Speedy Construction Schedule Is Aim of P.C.C. Fund Drive

By Paul N. Allen
If Prestonsburg Community College can raise $194,800 by mid-summer, a proposed $3.2 million science building, for which funding has already been approved by the 1988 state legislature, could be in use by the fall term, 1990.
Dr. Henry A. Campbell, P.C.C. president, said the college is ready to "go all out" in its effort to raise the funds which are necessary to pay half of the debt service on bonds for the project which will be sold in January.
Each college approved for a new building must raise half of the debt service for the first year, according to Campbell, and, although the bonds will not be sold until January, 1989, acquiring the needed funds before that time would make a significant difference in the construction time schedule.
"As soon as the money is raised or pledged, we can begin to hire and architect and develop the plans," Dr. Campbell explained. "Construction could begin in the summer of 1989 and the building would be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1990. We are asking that donations be given by July 1, 1988, if possible."

The building, which will be of two-story construction and include 30,000 square feet, is designed to accommodate much-needed classroom space as well as housing faculty offices, science lecture rooms, nursing labs, mining and pollution labs, geology and chemistry. It will also provide for space that will be used for a dental hygiene program, Campbell pointed out.
The Big Sandy College Development Corporation, Inc., successor to the original P.C.C. Foundation Board, will work with the college to make wide use of news media and solicit contributions toward the required total. In addition, Campbell said an attempt is being made to establish development committees in each of the five counties which the college primarily serves to coordinate fund-raising efforts.

"Apart from just Floyd county, the college benefits every single aspect of the local economy," Dr. Campbell commented.
"We are hoping that the professionals in our area will contribute generously to the project now and in the future, and we hope they will also encourage others to contribute as we expand to meet the needs of our community," he said. Any funds beyond the $194,800 will be set aside for scholarships or accounts to support the college as the need arises, Campbell pointed out.
(Contributions may be sent to: Big Sandy College Development Corporation, Inc., 5 Court St., P.O. Box 550, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653, or Prestonsburg Community College, 1 Bert Combs Dr., Prestonsburg.)

Trash Importing Scheme Is Subject of Court Meet

By Tim Sizemore
Whether it will allow out-of-state trash to be brought into the county by rail was a major question taken up in the May meeting of the Floyd County Fiscal Court last Friday.
Prestonsburg businessman Donald "Dootney" Horn presented a proposal to the court whereby his company would deliver two unit trains of approximately 100 cars of coal to Philadelphia a day and on the return trip the cars would bring back fly ash and incinerated trash. Horn asked the court to levy a two-dollar-per-ton tax on waste brought into the county if it was decided to approve his proposal.
"It will add approximately $3,000,000 more to the county coffers a year," according to Horn who added that with as little as 20% of the money, the rest of the county could be cleaned up.
Both County Attorney David Barber and District No. 2 Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens had strong objections to Horn's proposal. Barber said a study should be made to determine the environmental impact and suggested the Environmental Protection Agency be present to air their views on the proposal. Magistrate Owens questioned the effects of the waste on drinking water saying, "I don't want my children drinking contaminated water."
Horn explained to the court that the material to be dumped consisted mainly of fly ash and incinerated rubbish, but County Attorney Barber contended, "Burnt garbage is burnt garbage."

The court took no action on the proposal, but agreed to consider it at a future fiscal court meeting or call a special session.
Residents of Emma and Shepherd Fork Branch, at Hippo, came before the court to request blacktop for their roads. Emma residents, who have previously petitioned the court for blacktop, vowed to attend fiscal court meetings until their problems are attended to. The court partially alleviated the Emma problem by placing a 25-ton weight limit on the road and Judge John M. Stumbo told the group the road may be blacktopped in late July or August.
Carl Goble, of Shepherds Fork, presented the court members with a petition signed by residents of the branch, requesting blacktop. Goble said that dust is the major problem. Magistrate Owens commented that the houses in the branch are close together and that traffic blows dust on the houses and gardens. Owens and Judge Stumbo agreed look at the road and make an appraisal of what needed to be done to solve the dilemma.
Hueysville resident, Irene Hayes, requested that a mound of dirt be removed from the county's right-of-way near the Hueysville post office. Hayes said a trailer owned by the C.C. Craft Estate, of Springfield Kentucky had previously rested on the mound when the tippel had been in operation, but it had recently been removed. Hayes said the land is needed for post office parking. The court

Martin Wins Settlement In Blasting Damage Case

By Joe Porter
A circuit court jury has awarded $6,000 to Thomas Martin, of Turkey Creek for blasting damages done to his house and property by the defendant D.F.M., Inc., a strip mining company from Allen.
The suit was first filed on February 5, 1986, with the complaint charging that the defendant, "carried out blasting operations and mining work by means of high explosives which produced violent concussions and vibrations of the earth and air which shook the land, buildings, and other property." The blasting started in March 1983 and continued up to the time that the suit was filed.
In answering the complaint, the defendant denied the charge and stated that the damage caused, "was of an act of God, circumstances beyond the defendant's control, or the negligence or wrongful act of some third party." No third party was ever mentioned during the trial.
The jurors heard the testimony May 9, and after summations and instructions from the judge the following morning, deliberated. It wasn't a unanimous verdict but nine of the twelve jurors—the required three-fourths majority—signed it.
Martin, who had asked for $16,000 in damages, was disappointed that the jurors hadn't awarded him more to cover the cost of repairing his property. "I think we should have brought them up to the house to see the damage done," he said after the trial.

Both Martin and his attorney Jerry Patton felt the jurors were swayed and less sympathetic because of statements made by the defense that Martin had received during the mining operation payments amounting to $100,000 as compensation for the use of the land, wheelage, and so much per ton of coal removed. "I don't think we ever received quite that much," Martin said.
Building contractor Jerry Derosselt told the jury that he had inspected the house and found that the front and back concrete steps, foundation blocks, fireplace and hearthstone were all cracked and pulled loose as was some of the exterior siding. His estimate to repair the damage was $12,300. Martin also had to have his well redug as a result of the blasting, but the water piped into the house still isn't suitable to drink.
Patton tried to show that D.F.M. operated in negligent manner. Asked if he had been in compliance with mining regulations, David May, the company's operator, said on the stand, "We've had citations up there."
"What for?" Patton asked.
"We've had them for different things."
At that point defense attorney Thomas M. Smith asked to approach the bench. Judge Hollie Conley conferred with Smith and Patton for a few minutes, and

Hello, Dolly! Kicks Off Summer Music Theatre Season, June 7

By Joe Porter
"Thirty minutes to curtain!"
The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre opens its 24th season June 7 with HELLO, DOLLY! It's the foundation show for what promises to be an exciting season of musical entertainment.
The star of HELLO, DOLLY! Diane Houghton, arrived Friday from her home in Harrodsburg. Rehearsals began Sunday. But for months general manager Jim Deaton and director/choreographer Don Brenner have been busy casting and planning the production. Brenner was hired in February, and soon after, began preparing: playing a tape of the musical over and over, writing pages of notes to himself, besides studying the book and score.

Houghton auditioned for the part in March, and Brenner knew immediately she had it. "She was head and shoulders above the competition," Brenner said. "She sang 'Parade' and blew us away. We're dealing with a woman who could do Dolly in New York and nobody would complain." Of the character, Brenner said, "We see a woman who for years has been leading life on the periphery, but now she's ready to live it to the fullest." The director called Houghton's interpretation of her gutsy and said, "we've got an exceptional Dolly."
Brenner's confidence also comes from the material he's working with. Unlike some musicals where songs are hung on story lines, and not an inherent part of them, he said, "In Hello, Dolly! you can't separate the book from the songs. It's the best book and best score written." Houghton added praise, "It's a great story to begin with. It's not dated material though it takes place in the gay nineties." Houghton is an equity actor with over fifteen years of professional experience. She has twice before played the role and said, "I'll sing the part on exactly the same key as Barbara Streisand sang it."

To Brenner trust is an important part to collaborating on a musical. "I trust the music to Bruce, and I trust Jim with casting decisions," he said, "You've got to work with all the elements at once, so you have to rely on the other people on the team." Brenner, who lives in New York City, said that being both director and choreographer is twice as much work, but he likes the dual responsibility because it helped him toward his goal of giving the production, "a solid seamless look."
"Fifteen minutes!"
Bruce Rous is in his first season as musical director and will stay on through the summer in that capacity. He's been a musical director for three years, and though only 24, has gained a vast amount of experience in the musical field, having been an assistant musical director as well as a professional pianist, jazz band member, and actor. He too has been preparing for months; his hand-picked 14-member "pit band," which arrived Tuesday, will provide the show's music. "I can't believe how well it's all coming together." Rous said after only two days of rehearsals. "Already I'm polishing. Everyone has a good sense of ensemble, a good sense of team. It's already at performance quality."

