County System Joins in State School Project

Ten Kentucky school districts, including Floyd county's, have been selected to join the School Effectiveness Project sponsored by the Department of Education, Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber, announced this week.

Other districts are Breathitt, Casey, Harlan, Knott, Leslie, McCreary, Rockcastle and Spencer county districts and Pineville independent district.

With the exception of Spencer county, all are located in eastern and southeastern Kentucky. Six of the 10 districts are located in the 5th Congressional District.

Ten other districts initiated the School Effectiveness Project last February. Among them were Lawrence, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin and Menifee county districts.

"Our resources of staff and funds for this project are limited," Barber said. "That is why we have concentrated on those areas where we felt there was the most need and the most interest."

Co. Clerk Says Printer's Error Caused Problem

Preparations for an election are fraught with complications and chances of error.

On the error side, it was learned when the Floyd county ballots were received from the printer last week that the name of J.R. Key, one of two candidates for mayor of Martin, had been omitted altogether.

County Clerk Thomas D. Lafferty, Jr. says the omission was the fault of the printer, Harp Enterprises, that Harp has admitted as much and is reprinting the Martin ballot at no additional cost to the county.

All misprinted ballots that have been voted by absentee voters have been voided, and new and corrected ballots are going to these voters, the clerk said. Lafferty said he feels that if the voters will vote the new ballots immediately upon receipt and get them in the mails, they will arrive here in time to be counted on election day next Tuesday.

The complications faced in preparations for the Nov. 8 vote are both old and new. The old lie in the Senatorial redistricting which divided some precincts, most of which are in and around Prestonsburg. The new complications arise from the creation of some new precincts, these also in the northern end of the county.

County Clerk Lafferty listed the new or "split" precincts as Cliff No. 1 (that part of the original Cliff precinct that lies in Prestonsburg); Cliff No. 2 (East Point, Little Paint and Cliffside); Porter No. 1, with the voting place at the Fire Department building near Lancer; Porter No. 2, with the voting place at the bait shop on Lake road; Cow Creek and Buffalo.

The division of precincts was made, it was explained, to relieve overcrowding and eliminate the long lines of voters that in the past waited to get into the polling places, as well as for the convenience of voters.

These are some of the situations which make important for election officers the instruction session scheduled for them at 7 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) in the district courtroom here.

P'burg Utilities Get High Program Rating

When the Prestonsburg Water System was listed, several weeks ago, with other systems as in non-compliance with Kentucky Division of Water regulations, the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission and Bill H. Howard, utilities superintendent, were chagrined, to put it mildly.

Division of Water officials said the Prestonsburg plant had not submitted the required 10 water samples per month for laboratory tests. Howard insisted that the eight samples sent were all that had been requested.

It was no major violation, if there was one, all agreed, but the publicity had its damaging effect, it was argued locally.

But all arguments are now moot. The Division of Water has officially notified the Utilities Commission that only eight water samples are now required.

Even better news comes from the Kentucky Certified Cities Program for which John McCauley is coordinator here. In the section on City Utilities, Prestonsburg ranked among the top in the state, McCauley wrote Howard.

In this section of the state the overall certified rating of utilities is 75 percent for sanitary sewage disposal and 95 percent for water treatment.

"I was very pleased with these results, and would like to commend you for the fine job you are doing," McCauley wrote.

The Certified Cities Program is designed to supply an accurate evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of participating cities in varied services and facilities.

Returning to the subject of compliance with water testing requirements, Howard said the state's handling of water tests opens the door to cheating. "The state at one time had the health department take the water samples and forward them to the lab for testing. Now, this is all left to personnel at the water plants, and they could, if they were inclined to do so, get their samples anywhere—not necessarily from their own water supply—and send the samples for testing," he said. "I don't say that anybody would cheat on water samples in this way, but they easily could. I think it all should be returned to the health departments."

Floyd Getting Late Start In Kentucky War on Drugs

Kentucky is gearing up for a war on drugs, but Floyd county is not in the forefront of the battle. In fact, the relatively few who are ready for the fight fear most residents of the county aren't aware that there's a war going on.

Kentucky's War on Drugs, Inc. was created last March by Governor John Y. Brown, Jr., and is led by Ex-Gov. Julian Carroll. They have named Dr. William Berdine, University of Kentucky special education professor, to head the statewide fight.

Fifteen regional task forces have been formed and these have some 200 town meetings scheduled. These town meetings are a feature of the program that remains to be developed in this county. In fact, said one report, no town meeting have yet been organized in the five-county Big Sandy Area Development District.

For the present, leaders are urging the public—particularly, parents and young people—to give their attention to two Kentucky Educational Television (KET) broadcasts this week—the first tonight (Wednesday) and the second on Nov. 9, both beginning at 7:30 p.m. The two broadcasts are called "The Chemical People," and are hosted by First Lady Nancy Regan.

More than 70 Kentucky leaders gathered Friday night at the Hyatt Regency in Lexington for Governor Brown's briefing of the directors of Kentucky's War on Drugs, Inc. Dr. Ronald D. Mann, Pikeville, and Vance Smith, Paintsville, are members of the board of directors. Floyd county was represented at the meeting by Mrs. Frank H. Layne, Mrs. Harry W. Short and Wesley Howard.

"Our goal," said Dr. Berdine, "is to provide kids with an understanding of what drugs are, how they affect you and to learn to say no to them."

The first of the KET-TV programs tonight will outline the scope of drug abuse by today's youth and will seek to convince viewers to accept the problem and organize to solve it rather than hide behind a "wall of denial." The second, on Nov. 9, will present guidelines for the forming of task forces for educating and motivating people to take action against drug and alcohol abuse. It will also blueprint how communities can form parent groups and use existing alliances to take specific action.

As the effort to engage the interest of the public and to organize for the educational war on drugs was being stepped up locally, these facts were cited as compelling reasons for immediate action:

- The single leading cause of death among 15-24-year-olds is drunk driving.
- Roughly two-thirds of all Americans try an illicit drug before they finish high school.
- One in 16 high school seniors smokes marijuana daily.
- Over one-third have illicitly used drugs other than marijuana.
- Thirty-four per cent of high school seniors regularly abuse drugs.
- About one in 16 drinks alcohol daily; 41 per cent regularly abuse alcohol, with most of them starting chemical use between the ages of 11 and 14.

This Town...That World

Ah, November! If Thanksgiving (when we should count our blessings) come, Christmas (when we count what's left) can't be far behind.

I seem to have seen this somewhere before, but it's sound advice: Go to the polls and vote. The only vote that is completely lost is the one that is not cast.

HALLOWE'EN HOOLIGANS

Who says the youngsters aren't better behaved, these days? Not those who can remember Hallowe'ens past when, man and boy, there wasn't an outdoor toilet around that wasn't moved on "Tick-Tack" night to some prominent location such as the busiest street intersection in town... or blacksmith's anvil that didn't get buried... or a yard gate that wasn't lifted from its hinges and spirited away... or—where are you aging hooligans now?

THE DOGWOOD

There is a beautiful legend told of the dogwood, usually at Eastertime, of its storied use for the Cross and of the dark spots on its petals representing the Saviour's blood. All legend aside, it might be said that this little tree perhaps contributes, all the year long, more to the beauty of our hills than any other: in springtime, its cloud of white bloom; later, clusters of scarlet berries, and, finally, late in the year, its leaves flaming along dark hillsides. The dogwood doesn't grow to imposing heights, nor is (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Hamilton, Floyd Native, Killed in Beirut Blast

Lance Cpl. Virgil Hamilton, formerly of Floyd county, died in the October 23 terrorist bombing of the U.S. Marine Corps compound in Beirut, Lebanon.

Hamilton, born at McDowell and presently listed as a resident of Dayton, Ohio, was scheduled to leave Beirut October 31, only eight days after the bombing took place. According to Floyd county relatives, he had returned three days early to the Marine station from a five-day pass.

Edna Horn, Lancer, his grandmother, told The Times this week that Mrs. Freda Sue Webster, Hamilton's mother, had called the Tuesday after the bombing and had expressed the feeling that her son was not hurt. Shortly thereafter, the news came of his death.

James McKinny, of Craynor, kinsman of Hamilton, said Hamilton had admired the Marines early in high school. He said Hamilton wanted to be a part of the Marine Corps. McKinny said Hamilton had often expressed the view that the United States would be better off fighting the enemy over there as opposed to fighting on our own soil. "He felt that way, even though he was only a big kid of 18," McKinny said.

Hamilton, 20, had telephoned his wife, Gloria Brown Hamilton, Dayton, the weekend before the Beirut incidence.

Surviving him are his wife of 14 months, Mrs. Gloria Brown Hamilton, also formerly of Floyd county; his parents, Roscoe Hamilton, of Dayton, and Mrs. Freda Sue Webster, Sun City, Ariz.; one brother, Robert, and one sister, Mona, both of Sun City Ariz.

College Marks 20th Anniversary

The accomplishments of the past 20 years were reviewed, accolades were exchanged, and a collective expression of confidence in the future was expressed as Prestonsburg Community College began a year-long celebration of its founding with an anniversary luncheon, Saturday at the Carriage House, Paintsville.

The event, which featured present and former state officials, community college system leaders, alumni and interested citizens in general, was one of a number of similar observances which will be held throughout the state during the remainder of this year and during 1984 to mark the 20 years of existence of the two-year college system. The community college system was formed February 1, 1964 by the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees with seven institutions, including Prestonsburg, and since that time has grown to include 12 community colleges and one technical institute with a total enrollment of more than 22,000 students.

Following the luncheon, Dr. Henry A. Campbell, director of Prestonsburg Community College, who presided at the occasion, introduced Charles T. Wethington, Jr., chancellor of the community college system, who told the gathering that the system had succeeded in all respects in its original aim of "bringing higher education close to home." Wethington cited P.C.C.'s 28 percent enrollment increase (a record increase at the college) as typical of a recent upswing in enrollment throughout the system.

Dale Parnell, president of the American Association of Community & Junior Colleges presented commemorative cups to Wethington and former Governor Bert T. Combs, and honored Congressman Carl D. Perkins with the Harry S. Truman Award for his role in furthering education. Parnell said Perkins "has done as much for education as any single person I know."

Congressman Perkins, who, along with Bert Combs, is widely regarded as the two "moving forces" behind the founding of the U.K.-allied community (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Lake Visitors In Nine Months Pass 1 Million

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers estimates show that Dewey Lake in the nine months ending Sept. 30 attracted more visitors than in 12 months of either 1981 or 1982.

But it isn't likely that the impoundment will soon again be so popular. Next year, brand-new Paintsville Reservoir, only 15 miles away, will offer its newness as well as its picturesque features, and that is expected to relieve the congestion at Dewey.

Almost perfect weather for water sports and lakeside outings are credited with the big increase in visitors at Dewey during June, July and August. Those three months produced 685,690 of the 1,204,774 who visited the lake in the first nine months of this year. All 12 months of last year drew 1,167,146, and in 1981 the total was 1,109,754. Traffic Change Reaction Varied

The 1960's ballad about a fellow destined to ride forever on the Boston subway might have provided a theme for Prestonsburg motorists as they struggled to find a way out of town this week.

Source of the confusion was a traffic change ordered by the city council Saturday, which reversed the flow of traffic on part of Arnold Avenue.

The change, which was requested by downtown merchants concerned that there were more ways to get out of town than to get in, apparently pleases them.

But it left some motorists vowing that, if they ever found their way out, they would never be back.

The change affects Arnold Avenue between Court Street and the Bert Combs bridge. Where traffic there formerly ran north—that is, out of town—it now flows the other way. Motorists coming in that way can get to the heart of the downtown business district without having to negotiate the two sets of traffic lights on Lake Drive.

Getting out again is the problem. If you drive to the end of Court Street and take a right, you could "ride forever," as the old song had it. The trick is to take a left at the end of Court but, even then, a lengthy detour—up First Avenue, down Graham Street, and back on South Lake Drive—is in store.

Two intersections that were hazardous enough to begin with have become worse as a result of the change, police officers report. Traffic now converges on Court and Arnold from three directions, with predictable confusion. And joining South Lake Drive from Graham Street, always a challenge at peak traffic, is now even more perilous.

Hansel Cooley, vice-president of the Prestonsburg Business Association and an advocate of the change, said "it is working real well for us," although he acknowledged some motorists were "frustrated."

Introducing the change on a day when a merchants' promotion drew an estimated 3500 additional vehicles into town didn't help matters, Cooley noted. But he remained confident that any problems with the new traffic pattern could yet be worked out. "We're just trying to be a friendly town," he explained.

WHO CAN HELP ME IF DEATH OCCURS AWAY-FROM-HOME?

When the death of a loved one occurs away from home, call us right away, even if it is long distance, day or night. We can help make arrangements for immediate care of the deceased, quite possibly saving you considerably in duplicated expenses. If the services and burial will take place at home, we will make arrangements for transportation and escorts back to our funeral home, if that be your wish. If you prefer, we can make provisions for burial at the location of death or elsewhere. Through our affiliations with funeral homes throughout the country, we can help you make the best and most logical arrangements. Often we know personally, funeral directors elsewhere in whom we place great trust. These services can include use of funeral home, graveside services, burial and transportation of the family, casket and flowers to the gravesite. All arrangements are made exactly to your desires, but we need to know your wishes early in the planning stages. Should you ever be confronted with a death away from home, the only thing you need to remember is to phone us, night or day. We will serve you with the same concern and care for your comforts we are known for right here at home.

TO ALL COAL MINERS AND PEOPLE IN NEED:

As a retired coal miner, I noted that last week, my friend, representative Carl D. Perkins endorsed John M. Stumbo as our County Judge/Executive and asked for us to support him too. When I think about it, Carl Perkins' reasons are obvious. Carl Perkins has fought for our Black Lung, our Social Security, free lunches for children who need it, and Medicare. Lately, the Republicans have cut me and every disabled, elderly or poor person they can, any way they can.

Carl is still fighting, and doesn't want to see us turn our Court House and County Judges Office over to a Ronald Reagan supporter—Ron Frasure. The Republicans have shown they have no sympathy for us Coal Miners, our families and neighbors. So let's band together and support our party, the DEMOCRATS, and especially not let a man in our County Judge's office who will use that office to support Ronald Reagan's re-election, and his Republican cuts of what we need to live on.

Some say the party is not important, but if it is NOT important, to Ron Frasure, why did he register Republican to start with?

Obviously, Ron Frasure more closely identifies with what the Republicans stand for.

That's why I'm voting with Carl D. Perkins and for myself, STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC, including JOHN M. STUMBO for COUNTY JUDGE.

college system, said the greatest satisfaction to be derived from having a hand in the community college success story is the thought that "so many young men and women would never have received this level of education had it not been for the community college network."

Perkins spoke of the considerable cutbacks in funds to education in 1981 and of his continuing efforts to secure increased funding. Since funds are so limited, he said, "we're going to have to divide some money up between community colleges and vocational schools," but, he added, "they're not always in agreement." Perkins said he felt confident that "we'll have a better chance to finance the (community college) system as well as vocational education more than we have in the past few years."

Representative Greg Stumbo, who introduced the session's final speaker, former Governor Combs, spoke briefly of the 1984 Assembly, of what he termed "definite budget problems," and of the possibilities for funding.

Combs, who was referred more than once during the luncheon as "The Father of the Community College System," called the meeting "a nostalgic occasion for me," and listed the founding of the system as one of the two accomplishments during his years as governor that he was most proud of (the other being the building of the Mountain Parkway.)

"In the early '60's we were aware of something of a movement toward two-year colleges across the nation, and we didn't want Kentucky to be left behind," he explained. He especially stressed the importance of the relationship of the state's community colleges to the University of Kentucky saying, "we felt there must be a central university because of its superior research and other facilities," and he pointed to Kentucky as the only state besides "maybe Alaska and Hawaii," to have colleges attached to a "flagship university."

Combs cited the work of Dr. Campbell and stressed the importance of the role of college trustees, pointing particularly to Bob May, of Prestonsburg, who has been a P.C.C. trustee since the establishment of the college here, as an example.

Referring to all who had supported the college system through the years, former Governor Combs said, "From the vantage point of tomorrow's progress we can look back proudly and say, 'I had a part.'"

Ten Years Ago

(October 31, 1973)

Speaking at the Democratic rally here Saturday night, Adj. Gen. Richard Frymire told of plans for the construction in the Prestonsburg vicinity of a National Guard armory which will cost between $400,000 and $600,000. With the strike voted by union employees of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company a virtual certainty at 12:01 this (Wednesday) morning, the company set into motion the machinery to effect an orderly shutdown of its operations. One of Prestonsburg's older residences was extensively damaged Friday morning when fire broke out in a second story room of the home of Mrs. Sally Gatewood Clark on South Arnold Avenue. There died: Roy Gibson, 32, of Blue River, Thursday in a head-on collision at Lancer; Mrs. Louise Johnson, 57, of Melvin, October 27 at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Mrs. Artie Allen Hicks, 71, native of this county, Friday at Toledo, O.; Mrs. Maggie Parsons, 73, of Justell, Wednesday at Lexington; Emmitt Jones, 67, of Teaberry, Friday at Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Mrs. Virgie Osborne, 68, Thursday at her home at East McDowell; Mrs. Iva Dell Hall, 68, of Dema, Thursday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Wannie Collins, 66, of Endicott, Friday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Walter Prater, 66, of the Abbott Road, Thursday at Paintsville; Curley G. Moore, 49, of East McDowell, Thursday at Martin; Marion Setser, 92, of Prestonsburg, last Tuesday here.

Twenty Years Ago

(October 31, 1953)

Governor Bert Combs announced this week that a major tourist information center will be built by the state in the Prestonsburg area to serve the mountain region. Republican gubernatorial candidate, Louie B. Nunn, appeared at three points in this county last Thursday during a campaign swing through Eastern Kentucky. Fifty-eight fires have burned over 6,500 acres of woodlands in this county since October 8, it was said Wednesday by Arthur Leach, service forester. The City of Prestonsburg received a grant of $20,400 this week from the federal government for restoration of facilities needed following the flood last spring. Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill has presided at the last of the criminal court sessions of his term, it was said this week. Leva's Style Shoppe, established here several years ago by Mrs. Leva Clark, was sold recently to Mrs. Walta Lee Preston, of Paintsville. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burke, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Jennifer Kay, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Moore, of Frankfort, a daughter, Darlene, September 29. There died: Clinton Clay Cox, 47, formerly of Garrett, Friday at Long Beach, Calif.; Garland R. (Rush) Harris, 75, of Prestonsburg, here Friday; Mrs. Georgia Analee Cline, 41, of Wilbur, Ky., formerly of Floyd county, Thursday at Louisa; Mrs. Eva E. Boyd, 67, of Emma, Monday in Michigan; Mrs. Covia Nell Akers, 30, last Wednesday at home at Banner; Joseph Gibson, 75, of Wayland, Friday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(November 4, 1953)

In defeating Democratic nominee Bill Hall, of Betsy Layne, in last Tuesday's election, Gorman Collins, of Lackey, became the first Republican in 16 years to be elected sheriff of Floyd county. Negotiations are under way to procure a court order freeing the Elk Horn Coal Corporation of receivership. The Floyd County Board of Education in an Election Day meeting purchased from Roe Fannin the Betsy Layne theatre building which it will convert into a school lunchroom and kitchen. Billy Carr, race driver from Huntington, received a broken collar bone, Sunday, when his car was one of ten in a pile-up during a heat at the Allen race track. The first earth to be moved, Sunday, in ground breaking ceremonies for the Methodist church school building, in Prestonsburg, will be shoveled by Dr. C. L. Huttsiniller, it was announced by the pastor, Rev. Harold Dorsey. Coal production in the Big Sandy-Elkhorn area is above the tonnage mark achieved in the corresponding period last year, with 215,810 more tons having been loaded this year by October 24. There died: S. G. alley, Sr., of Floyd native, at Milford, O., October 21; William Leslie Stephens, 56, of Prestonsburg, at the home of his mother in Prestonsburg, Tuesday; Adam Bailey, 34, of Salina, O., former Floyd resident, at Lima, O., Monday; Jimmy Edsel Burchett, 19, of Lancer, at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, Sunday.

Forty Years Ago

With only 435 precincts yet uncounted in the state, the election of Judge Simeon S. Willis, Republican, of Ashland, as Kentucky's next Governor appeared certain, while Prestonsburg's W. H. (Bill) May had a slight lead over his Republican opponent for Lieutenant-Governor, but is expected to be hard-pressed before the count is completed. The United Mine Workers and Secretary Ickes agreed Wednesday night on a wage contract ending the nation-wide coal strike, and providing $1.50 a day earnings increase for soft coal miners. Big Ray Patton, 23-year-old Floyd countyman, in his first year of organized baseball, pitched 17 victories for Roanoke in the Piedmont League, and was the subject of a recent feature in The Sporting News. The Office of War Utilities acted Monday to reduce natural gas consumption in the Appalachian area by ordering all industrial consumers who have facilities capable of burning residential fuel oil to operate those facilities to the limit during the coming winter. Floyd county road machinery is being rented to citizens and private companies for public improvements at the expense of those who lease the machinery. First services were held, Sunday, in the new Baptist Church at Allen. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Claybourne Stephens, of Prestonsburg, a son, Claybourne, Jr., at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, last week; to Pfc. and Mrs. Glenn McNaughton, of Martin, a son, Glenn Joseph, III, at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin. There died: Miss May Baldrige, 22, of Goodloe, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital, Monday night; Cleve Isbell, 60, last week at the Stumbo Memorial Hospital, Lackey.

