushman Road) near KY 122, it was announced this week by state Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson, who said he expects the work to be completed this December.

The project will be funded 70 per cent with federal funds, the remainder by county road aid money.

The federal cost share of the project comes out of the Off-System Federal-Aid Highway Program established three years ago to help state and local governments improve roads and bridges which were previously ineligible for federal-aid highway money.

Matching support for the project comes from funds allocated to Floyd county under the state's 1978-79 County Road Aid Program.

The program, established in 1936 to help local governments maintain their county road systems, is administered by the Division of Rural and Municipal Aid in the state Bureau of Highways. It is financed with a portion of the 9-cent tax collected on each gallon of motor fuel sold in Kentucky.

Trial of Hall May Be Delayed

Last of the murder trials docketed prior to the beginning of the September criminal term of circuit court appeared this week to be headed for a continuance.

Randy Hall is scheduled for trial, beginning tomorrow (Thursday), for the slaying on Mud Creek of Charlene Varney, but Public Defender Gary Johnson is expected to ask a continuance if State Police Sgt. Gary Rose is unavailable as a defense witness. Rose is attending the FBI academy this month.

Two Floyd Clubs Dominate 16 Annual Awards Program

Floyd county community development clubs dominated the 16th annual awards program of the Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association (NEKRCD) Saturday at Ashland, taking top honors in two of three categories.

Communities from 12 Eastern Kentucky counties were judged in the village category, rural farm and non-farm categories and of the various clubs taking part in the competition, it was Weeksbury and David which took the top awards in the rural non-farm and village categories, respectively.

Winner in the rural farm category was the Pleasant Hill-Rattlesnake Ridge club of Carter county. Taking a red ribbon in this category was the relatively young Endicott Community Development Club of this county.

In the village category, the David club eked out a one-point victory over the activities of West Liberty and a four-point advantage over the third-place Carter county community of Hitchens. The David club was cited for its efforts during the past year, including the publication of a monthly newsletter, recreation for all ages, establishment of a non-profit housing project, social and educational programs, policy-making committee involving home owners in decision making, establishment of new water system and a day-care program.

The Weeksbury community, often a winner in the rural non-farm category, was cited for assisting in the establishment of a community fire department, community carnival, sending 135 youth to 4-H camp, making repairs on playground, yearly activities for all age groups, establishing a welcoming committee, community chapel, and making repairs on the community center. Weeksbury won over second place Thelma, of Johnson county.

Thirty persons from Floyd were among the 250 community leaders from all over the northeast region who attended the meet held at the Ashland Community College auditorium. Dorothy Clark, of the David club, was elected second vice-president of NEKRCD for the coming year.

NEKRCD was founded in 1961 as a joint effort between the Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce, Second National Bank of Ashland, Kentucky Power Company, and the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

This Town...That World

If the heat gets to you, leaving you to complain and to pant like the hart after the water brook, I suggest you take a look at a picture we're printing elsewhere in this edition. It will take you back some months to a time when a sizeable part of the population would have welcomed a mild sunstroke.

COMING

Our neighbor, George Brown, has listened with a great deal of patience to fish stories from his neighbor, and now he gets into the act. His story of big river catfish will appear next week.

LAND, HO!

At the rate it's going, Dewey Lake should eventually be ready for housing developments, plant sites and even swimming pools if you'll bring the water with you.

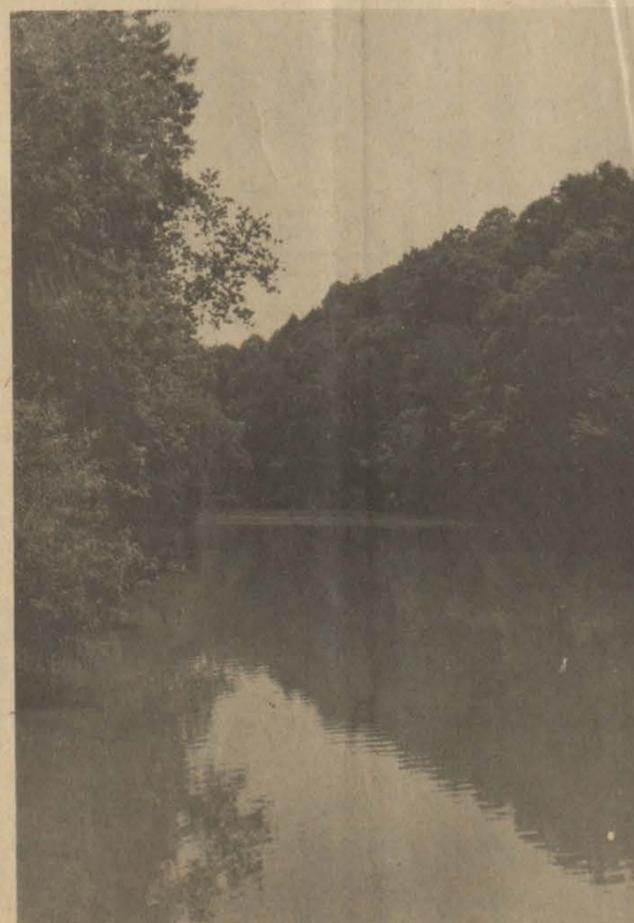

DISSATISFIED CUSTOMERS

Lenna Moore finally dragged in one that doesn't have to be cleaned up before publication, so here it is:

He tells of the two numbskulls who bought a chain saw, and weren't satisfied with it at all. Came back to the dealer, a week later, worn to a frazzle and declaring they could saw more wood by hand, with a crosscut, than with that contraption. "Too heavy to pull," they complained.

What they said when the dealer pulled the cord has not been recorded.

Cut in Spending Voted To Even School Budget

In a continuing effort to eliminate existing deficit, the Floyd County Board of Education voted at its monthly meeting last week to undertake no new construction projects for a period of one year.

Supt. of Schools E. P. Grigsby said the cooperation of the people will be needed during the "moratorium" period. "This action does not stop any work under way but does call a halt on new projects," he explained.

A major item on the board's agenda for the meeting, shortest of the year, was the pupil immunization program. The board was firm in the policy immunization before they will be permitted to enroll for kindergarten and for the first and eighth grades.

The board of education is cooperating with the Floyd County Health Department in the immunization effort, and clinics are being scheduled, countywide. Health department nurses will be permitted to go into the schools for immunization of first-grade pupils. It was also pointed out that parents may take their children to private physicians for immunization, and that the pupils will be admitted to school upon presentation of the doctor's certificate.

Conversion of the Head Start program for disadvantaged children, ages 3 and 4, to a full-year program will be made in time, it was said, for the program to begin in late September or early October. Head Start for the coming school year will cover a period of about eight months. Temporary plans made by the board provide for the transport of such pupils by school buses.

The board discussed the purchase through Title I of a computer, in cooperation with the Johnson board and others, in an effort to update their finance departments.

Two persons were temporarily employed—Donna Durham, to replace for two weeks Gene Wright as NYC supervisor, and Glenn Hackworth as replacement for Ralph O'Quinn as summertime janitor at the Garrett school.

State Leases Location Here For New Office

A suite of three rooms in the old Prestonsburg General Hospital building has been leased by the state as the location of the new Office of Inter-Agency Relations planned by Governor Carroll. It was announced this week by State Representative James "Jitter" Allen.

The office, one of five planned over Kentucky and designed to serve as a direct link between the people and the governor's office, will open around August 1, if a director can be found by that date, Allen said.

Governor Carroll said during a recent visit here that he is ready to open the office when a location was found for it and when personnel was available.

The office is planned to serve the Eastern Kentucky region.

There is a possibility, it was said, that the office will later be permanently located in the new municipal building now under construction here.

The regional office staff is expected to employ three at its opening. Further expansion would depend upon the need for added services.

Martin Water Supply Lost in Tank Break

While the town of Martin was winding up its July 4 celebration it suffered another blow from water—not by flood, as in 1977 and other years, but by a lack of it.

The 75,000 gallon reservoir supplying the town gave way, the afternoon of the 4th. A section of approximately six feet in length ruptured—a victim, Bob Hackworth, water system superintendent, said, of old age. The steel reservoir had been in use since 1947.

And the water system did not function again until last Sunday when repair of the tank was completed. In addition to homes and businesses, Our Lady of the Way Hospital and its patients faced a disturbing situation.

But U. S. Army Corps of Engineers personnel at Dewey Dam were in Martin, Hackworth said, within an hour and continued to supply drinking water to residents. Four tanker-trailers and two trucks from the dam continued supplying water to Martin till the reservoir break was mended.

"I don't know what we would have done without their help," Hackworth said. He added that a request for water was made to the Beaver Elkhorn Water district but that he was told the district did not have sufficient water to meet the situation.

J. C. Wells, water district manager, said Beaver Elkhorn has plenty water but that at the time of the Martin emergency one of its two intake pumps was not functioning and was undergoing repair.

A new and larger reservoir is being installed by the Martin system. A road was being built this week to the hillside site for the larger 125,000-gallon tank which will soon be ready for service, it was said.

Fiscal Court Approves Sale Of Akers TV

Rumors of the impending sale by Everett Akers, of Martin, of his television transmission holdings were confirmed by the appearance at Tuesday's fiscal court meeting of Paul Gearheart, of Harold, asking the court's approval of the purchase of Akers & Son TV and other wholly owned Akers corporations.

The court, which recently was barred by Akers' injunction from accepting bids on cable television franchises over the county, approved the sale. It reserved the right to accept or reject any future bids for franchises.

The court's approval was necessary, it was explained, because its 1974 ordinance governing TV systems in the county provided that cable ownership transfers must be approved by the court.

The court record indicated that the Akers holdings are being purchased in the name of TEL-CON. There was no indication of the amount involved in the transaction, nor was it confirmed by either Mr. Akers or Mr. Gearheart.

The Harold man already has extensive television cable holdings and is president of the Harold Telephone Company.

County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones was on vacation at the time of the meeting, and Magistrate Ray Wilcox was named by Magistrates Kenneth Roberts, Eddie Caudill and Herschell Hamilton to preside.

The court also authorized County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. to advise

Children's Park Here Slated For Planning Later This Year

Development of acreage in the head of Trimble Branch here as a park for children, as directed in the bequest made to the city of Prestonsburg by the late Monte Scott Harkins, will reach the planning stage later this year, it was indicated this week by Mayor Harold Cooley.