Floyd Co. School Projects Object of ABC-TV Interest

By Paul N. Allen
Efforts toward drop-out reduction in Floyd county schools as well as various special school projects and curriculum which have originated through the dedication of concerned teachers, the Floyd County Education Forum, and the cooperation of the Floyd County Board of Education, may receive national attention in coming months.
High-ranking officials of ABC-TV, accompanied by representatives of the Appalachian Regional Commissioner (ARC), were at Martin and Wheelwright, May 9 and 10, to see, first hand, how some of these programs are applied.
According to Carol Stumbo,

Wheelwright High School teacher, ABC plans a future news special dealing with the current, nationwide school dropout crisis, and attempts which are being made to lessen its severity. The effort here, she said, is being viewed as a particularly good example of what's being done in rural areas, with emphasis on unique strategies in Appalachia.
ABC officials who visited the county included James E. Duffy, president of communications and broadcasting, Dr. John E. Harr, president of the office of communications, and Matthew R. Zucker, director of the ABC communications office.
Duffy was briefed on activities at Mar

GIVING THE BRUSH TO INFECTION

The toothbrush is often overlooked as a breeding ground for bacteria. Recent research has shown that the long bristles in these tooth scrubbers provide a perfect place for food particles to mingle with trapped water. As a result, germs have a chance to multiply unceasingly. The worst offenders are those toothbrushes with natural bristles. The hollow core in each of these bristles acts to draw up water like a straw. All this points to replacing toothbrushes every few weeks. Studies show that people who replace their toothbrushes every two weeks recover sooner from chronic sore throats and gum infections. An infected toothbrush only keeps the problem alive.

Islamic Influence KET Special Target

Islam is one of the world's fastest growing religions. It is also a religion in turmoil. Six hundred years after the Crusades, some factions of Islam are again at war with the West.

Sword of Islam, a 90-minute special airing Sunday, June 5 at 2 p.m. on KET, delves into facts behind the violent headlines associated with the Arab world.

Sword of Islam focuses on two of the most feared groups of the Islamic revolution—the Hizbollah in Lebanon, known to Americans for their bombings, kidnappings, and hijackings; and the Jihad in Egypt, remembered for their assassination of Anwar Sadat.

The alarming rise and spread of Islamic fundamentalism is explored in the special which enters the world of Islam's young, fanatical followers. Who are these followers who kill and die for their religion? Why is the West the target of their hatred?

The Hizbollah, "the party of God," is the fanatical group behind the 1983 bombing of the American Marine base in Beirut and the TWA hijacking two years later. This group currently claims to hold 27 Westerners hostage in Beirut—including Terry Waite, the Archbishop of Canterbury's special envoy.

Some of these same hostages are the ones U.S. officials attempted to free when it negotiated an arms deal with Iran and initiated the Iran-contra affair.

Sword of Islam received an international Emmy for best documentary. The special is a production of Granada Television and presented by KCET/LOS Angeles.

Floyd Youth, 'Miracle Child'

The pediatric unit of the University of Kentucky's Chandler Medical Center is proud of what staff members like to refer to as their "miracle children." Patrick, 11-year-old son of Floyd County Clerk Carla Robinson Bolton, is one of them.

Born September 17, 1976, Patrick was, in all outward appearances, healthy. But he was treated for pneumonia only seven weeks later and physicians at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital detected a heart murmur.

At the time, the University of Kentucky was conducting a heart clinic at the Floyd County Health Department here and an examination revealed the possibility of aortic stenosis, a congenital defect in the aortic valve. Heart catheterization at the U.K. Med. Center confirmed the diagnosis.

"We were told he had a 20 percent chance to live with no surgery," Mrs. Bolton commented. Despite the inherent risk of surgery and the fact that the boy would undoubtedly face future operations, the choice seemed clear.

A metal valve replaced the defective one in an operation performed by Dr. Jacqueline Noonan, presently professor and chairman of pediatrics. The procedure was performed on December 17 at age three months, and the baby was home in a matter of days.

At age five, a second operation was required to provide for a larger valve to accommodate the normally growing and developing heart.

With a metal valve implant, patients must take blood thinners, and Patrick's tendency to bleed more easily than most children has been the primary concern in living with an artificial valve.

"But he rides his motorcycle and plays Junior Pro Basketball," said Mrs. Bolton, "and I just have to keep my fingers crossed and worry a lot."

There'll be one more surgery, according to Mrs. Bolton, again, to accommodate the constantly growing heart. Now, she said, Patrick will often tire easily since his development, blood and oxygen needs are beginning to outpace the capacity of the valve implanted six years ago. The next surgery, which may come in a couple of years, will give Patrick the size heart valve he'll need to allow him to function well through his adult life.

Carla Bolton credits the skill and quality of care at the pediatric unit with giving Patrick, who, himself, would like to enter the medical field some day, a second chance at pursuing a full and fulfilling life. "They really have been good," she commented.

Mrs. Bolton is a resident of Eastern and has another son, Steven, 13.

In an effort to enhance its programs, develop new clinical programs and provide support for research in pediatrics, the medical center will take part for the first time in the sixth annual Children's Miracle Network Telethon.

The telethon, sponsored by the Osmond Foundation, includes more than 150 hospitals in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Jamaica. It will be telecast from 9 p.m., this Saturday, to 6 p.m., Sunday on WLEX-TV (Channel 18), Lexington.

Dr. Joyce Attends Scientific Assembly

The Kentucky Academy of Family Physicians hosted its 37th Annual Scientific Assembly in Louisville May 11-14. Dr. Ellen Joyce of Banner, who works at Mud Creek Clinic, attended the meeting.

Dr. Joyce attended lectures and seminars that updated the most recent findings on the AIDS virus as well as on the treatment of elderly people. The results of a recent study point out that patients who suffer from Alzheimer's disease tend to live longer when cared for in nursing homes. Given a more structured environment for treatments and around-the-clock professional care, the patient experiences better health longer, provided the nursing home has a high standard of care, Joyce said. The conference also gave her the opportunity to review the newest drugs coming on the market.

Dr. Allan Halbert, from Martin, a District Director for the Kentucky Chapter of the American Academy of Family Physicians, participated in the Congress of Delegates the first day. The Kentucky chapter is headquarters in Louisville and is the state association representing the state's family doctors. The American Academy of Family Physicians is located in Kansas City, Missouri and was the pioneer among medical organizations in requiring its members to take continuing education. Its 55,000 members must complete 150 hours of mandatory continuing study every three years.

agreed to take measures to see that the mound is removed.

In concluding court business, a resolution was adopted to allow the Elkhorn Coal Corporation to move the road at Tackett Branch on Mud Creek. A company representative told court members that the change would not affect the few residents of the branch and that when work was completed the road would be restored to its original location.

Summer workers hired by the court include, Mike Auxier, Dwight Newsome, Rodney Ousley, John C. Patton, Robbie Click, Kenneth Lawson, Dwayne Dawson, Rodney Sparkman, Robyn Lynn Johnson, David A. Layne II, Krystal Chaffins, Cassandra Stone, Kimberly Osborne, Carolyn T. Layne and Trey Reed.

The next meeting of the Fiscal Court will be June 24 at 10 a.m.

Casting is crucial, and every year it means not just finding people for one musical but for a whole season; it means casting a core company of actors and actresses who have the range to play several character parts in the best tradition of summer stock. Finding the talent is largely the responsibility of Deaton, who this year attended the Southeastern Theatre Conference and Straw Hat Auditions in New York City to assemble his company. In all he considered 2,000 actors and selected 22. "The majority of the company comes from Kentucky," Deaton said. "We try to stay here in state as much as possible. Because it reflects. We also like to use as many local people as possible. If they're good enough they'll be hired. All things being equal we go for Kentucky actors."

Supporting Houghton as Dolly are: Jim Barber as Cornelius, Cliff Morts as Horace Vandergelder, and Tyne Firmin as Barnaby. Kristen Plumley is Minnie Fay; Mindy Davis is Irene Molloy; Misty Daniels, from Pikeville, is Ermengarde; and Dorothy Howard, from Prestonsburg, plays Ernestine Money.

Long time supporter of Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, Martin County Coal Corporation, is the 1988 sponsor of the production of HELLO, DOLLY! Besides private donations, this year the theatre will receive a Kentucky Arts Council Grant for $7,700, and though it operates independently of the state government, it has received a $30,000 grant from the state. Despite these grants and the generosity of its many friends, the theatre still has a sizeable debt and barely meets its cost. "It's always on a shoe string budget," Deaton said.

