PRIZE-WINNING FLOAT, designed and constructed by students and staff at Mayo Vocational School, will be among the floats which will participate in the weekend's Jenny Wiley Festival Parade. The float, which features a styrofoam sculpture of the late Congressman Carl Perkins, will also participate in the following weekend's Red, White and Blue Day event.

Driver Whose Car Killed Two Held Here; $106,000 Bail Asked

En route to a North Carolina religious camp, a Dayton, O. man and his wife were killed shortly after noon Saturday when their compact model car was hit, head-on, near Harold, by an auto which was driven, according to Kentucky State Police, by a drunken driver.

The victims were Steven Perkins, 38, and his wife, Brenda F., 29. Mrs. Perkins died at the scene; her husband was dead on arrival at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Elmer Ratliff, 34, of Shelbyville, is in jail here, charged by State Police on two second-degree manslaughter counts and one count of driving under the influence of intoxicants (DUI). Ratliff remained in jail Monday in lieu of $100,000 bond in the two deaths and $6000 bond asked on the DUI charge.

The Ohio couple had spent Friday night at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, leaving there at 11:15 a.m. Coroner Roger Nelson said the woman's watch had stopped at 12:30 p.m. apparently the time of the crash.

The collision took place on US 23, opposite the Boldman Church of Christ, Nelson said. The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad used the "Jaws of Life" device to extricate Mrs. Perkins from the wreckage. She died of multiple injuries—head, neck and chest. Her husband suffered head and chest injuries.

The Perkins couple was driving south on US 23 when, police said, Ratliff's oncoming auto crossed an elevated median into their path.

Claude Tackett, public information officer at the Pikeville State Police post, said the Floyd grand jury will be asked to name Ratliff in two wanton murder indictments under the new state drunk driving law.

In the twisted wreckage of the Ohio car were two Bibles. Mrs. Perkins was employed as a therapist. Primary arrangements for their burial were made by the Floyd Funeral Home for the Tobia Funeral Home in Dayton.

The Public Defender has been designated by District Judge Harold Stumbo to represent Ratliff.

Saturday traffic accidents in this area claimed their third victim when Robert Gay, 32, of Lexington, was killed at the intersection of the Mountain Parkway and US 460, near Salyersville. State Police said Gay was driving at high speed and, unable to stop at the intersection, crossed the Parkway and rammed into the bordering mountainside.

Parents Offered Free Class

Consider this scene.
CHILD: Can I ride my bike?

PARENT: You know you can't do that. You're supposed to be sick. The doctor said you're to rest.

CHILD: Aw, c'mon. I feel better. Just for a little while?

PARENT: I said no. Now get back to bed!

CHILD: (crying) But I don't want to. I tell you, I feel OK. I want to ride my bike.

PARENT: (angry) You heard me! Now get back in there this instant!

CHILD: (stomps off, crying) You never let me do anything!

Plenty of parents will recognize that kind of standoff. The impulse simply to "pull rank" to resolve a dispute with children is time-honored and traditional even if, as many are discovering, the appeal to parental authority does not go over as well as it once did.

But Betty Schuster believes there's a better way. And she's willing to gamble that other parents will be interested in hearing about it.

Head teacher at the two-room Bonanza Elementary School, Mrs. Schuster last week put her idea to the Floyd Board of Education. Would there be any objection to her holding a class on Saturday mornings, not for children but for their parents?

It is not that she intends any criticism of parents, she hastened to explain. "I think they do a great job," she says of parents of the children she teaches. And to ask her about the youngsters themselves—22 of them, in grades five through eight—is to see her beam with pride.

O.E.S. Protests Use of Name By Proposed Liquor Outlet

If the beer and wine dealer's license sought at Eastern, at the Mouth of Goose Creek, was in any other name, it might sail through to approval without opposition.

But it is called the Eastern Star Lounge, and that immediately drew fire from the Order of Eastern Star, whose members say they do not want the name of the order to be associated with the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Zebulon Masonic Lodge at its meeting here last week voted its support of the Order of Eastern Star in its opposition to use of the name for the beer and wine outlet.

Although a petition was being circulated last week among members of the order, Denzil R. Allen, county alcohol administrator, said Tuesday he has received no written protests, only three telephone calls. In any event, he added, the decision in the matter will not be his. Instead, the application for the lounge and any protests that may be filed will go to Frankfort for the final word from the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) Administration.

Ballard Crum, of Eastern, one of the incorporators of Eastern Star Lounge, Inc., was quoted as saying that if the Order of Eastern Star would reimburse the corporation for expenses already incurred and for possible future expenses a change of name may be effected. As the matter stands, the corporation has gone to the expense of filing papers of incorporation at Frankfort, has purchased T-shirts bearing the name and had other expenses.

Other incorporators of the Eastern Star Lounge, Inc. were listed as Tony Ray Crum, of Eastern, and Kenneth Roberts, of Garrett.

This Town...That World

FOR THE RECORD

If it were not necessary to correct mistakes made in last week's column, I would have skipped this one. About Columbus Day and the results it would have, I erred, as the late Damon Runyon was wont to say, more than somewhat.

On only one point was I correct. The postoffice closed.

But I confidently predicted the banks, the courthouse and city hall would be closed, too. And at least one bank was open, and so were the courthouse and city offices.

Sorry about that.

But now comes one with a bit of comfort. He reminds me that the poet was as wrong as I was when he quoted Columbus as saying, "Sail on! Sail on!"

What Columbus really said, according to this more or less reliable source, was not "keep sailin'" but "stop all Injuns!"

CAN'T COUNT FOR LOOKING

How many are the colors of these trees that now are in their "fall flowerings"? For a starter, there are three shades of green that an untrained eye such as mine can recognize. After that you get into all the tints of yellow, pink, red; you find yourself viewing a living kaleidoscope and forget all about this prosaic task of counting colors.

Coal Ordered Held for Debt

A stockpile of coal in Pike county was last week ordered attached by Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley to secure payment of a debt allegedly owed to a Harold coal company.

Tex Mitchell, president of T & R Coal Co., alleged in a suit filed in circuit court here that Sabre Fuels, Inc., of Pikeville, owed him $55,470 for coal sold to the Pike county firm in September.

The suit said Sabre president James E. Jackson had already moved the company's bank account from Pikeville to Grundy, Va. and was planning to sell stockpiled coal in an effort to evade his creditors.

The Floyd Board of Education and a school bus driver were named as defendants in another suit filed here. Pamela Jean Caldwell, 19, and her parents Earl and Thelma Caldwell seek $57,500 in damages for injuries she allegedly suffered at Weeksbury last October while riding a school bus driven by Donald Little, of Melvin.

Miss Caldwell, who was a Wheelwright High School student, said Little drove so carelessly on Shop Hollow that she was thrown about inside the bus and sustained injuries to her back, sides and stomach.

$17 Million Set By County Board For Fiscal Year

While praying in the public schools is not permitted, praying for the schools is still held constitutional. And that might be just what it takes to balance the budget this year, schools treasurer Ray Brackett indicated at a meeting of the Floyd Board of Education last week.

In presenting a "very, very tight" budget to the board, Brackett said, "We'll have to hope for improved attendance, wise use of utilities, and pray for a good, mild winter."

The $17.1 million 1984-'85 budget represents only a two percent increase over last year's, and any unexpected falloff in revenues or jump in expenditures could see the school district facing an end-of-year deficit, the treasurer said.

Property taxes are expected to yield about $54,000 less this year, partly as a result of the board's decision last month to set the lowest of three possible tax rates, partly because motor vehicle taxes, formerly collected by the sheriff and listed among property taxes are now collected by the county clerk and listed separately. In property taxes the budget anticipates $523,416; in auto taxes, $269,488.

Savings brought about by the practice—adopted this year on the advice of the state Department of Education—of advertising for bids on insurance are reflected in a 13 percent reduction in monies set aside this year under "fixed charges."

For the second consecutive year, monies budgeted for transportation, always a major expense category, have been pared slightly. The schools' transportation department, under heavy criticism last year for alleged waste and mismanagement, has been reorganized. This year's $1.2 million allocation reflects savings in gasoline (down $80,000 from what it was two years ago),

Mud Creek Clinic To Open Its New Facility Saturday

A new facility for the Mud Creek Clinic will be opened and dedicated this Saturday, 28 months after the house out of which it operated for 10 years was destroyed by fire.

While clinic staffers are not expected to move until later this month from the two trailers that have housed them for the past two years, their new $400,000 facility at Grethel will be officially opened in ceremonies beginning at 11 a.m.

Dinner and entertainment at the nearby John M. Stumbo school were being planned "for everyone on Mud Creek" and a large crowd of visitors, it was said this week.

Construction of the facility was financed by a $320,000 Appalachian Regional Commission grant. To secure the grant, the Mud Creek Community Health Corporation raised $80,000 in contributions from the community and clinic supporters.

Parade Saturday, Turtle Trot Are Festival Events

When the parade that will be an outstanding feature of the third annual Jenny Wiley Festival gets rolling here Saturday afternoon, one float may get more attention than all others.

Prepared by staff members and students of the Mayo Vocational School at Paintsville, it is a tribute to the late Congressman Carl D. Perkins. The float bears a likeness of the late Congressman (a styrofoam sculpture done by Elmo Burke, a math teacher at Mayo and a styrofoam replica of the White House. A giant book represents Perkins' efforts in the Congress for education.

The float won top honors at last week's Apple Festival in Paintsville, where it was judged best of all floats entered and was awarded a $1000 cash prize.

It will be in the line of march here, if it is not raining at the time. Mayo officials explained that rain would destroy the paper flowers which decorate the

Parents Day Set Friday, Oct. 19th In Most Schools

Parents who would like to talk to teachers about their children's progress in school will have an opportunity to do so next week.

In an invitation extended to "all parents who have children attending the Floyd county schools," Asst. Superintendent Ron Hager announced Monday that most county schools will be open to them on Friday, October 19, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

There will be no classes that day—students at county schools will be off this Friday and next to allow teachers to attend a meeting of the East Kentucky

First-Graders' Promotion Above Average in County

Although the figures differ widely from one school to another, Floyd schools generally did not hold back first graders last year as frequently as did the average Kentucky school.

While a quarter of the first graders at one school here failed to advance to the second grade, five Floyd schools reported that none were held back. The average first-grade retention rate here was 9.3 percent, compared to a statewide average of 12.4 percent.

First grade typically has the highest student failure rate, school officials explain, because some children prove too immature to master the reading skills taught at that level. If a child is to be retained, many principals believe, he or she will most benefit by being held back in the first grade. Also, while holding a child back is not a decision made lightly, most agree it does not carry the same stigma it once did.

Figures published last month as part of Floyd county's first school performance report show that one out of four first graders was held back at Drift and one out of five at Home Branch and Prater. None were retained at Bonanza, Clark, Daniels Creek, Harold or Spruce Pine.

In addition to the child's maturity, first grade achievement is also affected by socio-economic status, level of parental interest, family stability and early childhood education, education officials say.

A new state law requires that retention rates, student test scores, attendance figures, dropout rates and number of graduates going to college be published by October 1 each year. Next October, school districts will also be required to list goals and to report on spending, transportation and personnel.

The Floyd report for the school year just ended shows that 58.7 percent of the students here were classified as economically deprived, compared to a statewide average of 35.8. On the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills, Floyd schools ranked 148 out of 183 school districts, up from 176 the year before.

Attendance in 1984 stood at 92.1 percent, compared to 94.4 percent statewide. The dropout rate here was 6.2 percent, above the state average of 4.7 percent and the 4.6 percent designated by state officials as the "maximum acceptable level."

The percentage of Floyd 9th graders completing high school was 48.3 in 1983, the most recent figure listed, well below the state average of 65.8 and the 70 percent reckoned as the "minimum acceptable level." The number of graduates going on to college was 38 percent, less than the statewide average of 41.8 percent.

A War of Words Over the Costs Of Health Care For Veterans

By CHARLES E. JOECKEL, JR.
National Director of Services
Disabled American Veterans

Newspapers and news broadcasts were flooded with stories about the skyrocketing costs of the Veterans Administration (VA) health care system a few weeks ago. The stories cited a document the VA recently developed that takes an initial look at how the VA can meet the increased demand for health care that will obviously result as the number of veterans over age 65 triples between now and the year 2000.

The reporters talked about a ballooning cost of VA health care, massive increases in the agency's staffing, and drastic cutbacks in VA programs. The tone of all of this reminded me of Chicken Little, the fairy tale creature who ran around shouting, "The sky is falling! The sky is falling!"

The sky isn't falling on the VA's system of 172 hospitals, 227 outpatient clinics, 103 nursing homes, and 16 domiciliarys. However, the aging of the veterans populations does present a number of problems that must be looked at if they're to be dealt with at all. The first comprehensive look was taken by the VA document in question. It's important to note that this report did not draw any solid conclusions. It simply outlined the problems, listed options, made comparisons and examined various scenarios.

There are a few points I'd like to make about that report. First, demand on the VA medical system will increase as veterans age, and costs will go up. However, those costs will be offset by reduced costs in the VA's direct benefit payment programs.

The costs of administering and paying these benefits is expected to drop from approximately $14 billion in 1985 to $8 billion in 2020. The cost of VA health care, according to the agency's estimates, will rise from $9.1 billion to $12.4 billion in this same time frame.

The reasons for this are very simple. If veterans are getting older and requiring more medical treatment, they're also dying in growing numbers. In addition, the costs of other VA benefit programs—notably educational programs like the GI Bill—have already dropped to negligible levels. In other words, the cost of the VA to the American taxpayer will increase, but the costs aren't likely to outstrip inflation, whether it continues at today's low levels or again reaches double-digit levels.

My second point involves the VA's patient load. Who are these people? And what is their real entitlement to medical care from the VA?

A number of VA studies over recent years indicate that the VA's patient load is made up of veterans who have disabilities connected with their military service, who are poor, or who are both poor and service-connected.

The nation's obligation to provide medical treatment to veterans who suffer medical conditions and disabilities incurred in military service is very clear. I doubt that any rational person would deny that very obvious, moral obligation. Our obligation to those who fought for our country and today live in poverty is another question, one that deserves more than a surface examination.

It's not true to assume that the costs involved with VA health care for these veterans will simply go away if we deny VA care to this group. These people do not have adequate health insurance; if they did, they wouldn't be showing up at the VA's door. The truth of the matter is that these veterans, if they're going to get any medical care at all from non-VA sources, will get it through such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, public hospitals and clinics, and other institutions paid for by the taxpayer.

We're already seeing this happen. Veterans who seek VA treatment for conditions that are not service-connected are admitted to VA treatment on a space-available basis. At present, the VA is turning away approximately a quarter of a million of these veterans every year. The common perception that any veteran can walk into a VA hospital or clinic and get treatment for any medical condition is a myth.

Another crucial question in this debate involves the number of older veterans who are likely to come to the VA for treatment. While several figures on projected usage of the VA medical system have been bandied about, I doubt that anyone has a really good handle on this yet. It is wrong to assume that every veteran in the country will attempt to use the system. Retired veterans, who have private health coverage of Medicare with gap-filler policies, are much more likely to choose other sources of care—simply because they have that choice. And, in the future, the VA isn't any more likely than it is today to have the resources to treat veterans who have the ability to get treatment elsewhere for nonservice-connected conditions.