Fifty Years Ago

(November 3, 1933)

Charlie Smith, 45, of Ivel, succumbed to a bullet wound in his head, Tuesday night at the Beaver Valley Hospital. Twenty-two crippled children of this county were taken Friday in a bus chartered by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club to the crippled children's clinic in Ashland. Frank S. Parrigan, Paintsville engineer, is promoting a new sanitary sewer system for Martin. Two homes destroyed by fire this week were the old James Salisbury home at Allen, Saturday morning, and the residence of Buck Morris at Maytown, Monday. J. C. Ward, manager of the Unique Theatre, announces that he has purchased the Warner-First National product, which includes all of the biggest musical hits of the year. One is "Gold Diggers of 1933." The big show at the Unique this week is "What Price Innocence?" Married: Miss Ruth Francis and Mr. S. L. Isbell, both of Prestonsburg, October 28, at the parsonage of the Methodist Church, Prestonsburg. There died: Mrs. Zella Martin Estep, 62, at her home at Garrett, Friday; Mrs. Mary Calhoun Owens, 82, at her home in West Prestonsburg, Monday; Lewis Parker Mayo, 60, at his home near Martin, Wednesday; Charlie Frazier, 58, at the home of his daughter at Martin, Tuesday.

Foster Parents to 118 Children

OVER 19 YEARS, Emmel and Ollie Wallen have been foster parents to 118 youngsters. Social workers hope their example will prompt others to join the state-supported foster program.

Emmel Wallen has a notebook with the name of every child she and her husband Ollie have taken into their Water Gap home. The number—not counting their own four children—currently stands at 118.

The Wallens are foster parents—selected, trained and supported by the state Department of Social Services to take care of children whose parents, for whatever reason, are unable to do the job.

For 19 years, their trim cottage near the head of Bull Creek's long right fork has been home to four or five foster children at a time, usually for four or five years at a stretch—although on occasion there have been as many as 13 children in the house at one time and one youngster lived with them 13 years.

They have been called to area hospitals to pick up infants only days old—and they have seen some of their charges learn to drive, earn their first paycheck, grow into adults.

What makes people want to be foster parents? Ollie and Emmel Wallen have no finespun theories; only the obvious, "You have to like to work with children."

The state provides financial support as well as training and backup services for foster parents, although it's no way to make a fast dollar. The Wallens raise hogs—three are fattening now in anticipation of winter—and their large vegetable garden yielded around 50 bushels of potatoes this year. "Without that, we'd go in the hole," Mrs. Wallen explains.

Boarding rates have improved, however, backup services are better and training is more readily available, emphasized Steve Fox, the Department of Social Services' director of field services.

"Maybe we haven't talked enough about our program, the improvements we've made, the enjoyment foster families get from it," said Fox, who is hoping that a drive to get the word out to Kentucky communities will encourage more people to sign on as foster parents.

The need is there, Floyd county has only three foster families, said Harrietta Ranier, supervisor of the foster care program here. And, because their lives and values tend to center on the home, foster parents are not apt to seek the limelight, she theorizes.

"Most people in the community don't hear about our program unless something goes wrong," Mrs. Ranier noted last week. "They are probably unaware of all the things that go right."

The durable foster family headed by Ollie and Emmel Wallen is an example of things going right. More such families could be used here and across the state, say social workers. "Kentucky's foster care program has established a good track record," said Fox recently, "but we need more runners."

whom must now make a long loop to get to a gas station barely a block away, seemed willing to give the new system a chance. "It doesn't bother me," said Mrs. Victoria Spradin. And Preacher Jonas Miller said he was willing to go along with anything the city council decides.

But Mabel Poe, who cleans house for an Arnold Avenue client, called the change "awful unhandy." And Emma Lou Shepherd, who works at the county library, described it as "the biggest mess I've ever seen in my life."

Mrs. Winifred "Peachie" Collins, another library employee, said she has heard "a lot of complaints" about the change. "It's going to make a lot of people mad," she figured.

That is the last thing storekeepers want to see. "We really need to bring the people in here," said Cooley, "but we want them to be happy when they get here."

Reconciling those two objectives may not prove easy. One thing that could help, said Mayor Harold Cooley, is to make Arnold Avenue one-way all the way to Graham Street, a modification he intends to propose at next Monday's city council meeting. Others have suggested making it a two-way street, but that would eliminate parking there.

While the planners are working on improving the plan, city police officers have been busy writing tickets for motorists still operating under the old arrangement.

Between compromise and enforcement, city and business leaders are hoping they will yet hit on a workable plan. "The trouble is, we're dealing with a town laid out in horse-and-buggy days," Hansel Cooley summed up. "There are no easy solutions."

Anyone interested in taking in foster children can get more information about the program by calling 886-8192 weekdays, between 8 and 4:30. To be approved as a foster family, applicants must be evaluated and trained—a process that is not as arduous as it might sound, says Mrs. Ranier. "The people we want to talk to," she explained, "are people who want to enrich their family lives."

Floyd Jury Finds Greer Not Guilty Of Arson Charges

Despite police claims he had earlier confessed to the crimes, a 26-year-old Floyd man was acquitted yesterday (Tuesday) of two counts of arson stemming from the burning of two buildings at Printer, June 26 last year.

Leroy Greer was one of five men indicted for arson in connection with the burning of a grocery store owned by Elzie Adkins and a nearby Church of Christ on Spurlock Fork of Left Beaver Creek.

Also charged in the case were Ronnie Elliott, Jonathan Elliott, James "Bimbo" Collins and Steve Yates—none of whose cases has yet come to trial—and a juvenile.

A confession made by the defendant in the presence of state police last April figured prominently in the case. Circuit Judge Hollie Conley had earlier rejected a defense motion to suppress the statement.

State Police Arson Investigator James Barry McKenzie testified Greer confessed to setting both fires. Greer told him he had been drinking, had quarrelled with his wife, and torched the buildings "because he was upset with himself," McKenzie said.

In cross-examining the police officer, Public Defender Ned Pillersdorf suggested McKenzie had pressured Greer into making the confession by promising him immunity, giving him to believe that police already had a weight of evidence against him, and shouting at him. "You were all over the boy," Pillersdorf charged.

The defense attorney also made a point of apparent discrepancies between the confession elicited from his client and the results of McKenzie's own investigation.

INVITED AS PASTOR

Two hundred sixty-four persons were in attendance at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church last Sunday morning when the Rev. Stephen Dale Hopkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Woodsfield, Ohio, who has been recommended by the church pulpit committee to serve as pastor here, delivered the morning message. Following the services, lunch, which was prepared by the women of the church, was served in the nearby church annex.

One hundred twenty-eight persons attended Sunday evening's services at the church, and the vote to invite the Rev. Hopkins to assume the pastorate of this church was unanimous. Informed of this action by the Pulpit committee chairman, Eric Herrin, the Rev. Hopkins said he would let the church know his decision within the near future. He was accompanied here for Sunday morning's meeting, by Mrs. Hopkins and their small daughter, Rachel.

Tax On Unmined Land Top Solons Priority

Passage of a fair tax on unmined mineral property and the abolition of the broad form deed have been set as the 1984 legislative priorities for the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition.

KFTC members approved the priorities at the annual meeting held October 15 in Hazard.

The unmined minerals tax proposal calls for the levying of property taxes on unmined minerals at the same rate and by the same methods as all other property. This would protect the small land owner and farmer says KFTC.

Currently, unmined mineral property owners are virtually given exemption from payment of property taxes.

An unmined minerals tax bill has been filed in the Kentucky General Assembly. The group will be advocating a change in the interpretation allowed the so-called "broad form" deed. Such deeds were used around the turn of the century to sever mineral rights from surface ownership. But, in recent years, they have been used by mining companies to strip mine land without the surface owner's permission.

CARLA ROBINSON BOYD

Democrat Nominee for COUNTY COURT CLERK

"ELECTION DAY IS NOVEMBER 8TH"

I am urging each and everyone of you to use your privilege in voting on this day. If we do not express ourselves by voting for what and whom we think fit, we then do not have a right to complain about what is decided by the others that did vote. I am asking that on this Election Day, you, the people of Floyd County, elect me as your County Clerk for the unexpired term of my late uncle's office, C. "Ollie" Robinson. I have worked in the clerk's office both full-time and part-time. I am familiar with all aspects of the office. I will have the office open to serve the people of Floyd County with friendly, courteous personnel. As your Floyd County Clerk, my main goal would be to serve you with honest, professional service and to be a clerk whom you would be proud of.

I am again urging each of you to go to the polls, Tuesday, and vote for me, Carla Robinson Boyd as your County Clerk.

Thank you,
Carla

Relatives from out-of-town who attended the miscellaneous shower given for Miss Anne Holbrook, of Lexington, bride-elect of Mr. Greg Herrick, at the First United Methodist Church Friday evening, were her mother, Mrs. Jack Holbrook, of Sienna Vista, Ariz.; her grandmother, Mrs. Robert Smith, of Louisville; her sister, Miss Vicky Holbrook, a student at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond; her aunt, Mrs. Lela Bentley and her cousin, Mrs. Steve Bentley, both of Lexington.

Kentuckians Sell Bad Water To Demonstrate a Problem

Helen Newsome, of Ligon, explains to newsmen the problems she and her neighbors have with black water coming from a coal processing plant located near their homes. Mrs. Newsome was with others from eastern Kentucky at "The Last Resort" in Frankfort to illustrate problems with water quality and state inaction in such matters. (KFTC photo)

One wouldn't be able to find drinks such the "Brine Brew", the "Clover Fork Cooler" or the "Thirst Quencher" on the menu of any restaurant in town, but last Thursday those drinks and several others with equally suspicious titles could be found at "The Last Resort" on the steps of the Capitol Plaza Tower in Frankfort.

Residents from several Kentucky communities brought their problems with water quality to the state capitol to illustrate their frustrations with government inaction in protecting their drinking water. They came with jars of water from their homes and streams, set up an old fashioned-type lemonade stand called The Last Resort in front of the building that houses the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet offices, and tried to interest passers-by in trying a sample of the "Rough and Tough Rumbler" or the "Ligon Lopsider."

"Coal mining, oil and gas drilling, and other land uses and disturbances have caused serious pollution of our creeks and rivers and have caused hundreds of water wells to go dry or become contaminated," said Hazel King of Harlan county. "The problems have resulted primarily from careless and oftentimes illegal practices, yet the state has continually refused to adequately enforce existing laws and regulations in order to stop this pollution and protect our public water supplies."

There were no takers for the water which ranged from clear with rusty specks floating in it to a coal black color. Demonstrators emphasized that the water was much more than just muddy or dirty and that it contained concentrations of heavy metals, salts, and runoff from toxic substances.

Many of the samples were taken from the faucets in the homes of those protesting in Frankfort, and is the only source of drinking water they have. Other samples were taken from creeks and rivers that run near their homes.

A "menu" was passed out to those who stopped at the stand which gave descriptions for each of the drinks. Brine Brew was described as "perhaps the most fan-toxic combination of salts, heavy metals and organic compounds." The very acidic Rough and Tough Rumbler, taken from a mine drainage site in Floyd county, was "guaranteed to clean you out... and then some."

Listed as "possibly the best drink to be found in eastern Kentucky" was the Thirst Quencher. It was an empty jar of water.

The problems with contamination of water in two Floyd county communities were among those represented at The Last Resort.

Helen Newsome took a sample of water from her kitchen faucet as well as from Clear Creek which runs near her home at Ligon. The menu description for the "Ligon Lopsider" was: "wicked wastewater from a coal crusher."

"We're experiencing black water...it's running out of our faucets, through our creek," Mrs. Newsome explained, supported by the black samples of the Lopsider.

"There are laws, but they are not enforced," she added. "I've called hundreds of times, but I'm ignored."

Other Floyd County samples included the "David Delight" and the "Rough and Tough Rumbler," also from the David area. Both were from runoff at mine operations, with the Delight said to "work like magic...turns everything it touches to brown."

Council To Hear Proposals
Of Floyd Hospitals, Others

The State Health Planning Council will hold a special meeting next Thursday and Friday, next week, to review proposals and hear presentations from approximately 50 hospitals seeking status as level II facilities in the state's new, three-tier acute care system.

Area hospitals seeking this status are Highlands Regional Medical Center, Prestonsburg; Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center, Paintsville; Williamson Appalachian Regional Hospital, South Williamson, Ky.

The 1983-86 State Health Plan requires a regional approach that categorizes hospitals as area hospitals (level I), medical service centers (level II) or tertiary care centers (level III). Cabinet for Human Resources health planners say the designations will be the first step toward regionalization, which is to be the basis for local health planning, implementing cost containment policies and setting priorities for future acute care capital expenditures. A limit of $166 million has been set on such expenditures for 1984.

Under the plan, the most basic and frequently needed diagnostic procedures and treatments are to be available in area hospitals. Level II medical service centers will provide diagnostic, treatment and rehabilitative services for more complicated illnesses and injuries. Two or more hospitals in the same service area may coordinate services to be a single level II center.

The highly specialized, high-technology services will be provided by hospitals in Louisville and Lexington tertiary centers.

The State Health Planning Council is assigned the task of determining appropriate designations for existing hospitals in the state. Last month the council sent to hospital administrators letters detailing the determinations process. Those interested in obtaining medical service center status for their facilities were asked to complete a questionnaire to help the council determine which hospitals can best serve as level II centers in the three-tier plan.

Dr. George Kent, director of the state's Division of Health Planning, said one objective set forth in the State Health Plan is to have the lowest number of medical service centers that will place level II care within 90 minutes, travel time of 90 percent of the state's population. He said the council has received at least 54 completed questionnaires and requests for level II designation.

The meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on both days at the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce office on U.S. 60 (Versailles Rd.), Frankfort.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Having your blood pressure checked is a painless, yet informative way to help you understand what is going on inside your body. It measures the pressure exerted by the blood upon the walls of the arteries and veins.

Your blood pressure is affected by what you are thinking, what you are doing, by stress, obesity, high-salt (sodium) intake, etc. It is therefore important for you to know within what range your blood pressure usually falls. Blood pressure above your normal range for extended periods of time can be dangerous. Frequent blood pressure checks can be helpful, and perhaps you may want to learn to monitor it yourself.

Excess weight is a major contributing factor in high blood pressure. Your Diet Center Counselor can provide you with assistance in planning a program for good health and proper weight control.

KEA Asks Pay Raise For State's Teachers

The Kentucky Education Association—representing 29,000 teachers in the state—has released a comprehensive proposal for educational reform that includes raising average teacher's pay by $2,000 a year until at least the national average is reached.

The document says, however, that pay alone will not accomplish educational excellence. It calls for improvements in many areas including:

- testing students each year to measure basic skill competencies established under state guidelines;
- limiting the size of classes at various grade levels;
- requiring school districts to establish policies for improving discipline and reducing class interruptions;
- earmarking sufficient funds to improve the books, laboratory equipment and supplies needed to teach children properly;
- providing testing and an internship year for new teachers and effective evaluation of experienced teachers.

The report also calls for improving the physical conditions in schools and the in-service and graduate training of teachers as well as studying the school curriculum, the length of the school day and school year, and merit pay.

The report restates KEA's desire to be open-minded about merit and other forms of incentive pay for teachers, but says that teachers will be more receptive to such ideas after all teachers are paid on a par with other professionals.

The proposal called "Mandate for Educational Excellence: KEA's Call to Action" is intended to put teachers in a position of leadership in the educational reform movement that will be a primary focus of the 1984 Kentucky General Assembly.

KEA President Jon Henrikson, of Letcher county, and Executive Director Larry Diebold, of Frankfort, have pledged to work with all other groups interested in improving Kentucky's schools.

The report notes that real educational reform will take time and tax increases to provide the needed money.

"Money is not the only answer to educational excellence, but we do not believe that educational excellence can be accomplished without it," Henrikson said.

He predicts that the public is ready to face the challenge of underwriting educational reform. "We think the climate has changed in terms of the importance of education—in the nation, in this state, and in the school districts."

KEA is also calling for 1000 special state scholarships to entice bright high school graduates into the teaching profession.

The report suggests making it harder for 16-year-olds to drop out of school. It would require any student wishing to drop out to receive counseling and, if that failed to obtain a "permit" to drop out.

On salary, KEA is asking that teachers be paid at least on a par with teachers in the seven surrounding states and ultimately on a par with the national average. Last year's average salary for Kentucky teachers was $18,384. The average for the seven surrounding states was $19,091 and the national average was $20,603.

Should Law Term Be Accorded Freedom To Discriminate?

Law firms should be free to discriminate against women when deciding whether to promote them to partners because "lawyers are different—they're essential to the enforcement of the Constitution," the Supreme Court was told yesterday.

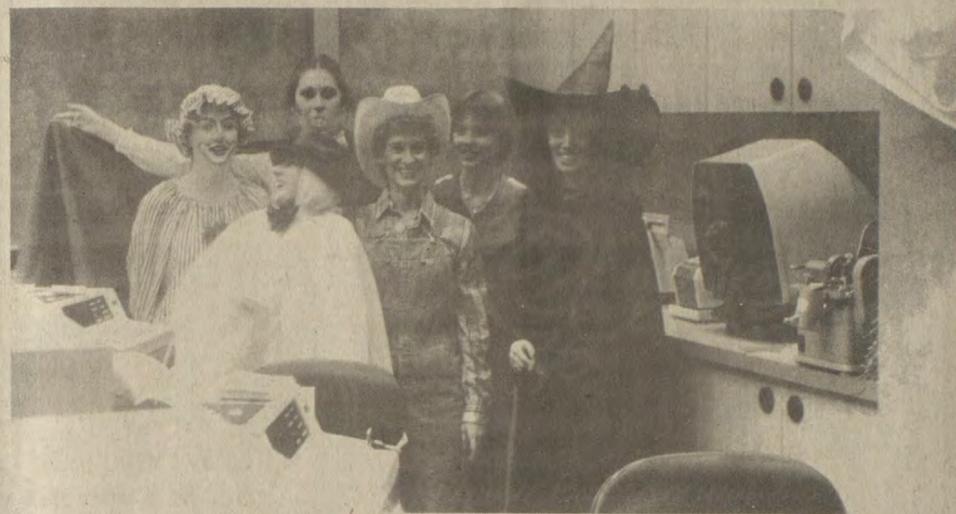

The remark, greeted with apparent skepticism by some of the justices, was made by well-known civil rights lawyer Charles Morgan Jr. on behalf of the Atlanta-law firm of former Attorney General Griffin B. Bell.

Morgan urged the court to rule against Elizabeth Anderson Hishon, who has charged that Bell's century-old law firm of King & Spalding refused to make her a partner because she is a woman.

Deputy Sheriff George Horn Slightly Wounded Saturday

Church was largely attended at this place Sunday. Services were in charge of Revs. Tom Moseley and Hiram Hall, of Melvin, Kentucky. Miss Nora Salyers, teacher at Borders, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Turner. Miss Doll Salisbury and Mrs. Robert Spurlock, of Hunter, spent Saturday with their sister, Mrs. Euing Gibson. W. D. Sutton, of Ashland, was a business visitor here Tuesday. Earle Marti, Pippapass, Ky., spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Martin. Mrs. O. H. Stumbo and son, Oliver Hanson, of Prestonsburg, were the week-end guests of Mrs. W. H. Mathis and Mrs. W. J. Myers. Bob Frasure was a business visitor in Martin Saturday. John Stumbo, of Harold, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. May Stumbo. Born—to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Spencer, October 13, a son.

Deputy Sheriff George Horn was shot through the hand and arm late Saturday afternoon by Arthur Ramey at the corner of Court and Second streets when he accosted Ramey after hearing of the latter being intoxicated and flourishing a pistol. When Mr. Horn told the other to take his hand from his pocket, Ramey jerked a .25-caliber automatic and fired. The officer caught Ramey's hand, or he would have, in all probability, been more seriously wounded. The bullet lodged in the forearm. Mr. Horn later took the man to the county jail. Upon waiting examining trial Tuesday morning, he was given bail in the sum of $2,000, but failed to execute bond.

LOUISA

MINISTER DROPS DEAD

Rev. Jesse Thompson, 75, dropped dead Thursday night in the county road below Peyton Blackburn's store on Lick Creek, as he was returning from church. He was a resident of Adams and was a minister of the Freewill Baptist Church.

LOUISA VICTOR, 7-0

Louisa High School's football eleven defeated Catlettsburg High here Saturday 7 to 0 for the fourth victory over the Gate City team in seven years. The victory is Louisa's second this year. Louisa's line bucks and end runs seldom failed to net long gains, and four times Louisa was in scoring distance of Catlettsburg's goal. But on all save one occasion the ball was lost on downs or by fumbles. At such critical times Catlettsburg needed to punt 11 times, and Hale, her quarterback, did good work at it, sending the ball far up the field over yardage which his team had stubbornly relinquished. Weighing around 146 pounds, Catlettsburg's team was flashy and played a clean game, fighting valiantly until the last whistle.

PHYSICIANS MEET

A large number of the doctors of the county met in Louisa on the 6th, and were guests of Dr. W. L. Orr and Dr. L. S. Hayes at a luncheon served by the ladies of the M. E. Church, South.

After luncheon the physicians discussed a number of topics that were of interest to them. Dr. Orr outlined the nature and extent of the work to be done by the Health Unit, some of the principal things of which are the inoculation of the school children against typhoid fever, diphtheria, and the vaccination against smallpox. Examination of the school children to detect any abnormalities or evidence of diseases is a very important item of the work of this unit.