"Five minutes!" HELLO, DOLLY! is a pageant of colorful characters and colorful costumes. Jeffery Dill and Margaret Pyfrom are the costume designers. Dill is from Richmond, where he teaches at Eastern Kentucky University. Like everyone else, Dill and Pyfrom are limited by budget considerations. Some of their creations are made from scratch; others come from what's in the company's wardrobe or from clothes and gowns donated by local clothiers. "Special things we'll go ahead and build them," Dill said. "In Dolly, the director wants red vests for the waiters, so we had to go out and buy them." But whether bought specifically for a role or created, Pyfrom and Dill are still called on to alter and fit every costume worn. "Usually, we have our finger on everything we put out there," Dill said.

As important as the cast and director are, as important as the musical director and costume designers are, there's still no show without the production manager, Brad Waters, and stage manager, Cheryl Sabik. Bob Lott wears two hats as scenic designer and lighting designer. Scott Steel is the master technician. All have important jobs; all are pillars supporting the production.

HELLO, DOLLY! will be followed by THE JENNY WILEY STORY, WEST SIDE STORY, and THE 1940's RADIO HOUR.

"Places!"

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Dr. John William Sutherland, Jr., wish to express their most grateful appreciation to all their friends, neighbors and relatives who assisted us in so many ways during our saddest hours in the passing of our loved one. We especially thank Dr. Quentin Scholtz, minister of the First United Methodist Church, for his consoling words and comforting prayers. We also deeply appreciate the beautiful music by the church choir directed by Elizabeth Frazier and accompanied by David Banner Leslie and Ronna Yeager. We thank the ushers, the pallbearers and others who rendered services of any kind.

We would like to thank everyone who sent the delicious food and also greatly appreciate the lovely floral arrangements which added beauty to this sad occasion. Our expression of gratitude and appreciation to the Carter Funeral Home for its most kind and efficient services.

Ten Years Ago

(May 31, 1978)

The Zapata Corporation of Houston, Texas, announced last Wednesday that its subsidiary, Zapata Elkhorn, Inc., had completed the purchase of the Bebe Coal Corporation, of Harold, for approximately $10.9 million. An attack on a pony by what was described as some type of wild animal last Wednesday evening at Endicott has created a good deal of speculation and more than a little uneasiness among residents of that section. One man was killed and another critically wounded, early last Wednesday evening, in gun play at the Fraternal Order of Eagles Club here. Two leaders of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad will be honored next week upon their retirement from service as officers which began with the formation of the squad April 27, 1958. Retiring are Graham Burchett, captain, and James B. Goble, secretary-treasurer, two of the last five active charter members remaining with the squad. There died: Albert Salyers, 66, of the Smackey Bottom section of Hueysville, Friday, May 19, at Our Lady of The Way Hospital, Martin; Mrs. Dorcy Thornberry, 64, formerly of Knott county, last Thursday in a hospital in Middletown; James Robertson, Jr., 52, of Auxier, Wednesday, April 12, at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Mrs. Ocie Lafferty, 90, of Water Gap, Sunday at Mountain Manor Nursing Home here; Willie Lee Burchett, 82, of Prestonsburg, last Wednesday, May 24, at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Will R. Osborne, 68, of Weeksbury, last Friday at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington; Richard F. (Dick) Davis, 72, of Abbott Road, last Thursday at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington; James Leon Williamson, 51, formerly of Floyd county, Tuesday, May 23, in McHenry Hospital in McHenry, Ill.; Charles Jones, 73, of Weeksbury, at home Tuesday, May 23.

Twenty Years Ago

(May 30, 1968)

Disposal of solid wastes, which shortly will be required by law enacted at the 1968 General Assembly session, promises Prestonsburg and other communities their full share of headaches, Mayor George P. Archer said this week. The Prestonsburg Ministerial Association may be within a matter of two weeks of final approval of its rent-subsidy housing approval. County Court Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson this week made his sixth return of excess fees since his election to the office in 1962. McDowell high school's Daredevils won the 58th district baseball tournament May 17 by defeating Martin high in a 13-inning contest, 6-5. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Belcher, of Drift, a son, May 21; to Mr. and Mrs. Newton J. Daniels, of East McDowell, a son, May 22; to Mr. and Mrs. Gomer Johnson, of Bevinville, May 24. There died: Miss Myrtle Bailey, 40, Sunday at her home at Eastern; Mrs. Ann Banks Garrett, 64, of Water Gap, Saturday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Mrs. Maggie Roberts, 81, Wednesday at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home here; Millard Stevens, 63, of Betsy Layne, Sunday at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Thirty Years Ago

(May 29, 1958)

Work on the Prestonsburg flood protection project is expected to pick up next week but by Wednesday of this week the work, largely confined to cleanup operations, had almost "worked out" temporarily. Body of Reuben May, 61, of Langley, was found Sunday in the Kentucky river near Boonesboro. During the weeks' stay of a "street carnival" in Wayland, ending Saturday night, there were two dynamite blastings and at least two fights, in one of which two men were reportedly slashed by knives. Origin of much pollution of Big Sandy River by coal wastes is in Virginia, and conservationists there, as have Eastern Kentuckians, been wrestling with the problem for a long time, it was noted in a recent letter by County Judge E. J. Sutherland, of Dickenson county, to the Prestonsburg School children Recovery Committee. The McDowell Daredevils advanced to the finals of the Eastern Kentucky regional high school baseball tournament but lost an extra inning, 10-4 decision to the Ashland Tomcats. Married: Miss Lenora Wheeler, of Paintsville, and Mr. Rondall Hall Leslie, of Prestonsburg, May 24, at Paintsville. There died: Roby Hughes, 64, of Garrett, Friday at the McDowell Memorial Hospital.

Forty Years Ago

Prohibition forces, after years of fighting, completed a grand slam in all Eastern Kentucky at the stroke of midnight Monday. At that hour liquor sales became illegal in Pike county, last oasis in the district. Harry J. Sherman was named president of the Wayland Lions Club at its annual election of officers last Thursday evening. The Kentucky Tax Commission announced Saturday that it had made effective a blanket increase on Floyd county assessments along with those of 34 other counties. Although a full Dewey reservoir is a matter of several months distant, the diversion of Johns Creek through the outlet works tunnel to permit actual damming of the stream will within a few days create a miniature lake which will extend over bottom land on the R. L. Spradlin farm in the vicinity of the dam site, it was learned this week. The Mack Theatre, Floyd county's newest of several constructed after the war, will open at Allen Wednesday, it was announced this week. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Isaac, of Bevinville, a daughter, Sandra Kay, May 21; to Mr. and Mrs. Porter Spicer, of Betsy Layne, a son, John Porter, May 21; to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Isaac Thompson, of Lancer, a son, John Russell, May 23; to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lane, of Betsy Layne, a daughter, May 24 at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville. There died: B. F. Combs, 70, Prestonsburg attorney, Saturday at Huntington, W. Va.; Mrs. Belle Tuttle, 28, Sunday at her home at Minnie; Harold Rose, 23, of Estill, Sunday in an auto wreck in Lawrence county; Jack Moore, 58, Sunday at his home at Wheelwright; Mrs. Mary Bryant, 72, Sunday at the home of a son at Melvin.

Fifty Years Ago

(June 2, 1938)

Three shotgun blasts took the life of Ed Stapleton, 34, former Prestonsburg man, at Drift Sunday night. Meeting in special session here Monday the Floyd fiscal court again refused to make, for the present, an appropriation for the Floyd county health department which faces suspension July 1 due to lack of funds. In the gymnasium here, overflowing with approximately 1,200 persons, 175 Floyd high school seniors from 11 county high schools were graduated in Floyd's second annual countywide commencement exercises Tuesday night. Uncle Jeff Crider, about 62 years old, who lives within one mile of German, walked 10 miles to Prestonsburg and 10 miles back home last Friday, bringing with him his 18-year-old daughter on her first visit to town since she was about seven or eight years of age, he said. Meeting in special session here Monday the Floyd fiscal court again refused to make, for the present, an appropriation for the Floyd county health department which faces suspension July 1 due to lack of funds. To pay for an electric light meter in the W.P.A. recreation building on Front street, a square dance will be held Saturday night in the high school building. Admission is 25 cents. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Ratliff, a son, May 30 at their home at Lancer. There died: Ira Robinette, 20, of Tram, Wednesday at the Gearheart Hospital; Mrs. Aletha Hays, 78, Monday at the home of her daughter at Martin; Mrs. Byrd Walker, 38, Saturday at her home on Brandy Keg; Mrs. Mary Burchett, 83, Saturday at the home of a son at Pikeville.