In this debate, some have made reckless charges that VA medical care is more expensive than similar care from private and not-for-profit sources. There is absolutely no data to support this position whatsoever. More study needs to be done to accurately compare the costs experienced by the VA to those of the private and not-for-profit sectors of the medical economy.

The few studies that have been done on this subject to date are not as conclusive as any of us would like. But they clearly indicate that VA care is less expensive than other sources of medical treatment. This is an important factor to keep in mind because some have suggested shutting down the VA and sending veterans to private sources of care—with the VA footing the bill—as a possible solution. This would not be in the taxpayer's interest.

Another important point is that advances in medical science are already shortening the length of hospital stays. This trend will continue, eliminating the need for hospitalization in more and more instances as time goes on. That means that the costs of VA medical care could very well come in lower than today's projections.

Which brings me to my final point. The aging of the veterans population is proceeding ten years in advance of the aging of the American population in general. The graying of America is the single, most important issue medicine faces for the decades ahead. Systems of providing medical care to this much larger population of older Americans can be tested in the VA. For the American taxpayer, that only makes sense.

Celebrates 90th Year

William (Bill) Reffett, of Hueysville, celebrated his 90th birthday Saturday, September 29, with family and friends at the home of his daughter, Bessie R. Conley, at Hueysville. Mr. Reffett is the only surviving member of the late John G. and Sarah P. Conley Reffett family who were residents of Middle Creek.

The huge birthday cake with decorations depicting various phases of his career as a farmer, a lumberman, and as a police chief was baked by Janet Halstead, of Virgie.

Those attending the celebration were his wife, Mildred, nine of his 10 living children and spouses—Taylor and Sarah Alice Reffett, of Hueysville; Alma and Arnold Lowe, of Eastern; Bessie R. Conley, of Hueysville; Wayne and Helen Reffett, of McArthur, O.; Hazel Caldwell, of Buford, O.; Velma and Andy Echle, of Circleville, O.; Rhoda and Richard Hannan, of Chillicothe, O.; Bonnie and Jack Sipe, of Miami, Fla.; Floyd Reffett, of Dayton, O.

Grandchildren and spouses attending were Claudena and Kenneth Hamilton, of Virgie; Palmer and Julie Lowe, of Felicity, O.; Donald L. Lowe, of Rome, Ga.; Burgess and Margaret Lowe Canal, of Fulton, O.; Frank and Sue Reffett, of Hueysville; Ermil and Colleen Reffett, of Beckley, W. Va.; Drenille Keener, of Thornville, O.; Anita Snyder, Marina Del Rey, Calif.; Wanda and Don Avon, of Plain City, O.; Cameron Conley, of Columbus, O.; Dexter and Beverly Conley, of Hueysville; Regina Conley, of Richmond; Sandy DeMarco, of Amelia, O.; Shevawn and Barry McLin, of Jackson, O.; Selena and Frank Pittman, and Bruce Reffett, of McArthur, O.; Linda and Jay Shaffer, Bill and Gloria Caldwell, all of Buford, Ohio.

Great-grandchildren attending were Denise Lowe, Glenn Russell and Sandy Minerva Hamilton, Jessica, Kelly and Daniel Arnold Lowe, Michael Reffett and wife, Susan, David Reffett and wife, Bonnie, Debbie Bosworth and husband, Scott, Kyle and Kevin Keener, Matthew Avon, Morgan and Garrett Snyder, Eric Conley, Dee Dee and Tony DeMarco, Stephanie and Jenny McLin, Kylie Boyer, Blake and Emily Shaffer, Chris and Alicia Caldwell.

The only great-great-grandchild, Melissa Shay Reffett, daughter of Michael and Susan Reffett, was also present.

Others attending were Kenneth and Luella Cline, Ronnie Cline and Syd Bell, all of Plain City, O.; Virgil Reffett, of Paintsville; Edna Mae and Floyd Davis, of Pyramid; Mr. and Mrs. Dorlin Cooley and Harold, of Hueysville.

A full-course dinner was served to all 85 people attending.

Fair Tax Coalition To Hold Annual Meet

Members of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition will hold their fourth annual meeting Saturday, Oct. 13, at Hazard Community College.

Al Smith, former federal co-chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission and now publisher of the Sentinel-Echo in London, Ky., will give the keynote address.

Other speakers during the meeting will include Elizabeth Wooten, a Perry county landowner, former Floyd county state representative Everett Akers, Geneva Burton, representing the Lawrence County Concerned Citizens, Estelle Walter, of the KFTC Jefferson county chapter, and Eugene Abshire, a minister from Pike county active with the Grapevine Concerned Citizens.

The organization's annual meeting is a time when its members adopt a platform of goals and objectives for the coming year. Currently, KFTC is working to protect surface owner's rights, including abolition of the broad form deed and protection of water resources, as well as for the passage of an unmined minerals tax.

Workshops during the day-long meeting will focus on organizing skills (effective use of the media, membership recruitment, strategizing, etc.) and on several issue areas (water regulations, tax reform, and surface owners' rights).

There is no cost to attend the workshop, and members as well as non-members are encouraged to attend.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Lunch will be provided.

Gold Star Mothers To Be Honored, Sun.

Chapter 128, Disabled American Veterans will hold its annual Gold Star Mothers Day at 1 p.m. Sunday, October 14, at the chapter hall just north of Wayland. All mothers and fathers who have lost a son or daughter in service of the country will be honored, and a dinner will be served.

For further information, call Everett Williams, Jr., Commander, at 358-3075.

Education Association and an in-service training session—but the four high schools and 16 of the county's 22 elementary schools will be open for parents to visit.

Grade schools where teachers will be available to talk to parents are Allen, Auxier, Garrett, Martin, Maytown, Melvin, Osborne, Wayland, Bonanza, Daniels Creek, Drift, Dwale, Home Branch, Prater, Spradlin Branch and Spruce Pine.

Staff members at the remaining six grade schools—Betsy Layne, Clark, Harold, J.M. Stumbo, McDowell and Prestonsburg—will be attending a training session that day at Prestonsburg High School. A date will be set later for parents of children at those schools to visit the schools, Hager said.

Setting a time for parents to talk to teachers was a recommendation of the state accreditation team which evaluated county schools last year. The "open house" scheduled here for next week corresponds with the end of the first nine-week grading period for the 1984-'85 academic year and the issuing of student report cards.

The percentage of Floyd students enrolled in special education classes was 6.2 percent. While that is low compared to the statewide average of 10.4 percent, it represents a steady rise here in recent years.

Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. listed on the report several goals for the 1984-'85 school year. They include improving academic performance, implementing a dropout program, raising attendance levels, and upgrading the special education and "gifted and talented" programs.

Officials with the state Department of Education said publication of the annual performance reports should help generate greater public understanding and interest in education. Officials also see the reports as a way to hold school administrators accountable.

"In a lot of school districts it will give the officials a chance to say, 'Look, we're doing a good job,'" said Rebecca Brown, associate superintendent of research and planning for the state Department of Education. In others, residents have the right to know how their districts compare with others in the state, she said.

repairs (down $38,000), and insurance (down $16,000).

The cost of providing food services is expected to rise by nine percent, mostly as a result of the appointment of an assistant director in that department.

Increases are also budgeted in administrative expenses, up two percent as a result of salary raises for the superintendent, his two assistants, and the central office clerical staff; in instruction, up five percent, mostly attributable to teachers' raises; and in health services, up six percent.

Unless land can be leased to accommodate two extra classroom units there, seventh and eighth grades at Harold Elementary School will be transferred next year to Betsy Layne, the board decided.

The decision was prompted by new state regulations governing class size. Two Floyd high schools—Allen Central and McDowell—and six grade schools—Prestonsburg, Harold, Martin, Garrett, W.D. Osborne and Melvin—have classes that exceed the maximum limit, with the overcrowding said to be most acute at Harold.

float. The float also is scheduled for a part in the Red, White and Blue Day celebration later at Martin.

Preceding the parade Saturday, the fourth annual Prestonsburg marching band competition will be held at Prestonsburg High School, the third annual 10-kilometer run will be staged at Jenny Wiley State Park, and a golf tournament will be held at the park. A costume contest will be held at 11 a.m. at the city parking lot, and at 1 p.m. will be the Terrapin Trot.

The parade will be led by the U.S. Marine Corps and a Military Police company from Lexington headed by Capt. L.R. Jones, it was said by Mrs. E.R. Bierman, Festival chairwoman.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Quint, past president of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs and more recently a deputy special assistant to President Reagan, will be parade marshal. Honorary parade marshal will be Dr. Arville Wheeler, author of "White Squaw."

An antique classic car show will be sponsored Saturday by the Dewey Lake C.A.P., and a street dance at the city parking lot at 8 p.m. will culminate the three-day program.

Today (Wednesday) the Jenny Wiley Baby, Tiny Miss, Wee Miss, Little Miss, Petite Miss and Junior Miss contests will be held at 6 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College.

The third annual Jenny Wiley Pageant at 8 p.m. at the college will be Thursday's feature.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(October 9, 1974)

Former employees of the now defunct Prestonsburg Manufacturing Co., of Auxier, established a picket line in front of the courthouse here this week, calling for speedy court action in the settlement of their claim of a total of $47,916.15 due in unpaid wages, accrued wages and vacation pay. Twenty-year-old Valerie Gay Collins, of Cliff, was dead on arrival at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital after the car in which she was a passenger collided with a train near Price, Friday night, hours before her planned wedding day. Stiff price competition and railroad car shortages are making it difficult for utilities in Kentucky to maintain normal coal stockpiles. Russell May, of Prestonsburg, will be one of the exhibiting artists at the Central Kentucky Arts and Crafts Show in Frankfort, this week. There died: Sandra Kay Blackburn, 25, of Sidney, Sunday, of injuries received in a auto accident; Shellie Branham, 53, of Ashland, formerly of Cow Creek, Thursday, in a Huntington hospital; Hobart Kelly Howard, 78, of Little Paint, Sunday in a hospital, here; Green Gayheart, 57, of East McDowell, Saturday at his home; Anna Meade Price, 93, of Prestonsburg, Sunday in a hospital, here; Albert Slone, 53, of Myra, in a hospital, here, Sunday; Edgel Moore, 57, of Grethel, Monday, at a Martin hospital; Henry Tackett, 82, of Weeksbury, last Wednesday at the McDowell hospital; Julie Prater Howard, 76, of Pyramid, last Wednesday at a hospital, here.

Floyd county's voters will cast their November election ballots at 41 precincts this year including the three new precincts of Prater Creek No. 39, Branham's Creek No. 40, and Beech Grove No. 42. Zeffer (Dad) Hunt, 51, of Lancer, died Thursday of last week at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, of injuries received two weeks earlier when the truck he was driving collided with an automobile near Emma. Floyd schools will open 30 minutes later than usual and dismiss as much later to alleviate possible problems due to inclement weather. Tom Ed Music, of the Abbott Road, whose automobile was stolen on Lake Drive here September 24, was notified last weekend by Bristol, Va. city police that they had recovered his car. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Estill Jarvis, of Banner, a daughter, Edith Mae, Sept. 29 at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie C. Johnson, of Risner, a daughter, October 1. Married: Miss Aloha Jean Rodebaugh, of Prestonsburg, to Mr. Franklin Setser, of Auxier, September 26 at the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church, here. There died: Henry Lewis Mayo, Sr., 77, of Prestonsburg, Sunday, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Robert Lee Collins, 16, formerly of this county, last Wednesday at Parkersburg, W. Va.; William Cook, 47, September 29 at his home at Dry Creek; Alvis Hamilton, 57, formerly of McDowell, October 1 in a Marion, O. hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(October 7, 1954)

U.S. Senator Everett Dirksen, of Illinois, speaking here last Saturday, called on Floyd county's voters to "uphold the President's hands" by electing Republicans to Congress. Former Vice-President Alben W. Barkley, a frequent visitor over the years, came to Prestonsburg, Wednesday, for his Floyd county opening speech in his campaign to wrest from Republican John Sherman Cooper his seat in the U.S. Senate. An overabundance of large shad in the waters of Dewey reservoir were cited by state fisheries biologists as the major factor contributing to the apparent "stunting" of fish such as crappie in the lake. Plans have been announced to reduce the shad population by large scale poisoning operations. The Prestonsburg Black Cats, plagued by penalties and fumbles, won their fifth successive football victory of the season here last Friday by outlasting Jenkins, 21-23. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Jackson Boyd, of Prestonsburg, a son, Monroe, II, Sept. 29 at the Paintsville hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Smiley, of Cincinnati, O., a son, Michael Ray, Sept. 26. There died: John Nitchie, 73, of Hunter, Tuesday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Mrs. Emma Lou Frazier, 54, of Martin, Sunday at the Beaver Valley hospital; Sam Sellards, 76, Tuesday at his home at Allen; Mrs. June Kistner Butcher, 65, Saturday at her home at Burton; Mrs. Addie Slone, 58, of Estill, Sept. 23 at the Stumbo Memorial Hospital, Lackey.

Forty Years Ago

(October 5, 1944)

The September term of the Floyd circuit court adjourned last week after clearing for the first time in a quarter-century the docket of every murder case "before the court". Floyd county soldiers reported as casualties this week are: Killed in action—Pvt. Elmer Blackburn, of Prestonsburg; Pvt. Herbert Layne, of Tram; Missing—Pvt. Arvin Setser, of Edgar; Pvt. Ross Caudill, of Dony; Pvt. Russell Johnson, of Bevinsville; Pvt. Roy Hall, of Hi Hat; Pfc. George Dill, of Grethel, and Pvt. Elmer Bays, of Brainard; wounded—Cpl. Abe Robinson, of Auxier; Staff Sgt. Richard McGuire, Jr., of Water Gap; Pvt. Bernard Howell, of Drift; Pvt. Eugene Blair, of Garrett, and Pfc. McKinley Howell, of Bevinsville. After riding out 50 bombing missions as a bombardier, Lt. Lester Long, 27, formerly of Martin, was killed Monday at Midland (Texas) air field in the crash of a bomber training plane on which he was an instructor. "For extraordinary achievement" in aerial combat, Flying Fortress waist gunner Staff Sgt. Rutherford B. Clark, Jr., 22, of Harold, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. Fire Thursday almost completely destroyed a Prestonsburg residence on Graham street owned by the J. C. B. Auxier estate. Mrs. Tivis Sellards, of Cow Creek, was struck and seriously injured by a truck on the Cow Creek road Saturday afternoon. Born: To Pvt. and Mrs. Winfred Spears, a daughter, Bonnie Blue, October 1, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stephens, of Allen, a daughter, Charlotte Ann, Sunday; to Mr. and Mrs. Georgie Branham, of Allen, a son, Thursday. There died: Rev. Andy Jones, 63, a Primitive Baptist minister in this county for 25 years, at his home on Frasure's Creek, Friday; Tommy Scalf, 50, at home on Prater Creek, Monday; Mrs. Jerry Cornett, 82, at her home at German, George Washington Collins, 79, at home at Endicott, Friday; Douglas MacArthur Parker, nine months old, at home at Printer, Monday.

The views expressed here are those of the writers, and not necessarily those of this newspaper. No unsigned contributions will be published.

Other Issues Cited

According to the Oct. 3 article in your paper, Mr. Grigsby says that issues on 'cheerleaders and taxes' are what brought most people out to Floyd County Board of Education meetings.