THREATENED DUCKING INSPIRING

A dinner party was given on Tuesday evening by A. H. Snyder at his home on Lady Washington street in honor of Mr. James Q. Lackey, whose marriage was to take place the following day. After a lovely dinner, it being a farewell party, Mr. Lackey's friends furnished ample entertainment for him until long past midnight, only giving him time from the Snyder party for a ride around town on horseback while handcuffed and strapped to the old gray nag. He was given his choice between making a speech at the picture show and taking a ducking in the river. Being quite an orator he visited the show. Besides the guest of honor the following enjoyed Mr. Snyder's hospitality: I. W. See, C. E. Skaggs, E. K. Spencer, W. T. Cain, Jr., Dr. H. H. Sparks, James Hughes, George Burgess, John Vaughan, K. C. Elswick, Prof. A. F. Young, H. P. T. Vanhooze, and J. L. Richmond, of Huntington, W. Va.

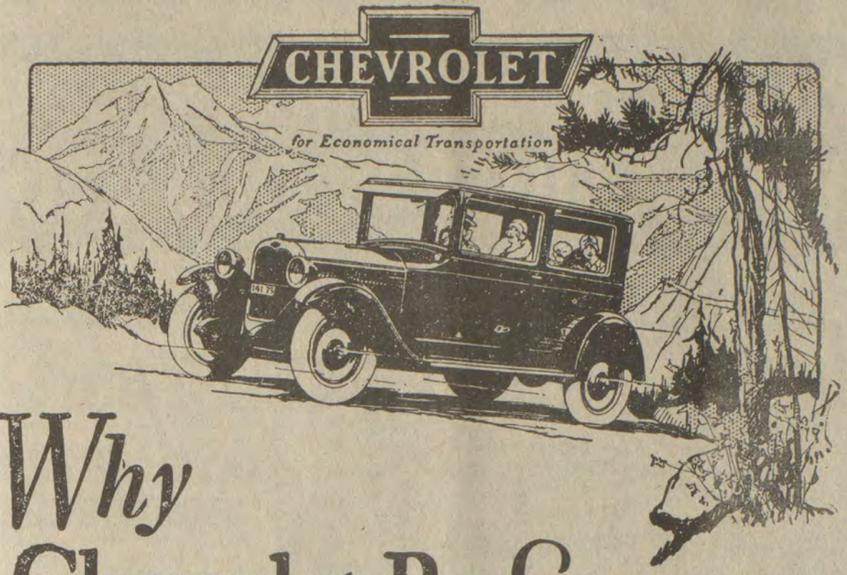

OLD-TIME POUNDING

The members of the congregation of the Methodist Church, South, on last Monday evening, gave the new pastor, and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Harvey C. Porter, an "old time Methodist pounding." Rev. and Mrs. Porter were taken by surprise when about 7:00 p. m. the people of the church began filing in. Before all had arrived the living room of the parsonage was filled with people and the large quantity of supplies they had brought with them for the parsonage pantry. Rev. Porter in his brief acceptance speech said that he and Mrs. Porter would try all through the year to show the membership of the church how very much they appreciate this genuine expression of their kindness and the warm welcome that has been extended them since arriving last week.

PRESENT AT WEDDING

Relatives from other points who came to Louisa to attend the Hughes-Lackey wedding included Congressman and Mrs. J. A. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Corns, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Richmond and son, George, Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Hager, of Huntington, W. Va., Miss Gertrude Hughes, Mrs. R. D. Dawson, and Mrs. H. VanSant, of Ashland, and Mrs. A. C. McClure, of Norton, Va.—Big Sandy News.

Lackey School News (Last week's correspondence)

REVIEW OF SCHOOL WORK The school here has been in session for seven weeks and is making excellent progress. All the students, as well as the teachers, manifest much enthusiasm. We are hoping for a splendid year.

Following are the teachers of the Lackey school: Ishmael Triplett, principal; T. W. Eversole, assistant high school teacher; Mrs. Martha Allen, seventh and eighth grades; Burnim Prater, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Leona Gott, second and third grades; Miss Anna Layne, first grade; Miss Edna Layne, primary grades, upper school.

The high school boys have organized a basketball team. Prospects for a strong team are seemingly good.

The girls of the High School have a volley ball team which is doing good work. The team has all indication of becoming a good one.

Noah Akers, Jr., has moved to Lackey so that his sons can attend school. The boys are making good in all of their school activities.

Teacher Ill. Mr. Eversole, assistant high school teacher, has been ill and unable to meet his classes for the past few days. He has had his tonsils removed. It is hoped by his classes that he will be able to meet them again very soon.

Club Work The high school has both a literary society and a science club. Much good work is expected from each organization.

The graded school is doing fine and attendance is exceptionally good. A protracted meeting starts at the Lackey school building this week.

TORTOISE LIVES LONG BUT TRAVELS LITTLE

Thirty-three years ago Jake Workman, while plowing in a field on his father's farm at Salt Petre, came across a tortoise and cut his initials and the date on it thus—"J. C. W. 94." A few days ago one of his boys, while out squirrel hunting, chanced to find this very tortoise. The initials and date were clearly discernable. Mr. Workman was here for jury service this week and showed the tortoise to a number of people. It caused a lot of comment. The reptile had evidently been on the same farm these many years as it was found not far from the place where Mr. Workman found it and cut his initials on it in 1894.—Big Sandy News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A TRUE STORY

Don't you see what whisky is doing for this world? Can't you see that it is fast bringing it to ruin?

If you haven't yet stopped to think, for God's sake, for the world's sake, for your own sake, stop now, for it is high time. Don't you see our sons, our brothers, our husbands, our old fathers, and even some of our christian men being led astray by moonshine. Some forsaking everything, their homes, their families, their positions, everything, all for the sake of booze.

I wish to speak to the head of the house. You say you are a good fellow—you won't drink moonshine. But I see you harbor it and uphold the man who does drink it. Does not the Bible say, "If you are guilty of the least, you are guilty of the whole"? I say there is too many of our citizens speaking in favor of whisky.

The time has come when some men think they are not popular if they haven't a quart or half gallon handy to pass around to their good friends. Fathers, I feel that some of you are not advising your sons against it like you should. Instead of giving advice, I fear that some of you get in some dark corner and drink with them.

If we would all cry against whisky, instead of upholding those that deal with it, times would be better. But I feel that some of our lawyers and officers are not striving against it like they should. Sometimes I think they don't try to find the moonshine still unless they are wanting a dram. We hear some men exclaim "I just drink enough to feel good." What is a drunkard, if it is not the man that drinks it for the effect? Christian men, the Bible says that old men should be grave, sober and temperate, and that young men should be sober. Do you suppose it meant for us to go around, half-drunk, giddy-headed, in a care-for-nothing state of mind? No; God forbid! I hear some men saying "there would be better times if whisky was voted back again." Fellow men, for God's sake don't vote for it, for as wild as they are after it in secret, what would happen if they could come openly with it? You haven't forgot the killing that has been caused by whisky. Can't you hear the sighs of the widows, mothers' prayers, sisters' sobs and the cries of the orphan and the drunkard's child? Don't you think this a true story? Your hearts will say YES, but your tongue will say NO! A FRIEND.

HONOR MRS. HENSLEY WITH SURPRISE PARTY

Honoring Mrs. John Hensley upon the occasion of her birthday anniversary, a number of friends entertained Wednesday evening, October 12, with a pretty surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davidson.

Mrs. Hensley received a number of dainty remembrances from her friends. A pleasant evening was spent at bridge, with Mrs. W. C. Rimmer receiving high score prize. Lovely refreshments were served the following guests:

- Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. L. S. Moles, Mrs. Blaine Smith, Mrs. W. C. Rimmer, Mrs. S. L. Spradlin, Mrs. G. R. Spradlin, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davidson, Miss Jo Ann Allen, Miss Ella Noel White and Mr. Bee Whitis.

Mrs. H. G. Noble was the guest of Mrs. C. L. Davis, of Ashland, Sunday and Monday of last week.

By HAROLD COOLEY

After the age of forty, women are susceptible to a "change in life" known as the climacteric or menopause. At first occurrence, progesterone ceases to be secreted. Then, estrogen production starts a slow decline that may last for years. Both progesterone and estrogen are the female sex hormones that are responsible for female sexual characteristics. The lower amounts of estrogen secreted by a woman help to bring on the symptoms of menopause which can include hot flashes, irritability and perspiration at inappropriate times. However, they can be treated and usually controlled by administering estrogen from an outside source. Dosage is carefully monitored by a physician.

When your physician is monitoring any condition and feels it necessary to prescribe medication please have him call COOLEY APOTHECARY. We offer everyday low prices on our prescriptions and complete patient profiles. All of this plus personal service. It is no wonder that your friends and neighbors already rely on us. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Open: Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30, Sat., 9-4. Master Charge and Visa.

SLUDGE PIT YAWNS in front of the old Ligon schoolhouse from which four families were evicted last week. Various reasons were given for the evictions, a coal company claiming the area is needed for construction of a new pond, health officials noting the old school was the site of a recent outbreak of hepatitis, and some alleging the company is getting back at its critics.

Ligon School Occupants
Receive Eviction Notices

All but one of the families living in the old Ligon schoolhouse had moved out Friday as the result of a sudden eviction notice that some link to recent complaints by citizens about the operation of a Clear Creek tipple.

Of the four families—including 19 children, by one count—who have been living in the rundown building, only Sonia Perez and her three youngsters were left last week.

Noting that members of at least two of the families recently signed a petition circulated in the Ligon area accusing the Left Beaver Coal Company of polluting their drinking water, some saw in the evictions a form of retaliation by the coal firm.

Since 1971, Left Beaver Coal has leased the former school to Hubert and Oma Pennington, who converted it into apartments for rent. The building lacks indoor plumbing and has fallen into disrepair. It fronts on an open sludge pit fed by waste from the neighboring tipple. Garbage has accumulated nearby.

Company officials denied they were motivated by a desire to retaliate, although they acknowledged a link between the evictions and the earlier protest. Government inspectors who descended on Ligon in response to citizen complaints are forcing the company to "clean up" the old schoolhouse area, one explained.

Whatever the firm's motives in forcing the tenants out, the schoolhouse and its surroundings are not fit for human habitation, some health workers argue. Several cases of infectious hepatitis were diagnosed among schoolhouse residents about a month ago, a nurse at the Mud Creek Clinic reported, and Floyd Health Department Administrator Earl Compton confirmed there have been 11 recent cases in the Ligon area.

In the meantime, the woman who has headed efforts to block renewal of Left Beaver Coal's federal waste discharge permit was in Frankfort Thursday for a sidewalk demonstration aimed at dramatizing east Kentucky's water woes.

At a mock refreshment stand set up on the steps of the Capitol Plaza Tower, which houses the offices of the state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Helen Newsome joined members of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition in offering passers-by a variety of "drinks brought to you courtesy of industry and state neglect."

Bottles of murky water were labeled with comic names and descriptions—one called "Ligon Lopsider" was described as "wicked wastewater from a cool coal crusher"—and an accompanying flyer charged the state with refusing to take the measures needed to insure clean drinking water.

Mrs. Newsome recently raised questions about the stability of a slag heap created by Left Beaver Coal at the head of Clear Creek and charged that runoff from the dump is contaminating area wells. A petition she circulated, seeking assistance from federal and state environmental agencies, gathered 167 signatures.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has held up what promised to be a routine renewal of Left Beaver Coal's national pollutant discharge elimination system (NPDES) permit, pending an investigation of the complaints.

Last week's schoolhouse evictions represent a company attempt to intimidate those who signed the petition, Mrs. Newsome believes. Moreover, some who signed the complaint have been told by company officials they may no longer gather stray coal from the tipple, as many have been accustomed to do for years, she said.

Bobby Joe Flanery, one of those who was told to vacate the schoolhouse by November 1, shares Newsome's view. His landlady told him, his wife and their nine children they would have to leave, he said, "because I signed a petition asking the coal company to provide clean water and stop pumping water in the creek bed as well as cleaning up the gob hole by the school."

Repeated attempts to elicit a public statement from company officials were unavailing and one official reportedly called off a meeting with activists scheduled for last Wednesday.

But the reason given by one official for the evictions, The Times learned, is that the schoolhouse needs to be razed and a new pond constructed on the site, in accordance with instructions from federal and state inspectors.

Even before last month's hepatitis outbreak, health workers were concerned about conditions at the schoolhouse. In the summer months, children frolicked in the nearby sludge pond, reckoned by observers to be very hazardous and likely contaminated by sewage as well as coal waste.

Apart from the schoolhouse evictions, Left Beaver Coal is denying coal to some Ligon residents because they signed the complaint circulated by Mrs. Newsome, Kenneth Gayheart, of lower Ligon, charged last week. When he went to the tipple to get a customary pickup load of spilled coal, foreman Glenn Turner told him he couldn't get any for that reason, Gayheart said.

Another tipple employee, Eugene Gibson, gave her son, Bee Bob, the same message, said Florence Newsome, of Clear Creek.

Turner declined comment on the charges.

Whether or not intimidation has anything to do with it, some Ligon residents now appear more wary of criticizing the coal firm and some of those who signed the petition say they did not understand it might be used to block the operating permit of a tipple that employs 21 men from that community.

Howard Wilhite said last week he signed the document because he understood it as a request to be hooked onto the Mud Creek water system. Kenneth Gayheart and his brother-in-law Dean Tackett insist they signed only because they were told the coal firm planned to construct a silt dam at the head of Clear Creek.

But there will be no turning back for Helen Newsome, who sued recently under the Freedom of Information Act to get reports of EPA inspections carried out on Clear Creek in September. While her involvement has drawn alleged telephone threats, "they're not going to make me hush," she vowed last week.

Nor will there be any retreat for Sonia Perez, who signed no petition but said last week she would be moving out of the schoolhouse just as soon as she could find another place.

"We'll survive," she said simply. "We're poor, but we're survivors."

Kudzu, Weed or Plant
Whose Time Has Come

Kudzu is that rapidly growing, leafy vine you see covering the ground and trees beside the highways in eastern and southern Kentucky.

That is kudzu at its worst—an out-of-control, unwelcome weed. But there is a good side to kudzu, says Dr. Deborah Hill, Extension forestry specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Kudzu has a variety of potentially valuable uses," said Hill. "It can be made into a very high quality paper, it is a high-protein forage crop, it is a nitrogen fixing legume and, because it produces very few seeds, the foliage makes good mulch or compost."

Another potential use for kudzu is to burn it with coal in power plants. "Kudzu has about 50 percent of the heat value that coal has, which isn't bad, and it has a very low sulfur content," Hill said.

"And, of course, it is very renewable because of its rapid growth," she said.

Wire twisters used to fasten plastic bags and bread wrappers can be useful for fastening lights to Christmas trees.

Fungus Involved
In AIDS Disease

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome may be caused by a plant fungus that mimics a drug used to lower immunity in organ-transplant patients, a report by federal scientists says.

"We are working around the clock on it," said Dr. Thomas Folks, one of the researchers. "We are very excited about it."

But the report by the research group emphasized that the results were "extremely preliminary."

The fungus, which has never been known to cause disease in human, has been found in the blood of victims of AIDS. It produces a substance that is chemically similar to cyclosporin, a new drug used to temporarily lower natural resistance in transplant patients.

Petitions May Force
Voter Tax Election

Petitions turned in yesterday could force the Hardin County School Board to roll back a proposed tax rate or hold a voter referendum.

Hardin County Clerk David Logsdon said about 250 pages of signatures were turned into his office yesterday calling for the vote.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE
FLOYD COUNTY:

For the past two weeks, both myself and my family have been surprised and disillusioned by a series of ads placed in this paper by Claude Swiney and Donald Puckett, whereby they made strong personal attacks upon my integrity and character. The age-old political advice to one in my position has been to ignore these attacks, that in responding you simply bring more attention to them. Nevertheless, I feel the public should realize the nature of the type of opposition which I am encountering in this campaign.

Claude Swiney, the "life-long Democrat", who now has decided he wished to support my Republican opponent, failed to point out that he approached me several weeks ago desiring a job as the Floyd County Planner, presumably at a salary in the range of $24,000 per year. I advised Mr. Swiney that the current situation in Floyd County, with the deficit that I inherited as well as vanishing coal severance money, simply did not leave room for such a position. In direct response to Mr. Swiney's criticism of our employment of the Judge Pro-Tem and his salary of $18,000, I would like to point out that between that Judge Pro-Tem and myself we have replaced duties that were heretofore performed by 7 separate county positions. At one time, the County was paying a Purchasing Officer $16,500 a year, a County Planner $24,000 a year, a Flood Plain Administrator at $16,350 a year, a Secretary for the Flood Plain Admr. at $9,012, a Judge Pro-Tem at $12,780 a year; a Receptionist at $12,780 a year and a Personnel Director at $21,500 a year. All of these positions and expenditures of YOUR money have been eliminated and consolidated into TWO (2) positions, MINE and the DEPUTY JUDGE. The net savings of that action is $95,072 a year above present salaries!!!!

As to Donald Puckett, who placed last week's ad, I simply need to say that he is Ron Frasure's brother-in-law. I assume that this week's personal attack will come from someone equally impartial.

During this campaign I have not attempted to judge or criticize my predecessors and WILL NOT do so now. I can only say what must be done in the future. With the money we have now—which is $1.2 million LESS than the year before—I MUST ACT ACCORDINGLY. As a Democrat it would be wonderful if I could have the support of each and every Democrat, but it has and always will be that certain people will put their OWN self-interest above party loyalty. SO BE IT! I place my confidence in the people of Floyd County and pray that you recognize that I am doing the best job that current financial circumstances allow. In the short time I have been here, I have managed to bring us from a Deficit situation INTO THE BLACK. Hard times are here and they will continue for some time; thus, I MUST maintain a tight-fisted attitude with YOUR money. The dollars are few and MUST be used for services, not just producing jobs for people who consider themselves politically influential. This creates the type of opposition that fights hard and bitterly.

Therefore, I respectfully request each Floyd County's support to give you the most HONEST and EFFICIENT services that our finances allow.

JOHN M. STUMBO

LET'S TAKE PRIDE IN PRESTONSBURG

MAXINE S. BIERMAN ★ CITY COUNCIL ★ NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

I have an inner spirit which inspires me to work for a goal—to work for the love of it—and the satisfaction of achieving the good I can do for the benefit of our fellow men and women.

The world has changed rapidly in the past year, and you have recognized that if ever there was a time when citizens needed to band together for the common good—that time is now. It is increasingly clear that the solution to the problems that face Prestonsburg lie with the people.

ELECT MAXINE S. BIERMAN ★ CITY COUNCIL ★ NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

Pd. for by candidate (11pd.)

EIGHT PERSONAL REASONS WHY, ON NOVEMBER 8TH, I WILL CAST MY VOTE FOR

RONALD FRASURE

For County Judge Executive

- #1) Gwendolyn S. Hall—"Daughter"—Senior, Allen Central High
- #2) Curtis R. Hall—"Son"—3rd grade, McDowell Elementary
- #3) Janie Wright—"Granddaughter"—Freshman, McDowell High
- #4) Janice Wright—"Granddaughter"—6th grade, McDowell Elementary
- #5) E. J. Wright—"Grandson"—3rd grade, McDowell Elementary
- #6) Stephanie Hall—"Granddaughter"—2nd grade, McDowell Elementary
- #7) Alisha Morgan—"Granddaughter"—Future Student of Floyd County School System.
- #8) Margaret Morgan—"Granddaughter"—Future Student of Floyd County School System.

Carl can only give you one personal reason why he supports the other candidates, "They are Democrats." Well, Carl, that's no longer reason enough in Floyd County. We live here; we know the problems; we are now looking for solutions. So when you go to the polls next Tuesday, close the curtains with an open mind, and ask yourself, "How many reasons do I have?"

THINK ABOUT IT!!

CURTIS HALL

McDowell, Ky.

Has 4th Birthday

Leslie Dawn Newsome, daughter of Jimmy and Glenda Newsome, of Teaberry, celebrated her fourth birthday October 17 at her home. She is the granddaughter of Victor and Mildred Osborne, of Beaver, and Allard and Nellie Newsome, of Shalbiana. Guests attending the party were Michelle Newsome, Lisa Osborne, Rebecca Osborne, Tiffany Osborne, Leonard Osborne, Eugenia Osborne, William Newsome, Robin Newsome, Eric McKinney, Brent Newsome, Vickie Watkins, and Tracey Bentley. A Raggedy Ann and Andy birthday cake was served and many gifts and cards were received.

Retires as Little Miss

Kelly McKay retired as Floyd county's Little Miss Red, White & Blue for 1982-'83 at the annual R W & B pageant, Oct. 8. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKay, of Bevinville, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Talt Johnson, also of Bevinville, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKay, of Sterling Heights, Michigan. John Ferarri was her escort at this year's pageant. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Louie Ferarri, of Bypro.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Hershel Hall would like to express thanks to all who helped during the passing of our loved one. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers, and words of comfort during this time of sorrow; to the ministers for their kind and comforting words, and to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

PSC Studies Move To Dismiss Bell's Rate Increase Bid

The Kentucky Public Service Commission has taken a motion under advisement that called for dismissal of South Central Bell's $163.2 million rate increase request.

The regulatory commission also is considering a compromise proposal offered by the company that would delay action on some $67 million of the proposed increase.

Intervenor in the case, including the state Department of Finance and Benjamin J. Lookofsky, a Mayfield attorney, have asked for dismissal contending they don't have enough time to study and prepare responses to additional data Bell officials have filed.

