

Indictments Returned By May Grand Jury, Relatively Few

By Paul N. Allen

A relatively light docket faced members of the May Floyd County Grand Jury as evidenced by the fact that only 18 indictments were returned by the court this week.

Crimes of violence accounted for only three of the indictments including two for first degree assault and one for first degree wanton endangerment. Thirteen indictments resulted from theft charges or receiving stolen property. An indictment for drug trafficking and one for arson rounded out the court's work for the month.

First degree assault indictments were returned against Timothy Hall for "shooting Terry Hall with a rifle," and Billy Conley for "stabbing Johnny Lee Newsome with a knife causing him serious physical injury." Two counts of first degree wanton endangerment were returned against William Lloyd Hall— one for shooting into the residence of Lou Lou Akers while she, Julia Akers and Johnny Scott were in the house, and a second for firing a shotgun into the home of Linda Akers. The residence was occupied by Mrs. Akers, Linda Akers, Gary L. Akers, Thomas Young and Greg Akers at the time of the incident, according to the indictment.

James Arnett, Frank Wireman and Terry Porter were indicted on a charge of first degree robbery and/or complicity to first degree robbery by "robbing the David School Service Station with a firearm and/or aiding soliciting the said robbery."

Two counts, one of trafficking in a Schedule I non-narcotic controlled substance and another for complicity to trafficking were included in indictments against Bruce Moore and Ransom Mullins. Moore is charged with selling Phencyclidin (PCP) to an informant, while Mullins is charged with "aiding Bruce Moore in the sale of Phencyclidin to an informant."

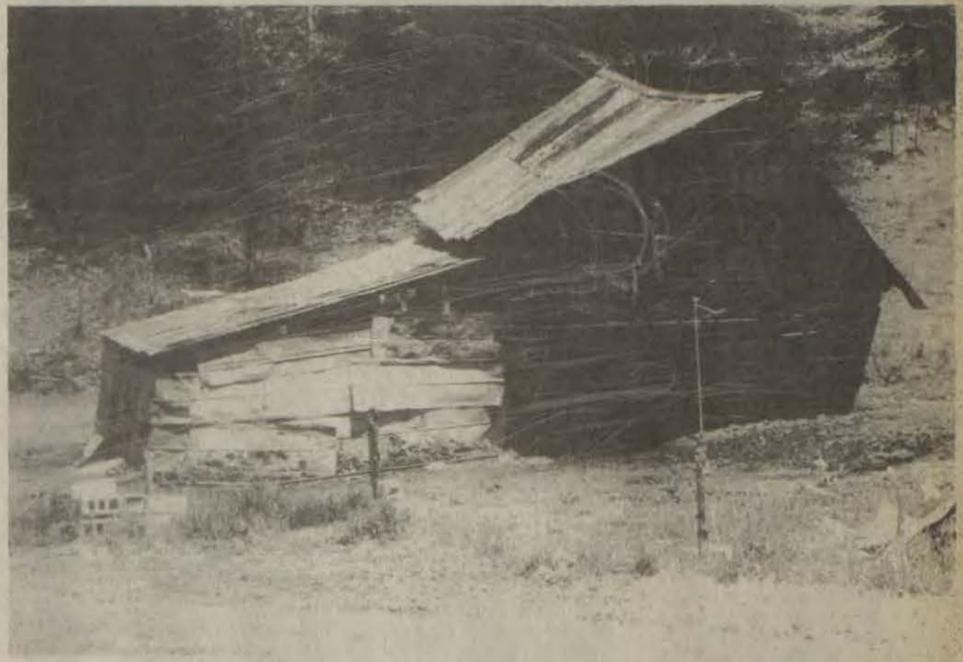

An indictment for second degree arson was meted David Akers and Jack R. Salisbury for "setting fire to a dwelling belonging to Robie Akers with the intent to destroy or damage it."

Joe Grubb was indicted for second degree burglary for breaking into the residence of Jeffrey Mullins and "taking property from said dwelling," while an indictment for third degree burglary was returned against Ellis Gene Sparks for "unlawfully entering the Mountain Comprehensive Care Building at Martin and taking a VCR television set and stereo."