Mr. Grigsby failed to comment on all the other parents who came about various problems and were not allowed to speak. Most people don't know that you have to send in a written request approximately two weeks in advance and that request to speak has to be approved before you can be placed on the agenda. People think that, since it's a public meeting, they would be able to speak. It doesn't work that way in Floyd county. There's no time set aside for comments or questions from the audience. Many times people have sat through a long meeting, thinking that they could speak. Then, if they tried to speak, they would be told that they were out of order. Or else, it doesn't seem to bother our board to adjourn a meeting, knowing that someone is there with a problem. It's very apparent to those who attend the meetings that our board does not want certain problems brought before them. Maybe they think that if they ignore the people and their problems, they'll just go away. They should know by now that the concerned citizens aren't going away as long as the problems still exist. If our board were really interested in improving our system, one of their first steps would be to set aside time for the public to ask questions and voice their concerns. They could make a public meeting "public."

Mr. Grigsby also talked about the state 'nitpicking'. Is it nitpicking to insist that our bus fleet be made safe? Or that the children have books? Or that we have clean schools? Or that our board be held accountable for the way they manage the taxpayers' money? These are a few of the things that the state has forced the board to do. If Mr. Grigsby feels that having to be accountable to the state for obeying the rules and regulations set down by the lawmakers and State Dept. of Education is nitpicking, then maybe he should step aside and allow someone to run our system who will follow those laws and guidelines that have and will affect the future of the children in this county.

Disputes Statements

I would like to take issue with several of the statements I read in the Floyd County Times on October 3 concerning "Cheerleaders and Taxes."

1. "What has brought out the biggest crowds" was not cheerleaders and taxes but the asbestos that was eventually removed from Prestonsburg High School. If your readers will recall, board meeting after board meeting parents and concerned citizens were there while the asbestos controversy was discussed. It was removed—through the efforts of concerned citizens who attended and work done by People for Better Schools.

2. "Citizens get the kind of school they deserve." That statement is not, in my opinion, necessarily true. They get the schools the politicians and school administration have told them are good. People in Eastern Kentucky have been led to believe that football, cheerleading, basketball etc. are the most important activities in school; not by word but by action. When those activities take place during school hours most people have assumed, in the past, that because they took place during class time they were more important than the three R's. It is only in recent years that parents are now realizing that what school administrations and school board members decide at meetings is not necessarily in the best interest of their children's future.

3. "Mr. Grigsby explains that a certified elementary teacher will have no trouble getting a job here." We need only to recall the article which appeared in the Times on January 11, 1984, titled, "But Can She Teach?" The report issued by a Department of Education official read at a school board meeting that month stated: "Politics was partly to blame for the Floyd school district's current doldrums." Another statement from that report was, "A clear implication of the report is that politics has no business in the hiring and firing of teachers." The final paragraph in the above-mentioned article read, "Whose daughter is she?" might be a matter of concern to board members. The rest of us could care less. What we want to know is, "Can she teach?"

My experience and observations in the last seven years of attending board meetings has been that very rarely, if ever, has the question of qualifications been asked, not for teachers, supervisors, janitors, bus drivers or cooks. It will be a banner day for Floyd countians when the question of qualification is asked of an employee who is being hired by the board of education.

4. Our superintendent stated that "People send their children to non-county schools for a variety of reasons—some because they have never had a commitment to public schools." I would like to explain to the parents and students of this county why my children are in school in another county. I had one child graduate from this county's school system and she was 12th in her class. She had a very difficult freshman year in college because she was not prepared to take the courses offered. I will not do that to my other two children. She was not the only student with those complaints and I decided then and there that I would not go through that heartbreak again.

Yes, my children are in other schools in an adjoining county; however, in the years since my children have attended those schools I have continued to work with and advise concerned parents on their rights and what they should expect from their school system. I have also continued to monitor our county school board meetings. Not doing so because I have no commitment to public schools but because of a deep commitment to the children and people of this county who, for whatever reason, cannot or will not speak up about injustices they have experienced.

Band Need Help, Too

We are well into another year of school. Our children and grandchildren are looking forward to a rewarding year. You know, most people really don't realize how much work goes into having a good band in our school, or how much money it takes to keep them going. The band parents work themselves to death trying to keep them going and they need help from the whole school community. When band children come to your door asking you to buy something, don't tell them no, ask why they are selling. They need uniforms and many other things are needed for them to compete with other bands.

You should have heard them Friday night at the football game, they were great. They proved they were the best on Saturday in Johnson county. The Majorettes and Flag girls were beautiful. You know those kids work awfully hard, so let's support them. Sometimes, when I call the Bank for the time, they will start out by telling us to support all of our teams; not once have I heard them say, support our local bands. Many merchants have the radio station to mention football, basketball and cheerleaders, so please won't you help them, too? I, for one think music is very important in our lives. We have the best football team and best basketball team, so let's see if we can have another best-band.

Mr. Ratliff is doing a fine job, he might do a better job if he just had more to work with. So, please, won't you help support our band, our Majorettes and Flag girls?

What would our world be without music?

When band children come to your door asking you to buy something, don't tell them no, ask why they are selling. They need uniforms and many other things are needed for them to compete with other bands.

You should have heard them Friday night at the football game, they were great. They proved they were the best on Saturday in Johnson county. The Majorettes and Flag girls were beautiful. You know those kids work awfully hard, so let's support them. Sometimes, when I call the Bank for the time, they will start out by telling us to support all of our teams; not once have I heard them say, support our local bands. Many merchants have the radio station to mention football, basketball and cheerleaders, so please won't you help them, too? I, for one think music is very important in our lives. We have the best football team and best basketball team, so let's see if we can have another best-band.

Mr. Ratliff is doing a fine job, he might do a better job if he just had more to work with. So, please, won't you help support our band, our Majorettes and Flag girls?

What would our world be without music?

Band Need Help, Too

We are well into another year of school. Our children and grandchildren are looking forward to a rewarding year. You know, most people really don't realize how much work goes into having a good band in our school, or how much money it takes to keep them going. The band parents work themselves to death trying to keep them going and they need help from the whole school community. When band children come to your door asking you to buy something, don't tell them no, ask why they are selling. 1ST UNITED METHODIST WOMEN MEET HERE

Women of the First United Methodist Church held their regular monthly meeting Oct. 1 in the church parlor. The meeting was conducted by the president, Rose Glenn, who led the group in prayer. A discussion was held on refurbishing the new nursery, and Elsie Stephens reported on the recent trip sponsored by the group to the Methodist Children's Home at Versailles. The trip was made by 18 persons. The group was reminded of the Ashland District meeting to be held Oct. 13, at 9:30 a.m. at Christ United Methodist Church in Ashland. It was also announced that the 12th annual meeting of the Kentucky Conference of United Methodist women will be held Nov. 3 in Covington. Refreshments were served by the hostess, May K. Roberts and Dorothy Wells, to Mabel Brown, Roberta Davidson, Edna C. Greenwade, Mary Jane Brown, Jane Wallace, Stella Spurlock, Geneva Carter, Virginia Shivel, Margaret Alley, Betty Langefeld, Ellen Messer, Anna May Mellon, Maurine Mayo, Elsie Stephens, Mabel Jean Lemaster, Hope Whitten, Elizabeth Ramey, Dorothy Stover, Rose Glenn, Victoria Spradlin, Virginia Jefferies, Linda Stephens, and Dr. Lowell Langefeld.

Theatre Season Good But Ended $24,000 'in Red'

The good news, according to its managing director, is that the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater's recently-concluded season was "generally regarded" as the best in its 20-year history. The bad news is that it was a financial bust. In an appeal mailed recently to theater supporters, Keith E. Stevens called the 1984 season "most successful... in many ways." While the numbers did not match the record-setting 1983 season, when 22,000 people flocked to the theater for a season dominated by "Annie," some 18,000 turned out this year for performances of "Fiddler on the Roof," "Annie," and "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." In attendance and box office receipts, this was the theater's second-best year, Stevens said. But a state grant came in $3000 under what was anticipated. The May flood caused $2500 in damage to the dance floor and stage turntable. And the weather was anything but kind to the open-air theater. Seven performances had to be cancelled on account of rain and 10 performances were held under threatening skies which kept many potential patrons at home. In the end, the theater came out $24,000 in the red. The Jenny Wiley Drama Association, which sponsors the theater, hopes to make up the deficit by an emergency fundraising campaign now under way. If that doesn't work, Stevens warned, there will be no alternative but to cut services. The children's tour could be eliminated, as could the creative dramatics workshop sponsored by the theater. Ticket prices might have to be raised and discounts eliminated for students and senior citizens. Alternatively, production might have to be cut back: one show could be dropped from the roster; at worst, there could be no 1985 season. Persons wishing to make a tax-deductible contribution should send a check without delay to Jenny Wiley Theater, P.O. Box 22, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. Donors will have their names listed on the 1985 program, Stevens said. Better still, they will help insure there is a 1985 program.

Hinchman-Patterson Vows Said

Miss Cheri Ann Hinchman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hinchman, of Allen, and Mr. Jeffrey Lewis Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Patterson, of Nancy, were united in marriage at 1 p.m., Saturday, August 4, at the Redhouse Baptist Church in Richmond, Kentucky. The Rev. Terry Lester, of Richmond, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white flowers, palms and candelabra.

Miss Dana Garner, pianist, cousin of the groom, played several selections, and Miss Mia Hargan, of Richmond, sang and played "Because of Who You Are" and other songs. Mr. Brett Davis, of Banner, soloist, sang and with Miss Hargan sang a duet, "Almost Paradise", accompanied by Miss Garner.

Before being seated, the mothers, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Hinchman, each lit a candle. During the ceremony the bride and groom took those candles and lit one single candle.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of taffeta with sheer overlay, featuring full puff sleeves trimmed with lace. The fitted bodice with open neckline was enhanced with lace and adorned with seed pearls. The skirt, with two layers of wide lace trim, extended into a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a band of lace with pearl and lace florettes. She carried a bouquet of white silk carnations and stephanotis, pink baby's breath, ivy, and eucalyptus.

Mrs. Paula Jo Roahrig, sister of the bride, of Ashland, was the matron of honor. Miss Pamela Porter and Miss Aaronda Derosssett, both cousins of the bride, of Allen, and Miss Debbie Vincent, of Ivel, were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor-length gowns of sky blue taffeta, blue silk carnations in their hair, and carried lighted candles with an arrangement of blue silk carnations, white stephanotis, ivy and eucalyptus.

Miss Jessica Krstich, cousin of the groom, of Kent, Ohio, was the flower girl. Master Kevin Hinchman, brother of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Mr. Timothy Garner, cousin of the groom, of Nancy, served as best man. Mr. Stephen Hinchman, brother of the bride, and Mr. Greg Porter, cousin of the bride, both of Allen, were groomsmen.

The mother of the bride wore a full-length lilac dress and the mother of the groom wore a full-length rose dress. The mothers and the grandmother all wore corsages of white silk carnations and white stephanotis.

Mr. Alfred Pelphey, of Allen, registered guests and provided them with programs.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church where a three-tiered wedding cake, punch, nuts, wedding mints, and coffee were served to the guests. Hostesses for the reception included Miss Dee McClellan, of Texas, Mrs. Pat Derosssett, of Allen, Miss Tamyra Prater, of Maytown, and Mrs. Carol Hinchman, of Douglasville, Ga.

Following a wedding trip to Northern Ontario and Niagara Falls, the couple is residing in Richmond, where they are both employed by and are attending the Eastern Kentucky University Graduate School.

Mrs. Patterson is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilhelm, of the Middle Creek Road.

PRAYER CHAINS

By WILMAY

On page 14 of the October issue of GUIDEPOSTS an article describes how to link up a prayer chain. Chains are rapidly increasing in number across the United States. Maytown has had an active one for almost twenty years. It originated in the Methodist Church, and the Baptist Church has had one since starting as a chapel-mission in 1972. The two congregations cooperate beautifully, phoning leaders in one another, as requests for prayer come in. The Baptists have a chairman who alerts an anchor person on each creek, who in turn phones others.

Calls go out hurriedly in times of accidents, tragedy, death, or grave illnesses. The chain begins to move. Occasionally, time itself is an important element, especially in emergencies. A typical example of this was the recent grave illness of Beverley Reffitt, of Maytown, who has been in Central Baptist Hospital, of Lexington, more than three weeks. Friends and strangers as well have been praying daily for this lovely young lady, who has been plagued with grave health problems most of her life, and whose Christian witness and testimony have given her a radiance few possess. Regardless of how seriously ill Beverly often is, she never fails to insist she is "Fine, fine! I'm just fine!" Her morale is something to behold. She gives a lift to every individual who visits her. Small wonder that calls for blood on her behalf brought a tremendous response, even from complete strangers.

Often prayer requests spread to other individuals or churches outside of a community. The more, the better! Jesus said, Where two or three are gathered together in my name, I shall be in the midst of them. Mrs. Otha Howard Hopkins, former teacher and resident of Maytown and member of the Baptist Church there, (also Beverley's church) now resides in Lexington. When notified of Beverley's condition, she immediately alerted the Lexington Prayer Chain, and kindly kept in touch with the family in attendance to Beverly, who was in I.C.U. more than two weeks.

Churches that have no chain but wish to start one will find splendid instructions in the GUIDEPOSTS referred to. Anchorpeople can be provided by different methods, varying somewhat in urban and rural areas. The chain operates much faster and more efficiently when divided into teams, who quickly "saturate" the communities involved with prayers. Long conversations are not necessary, especially when time is at a premium. Often participants appreciate having intermittent reports on the prognosis of patients involved.

Peace Workshop Slated At Hindman, Oct. 26-27

The Appalachian Peace Fellowship will be holding a workshop on "Disarmament Work in Rural Appalachia," October 26-27, at the Hindman Settlement School. The workshop is presented as part of the Peace Fellowship's ongoing educational program which deals with peace and social justice issues in relation to the international arms race.

Speakers for the workshop are Herb Walters, founding editor of the newsletter Rural Southern Voice for Peace, from Burnsville, N.C.; Howard Morland, author of "The Secret That Exploded," of the Coalition for a New Foreign and Military Policy based in Washington, D.C.; and Glenn Jilek of the Central Kentucky Fellowship of Reconciliation, from Frankfort, Kentucky.

Walters will speak Friday night on rural peacework and Saturday on non-violence as a way of life and means of social change. Morland, who came to national attention through the publication in 1979 of his article on how to build a hydrogen bomb, will do presentations Saturday on first-strike nuclear warfare and the legislative politics of weapons funding. Jilek will show slides and talk about getting to know the Russian people as our fellow human beings.

The program Friday, which is free, will begin with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Registration for the Saturday program is $7. Overnight accommodations and meals will be provided at a low cost. For a brochure or more information call (606) 633-5065 or write to the Appalachian Peace Fellowship, P.O. Box 420, Whitesburg, Ky. 41858.

Archer Senior Citizens

The Seniors have been busy this week with gathering items for a window display for the Jenny Wiley Festival and a beautiful quilt has been finished to sell during the Jenny Wiley Festival.

Sunday, Oct. 7, Mr. and Mrs. Troy (Duke) McKenzie celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the center. Approximately 135 people attended.

Health Nurse will be at the center Monday, Oct. 15, to give flu shots to Senior Citizens.

Seniors are welcome at the center. A hot meal is provided everyday at noon, and transportation is available. It is a good place to have fun and meet new friends.