Mr. Harkins conveyed to the city 44 acres in the Trimble Branch area and unsold lots in the Highlands Addition overlooking Prestonsburg, stipulating that the acreage was to be used only as a park primarily for the enjoyment of children. The bequest was made in memory of his late wife, Harriett Mosley Harkins, and his boyhood friend, the late William Dudley McHone.

Mayor Cooley said that early discussions of what may be done with the property have considered hiking or nature trails, maintenance of a bird sanctuary, marking of trees and flower-bearing plants by a botanist for nature study by children, with picnic areas.

The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, he said, is the only source of funds for the project, and "they're hard to come by, just now."

Dr. George A. Harkins, Norfolk, Va., surgeon, and a brother of Monte Scott Harkins, has expressed a deep interest in conversion of the area to a park in conformance with his brother's wishes, and has indicated he will try to help with it.

Mayor Cooley said the city has been centering its attention on restoration of Archer Park after flood damage, a work which is nearing completion.

One Archer Park project funded by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, the construction of handball and racquet courts, has been advertised for bids and is expected to be completed before winter. The city received a $30,000 grant for this work.

Washington Dateline

Solzhenitsyn and the Hornet's Nest

By PHILIP CLARKE

There's certainly no question that the liberal pundits who dominate U.S. politics and the press can "dish it out." LBJ and the Vietnam War, Richard Nixon and Watergate, the FBI and the CIA...you name it...all have been whiplashed with the fervor of reformists in a den of iniquity.

But along comes Alexander Solzhenitsyn with some sharply pointed criticism of liberal excesses in America and the howls of outrage can be heard from the White House to the editorial board rooms of almost every news organization in the country. Are the liberals so used to "dishing it out" that they no longer can "take it"? Or is their sensitivity to Solzhenitsyn due to the fact that the truth can hurt? Especially when it's delivered by one of the most celebrated writers and profound thinkers of our times—one who cannot simply be ignored?

Rather than belaboring Solzhenitsyn as a mystical recluse out of touch with America and reality, his detractors would do better to weigh more carefully the words of this towering intellectual. Despite the relatively short time he has spent in the West since his exile from Russia Solzhenitsyn understands both worlds—East and West—far better than most other men of our times.

When, at Harvard, he warned that "the forces of evil" represented by Communism had begun their "decisive offensive", he spoke not only from years of anguished experience as a prisoner in Stalin's "Gulag" but as an indignant witness of the Free World's calamitous retreat before the onrush of Soviet power.

And when he indicted our materialistic society for its "loss of courage" and moral and spiritual decline, Solzhenitsyn was voicing a hope that we could be awakened from our "debilitating dream" of a world of continuing pleasure and pushbutton security safe from unpleasant reality.

Many Americans agreed with Solzhenitsyn when he inveighed against "the misuse of liberty for moral violence" and decried the exploitation of "pornography, crime and horror." At the same time, however, civil libertarians found it hard to swallow his admonition that "it is time...to defend not so much human rights as human obligations."

Predictably, Solzhenitsyn incurred Establishment wrath by noting the selective nature of its human rights crusade: punishment of the small and the weak; obliviousness to the systematic oppression practiced by the Communist powers. But the headlines bear him out: exorciation of the Chiles and South Korea; silence or head shakes at the monstrous violations of life and liberty in Communist Russia, China, Cuba and Indochina.

Nor did Solzhenitsyn win applause from chauvinists by noting "the weakening of human beings in the West while in the East they are becoming firmer and stronger." Yet perceptive visitors to Russia are awed by the physical and emotional ruggedness of the average individual, doctrinaire or dissident.

Solzhenitsyn really hit a raw nerve at Harvard when he charged "the U.S. anti-war movement" with involvement in the betrayal of Far Eastern nations in a genocide and in the suffering today imposed on 30 million people there."

"Do those convinced pacifists hear the moans coming from there?" he asked. "Do they understand their responsibility today? Or do they prefer not to hear?"

Indeed, one listens in vain for the protests of the Jane Fondas and George McGovern against the holocaust underway in Indochina.

Solzhenitsyn has received the greatest outpouring of venom for daring to criticize the Western news media for irresponsibility, for bias against "un-fashionable" thought and ideas, and for creation of "strong mass prejudices" and delusions which work "as a sort of petrified armor around people's minds." Yet, leading journalists themselves boast of having "turned the country around" on Vietnam, of having helped bring down two Presidents, Johnson and Nixon, and of having wreaked retribution on the CIA and FBI and the Pentagon "brass", among other favorite liberal targets.

Solzhenitsyn has been denounced also for wondering whether we would leave the comforts of home to defend even our own security in a distant land. And yet, a post-Vietnam survey by a leading independent polltaker found that by a slim majority Americans would be willing to send soldiers to the defense of only one other country, Canada.

Far from being a carping critic of democracy, as some offended American have labelled him, Solzhenitsyn has spoken forcefully because he DOES care deeply for us and for the freedom he feels we abuse or treat too lightly. The great Russian writer-philosopher sees all too clearly the end of Western civilization unless we face up to reality and the "forces of evil" before it is too late.

And it simply isn't enough for the First Lady, Mrs. Rosalyn Carter, to stand up and say, however sincerely, that Solzhenitsyn is wrong and that we are not threatened. The tide of events, and the soul of one of mankind's greatest writer-philosophers, tell otherwise.

Corn Farmers Reminded To Report Acreages

Floyd county farmers who have planted corn are reminded that now is the time to report the sizes and intended uses of their 1978 program acreages. J. P. Hill, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, said this week.

Final acreage certification dates for each crop are July 31.

"This acreage report is a little more detailed than others of recent years because the program assistance for farmers is more extensive," Mr. Hill said. "The benefits also are available to farmers who are growing the crops but not participating in the set-aside programs, if they will report their acreages."

Needed in the report at the ASCS county office, are:

—The 1978 crops and acreages planted and the uses to be made of these crops.

—Crops and acreages of set-aside and those diverted for payment.

Hill said the county ASCS office will make random checks of farms to verify that acreage reports are accurate and also make aerial photographs available for farmers to identify their fields.

Eminent Domain Becomes An Imminent Threat

The right of eminent domain is an authority granted government to enable it to make certain improvements for the public benefit. Without it, one recalcitrant landowner could bar the construction of a highway designed to serve a sizeable section of a state, or even the entire state.

But, as so often happens with the creation of a beneficial law, its original design is sometimes almost unrecognizable. There are few laws on the statute books that did not have in their favor a very real justification when they were first enacted. Much of the bureaucracy that threatens now to choke the nation grew out of law that was almost an absolute necessity at the time it became law.

Eminent domain likewise has fed on its own strength and extended its range till it is a stranger in some of its aspects to what it was in the days when the power of law was necessary to get railroads and highways built for the development of the nation.

Now, dams that later become recognized as useless, if not actually harmful, are constructed as this law, by the condemnation process, uproots families, drives them from their homes and the acres that the lakes to be formed will cover. And the state, building highways, extends the power of the law beyond that of acquiring necessary right-of-way for the roads themselves to include lands along those highways, for possible—just possible—use in some distant future.

It is true that Eastern Kentucky must have a varied industry if it is not to be tied irrevocably to coal mining and to fade when that industry ends, as inevitably it will, some day. This variety of industry requires industrial sites, and so it is natural that leaders look for level land on which later to build manufacturing plants, or whatever.

But does even this need justify entrance upon private property at a time when such a plant or industry is no more than a dream, or a gleam in the planner's eye?

We hear so much of human rights, these days. What of the rights of those who have owned the land, and worked it, and paid taxes on it, and are rooted deep in it when the state comes claiming that that land is needed for a plant site, or some other development, which not yet is even on paper but years down the road?

If the right of eminent domain indeed has such power, whose holdings, if they are level and desirable, can be said to be beyond danger of being commandeered under the law?

silt, but not for excessive sediment caused by erosion, he said.

It would take many years for the flood storage capacity of the two reservoirs to be affected by the silt buildup. The more immediate problem is how the sediment affects the recreational value of the two lakes, he said.

"As you have ever larger sediment deposits you get mud flats," Rodsenbaum said. "The lakes staying muddy for a larger percentage of the time decreases their attractiveness for recreation."

He said excessive sediment can seriously affect fish, plants and other aquatic life.

Although concern about silt buildup in the reservoirs is renewed periodically when a new report appears, the problem has not been effectively controlled to date, he said.

In fact, neither the Corps nor state officials have undertaken, jointly or separately, to control the situation.—Editor.

Rosenbaum said, however, that enforcement of the new federal strip mine law, which contains more stringent standards, could help alleviate the erosion and siltation problem.

Jim Villines, director of standards and specifications for the Department's Bureau of Surface Mining and Reclamation, said there is no way for the state to attack the entire problem by trying to pinpoint who caused the buildup.

"It's impossible to say 'X' operator contributed 'X' amount of sediment," he said.

"The only basis on which we can take action is through new federal water quality standards" which became effective May 3, he said.

Villines said that if the new federal strip mining standards had been in effect and enforced throughout the history of mining in Eastern Kentucky, there would not have been a problem of excessive sediment in the two lakes.

Preliminary Reports Supplied to Council

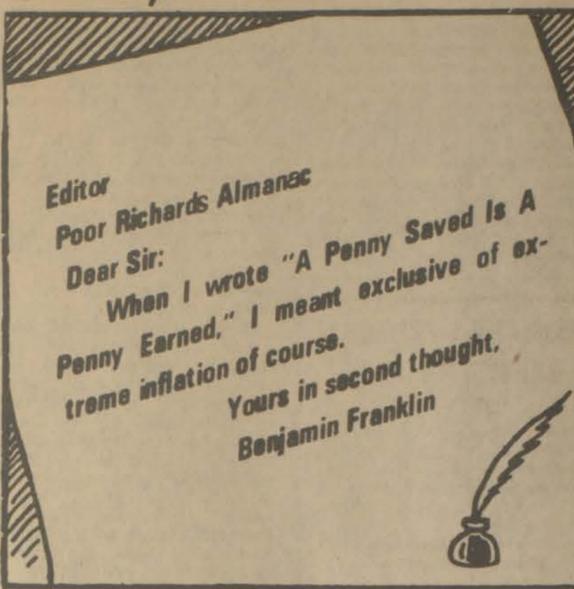

On Three Projects

Preliminary reports were supplied the Prestonsburg City Council at its meeting last Thursday by Clay Collins, city engineer.