One of three indictments returned for theft by unlawful taking named William Adkins who was charged for "leasing or renting a 1980 Chevrolet Van from Cherokee Rental Inc. and failing to return it with the intent to use or dispose of it as his own, said property being valued at more than one hundred dollars." Similar indictments were returned against Robbie Baer for "taking a 1979 Ford truck valued at more than one hundred dollars from Damon Newsome," and Millard Ray Conn for "taking two calves which belonged to Estill Ousley valued at six hundred dollars."

David Webb and Charles Hamilton were indicted for receiving stolen property "by having in their possession a .22-caliber rifle, a .243 rifle, and two 12-gauge shotguns which had been stolen from Willis Rice and which were valued (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Jury Recommends 20 Years in Reo Hamilton Trial

By Joe Porter

"I thought it was harsh," said defense attorney Ned Pillersdorf after a circuit jury recommended 20 years in state prison for his client, Reo Hamilton. Hamilton, 39, of Teaberry, was found guilty, May 4, of first degree manslaughter for the shotgun slaying of Teddy Howell, Jr., 26, of Meta.

The killing took place May 9, 1987 at a Bluegrass music festival on Ned's Fork near McDowell. Howell was pronounced dead upon arrival at McDowell Hospital. Coroner Roger Nelson testified during the trial that the victim had been killed by a 12-gauge shotgun from a distance of no more than 6 1/2 feet. The shotgun, which was owned by a friend of the defendant's, was later thrown in the woods by Hamilton and never recovered.

Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton, who had sought a murder conviction, was not altogether pleased with the jury's verdict either. "I was disappointed that they didn't find him guilty of murder," Patton said, "but I was satisfied with the number of years he was given." The prosecutor said a murder conviction was called for, based on the evidence presented.

Dr. Sutherland Is Crash Victim

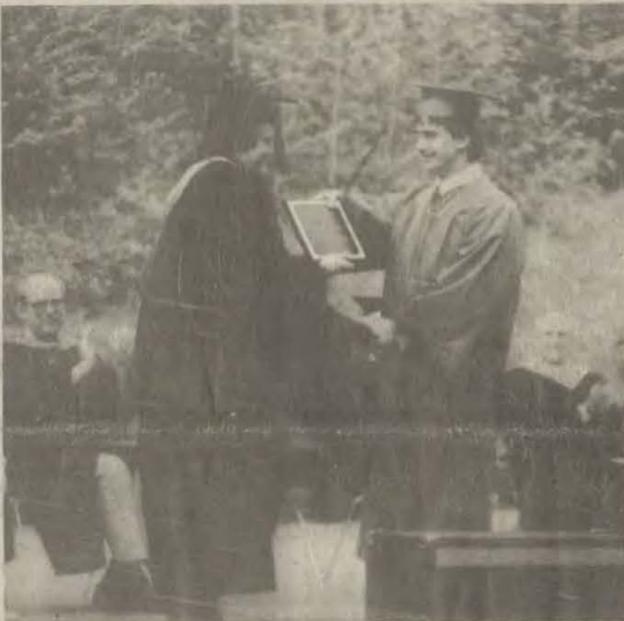

By Paul N. Allen

Dr. John William Sutherland, Jr., well-known Prestonsburg physician, was killed Saturday night in the crash of his sports car at the northern entrance to Jenny Wiley State Park near Auxier.

According to state police, Sutherland and a passenger, Dr. Joseph Rapier, 47, of Paintsville, were headed north on U.S. 23 when the car spun out of control, as the victim apparently attempted a right turn onto KY 304 (the state park entrance). The automobile struck the stone and concrete structure there which supports the wooden state park sign, state police reported. The accident is being investigated by State Trooper Greg Roberts, the Floyd County Coroner's office and Sheriff's Department.

Dr. Sutherland, 42, was pronounced dead at Highlands Regional Medical Center following the wreck, which occurred at about 9:50 p.m. Rapier was listed in satisfactory condition by the hospital.