Company officials contend they have complied with PSC rules for filing new information while having to contend with lack of precise data on what their revenue picture will be after divestiture takes effect in January.

However, PSC commission and staff members expressed concern that the company has not responded to requests for data.

"We knew we were going to be facing a moving target, but the target has been jumping all over the place," said Laura Murrell, commission chairman.

Lively Wilson, attorney for South Central Bell, proposed that the commission consider $96 million of the proposed increase and grant that portion of the rate increase to be effective in January. The company would in turn waive its rights to put the entire increase into effect without commission action.

Critical Thinking Asset to Learning, PTA May Espouse

Critical thinking includes both the intellectual and emotive aspects of how one approaches the world. A critical thinker uses both cognitive skills and affective instincts before making any assessments. Alvino states that essential elements in becoming a good critical thinker are, "a person's attitude, or willingness to admit he or she doesn't know it all, and serious desire for meaning and clarity."

Another way to get children to think is by asking them philosophical questions in order to encourage independent, logical, critical and ethical thinking. According to the article, a parent might respond to a child's statement with: "If that is so, what follows?" "What is your reason for saying that?" and "Are there other ways of looking at it?"

A copy of the November 1983 issue of PTA Today may be obtained by sending a check or money order for $1.00 to the National PTA, 700 North Rush Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND RELATIVES

We, Mrs. Henry Stumbo and Yvonne S. Jones, openly endorse and request that each one of our friends and each member of our family support and vote the STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC ticket this coming Tuesday, November 8, 1983. We do this in the memory of the late Judge Stumbo and because we wholeheartedly endorse John M. Stumbo for County Judge-Executive and the entire Democrat ticket this fall.

KIWANIANNES MEET
The Prestonsburg Kiwanianes held their monthly luncheon-meeting at May Lodge last Thursday noon, with the president, Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, presiding. It was agreed that cards would be sent to members who may be ill. In memory of a late member, Mrs. Ella Tankersley, it was decided that a monetary gift would be made to her church, and a rose would be placed on the altar of the First United Methodist Church, of which she was a member. The president announced that Mrs. Abby Grant and Mrs. Docia Woods would serve as members of the board of directors of the Prestonsburg Kiwanianes, for the forthcoming year, and that Mrs. Myrtle Davis and Mrs. Thelma Wallen would serve for a period of two years.

Mrs. Jane Wallace and Mrs. Myrtle Allen were appointed to the Membership committee; Mrs. Vera Ford and Mrs. Myrtle Davis were asked to continue as members of the Decorating committee, and Mesdames Ortha Meece, Vera Ford, and Sarah Goble will serve on the Telephone committee, with other members to be added necessary. The heart clinic, held each year at the Floyd County Health Department, who help in the preparation and serving of food during that time, agreed to continue this service on November 22. Mesdames May K. Roberts, Lucy Regan, and Myrtle Allen volunteered to help at that time. It was decided that, due to the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays the November and December meetings will be held on the third Thursday of these months, rather than on the fourth as usual.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey was welcomed as a guest and as a new member. Attending the meeting and luncheon were Mesdames Elizabeth Ramey, Garnett Fairchild, Vera Ford, Thelma Wallen, Mary Lou Layne, Jane Wallace, Stella Spurlock, Ortha Meece, Myrtle Allen, Abigail Grant, Opal Dingus, Carolyn Ford, Norcie Burchett, Lucy Regan, Margaret Alley, Anna May Mellon, Docia B. Woods, Virginia Shivel, and May K. Roberts. The next luncheon-meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 17, at 12:30 p.m. at May Lodge.

IN NEW YORK
Joe Weddington, of Prestonsburg, and Former Kentucky Governor A.B. (Happy) Chandler, of Versailles, spent the past week in New York City, visiting Mr. Weddington's daughter, Mrs. Lynn Weddington Tucker. While there they celebrated Mrs. Tucker's and Mr. Weddington's birthdays with a dinner party at the Waldorf.

RETIRED TEACHERS TO MEET
The president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association, Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, announces that the next regular meeting of this group will be held at May Lodge, Nov. 10, beginning at 10 a.m. An informative program concerning insurance, the legislative program, and the importance of membership will be given for the benefit of all retired teachers, and teachers who may be planning to retire.

HONORED AT DINNER
Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stephens were honored with a dinner at their home last week by his mother, Mrs. Julia Stephens, and her mother, Mrs. Ollie Wells, in commemoration of their birthdays. Present for this occasion were members of both immediate families here, and also Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Conley, of Warsaw, Indiana, who were here for a visit with relatives. Following the dinner, decorated birthday cake and other refreshments were served, and the honorees (and their son Ray) were presented gifts.

VISITORS HERE
Mr. and Mrs. Phil Schoeder, of Silver Spring, Md., and Mrs. Jay Shields, of Abilene, Kansas, have been visiting Mrs. Lucy Ransdell here and preparing for her removal later to her new home.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, of Louisville, announce the birth on Sept. 29 at Norton Hospital there of their first child, a daughter—Emily Elizabeth. Mrs. Roberts is the former Elizabeth Dingus, daughter of Tom G. Dingus, of Prestonsburg, and the late Mrs. Dingus.

HERE LAST WEEK
Mr. and Mrs. Stallard Clark, of McDowell, were business visitors here last week.

IN LEXINGTON FRIDAY
Mrs. E.A. Smith, who is a patient at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, consulted an eye specialist in Lexington last Friday. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Zella Archer, of Prestonsburg, and her son, Waldo W. Smith, of Kingsport, Tennessee.

AARP CHAPTER MEETS
The Jenny Wiley Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (A.A.R.P.), met at the Presbyterian Church, Friday night, with the president, Jack Freed, presiding. Aaron Akers showed slides and lectured on "Advanced Funeral Planning." James Carter, Sr. gave a brief discussion and answered questions asked by the group. Following the meeting, refreshments were served in the dining area of the church by the hostesses, Mesdames Hager White, Gladys Allen and Marie Goble.

The next regular Chapter meeting will be during the early part of December. The board of director's meeting will be held this week at the Prestonsburg municipal building.

Exchange Vows, Oct. 14

Miss Tammy Nelson and Mr. Charlie Amburgey, exchanged wedding vows, Friday, Oct. 14, at the Highland Freewill Baptist Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clifford Austin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Nelson, Jr., of the Mountain Parkway, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Ora Potter, of Garrett, and Mr. Eugene Amburgey, of Sidney Ohio. Mrs. Karen Nelson, sister-in-law of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Mike Nelson, brother of the bride, served as best man. A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. The couple are now residing at their home in Garrett.

MEDICAL CENTER PATIENT
Mrs. Annie Stumbo is a patient at the Highlands Regional Medical Center. Her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, and other family members and friends have been with her during her stay there.

VISITOR FROM OHIO
Mrs. Chloe Saunders Ferrell, formerly of Prestonsburg, who has resided at Enon, Ohio for the past several years, is here this week for a visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Saunders, and other relatives and friends. Before her marriage, Mrs. Ferrell was a teacher in the Floyd county schools.

HERE FROM LEXINGTON
Mrs. Joy R. Harris and daughter, Becky Lou, of Lexington, were here recently for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey. Mrs. Rasnick accompanied them home for a few days' visit.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0061
In accordance with the provisions of 405 KAR 8:010E, Section 8, notice is hereby given that Homer Short Company, Inc., P.O. Box 174, Hager Hill, Kentucky 41222 has filed an application for a permit for surface coal mining and reclamation operation of approximately 114 acres and overlying 35 acres of auger operations located 1.0 mile northwest of Ivel in Floyd County.

The proposed operation is approximately 2.0 miles southeast of State Route 1426's junction with U.S. HWY. 23/460 and located 1/4 mile west of Davison Branch. The Latitude is 37°36'-22". The longitude is 82°42'-10". The surface area is owned by S.P. Davidson Heirs, Marshall Davidson, Harkins Heirs, and Don Trimble.

The proposed operation is located on the Harold U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 Minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the area and the auger method of mining.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permit, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or request for a permit conference must be received within 30 days of this date. 1t.

No need to baste a roasting chicken if you drape it with slices of bacon. It'll do the job itself in a very flavorful manner.

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: H.J. and R. Coal Co., Inc., P.O. Box 2822, Pikeville, Ky. 41501 has filed an application for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation of approximately 133.8 acres located 2 miles north of Drift in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 0.2 miles west from St. Rt. 122's junction with Martin Branch Road and located 0.1 miles west of Martin Branch. The latitude is 37°29' 48". The longitude is 82° 45' 50". The surface area is owned by Minnie Miller Heirs, Frank Martin, Bessie Helton, Tom Martin Heirs, Nancy Martin.

The proposed operation is located on the Wayland/Martin U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the contour surface & auger method of mining.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. Written comments, objections, or request for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, and/or request for a permit conference must be received within 30 days of this date. 1t.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The application for a construction permit for a new commercial FM radio station on channel 261 at Allen, Kentucky and Martin, Kentucky, filed by Floyd County Broadcasting Co., Inc., and Baldwin Broadcasting, Inc., respectively, have been designated by the Federal Communications Commission for a comparative hearing before an Administrative Law Judge, at 2000 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., at a time to be announced, to determine the following issues:

1. To determine which of the proposals would, on a comparative basis, best serve the public interest.

2. To determine which of the applications should be granted.

An Open Letter To My Floyd County Friends From Carl D. Perkins

ON OCTOBER 21, 1983, A REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT DESCRIBED THE PERFORMANCE OF JOHN M. STUMBO AS "OUTSTANDING", AND PUBLICLY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE PERFORMANCE OF THE FISCAL COURT, UNDER JOHN'S DIRECTION HAD SO IMPROVED THAT HE HAD BEEN AUTHORIZED TO INFORM THE COURT AND FLOYD COUNTY THAT HEREAFTER KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT SAW NO NEED TO OVERSEE THE ACTIONS OF THE COUNTY JUDGE/EXECUTIVE'S OFFICE.

This is a remarkable accomplishment for John M. Stumbo, your present County Judge/Executive, who has only been in your service for twenty-one weeks. It is even more extraordinary when you consider that his first budget is $1.2 million dollars less than the previous year and that he took office at a time when Floyd County appeared hopelessly in debt. With coal severance tax monies all but vanished, most observers expected the County's financial deficits to be with no end in sight. But, as of September 30, 1983, Floyd County is totally in the black, with every known creditor paid in full.

This turn-around is the direct result of John Stumbo's approach to County government. John Stumbo has and is willing to make the hard decisions, to say no when the money isn't there, and with the money he has to look for every possible savings for the public. Where some people look at public funds as an opportunity for their friends, John Stumbo has looked for the potential of public services. His acts bear witness to his approach.

- I. Since John Stumbo took office, the County payroll has been reduced by $286,000.00 a year in salary positions alone. This does not include savings on the Road Department by more effective use of County Employees.
- II. When John Stumbo took office it was costing $96.00 per day per child to run the Floyd County Juvenile Detention Center. With no reduction in services, that figure has been cut to $49.00 per day per child.
- III. That every known bill has been paid and Floyd County is in the black. John Stumbo accomplished this by a simple technique: spend no more money than you have, and pay who you owe. This balancing of the budget was further aided by a tight-fisted attitude toward County money. For example: since 1980 Floyd County has owed the State Auditor's office $21,000.00. Instead of attempting to avoid the payment, John Stumbo got down to business and negotiated with the State Auditor's office and persuaded them to eliminate $11,000.00 from that bill and accept $10,000.00 as full payment. The $11,000.00 saved is now available for use for public services.
- IV. John Stumbo has halted any purchases of County supplies or equipment unless those purchases have been done in accordance with law, and with prior approval of the County Judge's office. A more prudent approach has been used in the purchasing of County supplies including tires and janitorial supplies. In regard to tires, the County is now participating in the State purchasing system which allows the Counties to buy tires below retail value. For example, the County is now paying $103.00 LESS per grader tire than the current retail price.
- V. In regard to janitorial supplies, the County Judge/Executive has required those desiring to sell supplies to the County to submit written statements showing prices for all their assorted products. A file has been compiled with six separate janitorial supply dealers and when any item is needed, all six sheets are referred to, and the order is placed with the dealer with the lowest price. No preference is given due to politics. Savings on janitorial supplies are currently running at approximately 137%.
- VI. In an effort to re-establish the creditability of your county government, the County Judge/Executive's office is now requiring the minutes from previous fiscal court meetings to be available within a week of the next regular meeting, with copies furnished to each member of the Fiscal Court for complete review of the County records. Such a procedure should prevent any discrepancies between the records and the actions of the Fiscal Court and eliminate reasonable questions as to what your Fiscal Court is doing with your money.
- VII. The Floyd County Solid Waste System, which is a potential drain of your future tax dollars, must and is being brought under control. At one time Floyd County Solid Waste had in excess of 80 employees. Since John Stumbo took office there has been a reduction in the number of employees, and they currently stand at the number 26. It is John Stumbo's intention, if elected for the remainder of this term, to make this reduction only the beginning, and to re-evaluate Floyd County Solid Waste from end to end, to resolve its fiscal problems, and to see that the people receive service.
- VIII. At a time when the Road Fund is financially weak and with little money for the purchase of gravel, John Stumbo is doing the best the circumstances allow. With little money for gravel purchases, he has substituted creek gravel, sandstone and hard work. Admittedly, this is not the best and John Stumbo wants the best, but the question of the day is, "What is the best, with the monies we have?" John Stumbo will keep asking that question and furnishing honest answers.

Therefore, I ask each Floyd Countian to vote for John M. Stumbo as your County Judge. He is a life-long Democrat, and a man who has put Floyd County back under control of the County Judge/Executive's Office. He has shown himself to be a man that looks at the tax payer's dollar and sees potential for services, not opportunities for his "Friends." I have dedicated my life to working for each of you, and I realize that we MUST have a County Judge who will work WITH me, NOT AGAINST me. My fellow Democrats, JOHN M. STUMBO IS THAT MAN!!

Your Friend,

Carl D. Perkins

Panel Approves Compromise On Drunken Driving Penalties

By a 13-0 vote the interim joint Judiciary-Criminal committee last week approved a compromise legislative proposal to provide stiffer penalties for drunk drivers.

The proposed measure was a blend of the committee's views with those of the Governor's Task Force on Drunk Driving.

Rep. Aubrey Williams, D-Louisville, committee chairman, cast the 13th vote. As committee chairman during the 1982 session of the General Assembly, Williams killed a drunken driving version.

Five hours of additional testimony and debate about details preceded the roll call vote on the 47-page bill.

The package is likely to go through more arguments and hearings during the actual session. Even before that, it will have proposed amendments. Two members said they intend to seek certain changes.

Essentially, the proposal raises the fines and penalties for convicted drunken drivers, although it omits any mandatory jail term for first offenders—a controversial provision in the unsuccessful 1982 measure.

The package provides for suspension of a license for 30 days upon the first conviction, with penalties becoming harsher for additional offenses.

It would leave a judge the option of imposing a fine of either $200, double the current minimum, or a 2- to 30-day term or equivalent in community service.

The additional expenses foreseen by sponsors would be financed by a new $150 fee the convicted motorist would have to pay to finish a driver education or alcohol treatment program.

The committee rejected attempts to delete two other important provisions. A motion to erase a section under which a death at the hands of a drunken driver could result in a murder charge was voted down.

So was a motion that would have shelved a provision that a driver's license could be suspended or revoked before trial in aggravated circumstances, such as when an accident with injury occurs.

Rep. Raymond Overstreet, R-Liberty, who unsuccessfully offered several changes, commented:

"We are obediently following the special interests of this bill like a beagle hound follows a rabbit—our nose to the ground, barking madly at the excitement of the chase and smell of victory, but using tunnel vision in our pursuit."

The only victory Overstreet gained was a change in a bond provision for out-of-state motorists that would allow surety rather than cash only. He passed during the vote.

The compromise version makes no mention of a restrictive or occupational license, which the legislative committee favored in hardship cases and which was adamantly opposed by the task force.

Legislators also yielded on a provision for a mandatory jail sentence on the first offense if an accident caused by a drunken driver results in injury.

On the other hand, the task force agreed to make certain proposed mandatory sections dependent on a judge's option.

Two Jefferson county law officials testified that while the overall bill is worthwhile, there could be problems on administering the new law, funding it and trying to find enough jail space for offenders.

Rick Schulten, of the Jefferson county prosecutor's office, also foresaw legal trouble with the pretrial license revocation provision, saying it might run afoul of the constitution which provides for due process.

Carl Victor, the traffic court prosecutor, predicted "the cost is going to be exorbitant" in handling offenders from arrest through rehabilitation.

However Deputy Corrections Secretary Rick Crawford said Kentucky's jails in general are not overcrowded—that the problem exists only in heavily-populated areas.

The committee's routinely approved profiling of a measure requiring the Justice Cabinet to implement an educational program on drug and alcohol abuse, to be administered to anyone applying for a driver's license in Kentucky.

To the People of Floyd County:

Throughout this General Election campaign, I have been thoroughly amused and fascinated by the rhetoric of the two candidates for the office of County Judge-Executive. I have known John M. Stumbo for many years, but I never knew that he was a combination of Mr. Clean, the White Knight, and the Tidy Bowl Man, nor did I realize that Ronald Frasure was Sir Lancelot in hot pursuit of the dragon of Fiscal irresponsibility. Then to my amazement, an old warrior comes on the scene carefully detailing the accomplishments of one of the candidates extolling that in just five months and single handedly this champion of the people has completely turned the fortunes of the county around. Carl, this statement makes me wonder about your credibility throughout the years, or have you become senile? Something must have happened or you would never have put your name to such a ridiculous piece of political propaganda.

Why don't we just stick to the facts? When Judge Lafferty came to office the counties coffers were not only nearly empty, but the county was grossly in debt. Addressing this indebtedness, the Judge went to vendors offering them a fair payment now if they would forgive the rest. Also, a purchase order system had already been in use, and Judge Lafferty put the county on a businesslike basis—so this is hardly a new practice. The plain truth of the matter is simply this—John M. Stumbo has been merely a caretaker who is only now beginning to understand the scope of the office. The office has been run by Al Howell, and he is the man who set the present budget, and who cut down the size of the counties work force with the approval of the magistrates before Mr. Stumbo came on the scene. In fact, it was at Mr. Stumbo's first Fiscal Court meeting when the above was approved, and to which the current Judge could only give his nodding assent as the groundwork had already been done. It was also Mr. Howell who told my mother that Judge Lafferty had done more for the county in sixteen months than his predecessors, and that had he lived, he would have had the county straightened out very shortly. This is fact, not fiction. On the other hand, Ronald Frasure tells all that he is going to do for the people if elected, but no one knows what they are going to do until they get there. In fact, Mr. Frasure would be tied down to a budget already set for at least seven months of his first year in office—hardly an opportunity to make immediate changes. Both candidates act as if they are going to free Floyd County from so called political machines, but the plain truth is: if either candidate were to try to wrest county government from the kingmakers and the powerbrokers, a hue and cry would rise from the courthouse the likes of which have never been heard before.

A past administration had been almost thoroughly corrupt, again, fact not fiction, but never a word was mentioned. (Where was our County Attorney then?) Their families were not embarrassed in print, nor by police investigations, neither did they have to worry about their safety, (Don't you think that it is interesting that as the election draws near the state police investigators have slithered back to Frankfort and the state returns county government back to the county. Coincidence?) but suddenly when a man, who only bowed to the electorate and their wishes, was in office, immediately he was attacked on all fronts by those who could not only libel and slander at will, but who could, if needed, supply the evidence. It is definitely something to think about! Again, fact not fiction.

It is a shame that at this time neither party has a viable candidate who is truly capable of leading Floyd County but only have those running who must hide that fact by fiction, chicanery and imaginative journalism. Again, fact not fiction, but to continue negative remarks would do little good at this time, but there will be another time, and there will be another election. Fact not fiction.

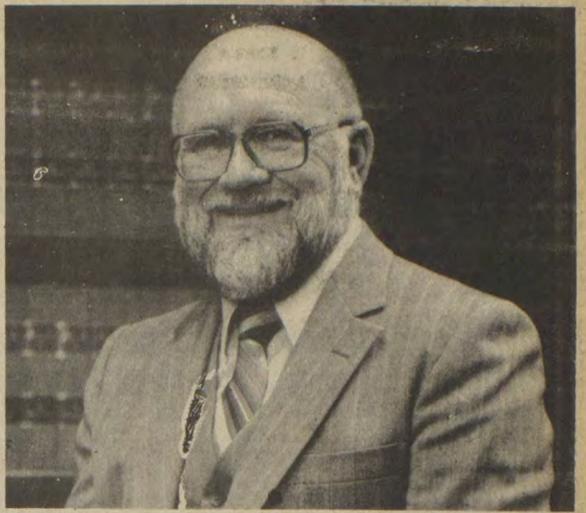

Sincerely,
JERRY BRYAN LAFFERTY

Governor Bert Combs Endorses Judge Elijah Hogge Court of Appeals

These are some of the things Gov. Combs has to say about Judge Elijah Hogge

Important Traits: "Let me pass along two facts about Judge Hogge. First, his personal character is above reproach. Time and again he has demonstrated the highest measure of fairness. Second, his wisdom and common sense have brought credit to the vast amount of work that he has carried out as a judge."