One report dealt with the location of the proposed animal shelter to be built in the area of the former city waste disposal plot on the old Middle Creek road. The shelter has been relocated but is on the same property. The other reports were on a slide correction in Archer Park and a walkway in the park.

Clifford Bevins was appointed to the Board of Adjustments, succeeding Earl Martin. Two bookkeepers were employed. One, Brenda Hayes, has already begun work; the other, Mary Jo Hereford, will begin work next Monday.

Letters to the Editor

On Human Rights

In 1851 a Women's Rights convention was held in Akron, Ohio. That convention is remembered primarily for the strong, moving words spoken by an illiterate black woman—Sojourner Truth, a woman who had spent her first forty years a slave. She dedicated the next forty to denouncing the sins committed against her people. She was a fervent feminist and an ardent abolitionist.

The Akron convention of 1851 was attended by a number of local clergymen—some interested observers, most were belligerent intruders—who heatedly argued on Biblical and religious grounds against the women's claims for equal rights. Since few women present dared to contradict men of the cloth, the preachers seemingly were getting the better of the feminists. Then—tall, gaunt and dignified, Sojourner Truth rose from the far corner of the room and said, "Well, children, where there is so much racket there must be something out of kilter. I think that 'twixt the Negroes of the South and the women at the north, all talking about rights, the white man will be in a fix pretty soon. But what's all this here talking about?"

"That man over there says that women need to be helped into carriages, and lifted over ditches, and to have the best place everywhere. Nobody ever helps me into carriages, or over mud puddles, or gives me any best place! And ain't I a woman? Look at me! Look at my arm! I have ploughed and planted, and gathered into barns, and no man could head me! And ain't I a woman? I could work as much and eat as much as a man—when I could get it—and bear the lash as well! And ain't I a woman? I have borne thirteen children, and seen most sold off to slavery, and when I cried out with my mother's grief, none but Jesus heard me! And ain't I a woman?"

"Then that little man in black there, he says that women can't have as much rights as men, 'cause Christ wasn't a woman! Where did your Christ come from? Where did your Christ come from? From God and a woman! Man had nothing to do with him."

"If the first woman God ever made was strong enough to turn the world upside down all alone, these women together ought to be able to turn it back, and get it right side up again! And now they is asking to do it. The men better let them!"

Who was she NOT equal to?
My fight for human rights was thrust upon me when I arrived in Ohio at the close of WW2 and discovered (because I was what they called a Kentucky Hillbilly) I didn't have any human rights. I, in the presence of my God, pledged myself to fight for human rights and the dignity of all people as long as I live.

If, in the eyes of many this makes me a "kook," a "pervert," an "unread or depraved person," then so be it. I reckon they called my Christ a lot worse than that before they crucified him.

In Appreciation

On behalf of the Floyd County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, Mrs. Lida Howard, chairperson, and I want to thank the citizens of our community for the splendid support of radiothon. The $8,500 pledged signifies our community concern in the fight against cancer. We would be remiss if we failed to offer a specific thank you to Gorman Collins and radio station WDOC for the total commitment of this station to this effort, to the hundreds of volunteers who offered talent, and time to make radiothon possible; to the local businesses who donated food to sustain the staff of WDOC and the volunteers; and to the Floyd County Times for its faithful support of the American Cancer Society's work.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, who suffered a broken hip and arm in a fall at the entrance of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, Sunday, July 2, is progressing nicely at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, where she was taken soon after the accident. Mrs. Rasnick's room number is 432. Her sister, Mrs. Bill Pettrey, and Mr. Pettrey remain there with her.

Thanks to Rescue Squad

We thank the Left Beaver Rescue Squad for coming to our aid so promptly July 1. The Squad wasted no time getting to our injured son, in the hills near our home. When they failed to find a surgeon on call at two hospitals near home, they drove on to Prestonsburg where there was a surgeon on call.

We are asking all citizens of this county to recognize what a great benefit the Left Beaver Rescue Squad is in times of tragedy. Please stand by them.

We also thank Freddie Carter for going to our son and staying with him till help arrived.

Lauds Mr. Frazier

The recent resignation of Chalmer H. Frazier, president of the Highlands Regional Medical Center, came to me as a shock. I have known Mr. Frazier for only five short years; and, perhaps, he is the most outstanding, dedicated person I have ever met. Our Medical Center is the end-product of more than a quarter-century of hard work by Mr. Frazier. As John Stewart Mills said, "All good things which exist are the fruits of originality." Mr. Frazier is an original, unselfish, public servant, and I wish to publicly thank him for all that he has done for the many people who have been and will be served by the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Scotia Widows Reply

On June 23 many local and city newspapers throughout the coalfields ran a news story from the Associated Press on the appeal of a $60 million damage suit against Blue Diamond Coal Company by widows of 15 coal miners killed on March 9, 1976. The Associated Press article stated that "Each of the widows received about $80,000 in workmen's compensation payments."

This article was false. We would like the public to know the truth. The truth is that the amount of benefits received to this date for ourselves and our children comes very short of being $80,000. The actual amount received comes to about 1/4 of the amount stated in the article.

The workmen's compensation benefits paid to this date are approximately $10,500 (the amount varies by family size). There was, also, a $1,500 Burial Fund.

We would like the public to know that compensation benefits are the same in Kentucky whether you are a SCOTIA WIDOW or another coal miner's widow. Statement by Scotia Widows, June 26, 1978.

Job Well Done

For the past year there have been excellent articles in our county newspapers on Alcoholism by A. K. Webb. "Anita," who is leaving the area, will be greatly missed, not only as an outstanding journalist, but a fine, young Christian one who has an open mind, willing to learn. She has such a warm, personal feeling for alcoholics and their families.

In the June 28 issue of the Floyd County Times was an especially fine interview Anita had had recently with Moultrie McIntosh, of St. James Episcopal Church in Prestonsburg.

Father McIntosh is quite an addition to our community. And the fact that he takes an active interest in alcoholics and their families means much to us and to many others.

We would like to know that more of our clergymen, doctors and teachers would become more active participants in this field.

Perkins Asks Expanded Programs

Congressman Carl D. Perkins has made a strong plea for expansion of economic development programs "which provide public facilities that the people in small towns and rural communities need."
 Testifying as the lead-off witness before a House Public Works subcommittee with jurisdiction over the Economic Development Administration, Congressman Perkins said that programs which result in badly needed water systems and sewer systems, and other public facilities, were "anti-inflation," because they took people off welfare and got them into private employment.
 He also pointed out that the end result was a facility that benefited an entire community and encouraged industrial development.
 "I was glad to note that included among the applicants who would be eligible for grants in the legislation I support are school districts, and other non-profit organizations which can successfully initiate and complete a project," he said. "School construction and rehabilitation needs in my part of the country are immense, and many of the counties just do not have the economic base to provide the revenues for construction and repair at anywhere near the level of what is needed, so if the final act includes provisions for school systems, you will have ensured a very valid and efficient use of whatever funds are appropriated," Congressman Perkins said.

 "I do want to also say that this committee should watch out for two things which could result in inequities that no one should want, and that I am sure no one on this committee wants," he said.
 "First of all, the ultimate legislation should ensure that no communities are discriminated against because they are small. Urban simply means city—not a large city, not a small city, but a city, and it is just unfair and inequitable for any program to discriminate against residents of a small city. They are equally entitled to a decent water system, and a decent sewer system, and all of the other facilities which help make life of the average American better," Congressman Perkins said.
 "Next, I would like to reemphasize a point I made previously, and that is—the statistics on unemployment, so far as rural areas are concerned, are totally inaccurate, and many, many communities and counties are being short-changed through inaccurate counting of unemployment in rural areas. I hope that this legislation can leave the Economic Development Administration some leeway when it comes to evaluation of unemployment in small towns and rural counties," he said.
 Congressman Perkins also called for continuation of the Public Works Jobs Program.

"You have all of the evidence you need in the billions and billions of dollars worth of projects—good projects—which were unable to be funded in Round 1 and Round 2 he said.
 Congressman Perkins also asked for consideration of the idea of long-range economic development plans for poorer, rural communities.
 "Those plans, which would cover a variety of projects, in order of priority, over four or five years would, to my way of thinking, be the most effective and efficient use of economic development appropriations," he said.

Combined Incomes
To Help Determine
GI Qualifications

Because the high cost of real estate today may keep some married veterans from seeking GI home loans, the Veterans Administration wants veterans to know their spouse's salary can be counted in computing the loan amount for which they may qualify.

VA policy considers the full combined income of both the veteran and spouse when the income of the veteran alone is not sufficient to qualify for the amount of the loan.

The same standards applied to the income of the veteran are applied to that of the spouse. The type and duration of employment will determine if the income of either or both can be considered reliable for the relatively long term of loan payments.

The VA exercises judgment and discretion based on facts in particular cases. No hard and fast rules apply. Potential family growth is no longer considered by VA in determining income for loan purposes, and VA has been successful in discouraging lender solicitation from veterans or their wives regarding child bearing capability.

Complete information on GI loans can be obtained at VA regional offices, local veterans service organizations and state county service organizations and state county service officers.

Air Pollution Workers Busy During Summer

When Kentucky's air just won't come clean and temperatures refuse to drop, workers in the state Division of Air Pollution Control can't take the time to catch their breaths. "It's been hectic around here lately," said field surveillance chief Bill Clements. "Our field workers, especially in the problem areas, have been working especially hard during these past couple of weeks."

Clements is in charge of indexing the air pollution in six industrial cities—Ashland, Henderson, Lexington, Newport, Owensboro and Paducah. Each of the six cities has a primary field station to record data for the pollution index.

The index is based on the National Ambient Air Quality Standards set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and provides readings of four pollutants—ozone, sulphur dioxide, carbon monoxide and total suspended particulates.

On this scale, an index reading of 100 indicates the highest acceptable level of pollution. Any index number beyond 100 indicates that the air is unhealthy. If the index reading reaches 200, it means that the air is very unhealthy and an alert is issued.