Dr. Sutherland, a specialist in nephrology and internal medicine, was a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and received his medical training at the University of Louisville where he was a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity. He (See Story No. 7, Page 5)

Investment Club Concept Called "Unqualified Success" at MHS

By Monica J. Clark

The seventh and eighth grade students at McDowell High School have a stockbroker in Lexington, read the financial pages of USA Today, and have a net worth of over $10,000.

They are members of the McDowell High School Class of 1991 and 1990 Investment Clubs, two of only four in the nation.

The clubs were the idea of Lexington stock broker Stephen Hoertz, of Dean Witter Reynolds, Wolfe County High School principal Charles Tapley and McDowell Principal Gary Frazier, as dropout prevention programs. The first club began in Wolfe County four years ago. Last year McDowell's Frazier implemented the program.

"If they stay in school and graduate on time, we liquidate all of their assets and divide it equally," says Frazier. "If these kids play their cards right, they could end up with a diploma and a check," he added.

Three area banks, First Guaranty National Bank, First Commonwealth Bank and The Bank Josephine each contributed $500 to each club and the school also donated $500, to make up the $2,000 initial investment. Now, for the sophomore group, that $2,000 has grown to over $7,000.

"Initially, Steve (Hoertz) and I made the investment decisions, with the expectation that the kids would be making the decisions by the time they were seniors. But they're making the decisions now, as sophomores. They seek me out and tell me what they want to do."

Hoertz instructed the class in the workings of the stock market and bank representatives discussed various aspects of banking operations as well. Frazier says Hoertz and the banks have been extremely helpful.

"The banks have been totally unselfish—they haven't tried to discourage the kids from investing in the stock market in favor of CD's. And Steve took time out during the crash to come down here and talk to the kids, at a time when his other clients thought he shouldn't be talking to a bunch of little kids on Left Beaver."

Sophomore club committee members said their first thought after the recent stock market crash was "Ah-oh!" But because the stock market has sustained a 50-year overall upward trend, the group decided to "ride it out."

They have regained all but about $1,700 of their loss after the crash. Before the bottom fell out, the sophomore group was worth $9,000, now their portfolio totals just over $7,000. The freshman club's accounts are valued at over $3,000.

Board Meet Bypasses Question Of Superintendent's Contract

By Tim Sizemore

Rumors and hallway gossip concerning the superintendent's contract marked last Wednesday night's Floyd County School Board meeting, with board members closeted for two hours of executive session.

Will the present Superintendent, Ray Brackett's contract be renewed or will someone else be named to fill the position? It's a question that has been posed by many Floyd countians during the last few weeks.

Brackett's term is due to end June 30, and no indication has been given by the board as to his future status.

Former Superintendent E.P. "Pete" Grigsby, Jr., Assistant Superintendent Ronald Hager and Administrator Russell Mont Frazier are names that have been touted about in public as possible successors to Brackett, but none have publicly said they desire to fill the disputed post.

The Board made and approved a motion that will mean good news for teachers who wish to retire and receive compensation for unused sick leave. Payment will be based on a percentage of daily salary at a rate calculated not to exceed 30% of the teachers' last annual salary.

Another plus discussed by the board was a bill enacted by the 1988 General Assembly that will become effective July 1 and require only 27 years of service instead of the 30 years previously required by the Kentucky Teachers Retirement system. Now a teacher can retire, regardless of age, and receive health insurance benefits, including coverage for their spouses, for $25.00 monthly.

Tom Vinson, of the Kentucky State Department Management Team, presented a positive report before the board that praised advances made in the school system over the last five years. Using such terms as "remarkable" and "outstanding," quotes Vinson praised the Board and superintendent for their efforts to improve the county school system. He characterized it as amazing that after being in the red more than $600,000 five years ago the system has improved to a projected $90,000 in the black at the close of this school term. He offered two points of advice, which included the development of a dropout prevention program and improvement of the exceptional children program. School Board Chairman Dr. James D. Adams summed up the feelings of the board and public when he told Vinson, "you're a whole lot nicer feller than you were before."