Phone, 886-6855. Hours, 8-4 Mon.-Friday.

Football Dates Changed

Two Betsy Layne High School football games which had been scheduled for Fridays have been shifted to Thursday dates. The Bobcats will host Phelps tomorrow (Thursday), the game beginning at 8 p.m. and the game with Birch (W. Va.) High, also at Betsy Layne, will begin at 7 p.m., the following Thursday.

Highlands Regional Has T.L.C.

Tootie VanHoose, a registered nurse at Highlands Regional Medical Center, lets everyone know the new HRMC Emergency Department has T.L.C.

Highlands Regional Medical Center's new Emergency Department, twice as large as the old one, is now open. But that's only one of two major changes now in effect involving emergency care at HRMC.

The other change is in the pricing of emergency services. Under the old system, patients were charged a flat fee for visiting the emergency room. The new system—known as T.L.C. for treatment-level charges—sets up a scale that reflects the severity of the illness or injury. As a result, it will now cost less to have necessary treatment for a minor medical problem, like a sprain, than for a major difficulty such as a heart attack.

"This new pricing structure will mean patients with less severe problems using our emergency department can save money on their bills," said Max Bunnell, Director of Finance at HRMC. "We feel this new system is very fair and we are pleased to offer it to the more than 16,000 patients who use our E.R. yearly."

U.S. Finishes Last on Math Test Given to 6th-Graders in 8 Nations

A new academic achievement test given to more than 600 sixth-grade students in eight countries indicates U.S. children are among the worst mathematics students in the industrialized world, and don't fare much better in science and geography.

The test, developed for the Dallas Times Herald by four prominent U.S. educators, was given within the past month to students in Australia, Canada, England, France, Japan, Sweden and Switzerland, and to students at two Dallas Schools, the newspaper reported yesterday in a copyright story.

The two Dallas schools were chosen because their levels of academic achievement were close to the U.S. national average.

U.S. Education Secretary T.H. Bell said the test effectively confirmed one of the worst fears of a national commission that completed a major report earlier this year.

The commission found that the United States is "a nation at risk" and committing "unilateral educational disarmament" because of a general decline in education standards. That conclusion was based on tests conducted 10 years ago.

The National Commission on Excellence in Education said the decade-old tests "reveal that on 19 academic tests American students were never first or second and in comparison with other industrialized nations, were last seven times."

In the Times Herald's new test, Japanese pupils did twice as well in math as the American youngsters and significantly outscored students from all the other countries. The United States finished last.

In science, Swedish pupils led, with the Americans placing sixth.

In geography, the Swedes again scored at the top, while the Americans placed fourth.

More than a fifth of the students tested at one of the Dallas schools could not locate the United States on a world map.

"It's too bad we can't give a test on football or drill team so we could finish first," said Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot, chairman of the Texas Select Committee on Public Education.

"Our economic well-being as a nation is tied to technology; that's where the jobs are," said Perot.

"As we see one industry after another leaving our country and the jobs associated with those industries leaving along with them—this is a tragic indicator that we rank at the bottom in terms of mathematics," he said.

Bell said: "I think it tells us that we are not requiring our students to study enough math and science. We need to raise our standards."

Students at Preston Hollow Elementary School in North Dallas and Stemmons Elementary School in Oak Cliff were selected because of their scores on the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, the nation's most widely used achievement test.

The Times Herald said it asked foreign governments, and in some cases leading newspapers, to select schools where students' performance mirrored as closely as possible the national average.

The tests were translated and given to students in the equivalent of the American sixth grade, all under a one-hour time limit.

In science, Swedish pupils scored an average score of 55.4 percent correct, followed by students in England with 54.5 percent; Canada, 49.2 percent; Australia, 49.2 percent; Japan, 45.3 percent; United States, 43.7 percent; France, 42.1 percent; and Switzerland, 41.3 percent.

On the geography test, Sweden had an average score of 54.1 percent; followed by England, 50.5 percent; Canada, 48.0 percent; United States, 45.8 percent; Switzerland, 43.4 percent; Australia, 42.7 percent; France, 41.3 percent; and Japan, 40.5 percent.

In math, Japan had an average of 50.2 percent, followed by Sweden, 39.7 percent; Australia, 37.9 percent; England, 37.8 percent; Canada, 35.8 percent; France, 33.3 percent; Switzerland, 31.0 percent; and the United States, 25.3 percent.

Glenn T. Seaborg, a member of the national commission and a Nobel Prize-winning scientist, directed development of the science achievement test.

Stephen Willoughby, president of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, developed the math achievement test.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club met last Thursday evening, with Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey presiding. The devotions were given by Mrs. Mabel Donahoe, who based her discussion on "A Letter to Paul from the Phillipians" and a prayer by St. Francis of Assisi.

Mrs. Sharon Sparr, secretary, reported that the Woman's Club's fall district meeting will be held at Jenkins, Oct. 26, and that advanced registration will be required. Persons wishing to attend should call Mrs. Ramey. The financial report, which was audited by Mrs. Carolyn Traum, was approved.

Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, who is in charge of the club's project of planting dogwoods at the Highlands Regional Medical Center, gave a report on the progress of this effort. Mrs. Eileen Burchett said that new screens had been purchased for the club's Arts and Crafts center, a new rug had been bought, and that kiln repairs need to be made before ceramics classes can start there. The club agreed to furnish paint for this building.

Mrs. Susie Poe, who is in charge of the Birthday Calendar project, said that Oct. 15 is the deadline for submitting names and advertisements for the calendars.

Mrs. Garnett Fairchild reported that the Hospice program here is in need of typewriters.

The club welcomed as new members Vivian Fraley, Suzanne Williamson, Hope Whitten, Pauline S. Lambert, and Ava Lee Allen.

It was announced that openhouse will be held at the Arts and Crafts building, from 12 noon to 2 p.m., Saturday, in honor of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sowards Quint, former GFWC president.

The decision was made to change the location of the November meeting from the Arts and Crafts building to the Floyd County Library.

The speaker, Guylene Smith, past governor of the Seventh district, and presently Marketing and Customer Services representative for the Kentucky Power Company, chose as her topic, "The Insulation Story." Following her discussion, she was presented a gift, on behalf of the club, by Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey.

Hostesses for this meeting were Mesdames Abbie Grant, Eva Collins, and Lucille Nunnery, who served refreshments to Phyllis Herrick, Mary Sue Moore, Arnita Snavey, Mabel Brown, Eileen Burchett, Garnett Fairchild, Sally Goebel, Dorothy Burke, Ora Bussey, Boots Adams, Dolly Pettrey, Zella Archer, Mabel Donahoe, Dorothy Stover, Susie Poe, Ava Lee Allen, Christine Spradlin, Barbara Dawson, Rebecca Rasnick, Elizabeth Ramey, Dorothy Harris, Sharon Sparr, and Judy Kittle.

New Patrolmen Hired As 2 Lost To State Police

Three new patrolmen were hired and another designated as a substitute policeman during Monday night's meeting of the Prestonsburg City Council.

The council's personnel committee report, delivered by Councilman George C. Brown, recommended the hiring of Mike Meade, of Prestonsburg, Wayland native James Mullins, currently of Lexington, and Paul Auxier, of Hager Hill, as patrolmen. Council approved hiring the three on a six-month probationary basis, as well as naming Charles E. Ousley, of Blue River, as a substitute patrolman in case of a vacancy on the police force.

Two positions on the city police force are being vacated by David Caudill and Larry Woods, who will begin state police training in coming weeks.

Downtown parking again emerged as an issue, with the latest problem revolving around the apparent misuse of free parking spaces along city streets. Parking meters were removed along Court and intersecting streets in recent weeks in an attempt to encourage downtown shopping but now, according to Councilman Bill R. Collins, "the parking situation is twice as bad as before the meters were removed." Motorists, including many who work in the downtown section, are taking up the free spaces to avoid using parking lots, thereby cancelling out any advantage the removal of parking meters might have had it was said. Council elected to direct police to issue warning citations for a two-week period to alleviate the problem, with fines to be levied against those who ignored the tickets.

Tom LeMaster, representing residents of Scott Court (the narrow lane behind SuperAmerica and the state Employment Services building) presented a petition to the council protesting the alleged blocking of the street by state employees' vehicles. The council told LeMaster police would be assigned to correct the situation.

Donald L. "Dootney" Horn asked for the council's approval and cooperation in the construction and development of an exhibition mine on a 27-acre tract along the Mountain Parkway, near Archer Park. Horn explained that the project would attract an estimated 60,000 visitors a year and would be similar in operation and design to an exhibition coalmine in Beckley, W. Va. The council agreed that as long as state and city regulations controlling the transportation and disposal of fill and other construction materials were observed, it would support the undertaking. If granted final approval by the state, the project would be completed by April, 1985, Horn said.

In other business, council voted to pay a $753 balance on the light bill for the Archer Park playing fields.

Area School Boards Hold Regional Meeting

The annual meeting of the Eastern Kentucky (South) region of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA) was held last Thursday at the Sheldon Clark High School, Inez. Ilene Smith, chairman of the region, and a member of the Martin County Board of Education, presided at the dinner meeting.

E.H. Nichols, Jr., a member of the Pike County Board of Education, was elected to a two-year term as regional chairman.

The approximately 30 school board members, school superintendents and legislators from the seven-district region were welcomed by Martin County School Superintendent Sheldon Hardin. Robert V. Evans, president of the Kentucky School Boards Association, and Dr. David Keller, executive director of the KSBA, presented a program dealing with current educational issues.

The region is composed of the Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike county districts and the independent school districts of: Paintsville and Pikeville.

TO HONOR MRS. QUINT

Women of Seventh District Women's Clubs have been invited to attend openhouse at the Prestonsburg Woman's Club's Arts and Crafts building at Archer Park, honoring Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sowards Quint, from 12 noon to 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 13. Mrs. Quint, formerly of Pikeville, who served as president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs from 1978 to 1980, and retired recently was deputy special assistant to President Reagan, will serve as parade marshal during the Jenny Wiley Festival to be held here this weekend. Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, president of the local Woman's Club, is in charge of arrangements for this event.

Five Defendants On Drug Charges In Plea Bargains

It can pay to hire an attorney. That may be one lesson to be drawn from the case of Green Wakeland, one of five drug cases settled by plea bargain in Floyd district court last week.

Wakeland, 23, of the Auxier road, originally pleaded guilty in January last year to a charge that he had given a marijuana joint to a police informer the previous summer. District Judge Harold Stumbo sentenced him to a year in jail and ordered him to pay $537.50 in fine and court costs—the maximum penalty for a first offender.

Wakeland came back to court last Wednesday represented by attorney Gary Johnson. His original plea and sentence were set aside. On a new guilty plea, he was fined $10 and ordered to pay court costs of $47.50.

The five cases disposed of Wednesday were left over from a highly-publicized "sting" operation conducted by state police late in 1982. While prosecutors secured jail terms for four of the five, defense attorney Johnson said the light terms they received—they could each have received a year in prison and a $500 fine—reflected the fact that juries have not been favorably impressed by police handling of the celebrated undercover operation.

Ishmael Glenn Hamilton, of Teaberry, received two 30-day sentences for trafficking in a Schedule II narcotic—he was accused of selling two tablets of Dilaudid to an undercover agent in September, 1980—and trafficking in marijuana. The sentences were ordered to run simultaneously with an 18-month sentence Hamilton is presently serving on a related felony charge.

Thomas H. Bartrum, 30, of Martin, was given concurrent 30-day sentences on each of two counts of trafficking in marijuana and was ordered to pay $257.50. As part of the plea bargain, a charge of carrying a concealed weapon was dismissed.

Also convicted on charges of selling marijuana were Ed DeRossett, of Martin, and Mike Boyd, of Betsy Layne. DeRossett was sentenced to 15 days and ordered to pay $257.50. Boyd received concurrent 30-day sentences on each of two counts and was also ordered to pay $257.50. Bartrum, DeRossett and Boyd will be permitted to leave jail during the day if they have jobs to go to, the judge agreed.

Dismissed was a charge against Sharon Hamilton, of Teaberry, who had been accused of trafficking in marijuana.

Among the few charges remaining from the 1982 dragnet are a felony count against George E. Barnette, Jr., of Martin, and misdemeanor charges against Otis Hansel Cooley, Jr., and Oddie Lynn Cooley, both of Prestonsburg. No trial date has been set for Barnette; the Cooleys are scheduled for trial on October 24.

Others sentenced in district court, following guilty pleas or verdicts, were: Pearl Ann Moore, Wheelwright, assault, terroristic threatening, 30 days' probation, $157.50 in fine and costs, ordered to stay away from Marilyn Little; Joe Wheeler Pitts, David, wanton endangerment, 30 days' probation, $50; Edward Young, Jr., Hager Hill, drunk driving, $200 fine, referred to alcoholic driver education; David T. Jones, Martin, speeding, attempt to elude police, 30 days' jail, $250; James D. Dials, Springfield, Ohio, drunk driving, amended to public drunk, $97.50.

A bench warrant was issued for Larry Tackett, of Galveston, who failed to appear for arraignment on charges of drunk driving, speeding, reckless driving, driving without a license, resisting arrest and escape.

Warrants were also issued for Sam Williams, of Honaker, and Bruce Osborne, of Harold, who failed to appear for trial and received jail sentences and fines in their absence. Williams, convicted of drunk driving, driving without a license, improper passing, and having no insurance, was sentenced to 30 days and ordered to pay $247.50 in fine and costs; Osborne was sentenced to 30 days and ordered to pay $147.50.

D.E.A.P. TO MEET

BSF-CEA Holds Membership Meet

The Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association held its annual membership meeting, Saturday, September 29, at the home of David and Mary Neeley on the Abbott Creek Road. The gathering began with a pot-luck supper and featured a question and answer period by representatives of two local hospitals. Sister James Edward, administrator of Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin, spoke about family-centered maternity care as it is offered at the hospital, and Lisa Parlier gave a similar presentation about new services and plans at Highlands Regional Medical Center in the area of services to mothers, infants and their families.

A business meeting was also held and the following were elected to the Board of BSF-CEA for two-year terms: Denise Hopkins, Diane Turner, Mary Creed, and Leatha Kendrick. Retiring members recognized were Boo Isaacs and Barbara Davis, President of the Board, Pat Hites, conducted the meeting. Jean Rosenberg serves as director of the association and Vicki McGuire is coordinator.

The association provides childbirth classes at Prestonsburg Community College, publishes a newsletter, sponsors breastfeeding support groups and furnishes other services of concern to new parents and young families. It has been serving the Big Sandy area since 1978.

Reagan's The One

We know what President Reagan has done for the country. We'll just have to guess at what Mondale will do, should he get in. We do know what he and Carter did for the country when they were in. They flat ruined the business of the country. They flat ruined the people that had worked hard all their lives and saved up for retirement. Their high, wild inflation melted the people's money down to nothing. The people's savings, investments, insurance and other income lost two thirds of its value; thus, if they had a savings of $50,000 to $100,000, or more, it was cut two thirds. The high prices melted it away. They run the interest rates so high people couldn't afford to purchase anything of much cost such as homes and automobiles. They let the defense of the country run down until they had to appease the Russians, honey them or run from them, Carter had about as much nerve or stability as a sparrow bird. If you vote Mondale, you'll be voting the same old thing back in; our country will be ripped to pieces.