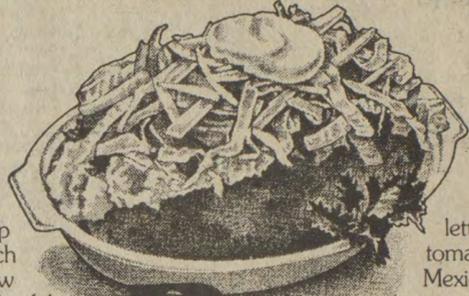

Experience: "It is important that Judge Hogge be re-elected so that this district and Kentucky can take advantage of the experience and knowledge that he has gained on the Court in the past seven years. He has served the district well and has risen to the position of Deputy Chief Judge for the whole state. His service is the best reason I know to re-elect him."

RE-ELECT HOGGE - JUDGE COURT OF APPEALS

Because Judge Hogge has passed the test of performance with distinction, I urge you to vote for him on Nov. 8 on the non-partisan ballot.

Paid for by Committee to Re-elect Judge Elijah M. Hogge, Bob Neff, Treasurer.

When To Replace Farm Tractor

Not too long ago, farmers who were plagued by too many tractor breakdowns or who simply felt the time was "right" for a trade-in could move rather quickly to replace their machinery.

Interest rates were low then, and farm income had not started its decline. Higher production was encouraged and a fairly large capacity buildup took place during 1973-79.

But the farm machinery picture has faded in recent years. Sales of new farm equipment have dropped steadily each year since 1979. Farmers now concentrate on maximizing profits with minimal capital outlay.

Some analysts speculate that the worst is over and that farm machinery sales are due to pick up again, according to Dr. Donald W. Reid, agricultural economist at the University of Kentucky. The upswing might come late this year and continue into 1984 and 1985, he said.

"Such a sales recovery would be due to the same factors which caused the sales decline, except the factors will be operating in a positive manner," said Reid.

He explained that farm income may be increasing and farm equipment capacity will be increasing as older machines are replaced and other machines are purchased in order to gear up for expanded production.

"This raises some important questions for individual farmers," Reid said. Topping the list are: Is now the right time to buy? and, What factors determine the most profitable time to replace older machines and/or acquire more machines and equipment?

Says Reid, "Obviously, we can't precisely answer the first question. However, there are certain fairly clear, logical principles which will help farmers answer the second question and thus point the way toward their own answer to the first question."

He noted that when farmers are aware of all factors involved, they can do a fairly good job of making the right decision.

Recent research on the economics of farm tractors at UK showed that five key variables interact to determine the most profitable tractor replacement age.

These are:
—Resale value of the old tractor as a fraction of the prospective new tractor's cost.

—The yearly (time) pattern of the old tractor's repair costs.

—Lost net revenues due to tractor breakdowns—downtime opportunity costs.

—Costs of financing a new tractor (cost of equity or debt money).

—Effects of a new tractor purchase on the farm firm's future income tax payments.

"Depending on these variables and the number of hours of annual usage, the most profitable replacement age for today's tractors varies from three to 14 years," reports Reid.

Reid and researcher Dr. Garnett L. Bradford used tractors in the research because of the availability of data as compared to other pieces of equipment. They used a simulated tractor replacement and expansion tractor purchase situation to help demonstrate the importance of the five variables.

They found that downtime is probably the most important factor affecting replacement decisions for a farm tractor.

He noted, for example, that a tractor breakdown in January on a farm with several "substitute" tractors obviously may cost little when compared to a breakdown at planting time on a farm with no substitutes.

To ensure against large losses in net income due to inopportune timed breakdowns, many farmers elect to have considerable excess tractor capacity, according to Reid. "This is understandable," he said, "because timing is more important in today's agricultural economy than at any time in the past."

However, he advises taking care not to have more excess capacity than it is worth in terms of avoiding downtime costs.

Not surprisingly, the decision to replace a machine can be affected considerably by current interest rates and by the individual's income tax situation. Reid and Bradford say an increase in the real interest rate—the difference between the interest rate and the inflation rate—causes an increase in the best replacement age for a tractor.

"This is true even if no borrowing is necessary to purchase the machine," notes Reid. The added funds required for the new investment can be invested in an alternative that will yield higher rates of return than the returns due to replacing a machine at an age that was optimal for a lower interest rate, according to the economist.

Tax effects also can play a major role in replacement decisions.

"Generally," said Reid. "However," he adds, "the tax effect usually is less than one may think." Since it seldom changes an optimal decision by more than two or three years, Reid said the real concern should be to maximize after-tax income, not minimize taxes.

"No one can save as much on taxes as they spend," Reid noted.

The researchers compared two possible time patterns for resale values of a typical 55 HP diesel tractor, operating 800 hours per year and purchased for $14,600 at a 12 percent interest rate.

Under one pattern, eight years was the typical replacement ages ranging from one to four years earlier than for the first pattern.

The difference in replacement ages between the patterns occurs because of the percentage of value lost in the initial year and how fast the resale value declines after the initial year, two factors which Reid said farmers should consider in making a replacement decision.

Reid and Bradford also compared two possible time patterns for tractor maintenance and repair costs.

The first shows annual repairs to be increasingly at a fairly slow rate. The second pattern shows annual repairs to be increasing much faster—increasing at an increasing rate.

"When the second pattern prevails—and only each farmer will know which pattern most clearly depicts his tractor repair situation, the optimal replacement age will be reduced approximately one to two years," Reid said.

If large increases in repair costs can be anticipated, Reid said the expected cost may be large enough to justify replacement. However, he adds that a farm tractor that is well maintained should not be replaced as often as a tractor that is poorly maintained.

Consideration of these five variables—resale value, repairs, downtime costs, financing costs and tax effects—is not an easy task, admits Reid.

"But," he says, "It is better to make replacement and investment decisions with the realization of such complexities than to blindly follow oversimplified recommendations from those who have objectives other than helping the tractor owner increase profits."

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Maudie McFarland thanks all who sent food, flowers and offered kind words through our time of sorrow. We give a special thanks to Rev. Lorie Vannucci and the First Assembly of God Church Choir for the beautiful service and songs. We thank Merion Funeral Chapel for their efficient and kind service, and for their thoughtfulness.

SERVICE TO THE PEOPLE?

I recently tried phoning the County Clerk's office. To my amazement, their number is not even listed in the new phone directory. Since I judged my business to be urgent I phoned the District Judge's office then referred me to the Judge/Executive's office. The switchboard operator at the Judge/Executive's office then rang the Clerk's office for me and I waited and waited and waited, until in total confusion and frustration I hung up.

Uttering a few choice words for our present County Clerk and his staff, I realize that I may have been a little hasty in my judgement. I may have called during the "extended" lunch hour(s).

I can hardly wait until Carla takes office and gives us back our office. Carla is the only candidate that will do this for us. We do not need any more confusion added to the Clerk's office, so join me in electing Carla Robinson Boyd as "our" County Court Clerk.

Poster, Essay Contest

Is it possible that a youngster of unblemished years can express in a fresher, more realistic way the need to conserve our God-given natural resources?

The Jim Claypool Conservation Poster Contest for students in grades 1-6 and the Conservation Essay Contest for students in grades 7-12 affirms a continuing confidence in the creativity of our young people.

Subject for this year's Conservation Essay and Poster is "Soil Erosion and My Community". Each district winner in the essay contest will receive a plaque and a $25 savings bond. Poster contest district runner will receive plaques.

The opportunity to enter creative expression has stimulated and encouraged young people in their own abilities. It is noted that a student cannot enter both contests. The top essays and/or posters are to be sent in by December 1. The district judging is scheduled for completion by December 31, 1985.

Mrs. Robinson Honored

Riverview Manor Nursing Home held a banquet in honor of Mrs. Eleanora Robinson, its former administrator, on October 14.

Hawaiian Luau was the theme for the buffet dinner which was served with a variety of native dishes. The atmosphere was enhanced by soft Hawaiian music, tropical scenes, and live native floral arrangements.

Mrs. Robinson was presented a lei of fresh flowers and with her husband, Claude Robinson, was seated at the guest table. Mrs. Charollette Slone, present administrator, gave the welcoming address. After various speakers, Eunice Hall, a friend and former employee, unveiled a beautiful oil portrait of Mrs. Robinson to be placed in Riverview Manor in recognition of the loyal service rendered to both Mountain Manor and Riverview Manor Nursing Homes.

After the invocation, led by the Rev. Jack Derossett, the Hawaiian buffet and a time for reminiscing were enjoyed.

Honored on 85th Birthday

Bertha Turner Holbrook was honored recently, by family members, with a birthday dinner celebration to recognize her 85th birthday.

Mrs. Holbrook and her twin sister, Birdie Hall, of Lexington, are the only surviving members of the family of the late Ben and Lucy Hopkins Hall. The twins were the youngest in the family of 10 children which included two prominent men who served Floyd county in county offices: E.V. (Hack) Hall served as superintendent of Floyd county schools and as state representative, and O.C. Hall, a well-known lawyer, served as commonwealth attorney of Floyd and Knott counties.

The family owned a large farm near McDowell, part of which is the present location of the McDowell post office and the Lucy Hall cemetery which was named for the mother of the family.

Mrs. Holbrook's grandfather was Captain Bolen Bill Hall, an officer in the Civil War period. She is also a descendant of Mark Hopkins, one of the early railroad magnates and financiers in the development of this county.

She was first married to the late Thomas J. Turner, the father of her four daughters, and later was married to the late Jesse Holbrook of Letcher county.

The birthday dinner was held in an assembly hall in Bethel, Ohio. The hall was decorated in blue and white colors, and catering service for the dinner was provided by the Wallace Catering Service.

The following family members were present:

Adrian and Olive Hall, of McDowell; Haskell and Virginia Hall, of Weeksbury; Glen and Ruby Pack, of Georgetown, Ohio, and Bob and Connie Gail Crissman, of Amelia, Ohio; grandchildren and great-grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pack, of Martin, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Pack, Christy and Teddy Thomas, of McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sexton, Megan and Travis, of Lexington, Dr. and Mrs. Don Hall, Evan and Casey, of Barboursville, W. Va., Rich, Erin and Allison Hall, of Russell, Sandra and Michelle Zevily, of San Diego, Calif., Jim Hall and Benita Chaney, of Stanton, Ky., Stanley, Gary, Alan, Mark and Kevin Pack, Brent Morgan and Ashley Marshall, all of Georgetown, Ohio, Carla and Terry Crissman, of Amelia, Ohio, Dr. and Mrs. Tom Hoffman, Columbus, Ohio, Alta Leslie and Opal Waddell, of Lexington, and Beulah Manning and family, of Dayton, Ohio.

Many gifts were received and graciously accepted by the honoree.

She gained "center stage" by repeating, from memory, poems and stories from her early school days. She has been blessed with reasonably good health, a good memory, and many good recollections of the past, and to be able to attend church regularly. Her church membership is at the Old Beaver Regular Baptist Church at Minnie which was the church home of her parents.

A sad note of the occasion was the absence of her twin sister, Birdie, who is seriously ill in Lexington, and of a granddaughter, Glenda Sharon Marshall. Silent prayer was held in their memory.

Judge Overturns Ouster Of Martin Co. School Head

Although a circuit judge last week ruled that the firing of Dan Branham as superintendent of Martin county schools was illegal, it's not likely that Branham would return to the post if it were offered him. Since his departure from that county he has been employed as superintendent of the Beechwood independent school district in northern Kentucky and apparently is satisfied there.

Circuit Judge James A. Knight, of Paintsville, overturned Branham's dismissal from the Martin county post, holding that the school board acted arbitrarily and with political bias.

Judge A. Knight in a seven-page decision filed last Wednesday, ruled that 11 charges brought by the board members against Branham did not constitute sufficient cause to fire him, and even so, the board had failed to prove the validity of those charges.

Knight concluded that Branham's right to a fair hearing before an impartial panel had not been served by a three-day hearing before the board in June, because board members constituted a tribunal of "unquestionable hostility."

In supporting that finding, Knight cited un rebutted testimony that board member Dewey Ward told a local newspaper before the hearing that he intended to vote to fire Branham even if the evidence exonerated the superintendent of the charges.

That "alone was sufficient to deprive" Branham of his rights to a fair hearing, Knight ruled.

Board attorney J.K. Wells, of Paintsville, called Knight's decision a "mistake," and said the four board members who voted to dismiss Branham have already decided to appeal it.

Branham, 42, was fired twice by the board, the first time on May 20 in a three-minute meeting. Knight, at Branham's request, voided that action, and ordered the board to give Branham a hearing.

After three days of testimony in the Sheldon Clark High School gym, the board again voted 4-1 to dismiss Branham, despite the fact that more than a year remained on his contract.

The board then named Sheldon Hardin, director of pupil personnel, as acting superintendent.

Branham said Knight's decision was a "bittersweet" one for him, because it vindicated him but still did not change the political situation in the Martin county school system.

"That's the regret of it for me," he said.

In his battle against the board, Branham had continually charged that his firing was politically motivated, and Knight referred to that in his ruling.

Knight agreed, writing in his opinion: "Often it seems that state legislatures and courts have tended to look upon the infestation of the education system with politics as if that phenomenon were as fixed and immutable as the law of gravity."

Knight added that the taxpayers and the school children are cheated "each and every time a decision is made by those in charge of a school system, not upon the basis of what will best advance the goals of the local education process, but rather upon the basis of what is politically expedient."

Branham said he hoped the decision would bring that point home to school officials across Kentucky.

"For many years, especially in eastern Kentucky, there has been a tendency for school board members to lose sight of the reasons they were elected, to safeguard and promote in some small way reinforce the need to put education first," he said.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

As a Floyd County citizen I have been observing the campaign ads solicited by Ron Frasure and placed in the Floyd County Times. These ads go at great length to discuss Mr. Frasure's honesty and integrity, while at the same time wanting us to consider the quality of the school buses in determining who the County Judge-Executive should be. No one has seen fit yet to put in writing what is really on everyone's mind, and that is: which candidate is going to straighten up the problems that we have in our Floyd County government. I find it offensive to see Ron Frasure run ads talking about "having had enough" when he knows very well that his opponent was not even in office when all the problems of Floyd County developed. However, when we were shocked with revelations about misuse of county funds, Ron Frasure's name appeared among those unexplained claims that broke the taxpayer's back. I've never heard anyone explain why in the July 16, 1982 meeting there was submitted two separate claims, one from Frasure's Catalog for $4,000.00 and one from Montgomery Ward for $4,757.14. I've been told that the law requires any purchase of over $5,000.00 to be bidden publicly, and the purchase to go to the lowest bidder, when in fact Ron Frasure received $8,757.14 through his two companies in one day! Even more disturbing is the fact that the records of the County themselves show that Ron Frasure, through Frasure's Catalog and Montgomery Ward, received in a single year over $13,000.00 for county purchases never bid on, and that were never publicly explained.

In short, I think it's time we should start looking at the real issue of this race: do we want to straighten out our County Judge-Executive's office as the public wants, or do we go back to county business as usual. I feel John Stumbo has shown which way he wants to go. Therefore, I urge every Floyd Countian to vote and support John Stumbo as your Floyd County Judge-Executive. It's your only honest choice to end the shameful situation we have all suffered from for the last 2 years.

HAROLD

The Harold Homemakers club met October 19, at the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church with Carma Sturgill, president, presiding.

Members attending the North East Area Meeting in Pikeville were Lillian Sturgill, Bernice Mason, Sylvia Allen and Carma Sturgill.

Pecans were distributed to club members, with the proceeds of sales to be given to the Ovarian Cancer Fund. Training school for the November meeting "Decorating with needlepoint", will be held November 2. Christmas Ceramic Ornament workshop will be held November 29. The lesson on "Candlewicking" was taught by Mrs. Frances Pitts.

A covered dish luncheon was served to members Regina Daniels, Molly Stapleton, Lillian Sturgill, Bernice Mason, Sylvia Allen, Carma Sturgill, Francis Pitts and guest Mrs. Sola Roberts.

New members at large are Sola Roberts, Shelia Orrison, Charlotte Forsyth, Magdaleen Cecil, Bonnie Sue Ratliff, Patsy Harmon, Carol McKinney, Mildred Parsons, Debra S. Rollins, Joan Roberts, Mrs. William Skeens, Betty Stewart, Mary Lou Clark, Pat Layne, Mellie Trimble, Denny Layne, Carolyn Patten, Carolyn Clarke, Mrs. Martin Wright, Jackie Sanders, Patsy Ann Patten, and Susan Lynn Ferrell. The next meeting will be November 17, 10 a.m. at the church with Malta Yates and Molly Stapleton as hostesses.

Not Phillips' Gripe

In reporting grievances expressed by South Pinhook residents at the Oct. 21 Floyd fiscal court meeting, The Times attributed to Richie Phillips a claim that county equipment was used to pave two private roads there—a claim denied by county officials.

Phillips has asked The Times to point out that, although such a charge was made at the meeting, he was not the one who made it.

Scott-Seaman Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Scott, Tompkinsville, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Diane Christine to William H. Seaman, of Hopkinsville, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Seaman, Chicago, Ill.

The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Tompkinsville High School and a 1982 graduate of Brigham Young University, Provo, UT. She is presently employed as a registered dietician at Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

The groom-elect is a 1974 graduate of Hialeah High School, Hialeah, Fl. and a 1979 graduate of the University of Florida. He served as a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in Brisbane, Australia, 1980-1982.

The marriage will be solemnized in the L.D.S. (Mormon) Washington, D.C. temple on November 11, 1983. The couple will be making their home in Hopkinsville.

CAN WE AFFORD COUNTY GOVERNMENT AS BAD AS OUR SCHOOLS?

John M. Stumbo served as a Chairman and/or member of the Floyd County School Board for 31 years. What kind of leadership did he give our schools? What kind of shape are our schools in?

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD

1. After an investigation, the State Board of Education released a report in September which shows how John M. Stumbo's leadership spent more money and got LESS!

COUNTY	FUEL COST PER MILE	PARTS COST PER BUS	MECHANICS SALARY	INSURANCE COST PER BUS
Johnson	0.292	$824.46	$1,402.56	$11,895.00
Knott	0.268	551.81	755.63	10,576.00
Magoffin	0.287	1,055.26	730.01	8,487.00
Martin	0.420	1,124.62	1,650.13	9,175.00
FLOYD	0.446	$2,741.51	$1,768.50	$43,110.43

In every case the Floyd County School Board spent more and got less than nearby counties. Do we have better and safer busses? The State Report says:

"We candidly project that 50% of the Floyd County School Bus Fleet would be found INADEQUATE FOR STUDENT TRANSPORTATION."

Feel Safe for your children!! What kind of leadership is this?

2. OUR SCHOOL BUILDINGS ARE UNSAFE AND THE WORST IN THE STATE

The Superintendent of the State Fire Marshall's office Morgan Kelly, said Floyd County's Schools are the worst in the State.

"The buildings are unsafe and an imminent threat to human life may exist".

Feel Safe!! What kind of leadership was this?

3. OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN DON'T HAVE ENOUGH TEXTBOOKS

The State Board of Education report further states there is a SHORTAGE OF TEXTBOOKS for Floyd County Schools. The report states:

"Shortages were in subject areas of Health, Language, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies AND spelling. ALL GRADES HAD SHORTAGES IN ONE OR MORE OF THE ABOVE SUBJECT AREAS."

What kind of leadership was this? This is the State Board of Education talking NOT POLITICAL PROPAGANDA!!

The bottom line is that our children ride in unsafe school busses at more cost than adjoining counties, to get to unsafe school buildings and when they get there, not enough textbooks are available to go around to all our children.

What kind of leadership was this?

After 31 years, this is the shape our schools are in; ASK YOURSELF what kind of shape our county will be in with this kind of leadership??

Do you want the same old crowd running the county that was running your school? It's time for US, the voters in Floyd County, to look for a man that can manage COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

In your heart, YOU, the voters know this county must change—START NOW.

VOTE

RONALD FRASURE
COUNTY JUDGE/EXECUTIVE

A Floyd County Democrat. Jack G. Dingus, W. Prestonsburg, Ky.

MY FELLOW FLOYD COUNTIANS:

I am sure that you are all aware that all major party politicians must endorse their party nominees for the sake of their own futures. They must do this, even if they do not like the candidate and personally would not vote for him under any other circumstances. Please do not be misled by this political backscratching. During the next few days, you will be bombarded by announcements by major party politicians saying "Vote the straight ticket". What they are really saying is, we have a very weak candidate and a straight ticket vote is the only chance that we have; and we have to spend tens of thousands of dollars in Floyd County, in spite of the overwhelming Democratic registration. Friends, these politicians are laying the ground work for their own candidacies in the future and they are hoping to hide incompetence behind the party banner. Do not be misled by juggled figures and misleading statistics. What do you personally think about our school system—are you happy with it? Go and sit in on our Fiscal Court sometime...I think you would be shocked. The state of Kentucky has bailed us out for the time being. Let's give credit where credit is due. But, how long will it be before we drift back into the same situation we were in.. I have no axes to grind and no future political aspirations, but I wish to give my overwhelming endorsement to Ronald Frasure for the next County Judge-Executive. Join me in this attempt to lead our county out of this extremely unfortunate situation we find ourselves in. Thank you.

School Board Role
Critical to Success
Of Ky. Schools

Effective schools, an issue of utmost importance and significant to national survival, is the theme of a one-day conference examining recent studies on education and the school's role and responsibility in dealing with the studies. The conference, "What Makes Effective Schools-The School Board's Responsibility," is scheduled for Saturday noon, October 29-30, through Sunday, at the Radisson Hotel in Lexington. Dr. David Keller, Executive Director of the KSBA, noted that, "With the increasing emphasis on public education, it is crucial that board members stay informed regarding the implications and potential impact of the current studies of public education."