Prestonsburg Attorney John Rosenberg, of the Floyd County Education Forum, announced the approval of a

$30,000 grant to employ a coordinator for a dropout prevention program from the Appalachian Regional Commission. (See story, this issue.)

In other board actions, Russell Mont Frazier was approved for school board treasurer and to be bonded for two million dollars.

Wayne Ratliff, who has served for several years as coordinator of the summer feeding program, told the board that the program would be discontinued this summer because the school lunchrooms are in need of painting. Ratliff said that if all went well with the work this summer, the program could be resumed next year. Ratliff also spoke to (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

ARC Grant Spurs Effort To Reduce Dropout Rate

By Paul N. Allen

"There is no more important key to increasing Appalachia's competitiveness than encouraging more students in the Region to stay in school and graduate," said Winifred A. Pizzano, Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) federal co-chairman. Pizzano's statement was made in conjunction with the announcement last week that funds totalling $550,000 were available for grants to 37 communities in 11 Appalachian states to support local dropout reduction efforts, including $30,000 for Floyd county.

Of six grants to Kentucky communities or counties, Floyd's was the highest by $10,000. In fact, only two grants of the 37 equalled the amount allocated for Floyd county—one in Mississippi, and one in South Carolina. It's a welcome reward for the efforts of the Floyd County Education Forum and good news for the county school system as a whole.

The ARC grant matches applicant and in-kind funds to bring the total funding to $60,000, an amount the education forum feels can be used to mount a coordinated and unified effort to stem the rate at which Floyd county students drop out of school.

The Floyd County Education Forum, Inc. which evolved in 1984 from efforts on the part of Kentucky's Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence to gain broad-based citizen and community input regarding problems facing education systems in all sections of the state, has, for some time, been involved with county schools, teachers and officials in instituting programs to combat the dropout problem. But it was not until about two months ago that a group of forum members began to make the effort to apply for the ARC funds and set the stage for a more concerted assault on the dropout dilemma.

Meeting with Floyd County School Superintendent Ray Brackett, Deloris Smith and Fred Goble, co-chairman of the School-Community Partnership, a sub-committee of the Floyd Education Forum, Jean Rosenberg, Carol Stumbo, Bob Hall, Bud Reynolds, George Spiggle and Big Sandy Area Development District Director Roger Recktenwald came together to formulate an overall strategy for a dropout reduction effort in Floyd county in order to present ARC with a well-planned and valid application. Parkway Ind. Church Destroyed By Fire

By Janice Shepherd

The Parkway Independent Church located on the Mountain Parkway at Ivyton, was destroyed by fire early Saturday morning. The cause of the fire has not been determined although an investigation is continuing.

Having recently formed, the congregation held their first meeting April 27 and their last Sunday night, May 1. Undaunted, a spokesman for the group, said services would still continue, though at different locations. The main worship service will be held at the McGuire Camp Community Church at Martin.

The church is in need of a piano, song books, and donations. Information is available by calling 886-8737. The pastor is Ed Taylor.

ELEVATION READINGS at the first floor of structures in Martin which lie in the floodplain were being taken this week by staff members of the state Department for Environmental Protection. The information will be used to estimate the 100-year depths (the depth of the flood water that has a 1% chance of happening in any given year) in individual buildings.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Womans Club met Thursday, May 5, at 6:30 p.m. at the Arts and Crafts house at Archer Park for the installation dinner. The theme for the evening was the Kentucky Derby. The programs and the decorations were all in keeping with the Derby theme.

Boots Adams, president, extended a welcome to all present. She led the club in the Pledge to the American Flag. Mrs. Fannie Runnels gave the devotional and lead the group in prayer. A traditional Kentucky meal was enjoyed by the members and guests.

Mr. Jim Deaton, director, Jenny Wiley Theatre, gave a short presentation on coming attractions for the summer theatre there.

The treasurer, Elizabeth Ramey, reported the rummage sale netted $328.41.

Orella McGuire, Education Chairperson, reported and Andrea Stephens, recipients of the club scholarship, was unable to attend due to her commitment to the music festival. Andrea sent her thanks to the club for the scholarship.