Bits & Pieces

THEY CAN HAVE IT

An article in a recent Sunday edition of the Lexington-Herald implies that Hilton Head, S. C., a resort island, has been discovered almost exclusively by Central Kentuckians.

Forget it.

More than 20 years ago, Tom and Gwen Dingus told us about it. This was when it was unspoiled by condominiums, fast food restaurants, and the like.

I loved it then. You could walk for miles on the beach and feel as if you owned it. There weren't many people around, and those who were had dogs—strictly forbidden, but ignored. It was wonderful.

We haven't been back since they started building condominiums in the residential section of Sea Pines.

I somehow doubt there are as many deer, raccoons, groundhogs, or painted buntings as there used to be.

While the men were playing golf all day nearly every day, my thing was watching the painted buntings whose brilliant plumage always seemed unreal; a family of raccoons who pretty much ruled the roost; the biggest, fattest groundhog I've ever seen who roamed where and as he wanted; and those superb gymnasts, the squirrels, cavorting from tree to tree. Sometimes, when you returned 'home' at night, you would be surprised by a deer blocking the road while his family crossed safely.

I would love to go back to Hilton Head the way it was, but not now.

Central Kentucky, you didn't discover it, but you can have it.

RAINMAKERS—

When the poppies bloom, it rains. For almost 30 years, I have found this to hold true. Perhaps there has been an exception, but I expect a downpour when my oriental poppy blooms, and I have rarely been disappointed. Last Tuesday's all-day deluge is a case in point, and just when we needed it badly.

My aunt says they only had a shower on Salt Lick. Maybe I should get her a poppy.

SEASON OF ROSES

I know, I know. You're no doubt tired of hearing about roses, but surely even the most jaded, sophisticated, and worldly must still find a rose a thing of beauty. This year, they are glorious.

It must be a perfect spring for roses. My Blaze is outdoing itself; the yearling, Dame de Couer, is even lovelier than I expected, and I always have great expectations. It is wonderful to find my optimism is not always unfounded. Then, Senior Prom is unbelievable this year, and Tropicana has come forth with only one perfect offering, but it is perfect. Sonja is a little tardy, but Frensham is making up for that, and even my unknown rose that only blooms when it pleases and not too often, is in full spate. Don Juan is dark and handsome, and never, ever forget my old fashioned rose, Mary Ellis, which I intend to call the Smithsonian about. It is lovely and will stay that way until the next hard frost. You can't expect a nicer bounty than that.

VICA President

Ottis Hamilton, representative of Mayo State Vocational Technical School in the Kentucky State Skill Olympics, has been elected president of the Post-Secondary division of VICA. "It's been about 10 years since eastern Kentucky has had a state VICA president, so this should be a source of pride for all of us," said VICA advisor Linda Lyon.

Mayo VICA Club sent 16 representatives to Lexington, May 18-21, to compete in the Ky. State Skill Olympics and brought home various honors:

David Conley won the first place gold medal in Mine Maintenance; Kenneth Smith took a second place silver medal in Air Conditioning; Joseph Endicott placed second in Welding and Barry Abshire placed third in carpentry.

Hamilton is a native of Big Mud Creek in this county. He attended Betsy Layne High School and Garth Area Vocational School before going to Mayo SVTS as a diesel mechanics student. He is the son of the late Jonas Hamilton and Dina Hamilton.

Betsy Layne Woman Wounded In Fray

By Tim Sizemore

A dispute between an estranged husband and wife resulted in the wounding of a beauty shop proprietor last Wednesday in her place of business at Betsy Layne.

Beata Fawn Clark, 29, who runs California Cuts, suffered minor wounds to her head and back after James G. Chaffins, 34, of Betsy Layne entered the shop armed with a 12-gauge shotgun and allegedly attempted to shoot at his wife, Edie.

According to state police, Chaffins' wife fled toward the shop's back door while Beata Clark attempted to leave through the front entrance and was wounded in the confusion.

Chaffins was charged with first degree assault and is lodged in the Floyd County jail under a $25,000 bond.

There's nothing new under the sun. Fossils found in Australia show that photosynthesis has been going on a lot longer than scientists once thought—about 700 million years longer! According to International Wildlife magazine, the new fossil evidence indicates that blue-green algae were producing oxygen through photosynthesis 3.5 billion years ago. That's just one billion years after the earth was formed.

Airport Schedules Open House Although Access Woes Persist

By Paul N. Allen

Raymond Bradbury, acting chairman, of the Big Sandy Regional Airport, announced this week a public open house at the regional airport facility, June 11-12.

A news release, announcing the open house activity, described the two-day event as "providing an opportunity for everyone in the four-county region of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties to visit and see first-hand the completed airport and facility."

Completed, the airport is. In fact, the facility was officially dedicated in 1985. But no one seems to be sure just how "open" it is.

On property donated by a Martin county coal company, access is limited by a company gate and guardpost and entry remains by special permission only. The news release did state that "open access to the airport is available to the public for the open house," it should be pointed out.

Announcement of the public invitation to the airport coincided with an interview conducted this week with Gustave E. LaFontaine, executive director of the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet's Office of Aeronautics.

To reports that an independent mail transport service had used the airport's 5,000-ft. runway to land a 727 jet aircraft, LaFontaine, who expressed doubt concerning whether such use of the field had ever taken place, pointed out that such use is not illegal and "can be done without filing a flight plan." He said, however, that the advisability of landing such a large aircraft pertains to the weight of the airplane, temperature and a number of other factors.

LaFontaine reiterated the primary holdup in the opening of the airport for public use by calling KY 3 which will skirt the mountaintop site, in Martin county the "driving force" in the situation. As the Federal Aeronautics Administration (FAA) does not fund access roads, he said, "this road has been left in a state of limbo pending the final completion of Route 3."

"When highway monies are available, the situation will be resolved," he explained.

The airport is "technically" open, LaFontaine said, although ingress and egress to the public remains restricted. He said, however, that "Mr. Bradbury and the airport board have made considerable movement in the past weeks."

LaFontaine called the multi-million dollar facility a "proverbial gold mine of possibilities," and said "there is unbelievable potential if the planners and dreamers put forth the right efforts."

The aeronautics official said the airport can handle a metroliner with ease, a DC-9, and, even, a 727.

The new hanger and administration building is finished and ready for occupancy by the fixed base operator and the building will be open to the public during the open house activities. Efforts are under way to provide a static air display on the airport ramp and invitations are being extended to aviation clubs in Kentucky as well as to the Civil Air Patrol to fly in for the occasion.

The Big Sandy Regional Airport can be reached by traveling north on KY 3 from Jenny Wiley State Park. The access road to the airport is also the entrance to the Enoxy Coal Company property which is located 11 miles south of Inez and eight miles north of Dewey Dam.

MANY PEARLS

Virtuoso pianist Andre Watts and acclaimed mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade join John Williams and the Boston Pops Orchestra when the series begins its 19th season June 18 ("Pop Goes to the Circus," a program from an earlier season, encores June 11).

Five other programs are new to this season's Pops lineup. They are: "The Smothers Brothers," "Tommy Tune, The Manhattan Rhythm Kings, and the American Ballroom Dance Theatre," "Sammy Davis Jr. and Tamara Smirnova-Sajfar," "Dionne Warwick," and "Perry Como and Byron Stripling." Evening At Pops is produced by WGBH/Boston.

Drought Threatens All State Sections

With all areas of the state already in some stage of drought, the Kentucky Drought Monitoring Task Force warned that many Kentucky communities will run short of water this summer. Task Force members are water resource scientists who meet monthly to review precipitation, streamflow, reservoir levels and the Palmer Drought Index.

The driest part of the state is the Bluegrass area. Using the Palmer Index, the National Weather Service has rated the Bluegrass area in severe drought for the last nine months. Lexington was 4.6 inches short of rain for 1988, as of May 15. During the last five years Lexington's rainfall has been about 40 inches below normal, the equivalent of one whole year's precipitation.

Eastern Kentucky is in a mild drought, according to the Palmer Index. However, Berea and Somerset were more than eight inches short of normal rainfall on April 30.

The Palmer Index shows western and central Kentucky in a moderate drought. The central area has been in moderate drought for most of the past nine months, with a brief respite in March.

The agencies represented on the task force are acting to lessen the impact of possible continued drought. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers began filling many reservoirs earlier than usual to reach normal summer levels. Disaster and Emergency Services is working with a seven-state task force organized by the Tennessee Valley Authority to prepare for a coordinated drought response. The Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection is again urging communities to use the Kentucky Water Shortage Response Plan. Prepared by the department two years ago, the plan gives step-by-step guidelines for coping with water shortages.