Among the conference presentors will be Dr. Donald Hunter, Associate Superintendent of Covington Independent Schools, who will speak on the characteristics of effective schools. Dr. Phil McDaniel, Superintendent of Schools, Washington Township, Indianapolis, will be speaking on how the board works with superintendents in setting goals, policy-making and program evaluation.

Over 100 school board members and superintendents are expected to attend.

TO ALL FLOYD COUNTY DEMOCRATS

The Republican opponent of Democrat JOHN M. STUMBO for County Judge/Executive has attempted to place in issue, "How Judge Stumbo received the nomination", and I feel duty-bound to respond.

With the untimely death of Judge Jerry Lafferty on May 6, 1983, a vacancy was created in the County Judge's office which MUST be filled by YOU, the voters, next Tuesday. State Law REQUIRES a successor to be elected at the next November election. Because the death of Judge Lafferty was after the filing deadline for the primary, State Law does require that EACH political party desiring to nominate a candidate do so by it's Executive Committee (for there is no time for a May primary). The Democrats did so at a duly advertised meeting (certified letters were MAILED on MAY 10, 1983.) to ALL 15 MEMBERS and on May 17th we nominated JOHN M. STUMBO by a vote of 10 for, and 5 against. This Committee consists of members elected by PRECINCT OFFICERS in April of 1980, long before this controversy arose. The Republicans pump this so-called issue but ignore the simple truth—that John M. Stumbo was nominated by the Democrats in the SAME WAY as Ron Frasure was by the Republican Executive Committee.

It is my hope that each Democrat has the intelligence to see the Republican's letters for what they are—a DESPERATE attempt to DISCREDIT Judge Stumbo's candidacy while ignoring their SAME condition.

Therefore, vote STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC, including a vote for a life-long Democrat (not a straddle-the-fence Democrat or a Democrat when he or she needs the votes and support of the party) by the name of JOHN M. STUMBO for the FUTURE OF ALL FLOYD COUNTIANS.

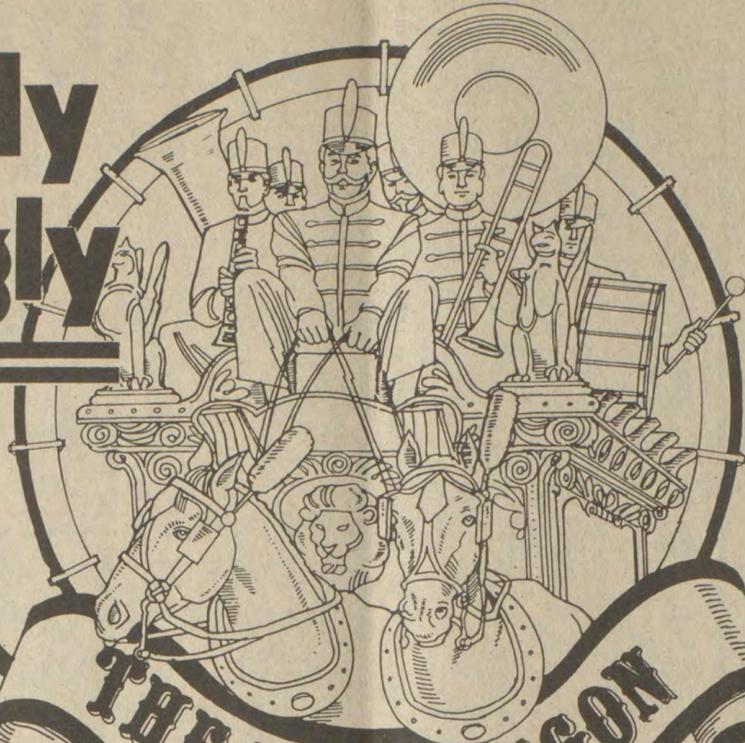

Delores G. Dingus

MARTIN, KY. • 285-3984

(Across the creek from Garth Vocational School)

To Observe 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stephens will observe their fortieth wedding anniversary with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m., November 6, at their home in Allen, Ky. The couple was married November 6, 1943, in Banner, Ky. by the late Rev. Isaac Stratton.
Mr. and Mrs. Stephens have six children and 11 grandchildren. All friends and relatives are invited.

Celebrates Second Birthday

Bradley Wayne Sexton, son of Timothy and Beverly Sexton, of Garrett, celebrated his second birthday, October 19, at the home of his parents. Those attending were: Darlene, Crystal, and Matthew Howard, Alicia, and Rodney Darrell Scott, and Greta Sexton, all of Garrett. Sandy Sizemore, also of Garrett, dressed up as a clown for the party.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank everyone for their kind service in our time of need, the passing away of my husband, Marion Jervis. Thank you for the flowers and food and also the nurses and doctors at Highlands Hospital, the Floyd Funeral Home and the ministers. We love all of you.

MRS. MARY JERVIS

Citizens of Martin !!!

When I am elected your Mayor I promise you the Citizens and tax payers that the United Ticket will oppose 100% any occupational tax or further water rate increases.

We do not need a occupational tax in Martin; the new money from alcohol sales gives adequate finances to run our town, provides the necessary services and keep our budget in the black.

The last water rate raise was required by various government agencies as a requirement before we could qualify for the $1,500,000. grant to renovate our water system. We have met all government requirements and its just a matter of obtaining land easements before the construction of the water system is let.

When our new water system is completed we feel certain that new homes and new businesses will come to Martin.

The only changes in the police department will be the expansion of the Dept. to provide 24 hour protection. We will promote, support and encourage the expansion of our Auxillary Police. We also are strongly committed to our Volunteer Fire Dept. and will help promote and expand this fine organization of volunteers.

Junior Miss RWB

Melissa Jarrell, seventh grade student at Allen Elementary school, was crowned Junior Miss Red, White and Blue at the competition held at the Allen Central High School gymnasium Saturday, October 8.

Miss Jarrell is the 12-year-old daughter of James and Brenda Jarrell, of Prestonsburg. Her grandparents are Woodrow and Hattie Jarrell, of Prestonsburg, and Alna and Georgia Stambaugh, of Paintsville.

Clyde W. Johnson Wins Academic Recognition At P-burg High

Clyde F. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson, of Abbott Creek, has been designated a Commended Student in the 1984 National Merit Scholarship Program, Robert May, principal at Prestonsburg High School, recently announced.

In winning the designation, Johnson placed in the top five percent of over one million participants in the twenty-ninth annual Merit Program. Although Commended Students will not receive further consideration for Merit Scholarships, each has been brought to the attention of colleges and universities eager to land bright academic talent.

Johnson, 17, is in his senior year and looking forward to further education. His vocational goal is now aimed toward law and he favors Washington and Lee University as an institution of higher learning, although he has some thoughts toward Transylvania University and Centre College.

When asked about his success as a student, Johnson commented that he is basically an inquisitive person. He said his strongest interest lies in social studies which he uses to build on in science and English studies.

"I think I'm lazy," he said. "A lot of the time I have to make myself study," he pointed out. The key to Johnson's success may be the fact he plans his time and makes the most of it. This is necessary since Johnson fully participates in extra-curricular activities and plays on the varsity football team.

When asked if he planned to participate in college athletics in the future, Johnson laughed and said he had not received any attention as a college football player. He mentioned that among the schools he had visited, several had asked if he would be interested in trying out for the football team as a walk-on.

All participants in the Merit Scholarship competition scored extremely high marks in the PSAT/NMSQT examinations.

Johnson emphasized that faculty at Prestonsburg High School has been a key in helping him over his own learning problems and encouraging him to pursue his individual interests.

"I can't say enough for my teachers so many have supported me that I hesitate to single out any one individual," Johnson said.

Christmas Craft Bazaar Slated November 12

The Epsilon Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in Paintsville, Kentucky will sponsor their third annual Christmas Craft Bazaar on Saturday, November 12, 1983. Thirty-six craftsmen will display needlecrafts, quilts, woodcraft, art work, candy, patchwork, flowers, ornaments, toys and baked goods. The Bazaar will be open from 10:00 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. in the Johnson Central High School cafeteria, on U.S. 23. Admission will be 25¢ and children under 12 will be admitted free. Refreshments will be available at the concession stand. Proceeds from the Bazaar will benefit the Patsy Knight Teddy Bear Fund at the new Paul B. Hall Medical Center.

Mulch Fall Leaves Lawn Expert Advises

With all the energy many people put into raking tree leaves in the fall, shouldn't they receive some benefit beyond a neater landscape and some good exercise? Why increase the load for the trash collector and the sale of shiny plastic trash bags when the trees and other plants can benefit from recycling leaves?

Tree leaves can be reused in the landscape either directly as mulch or indirectly by mixing them into the compost pile for future garden enrichment. Any tree leaves can be used although their rate of decomposition will vary due to leaf size and cellular makeup. Large leaves should be shredded to speed decomposition or prevent matting and watershed if used as a mulch.

Tree leaf mulch can be applied once the ground gets cold this month to provide winter protection and moisture retention for landscape and fruit trees, shrubs, ground covers, roses, perennials, hardy herbs, spring bulbs and asparagus. At the same time many of these plants will benefit from fall fertilization. About the only plants we don't mulch are lawn grasses which can be damaged if leaves are left covering them for extended periods of time.

Tree leaves can be used in combination with other plant and home and yard waste such as grass clippings, pesky weeds, pest-free tomato plants and cucumber vines, spent marigolds and petunias and peelings from last night's french fried potatoes to build compost piles. Even shredded black and white newspaper can be used.

The breakdown of compost materials is not an instantaneous process. Soil microorganisms feeding on the materials and releasing heat initiate the decomposition. In order to introduce these microorganisms, layers of plant material should be covered with an inch or more of soil in alternating fashion. An alternative method is to introduce the microorganisms via a commercial compost activator mixture of bacteria and fungi available at garden centers and nurseries.

The microorganisms should be given some initial nourishment in the form of fresh grass clippings or a nitrogen fertilizer (ammonium sulfate or nitrate). Most must have air and moisture to support their biological functions.

When rain falls to keep the pile moist, it should be watered. For uniform decomposition, the pile should occasionally be turned over to place heated, decomposed center material to the outside and to aerate the pile. Perforated pipe can also be placed vertically in the center of the pile to increase aeration.

Many people build enclosures to hold their compost, ranging from chicken wire cages and cinderblock bins to series of wooden boxes that hold various stages of decomposed materials. There are several types of composting containers on the market ranging from barrels with hinged doors to felted plastic bags said to produce rich, mellow compost in less than two weeks.

Open piles of compost should have a volume of nine or more cubic feet (obtained with a pile three by three by three feet) in order to get adequate heat buildup and retention. Some cities have leaf collection areas where leaf mold compost is prepared in large piles for future reclamation by citizens. Consider starting such a project in your town to help both with leaf collection and removal and with garden soil improvement.

Not only is compost good for garden soils due to improved texture, moisture retention, drainage and nutrient availability, but it also can be mixed with peatmoss and perlite or vermiculite to produce a good house plant potting mixture. Compost is ready when you no longer see specific leaves and plant parts but have a material with a soil-like consistency.

Beware when driving at night this fall, not only due to late-night joggers, but also due to people raiding street-side bagged-leaf piles!

Timely Tip: To help clean and protect garden tools, slide them in and out of a mixture of sand and used motor oil.

Angie Prater Named Blue River Postmaster

Angie Prater, who joined the U.S. Postal Service as a Star Route carrier at Martin in 1974, was sworn in as postmaster at Blue River, her appointment effective October 29. Since June, 1983, Mrs. Prater has been officer-in-charge at the Blue River office.

Mrs. Prater succeeds Winifred Hale, former postmaster. She takes over an office serving an area population of approximately 500, including 87 general delivery families and serving 67 intermediate star route boxes and 224 intermediate rural route boxes.

She previously served as a clerk in the Martin postoffice, and as a postmaster leave replacement in the offices at Estill and Emma. Mrs. Prater is actively involved in the community, church, and fund-raising for school activities.

Postmasters are selected on merit, and appointed by Postmaster General William F. Bolger.

Pain Can Be a Pain In the Pocketbook

"The most general survey shows that the two foes of human happiness are pain and boredom." So wrote Arthur Schopenhauer, the noted German philosopher of pessimism, more than 130 years ago.

Modern-day physicians and psychiatrists would agree that Schopenhauer was right on the mark where pain is concerned.

Pain, declares the Association for Research in Nervous and Mental Diseases, is "the most pressing human health problem facing Americans in the 1980s." Today, one-third of the U.S. population suffers from persistent or recurrent pain, a variety of symptoms that physicians call chronic pain. Collectively, chronic pain is the third leading cause of disability, exceeded only by cancer and heart disease.

It is also the most costly health problem in the United States, according to the National Institutes of Health, which has tallied the annual pain-relief bill at $50 billion.

A number of cultures put faith in the curative powers of votive offerings—images or sculptures of the particular diseased or hurt body parts. Disease and pain, it was believed, transferred from the living part to the inanimate model.

Other cultures relied on the putative powers of metal; in ancient Rome, soldiers dipped their iron swords in their morning drinks. However, copper bracelets as medical adornments are relatively new, dating only from the late 18th century. They are worn today to ease the discomfort of arthritis, rheumatism and a modern affliction, tennis elbow.

Far-fetched cures? Not at all, Warner and Knight say. Current scientific studies show that a patient's belief in a cure may influence the course of a disease. "In all cultures, the practice of medicine combines technology with belief," says Warner, project manager of the Smithsonian's pain exhibit. "This is as much true for us today as it was for older cultures."

Early on, many cultures combined belief with more tangible treatment. Archaeologists have traced the use of cocaine, a potent pain reliever found in the leaves of the coca shrub, to Indians living in Ecuador at least 5,000 years ago. Both the early Chinese and Greeks were familiar with the sleep-inducing properties of opium (an extract of the poppy plant), cannabis (the active ingredient in marijuana) and the root of the mandrake plant.

By the Middle Ages, people could choose their pain relievers from a potpourri of plants, powders and potions. In Europe, potions made from opium, cannabis and mandrake root were inhaled through sponges. Mixtures of common herbs and uncommon additives—rhinoceros horn and eye of bat, a concoction not unlike the witches' brew in Macbeth—were touted as sure-cures for toothache.

Other methods were tried: heat; hypnosis; acupuncture, introduced in America in the early 19th century, and even static electricity, generated by Rube Goldberg-like contraptions as early as 1743. Static electricity treatments were especially popular in the United States, even though Benjamin Franklin denounced them as ineffective and dangerous.

Surgery, however, remained a drastic measure, undertaken only when pain became unbearable. Without anesthesia, surgeons were limited to amputations, surface excisions and a few minor corrective procedures.

"The marks of a great surgeon," Knight says, "were not patience and delicacy, but speed and strength." In the late 18th-century, a British surgeon set a record for an amputation at the thigh: 35 seconds. In his haste, however, he also inadvertently removed the patient's left testicle.

Around 1800, chemists in both Europe and America had begun to study various gases. In 1799, Humphrey Davy, an English chemist, noted the exhilarating and humorous effects of inhaling small doses of nitrous oxide; larger doses induced sleep. Sulfuric ether had similar effects. It wasn't long before university

Dyslexia Screening Clinic Scheduled Nov. 29-30

The Hindman Settlement School Tutorial Program will be conducting dyslexia screening sessions on Tuesday Nov. 29, Wednesday, Nov. 30 and Thursday, Dec. 1. These will be the only screenings made available prior to the beginning of the spring programs that are located in Letcher, Perry and Knott counties. These programs work with children who are having problems in the areas of reading, writing, spelling and math due to a visual motor perception disability known as dyslexia. If you are interested in having your child screened or would like more information about our programs please call Ann Latta at 886-6100 or Lori Unruh at 785-5024 by Nov. 23.

Among the most prolific creatures on Earth is the aphid—an insect responsible for a third of all viral disease transmitted to plants, says National Wildlife magazine. A French biologist once calculated, if all the young survived, the number of descendants resulting from a single aphid over the course of one summer would total nearly six billion. Fortunately, millions of aphids are eaten by predators before they ever hatch.

Pain is a Pain...

(Continued from Preceding Page) students began holding "ether frolics," while "laughing gas" demonstrations and lectures amused the public. By the 1840s, a number of American physicians had begun experimenting with the potential uses of ether and nitrous oxide in surgery. A Georgia physician and two New England dentists vied for the title "inventor of anesthesia," according to Dr. Audrey B. Davis, curator of medical sciences at the National Museum of American History. Though a clear case of priority was never really established, she says, one of the dentists, William Morton, is credited with successfully demonstrating—and popularizing—the use of nitrous oxide in surgery. "The discovery of anesthesia," Davis says, "was the first major American contribution to medicine and one of the most significant medical happenings of all times, ranking right up there with the discovery that germs cause disease and the discovery of antibiotics." The use of anesthesia spread "like lightning" across western cultures, Davis reports. "It totally revolutionized the practice of surgery and dentistry. Before anesthesia, dentists were largely limited to tooth extractions because the pain of restorations was too great for patients to bear." Once anesthesia eliminated pain, Warner points out, "Doctors no longer had to race through operations. They gained new knowledge of physiology and anatomy and discovered surgical remedies for appendicitis and other previously inoperable conditions." In the mid-1800s, "patent" medicines also came into wide use. Patent medicine promoters claimed that their largely alcoholic elixirs cured all kinds of ills, from the pain caused by the "stress of modern civilization" to "sick headaches." Electricity made a comeback, and a whole new range of pain-relief remedies were offered to an eager public: ear vibrators, eyeball massagers, therapeutic waters and exercise machines to pummel, prod and shake out aches and pains. Meanwhile, physicians and others developed safer machines for delivering ether, nitrous oxide and, later, safer inhalation anesthetics. Regional, or local, anesthetics were developed and refined, eliminating the often dangerous need for putting a patient to sleep when only a minor problem procedure was required. Pharmaceutical companies began to market morphine and cocaine for injection in the 1880s and '90s. Stovaine, a synthetic substitute for cocaine, was synthesized in 1904 but was quickly replaced by Novocaine in 1905. Pain-killers became the mainstay of the modern pharmaceutical industry, beginning with the synthesis of acetylsalicylic acid, also known as aspirin, patented by the Bayer Co. of Germany in 1900. "From the mid-19th century on, pain became big business in America," Warner notes. Today, Americans spend something between $1 billion and $1.5 billion on over-the-counter pain remedies, such as aspirin and non-aspirin substitutes. Another half-billion is spent on prescription pain killers, including the newest drugs now being evaluated in the pain pharmacopoeia—the so-called nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, or NSAIDs. Surgical anesthesia now is a far cry from the "ether dome" operations of the 1850s. Modern anesthesiologists, graduate physicians concerned with all areas of pain control, rely on anesthesia machines, with their life-sustaining functions and monitoring devices, to deliver a balance of pain killers, sedatives and muscle relaxants. Today, some 26 million operations, most unimagined by early surgeons, are performed annually in America. A relatively new, multidisciplinary approach to pain relief is embodied in pain clinics, now numbering 800 in this country and still proliferating. At a pain clinic, each patient's case is evaluated, and a tailor-made program is designed that may include individual and group psychotherapy, exercise, diet, massage, biofeedback (which teaches people how to control certain body functions), electrical stimulation techniques, hypnosis, surgery and/or the use of a variety of non-narcotic drugs. Are Americans preoccupied with pain? "Perhaps," the Smithsonian's Davis comments. "In the early days of our country, people accepted pain as part of the normal course of living. Today, we are very conscious of health and physical fitness and maybe pain control goes along with this heightened consciousness. But there are still cultures that accept pain without having it called to their attention by advertising and health campaigns—or without complaining as much as we do."

Robotic Course Envisioned At Morehead State U.

Industrial robotics engineers are currently in demand and Morehead State University is right on top of things.

MSU is currently planning an option in industrial robotics and has plans for expansion. It may eventually become a separate four-year program, according to Dr. Robert E. Newton, head of the Department of Industrial Education and Technology.

"We are writing a curriculum for robotics which we anticipate will be approved and are looking now toward the 1984 fall semester," said Dr. Newton.

In addition to courses in robotics, the curriculum will include courses in computer programming, math and physics, digital electronics, manufacturing, technical writing and general education requirements.

Six Cities Gain Ky. Certified Status

Six newcomers are among 19 cities from across Kentucky to gain 1983 Certified Cities Awards from the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

The awards, which annually recognize economic and community development on a local level, will be formally presented at the Kentucky Chamber's Economic Summit April 19-20, in Louisville.

The six cities that are receiving the award for the first time include: Ashland, Cadiz, Cynthiana, Maysville, Murray, and Richmond.

Cities that have earned Certified status before and were successful again are: Bardstown, Bowling Green, Carrollton, Danville, Elizabethtown, Fulton, Hazard, Hodgenville, Mount Sterling, Shelbyville, Somerset, Winchester, and Versailles.

Nearly 40 cities made application for the Certified Cities Awards this year. Applicants must satisfy minimum requirements in basic areas of economic and community development, including industrial development, tourism, transportation, public affairs, utilities, commercial development, housing, education, recreation and health.

"The cities that were successful this year can be justly proud of their efforts in economic and community development," said Kentucky Chamber President Philip Thompson. "The Certified City Award is not something that comes easy. It requires hard work and exhibits a firm commitment toward future progress."

Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 10-19-3t.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0032

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Conn & Hayes Mining Co., P.O. Box 37, Betsy Layne, Ky. 41605, has filed an application for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation of approximately 49.0 acres located 1/4 miles south of Honaker in Floyd county.