Garnet Fairchild, a member of the music committee, stated the U.S. Navy concert was a success and that the group appreciated the reception.

Conservation chairperson Wonnell Godsey, stated she and her committee had been asked to plant flowers at the War Memorial, and would be doing so within the next two weeks.

Maxine Bierman, by laws chairperson, gave the second reading of the proposed changes. She and Caroline Traum distributed copies to the members.

Boots Adams and Dorothy Stover reported on the state convention. The club received a 100% certificate, and three other certificates, music and dance, beautification and ceramics.

Lucy Regan gave a memorial service for Sally Goebel. She read several verses from Revelation.

Past presidents were presented long-stemmed red roses by president Boots Adams for their past leadership. Those present were Alice Harris, Eileen Burchett, Garnett Fairchild, Joyce Allen, Lucille Nunnery, Mabel Brown, Maxine Bierman, Carolyn Traum, and Elizabeth Ramey. She then presented gifts to her officers and chairpersons.

Committee chairpersons for the coming year were announced.

Seventh District Governor Lorene Salyer, of Elkhorn City was introduced. Mrs. Salyer noted emphasis will be placed on membership the next two years. A total of 900 new members is the state goal.

Mrs. Salyer then installed the following officers for the coming year:

President, Boots Adams; first vice, Phyllis Herrick; sound vice, Linda McGuire; third vice, Judy Kittle; rec. sec., Joyce Allen; corr. sec., Maxine Bierman; treasurer, Elizabeth Ramey.

Boots Adams thanked Mrs. Salyer for coming and presented her a gift. Mrs. Adams challenge to the club members for the coming year is to complete the renovation of the arts and crafts house. Eileen Burchett, arts dept. chairperson for the coming year, stated that she and her committee would be doing ceramics on Tuesdays and Saturday mornings, 10-1 p.m., during the summer. Finished pieces will be sold at the Jenny Wiley Festival.

A new committee, emergency arts service, will be created later and a committee chairperson announced.

The hostesses for this event were members of the club's executive board, Boots Adams, Carolyn Traum, Eileen Burchett, Dorothy Stover, Joyce Allen, Maxine Bierman, Elizabeth Ramey, Nancy Martin, and Docia Woods.

Others in attendance included Wonnell Godsey, Burieta Gearhart, Roberta Sloan, Barbara Dawson, Orella McGuire, Lois George, Mable H. Brown, Alta H. Leslie, Garnett Fairchild, Sandy Burchett, Rebecca M. Rasnick, Nan A. Arnett, Judy Kittle, Linda McGuire, Phyllis Herrick, Myrtle Allen, Turp Combs, Julia Curtis, Lucille Nunnery, Ditty Tackett, Fannie Runnels, and Alice Harris.

W.M.U., MEETS

The Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met in the church dining room Monday evening, May 2, with Mrs. Sarah Laven and Mrs. Faye Patton as hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Ruby Garrett, presided. The minutes were read by Mrs. Lucy Regan, and Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, treasurer, gave the financial report.

The donation of clothing to the Clear Creek Ministerial School was discussed.

Mrs. Garnett appointed the following members to serve on the nominating committee for the selection of officers and committees for the ensuing year: Goldia Williams, Myrtle Allen, Rebecca Rasnick.

Mrs. Goldia Williams gave a review of the book entitled "Beautiful Upon the Mountain," tilling of the life and missionary work in our area of the late Miss Annie Allen.

Mrs. Lucy Regan gave a report on the Kentucky Baptist Convention, held recently, in Louisville.

The president, Mrs. Garrett, discussed the possibility of housing a Baptist Missionary to hold some programs with the group.

Prayer for missionaries observing birthdays during the month of May was held.

The hostesses, Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Laven, were assisted by Mrs. Ruby Garrett in serving a desert course to Rebecca Rasnick, Myrtle Allen, Lucy Regan, Goldia Williams, Maman Leslie, Dixie Webb, Billie Little, and Docia Woods.