"The plan gives valuable advice on how to get citizens involved in conserving water before the shortage crisis hits," said Department for Environmental Protection Commissioner Dr. James Corum.

A MOTORCYCLE CRASH, Monday night on the sharp curve at the entrance to the skylift at Jenny Wiley State Park resulted in injuries to William Marcum, 31, of Louisa. A spokesman for the Floyd County Sheriff's Department said the mishap occurred when a car driven by Bobby Pennington apparently pulled out in front of the motorcyclist who was rounding the curve on the Lake Road. Marcum remained, Tuesday, in a Lexington hospital. Deputy Sheriff Roy Blackburn is shown in photo.

Every dog has its day. And winter is the time for Sirius, the "Dog Star." According to Ranger Rick magazine, Sirius is one of the stars closest to Earth, making it the brightest in the winter sky. It's also hotter and bigger than any of the other close stars. Sirius is part of the constellation called the "Big Dog," or Canis Major. Both are visible from November until mid-May.

Auxier Holds Founder's Day

Richard Thomas and his mother, Grace Thomas were guests of honor at Auxier's Founder's Day activities.

By Tim Sizemore

It was fun and games for the whole family Saturday at Auxier, as the first annual Founders Day Celebration proved a success.

A dunking pool, games for all ages, a parade, or just visiting with old friends were all a part of the day.

The celebration was sponsored by the Auxier Historical Society, whose goal is to restore and preserve the history of Auxier and the surrounding area.

Guests of honor at the celebration included Richard Thomas, father of actor, Richard Thomas, who is widely known for his role as "John Boy" on the Waltons, and the actor's grandmother, Grace Thomas, who is a granddaughter of Richard C. Thomas, founder of the mining community.

Richard Thomas, formerly of Paintsville, now lives in New York City and is active in the performing arts. "I love to come home and visit with friends and family," Thomas said, adding that he felt equally comfortable in New York or Eastern Kentucky. Thomas has lived in New York City for 45 years and says he enjoys the theatre and museums the city offers.

In the parade held Saturday afternoon, Carla "Robinson" Bolton served as grandmarshal and Constable Morgan Joseph led the procession.

The celebration offered a variety of entertainment such as a beauty pageant, a talent show, which was held earlier in the month, and "down home" music. Good food, ranging from home cooking to hot dogs, was available, and many handmade crafts were exhibited.

A display by Vietnam veterans, consisting of a sandbagged foxhole with different armaments and paraphernalia from the Vietnam war era, served as a reminder of that conflict.

The historical society plans another celebration next year and those interested may contact: The Mary Luck Building, Railroad Street, Box 409, Auxier, Kentucky 41602.

Restraining Order Is Issued Against Prestonsburg Firm

By Paul N. Allen

Legal woes continue to plague the Prestonsburg manufacturing firm of Weddington-Tucker, Inc. as it was learned this week that a temporary restraining order had been issued against the company following a complaint by the U. S. Department of Labor.

The company, which makes children's apparel under the name, Mountain Laurel, was ordered by U. S. District Judge Eugene Siler to halt shipments because the firm has failed to meet its payroll for two pay periods.

Jim Karn, a compliance specialist with the Department of Labor, said Friday in an affidavit that Weddington-Tucker and its owner, Prestonsburg native Lynn Weddington-Tucker, had failed to meet the May 1-14 payroll.

"Because of such failures," he said, "approximately 40 employees are due approximately $10,000 in unpaid wages."

In addition, employees had been told this week that payroll due June 3 for work done, May 15-28, would not be met, Karn said.

Mrs. Weddington-Tucker, for the past several years a resident of New York, began the operation as a cottage industry a number of years ago employing area women who worked in their homes. In November, her enterprise expanded from a cottage industry to a manufacturing operation after procuring factory space in a West Prestonsburg warehouse owned by the Christian Appalachian Project.

Earlier this spring, the company was named in a lawsuit filed by the U.S. Department of Labor in U. S. District Court at Pikeville which charged the firm with violating several provisions of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

EKU To Host '88 Special Olympics

Eastern Kentucky University and the city of Richmond will host the 1988 Kentucky Special Olympics Summer Games, June 3, 4 and 5.

The games will bring more than 2,500 children and adults who suffer mental retardation into Olympic-style competition. More than 600 coaches, 300 families and 1,500 volunteers will also participate in the state-wide summer games.

EKU and Richmond will also host the 1989 summer games.

"We're looking forward to having the 1988 and 1989 Kentucky Special Olympics on the ECU campus in Richmond," said Dave Kerchner, executive director of the Kentucky Special Olympics.

The Kentucky Bankers Association and member banks will serve as a premiere sponsor of the 1988 games.

Kentucky Special Olympics is a program of physical fitness, sports training, recreation, and athletic competition for children and adults who are mentally handicapped.

Special Olympics, which was established by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation, provides for competitors at all ability levels by assigning them to competitive divisions based on both age and actual performance.

The event has become the largest program of sports training and athletic competition for children and adults with mental retardation in the world.

Maker Of 'Matewan' Reviews Mining Book

By John Sayles

History is a picture filtered through the lenses of time, language and point of view. The history of the moment of the daily headline, has immediacy and heat but can often lack the depth and accumulation of detail a later look can provide. Language can alter the perception of an incident without altering the facts, can turn "striking workers" into "unemployed rioters" and back again with a brushstroke. As for point of view, accounts of an event vary not only with the witnesses' physical perception of the instant but also their political and philosophical perception of the world and of human nature itself. History is a tricky story that depends on who is telling it and where they're coming from.

If first heard stories of the coal wars of the 20s, of the Matewan Massacre and the Battle of Blair Mountain, by word of mouth from coal miners and their relatives as I hitchhiked through West Virginia. Some years later I wrote a screenplay for a movie called "Matewan," based on what I'd heard and what little I could find that was written about it. Most of this came from people on one side or the other of the union struggle, people who were there in the thick of the fight and chose their words as weapons in a battle still raging. But as history usually belongs to the winners, and the story of the coal wars is largely that of people who lost and continue to lose, it was a story more often told in ballads and folktales than in the pages of library books.

As we began shooting the movie, we discovered Lon Savage's THUNDER IN THE MOUNTAINS. For the first time I felt there was someone with a feel for the people and place who had gone out and done the legwork, had tracked down the stray bits of story, poked and probed at what was already on the record and dug up whatever new information was available. Savage recognizes that if history is a mirror it is a broken one, not one perception of the truth but hundreds of them, odd-shaped fragments of memory that must all be examined to form some kind of coherent story. The story Lon Savage tells is a dramatic and important one, as much part of our heritage as that of the Alamo or Gettysburg or the winning of the West. It is the story of people who pulled a hard living from a hard land, people who lived under the heel of power and who finally could be pushed only so far.

One of the questions that led me to this story was that of political violence. Though the Battle of Blair Mountain ended in a tactical and political defeat for the miners who took up arms there, the psychological victory of those violent days may have been more important. When a colonized people learn they can fight back together, life can never again be so comfortable for their exploiters. And if people's deeds last beyond their lives, it is partly through the stories we tell about them. With THUNDER IN THE MOUNTAINS, Lon Savage helps give shape to those lives, to those times, and brings us a story too long untold.

BOOKS AND THINGS

By: TRISHA MORRIS, Librarian, Prestonsburg Community College

The term "herbology" derives from the Latin "herba" or grass, and the Greek "logos" or description. The description of the herbs, shrubs, and trees and other plants used in healing has been the work of innumerable cultures spanning thousands of years. The following books from the P.C.C. library are a sample of professionals striving to organize the knowledge which has been handed down from culture to culture and from generation to generation.

Potters New Cyclopaedia of Medicinal Herbs

By: R.W. Wren

Anyone interested in the natural art of curing ailments by the use of herbs, roots, barks and seeds and the preparations made from them will find this re-edited and expanded edition of "Potters Cyclopaedia" very interesting. It brings together valuable information which was scattered throughout botanical and medical literature and thus supplies a reference book for the field. Complemented with illustrations, the book is presented in encyclopedic form. Each entry is described by synonyms, habitat, physical description, part used for medicinal purposes, medicinal uses and preparation. Its indexes and appendixes adds helpful information and provides a cross reference for research work. The book is very easy to use.

Narcotic Plants

By: William Emboden

Before men had synthetic chemicals to cure his ailments he used herbs and before he had synthetic chemicals to alter his mind he used herbs. There are many books which chronicle the herbs used for medicinal purposes, culinary pleasure and even beauty preparations—this is one of the few books which deals systematically with herbs used for narcotic purposes. There is evidence that the earliest civilizations made use of various plants for their medicinal, hallucinogenic, stimulating, inebriating or tranquilizing properties. They used them in magio-religious contexts: foretelling the future, communicating with the deceased, receiving inspiration from the gods or transcending the rigors of a harsh environment. Dr. Emboden has written a historical, botanical and chemical account of these plants. From nutmeg to peyote and from thornapples to ginseng—each plant is presented with its history and its various uses. A well researched book, the many color illustrations and the through index adds to its usefulness.