If you want to pay $5 for a loaf of bread, vote for Mondale. It will take a barrel of money to buy a suit of clothes. A home or automobile will be beyond reach of most people, it will be wild taxes, wild spending, wild inflation, and wild interest rates. Whatever Mondale promises to give to the poor or anyone else, he'll take it with his wild prices; your money will be practically worthless.

Now we know what President Reagan has done in his short four years. He has brought down the wild inflation, taxes, spending and interest rates. He has put the economy on a sound economical basis, he has put the factories to humming, he has put over six million people back to work, and that's a lot of them. Just imagine six million homes that are receiving this income that wasn't receiving it before. That's a lot of bread for many hungry mouths. We have the highest employment ever, in peace time. Best of all, we have the strongest defense in years, and the only reasoning or agreeing a Russian will do is when you stick a gun barrel down his throat with the hammer back, they respect power and I am thankful we have a man that will stand up to them, I don't like pussypoos like Carter and Mondale running around like the Prime Minister of Great Britain did with an umbrella in his hand trying to coax Hitler to stop, trying to soft talk him. It's the same with the candy ankles of now-days, trying to soft-talk the Russians. It's useless; all they understand is high explosives pointed right at them. Their ultimate goal is to take us over. Never, never could we let this happen. I would rather be dead than Red. I am proud we have a man in the White House who feels the same. Must we trade a tried and proven man to a dark horse?—like the dog crossing the creek with a bone in his mouth, he jumped for the shadow of the bone in the creek and lost it all. If we jump for Mondale we will lose all.

Mr. Mondale said in the debate it ought to be left up to the individual whether or not they want an abortion or to kill a baby. Then, in that case, the door would be left open to murder. Is there any difference in killing or murdering a baby than any other person ten, twenty, thirty, fifty, or a hundred years old. I say not.

What kind of educational system does Mr. Mondale want or advocate? Does he want the right of prayer or spiritual meditation in our schools, or to leave the textbooks wide open to immoral teachings? Does he want to leave the Holy Bible out of school and continue we are descendants from the monkey race? I didn't ever hear him say in the debate that he would agree to voluntary prayer or meditation in school. I say any country that leaves God out or rejects the teachings of the Holy Bible is in for destruction; it has happened all down through the ages.

We have a man in the White House that believes in God and good moral issues and is fighting for what's right for our country. And has proven himself as a very great and capable leader. I say, let's stick with him through thick and thin, through hell or high water. Let's stay our course. Don't believe the lies of the TV. Use your own good judgement.

Jackie Edford Owens and Hattie Owens, of Hueysville announce the birth of their second child, second son, Christopher Michael, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital, Sept. 30. The baby is the grandson of Gorman and Edna Cooley, of Hueysville and Molly Owens, of Langley, and the late Ralph Owens.

NAMED YOUTH DIRECTOR

Robert Goodwin, of Wallonia, Ky., who is taking a leave this semester from his studies at Georgetown College, has recently been employed as youth director at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church. Besides his regular duties, Mr. Goodwin also helps with the church music program.

Local AARP Meeting Slated October 19

A dinner meeting of the Jenny Wiley Chapter, A.A.R.P., will be held at 6 p.m., Friday, October 19, at the Western Sizzlin' Steak House, here. Speaker for the meeting will be Karen O'Connell, of the Department for Social Services, Division for Aging Services, Frankfort, who will discuss long term care ombudsman.

Nominations of new officers and board members will be made, and each family is asked to bring one or more items for the annual auction sale held to raise funds for the organization.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace had with them at their home on Riverside Drive, from Friday through Sunday, their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, of Parkersburg, West Virginia. They and their guests spent Saturday with the Wallaces' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells, in Paintsville. House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace on the previous Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Steven Meador, of Huntsville, Alabama.

VISIT FRIENDS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. William Dempsey, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Williamsburg, visited Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey here last weekend.

Social Events

DOCIA B. WOODS, SOCIETY EDITOR

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Holbrook, of Pyramid, announce the birth of their fourth child, second daughter, Ina Faye, on Sept. 1 at the Methodist Hospital in Pikeville. Mrs. Holbrook is the former Bonnie Bradford. The grandparents are Mrs. Osie Holbrook and the late Willie Holbrook, of Rt. 1, Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Burnis Bradford, of David.

IN MASONIC INFIRMARY

Mrs. Alice Fitzpatrick Bowers, who resided here for many years, and for the past several years has been living at the Masonic Home, in Louisville, is now a patient at the Masonic Infirmary there. Mrs. Bowers would appreciate hearing from her many relatives and friends.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAYS

Flowers were on the altar at the First United Methodist Church Sunday for Mrs. Fannie Runnels, on her birthday, from "a friend," and for Mrs. Annie Stumbo, on her birthday, from "members of her family."

CIRCLE MEETS

The Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., met Monday evening Oct. 1, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Laven at Allen, with Mrs. Ruby Garrett, president, presiding. Mrs. Garrett read a letter from Mrs. Joyce Bottoms, wife of the former pastor of the First Baptist Church at Martin, thanking the group for the contribution recently made to their three daughters toward their college expenses this fall.

It was decided that the Annie Allen Circle would help furnish food for the B.S.U. members at Prestonsburg Community College during the month of October.

Prayers were asked for the revival being held at the First Baptist Church here, beginning October 7.

Mrs. Laven was in charge of the program, entitled "What Is a Typical Southern Missionary?" Others taking part in the program were Mesdames Susan Akers, Ruby Garrett, Zella Archer, Lucy Regan, Patti Minns, and Goldia Williams.

The hostesses served refreshments to members, Mesdames Ruby Garrett, Patti Minns, Myrtle Allen, Lucy Regan, Susan Akers, and Zella Archer, and a guest, Mrs. Goldia Williams.

The next meeting will be Monday evening, Nov. 5, with the place to be announced.

RESUMES WORK

Mrs. Mary Hall has returned to her work at the Bank Josephine after spending a two-week vacation with relatives in San Diego, California. While there, she visited her two sons and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Burchett, Jr., their daughter, Marsi, and son Chad, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Warren Hall, their daughter Andrea, and son Neil. Mrs. Hall also visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Westlake, and her sister, Jean Milliron, and family during that time. She and the members of her family there enjoyed various places of interest during her stay. One of the highlights of her visit was being present for the baptism of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Warren Hall, at LaJolla Cove, which is a part of the Pacific Ocean.

ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. Ann Latta and Miss Elizabeth Frazier, accompanied by her niece, little Miss Lynn Frazier, attended the Kentucky Democratic Woman's Club's 57th annual meeting in Lexington last week.

ATTEND HOMECOMING

Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier attended homecoming festivities at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, last week. Mr. Frazier was among the 1939 graduates who received special recognition during that time.

REVIVAL CONTINUES

A revival is in progress at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church, with the Rev. Paul Payne, of Huber Heights, Ohio, as the visiting minister. Services, which will continue through October 12, begin at 7 o'clock each evening, and noontime services are held from 12:15 to 12:50. Persons attending the noon meetings are asked to bring sack lunches; beverages will be furnished by the church. The public is invited to all these services.

TO LEAD MEETING

Mrs. Danise Amburgey, president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' organization, will conduct a special meeting of the executive committee and board of directors today (Wednesday) at 1 p.m. Matters of importance to retired teachers will be discussed.

HERE FOR WEEK-END

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wilborn and son Christopher, of Shelbyville, were here last weekend for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, her grandmother, Mrs. E.A. Stumbo, and other family members.

VISITORS FROM SOMERSET

Mrs. Zella Archer had as her weekend houseguests her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Trosper, and daughter, Elizabeth Anna, of Somerset.

HERE RECENTLY

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Whitaker, of Onon-baga, Mich., were here recently for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Ken Watkins, and family on Little Paint, and another sister, Mrs. Lula Prater, of Middle Creek.

REBEKAHS MEET

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, with the noble grand, Miss Kelly Sue Moore, presiding. Several members were reported ill, and cards to be mailed to them were signed by those in attendance.

It was reported that progress was being made on the Rebekah cookbook, with many recipes already being submitted by members. Birthday greetings were extended to Mesdames Venelia Rinehart, Effie Hopkins and Ethel A. Hall.

Members present were Kelly Sue Moore, Nancy Duff, Venelia Rinehart, Sue Moore, Paulina Owens, Mary Zemo, Maman Leslie, Helen Ormerod, Norma Stepp, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Nola Stepp, Ethel A. Libraries' Fund-Raising Workshop in Progress

The Department for Libraries and Archives, the Kentucky Library Trustees' Association and Friends of Kentucky Libraries are co-sponsoring a "Fund-raising Workshop" today (Wednesday) and tomorrow at the Galt House in Louisville to help local libraries meet growing needs in their communities.

"Local taxes and state and federal appropriations simply have not kept pace with inflation," commented State Librarian and Commissioner Jim Nelson. "Most local library budgets barely cover the basic costs such as salaries, book purchases, building maintenance, and daily operational expenses." As a result, there is very little money left for extended library hours, building renovations, major construction or additional community programs.

The "invited experts" will focus at the workshop on identifying funding sources and sharing fundraising techniques. Included in the program will be roundtable discussions on soliciting contributions through direct mail, special events and planned giving.

Elder James Music

Elder James Paris Music, 77, of Prestonsburg, died Friday afternoon at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness.

A son of the late W.J. and Laura Honeycutt Music, he was born July 5, 1907 at Bays Branch. He was a disabled miner with the Princess Elkhorn Company and had been a minister of the United Baptist Church for the past 50 years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ova Wilson Music; two daughters, Mrs. Wilma Sturgill and Mrs. Betty Bays, both of Auxier; three brothers, T.R. Music, of Paintsville, William A. Music, of Dawson Springs, Ky., and Okra Music, of East Point; two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Wells, of Auxier, Mrs. Edna Sherman, of Sanford, Fla.; eight grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 11 a.m. at the Carter Funeral Home chapel with Elders Larcie Lewis, Trimble Kenneth, and F.D. Arrowood officiating. Burial was made in the Government Relocation cemetery at Auxier.

Pallbearers were James C., Johnny K., and Kevin D. Sturgill, James Bays, James Gillispie, and Jerry Stafford.

Mrs. Myra Smith Tingle

Mrs. Myra Smith Tingle, 87, of Lexington, widow of Leslie Tingle and mother of the late Charles V. Tingle, former resident of this county, died Sunday in Lexington Country Place after a long illness.

She was a retired Cableskill New York Elementary grade school teacher. She was born in Richmondville, N.Y., a daughter of David and Clara Kromer Smith. She was a graduate of Oneonta State Teachers College, Oneonta, N.Y., was a member of Faith Bible Church, Carlisle, N.Y., D.A.R., Christian Women's Temperance Union, New York Retired Teachers Association and a former Pink Lady for Cableskill Community Hospital.

Survivors are a daughter-in-law, Olive Webb Tingle, Lexington; a sister, Ruth Smith Mickel, Warnersville, N.Y.; one brother, Clayton Smith, Cableskill, N.Y.; three grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the W.R. Milward Mortuary-Broadway by Rev. Kenneth J. Groen and Rev. Lewis M. Ricketts. Burial was in Hillcrest Memorial Park, Lexington.

Elsie Hall Lykins Estep

Funeral services for Mrs. Elsie Hall Lykins Estep, 74, of Paintsville, who died at her home there, Monday, will be conducted at 10 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home by United Baptist ministers.

A native of this county, she was born August 30, 1910 at Banner, a daughter of the late Solomon and Nancy Akers Boyd. She was first married to James Harrison Hall, who preceded her in death in 1931, and she later married Henry Franklin Estep, who survives her. She was a member of the New Life United Baptist Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons, James K. Hall, of Stanville, Julian B. Hall, of Oil Springs; three brothers, David E. Sellard, of South Lake Tabor, Calif., Edward G. and Jack B. Sellards, both of Barbourville; three sisters, Sylvia and Ellen Hall, both of Stanville, and Jewel Conn. of Harold; one stepsister, Georgene Cecil, of Stanville; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Burial was made in the Jones cemetery at Allen.

Gunshot Victim Dies After His Transfer To Huntington Hospital

A Magoffin county man who had been in intensive care at the Highlands Regional Medical Center here after he had been shot in the back of his head died last Tuesday at Cabell-Huntington Hospital, to which he had been transferred a few days earlier.

The victim, Ralph Kusner, of Stella, Ky., was shot, State Police said, by Arthur Stephens, Jr., who was jailed at Salyersville. The two men were passengers in a car—Risner in the front seat, Stephens in the rear—when they became involved in an argument which ended in the shooting of Risner. Both were drinking, police said.

Risner died of a single shot from a .22-calibre pistol.

Leo Faubush Weddle, Sr.

Leo Faubush Weddle, Sr., 85, of Prestonsburg, father of Prestonsburg Community College professor Leo F. Weddle, Jr., died Saturday night at Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness.

Weddle had operated several barber-shops in the Somerset area from 1919 until his retirement in 1969 and gave members of several generations of Pulaski county families their first haircuts.

Born August 11, 1899 at Faubush, he was a son of the late Bartholomew and Celia Sharpe Weddle and was married to Bessie Carney Weddle, who preceded him in death last May. He was a member of the Duke Memorial Baptist Church in Somerset.

In addition to his son, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Jewell Gwinn, of Louisville, six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The body was taken to Somerset by the Carter Funeral Home, and funeral services were conducted at 3 p.m. Tuesday in Somerset by the Rev. Roy Alexander. Burial was made in Gray's Chapel cemetery at Nancy.

Olabe Mullins Johnson

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home for Mrs. Olabe Mullins Johnson, 40, of Hi Hat, who died Monday at her home following a long illness. The officiating minister will be John Adams.

Born March 10, 1944 at Alphoretta, she was a daughter of the late Hampton and Florence Hall Mullins.

She is survived by her husband, Jimmy Johnson; one son, Dean Edwin Johnson, of Kenosha, Wisc.; one daughter, Mrs. Daisy Lynn Morrison, of Auxier; seven brothers, John West Mullins, Hampton Foster Mullins, Jr., and Paul Francis Mullins, all of Mentone, Ind.; Denver Delbert Mullins, of Martin, Claude Gene Mullins, of Allen, Woodrow Wilson Mullins, of Pataskala, O., and Larry James Mullins, of Manton; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Woods, of Emma, Mrs. Avalene Lee, of Pataskala, O., and Mrs. Rosalee Newsome, of Wheelwright, and three grandchildren. Burial will be made in the Hale cemetery at Manton.

James Henry Lyons

James Henry Lyons, 93, of Stanton, formerly of Betsy Layne, died Sunday at the Clark County Hospital in Winchester, victim of a sudden illness.

Born January 9, 1891 in Ohio, he was a son of the late Harry and Sarah Lyons. He was a retired miner and was a member of the Thomas C. Cecil Masonic Lodge of Pikeville.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Smiley Lyons; three sons, William Lyons, of Stanton, Joseph Lyons, of Lexington, and Jimmy Lyons, of Ashland; two daughters, Joanne and Lucille Lyons, both of Ashland; one stepdaughter, Mary I. Best, of Talmadge, O.; a sister, Sadie Frebault, of Barrington, Ill.; nine grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. yesterday (Tuesday) in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home by the Rev. Earl Waugh, and burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

NOTICE OF HEARING

Notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held on the 11th day of October, 1984 at the hour of 1:00 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Floyd County Annex, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. The purpose of this hearing is to determine if Bobby Crum, a resident of Tram, Kentucky, should receive an entertainment license. All interested parties should be present.