The next meeting will be Monday evening, June 6, with the hostesses to be announced.

Leget-Carter Wed

Lisa Renee Leget, daughter of Joann Leget, of Prestonsburg, and Christopher Neil Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estill Lee Carter, of Prestonsburg, were married November 14, at First Baptist (Irene Cole Memorial) Church. The Rev. Stephen Hopkins officiated at the ceremony.

The matron of honor was Janet H. McCreary, cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Missy Carter, Mitzi Howard, Angie Blair, Denice Music and Melissa Dixon. Flower girls were Leah Spradlin and Stephanie May.

Mrs. Tackett Appreciates Role of County Hospitals

Cancer gave Betty Tackett a lot of fears. "You don't want to face it," explains the 57-year-old LPN who has worked as a scrub nurse in the operating room of Our Lady of the Way Hospital for 14 years. "Several of the nurses cried with me when they found out I had cancer." Mrs. Tackett says it would have been easy for her cancer to go undetected. The lesion in her breast was very small and could not be felt. "I don't want to brag on one doctor more than another, because I think they're all great," says Mrs. Tackett. "But had it not been for Dr. Chandra (Varia) and her concern for her co-workers and her insisting we all have mammograms, I wouldn't have known I had cancer and caught it in such an early stage.

Mrs. Tackett's cancer was diagnosed by general surgeon, Dr. Bader, at Highlands Regional Medical Center's Breast Center last fall.

"I went there for the biopsy because they have the needle where they can go into the lesion itself... They're very good down there and they have a fantastic breast center... My crew (Our Lady of the Way's surgical nursing team) went with me and held my hand."

Later, Dr. Chandra accompanied Mrs. Tackett to Dr. Bader's clinic to discuss the treatment options. Mrs. Tackett chose a modified radical mastectomy because if no cancer was found in her lymph nodes she wouldn't need the chemotherapy or radiation usually required after a lumpectomy.

Mrs. Tackett asked Dr. Bader to do the surgery but insisted that it be done at Our Lady of the Way.

"My family wanted me to go to Lexington, but I didn't want to go to a bunch of strangers. If something happens to you, you want your family right around you."

ACHS Students Exhibits Work

By Tim Sizemore

"She's a very talented student and a hard worker," are the words used by Allen Central High School teacher Carlotta O'Quinn to describe the artistic talents of ACHS junior Kathi Keene.

Keene's reputation as an artist has spread rapidly, taking top honors in several prestigious art shows. Among the awards Keene has received are, best of show in the student category at the annual Paintsville Art League exhibit, first place in the regional sweet 16, first place in the all-state competition at Morehead State University and best of show in the county fine arts festival. Keene has also been honored by being selected to attend The Governor's School for the Arts for the last two years.

Miss Keene says that people are her favorite subjects but she is equally accomplished at still life, genre and landscapes. Art instructor Tom J. Whitaker of Prestonsburg Community College says that Keene has exceptionally strong work. "She doesn't copy things from books or calendars, but uses her own ideas and intuition, and that's creativity."

Mrs. O'Quinn says that she tries to stress to students that they should think for themselves. Keene follows the advice by not only doing work in class but also by working at home to hone her talents.

Chalk pastels are her favorite media, but she is equally adept in handling oil or watercolor. "I like the texture of pastels and the softness of the color," she said.

People who are interested in viewing Miss Keene's art work, can visit the Floyd county library, where several of her works will be exhibited May 9 thru the 18.

Subsidence Workshop Set at Hazard College

Hazard Community College's Business & Industry Technical Assistance Center is sponsoring a workshop on surface subsidence. Friday, May 13, 8:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. at the new Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Surface subsidence is the resettling process (or sinking) of mountains after coal has been mined.

The workshop will feature five industry spokesmen who will detail the options available if property damage occurs due to this resettling.

For further information contact The Business and Industry Technical Assistance Center of Hazard Community College, 432-5856.

If you see dirt or dust being blown into the air, it could mean a gas leak, even if you don't smell the natural gas. If you suspect a gas leak, leave the area immediately, warn others to stay away, and then call your local gas company.