"When we issue an alert, the division also puts into effect an emergency emissions reduction plan whereby industries which emit hydrocarbons are asked to reduce emissions by 25 percent," said Clements.

So far this year, Jefferson county has been issued four alerts by the division.

If air conditions go beyond the alert stage to warning or emergency conditions, the divisions can require maximum reduction or closing of pollution sources.

When air pollution reaches the "unhealthy" level, Clements and his co-workers have found that their work load involves much more than indexing. They must console, comfort and inform the public to the best of their ability.

We've had several calls from emphysema and heart patients wanting to know what procedures to take when ozone levels are as bad as they have been," said Clements. "The best advice I can give them is to reduce physical activity and stay in air conditioning during the afternoon and evening hours," he said.

Ozone, which has accounted for unhealthy readings in Louisville, Henderson, Lexington, Newport and Owensboro this year, increases as sunlight and automobile traffic exhaust increases. Therefore, between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. air pollution caused by ozone is also at its peak.

"We try to stress the importance of car pooling, using mass transit facilities or simply not driving at all when there is high concentration of ozone," said Clements.

When asked if he had any other suggestions for coping with air pollution this summer Clements said, "Just ask the public to pray for some rain."

RESPIRATORY ILLS ARE THIRD-LARGEST KILLER

NEW YORK—Respiratory diseases were responsible for 5.9 per cent of the natural deaths among owners of ordinary life-insurance policies in 1976, the American Council of Life Insurance says.

Heart disease and cancer were the leading causes of death.

Guard To Train At Camp Shelby

More than 3,000 Kentucky Army Guardsmen are set for two weeks of annual training at Camp Shelby, Miss., with the main body leaving the state July 7.

Adjutant General Billy G. Wellman said that most units from eastern and central Kentucky will be in the initial group, while armor units from western Kentucky will follow a week later.

The Kentucky's assistant adjutant general for Army, will serve as the troop commander. "This is the high point of our training year," Wellman said, "because it gives us a chance to work in the field for extended periods, we'll be operating and coordinating just as we would in an actual situation."

Units from across Kentucky will be participating and some will be training at Camp Shelby for the first time. The contingent will include mechanized infantry units and engineers from eastern Kentucky, military police from Louisville, armor from western Kentucky, and various support units from other areas.

Several high Pentagon officials, including the chief of the National Guard Bureau, are expected to visit the Kentucky troops, and Gov. Julian Carroll has scheduled a visit in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the Kentucky Guard.

Akers Family Reunion

Guests of honor at reunion.

The last Saturday in May was a special day for the Akers family when the descendants of Tolbert and Polly Sturgeon Akers celebrated the first reunion of the family. A pot-luck dinner was served at the home of Carmel Lee Akers on Branham's Creek at Grethel. Descendants from each of the children of Tolbert and Polly Akers were urged to be present to represent their ancestors.

Guests of honor were Gustavus Adolphus Akers, Jr. and Elsie Akers, who came from their home in Arizona to help celebrate the reunion. "Gus" is a great-grandson of Tolbert and Polly Sturgeon Akers. They raised his father who went West in earlier days. This was the first time that Gus Akers and his wife had met their relatives in the East. After learning about three years ago that they had kinsfolk in Kentucky, they decided that "now is the time." During their week's stay at the home of Carmel Lee Akers, a cousin, they were able to visit a number of relatives including Fannie Akers Skaggs, of Chestnut Creek in Johnson county.

Others who were present at the reunion were: Anna Florence Keathley, Hazel Joyce Caldwell, Norma Akers, Eddie Akers, Christa Akers, Towana Frasure, Teresa Lynn Frasure, Chandra Frasure, Laura Akers, Carl Akers, Carlos Dean Akers, Anna Sue Akers, Jennifer Akers, DaVaughn Akers, Lowell Keigh Akers, and Emma Tackett, of Harold; Stella C. Akers, Nickie Carol Hall and Roxanne Renee Hall and Pearl Martin, of Galveston; Elma McKinney, Elva McKinney, Berry Akers, Lexie Akers, Oliver Newman, Ruth Tackett, Dora Lou Roberts, James D. Roberts, Michael Roberts, Jody Dean Roberts, Shirley Temple Hamilton, James S. Roberts, Fonoa Dean Akers, Lee Akers, Verdine Akers, Ronnie D. Allen, Glenna Jean Allen, Hugh Winston Akers, Judy Akers, Melissa Akers, Ishmael Akers and Ricky Akers, all of Grethel; Russell Frasure, and Noah C. Frasure, of Ashland; Ijellan Akers and Kevin Dean Akers, of Catlettsburg; Andy Akers, Jackson, Ohio; Leonard and Rugh Martin, of Lexington; Betty McKinney, George McKinney and James McKinney, of Barnabas, W. Va.; Chaloe Anne Maynard and Charlie M. Robertson, of Lick Creek, W. Va.; Donald Walden and Joyce M. Walden, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Thomas Newberry White, Jr. and IM-NEZ S. White, of Amherst, West Virginia.

The oldest Akers descendants present were Lee Alley, 85, and Lizzie Alley, 84, of Branham's Creek.

COAST GUARD ALERTS BOATERS TO CARBON MONOXIDE DANGER

With the 1978 boating season under way, the U.S. Coast Guard renewed its warnings of the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning on cabin cruisers and houseboats equipped with gasoline engines.

Often, a back current of carbon monoxide-laden air is pulled into a moving boat, the Coast Guard's Office of Boating Safety points out. The office's chief technician, Captain Jack Coulter, says that result can be deadly, and that the onset of carbon monoxide poisoning often is not noticed until the victim is too groggy to recognize the danger.

"Upon the slightest smell of exhaust fumes in a cabin, open the forward ports, windows or doors as wide as possible," Coulter advises.

Capt. Coulter recommends that boat operators acquaint themselves with the availability of inexpensive, throw-away carbon monoxide indicators. The indicator is a small plastic square with a brownish, coated spot in the center which changes color when exposed to air containing carbon monoxide. The degree of color change depends on the concentration of carbon monoxide.

A Pikeville contractor testified last Friday that the state should not suspend two of his firms for two years from bidding on stone delivery contracts in Floyd and seven other Eastern Kentucky counties.

Stuart H. Adams, president of Adams Construction Corp. and Adams Stone Corp., acknowledged his two firms failed to meet delivery requirements on some of the 19 stone contracts cancelled by the state on May 22.

But he told an administrative officer hearing an appeal of the action that the state must share the blame.

"I think it's a mutual failure of the (part of the) highway department (the state Bureau of Highways) and myself," Adams said.

Hearing officer George Sale heard over two hours of testimony from Adams and Department of Transportation officials. He said later he doesn't know when he'll make his recommendations to Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson.

Sale could recommend that the May 22 action remain intact, that it be modified or that it be reversed. Grayson will make the final decision.

Danny L. Shearer, DOT director of purchases, testified that of the some 95,000 tons of stone to be delivered under contracts with Adams, about 50,000 tons remain to be delivered. The contracts cover a period from 1973 through this year.

Adams, under questioning by DOT attorney Lewis Jones, testified that he is not protesting the cancellation of the contracts, but is protesting removal of his firms as eligible bidders. The May 22 action included suspending Adams' firms from bidding on stone delivery projects in several counties for a period of two years.

When questioned by his firms' attorney, William Young, Adams expressed a willingness to fulfill the terms of the contracts.

Adams also testified that a railroad car shortage contributed to his delivery problems. He said his firms are getting 50 cars a week instead of 50 a day.

Another factor in the delay, Adams said, has been the severity of the winter weather during the past two years. However, a DOT official countered that many of the delivery requests were made in non-winter months.

Study Offers Hope For Bicyclists Here

Prestonsburg area bicyclists who have come to feel frustrated and almost overwhelmed at the prospect of maneuvering their two-wheelers through city streets which seem to swell daily with more and more auto and truck traffic may have reason for hope.

A bikeway study for Prestonsburg is now being conducted by the Kentucky Department of Transportation's Division of Urban and Regional Planning, according to Susan Johnson, Archer Park administrator.

In conjunction with the state study, a special bikeway committee has been formed to establish the needs and priorities relating to bicycle facilities in Prestonsburg. "The Kentucky Department of transportation will then look at the committee's findings and examine possible routes from the viewpoint of safety and accessibility," Miss Johnson pointed out.

The next meeting of the Prestonsburg Bikeway Committee is scheduled for July 13 at 1:30 p.m. at the Archer Park office. The meet is open to all bicycle enthusiasts as well as other interested citizens.

ENTERTAINS TO DINNER

Mrs. Julia Harrington entertained to dinner at Jerry's following church services, Sunday, Mrs. Ruth Isbell and Mrs. Barbara Moore and sons, Robbie and Joe.

Without those two problems he could have met the delivery requirements of the contracts, Adams said.

Adams also said demand for stone has been extremely heavy and that most of the rocks from the firms' Letcher county quarry go to the highway bureau.

"What we have tried to make clear," Young told the hearing officer, "is the fact that failure to deliver—or non-delivery—was not due to the whim or desire of Adams to discriminate against these contracts, but simply it's a situation where the demand now far exceeds the supply."

Young also argued that since the Adams' firms are the major stone suppliers in the area, removing them from the bidding list would be costly to the state.

The counties covered by the contracts are Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Lawrence, Martin, Perry and Pike.

Final plans are being completed for the wedding of Marianna Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Moore, of Morganfield, Ky., and Timmy Riggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Riggs, of Uniontown, Ky. The wedding is being planned for 6 p.m. Saturday, July 15, at the Community Methodist Church in Prestonsburg, with the Rev. T. L. Biggs officiating. The reception will be held immediately following, in the church basement.

All friends and relatives of the couple are cordially invited.

Undeclared Tackett's Variety men's softball team, of Grethel, regarded as one of the county's top teams, took home the first place trophy in Martin's Fourth of July Softball Tournament held over the past weekend.

Facing a tough Pike county team, Tackett's Variety was led in defense by left fielder Verl Newsome who also serves as the team's lead off batter, Teddy Tackett with an outstanding pitching display, and catcher Hershel Tackett.