ARNOLD TURNER, JR.
Floyd County Attorney

Bradis Calhoun

Bradis Calhoun, 65, of West Prestonsburg, died suddenly Saturday at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following an apparent heart attack.

He was born June 9, 1919 at Watergap, a son of the late Charles Clayton and Ella Hunt Calhoun and was a retired employee of the General Electric Company in Louisville. A member of the V.F.W., he served with the Marine Corps during World War II. He was also a member of the United Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Eunice Collins Calhoun; a brother, Troy Calhoun, of Prestonsburg; a sister, Ruby Calhoun, of Warsaw, Ind., and a grandson, Bradis Eugene Childers, whom he reared.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Carter Funeral Home chapel with Elder Wallace Calhoun officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond Memorial cemetery where military graveside rites were conducted by the D.A.V., Chapter 18, of Auxier.

Pallbearers were Paul Hicks, Curt Branham, Tim Collins, Tim Sammons, Randall Foley, and Johnny Childers.

John Henry Scaif

Dr. George Nichols, Louisville pathologist, has held that the death of John Henry Scaif, 53, whose body was found at his Stanville home Saturday afternoon, was due to natural causes.

It is believed that Scaif died last Thursday. He was last seen alive last Wednesday morning by his brother, William, who lived next door. The same brother found him dead after returning home from a hunting trip.

The victim was a son of the late Ervin and Violet Runyon Scaif and was a veteran of the Korean Conflict. He was a member of DAV post No. 134, Pikeville. Never married, he is survived by three brothers and five sisters, William B. and Dean Scaif, both of Stanville, Billy Scaif, Columbus, O., Mrs. Jane Clark, of Betsy Layne, Mrs. Juanita Collins, Rosa Lee Scaif and Mrs. Jo Collins, all of Stanville, and Mrs. Margaret Wright, of Pikeville.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) from the Floyd Funeral Home chapel, the Rev. Tracy Patton officiating. Burial will be made in the Scaif family cemetery at Endicott.

Everett Hardin Smith

Everett Hardin (Smitty) Smith, 72, died at his home, here, Thursday.

A retired miner, he was born June 24, 1912 in Columbia, Tennessee, a son of the late Cecil and Mary Church Smith. He was a member of the Zebulon Masonic Lodge No. 273, F&AM.

Surviving him are his wife, Stella Stewart Smith; two daughters, Mrs. Patty Castle, of Stanville, and Mrs. Judy Buckley, of Bardstown, and three grandchildren.

The body was taken from the Hall Funeral Home to Lexington for cremation, and burial was made in the Lexington cemetery.

ASTHMA

By GUY A. O'CONNOR, M.D.
Approximately 2% to 3% of this country's population suffers from asthma, an episodic breathing problem that is caused by widespread narrowing of the air passages. Thought by some to be a disease of children and young adults, asthma can begin at any age and can be equally severe in adults as in children.

Although it can begin during an infection, asthma itself is not an infectious process. It is, rather, a generalized reaction of hyperirritable air passages to various stimuli. Not everyone will develop asthma—some people just have the underlying asthmatic tendency. A wide variety of stimuli can initiate an asthmatic attack, including allergies to numerous substances, physical exertion, emotional stress, some infections, and most airborne pollutants.

The common denominator in all asthmatics is that the air passages all respond in the same pattern, regardless of the type of initiating stimulus. Because of this, the symptoms of asthma are fairly consistent. The sudden onset of wheezing, coughing, and shortness of breath are all common, along with a feeling of tightness in the chest and the onset of rapid breathing. These symptoms sometimes last no more than a few minutes and can go away immediately when the offending stimulus is removed. However, if the attack persists and worsens, immediate medical attention is required.

Fortunately, there are several categories of readily available medication that can be used to relieve an asthma attack, and often these are very fast acting. By opening up tight air passages, these medications can be dramatic in their effectiveness. Easily administered by medical personnel, these medications allow most attacks to be handled on an outpatient basis through a clinic or an emergency room. However, an attack can be so severe as to be unresponsive to the initial emergency treatment. In these cases, hospitalization may be required.

Again, anyone can experience an asthma attack. Medical attention should be sought immediately for anyone who is having difficult and rapid breathing. If associated with wheezing and non-productive cough that persists longer than several minutes, asthma may be the diagnosis by the emergency department physicians at your local hospitals.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and brother, Keith B. Boyd, who passed away Oct. 12, 1974.

We think of him in silence.

No eyes can see us weep.
But still within our aching hearts,
His memory we keep.

We love you,

MR. & MRS. BRADLEY BOYD
MRS. BARBARA ANN KEATING
MARVIN, BILL AND JERRY BOYD

In Memory of Phyllis Mayo Hoppman I ASKED GOD "WHY?" (Grace E. Easley)

I asked God "Why did you send this cross,
The hurt and the pain and the bitter loss?"

And I found it hard not to complain,
As I sought for peace of soul again.
I asked God "Why did you destine me
For such a special misery?"

And it seemed somehow that I heard
His say,
"Man does not walk an easy way.
It's the ones I love the most that I
Send crosses to and sorely try,
Remember this and know that there
Will come no grief you cannot bear.
Behold, I stand beside you in
Each sorrow 'till the very end.
Dear little lamb stay close beside
Your Shepherd 'till the eventide".

What blessed joy it was to find
His footprints ever close to mine.
He made the sadness disappear,
With words of comfort in my ear.
The pain of which I was afraid
Was lifted from me as I prayed,
Leaving such a light that I
Need never doubt or question why.

Her life touched all of ours in a very special way. Loved and missed by her brothers and sisters in Christ.

Fire Prevention Week Proclaimed in County

Fire Prevention Week began Sunday and will extend through Saturday in Floyd county by proclamation of County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo. The proclamation read, in part, "Whereas, every year Floyd county landowners suffer irreplaceable loss in value of their timber resource due to forest fires...I hereby proclaim October 7-13 as Fire Prevention Week in Floyd county, and urge all citizens to be aware of the importance of maintaining high quality timber for all landowners...by protecting their woodlands from the damages of fire."

MOUNTAIN MANOR OF PRESTONSBURG RECEIVES "SUPERIOR RATING"

Mountain Manor Nursing Home of Prestonsburg, under the Administration of Goldie Rorrer, is the second Prestonsburg Nursing Home to receive this "Superior Rating" status.

The rating was awarded to Mountain Manor by the Kentucky Division of Licensing and Regulation after their recent survey. In order to achieve this status, a facility must demonstrate to the Cabinet for Human Resources that they exceed minimum standards for licensure in at least six of eleven areas of concern established by the cabinet. These include the following: Medical Services, Nursing Services, Drug and Biologicals, Dietary and Nutrition, Life Safety Code, Physical and Restorative Therapy, Physical Therapy, Social Services and Activities, Patients Rights, Record Keeping and Administration.

Goldie Rorrer would like to thank all of her employees for their hard work and dedication throughout this past year, and wishes to extend an invitation to the public to visit our "Superior Facility".

BILLY CAMPBELL, pictured picking up part of the 131 total yards rushing he recorded for Betsy Layne, Friday night, was a key in the Bobcats' 14-2 victory over Mullins. The victory came during Betsy Layne's homecoming and was the team's first win of the season.

The contest was scoreless until the third quarter when Coleman scored on a safety for Mullins. This seemed to stir things up for in the fourth quarter, Campbell scored two touchdowns plus extra points to cinch the victory for Betsy Layne.

Cats Down Lawrence County Harrison County Hi, Next

The Prestonsburg Black Cats will go after their seventh win of the season Friday night when they meet Harrison County High at Cynthiana.

The Cats, losers only to Middlesboro in seven games this year, easily defeated visiting Lawrence County last Friday night, 31 to 0.

Asked about the apparent belligerence of Lawrence County players and some fans, Prestonsburg Coach Charles Williams admitted it was "a rough game."

"They seemed more interested in fighting than playing football, and the officials apparently lost control," he commented.

Besides passing for 113 yards, John Goble turned in the most sensational play of the evening when he intercepted a Lawrence County pass and ran it 65 yards for a touchdown.

The Cats had a total of 169 yards rushing. Only in the first quarter could the opposition hold the Prestonsburg attack. After that, Chris Hooker scored the first of his two touchdowns shortly before the half ended on a six-yard run, then came back in the third quarter to score again on a run of 18 yards. James Little scored the fourth touchdown on a run of 18 yards, and early in the final quarter Wendell Burke scored from 11 yards out.

After that, the Prestonsburg junior varsity went into the game. Prestonsburg made only one extra point in five attempts.

Coach Wheeler said the team is in fair shape for the Cynthiana game, except that Gordie Ratliff has not yet recovered from his injury. He expects Harrison County to provide his team a real test.

"They have one of the best quarterbacks I've seen all year," Wheeler said. "They're fast and an all-round good team."

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 4—Fishing has improved at a few of Kentucky's lakes but statewide remains fair to good. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by fish and wildlife conservation officers:

Wins Top Honors At UKC Hunt

Moore's Deep Creek BJ, a Walker hound owned by Robert Moore, of Cliff, won the 22nd annual Kentucky state championship hunt sponsored by the United Kennel Club, Sept. 28-29, at Cynthiana.

It was Moore's 11th attempt to win the coveted trophy, awarded after a two-day hunt which attracted competitors from across the state. The four-year-old hound, bred of "a long line of champions," proved its mettle by garnering 1362½ points, more than 200 points ahead of its nearest rival.

Hails Big South Fork As Major Recreation Area

State Tourism Secretary Wendell Combs predicts that the Big South Fork project will have a "substantial" impact on southeastern Kentucky tourism.

"This project will provide recreational opportunities in one of the most beautiful areas of the state," Combs said.

His remarks came two days after ground-breaking ceremonies for the first phase of the Big South Fork National River and Recreation Area. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is developing Big South Fork on 123,000 acres in parts of McCreary county, Ky. and four Tennessee counties. Once completed, the area will be managed by the U.S. Interior Department.

The Sept. 29 ground-breaking was for the Blue Heron Recreation Area, Campground and Overlook. A focal point for Blue Heron is expected to be a restored coal tippie that will serve as an interpretive center. As visitors tour the tippie, they'll hear the taperecorded voices of persons who lived in the Blue Heron mining community. The area also will have two overlooks accessible by car, equestrian and hiking trails, picnic areas, and a 45-site campground.

Big South Fork overall will boast more than 150 miles of trails, access to nearly 50 miles of white-water streams and rivers, several campgrounds and other facilities.

"Our Foot Washing"

It was a special meeting
In a very special place
There was very special people
Singing Amazing Grace
Two special preachers
Preaching the word of God
In the very same place
Our forefathers had trod.
They had just held a revival
And the spirit was really there
So many people came to the altar
And knelt in prayer.
They gave their hearts to Jesus
And were baptized.
Then at this special meeting
They joined in with the crowd.
They washed their sisters and brothers feet
Of each we were so proud.
That old time spirit seemed
To go from breast to breast
As they took the bread and wine
They knew they had stood the test.
Now if you want a blessing
Just wash your sisters feet
Come, to our church in September
That's the time we meet.
We will also serve you food
You can have all you can eat
But the best meal you'll get
Is when you wash your sisters feet.

Minnie Bike-a-Thon Slated October 13

Minnie Bike-a-thon chairman Dorothy Slone has asked Minnie residents to join the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels For Life" Bike-a-thon slated for Oct. 13 at Minnie Ball Park.

She said this ride honors Jaime, a leukemia patient at St. Jude. "With every turn of the wheel, riders become 'spokes' men for all the kids with cancer, like Jaime, who want to know they aren't in this battle alone. Riders are really needed. They make or break a Bike-a-thon."

Sponsors donating a sum for each mile completed are enlisted by riders. Those who raise $25 receive a St. Jude t-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider receives a barrel tote bag and t-shirt. Pick up sponsor forms at schools and stores.

"The general plan is to have a good time while helping a wonderful group of children counting on our support," Mrs. Slone said.

Contact Dorothy Slone, Ligon, Ky., 377-2923 for details on riding or sponsoring a rider.

The University of Michigan's football team draws some of the largest crowds of any college team in the U.S.

Miss Jenny Wiley Pageant Contestants

The seven young women pictured above will vie for the title of this year's Miss Jenny Wiley tomorrow night (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College. The pageant is a part of the Jenny Wiley Festival activities.

Those competing for the title are, in top row, from left, Kimberly Rae Akers, 16, daughter of Noah and Sharon Akers, of McDowell, sponsored by J.R.M. Coal Co.; Tamera Elaine Bentley, 16, daughter of Terry and Deborah Bentley, of Printer, sponsored by Reid's Pharmacy; Sherry Denise Clark, 19, daughter of Wanda S. Clark, of Prestonsburg, sponsored by the F.S. Vanhooze Co. In the lower row, from left, are Sabrina Gail Curry, 17, daughter of Vernon and Gail Bailey, of Wheelwright, sponsored by her parents; Kimberly Gayle Prince, 16, daughter of Harry and Geraldine Prince, of Dwale, sponsored by Bernie's Beauty Box; Deborah J. Reynolds, 17, daughter of Bonnie and Clifford Reynolds, of Allen, sponsored by the Jenny Wiley Shrine Club. At left is Karen Michelle Shepherd, 19, daughter of Abe and Marcella Shepherd, of Garrett, sponsored by Hall Funeral Home.

The pageant winner will be presented a $1,000 savings bond donated by the Mountain Pipeline Company of Prestonsburg as well as a trophy, arm spray of flowers and gifts valued at approximately $800 which have been donated by area merchants. The runner-up will receive a $500 savings bond, trophy, and arm spray of flowers.

This year's judges are Mrs. Virginia Baldwin, of Lexington, a former Miss Kentucky who served as a consultant to the Miss Lexington Scholarship Pageant for several years; Mrs. Mary Elizabeth

All three have judged numerous pageants on the local and state level.

Auditors for the pageant are James Burchett and William Bottoms of the Burchett and Bottoms C.P.A. firm of Prestonsburg.

Something Extra Seen For ALC Homecoming

Something extra has been added to the program for this year's Alice Lloyd College homecoming celebration to be held on the Caney Creek campus Saturday, Oct. 20.

Sally D. Slone Brashear, director of alumni affairs, said that, in addition to the traditional talent program, arts and crafts display, triathlon and alumni basketball games, added features of this year's homecoming will include:

—The Black-Gold Chainers, square dancers, to be in Cushing Hall;

—A photographer's studio in the old library to photograph alumni in their old Alice Lloyd uniforms;

—Tours of the June Buchanan School, the new college preparatory school located in the old Science building, now known as the J. Commodore Slone building;

—Reunions of the classes of 1934 and 1959 and, it is hoped, a reunion of Caney Cottage students.

Vocational School To Be Evaluated

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools will send a visiting team to Mayo State Vocational-Technical School and the five area centers in Region Eleven the week of October 22nd-26th. The purpose of this visit is to evaluate these schools in terms of continued accreditation with the Commission on Occupational Education. Bronelle Skaggs, Regional Director, says, "Being accredited by the Southern Association is an indicator of a quality institution." Mayo State Vocational-Technical School and the Belfry, Garth, Martin County, Millard, and Phelps Centers have been accredited for the past 10 years. The entire staff has been involved in a self-study for the past year in preparation for the team visit. If an institution meets the standards, their accreditation can be extended for five years. There will be 13 members on the team who will be vocational educators from leading vocational schools in the south.