Chinese Herbs

By: John Keys

This is an excellent and scholarly insight into the most practical aspects of the herbal lore of China. It has selected for discussion those herbal medications which have become best known to the Western world. The monographs are arranged by generic plant name, class, subclass, order and family with an index citation under the common name. Included is a list of prescriptions taken from Chinese medical books arranged by ailment. An interesting look at another culture's use of its natural resources.

Folk Medicine and Herbal Healing

By: George Meyer

Printed in 1981, this text was an effort to present to the student and the interested layman the current status of folk healing and herbal medicine. In the first section Dr. Meyer presents a synthesis of folk medicine, religion and science; the second section examines the possibilities for partnership between folk healers and health professionals; the third section considers specific anecdotes of folk healing within ethnic groups in the United States and the final section presents scientific perspectives on the increased interest in plants as a part of the folk healing practices. A well researched book it can be easily used in sections for certain information or completely as an exhaustive study of the field.

Plant Drugs that Changed the World

By: Norman Taylor

Country lore tells of the many treasures nature has secreted in the roots, stems, bark, juice, leaves, flowers, fruit and seeds of plants. Many of them have been proven worthless and a few have hatched a spate of fantastic quackery, but some are now worldwide remedies. Where such plants were found, who first used them and how they reached us is the fascinating history this book presents.

Green Pharmacy

By: Barbara Griggs

The nutritional value and health safety of using plants as drugs has occupied the minds of humankind for millennia. The "Back to Nature" movement has spurred peoples throughout the world to look for alternatives that may be perhaps less effective but may have less or no side effects as synthetic drugs.

Beginning with the finding that Neanderthal man used several species of plants as medicines more than 50,000 years ago, Ms. Griggs skillfully takes the reader on a journey through time bringing him into contact with those events that have shaped the course of medicine and pharmacy up to the present time. Barbara Griggs has written an account which will be of interest to all those who wish to gain a keener insight into the trail and tribulations, pitfalls and rewards, and the history and future of drug therapy from the plants of nature.

Yesterday in the Hills

By: Floyd Watkins

This is a charming, sometimes bawdy, narrative of life in the Georgia hills. It is the story of field work, farm animals and remedies not found in modern drug-stores. A time when most families grew catnip, hoarhound, calamus and many other medicinal herbs in one corner of their garden. Herbs were the chief source for remedies and cures and most hillmen knew by name hundreds of plants, flowers, weeds and bushes which they believed possessed marvelous disease-killing properties. A well-told tale with first hand narratives of home cures and superstitions surrounding herbs.

Steven Casey Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rogers, of Betsy Layne, celebrated his first birthday, Tuesday, May 10, at his home.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hamilton, of Betsy Layne, and Mr. and Mrs. K.C. Rogers, of Harold.

Floyd Library Joins Ky. Library Network

Terry L. Manuel, Director of the Floyd County Public Library announced Friday that the Floyd County Public Library had been accepted for membership in the Kentucky Library Network, Inc. The purpose of KLN, formed in July of 1985 as a nonprofit corporation under Kentucky statutes, is to promote and develop cooperation among all types of libraries.

Manuel will represent the Floyd County Library at KLN's membership meetings. He will participate in the governance of the policies of the self-governing corporation.

The emergence of networking is one of the most notable developments in the history of libraries. One of the factors contributing to the growth of networks is the steadily increasing demand for books and other information sources in the face of reduced library budgets. Another is recent improvement in computer and telecommunications technology which enables more efficient linkage among member libraries.

As KLN attracts member libraries which contribute their records of books and periodicals to the network's union database, the Floyd County Library's patrons will have access to a wide range of information sources in libraries throughout the state. Over 2,000,000 volumes have already been committed to the network by a nucleus of public and academic libraries.

Statement Concerning Overnight Clarified

Due to a reporting error, a story on McDowell High School's investment club in the May 11 edition of The Times, carried a statement without basis.

Overnite Transportation was not a company "that was going under," as stated in the story. It was simply the object of a takeover bid due to its value and long history of successful operation, and was subsequently sold to the country's largest carrier, the Union Pacific Corporation.

In fact, said Danny Rowe, Overnite terminal manager here, $1.2 billion was involved in the "friendly" takeover, and he added, "They don't pay that kind of money for a company that's going out of business."

Overnite employs 27 at its terminal here.

NSDAR MEET HELD

The regular monthly meeting of John Graham Chapter, NSDAR was held Monday, May 9, at 3:30 p.m., at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, with the regent, Mrs. Carl R. Horn, presiding.

The DAR rituals were led by the chaplain, Mrs. J.G. Stepp, the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag by Mrs. Olga A. Preston, and the American's Creed by the regent, Mrs. Horn.

Members present for roll-call were: Mesdames Eleanor Horn, Margaret Collins, Pamela Wohlford, Opal S. May, Virginia S. Goble, Olga A. Preston, Norma S. Stepp, Frances Brackett, and Mae Kendrick.

Mrs. Virginia Goble, registrar, announced that the application papers for Mrs. Minnie Grace Sutherland and Mrs. Fannie Runnels had been approved by the NSDAR office of the Registrar, Washington, D.C. Both joined Johns Graham Chapter under their Revolutionary ancestor, John Hancock, whose wife was Elizabeth Maddox.

Mrs. Ray Brackett announced that the reception honoring Mrs. Martin F. Thompson, KSDAR state regent, of Danville, Ky., and Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, KSDAR organizing secretary, of Prestonsburg, will be held Saturday, September 17, from 2-4 p.m., at the home of the regent's daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Wells, of the Auxier Road, Paintsville's Harman Station Chapter DAR will also serve as hostesses.

During the business session, members paused to sing "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Frank Preston and Mrs. Mae Kendrick.

A donation was made to the First United Methodist Church, of Prestonsburg, in memory of Dr. John W. Sutherland, son of a member, Mrs. Minnie Grace Sutherland, and nephew of members, Mrs. Fannie Runnels and Miss Alice Harris.

Mrs. Virginia Goble, guest speaker, and delegate to the Ninety-Seventh Continental Congress, which convened April 17-22, in Washington, D.C., told the group that she traveled to Washington on the Kentucky D.A.R. bus, and that, while there, she and D.A.R. delegates and members attended services at Arlington National Cemetery, visited the Vietnam Memorial, where NSDAR President General Mrs. Gordon F. Fleck, placed a wreath in honor of the deceased soldiers. Mrs. Goble was a member of a White House tour, which included concerts played by military bands, and DAR-sponsored concerts from the Kate Duncan School. They attended the memorial service in Constitution Hall for 131 deceased Kentucky members four of whom were from the John Graham Chapter. Mrs. Goble served as both NSDAR corridor hostess and hostess for the Kentucky-Ohio reception held at the Capital Hilton Ballroom. She presented to the regent, Mrs. Carl Horn, certificates earned by John Graham Chapter including the KSDAR Honor Roll and the program book.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, June 14, at May Lodge, at noon, with Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, presenting the program entitled, "Flag Day So Established in the USA." All members are urged to attend, and to bring one invited guest.

MSU Appalachian Fest Scheduled June 19-25

Art lovers, mark your calendars for Morehead State University's 12th annual Appalachian Celebration, June 19-25.

The Celebration, MSU's summer festival, coordinated by the Office of Regional Development Services, features traditional music, dance, storytelling, poetry, arts and crafts of Appalachia.

Celebration '88 kicks off with an opening reception, Sunday, June 19, 6:30-8:30 p.m., in the gallery of the Claypool-Young Art Building, co-sponsored by MSU's Department of Art and Alumni Association.

The evening includes a special presentation of the first annual "Appalachian Treasure" award. The award was created to recognize unique individuals whose dedication to preserving and promoting Appalachian culture typifies the spirit of the region. The first recipient of the award will be presented a hand-crafted rocking chair.

The MSU Folk Art Collection is another highlight for opening reception guests and celebration-goers to see and enjoy. The collection, a permanent display that showcases the work being created by today's regional folk artists, features quilts, carvings, pottery, paintings and more, illustrating the inventiveness of Appalachian culture. An art exhibition entitled "Images from the Mountains" includes works by established and emerging Appalachian artists and is on display in the lower level gallery. A biblical quilt exhibit will be featured in the Strider Gallery. Opening reception guests can also enjoy catered hors d'oeuvres with an Appalachian flair and mountain music by the White Horse String Band.