Tackett's displayed awesome offensive power scoring 53 runs in four of the tournament games. All hopes of a Pike county victory ended with the grand slam home run of Tackett's John Tendziogloski.

Also turning in outstanding performances for the team, which utilizes the best players in the Mud Creek section, were Paul D. Tackett and Bobby J. Hall. Tackett hit five home runs in four games, the best record during the tournament, with three of the runs coming in the championship game. Tackett was awarded the tourney's home run trophy, needless to say.

Awarded the best offensive trophy for the tournament was Hall who collected three home runs and contributed a hitting spree.

Meeting at College Set for Discussion Of Strip Mine Law

Citizen participation in relation to the enforcement of new federal strip-mine regulations in the area will be the major topic of discussion at a special meeting set for Saturday, July 15, at Prestonsburg Community College.

Martin County Mine Wins National Safety Award

South Side Mining & Construction Company, a surface mining operation of the Martin County Coal Corporation, has been presented the National Safety Council's "Award of Commendation" for 1977. The award was part of a national competition to give recognition to coal mining operations with outstanding safety records and accident prevention programs. Vincent Tofany, president of the National Safety Council, made the presentation to officials of Martin County Coal. He praised the management staff, supervisors, and employees for their efforts in achieving the perfect record. He said, "This is an impressive example that has been set not only in your own community but throughout your entire industry."

This is the second consecutive year that the South Side operation has received the Council's Award of Commendation. The mine also received the U. S. Department of Interior's "Sentinels of Safety" award for 1976.

The South Side mine began production early in 1975 and has operated continuously without an occupational illness or injury involving days away from work. The award period is May, 1975 through December, 1977, representing 215,119 employee-hours without an accident. This perfect record is continuing and has now surpassed the 250,000 man-hour mark.

Accepting the award for Martin County Coal Corporation were Raymond Bradbury, president, Lee VanDine, manager of surface mines, Ed Chafin, director of training, Billy Ross Hopkins, superintendent of the South Side mine, and Bill Booth and Bill Robinson, both pit foremen at the mine.

Superintendent Hopkins stated, "Any outstanding safety record does not depend on luck. It requires the cooperation of everyone involved on the job. I give most of the credit for this achievement to the supervisors and employees. This is a record we're all proud of and hope to continue."

Many of the South Side employees are residents of Floyd county.

TO REDUCE unemployment among minority and other disadvantaged groups, the Administration proposes that training and employment provisions of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) be amended to assure that services are targeted to these groups.

By LARRY BURKE

Very few battles of life are concluded with a once-and-for-all victory. Most of them have to be fought again and again.

We shape our lives by making choices and decisions. We become creatures of habit, and join the throng that moves along in a rut. Or we choose to be creative and launch out into new experiences and feelings of accomplishments.

The kind of person we happen to be was largely determined by the way we have fought the battles of life, either through habit—or the adventures of creativity.

This is certain, too! Each of us is deciding today just the kind of person we will be tomorrow.

No person rises above his ambitions—and neither does he sink below his darkest defeats.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "You are you—as a result of yourself."

Of Diamonds and Earthworms

Unsuspecting Kentuckians may be offered "a deal that's too good to be true" regarding diamonds and earthworms that could indeed turn out to be not true, according to the chief of the state Division of Securities.

Securities Director Jack Bunnell said his office is now investigating salesmen of "special deals" on diamonds and earthworm cultivation, and says the salesmen may be violating state securities laws.

Bunnell said a salesman could offer a package of diamonds at a cost of $10,000. The salesman then explains that the buyer has nothing to lose because the salesman's company would buy the package back in a few years at a price of $15,000, if the package remains sealed until that time.

However, if the buyer opens the package to have the diamonds appraised, the company would pay $12,000 for package, the salesman says.

In a separate deal, a salesman of earthworms for cultivation offers to set up the buyer's own earthworm farm, with starter worms and kit, and assures the buyer that the company will buy by the pound all the earthworms the buyer can produce. Since earthworms breed at a fast pace, the salesman says, the buyer could produce enough worms to earn up to $1,000 a month.

Bunnell said the salesmen's "buy-back" offer changes the business deal from the simple sale of a product into an investment security, and therefore places regulation of the diamond and worm enterprises under Division of Securities authority. And, he said, some of the companies operating methods could be violating state laws on securities fraud.

Bunnell said the diamond and worm sales have been increasing across the country in the past year, rivaling commodity options as the top method of separating investors and their money. Bunnell said there have been several instances of the diamond sales in Kentucky this year.

He said that the contract often contains a "Leveraging" provision, whereby the buyer pays about 20 per cent down on the package, and makes payments during the life of the contract. This makes the package seem more attainable to the average prospective buyer, he said.

The sales pitch for the diamonds sound like a "no-lose" proposition, Bunnell said, but added that the buyer of the package has no real guarantee that the company would still be in business when it was time to fulfill the "buy-back" provision of the sales contract. And, he said, there is no guarantee the package actually contains real diamonds.

In the worm deal, Bunnell said, the salesman can outline the many uses for earthworms, from garbage control to worm pies, as an explanation for the company's willingness to buy the worms back. However, the salesman does not necessarily say that the worms will be dehydrated before they are weighed to determine their worth. The dehydration can reduce the weight by about 85 per cent.

Bunnell said the initial contract between the company and the prospective buyer could be through a telephone sales pitch. However, Bunnell noted that the prospective buyer could also initiate the sale by responding to ads the diamond and earthworm companies have placed in magazines and newspapers across the country.

Bunnell said his office recently had been contacted by the federal Commodity Futures Trading Commission about the diamond deals. Commission Chairman William Bagley called the diamond sales the "latest lie-by-day, fly-by-night scheme," and said the sales contracts' leveraging provisions may place them under CFTC regulation.

Perkins Says State Not Getting Full Reclamation Funding

Congressman Carl D. Perkins last week charged apparent discrimination against Kentucky and the Seventh congressional district in the distribution of funds under Title IV of the Surface Mine Control and Reclamation Act of 1977. In a sharply worded letter to Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus, Perkins said:

"When the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 was enacted, an Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund was established to be funded by a levy of 35 cents on each ton of coal. This Title IV program was to be used to restore orphaned strip mines.

"Kentucky is the largest coal-producing state but it appears to have been discriminated against in the distribution of the Title IV funds. In fact, the Title IV funds appear to have been poured into Pennsylvania and Illinois in a manner which bears no relationship to their proportional position as coal producers or to their proportional need.

"Please look into this matter just as soon as possible and advise me why Kentucky and the Seventh Congressional District apparently have been discriminated against."

HRMC's Cardio-Pulmonary Lab Honored

The cardio-pulmonary laboratory at Highlands Regional Medical Center has been singled out for special recognition as Department of the month for July. Selected in honor of the outstanding efforts of its employees, the department enjoys an excellent reputation throughout the region.

The cardio-pulmonary lab is a heart and lung diagnostic service area, where patients may be examined for disability and Black Lung Claims or pre-surgery diagnostic evaluation. In addition to such services as breathing tests, heart stress tests, bronchoscopy examinations, blood gases and electrocardiography (EKG), the department offers the special services of the Cardiac Rehabilitation Clinic and the Big Sandy Breathing Clinic. In the latter, patients with breathing problems are taught self-care and breathing exercises; at the Cardiac Rehab Clinic, patients with cardiac problems are taught life-long care to reduce the risk of coronary heart disease.

Two services recently added to cardio-pulmonary are echo cardiography and Holter monitoring. Echo cardiogram is a diagnostic study of the structure of the heart which enables the physician to detect any abnormalities. The Holter monitor, a portable device which the patient wears during his regular daily activities, provides a 24-hour monitoring of the heart. This instrument is capable of detecting irregular heart rhythms which might only occur during an individual's normal work routine.

Congratulations to the following employees (in alphabetic order): Ronald Bowling, technologist; Mary Brashears, technologist, Doug Fleming, director of cardio-pulmonary lab and respiratory therapy; Leslie Handshoe, secretary; Lorene Johnson, L.P.N.; Beverly Morrison, technologist; Pam Patton, seasonal employee; Sherry Pack, technologist; Helen Ray, technologist; and Patsy Willis, R.N. supervisor.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our precious mother and wife, Sadie Sparkman, who passed away July 7, 1973.

Dear Mom, we wanted so much to keep you.

We loved you more each day. But our hearts were broken when you had to go away. God watched over you while you suffered.

He knew you had your share, so he tenderly

Closed your weary eyes, and took you in his care.

We miss you more each day. There's such a vacant place. Often we think we hear your footsteps. And see your smiling face. Day of sadness still comes over us. Memory keeps you ever near us. Though you left us many years ago. Sadly missed by husband, Willie Sparkman and Children.

Historymobile Available To Kentucky Communities

The Kentucky Historical Society Historymobile featuring the pioneer exhibit will participate in the NIBROC festival at Corbin, July 7-8. Corbin's annual festival is one of Kentucky's oldest events and features local arts and crafts, coin and gun shows, a square dance and horse show. (NIBROC is Corbin spelled backwards.)

The Historymobile's pioneer exhibit gives visitors a glimpse of what life was like during Kentucky's first decade of settlement, from 1774 to 1784. Much of the decade's history is captured on colorful wall panels with maps, documents, sketches and photographs. It is further depicted by scale models of such scenes as a flatboat on the Ohio River, Daniel Boone overlooking Kentucky from Pilot Knob, a pack train on Wilderness Road, an early settlement and a settler staking a claim using a tomahawk to carve his initials or identifying mark on a tree.

Also featured in the exhibit is a replica of an early log cabin with handmade furniture and primitive household and hunting tools. The exhibit's highlight is a 10-minute slide presentation which shows how Kentucky's early pioneers lived as they carved a civilization out of the wilderness.

One of the society's historians will be available to explain the exhibit and tell stories about Kentucky's early settlers—their customs, interests and traditions.

This Historymobile and the new one, which features the coal exhibit, appeal to Kentuckians of all ages. They are available for any group to sponsor who can provide a 220-volt electrical outlet and parking area. Both mobile museums feature portable video equipment available for use by junior historians and local historical organizations for workshops and various history projects.

To schedule either Historymobile, contact Dan Zwyer, at (502) 564-3016.