ORDINANCE

No. 07-1984

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES RELATING TO SUSPECTED OR ALLEGED DISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF HANDICAPPED STATUS IN THE CITY OF MARTIN, MARTIN, KENTUCKY.

WHEREAS, The Federal Revenue Sharing Program regulations and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 prohibits discrimination on the basis of handicapped status in programs of Federal financial assistance, and

WHEREAS, it is the policy of the City of Martin, Kentucky to promote equal opportunity with respect to its programs funded with Federal funds, and

WHEREAS, the City of Martin, Kentucky does not discriminate on the basis of handicapped status in admission or access to or treatment or employment in its programs or activities as defined in the Federal Revenue Sharing Program regulations (51, 51, 1).

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Martin, Kentucky as follows:

SECTION ONE: The attached procedures shall be the "grievance procedures" for anyone who believes he or she has been discriminated against by the City of Martin, Kentucky based on handicapped status with respect to Federally funded programs.

SECTION TWO: The administration of these procedures and related Federal and State Regulations shall be the responsibility of the Executive Authority of the City of Martin, Kentucky.

SECTION THREE: These procedures may be amended by Ordinance to comply with court directives or additional Federal and State Regulations.

SECTION FOUR: This ordinance and attached procedures shall become effective when adopted and published, as required by law.

Too Much of a Good Thing Can Hurt You

Vitamins are a necessary part of the human diet, and for some people vitamin supplements are a good thing. But many Americans are carrying a good thing too far.

Too much of many vitamins can be as harmful to human health as too few.

"Too many Americans believe that if one of something is good, then two or three must be better. When it comes to vitamins, that is not the case," says Dr. Darlene Forester, an Extension nutritionist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The body needs only so much of various vitamins. When people self-prescribe double and triple doses of vitamins they force their bodies to work overtime to rebalance the proper ration of vitamins, Forester said.

Overdosing on vitamins can have serious effects. Huge doses of folic acid, a supplement available over the counter, can cause vitamin B-12-associated problems, the exact type of problem the folic acid is sometimes taken to correct.

There are several types of vitamin-deficiency anemias. Some are caused by too little vitamin B-12, others by too little folic acid. Folic acid mobilizes the vitamin B-12 present in the liver. Thus, if an individual suffering from too little vitamin B-12 began taking folic acid, the supply of vitamin B-12 in the liver would be put into use by the body, and the problem would seem to have been corrected, Forester said.

"But then the liver runs out of vitamin B-12 to contribute and there is a relapse. Even worse, vitamin B-12 is scavenged from the nervous system and you can wind up with a nervous system disorder called Combined System Disease," Forester said.

Overdoses of vitamin B-6 also can cause never damage.

Forester said it is important to keep the intake of vitamins and minerals in balance. Sometimes taking too little of a vitamin or mineral can be harmful too.

Reports of a link between salt and high blood pressure prompted many people to severely reduce their intake of sodium and potassium.

Recent research by the U.S. Department of Agriculture showed that potassium intake among Americans is probably too low.

James C. Smith, chief of USDA's Vitamin and Minerals Nutrition Laboratory, said many adult Americans may get more sodium than they need but less potassium.

"USDA researchers recently found during a year-long study that blood pressure in men was actually lowest when their potassium intake was highest," Smith said.

Forester said the best way to assure proper vitamin and mineral balance in the body is to maintain a proper vitamin and mineral balance in the diet.

"The surest way to good nutrition is to eat balanced diets containing a variety of foods. It's good to be an adventurous eater. That way meals don't get boring, and skipped.

"When you get your nutrients from a wide variety of foods, instead of pills, then you're getting them 'the natural way,'" Forester said.

Mennonite Publishers Hit by Fire

When fire destroyed a building at Crockett, a tiny, off-the-beaten path community in Morgan county, two weeks ago, many Eastern Kentuckians learned for the first time of what may be the area's biggest publishing enterprise.

Damaged an estimated $1,155,000 was Rod and Staff Publishers, which prints and distributes from quiet, little Crockett religious matter such as Sunday school lessons, tracts and pamphlets for all Mennonite churches in the United States and Canada and in 70 foreign countries.

The printing complex, described by visitors there as ultra-modern, with its computers, photo-composition, offset presses, bindery, etc., employs 35, most of whom are residents of the Mennonite community of Crockett.

The fire destroyed one building housing offices, all the publication's paper stock and its supply of printed work that has been completed and was ready to ship.

And there was no insurance. Mennonites do not insure their property, choosing, instead, to put their trust in God for protection.

Immediately calls from as far away as Oregon and Canada poured into Crockett from Menonites, offering their help.

Parents Must Help
In Training Children

Are parents providing young children the basic skills they need before starting school?
That's the central question behind the efforts of several school districts, including Minneapolis, that retained hundreds of kindergartners last spring.
"It doesn't make sense to keep a child back without good cause," says Martha Lee Zins, president of the Minnesota Education Association (MEA). "But there are some basic skills a child needs, and it does no good to pass on a pupil who simply doesn't have them."
"Whether it's preschool or high school, parents must make a serious effort to get involved in their child's education," urges Mary Hatwood Futrell, president of the National Education Association (NEA). "Where parents are involved the school gets better. Parents can't drop children off at 8 a.m., pick them up at 3 p.m. and expect the teacher to do it all."

The Minneapolis school system's readiness-for-the-first-grade test includes 60 oral questions that cover language arts and mathematics. The school system has received inquiries about the program from 28 states.
The fall Gallup Poll of teachers' attitudes about education named lack of parental support as the top problem facing the public schools.
The 40,000-member MEA represents most teachers in Minnesota. MEA is an affiliate of the 1.7 million-member NEA, the nation's largest educational organization.

Brownies Remember
Smokey's Birthday

Two hundred Girl Scouts from three east Kentucky counties and one in West Virginia gathered at Archer Park on Sept. 29 for a Brownie Fun Day, organized around a Smokey's Birthday theme.
The day was marked by troop performances, crafts, games, a balloon launch, and birthday cake. Participating were troops from McDowell, Prater Creek, Wheelwright, Prestonsburg, Inez, Van Lear, Paintsville, Oil Springs, Robinson Creek, Rock House, Virgie, Pikeville, and Edgerton, W. Va.
Among those who helped in the day's events were the Prestonsburg police and fire departments, Mr. Piggly Wiggy, clowns, the Girl Scout Cookie, and Smokey the Bear.
The next event for Floyd Girl Scouts is a round-up on October 13. For information, call 874-9372 or 478-9173.

Pike Co. Airport
Sees Improvement

Construction of a new terminal for the Pike County Airport could be completed in three to four months, an airport spokesman said last week.
Prestonsburg coal operator Gregory Jones, vice-president of JRM Coal Co., is president of Big Sandy Aviation, the firm that runs the airport. He said the start of construction awaits state approval of an agreement reached recently between Big Sandy Aviation and Vetco, a Berea-based building firm. The weather will also figure in the construction timetable, he noted.
Cost of the 1600-square-foot building to be erected is put at $139,700, the bulk of it to be borne equally by the state and the Pikeville-Pike County Airport Board.
Besides providing terminal facilities, the new construction will include a maintenance hangar, a mechanics shop, and water and sewage treatment facilities. In addition, paving will provide added parking space for planes.
Pike Judge-Executive Paul Patton noted that the upgraded airport will be of considerable economic benefit to the county, especially to the coal industry.

It is often considered lucky to see a white horse.

Wood In Our Lives: Products from the National Forests

The Rebirth of Energy Efficient Log Homes

As Americans become more energy conscious, energy efficient log homes patterned after those used by early settlers are becoming increasingly appealing. There are major differences of course between the modern versions and the original models. Not only do the log homes built now contain all the modern conveniences, but they are designed to meet the aesthetic demands of today's sophisticated consumers. Cathedral ceilings, attached two-car garages, and passive solar additions are some of the options available.

Currently, there are more than 200 manufacturers of log homes. These companies offer homebuyers a wide choice of styles, and are sometimes willing to sell blueprints to do-it-yourselfers. One source of house logs for both commercial manufacturers and individuals is the National Forest System, which consists of 155 National Forests administered by the Forest Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. If house logs are available in any of the National Forests, sales can be made to either individuals or commercial users.

There are several distinct advantages to log-built homes, a major one being that they are energy efficient. Wood is a natural insulator because it is made up of hollow cells, each cell a natural building block with cellulose fiber walls. If all the fibers in one cubic inch of wood could be individually counted, there would be close to three billion of them. Since air is one of the best insulators known, the millions of tiny airspaces in a piece of wood hold the secret to its incredible insulative characteristics. Heat will move through one inch of wood fifteen times slower than concrete and almost 200 times slower than aluminum.

David Lowery of the Forest Service's Forest Products Laboratory in Madison, Wisc., notes that log homes are virtually maintenance free. While a water repellent is recommended for newly-built houses, painting or staining is not necessary, according to log-home builders. Log-built houses are also durable, and a well-built, well-designed log house can last more than a hundred years. Some have been known to last considerably longer even under harsh weather conditions. Some in Russia, for example, are still being used after 500 years.

The majority of log homes are built from green tree logs, which means that the logs have been cut from standing timber. There are some manufacturers, however, who use dry logs, logs which have been obtained from fallen trees. Dry logs have a lower moisture content than green tree logs, cost less, and are lighter and easier to handle. Of course, shipping charges are less, too. Thomas Fahey, a research forester at the Forest Service's Forest Products Laboratory, points out that lodgepole pine is an abundant resource in the intermountain west. Thus, in the northern Rocky Mountain area many of the log homes are made from lodgepole and white pine.

It has been estimated that there are currently more than a quarter of a million log homes in the United States, and that a thousand of these homes are being built every month. No longer are log homes confined to the summer- or second-home category. More and more people are using them as primary residences.

Six United States presidents—Jackson, Polk, Fillmore, Buchanan, Garfield and Lincoln—were born in log cabins. With the renewed interest in this type of building, it is conceivable that a future president may also move from a log home into the White House.

Kentucky's State Parks...

'Gem of The Cumberlands'

By JEFF LEWIS

You hear tell of the "inaccessible" mountains of Eastern Kentucky; but the first surprise about Pine Mountain is how easy it is to get there—a 45-minute drive from I-75.

Whether you approach the park from the south or the north, you will pass by the signs of development in the region—satellite antennas and shopping malls. But Pine Mountain remains much what it was when the first explorers traversed the Cumberland Gap about 1750—a steep-sloped wall of rock 125 miles long, running southwest to northeast, from just south of Pineville to Elkhorn City.

Pine Mountain State Resort Park was the very first of Kentucky's tops-in-the-nation system of parks and recreation areas. The original lodge, built by the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1933, has been incorporated into today's modern 30-unit resort hotel, complete with pool and 9-hole golf course.

The dining room and the balconies of the guests' rooms open onto a magical view of the mountain and the hills around it, dovetailing into each other away to the south. The park grounds are honeycombed with short hiking trails that highlight ridgetop lookouts, two-century-old hemlock trees, or the unmatched diversity of wildflowers and shrubs found in the park—for example, the mountain laurel, which lends its name to the Mountain Laurel Festival and beauty pageant held each May when the laurel is in bloom.

Pine Mountain's prevailing calm and serenity make it ideal for seniors, but children seem to love it even more; it's not unusual to see park recreation staff greet returning visitors for another summer of hiking, riding, and singalongs. For all ages, Pine Mountain provides a surprisingly complete museum with exhibits on tree varieties, herbs, wildlife, and the geology of the mountain itself and its formation.

The folkways and traditions of the Appalachian region are celebrated at the park, particularly in late September when it plays host to the Great American Dulcimer Convention. Dances, workshops, and crafts exhibitions add to the excitement and fellowship that attend evening concerts by such folk-music luminaries as Jean Ritchie, John McCutcheon, and Dick and Anne Albin, a popular singing team presently touring Kentucky State Parks.

For more information about park facilities and special events, contact the park office: Pine Mountain State Resort Park, Pineville, Ky., 40377, or call (606) 337-3066, or the special toll-free Kentucky state tourism information number 1-800-225-TRIP. For park room reservations, call 1-800-255-PARK.

MSU Drops Kansas From 1985 Schedule

The Morehead State basketball team has dropped the University of Kansas from its 1984-85 basketball schedule, which was originally scheduled for Dec. 5 in Lawrence, Ka.

Eliminating the Kansas date has not made the 1984-85 schedule easier, due to the fact that MSU will now open the season with Oklahoma on Friday, Nov. 23. The Sooners are the defending Big Eight Conference champions and feature the talented Wayman Tisdale.

Crafts Center Gets New Managers

The David Appalachian Crafts Center is entering its 13th year with two new co-directors. Sister Sharon Berger and Beth Siegel are helping local craftspeople to market their work.

Preserving the culture has always been a goal of the crafts center. Siegel talks of "the integrity of something made by hand" and Sister Sharon insists there are lessons to be learned by those who think automation is the way to do things. Both see the center as a place to "carry on tradition" as craftpersons share their skills by teaching each other.

Teaching is another original purpose of David Appalachian Crafts, but, in the past, teaching was primarily done by staff. The teaching of skills by the center's members is a new thrust and the new administrators hope that members themselves will become more involved in marketing also.

At present, all classes are free and are primarily for persons intending to produce crafts for the center. But basic sewing classes and classes for those simply interested in sewing, piecing and quilting skills for personal enrichment are emerging possibilities. Fees, if any, will be weighed against what the center can afford.

The center's products are in demand throughout the country. Many of the craftpersons are women with families. Coming to the center provides an opportunity to share their ideas, needs and problems and to listen to each other. In addition, whatever they earn helps the family budget.

The new co-directors hope to expand craft center membership by reaching out to those who need help developing skills or who have skills that have not been discovered, especially those who need to supplement their income.

David Appalachian Crafts is a nonprofit organization and a program of St. Vincent's Mission, David. The center's membership is made up of about a hundred craftpersons from several counties including Floyd, Magoffin Johnson, Bath, Letcher, Martin, Pike and Knott. The work of local craftspeople such as quilts, baskets, pottery and corn shuck dolls is sold at the shop on a consignment basis. Wholesale orders from craft shops throughout the country account for a large portion of the center's sales.

David Crafts is located on Rt. 404, 6 miles off the Mt. Parkway. Wholesale and retail catalogues are available upon request.

Annual Federal Women's Seminar

The Eleventh Annual Federal Women's Program Seminar, co-sponsored by the Huntington District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and VA Medical Center, will be held October 24-26 at the Huntington Civic Center.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m., Wednesday, October 24, and 8 a.m. on October 25 and 26. Pre-registration is desirable to assure sufficient space for everyone. The program will run through 12 noon on Friday.

At 12:30 p.m., Wednesday, welcoming remarks will be shared by Colonel Robert B. Wilson, District Engineer and Lansing Hills, Regional Director, VA Medical Center, followed by the keynote address, given by Dr. Yvonne Walker-Taylor, President, Wilberforce University, Zenia, Ohio.

Fifteen workshops will be offered, each approximately two hours long. They will be repeated October 25 and 26 for the convenience of participants.

General information can be obtained by calling (304) 529-5782.