Other celebration '88 activities presented by MSU's Department of Art are workshops in basket making and watercolor painting, Wednesday-Friday, June 22-24, 1:30-3:30 p.m. at a cost of $10 per day. Celebration artists-in-residence will demonstrate weaving and spinning, wood carving, furniture making and more each weekday in front of the art building.

More information regarding Appalachian Celebration art activities or to register for workshops is available by contacting Tom Sternal, MSU Art Dept., Morehead, Ky. 40351, (606)783-2766.

Norton Cancer Unit Is Now Consolidated

The renovated 28-bed hematology-oncology unit at Louisville's Norton Hospital opened at its new fourth floor location, May 31.

The consolidated unit brings together facilities and personnel which had been housed on three separate floors. Bringing cancer patients together helps the medical staff provide better care and offers a setting in which patients and their families can share feelings with others who face similar challenges.

All patient rooms in the T-shaped unit are private and visiting hours are unrestricted. The staff is available around the clock to talk with patients and families about their concerns or to just listen. And a bi-weekly buffet supper is held on the unit for patients, families, and staff, offering a break in hospital routine.

The unit includes four radiation/isolation beds, a large treatment room, outdoor patio, family lounge, and a physician conference room.

The Norton oncology program also includes ongoing services—oncology certified nurses, enterostomal nurse, team, clinical dietitians, physical therapists, chaplains, discharge planners, family support group, and multidisciplinary group.

Leonard A. Green, chairman of the National Wildlife Federation (NWF), has announced his selections for the 1987 Chairman's Awards. The 1987 awards recognize the achievements of 25 conservation clubs around the country which are members of NWF state affiliate organizations.

Among the clubs honored is the Northeastern Kentucky Fish & Game Association of Ashland. The Northeastern Kentucky Fish & Game Association has been active with many conservation projects: planting three acres of wildlife food plots, constructing and placing over 100 wood duck nesting boxes, and building and distributing over 200 blue bird nesting boxes. The Association regularly schedules archery and rifle hunter safety courses, sponsors 10 underprivileged children at conservation camp each summer, and assists with wild turkey, deer, trout, and quail stocking.

"We are proud to have these clubs representing the National Wildlife Federation at the grassroots level," Green said about the 1987 award winners. "They are furthering the cause of conservation in innumerable and important ways."

The awards are being given to local clubs from 24 states and one territory for their outstanding accomplishments in such areas as leadership, membership and conservation projects, responses to current conservation issues, and youth programs.

Each award winner will each receive a plaque presented by the NWF state affiliate at a special ceremony in the club's home town.

High rises: Weaver ants of Asian, African and Australian rain forests build giant leafy nests in trees more than 50 feet above the ground. According to Ranger Rick magazine, the nests help protect the ant colonies from enemies as well as from rain and strong winds. Some colonies have over a half million ants living in over 150 nests. And some nests may spread over more than 20 tree tops.

Farm Bureau Awards Lexington Reporter

Dan Dickson, anchor/reporter for WKYT-TV, Lexington has been named recipient of Kentucky Farm Bureau's communications award for a broadcaster.

Dickson received the award at the annual convention of the Kentucky Broadcasters Association (KBA) at the Brown Hotel in Louisville.

The Farm Bureau communications award, which consists of an engraved plaque and $200 cash, has been presented annually since 1960 to a broadcaster who has done exceptional work in building better farm-city relations. A similar award is given each year to a writer.

Dickson received the award for work in the past year as a reporter and news anchor, and especially for his writing and production of a three-part news series on migrant workers called "Bitter Harvest." The series focused on the nearby community of Winchester, and local concern, fear and resistance to the use of migrant labor at a new large-scale vegetable production operation in the county.

The reports examined all sides of the issues, featuring interviews and comments with concerned local residents, farm managers both in Clark County and the farm's parent company in Tifton, Georgia and with the migrant workers themselves.

Dickson and his wife Faith live in Lexington with their three children Lindsey, Evan and Casey.

Teacher Appreciation Day at ACHS

Darren Conn, Student Council president, presented Mack Martin a plaque and engraved pewter cup for special recognition on Teacher Appreciation Day at Allen Central High School, May 3. Mr. Martin was recognized for his work both inside and outside his classroom and for the many inspirational artistic works which beautify the buildings at ACHS. His present artistic work is a gigantic unity circle mural which contains mascots of all the former high schools which were consolidated into Allen Central. (The mural was suggested by Lowell Martin at ACHS.)

A tribute ceremony to honor all teachers and administrators at ACHS was hosted by the student body in appreciation of teachers hard work and dedication to teaching. First, Student Council representatives escorted individual teachers onto the gym floor where they sat for the program. At the beginning of the program, Darren Conn presented a plaque to Don Daniels, principal, for his ongoing belief in the students. Having received this recognition, Mr. Daniels addressed opening remarks to the students and to the faculty saying "You people are fortunate, because you have some of the best teachers in the whole country."

Following these remarks, a song, "The Greatest Love of All", was presented by Jerrinell Martin, Jenny Gibson, and Tammy Jenkins who were accompanied by pianists, Doris Conn and Valerie Mosley.

Then, the program continued with individual teachers being called forward by Lynn Meade, Student Council secretary, and Michelle Floyd, Student Council vice-president, to receive individual framed pictures, "action shots" of themselves in their classrooms. Kyle Newman, Student Council treasurer, acted as master of ceremonies.

Assisting the Student Council with preparation for this program were Paty Murphy and Patricia Watson, Student Council advisors.

Except For Cheese, Commodities Increase

Kentucky will receive extra shipments of some food items under the federal surplus commodities program during the next two months, but, as was previously announced, cheese will not be on the menu.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has notified Kentucky officials that there will be surplus butter, cornmeal, flour and nonfat dry milk for eligible recipients in June and July. At the same time, the state will receive twice the usual allotments of cornmeal and flour in July.

"The extra commodities became available when some states turned down their allocations," said Commissioner Mike Robinson, whose Department for Social Insurance administers the surplus commodities program in Kentucky.

"When the USDA notified us that the additional cornmeal and flour would be available, we readily accepted the offer because of the reductions that have occurred among the other commodities," he said.

Late last year, federal officials began expressing uncertainty about the future availability of nonfat dry milk and cheese because of the shrinking federal surplus of dairy products. "We learned in March that surplus cheese would be doubtful after May," Robinson said. "Now we know that we won't have any cheese in June or July, but that we will be getting nonfat dry milk for those two months. The nonfat dry milk and the doubling of the volume of cornmeal and flour will take some of the edge off the loss of surplus cheese and allow more commodities to reach Kentuckians who use them to supplement their food supply."

In most cases, regular distribution of the commodities to more than 202,000 Kentucky households is handled by local area development districts or community action agencies.

Distribution schedules are set by the regional agencies with most occurring monthly or bi-monthly.

"Next to the originator of a good sentence is the first quoter of it."
 Emerson

Receiving an honor certificate was Kitty Moore, daughter of Wendell and Jackie Martin, of Hi Hat. She is a radio-television major.

Appalachian Family Folk Week At Hindman Settlement School

Traditional Appalachian music, dance, crafts, storytelling, instrument playing, and evening concerts open free to the public will all be a part of the 11th Annual Appalachian Family Folk Week to be held at the Hindman Settlement School in Hindman, Kentucky, June 5-11. "Folk Week" is designed for both individuals and families to come and share a week of old-time recreation and entertainment.

Featured musicians on staff this year include Tom Bledsoe and Rich Kirby, Comer and Deborraha Mullins, Lee Sexton and Marion Sumner, Edna Ritchie Baker and Jean Ritchie. Jean Ritchie, a native of Viper, Kentucky, is one of the most important traditional musicians in the United States today. A singer, composer, recording artist and author, she has appeared in concerts all around the world. Jean's singing captures the heart of everyone who loves the Appalachian mountains and its people. She will lead the group singing each morning of Folk Week and will perform in concert with her sister, Edna Ritchie Baker, on Thursday evening, June 9.

Tom Bledsoe and Rich Kirby will lead folk dancing for adults and children during the week and on Tuesday evening. Tom is an accomplished storyteller and folk dance caller. Rich plays a variety of instruments among them the banjo, fiddle, mandolin, guitar, harmonica, and jaw harp. Rich and Tom will also perform in concert, on Tuesday, June 7 of the week. They will be joined by one of the most dynamic talents in this area, Andrena Belcher, who will be in charge of storytelling for the week.

Comer and Deborraha Mullins of Arkansas will be performing on Wednesday evening, June 8. Comer is originally from Sassafras in Perry County. He and his wife are both very accomplished musicians. They are on staff for the entire week.