A federal requirement that stripminers leave land the way they found it was hailed as a victory by environmentalists, but some landowners in the steep ridges of eastern Kentucky disagree.

Some residents of narrow hollows, where little flat land exists, are beginning state and federal officials to let them keep the scraped off areas strip-mining creates.

The federal law requires that mined slopes be returned to their approximate original contour, and that highwalls—steep cliffs left in the mountainside after mining—be covered.

The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has received dozens of letters from landowners who say the new law violates their rights.

On Thursday, 15 farmers from Elliott County traveled to the state capital to plead their case.

"We were trying to get them to leave us some level land," said Everett Ison, who grazes cattle on his 106 acre farm at Sandy Hook. He said only two acres along a creek are level.

"I need some more pasture so my cattle don't fall and kill themselves," Ison said. "I've got nothing but wilderness and I can't use it the way it is."

He said operators are presently stripping his land, but are covering up the highwall after taking out the coal.

Ison said state officials "talked like it was out of their hands" and told the farmers to take their complaints to Washington.

People have written to the Department from rural mountain communities like Moon, Relief, Ulysses and West Liberty asking that flat areas created by stripmining be allowed to remain.

"People need some way of living," wrote Lou Neva Skaggs of Elkfork. "The hills are so steep people can't get fertilizer and lime on them to produce pasture."

"I hope the ones who passed the new law will reconsider and let the mining go on as it has in the past. It is impossible to fix the hills back to original contour."

Others have not been as polite. Several have invited officials to jump off the steep hills they are working to preserve.

Herman Denniston, owner of a small hillside farm in Wolfe County, said he wants the coal in his land stripped and the land leveled.

"If I can have my land fixed like I want it, I will have good farming land plus the money from the coal, but when I talk to the people who strip coal they say I can't do this because my land has to be put back into hills and cliffs."

"This is the craziest thing I ever heard," he said. "This is my land and I pay the taxes on it and if I want my land fixed to suit me, then it is my own business."

Gene Brandenburg, commissioner of the Department's Bureau for Surface Mining and Reclamation, said he sympathizes with the landowners.

SURGERY NOT REQUIRED

A medical-insurance study of 1500 patients for whom surgery was recommended found that one out of four did not require the operation, according to a second medical opinion. The July Reader's Digest reveals that not only is the patient spared the pain and trauma of surgery, but the insurance plan saves about $1500 in hospital fees for each operation not performed.

"But our hands are tied," he said. "The Congress of the United States deemed that all highwalls be covered, so there is nothing that we as a state agency can do at this time."

"I certainly have sympathy and empathy with them," he said. "The landowners were not considered."

Brandenburg said Kentucky officials tried to get Congress to allow landowners to have some say in how mined slopes were reclaimed, to provide flat land, not in the flood plain, for housing, pasture or crops.

"But it fell on deaf ears," he said. Brandenburg said he has advised landowners that the only way to get relief is to write their congressmen and ask that the law be changed.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the Public Service Commission of Kentucky has scheduled a hearing at 9:00 a.m. EDT on August 2, 1978 at its offices at 730 Schenkel Lane, Frankfort, Kentucky, with respect to the notice by the undersigned that it desires to place in effect the following rates for electric service:

Terms and Conditions of Service

RECONNECTION AND DISCONNECT CHARGES.

In cases where the company has discontinued service as herein provided for, the company reserves the right to make a reconnection charge, payable in advance, in accordance with the following schedule:

- 1. Reconnect for nonpayment during regular hours $ 9.00
2. Reconnect for nonpayment when work continues into overtime at the end of the day (no "Call Out" required) $12.00
3. Reconnect for nonpayment when a "Call Out" is required (a "Call Out" is when an employee must be called in to work on an overtime basis to make the reconnection trip) $25.00
4. Reconnect for nonpayment when double time is required (Sunday and holidays) $31.00
5. Disconnect trip for nonpayment when the customer pays the bill or signs a Company form indicating payment will be made by the end of the following day and no disconnect is made $ 6.00

BAD CHECK CHARGE.

In cases where a customer tenders in payment of an account a check which upon deposit by the company is returned as unpaid by the bank for any reason, the customer will be charged a fee of $3.00 to cover the cost of handling such unsecured check in its accounts.

FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

APPLICABLE TO: Tariffs R.S., G.S., L.P., C.P.O., L.C.P., H.T.P., T.P., M.W., E.H.S., E.H.G., S.S. and C.P.

RATE. This rate shall provide for periodic adjustment per kilowatt-hour when the unit cost of fuel (F) (a) is used to meet the Company's Net Energy requirement (S(m)) is above or below the base unit cost of 1.200 cents per kilowatt-hour (F(b)/S(b)). The charges provided for in the net monthly rate shall be increased or decreased respectively by the product of the kilowatt-hours furnished during the month and a Fuel Adjustment Clause Factor (A), where "A", calculated to the nearest .001 cent per kilowatt-hour, is as defined below:

Adjustment Factor (A) = (F(m) - F(b)) / (S(m) - S(b))
In the above formula, "F" is the expense of fossil fuel in the base (b) and current (m) periods; and "S" is the kWh sales in the base (b) and current (m) periods, all as defined below.

- 2. Fuel Costs (F) shall be the most recent actual monthly cost, based on weighted average inventory costing, of:
a. Fossil fuel consumed in Kentucky Power Company's generating plants and the Company's share of fossil and nuclear fuel consumed in jointly owned or leased plants, plus the cost of fuel which would have been used in plants suffering forced generation or transmission outages, but less the cost of fuel to substitute generation, plus
b. The actual identifiable fossil and nuclear fuel costs associated with energy purchased for reasons other than identified in paragraph (c) below, but excluding the cost of fuel related to purchases to substitute the forced outages, plus
c. The net energy cost of energy purchases, exclusive of capacity or demand charges (irrespective of the designation to such transaction) when such energy is purchased on an economic dispatch basis. Included therein may be such costs as the charges for economy energy purchases and the charges as a result of scheduled outage, all such kinds of energy being purchases by the Company to substitute for its own higher cost energy, less
d. The cost of fossil fuel recovered through inter-system sales including the fuel costs related to economy energy sales and other energy sold on an economic dispatch basis.
3. The cost of fossil fuel shall include no items other than the invoice price of fuel less any cash or other discounts. The invoice price of fuel includes the cost of the fuel itself and necessary charges for transportation of the fuel from the point of acquisition to the unloading point, as listed in Account 151 of FMC Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utilities and Licenses.
4. Forced outages are all unscheduled losses of generation or transmission which require substitute power for a continuous period of six (6) hours. Where forced outages are not as a result of faulty equipment, faulty manufacture, faulty design, faulty installations, faulty operation, faulty maintenance, but are Acts of God, riot, insurrection or acts of the public enemy, then the Company may, upon proper showing, with the approval of Public Service Commission, include the fuel cost of substitute energy in the adjustment.
5. Sales (S) shall be all kilowatt-hours sold, excluding inter-system sales. Where, for any reason, billed system sales cannot be coordinated with fuel costs for the billing period, sales may be equated to the sum of (i) generation, (ii) purchases, (iii) interchanges in, less (iv) energy associated with pumped storage operations, less (v) system sales referred to in section (2) (d) above, less (vi) total system losses. Company used energy shall not be included in the determination of sales (S).
6. Sales (S) shall be modified to reflect line losses on the Company's delivery of energy to Kentucky Jurisdictional Customers.

Where such conditions exist the customer shall contract for the maximum amount of demand in kw which the company might be required to furnish, but not less than 3 kw. The company shall not be obligated to supply demands in excess of that contracted for. In the event that the customer's demand as determined by demand meter or indicator, in any month exceeds the amount of his then existing contract demand, the contract demand shall then be increased automatically to the maximum demand so created by the customer. Where service is supplied under the provisions of this paragraph, the billing demand each month shall be the contract demand instead of the billing demand defined under paragraph "Measurement of Energy and Determination of Demand" and the minimum charge shall be as follows instead of the minimum charge set forth under paragraph "Minimum Charge" above:

First 3 kw or fraction thereof of contract demand..... $14.90 per month
Each kw of contract demand in excess of 3 kw..... $ 3.00 per month per kw.

TARIFF L. P. (Large Power)

Table with columns: Rate, kWhrs equal to the first 30 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 170 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 1,000 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 10,000 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 80,000 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs in excess of 360 times the kv of monthly billing demand.

The rate set forth in this tariff is based upon the delivery and measurement of energy at standard distribution voltages established by the company of not less than a nominal voltage of approximately 2,400 volts nor more than a nominal voltage of approximately 34,500 volts. For the delivery and measurement of energy at any voltage less than the voltage of established distribution lines operating within these limits an additional charge will be made of $2.12 per month per kVA of monthly billing demand.

EQUIPMENT SUPPLIED BY CUSTOMER. When the customer owns, operates and maintains the complete substation equipment, including all transformers, switches, and other apparatus necessary for receiving and purchasing electric energy at the primary voltage of transmission lines operated at approximately 46,000 or 69,000 volts and when the customer owns all equipment beyond the delivery point of service, bills hereunder shall be subject to a credit of $3.34 per kVA of monthly billing demand.

TARIFF C. P. O. (Capacity Power - Optional)

Table with columns: Rate, kWhrs equal to the first 30 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 170 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 1,000 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 10,000 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs equal to the next 80,000 times the kv of monthly billing demand, kWhrs in excess of 360 times the kv of monthly billing demand.

MINIMUM CHARGE. This tariff is subject to a minimum monthly charge of $2.75 per kv of monthly billing demand. The minimum monthly charge so determined shall be subject to (a) adjustments as determined under the "Fuel Clause", (b) credits as determined under clause entitled "Equipment Supplied by Customer".

MEASUREMENT OF ENERGY AND DETERMINATION OF DEMAND.

Billing demand in kv shall be taken each month as the highest 15-minute integrating peak in kilowatts as registered during the month by a 15-minute integrating demand meter or indicator, or at the company's option as the highest registration of a thermal type demand meter or indicator, divided by the average monthly power factor established during the month, corrected to the nearest kv. Monthly billing demand established hereunder shall not be less than the customer's contract capacity except that where the customer purchases his entire requirements for electric light, heat and power under this tariff, the monthly billing demand shall not be less than 50% of the customer's contract capacity, nor shall it be less than 30 kw.