MIDDLE CREEK HOMEMAKERS

The Middle Creek Homemakers met Sept. 24 with Sophia Gibson presiding. Officers were elected for the year. They are president, Sophia Gibson; vice president, Ella Jane Hall; secretary-treasurer, Joyce Martin; devotional leader, Lucy Waddles; telephone chairman, Grace Moore.

The lesson on cooking with herbs and spices was given with members participating.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gibson to Joyce Martin, Ella Jane Hall, Grace Moore, Ethel Woods, Barbara Miller, Ruby Richter, Opal Bolen, Lyda Caudill, Frances Pitts.

Following the meeting, the members did a tin punch project.

The next meeting will be Monday, October 22, at 12:30 p.m. at the Fitzpatrick Church. New members are welcome.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Water, hereby gives notice that the Weeksbury Water Supply exceeded the maximum contaminant level for coliform bacteria for the reporting period of June 1984.

The test results for coliform bacteria (normally found in the intestinal tract of humans and other warm-blooded animals) indicate that some contamination occurred. Coliform bacteria is not considered harmful, however, its presence is a reliable indicator that harmful bacteria may have been present in the water at that time.

The Weeksbury Water Supply was formally notified of this violation and the regulatory requirement to inform their consumers of this violation. As of September 27, 1984, the Division of Water has not received verification of the Public Notification. Therefore, the Division of Water is acting on behalf of the water supply in issuing this statement in accordance with the Kentucky Public and Semipublic Water Supplies Regulations (401 KAR 6:015).

Other violations accumulated since October 1983 are:

October 1983—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

November 1983—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

Failure to submit monthly operating report.

December 1983—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

Failure to submit monthly operating report.

January 1984—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

February 1984—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

Failure to submit monthly operating report.

March 1984—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

Failure to submit monthly operating report.

April 1984—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

Failure to submit monthly operating report.

May 1984—Failure to submit an adequate number of water samples for bacteriological analysis.

June 1984—Failure to submit monthly operating report.

Failure to submit an adequate number of check water samples for bacteriological analysis.

Questions or comments concerning this Public Notice may be directed to Drinking Water Branch, Division of Water, 18 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

INTRODUCING
The Landing

In the early 1900's, the riverboat would steam into town. At the sound of the whistle and the calliope, all Prestonsburg would gather at the Upper Landing to see what news, goods, or travelers had come up the Big Sandy.

At this same location, the carefree charm of a bygone era is recalled today at "The Landing," the new name for Prestonsburg's foremost address...at an affordable price.

A clown cake was served, and he received many nice gifts.

Concert Date Changed For ECU Homecoming

The date for Eastern Kentucky University's annual Homecoming concert has been changed to 8 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 11.

The concert, to be held in Hiram Brock Auditorium of the ECU Coates Administration Building, had been scheduled for Friday night.

The concert will feature the musical group Sawyer Brown, the 1984 winners of the Star Search competition.

In addition to musical entertainment, ECU's Homecoming Queen finalists will be presented in evening gown competition during an intermission at approximately 9 p.m.

ECU Alumni Director Ron Wolfe said this year's festival will feature a large number of reunions.

"We've tried to stress small-group reunions this year," Wolfe said. "I think you'll see that we have more than ever before."

The reunions begin on Friday. The main Homecoming events take place Saturday, Oct. 15.

Wolfe said the theme for this year's festival is "Cartoon Capers."

Highlights of ECU's 1984 Homecoming include:

Alumni Registration at 9 a.m. Saturday Oct. 15 at the Keen Johnson Building. Returning alumni, especially the 1964 and 1974 reunion classes, are encouraged to register for the day.

Homecoming Parade/Homecoming Run at 10 a.m.

The annual parade down Lancaster Avenue will feature a 5,000-meter run as the first unit, along with the usual floats, queen candidates, etc.

Homecoming Tailgate Party at 11:30 a.m. in the Alumni Coliseum parking lot. Returning alumni will join Colonels Club members for a picnic lunch before the game. No reservations necessary.

The Homecoming Queen Coronation at 1:15 p.m. One of 15 queen finalists will be crowned by the 1983 queen, Elizabeth Cummins, before the opening kickoff. ECU President J.C. Powell will preside over the coronation.

The Homecoming Game will start at 1:30 p.m. at Hanger Field. ECU Coach Roy Kidd's OVC favorites will take on the University of Central Florida. At halftime, the Marching Maroons will present the usual color and pageantry along with the Alumni Band.

Post-game reception will be held for all returning alumni, special groups and guests at the Arlington Mulebarn. Members of the Greater Cincinnati Area Alumni Chapter will serve as hosts.

For more information, contact the ECU Alumni Office, (606) 622-1260.

Hallowe'en Trick or Treat Night Set for Wayland

City of Wayland will observe "Trick or Treat" on October 30th from the hour of 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. only. Trick or treat will be for children from the ages of 13 years and younger. Police will have patrol duty during the "Trick or Treat" hours in the city. Parents are urged to escort small children!

First Birthday

Joshua Ray Allen celebrated his first birthday September 22 at the home of his parents, Lonnie Ray and Paula Allen, of Stanville. He enjoyed a clown cake baked by his aunt, Darlene Hamilton, of Harold.

Guests attending were: Randolph, Loretta and Randi Lynn Parsons, Lonnie, Lillian and Pat Allen, Richard and Darlene Hamilton, Randall and Brenda Taylor, Dale, Mary, Dezere, and Justin Dale Morton, Sherry and Jeremy Tackett, Jemima, Jamie and Joshua John Hall, Lita, Ashley and Cara Lea Anderson.

Joshua's maternal grandparents are Randolph and Loretta Parsons, of Harold. His paternal grandparents are Lonnie and Lillian Allen, of Stanville. His great-grandmother is Olive Jones, of Stanville.

Elderly and Disabled
To Be Registered First
For Heating Bill Help

Elderly and disabled persons will not be required to stand out in the cold this year in order to apply for assistance with paying their heating bills.

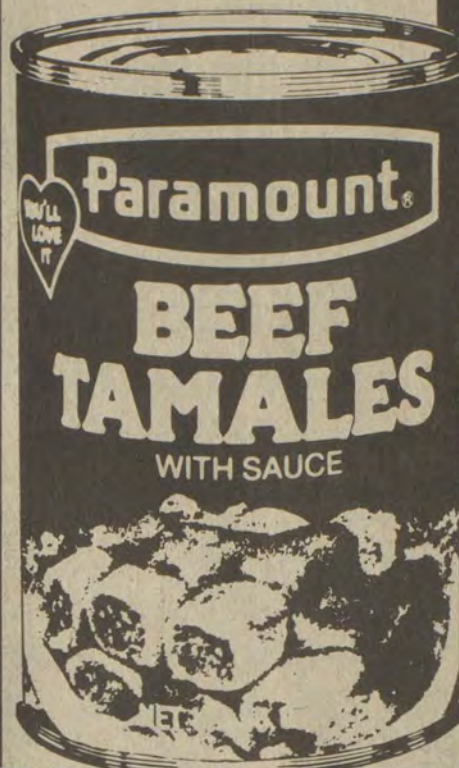

The Home Energy Assistance Program under the Department of Human Resources has scheduled two application periods. The first, for the elderly and disabled only, will be held in two locations from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., beginning Monday, October 15. Applications will be taken through Friday, October 26, unless funds are exhausted earlier. Applicants may apply on these dates at either the Little Nancy Regular Baptist Church at Hi Hat, or at Allen Central High School at Eastern.

Applicants are asked to bring with them the social security numbers of all household members, verification of income received by all members of their household, and verification of heating source, whether gas, electricity, or coal.

The second application period for all others will be from November 12 through December 31 at the same locations and times.

Hall Funeral Home

PRE-PAID PRE-PLAN OR NOT—WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

One's pre-planned funeral need not be paid for in advance.

Funeral arrangements may be made in advance—music and scripture readings selected, funeral service details are all noted and casket chosen, price range fixed—all without spending a dime at this time.

This manner of pre-planning becomes a guide for your family to follow. It is an expression of your personal wishes. But it is a guide only, until payment is arranged. Your family can take care of pre-payment in advance of or at the time of need.

If you make pre-payment arrangements in advance, you have assured yourself your wishes will be followed exactly and to the letter. You have the peace-of-mind in knowing the chore is taken care of now. It will not be thrust upon your family in their time of emotional stress.

You may stop by or call for full details.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY
SLEEP ON IT

One in three American adults reports having some problems with insomnia and one in six feels the problem is serious. Before resorting to sleeping pills, assess your sleep habits. Try to avoid an irregular sleep schedule, daytime naps, caffeine and alcohol near bedtime. Avoid using your bedroom as a home office. If you suffer from transient insomnia, as can occur with jet lag, try to wait it out. If you elect to use sleeping pills at such times, do not take them for more than one to three nights. When using sleeping pills, do not take them every night. Most cease to aid sleep after as few as two weeks of regular use. Also, do not stop taking sleeping pills abruptly. Cut back gradually.

At COOLEY APOTHECARY we carry many over the counter remedies for insomnia if your problem persists. We offer complete patient profiles and everyday low prices. If you are new to this community we invite you to stop in at your convenience so we can become acquainted. We want you to know that we would be honored to become your pharmacy. We are located at No. 2 Town Center., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4.

Cities Compete For World's Fairs

The mirror is no help when it comes to choosing the city that will host a world's fair. American cities have been competing for world's fairs since the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876, and, not surprisingly, each contestant has considered itself the fairest of them all. In the past, the prize was won after a rousing donnybrook among cities and a decision by Congress. Today, the process is a bit more bureaucratic—and tame.

A world's fair has always provided a forum for civic ambition—a golden opportunity for a city to show that it has "arrived" as a major commercial and cultural center. In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, however, insults flew and white gloves came off when a city determined to defend its honor as a site for an international exposition.

Two urban giants joined in just such a battle for a proposed 1892 world's fair to celebrate the 400th anniversary of Columbus' voyage to the New World. At the time, New York and Chicago were vying for recognition as America's premier city.

New York newspapers sniffed that a world's fair in Chicago would turn out to be huge hog-and-cattle show. The Chicago Tribune retorted: "Chicago slaughters and packs its hogs, New York puts them on committees." Later, the Tribune declared: "For too long, the American cow had been fed in the West and milked in the East."

Chicago triumphed, but New York was not a good loser. One New York newspaper grumped that the fair's "bigness would be equaled only by its crudity." In fact, the World's Columbian Exposition was a big success, putting America and Chicago on the cultural world map.

As American world's fairs moved westward, so did urban rivalries. Charges of doublecross and political sabotage filled the balmy California air when San Francisco and San Diego engaged in the "tournament of cities" for the honor of holding a fair commemorating the opening of the Panama Canal in 1914. A happy compromise for California resulted in two world's fairs in 1915—San Francisco's Panama-Pacific International Exposition and San Diego's Panama-California Exposition.

If it seems that world's fairs have been occurring with increasing frequency—Knoxville in 1982 and New Orleans in 1984—it is instructive to note that in addition to the two fairs in 1915, there were two in 1939—San Francisco's Golden Gate International Exposition and New York's A World of Tomorrow. In the future, however, American world's fairs will be at least five years apart, according to a spokeswoman for the U.S. Commerce Department's Office of World's Fairs and International Expositions.

Today, world's fairs are regulated both by the U.S. government and by the Paris-based Bureau of International Expositions. Since 1968, the United States has been a member nation of this organization, which interprets and administers rules for the siting and scheduling of fairs worldwide. As a member, America has agreed not to participate in any international exposition that has not been approved by the BIE.

The BIE recognizes two classes of world's fairs: "universal" and "specialized" expositions. A universal fair is the larger in size and illustrates progress in all "branches of human endeavor." The last universal world's fair was in 1970 in Osaka, Japan. New Orleans' fair, "A World of Rivers," is a specialized exposition. Complicated rules dictate how often universal and specialized fairs may be held. But the rules can be bent by diplomatic negotiations. The New Orleans fair was granted an exemption from the rule that fairs with different themes held in the same country must be five years apart.

American world's fairs are also governed by the U.S. International Expositions Act and by U.S. Department of Commerce regulations. The Act spells out the procedures by which the president of the United States will grant "official recognition" to a proposed fair and the requirements for federal participation. After the president officially recognizes a site and the BIE approves it, the U.S. Congress must authorize the fair and appropriate funds.

Applicants for permission to hold a world's fair may be a state, county, city, private non-profit organization or an individual. Whoever they are, they had better be dedicated to the project. The standard for exposition applications at the present time is the one submitted by the organizers of the 1992 Chicago universal exposition: It is 916 pages long.

But, despite the red tape, there are still world's fairs in America's future. And big dreams are not dead. Reportedly, for its fair celebrating the 500th anniversary of Columbus' historic voyage, Chicago is planning to build an island in Lake Michigan.

Soap Beat

A romantic twist for Gloria Loring

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Gloria Loring fans are in for a surprise: Liz Curtis (Miss Loring's character) will soon break up with husband Neil (Joe Gallison) and become involved with young man Carlo Foreza, (Don Diamont).

Miss Loring is excited about the changes in store for her. "Neil loves Liz, but he feels she's much better than he is," she says. "He has a problem with self-worth. Liz's biggest problem is that she always has her trust destroyed by the men in her life. Hopefully Liz will discover her own worth in this story line. Liz may even discover that she doesn't need a man to make her complete."

"I have a feeling the nature of soap operas is to portray women as the 'I can't live without love in my life' type," continues Miss Loring. "I think that's extremely unfortunate since it perpetuates the myth that women are dependant on men for their identity. Soap opera writing is not conducive to independence for women. But there's an enormous opportunity to be of service and to inform and to inspire the women in our audience."

Miss Loring, however, wants to make one thing clear. "I'm not putting down the 'Days' writers. I think they do a wonderful job and they do write a lot

A SOLDIER'S STORY. (PG-Columbia Pictures) Starring Howard E. Rollins Jr., Adolph Caesar, Denzel Washington. ★ ★ ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

Soldiers are men looking to do battle. But not all of their enemies are other soldiers. Indeed, sometimes their battles must be fought internally: They try to live up to an ideal, try to overcome their faults, try their best to cope.

And therein lies the battleground for "A Soldier's Story," one of the finest of this year's fall releases. Based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning play of the same name, screenwriter Charles Fuller and director Norman Jewison have created a consistently engrossing, remarkably perceptive view of racial attitudes from a variety of perspectives.

Expect no foxhole heroics here and few shotgun blasts. Two bullets, however, do form the basis for the movie, as the sergeant of an all-black unit is found shot to death at an Army base in Louisiana in 1944. Howard E. Rollins Jr. of "Ragtime" fame stars as a black captain sent by Washington to investigate the crime.

When he arrives at the base, he faces a disinterested company captain and racist white soldiers. He must piece the story together from fragments garnered from the men in the murdered sergeant's unit. Their various tales, highlighted through flashbacks, is reminiscent of "Citizen Kane." The strange surroundings leading up to the sergeant's murder offer a portrait of the man.

At first casually attributed to the Ku Klux Klan, the crime and its eventual solution creates as much tension as the best Sherlock Holmes mystery, yet with enough insight to merit its Pulitzer Prize.

Director Jewison doesn't pound home his points. The film is somewhat similar to his classic, "In the Heat of the Night," and is easily his best work since. The ensemble cast is brilliant, and the best argument yet that an Academy Award be given to an entire troupe for Best Collective Performance.

Bob Hope says:
"Red Cross can teach you first aid. And first aid can be a life saver."