Throughout the week there will be sessions on the banjo, fiddle, guitar, and the dulcimer. In the crafts area, classes will be offered in weaving, cornshuck doll making, basketmaking and pottery.

John McCutcheon will be returning for a Monday evening concert, June 6. He is one of the most exciting traditional musicians playing today. The Friday evening concert, June 10, will feature local musicians, Lee Sexton and Marion Sumner and Phil Jamison, musician and clogger. Other staff for the week are: Angelyn DeBord, of Roadside Theatre, who coordinates the children's activities; Catherine Rubin, weaver; Eleanor Greenleaf, hammered dulcimer player; Orville and Colleen Messer, basketmakers; and Mike Ware, potter.

Since Folk Week is for the entire family, special activities are planned for the children ages 4-12. In addition to the many scheduled events for adults and children participants, there will be available a large playing field, a swimming pool, and hiking opportunities.

For more information about the Appalachian Family Folk Week write or call the Hindman Settlement School, Forks of Troublesome Creek, Hindman, Kentucky 41822, 606-785-5475.

★ Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: My father is being discharged from the hospital next week to stay with me and my husband. The doctors have said there is nothing more they can do to treat his lung cancer, so I guess he is coming home to die. I just don't know how I'm going to handle it. I'm worried not only about his physical needs but also about the strain that it's going to put on me and my family. Is there anybody who can help?

ANSWER: Caring for a loved one who is terminally ill is a very difficult thing for most people to do, but can also be a rewarding experience. There are resources to help you in meeting this challenge.

You might talk with the social services department at the hospital where your father is being treated about arranging for a visiting nurse to help with his specific physical needs. Another option you might explore is hospice. Originally, hospice was a place where the dying were cared for, but it has now come to mean a way of caring for the terminally ill, that considers the full range of needs that the patient and his family might have. Kentucky hospices are home-care agencies that can assist you in caring for your father at home. Kentucky has been a leader in the hospice movement and there are hospices in most counties. The hospice staff can help arrange for home health aides or homemaker services. Should hospitalization become necessary, they can help you make these arrangements. The most important service they can offer, though, is their own care team. The hospice care team generally consists of a doctor, nurse, social worker, volunteers, and may include a pastoral counselor and physical therapist. The medical personnel are experts in the specialized physical care of dying patients, such as pain control and nutrition, and all staff are trained to meet the emotional, social and spiritual needs of both patients and families. Members of the team will visit your home regularly to provide care and support for you and your father, and someone will be available 24 hours a day to respond to crisis so that you'll never feel completely alone with the task of caring for your father.

To learn more about hospices and to get the name of the hospice in your area, call the Cancer Information Service (CIS) at 1-800-4-CANCER. Or write to the CIS at the Markey Cancer Center, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky.

BOBBY RAHAL FOR COLUMBIA GAS:

"THERE'S A SPECIAL ATTITUDE WINNERS HAVE. I SEE IT IN MY TEAM. AND IN COLUMBIA'S."

"In racing, winning is a team effort. It's the same at Columbia Gas. But their wins are counted in delivering natural gas energy to thousands of homes and businesses day after day. Everything they do is aimed at supplying our needs... safely, efficiently and economically. You can see it in the way they answer service questions and handle problems. And they are as quick to respond in their way as my team is at the track. The two teams also share something else: the drive to be the best. In racing, that goal is measured in victories. At Columbia, it's measured in service."

The Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) will hold a public hearing Tuesday, June 7, in Lexington, Ky. on its proposal to revise existing safety standards for ventilation in underground coal mines.

Scheduled for six cities between June 6 and June 22, 1988, the hearings will cover the major issues raised by comments submitted in response to the proposal published in the Federal Register on Jan. 27, 1988.

The Lexington, Ky. meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Lexington Hilton Inn, Keeneland Hall, 1938 Stanton Way.

Kinzer Bldg. Is Award Winner

The new Kinzer Building Company office and maintenance shop facility on new KY 80 near Martin, has been named to Varco-Pruden Buildings in 1987 Hall of Fame for excellence in design and construction. Kinzer Drilling is an oil and natural gas drilling firm.

Built by F.E.E., Inc., of Prestonsburg, the building won its award in the office category. The award is given in recognition of achievement in craftsmanship, design and construction that combines aesthetics and function in an outstanding building.

The building, which was completed in Spring 1987, was designed by Randall Burchett of Randall Burchett & Associates of Prestonsburg, Ky.

An award was presented to Eugene Prater, president of F.E.E., during the recent builders meeting in Washington, D.C. The presentation was made by Duane Stockburger, general manager of Varco-Pruden's manufacturing center in Kernersville, North Carolina.

Concerns about the care of treatment of elderly Kentuckians should be reported to the local office of the State Department for Social Services. Reports, even those from anonymous sources, may also be made by calling 1-800-752-6200.

Hughes and Buchanan to star in stage comedy

By Marie Michaels

Finola Hughes and Ian Buchanan, who play Anna and Duke Lavery on "General Hospital," are currently in rehearsal for the play "Losing Venice," which will open for previews on June 17 at the West Coast Ensemble Theater in Hollywood. Written by John Clifford, the play is described as a "restoration tragic comedy" about the ruling and working classes in Italy. The play had its debut a year ago at the the prestigious Edinburgh Theatre Festival, held each summer in Scotland.

Ian Buchanan

Another "GH" actress, Leslie Charleson (who plays Dr. Monica Quartermaine), is also moonlighting in the theater. In the play "Godman," Charleson plays a missionary doctor who becomes involved with an archaeologist (played by Henry Darrow) while working in Central America. The play, which is currently running at the Richard Basehart Theater Club in Woodland Hills, Calif., was written by Rick Najera.

On the East Coast, Cathy Larson, who plays Lizzie Ransome on "Ryan's Hope," is appearing in a production of Jean-Paul Sartre's classic drama "No Exit" at the St. John the Baptist Theater in New York City. The play has been produced in conjunction with an organization called Youth at Risk, which works with troubled youngsters. While Larson plays the goody-goody role of Lizzie on "RH," in the Sartre drama she plays a wicked woman who is sentenced to Hell.

Stage actor Jonathan Farwell has joined the cast of "The Young and the Restless" in the role of George Rawlins, a business associate of Victor Newman (played by Eric Braeden). Farwell's face may be familiar to some daytime viewers, since he has appeared in minor and under-five roles on nearly all of the East Coast-based soaps.

Ken Meeker, who plays Rafe Garretson on "One Life to Live," has begun a second career while still working on the soap. For several months now, Meeker has been commuting between New York City, where "OLTL" is taped, and Nashville, where he has been recording country and folk music he wrote himself. He is currently negotiating with a music publisher, and hopes to land a record deal in the near future.

ASK TONI

John Larroquette was once a 'Black Sheep'

By Toni Reinhold
 I know I've seen John Larroquette in a series other than "Night Court," but I can't remember which one. Also, how old is he? - C.B., Ontario, Canada.

Larroquette played Dr. Paul Herman on the nighttime drama "Doctors' Hospital," which aired during the 1975-76 season, then went on to play Lt. Bob Anderson in "Baa Baa Black Sheep" from 1976 to 1978. His portrayal of Assistant District Attorney Dan Fielding on "Night Court" won him Emmy awards as Best Supporting Actor in a Comedy Series in 1985 and 1986. He also hosted "On Location: The Eleventh Annual Young Comedians Show" on HBO. He was born on Nov. 25, 1947, which makes him 40.
 I'd love to write to Maureen O'Hara. I think she's one of the most beautiful actresses who ever lived. Do you have her address? - P.T., Williamsburg, Ky.
 The Irish-born O'Hara, who is best known for her role in "Miracle on 34th Street" (1947), now lives in the Virgin Islands. Write to her at Box 1400, Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands 00820.

Where is Stephanie Beacham from? I say she is English, but my mother says she is an American who just speaks English especially well. - R.D., Hibbing, Minn.
 Former "Colbys" star Stephanie Beacham does speak beautifully, but the reason is not only good diction - it has a lot to do with her authentic British accent. A native of Hertfordshire, England, she still maintains a home in Hampstead, England. She lived in Los Angeles while filming "The Colbys," though.

I loved seeing Ray Walston back on TV in the Western "Red River." Tell me: How old is he? - W.H., Turlock, Calif.
 Sources differ on whether Walston is 70, 71 or 73. Suffice it to say he has been acting since 1938, when he made his stage debut in Houston. Walston has starred on Broadway and in films, including "Damn Yankees" (1958) and "South Pacific" (1958). TV fans will remember him from "My Favorite Martian" (1963-66), "Stop Susan Williams" (1979) and "Fast Times" (1986).