EQUIPMENT SUPPLIED BY CUSTOMER. When the customer furnishes and maintains the complete substation equipment including any and all transformers, switches and other apparatus necessary for the customer to take service at the primary voltage of the transmission or distribution line from which said customer is to receive service, the following credits in addition to that set forth in the next preceding paragraph will be applied to each monthly net bill.

Table with columns: Delivery Voltage, Credit per Kva of Monthly Billing Demand. Rows: 2,400 - 34,500, 46,000 - 69,000.

TARIFF L. C. P. (Large Capacity Power)

Table with columns: Rate, Primary Portion, Secondary Portion, Reactive Demand Charge. Rows: First 1,000 kv of monthly billing demand, All over 4,000 kv of monthly billing demand, For each kilowatt of lagging reactive demand in excess of 50% of the kv of monthly billing demand.

RATE ADJUSTMENT. In any monthly period when metered kWhrs are less than 315 kWhrs per kv of monthly billing demand, the customer shall receive a credit on such deficiency in kWhrs at a rate of 1.200 cents per kWhr.

EQUIPMENT SUPPLIED BY CUSTOMER. When the customer owns, operates, and maintains the complete substation equipment, including all transformers, switches and other apparatus necessary for receiving and purchasing electric energy at the primary voltage of transmission lines operated at voltages in excess of approximately 34,500 volts and when the customer owns all equipment beyond the delivery point of service, bills hereunder shall be subject to a credit of $3.34 per kv of monthly billing demand.

DEMAND MEASUREMENT. The billing demand in kw shall be taken each month as the highest single 30-minute integrated peak in kw as registered during the month by a demand meter or indicator, or at the company's option, as the highest registration of a thermal type demand meter or indicator.

For service rendered July 20, 1979 thru July 19, 1980, the billing demand shall in no event be less than 50% of the contract capacity of the customer, nor less than 800 kw. For service rendered July 20, 1980 and beyond the billing demand shall in no event be less than 50% of the contract capacity of the customer, nor less than 1000 kw.

New Red Cross Snake Bite Advice

The proverbial snake isn't always in the grass. In fact, says Jim Welch, director of safety services for the Kentucky Division American Red Cross, they can infest rocky ledges, old wood and rock piles, abandoned buildings or scores of other habitats. The season of increased potential for poisonous snakebites is upon us and some new Red Cross advice is different from previous information. Here are some examples of the changes based on new research: -Cold Therapy, i.e., cold compresses, ice, spray refrigerants, etc., is no longer recommended to be used on the bite area. -Aspirin should NOT be taken to relieve snakebite pain because it could adversely affect blood clotting. Non-aspirin pain relievers, however, can be given. "There is now much more emphasis placed on the importance of getting a snakebite victim to a hospital as soon as possible, regardless of whether the snake was poisonous or non-poisonous," said Welch. Other advice, Welch stated, does not differ greatly from previous Red Cross information on the general subject of snakebite. Cross-cut incisions, for example, should NOT be made. (Single incisions should be made along the long axis of the limb.) "The best first aid is prevention," said Welch. "To help reduce the chances of being bitten, follow these steps," he said: Avoid snake-infested areas or common habitats. If necessary to enter such areas, wear protective clothing (e.g., mid-calf boots, long trousers, and mid-forearm gloves). Do not roam alone, and try to give advance warning of your presence by prodding ground with stick or by making noise. Never try to surprise or corner a snake. Do not molest snakes. Do not keep live poisonous snakes as pets. Do not reach blindly into holes such as gopher holes, or onto rocky ledges, disturb old wood or rock piles, and abandoned buildings. Know in advance where medical help may be located and how to reach it when traveling in snake-infested or primitive areas. Have a snakebite kit available. It should contain a constricting band, a scalpel or knife blade, and suction cut. If it contains a medicine for relief of pain, it must not be aspirin. Generally, the first aid for snakebite is: 1. Get any snakebite victim or suspected victim to a hospital as quickly as possible. The general first aid measures (keep the victim from moving, keep extremity lower than heart and immobilized, keep victim calm and reassured) should be used. 2. If the victim can be brought to the hospital within 4 to 5 hours and mild to moderate signs and symptoms occur (i.e., mild swelling, pain, discoloration, rapid pulse, weakness, tingling sensations, dimness of vision, nausea, shortness of breath), apply a constricting band about 2 to 4 inches above the bite (but not on a joint). The band will need to be more than 3/4 inches wide and checked constantly for tightness because of swelling. 3. If severe signs and symptoms develop, (rapid swelling, numbness followed by severe pain, pinpoint pupils, twitching, slurred speech, shock, convulsions, paralysis, unconsciousness, no breathing and/or no pulse), you should, in addition to applying a constricting band, perform incisions and suction immediately. To make incisions, use a sterile, sharp blade. Do not cut any deeper than the skin; incision should be 1/2 inch long to extend over the suspected deep point (the snake strikes downward, so this is usually below the fang mark). Do not cut across an extremity or on the head, neck or trunk. Suction with a suction cup but should be applied for 30 minutes. If a cup is not available, use the mouth. If the hospital is near (cannot be reached within 4 to 5 hours) continue to try to get the victim professional care. Welch encourages people to contact their community Red Cross chapters about free first aid courses available there.

Martiki Coal
Pays $7,000 Fine

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection collected $44,500 in June from 15 coal companies for violations of strip mine regulations.
 Martiki Coal Co. of Lovely, Martin county, paid the largest fine, $7,000, for placing spoil over the outcrops and into a no-spoil area on their site near Three Forks. The company also began stripping above a silt dam prior to submission of the proper certification.
 The company has agreed to immediately provide adequate silt control for the entire disturbed area and discontinue all mining activities until the silt structure has been properly certified. The company has also agreed to dress down, seed and mulch all material placed over the outcrops of the mine.
 Also fined were:
 —Cumberland River Coal Co., $5,000 for working on an expired permit, failing to maintain adequate silt control, overloading the lower bench and failing to backfill, grade and seed their mine site near Dayhoit in Harlan county.
 —Dean Cornett, $5,000 for strip mining without a permit near Raccoon Creek in Laurel county.
 —Huffman and Adams Coal Co., $4,000 for working without proper silt control, exceeding the approved bench width in some areas and cutting water from the bench and off the permitted area near Robinson Creek in Pike county.
 —K & R Mining Co., $3,000 for stripping without proper silt control, allowing sudden releases of water onto the outcrops and failing to properly construct the access road on their mine site near Davella in Martin county.
 —R & J Coal Co., $2,000 for forcing water from a pit causing sudden releases of water onto the outcrops of their site near Shelbiana in Pike county.
 —Everman's Inc., $2,000 for failing to maintain adequate silt control on their site near Cherokee in Lawrence county.
 —Addington Brothers Mining Co., $2,000 for placing spoil into a no-spoil area and into Cindy Creek and failing to maintain a silt structure on their site near Relief in Morgan county.
 —Ky. Gem Coal Co., $2,000 for failing to provide adequate silt control on their site near Mt. Vernon in Rockcastle county.
 —Kenerex, Inc., $2,000 for allowing material to spill over the berm (flat area cut in mountainsides providing access to coal seams) on their site near Dal in Whitley county.
 —Boone-Elkhorn Coal Co., $300 for strip mining without a permit in Morgan county.
 —Bobby Taylor, $200 for strip mining without a permit, disturbing approximately 15 acres near Clay Lick Branch in Whitley county.

Much To See on Jenny Wiley Trail

Ridges that in winter are bare as a wishbone now are soft and thick with green; valleys sometimes open to allow vistas from one end to the other now are double-ruffled with foliage; fields that in May were golf-course neat now in Kentucky summer are tall with grass in a fluid sweep of waves set in motion by summer wind.

It is a time when some choose air-conditioned weekends but when a growing multitude select a walking trail, a backpacking mountain or a valley path to loosen kinks in body and mind. At the end of a walking day the body is tired, sleep takes over quickly and mornings bring a renewed energy. At the end of a walking day the mind has reveled to filmy nothings most of the cares and pressures that started out on the same trail.

A 200-mile trail is a bit much for the beginning walker, but no one said you had to do the Jenny Wiley Trail in one swoop. All of it isn't open, anyway. But you can start on the Ohio River shore near South Portsmouth in Greenup county and walk for a hundred miles, and that's a lot of boot-sliding. Some day the entire marked trail will beckon hikers all the way to Jenny Wiley State Resort Park in Floyd county...and beyond.

You who want to hike the Jenny Wiley Trail have a few options. You might want to start at Jenny Wiley Park, near Prestonsburg, and follow the trail until you reach the Mountain Parkway about 10 miles from Salyersville. From here the trail is incomplete for about 50 miles and picks up again on Ky. 7 about half-way between West Liberty and Sandy Hook. This sector will be finished before long, creating a walking trail of almost 200 miles that some day will connect the famous Appalachian Trail that reaches from the Maine wilderness to Georgia.

Some of you might choose to start at the trail's beginning in Greenup county, follow the ridges and valleys along Carter and Lewis counties, then through Rowan, Elliott and Morgan to near West Liberty.

There is a place to park your vehicle, and shelters are along the way with water for cooking. Like a railroad, there are numerous spurs to connect with state parks or points of interest.

Is the future trying to tell you something? Perhaps that the day is coming when you will be doing about as much walking as riding for recreation purposes. A vast network of walking trails is under development throughout our country. Also being organized are clubs and organizations designed to preserve a bit of wilderness and to enjoy it. What the Sierra Club, Audubon-ites, Wanderbirds, Potomac Appalachian Club and others have known for a long time is now reaching out to those who have been sitters and lookers-on instead of doers.

There is a plan to connect the trails to all state resort parks where lodging and food are available and also to build shelters at 10-mile intervals for those who want to either sleep under the open sky or at least look between the boards to a patch of start and a moon.

There is an indwelling feel of adventure and challenge to hikers who choose wilderness paths, for these are the paths that knew footsteps of Daniel Boone, John Swift, Simon Kenton and their contemporaries and before them Indians and a mysterious race of people who left behind clues to hidden worlds.

Much of the Jenny Wiley Trail crosses privately-owned land where owners agreed to its use as a hiking trail. These owners may be farmers who work their land from morning to dusk, people who teach school or who work in offices in nearby towns. You who hike over their land will be courteous, appreciative and cooperative.