The proposed operation is approximately 2 1/2 miles south from Little Mud Creek Road junction with Morgan Fork Road and located 2 miles east of McDowell. The latitude is 37° 27' 50". The longitude is 82° 41' 37".

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice.

This is the final advertisement of this application, all comments, objections, and/or request for a permit conference must be received within 30 days of this date. 10-26-3t.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 436-0071

1) In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Triple Elkhorn Mining, P.O. Box 140, Ivel, Ky. 41642, has filed an application for a permit for an underground mining operation.

2) The proposed operation is approximately 0.3 miles west from Sansom Branch Road junction with KY 1426 and located 0.1 miles north of Akers Branch. The latitude is 37° 33' 36". The longitude is 82° 41' 44".

3) The proposed operation is located on the Harold U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by Fred and Lora Conn. The operation will underlie land owned by Green Conn heirs.

4) This operation will effect an area within 20 feet of a public road. The operation will not involve relocation of a public roadway.

5) This operation will effect an area within 100' of Bailey's Creek but no closer than 60'.

6) The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's, Prestonsburg Regional Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Some birds, that migrate thousands of miles each year, have an incredible capacity to hear low sounds undetectable by human ears, says National Wildlife's Ranger Rick magazine. For example, a bird may be directed toward its destination by the sound of an ocean's low rumble of surf 100 miles away.

ENTERTAIN AT PARSONAGE

The Rev. and Mrs. Ted Nicholas held open-house for members of the First United Methodist Church at the new parsonage on Maple Avenue Sunday afternoon.

TO ALL FLOYD COUNTIANS—
Now, really folks, do you honestly feel it's nice to throw stones at a man whom you personally know nothing of? Could it be you begrudge this man because he is ambitious enough to want to get off his haunches and try to help our county officials or...could it be you begrudge the fact that he took a position away from someone else who wanted it? (Even though you feel the job is unnecessary.)

Oh, you need not worry about his other business as he does have enough brothers and sisters to run it efficiently while he is at the courthouse. Look at it this way, Mr. Isaac is helping our economy. After all, he does employ several good men and women! Morris Isaac is of a Democratic family and doesn't care to admit that he is backing his party and trying to help all citizens of Floyd County. He has never tried to be a Republican in Democratic clothing.

You see, this is my son you are talking about and I want you and the rest of Floyd County to know I love him and my Democratic party and I, for one, will vote straight Democrat next week.

Health Official Retires At End of October, Drinking Water Expert

Jack Linder, Chief of the Drinking Water branch of the state Division of Water will be retiring at the end of October, officials of the Division of Water have announced.

"Jack has worked for a long time in this division and probably knows everyone in Kentucky who works with drinking water and drinking water regulation. He will sorely missed," said Richard Shogren, Director of the Division of Water.

Linder joined the Division of Sanitary Engineering in 1973. He served as chief of the Technical Services Branch of the division before its merger with two other water divisions in 1980 to form the Division of Water.

In 1977, Linder was named Outstanding Merit Employee for the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Department.

Since 1975, he has been in charge of the training and certification of public drinking water operators.

A graduate of Iowa State University, Linder received a B.S. in chemistry and a B.S. in microbiology. He served with the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific during World War II. While in the navy, Linder won a presidential award for research and development of an anti-rabbit serum for isolation and typing of hemolytic streptococci.

Linder worked as a field microbiologist for the Evaporated Milk Association and as manager of Pet Milk Company from 1945 to 1968.

In 1968, he joined the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, planning and managing two animal disease laboratories.

A long-time resident of Frankfort, Linder plans to retire to South Carolina.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0065

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 2822, Pikeville, Ky. 41501, has filed an application for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation of approximately 90.5 acres located 1.4 miles north of Craynor in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 3 miles east from Hamilton Br. Rd. junction with State Rt. 979 and located 3 miles east of East McDowell. The latitude is 37° 27' 25". The longitude is 82° 40' 39".

The proposed operation is located on the McDowell U.S.G.S. 7½ minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the contour method of mining. The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. Written comments, objections, or request for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or request for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

Highlands Regional Medical Center Expansion

Damon Delong (front) and Dennis Crisp, of Floyd County, construct a steel beam to support flooring of the Highlands Regional expansion.

Coming soon to the Big Sandy . . .

- *47 new beds
- *new patient and visitor comfort areas
- *new emergency room
- *new intensive/coronary care unit
- *expanded surgical facilities
- *expanded radiology department
- *new laboratory
- *expanded medical records department
- *new physical therapy department
- *new staff education and community service facilities
- *and much more!

Here's what's happened so far

Since March, a large crew of men from the Big Sandy area have been hard at work on the $10 million addition at Highlands Regional Medical Center. "Good weather and good workers have us right on schedule," says Sonny Goble, HRMC Construction Engineer. "We're looking at Thanksgiving of '84 for completion of the expansion though parts of it, like the new Emergency Room, could be ready as early as next summer.

Major changes early in the project included the opening of a new parking lot on the west side of the building to accommodate employees and construction vehicles. Also during March, the Emergency Room entrance was moved to a temporary location at the front of the hospital.

Blasting and excavation were the main jobs in the first two months of construction as shovels and bulldozers began gulping up the dirt for the new basement behind the hospital.

During May, 300 foundation pilings which support the addition were drilled between 19 and 50 feet down to the solid rock base. From June through September, basement and first level floors went down and walls went up on the 68,000 square foot addition.

Right now 35% of the expansion is done at the community owned, not for profit Medical Center. Concrete is being poured for the second floor. Block is being laid around the west end of the new second floor by local masonry contractors and electricians are running conduit (pipes to pull electric wire through) for outlets and lighting. Plans call for the expansion to be "under roof" and "inside four walls" in approximately 45 days so work can continue through the winter.

FROM THE AIR you can more easily see the size of the Highlands Regional expansion. The construction activity shown here is the forming and pouring of concrete floors for the first and second stories of the addition.

By the way . . .

How is the money being spent?

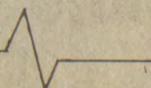

To Floyd Countians, the HRMC expansion project means:

	To Date	Eventual Total
Wages & Salaries	$214,700	$572,400
Local Purchases	$91,400	$463,000
Local Subcontracts	$167,400	$956,700
Totals to Floyd County	$473,500	$1,992,100

A FINAL MESSAGE FROM RONALD FRASURE

Friends, this coming Tuesday you will be going to the polls to choose your County Judge that will serve you the next two years. You have within your grasp the opportunity to move Floyd County up the ladder of progress. If you will elect me your County Judge, we will TOGETHER solve your disgraceful community problems. Ask yourself a question, What kind of county do I want for my children and grandchildren? Which candidate will make the best County Judge/Executive, not which political party he may belong to? How can anyone tell you that you must "vote the straight ticket" like it always has been done in Floyd County when they know a particular political party doesn't always have the best candidate to manage the affairs of your county. Also, friends, be aware of false and misleading information and desperation charges that will be leveled against me and my candidacy in this paper today. We are now in the "Silly Season" of this campaign. This is the period just before the election when they can make any charge, true or false, as long as some people believe their story. They are afraid YOU, the voters might like a change. One politician said in an endorsement for my opponent that he was not satisfied with the results in the PRIMARY that sometimes you have to take what you get. You and I know there was no primary in the County Judge's race and you and I know how my opponent was chosen! If elected, I propose new blood, new faces, qualified road department personnel and new ideas for service to ALL Floyd Countians. You know in your heart this county must change—START NOW. I feel confident YOU, the voters will make the right choice. Finally, I want to take this means to thank each and everyone of you for your warm words of encouragement during this campaign. Your courtesies and friendship will always be remembered by my family and me.

YOUR FRIEND
RONALD FRASURE
Candidate For County Judge/Executive

★ CANCER HOPELINE ★

Q. I may have cancer. The doctor said I needed cytology tests. What are they, and what do they have to do with cancer?

A. Cytology is the branch of medicine that deals with the structure and function of cells. When cytology is mentioned in relation to a diagnosis of cancer, it may also be called exfoliative cytology, which is the examination of cells that have been normally shed or scraped from living tissue. These cells, which are too small to be seen by the naked eye, are then carefully examined under the microscope.

There are several cytologic tests: the Pap tests for cervical cancer; aspiration (suction of cells through a thin tube) of the vaginal secretions or endometrium (lining of the uterus); sputum tests for lung cancer; urine-sediment tests to detect urinary tract cancer, especially cancer of the bladder; scrapings from the mouth to detect oral cancer; cell samples from the esophagus, stomach, pancreas, or duodenum; aspiration of fluid through a fine needle from areas such as the breasts, spinal cord, thyroid, or prostate; and bone marrow tests.

A small amount of fluid taken from the organ by one of the above-mentioned techniques is spread on a glass slide. The fluid is stained with special dyes and examined under a microscope. Generally, when cancer cells are present in this fluid, they are easily recognized by this method because there are definite structural differences between cancerous and normal cells that are visible under the microscope.

The smear technique, first used in the test developed by Dr. George Papanicolaou many years ago, is useful even for less accessible organs such as the stomach and pancreas now that researchers are using the new fiberoptic instruments to visualize the lining of internal organs. A smear test, however, is only used to detect abnormal cells. Most physicians do not depend on it alone to provide a final diagnosis of cancer. The smear provides a view of individual scattered cells, sometimes clusters of them. Thus, it can give strong evidence of the presence of cancer, but a biopsy of the tissue in question is still essential for a final diagnosis.

Do you have questions about the diagnosis or treatment of cancer? Is coping with the day-to-day problems of living with cancer putting a strain on your family? Call the Cancer Hopeline at 1-800-4-CANCER weekdays from 9 to 5. All calls are confidential. Written requests should be sent to McDowell Cancer Network, Chandler Medical Center, Lexington, Ky. 40536-0084.

Cummins Engine Co. Recall 500 by 1984

Cummins Engine Co. plans to recall more than 500 laid-off workers by early 1984.

President James A. Henderson said the company plans to recall approximately 250 workers in the Columbus area Nov. 14 and an additional 300 early in January.

The diesel-engine maker now has 1,650 hourly workers laid off and employs about 8,500 hourly and salaried workers. The recalled employees were laid off in March 1982.

Henderson said that Cummins is encouraged by the recent improvement in the North American heavy-duty truck market.

Named General Manager

Frank Maynard, of Meta, has been appointed general manager of Harkins Mineral Associates, a Floyd County mineral holding company whose office is located in the Hayes Complex at Betsy Layne.

Mr. Maynard has been involved with the business of coal mining for approximately 15 years and has been employed as engineer for Harkins Mineral since 1978. He will now be in charge of all areas of the business, which include lease negotiations, engineering, property supervision and lease compliance.

DANCE STUDIO PRESENTS HALLOWE'EN PERFORMANCE

The Dance Studio held its first Hallowe'en Extraganla, Monday, Oct. 24, for families and friends of the dancers. The young dancers performed in costume to "Boo," and the more experienced dancers performed the Hallowe'en classic, "The Scarecrows." A party was held after the show.

The next performance is planned for the Christmas season.

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

REVIEWS

Stray Cats — "Rant 'N' Rave" (EMI) — The rockabilly idols' second American release has even more energy than "Built for Speed," but lacks that album's evocative Brian Setzer vocals (guess he got busy being a star and forgot about being a singer). Still, the songs would be quite acceptable if it weren't for their simplistic insistence on dropping out of school, driving too fast and drinking beer. The world of 1983 is too complex and competitive for the...
4:30

Carly Simon — "Hearts on Fire" (Warner Brother) — It's been a long time since she could call the ex-Mrs. Taylor a rock singer, but she still holds her own as a pop stylist. There are some biting lyrics here ("Floundering") and perhaps the best, most straightforward song about divorce on record ("It Happens Every Day"). But there isn't much in the way of fire and fury.

Was (Not Was) — "Born to Laugh at Tornadoes" (Geffen) — Was (Not Was) is actually the brothers David and Don Weiss, and aside from inventing the year's strangest album title, they have come up with one of its oddest records. Imagine Ozzy Osbourne singing dance rap up against hot blues/funk sung by Sweet Pea Atkinson next to pop by the Knack's Doug Feiger and topped off by a Mel Torme ballad! It's all here, and more.
5:30

Carly Simon

on the dance-club hit of the season.

Los Lobos — "And a Time to Dance" (Slash) — Los Lobos is a fun you can dance to. The album is a mix of styles, including Tex-Mex, rock, and folk. It's a great listen for anyone who enjoys a good mix of music.
6:30

Elvis Costello — "Punch the Clock" (Columbia) — Calling this Costello's best record would elicit debate; he's done so much good work. But it is certainly becoming his most successful record, with the single "Everyday I Write the Book" now Costello's first chart hit. Goodness knows this influential rocker deserves it. There are some fine songs here, unusually rousing music (thanks to TKO Horns and the Afrodisiak Singers) and, all in all, a wonderfully realized performance from an eccentric and creative artist.

PBS in the spotlight

Ron Redfern, author of "The Making of a Continent."

'Land of Sleeping Mountains'

The violent history of volcanic tumult and earthquake trauma that plagues the Great Basin and Lava Plains of Nevada, Utah and Idaho illustrates that the continuous Western movement of North America is slowly "tearing apart" the land, according to "The Land of Sleeping Mountains," the second of three "The Making of a Continent" specials airing Monday, Nov. 7 on PBS. The entire series is based on three chapters of a newly-published book, "The Making of a Continent" by acclaimed author/photographer Ron Redfern. (Please check local listings for time.)

"The Making of a Continent" explores how human beings and all living things are shaped by the movement of the Earth's upper crust caused by the turbulence that lies below. The story begins deep beneath the oceans, where underwater eruptions are continuously forming new ocean crust as the ocean floor spreads apart a few centimeters every year. These eruptions occur on ridges beneath the Pacific Ocean and the Atlantic Ocean; the sea floor moves outwards from spreading centers, and, as it does so, the North American continent moves westward against the opposite-moving Pacific Ocean bed.

The constant physical changes that the continent has undergone do not just affect the shapes of rocks and the landscape. Physical change has a direct effect on the environment, climate, animals, vegetation and human beings.

The history of the continent's geology also shows mankind what it should perhaps be prepared to face. The Paiute Indians of today believe that one day the "sleeping mountains" that surround them will awaken and drive the white man from the land that used to be theirs alone.

The broadcast concludes that for man to ignore or otherwise to defy the dynamic forces of the Earth is to invite disaster.

CBN CORNER

Energetic 'Alive!'

by Kim Cooper

TV personality Susan Stafford says there's a way to live a better, healthier and happier life. Weekday mornings on the CBN Network at 7:30 (ET) Miss Stafford hosts "Alive!" — an energetic program designed to help people feel and look better with tips on nutrition, exercise, preventive health and maintaining a positive attitude.

Miss Stafford, whose hobby is "health," emphatically says "life is wonderful, it's for us all." She created "Alive!" to share her enthusiasm. A combination of special features, guest experts and personal experiences will cover the full spectrum of health and health-related topics and issues.

This week's guests include Dr. Arnold Fox, author of "The Beverly Hills Medical Diet," which focuses on long-life eating habits and anti-stress methods; Earl Mindell, author of "The Vitamin Bible"; Dr. Harvey Ross on hypoglycemia; and Dr. Lester Morrison, a heart expert.

Features are scheduled on baldness, circulation improvement, herbs and vitamins, minerals, arteries, beauty hints and coping with everyday tension.

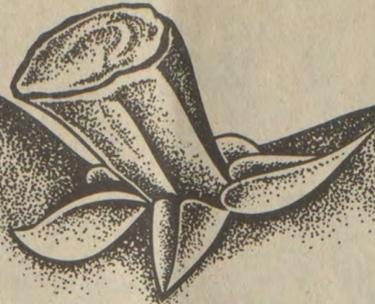

Informing the public and helping to make people feel better is the chief goal, says Miss Stafford. She gives facts on what sugar, smoking and chemicals do to health. Sickness prevention is also stressed with the fitness tips and the latest medical developments.

Miss Stafford, the former co-host of "Wheel of Fortune," draws on her own experience to lend advice. Her years of maintaining a healthy life amid a hectic TV career is testimony to the success of her formula.

"Alive!" viewers will be asked to write in questions and suggestions for show topics. "I want to know what they (the viewers) want to know about, that's what the show is all about," says Miss Stafford.

Kim Cooper is publicity director of the CBN Cable Network.

To Exchange Vows in Double Wedding

Two couples will exchange vows in a double-ring ceremony to be solemnized at 2 p.m., Saturday, November 5, at the Zion Little Regular Baptist Church at Grethel.

Miss June Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mitchell, of Grethel, will become the bride of Mr. Mike Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Williams, also of Grethel, and their daughter, Miss Tammy Williams, will exchange vows with Mr. Jeff Meade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kinney, of Harold.

The custom of open church will be observed.

Democrats Plan Bus Tour Through Eastern Kentucky

The Democrats Together '83 ticket will take its campaign into Prestonsburg and the 7th congressional district early next week with a two-day bus tour of the area on Tuesday and Wednesday. Heading the list of participants in the campaign swing will be various members of the Democrats Together '83 ticket as well as former Governor Bert T. Combs.

The tour, designed to give the democratic ticket exposure in the Eastern part of Kentucky, will depart Lexington early Tuesday morning and will return to Lexington late Wednesday night. Among those scheduled for all or part of the tour are: Governor Combs, Fran Curci, Paul Patton, and candidates Steve Beshear, Dave Boswell, Drex Davis and Francis Jones Mills.

Commenting on the extensive tour, John Cooper, the campaign's seventh district coordinator, said, "This district is important to our campaign. A strong showing in the seventh by the democratic ticket will help ensure a substantial margin in the November election."

The tour will also make stops in Mt. Sterling, Owingsville, Bethel, Maysville, Tollesboro, Vanceburg, South Shore, Greenup, Russell, Ashland, Catlettsburg, Paintsville, Pikeville, Shelbiana, Dorton, Jenkins, and Whitesburg.

SBA Loan Available For Farming Relief

Billy Wells, district director for the Small Business Administration (SBA), announced today that Economic Injury Disaster Loans are available to eligible small business concerns in Floyd and Knott counties whose businesses were affected by the impact on farm income as a result of excessive rainfall and flooding during the planting season followed by drought and excessively high temperatures beginning May 1, 1983 and continuing.

For further information or assistance, contact your nearest SBA office or the SBA Disaster Assistance Office, 75 Spring Street, SW, Suite 822, Atlanta, Georgia 30303, telephone (404) 221-5854.

Home Buying Increases After 2-Month Slump

Existing single-family home sales activity rose 1.1 percent from August to September after two consecutive months of decline, the National Association of Realtors reported today.

The seasonally adjusted annual home resale rate was 2.74 million units in September, compared with August's rate of 2.71 million units. The September rate was 43.5 percent higher than in the same month last year.

"It is encouraging that many people are able to satisfy their housing needs despite continuing high mortgage interest rates," said Dr. Jack Carlson, the association's chief economist and executive vice president.

"However," he cautioned, "with average interest rates on fixed-rate mortgage loans apparently riveted in the 13-14 percent range for the rest of this year and next, a great many would-be homebuyers will remain locked out of the market."

The economist noted that although the annual rate of existing-home sales is running well ahead of last year's, it still is 34 percent below the peak rate of 4.15 million units reached in November 1978 and 6.8 percent below the 2.94 million rate three months ago.

Rice-Adams

Betty Kay Rice and Phillip Edwin Adams announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Emma Rice, of Prestonsburg, and the late Marvin Rice. She is a 1970 graduate of Prestonsburg High School and received her BBA from Eastern Kentucky University in 1974. She is employed by BP Coal North America, Inc., Lexington, Ky.

The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Adams, of Mt. Sterling. He is a 1969 graduate of Mt. Sterling High School and attended Morehead State University. He is employed by the U.S. Postal Service in Lexington.

The wedding will be an event of November 26 at 4 p.m., at First Church of God in Mt. Sterling. The gracious custom of open church wedding will be observed.

Former State Detective Receives Prison Sentence

A former state police detective was sentenced to three years in prison yesterday for possessing forged police forms and misusing agency money, Hopkins Circuit Court Clerk Paul Summers said.

Circuit Judge Thomas B. Spain sentenced Larry M. Bollinger, 38, to a year in prison on each of three counts against him.

TO THE HONEST CITIZENS OF FLOYD COUNTY

We have come to the last mile of the way in the 1983 campaign and it is time to sort truth from mud-slinging and decide who will work for our county with wise planning and clear thinking. I'm sure all Floyd County has seen the FLURRY of blacktop being spread on some roads half-way up some hollows and, worst of all, up some private roads. One such road is at Price, where no school bus travels, and is on railroad property. This road ends at the front door of a private drive. Is this wise planning or a shameful waste of county funds? Was that clear thinking? I ask you, Floyd countians, are we going to put up with this same old destructive thinking that we have had for so many years in this county? I, for one, am sick of it and I'm sure you are too. Let's all come out over the pot-holes and muddy ditches and vote for Ron Frasure and help him wipe the shame from the face of Floyd County. Let us show the county, state, and our country that Floyd county can't be bought!

Brown Food Service Plans Yet Uncertain

Although financing assistance has been approved, plans of the Brown Food Service, Inc. to move a major portion of its facilities from Prestonsburg to Louisa remain "in limbo," John F. Brown, vice-president of the firm, said this week.

The board of directors of the Kentucky Development Finance Authority recently approved a loan of $300,000 to Lawrence County Properties of Prestonsburg, which, it was noted, plans to buy the Louisa Carpet Mills facility, renovate the building and lease a portion of the building to Brown Food Service.