You will also know your physical limitations. You will break-in new boots on shorter walks and soft bodies the same way.

When Ohio, West Virginia and other states stretch out their trail developments along with Kentucky, all of Appalachia will be within walking distance—maybe not yelling distance, but given enough days and weeks, within walking distance.

Many persons may be contacted, but Richard Howerton, project director for FIVCO Area Development District, Catlettsburg, is knowledgeable about the trail and can give information. G. Sam Piatt, Regional News staff of the Ashland Daily Independent, also has information.

Of all seasons for hiking, this is it. Lush foliage creates green canopies that block some vistas, making it necessary to explore in more detail the small spectacular underfoot where wildflowers lap at your heels and ferns nudge your ankles and leaves pat you as you walk by. There's a lot to see when you travel so many walking miles per hour.

Safety Board Says Speed Caused Beattyville Crash

The National Transportation Safety Board ruled last week that excessive speed caused a gasoline tanker truck explosion last September that killed seven persons in Beattyville, Lee county.

The board said the probable cause of the crash was "the driver's loss of vehicle control" because of speed excessive for the highway. Contributing to the accident was "the lack of judgement" by the driver to respond to railroad crossing warnings and "the basic rules of the road," the board said.

The tanker, driven by William Wilson of Louisville, was traveling 33-36 miles per hour in the 25 mph zone approaching the railroad tracks, according to the NTBS report.

Wilson, 40, is free on $50,000 bond awaiting trial on seven counts of second degree manslaughter. He was not charged at the time of the accident, when he told police the crash was caused by faulty brakes.

But a Kentucky State Police investigation later turned up no defects in the tanker's brake system. NTBS officials also ruled that bad brakes were not the cause of the accident.

Wilson was indicted by a Lee county grand jury last October.

According to the safety board's report, railroad warning lights were flashing when Wilson drove the tanker, carrying more than 8,000 gallons of gasoline, down a steep hill on Route 11, crossed the tracks in front of a moving freight train and skidded into a furniture store and beauty parlor.

Gasoline escaped from the tanker and ignited, destroying six buildings and 16 parked cars. Seven occupants of the buildings, including five women who were trapped inside the beauty shop, were killed in the blaze.

Wilson survived with minor injuries. The board found that Wilson tried to beat the train across the tracks and lost control of his vehicle when he drove too fast to handle the curve that follows the crossing.

"The accident began at the top of the hill," said James King, chairman of the safety board. "The truck driver was going too fast and once he saw the train, he tried to make the best out of a bad situation."

"He played his brakes well when he beat the train by 2½ seconds, but everything went sour when he hit the grade crossing and lost control," King said.

Wilson claimed he stopped at the top of the hill and drove down in first gear, or a maximum of 10 miles an hour.

A motorist who drove up the hill past the tanker said he did not see Wilson stop and estimated his speed at about 25 mph.

Surfacing, Patching Contracts Awarded

State Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson has announced nearly half a million dollars in road contracts for five Eastern Kentucky counties, following a Bureau of Highways bid-letting June 9.

The largest award was made in McCreary county where about 5.2 miles of roads will be surfaced by Hinkle Contracting Corporation, of Paris, at a total cost of $159,568.

In Leslie and Clay counties, nearly 30 miles of patching work is scheduled under another $126,464 contract awarded to Nally and Gibson Surfacing, Inc. of Springfield.

In Clay county, Red Bird River Road (KY 66) will also undergo patching between US 421 and KY 149.

A $101,623 contract also was awarded to Walker Construction Co. of Mt. Sterling for 7.2 miles of surfacing work in Bath county.

In Rockcastle county, Carey-Adams, Inc., of Lexington, also was awarded a $98,001 contract for another 3.9 miles of surfacing work.

"Summer Stage" is a program of free admission to provide older persons the experience of attending "The Book of Job" during July and August at Pine Mountain State Park Amphitheatre at Pineville, as well as other outdoor dramas in Kentucky.

The program is open to all groups and organizations of older persons on a first-come, first-served basis.

A representative of a group of ten or more may call a toll-free telephone number, 1-800-372-2996, indicating the number of free tickets they will need and the date they wish to attend. "Summer Stage" will take over from there.

Workshop Here on Wife Abuse May Be Prelude to Area Effort

A special workshop and seminar on wife abuse, held recently at Prestonsburg Community College, was a preliminary step in what is hoped will develop into an effective area organization to cope with this widespread social problem.

Sponsored by the Big Sandy Area Development District, the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, Prestonsburg Community College, the Kentucky Commission on Women and D.A.S.H. Inc. (Domestic Assault, Support & Housing), the seminar featured several speakers, including a former abused wife who related her personal experience.

Other speakers included Lois Hake, who runs a shelter for abused women in Fairfield, O.; Mary Jane Eates, of the Kentucky Department of Justice; Helen Hughes (formerly of Floyd county), with the Kentucky Commission on Women, and Betty Connor, program development specialist with the Department for Social Services, Frankfort.

Also participating in the seminar was a panel of local residents including Prestonsburg Police Sgt. Craig E. Kilgore, K. Martin Doyle, assistant commonwealth's attorney for Magoffin and Knott counties, Bonnie Crisp, of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, and Father William Poole, of the Floyd County Ministerial Association.

The workshop dealt with the extent of the problem of wife abuse in this area as well as the problems faced by the abused wife generally.

Also discussed were projects which could be mounted locally to help bring the problem of wife abuse "out of the closet" and provide help to its victims.

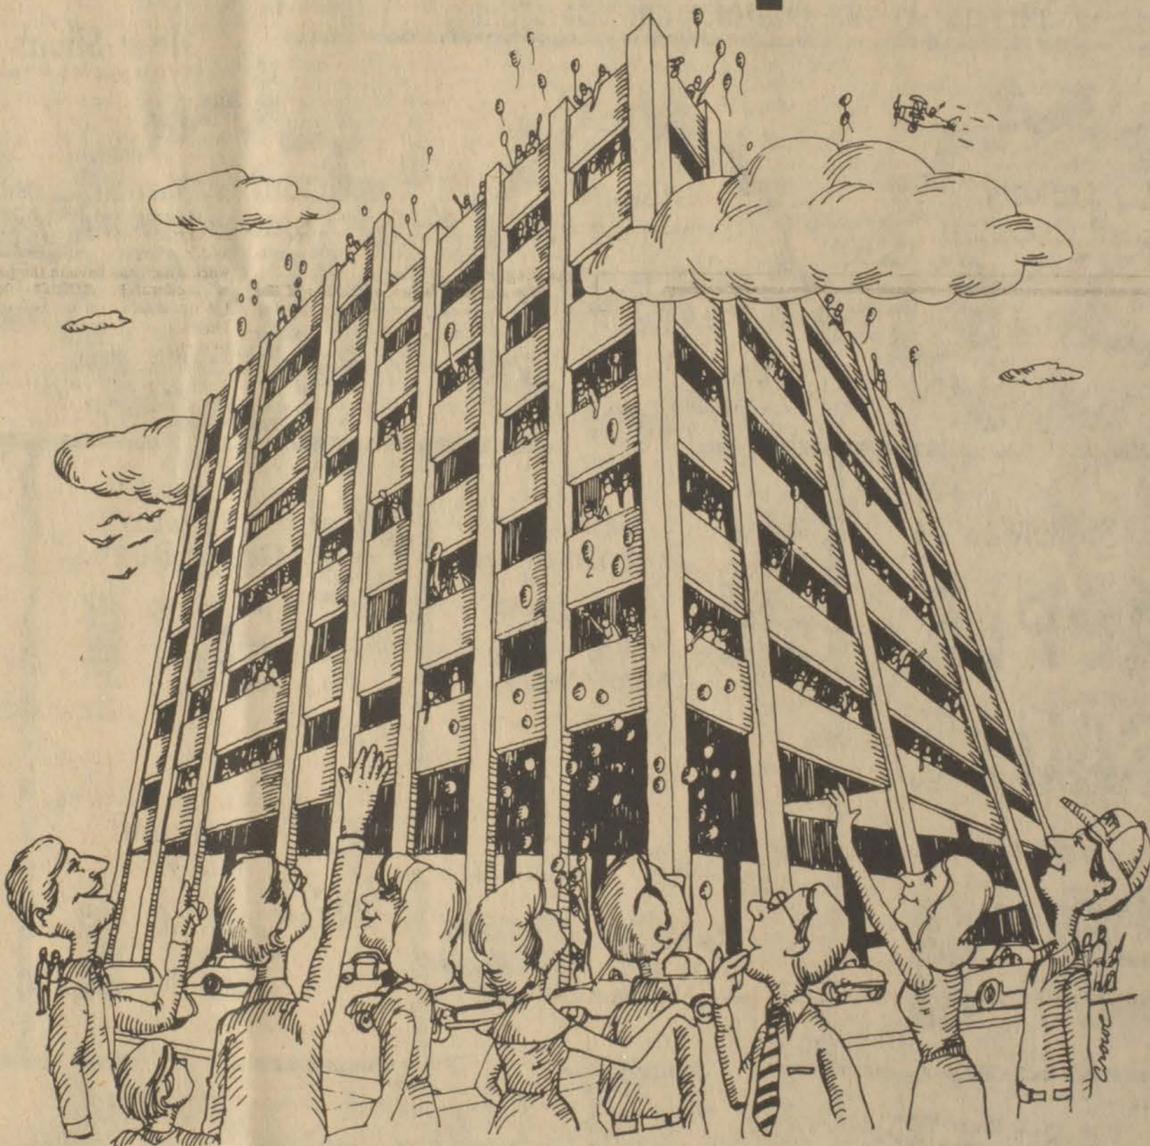

David Evans, of Big Sandy ADD, said the ultimate goal of the group is the establishment of a transitional living facility in the area to serve wife abuse victims, and the possibility of attaining funding for such an undertaking is being examined, according to Evans.

Kathleen O'Sullivan, of APPALRED, said preliminary steps are being taken toward application for Kentucky Humanities funding to provide for training of persons to deal with abused wives.

Another meeting is set for July 18 at 7 p.m. at the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center here and all interested persons are urged to attend.