The Brown Food Service official indicated that approval of such a loan does not make certain the location change that admittedly has been considered.

Isaac (Ike) Flanery

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m., tomorrow (Thursday) in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home for Isaac (Ike) Flanery, 64, of Martin, who died Tuesday at the U.K. Medical Center in Lexington following a short illness.

Born April 28, 1919 at Hite, he was a son of the late William Singleton and Martha Frasure Flanery. A retired miner, he was a veteran of Army service during World War II and was a member of the Disabled American Veterans at Garrett. He had also been a member of the John W. Hall Masonic Lodge, No. 950, F&AM, for 25 years.

Survivors include his wife, Helen Symon Flanery; one son, Danny Flanery, of Pikeville; three daughters, Janet Horn, Peggy and Sherry Flanery, all of Martin; two brothers, Creed Flanery, of Claypool, Ind., and Henry Flanery, of Columbus, O.; two sisters, Polly Helton, of Claypool, Ind., and Ollie Bradley, of Lucasville, Ohio. Four grandchildren also survive.

The officiating minister will be the Rev. Lorie Vannucci, and burial will be made in the Dingus cemetery at Dinwood.

Corbett Terry

Corbett Terry, 81, of Wayland, died Saturday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, following a long illness.

Born November 24, 1901 in Knott county, he was the son of the late Preston and Rachel Slone Terry. Before retirement, he was a foreman for the Elkhorn Mining Company.

He is survived by his wife, Ellen Hicks Terry; four sons, Jack David Terry, in the Army in Virginia, Johnny and James Gregory Terry, both of Wayland, and Herman Terry, in Indiana; three daughters, Joyce Bush, of Martin, Judy Terry, of Wayland, Marie Richardson, of Hopkinsville; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Caney Creek Regular Baptist Church at Raven by Regular Baptist ministers, and burial was made in the Turner cemetery at Dema under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Mrs. Anna Bentley Ward

Mrs. Anna Bentley Ward, 70, of Mousie, died Saturday at the Riverview Manor Nursing Home, here, following a prolonged illness.

Born September 30, 1913 at Garrett, she was the daughter of the late Brack and Sally Hughes Bentley and was a member of the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church. Her husband, Elder Ernest Ward, preceded her in death in 1976.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m., Monday, at the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church by Regular Baptist ministers, and burial was made in the Bentley cemetery at Garrett under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Juror Who Caused Mistrial May Have To Pay For Costs

A juror whose disregard of judicial instructions nullified a murder trial, may get a bill for the $10,000 to $15,000 cost of the wasted trial, officials say.

Deputy District Attorney Jack Byron said Tuesday his office was considering asking the court to order juror Carolyn Clark to pay for the cost of Joachim F. Niemand's first trial in August, when he was convicted of slaying his wife and her lover last Christmas Eve.

District Judge Winston Wolvinton nullified the trial after Mrs. Clark admitted she used a legal dictionary to look up some terms used in the trial, including "atrocious" and "premeditation."

He had directed jurors not to do outside research.

Johnny H. Hall

Johnny H. Hall, 84, of Kite, died last Thursday at the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital following a long illness.

Born November 3, 1898, he was a son of the late Thomas and Martha Fouts Hall and was a retired miner. His wife, Mattie Craft Hall, preceded him in death in 1973.

He is survived by three sons, Pheneas Hall, of Lexington, Archie hall, of Kite, and Carl Hall, of Jacksonville, Fla.; three daughters, Inez Criteser, of Wakeman, O., Gladys Hall and Lola Mullins, both of Kite; one brother, Bill Hall, of Marion, O.; 17 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Rebecca Regular Baptist Church at Kite with Old Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial was made in the Wilburn Hall cemetery at Kite under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Hall's sons and grandsons acted as pallbearers.

In Memoriam

In memory of Ronnie Dean Dotson, on his birthday; born Nov. 2, 1950, died Sept. 24, 1972.

On the wings of death and sorrow God sends us new hopes for tomorrow, And in his mercy and his grace He gives us strength to bravely face The lonely days that stretch ahead And we know our loved one is not dead But only sleeping and out of our sight And we'll meet in that land Where there is no night.

Sadly missed by his Mother and Daddy and family. It.

IN MEMORIAM

Roy Osborne: Born Nov. 2, 1914—died Oct. 10, 1980.

This Nov. 2 is the birthday of my dear, departed husband. If he had lived, he would have been 69 years old this November.

On "his day," I would always fix him a birthday cake and the entire day would be special.

For me, now, Nov. 2, is a long, sad day, full of memories, tears and loneliness.

Sadly missed by his family and friends, Mrs. LeeEster Osborne Buckingham, Ky. It-pd.

Mrs. Ollie Patton

Mrs. Ollie Patton, 54, of Martin, died October 19 at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness.

She was a daughter of Bob Hawkins, of Somerset, and the late Dumas Hawkins, and was born December 25, 1928 in Knott county. She was a member of the Arkansas Church of Christ.

She is survived by her husband, Joe Patton, Jr.; three sons, Kenny Ray Patton, of Martin, Sherwood Patton, of Langley, Willie Patton, of Garrett; six daughters, Mrs. Alberta Samons, Mrs. Freda May Crum, Miss Frances Patton, all of Martin, Mrs. Lynn Jones, Mrs. Gedrick Samons, of Langley, Mrs. Carol Ramey, of Garrett; one sister, Mrs. Gullinor Caudill, of Sidney, Oh.; Acie Hawkins, of Quincy, Ohio, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at the Merion Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Ronnie Samons officiating. Burial was made in the Allen cemetery at Langley.

In Memoriam

In Memory of Arthur Nance. Daddy, this October, thirteen years ago, God called for you. I was only sixteen months old.

Daddy, your name I can't call, but I have a picture of you I can hang on the wall.

Mom has done a wonderful job. Now I am almost fifteen, but only God knows how much I want to see you.

I have my mommy, and she does everything for me she can do, but Daddy I wish I could hear both of you.

Mommy always tells me how good you were to the children and her. She never says anything about you, Daddy, she stills love you dear.

My sister, Lib, I am so fond of her, and I know she loves me dearly cause I am your baby girl.

Written by your daughter, Mitzi Nance. It.

View Low Meat Prices With Suspicion, Advise Ky. Attorney General

"Buying meat in bulk is often the most economical way. However, consumers should be on the lookout for dishonest dealers," warns Attorney General Steve Beshear.

Dishonest operators will "bait" you by advertising bulk quantities of meat at unbelievably low prices. When you see the meat, it will probably be fatty, moldy, and wasteful. The salesperson will then offer to sell some other meat priced much higher than the price that originally caught your eye. This is the "switch." Invariably, it will cost substantially more than if you had bought it from an ethical dealer.

Be aware of the use of the word "free." Do not be influenced by the free bonus of extra meat; these so-called gifts are never free. The cost of the free item will be hidden in the price of what you purchase. Nothing is really free if it is advertised as part of the deal.

Advertisements may contain misleading words and phrases that are used to identify cuts and grades of meat. For example, most consumers are fooled by the words "beef half" and "beef order." Check around and compare costs. Do not buy a "deal" unless you know the dealer and are provided with a complete inventory breakdown before you buy.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Kathy Sexton takes this opportunity to thank everyone for their help in the loss of our loved one: those who sent food and flowers, prepared the grave, or just spoke comforting words. We deeply appreciate all the kindness shown to us. A special thanks to the ministers and the Hall Funeral Home for being so kind. RAYMOND MULLINS AND FAMILY

Home Security Survey

Is your home an easy target for burglary? Try this test.

This checklist will help you make a security survey of your home.

The first step in bolstering your home against break-ins is to identify the features of your home that might make it an attractive target for burglars. Start

DOORS

1. Are all outside doors made of metal or solid wood? Yes No
2. Are there windows in any door within 40 inches of the locks? Yes No
3. Are door hinges protected from removal from the outside? Yes No
4. Are door frames strong and tight enough to prevent forcing or spreading? Yes No
5. Are all door locks adequate and in good repair? Yes No
6. Are strikes and strike plates adequate and properly installed? Yes No
7. Can the locking mechanism be reached through a main slot, delivery port or pet entrance at the doorway? Yes No
8. Does the screen or storm door have an adequate lock? Yes No
9. Are all entrances lighted with at least a 40-watt light? Yes No
10. Can the front entrance be observed from the street or public areas? Yes No
11. If there is a sliding glass door, is the sliding panel secured from being lifted out of track? Yes No
12. Is a "charley-bar" or key operated auxiliary lock used in sliding glass doors? Yes No

ENTRANCES FROM GARAGE AND BASEMENT

13. Are all entrances to living quarters from garage and basement of metal or solid wood construction? Yes No
14. Does the door from the garage to the living quarters have adequate locks? Yes No
15. Does the door from the basement to the living quarters have an adequate lock operated from the inside of the living quarters? Yes No your security inspection at your front door, and proceed through your home, inspecting all doors, windows, locks, lights and landscaping.

Answer all of the questions to determine your family's vulnerability to theft.

WINDOWS

16. Do all windows have adequate locks in good operating condition? Yes No
17. Do windows have screens or storm windows that lock from inside? Yes No
18. Do windows that open to hazardous or high risk areas have security screens or grills? Yes No
19. Are exterior areas of windows unobscured by concealing structure or landscaping? Yes No
20. Are all window areas adequately lighted on the exterior? Yes No
21. Are trees and shrubbery trimmed away from upper floor windows? Yes No

BASEMENT DOORS AND WINDOWS

22. Does the basement have a door that leads to the outside? And if so, is that door adequately secured? Yes No
23. Is the outside basement entrance lighted by an exterior light of at least 40 watts? Yes No
24. Is the outside basement door visible from street or neighbors' homes? Yes No

Count up the number of "No" answers you checked. If more than a couple of questions were answered "No," chances are good that a burglar could break into your home.

WHEELWRIGHT

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Wheelwright Homemakers held their monthly meeting Oct. 20 at the Senior Citizens building. The meeting was called to order by Alma Soulyrette, the president, and opened with a devotional given by Parilee Hall.

Members donated recipes to be used in a county cookbook which will soon be printed. The Homemakers will join other county clubs in selling pecans again this year.

The lesson for the evening was on Candlewicking and was given by Frances Pitts. November's lesson will be needlepoint, and the club will also hold a White Elephant Sale. All members are to contribute items for sale.

Hostesses for the evening were Maxine and Doris Osborne. The door prize, a small ceramic jack-o-lantern filled with trick-or-treat candy, was won by Marissa Tinder, daughter of member, Sandi Tinder. Refreshments were served to the following members: Linda Couch, Dolly Hall, Mary Hall, Parilee Hall, Linda Holbrook, Barbara Johnson, Sue Johnson, Margaret Jones, Doris Osborne, Maxine Osborne, Alma Soulyrette, Sandi Tinder and Frances Pitts. The next meeting will be Nov. 17.

HERE FROM MOREHEAD

Dr. J.M. Smiley, a member of the faculty at Morehead State University, was in Paintsville attending to business, Thursday of last week. During that time he came to Prestonsburg, where he entertained his mother, Mrs. Otelia Smiley, to lunch, after which he attended a meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association.

Blackcats Down Bulldogs, 31-14

By LAURA COOLEY
 The Prestonsburg Blackcats came back from their loss last week to Pikeville to brighten PHS Homecoming activities with a 31-14 win over the Hazard Bulldogs.

Scoring began early in the first quarter when Todd Nairn ran 27 yards for the 'Cat's first touchdown. The extra point was added by John Goble.

The Blackcats were set up for the game's second touchdown following the interception of a Hazard pass by Randall Slone. Brad Hughes carried in the pigskin on a 15-yard dash although the extra point attempt failed.

There was no stopping the Blackcat offense in the first half as fullback John DeRossett picked up two more touchdowns on a two-yard run and a 20-yard run making the score at halftime, 25-0.

The Blackcats' final score of the game came after the half when James Little broke through the Bulldogs' defense and ran nearly 50 yards before being stopped on the four yard line. Little was not denied the touchdown, however, as he scored on the next play on a four-yard plunge.

With Prestonsburg's second string playing much of the second half, the Bulldogs put two touchdowns on the board and ran for a two-point conversion, making the final score, 31-14.

The District grid championship will be decided this Friday night as the 'Cats take on another Perry county team, M. C. Napier, at Hazard.

Delmer Elswick, standing, is justly proud of Grand Nite Champion West's Junior, called Junior for short, the $6,000 coonhound which he owns jointly with Levi West, also in picture above, of McIntosh, Florida. Junior, on October 6, was the high scoring dog of entire hunt in central Florida, and this year was also named the Ohio state champion. In 1982, he was the Georgia state champion, in 1981, among the top 20 in Tupelo, Miss., and was the 1980 Florida state champion high scoring dog.

Wins Miss Junior Teens Honors

Miss Susan Renee Hall, 13-year-old daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hall, of Melvin, won the Miss Junior Teens Competition held at Pikeville, then continued her success in the Grand Nationals held Oct. 7-9 at Paintsville. There she was crowned for talent, photogenic quality, sportswear and sophistication. She received a trophy as the wearer of the prettiest gown. She is an eighth-grade student at the Melvin Elementary School.

Span Delayed for Muskie Spawn

The state Transportation Cabinet has announced that the contract letting for the new Blackwater Creek bridge on U.S. 460 in Morgan County will be delayed about five months so as not to interfere with the spring muskie spawn.

Transportation Secretary James Runke said the $900,000 project was originally scheduled for an autumn letting in the cabinet's six-year road and bridge construction program.

However, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources asked that construction of the bridge replacement be delayed. In a letter to Runke, Commissioner Carl E. Kays said that Muskie travel upstream in March and April and remain in Blackwater Creek through May.

Runke said that the project will be completed by Mid-1985. "With a May letting, the successful bidder will not have a work order until about the first of June, after the muskie have left their spawning area and reentered Cave Run Lake," Runke said.

Deer Hunting Rules Focus on Five Areas

There are two types of wildlife law violators—those who set out deliberately to break the law and those who, through oversight or a lack of knowledge, find themselves on the receiving end of a citation to appear in court.

Otherwise honest deer hunters make one of five common mistakes, according to Steve Yontz, director of law enforcement for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. So pay particular attention to these five points and you'll very likely avoid a citation from a conservation officer:

1. Make sure you have permission to hunt on the land where you're actually hunting. Property boundaries are sometimes vague and it's easy to wander onto land where you shouldn't be. Also remember that the law requires you to obtain written permission from the landowner before you hunt with a rifle of .240 caliber or larger.

2. Don't forget your orange. Deer hunting regulations stipulate that all gun hunters must wear a hat, cap, jacket, vest or coveralls of hunter orange color. The entire garment must be hunter orange and while it is necessary to wear only one of the items listed above to be legal, the more orange you have on the better your chances of being seen by other hunters. Deer are color blind, so you won't stand out to a white tail.

3. Remember to carry both your hunting license and your deer permit with you—and don't get so excited when you finally do bag a buck that you forget to tag it. The law requires that the tag portion of the permit be attached to the deer before the carcass is moved. Also remember that you have to take the deer to the nearest open check station or have it checked by a conservation officer by 9 a.m. on the day after it is taken.

4. Confine your hunting to deer only. There's a general closed season from Nov. 1 until the third Thursday in November, when small game seasons open. During this time, hunting for those species which otherwise have a year-round season is prohibited. So even if deer hunting is slow and a groundhog presents a tempting target, don't shoot—not only will you be in violation of the law, you'll probably scare away that 12-point buck that was just about to walk in front of your stand.

5. Watch the shooting hours. Deer hunting is permitted only during "daylight hours," which the law defines as the period from one-half hour before sunset until one-half hour after sunset. Check a local newspaper for the specific sunrise and sunset times in the area where you'll be hunting. These official times are the ones the conservation officer goes by, so you should too.

There's a deer hunting guide attached to each deer permit. A quick look through this guide may reveal several other points of law that you weren't aware of, so take a few minutes to look it over before opening day.

Babe Ruth Softball Enters First Season

Babe Ruth League, Inc., has added another dimension to its existing 33-year-old International program beginning in 1984—a Softball Division for players in three specific age groups: 12-and-under, 13-15 and 16-18.

Babe Ruth President Ron Tellefsen said the program's Softball Division will use many of the generally accepted softball rules. In addition, the Rules Committee that consisted of various softball, athletic and recreation professionals established a few rules aimed at player safety.

As with the baseball divisions of the Babe Ruth program, which operates in only the United States and Canada, tournament competition will be a highlight with Babe Ruth Softball. Each league is eligible to enter District competition with those winners moving on to State play. Future tournament plans call for Regional tournaments and finally a World Series in each age group.

Homecoming Queen

Miss Monette Rene Holbrook, 16-year-old junior at Wheelwright High School, was crowned Homecoming Queen at pre-game festivities held Friday, October 14, prior to the Wheelwright-Mullins game. She is the daughter of George and Peggy Holbrook, of Bypro. Her escort was David Hall, son of Virgil and Shirley Hall, of Bevinsville.

Antitrust Case End To Benefit Schools

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear announced last week that his office will distribute $34,724.08 among the school districts in Kentucky to be used for the purchase of art materials such as crayons, watercolors, tempera paint and chalk.

Floyd County will receive $339.38. The monies resulted from the settlement of an antitrust case the Federal Trade Commission had brought against four manufacturers of art materials—Binney & Smith, Inc., Milton Bradley Co., American Art Clay Co., Inc. and The Joseph Dixon Crucible Co. The four were charged with fixing the price of art materials in violation of the federal antitrust laws. Pursuant to an agreement with the FTC, the attorney general developed a plan for the distribution of monies is that each of Kentucky's 181 school districts will receive a $100 minimum, plus a proportionate share of the remaining settlement money based upon the number of students in the school districts.

"We believe this method assures each district that it will receive a reasonable degree of assistance in its purchases of art supplies in light of the limited funds available for distribution," said Beshear.

In a separate but related action, Kentucky, along with several other states, has filed a separate suit against the same manufacturers in federal district court in Cleveland, Ohio. In the suit which is still pending, Kentucky seeks to recover on behalf of the Commonwealth damages resulting from overcharges attributable to the fixing of prices on art materials.

Two Floyd Countians On Lady Bear Roster

Trena Hensley, of Langley, and Lela Layne of Betsy Layne are members of the 1983-84 Pikeville College Lady Bears. According to Carolyn Hall, Lady Bear coach, Hensley is the third leading scorer and Lela Layne, an excellent high school performer, is a good outside shooter who is currently hampered by injuries.

Bradbury Named Pike College Trustee

Raymond Bradbury, of Prestonsburg, (second from left), president of Martin County Coal Corporation and newly appointed trustee at Pikeville College, talked with members of the college faculty during the Board's recent fall meeting. Bradbury was appointed by the Board to chair a committee on coal-related giving. He and a group of volunteers will solicit annual giving from individuals affiliated with the coal industry. This group represents a very important component of the college's Annual Fund.

"I was pleased and impressed with the conscientiousness and sincerity I detected among the Board members. I have strong feelings about being associated with this group of people," Bradbury said of his first Board meeting.

Barber Urges More Pay To Attract Better Talent

"If Kentucky wants to attract highly qualified young people into teaching, it must be prepared to pay them better than we do today," Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber mused today in Frankfort.

"We entrust our most precious possessions to our teachers. We expect them to take our children, to educate them, to train them in the principles of our democracy, and then after twelve years to graduate them as knowledgeable, articulate young adults able to cope with college or a job. And for that service to our nation, we have not been paying them lavishly."

Improving teacher pay and teacher training have been two goals of Barber's administration. During his term, which expires in January, teacher salaries have increased 34 percent from the 1979-80 school year. College entry and graduation requirements for teacher candidates have also been stiffened. Recently, Barber proposed to require five years of college training for a baccalaureate degree for teachers, rather than the current four, plus a competency test and a one-year internship for new teachers before they can be certified to teach in Kentucky schools.

"Our teachers need more preparation in mathematics and science," Barber said. "The additional year in college would allow them to take more courses in those subjects, such as 12 hours of science for elementary and middle school teachers."

With that amount of education and preparation, plus four years of teaching experience, the new teacher would deserve an annual salary of $20,000 at the beginning of the fifth year of teaching, when he or she becomes tenured for the first time, Barber said.

"These teachers will start where current teachers now start with Rank II," Barber said. "That should be a minimum. And providing that minimum should be a high priority for the commonwealth."

"We have heard a great deal in recent months about unqualified teachers," Barber observed. "It has been my experience that we are blessed with so many capable dedicated teachers that all the criticism is undeserved. Our real

Tavern Owner Gets 5 Years Probation

A tavern owner who pleaded guilty last month to trafficking in food stamps was placed on probation for five years yesterday by Jefferson Circuit Judge Joseph Eckert.

Harold E. "Bud" Schweitzer, 41, of the 8000 block of Manslick Road, was charged with buying more than $2,000 worth of food stamps for about $850 between Oct. 6, 1981, and Feb. 9, 1982, from an undercover agent for the state attorney general's office.

problem is that fewer and fewer of our most highly qualified young people are seeking careers in the classroom."

For years, Barber noted, women sought teaching because they had few career options elsewhere. Now there are better paying careers in hundreds of other fields.

"Our captive employment pool no longer exists," Barber said. "If we want to recruit the best of our young people for our classrooms, we must be prepared to pay for their services. We must be prepared to compete, if not with the legal and medical professions, at least with other areas of public professional service."