Mrs. Tackett's "family" includes her husband, Efford; her children, Sandra Holt, Connie Ayala and Dr. Denver "Dickie" Tackett, D.M.D.; nine grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and her Our Lady of the Way Hospital co-workers.

Anesthetist Willie Barrowman was another reason Mrs. Tackett chose Our Lady of the Way Hospital for her surgery.

"I've worked with a lot of them and he's one of the best," she claims.

Mrs. Tackett says the attitudes and concern of her co-workers is the best part of her job and was an important support in her bout with cancer.

Sister Pat (the hospital's chief financial officer) is really a pillar to lean on; she's a person you can talk to. The housekeeping people really go out of their way to make you comfortable. The OB nurses who took care of me were great. Margaret Hoover (the hospital's personnel director) was more than willing to stop what she was doing to discuss all those things I didn't want to think about like insurance coverage, sick leave and death benefits."

This year's National Hospital Week theme, "You're Our Specialty" is more than just a slogan for Mrs. Tackett.

"It means to me that I am special. I've been given the special privilege of being involved with all three Floyd county hospitals by working at two (Mrs. Tackett also worked at McDowell Appalachian Regional Health Care for 14 years in the kitchen, housekeeping and central sterilizing departments) and being an outpatient at the third," she says.

"...I feel special in being able to work with such nice people as are employed at Our Lady of the Way Hospital... in a Christian atmosphere. I think that's a rare privilege in this day and time... I'm very religious and I think these people here make God a lot more real by their prayers, concern and support.

Through my cancer, I've become a better person. I've learned to appreciate life more and to rely on God more, because it really makes you think. It makes you search every corner of your life. It makes you think about what you say and what you do."

at over one hundred dollars." Also indicted for receiving stolen property were Wendell Newman, "by having in his possession a 1985 Z-28 Camaro which had been stolen and was of a value of more than one hundred dollars," and William J. Cantrell, "by having in his possession a moped stolen from Estill Robinson and a Santa Claus Christmas statue stolen from Lonzo Bowling valued at more than one hundred dollars," and Scotty Hamilton who is alleged to have had in his possession copper stolen from Bill Vance.

Indicted for theft by failure to make required disposition of property was Harry P. Poe for failure to return several uniforms to the Kentucky National Guard after being discharged with value of the military gear set at more than $100. Michelle Heldred was indicted on the same charge and is accused of having obtained a VCR and three video cassette tapes from Allen Video without returning them. Value of the merchandise was placed at more than $100.

An indictment was also returned against Bill M. Mosley claiming he made "a false statement or misrepresentation or by other means did fail to disclose a material fact used in determining his qualifications to receive benefit under the Kentucky Food Stamp Program and Medical Assistance Program of the Department for Social Insurance in the amount of $10,864.

Among other things, the application, which was written in large part, by Reckenwald, pointed out the severity of the dropout problem in Floyd county. In 1985-86, for example, the total number of graduating seniors represented only 53.7 percent of the number of students that began in that class as freshmen, four years previously; or, a dropout rate of 46.3 percent. Listing figures of absenteeism and unemployment and recognizing the ever-increasing demand for educated personnel in the work place, the application stated: "The Forum acknowledges that education offers an opportunity to Floyd countians to achieve a quality of life commonly available across the nation; education offers an alternative to out-migration."

Aims of the dropout prevention program in this county are as follows:

- To plan, organize and initiate the implementation schedule of a five-year, community-wide "dropout problem awareness" campaign coupled with prevention programs tailored to each school using and focusing all resources available;

- Develop and implement a program geared specifically to the ninth and 10th grades, to increase the awareness of both students and their parents of the problems, both short range and long range, that confront an individual and their family as a result of dropping out of school;

- Develop a referral and support system in each school to identify and assist the at-risk students in the ninth and 10th grades.

To implement the objectives of the program, which carries the project title of STAY, Students, Teachers, And You, the Forum will establish the position of a qualified, full-time coordinator to be based in space donated by the Floyd County Board of Education. In addition to helping unify and implement dropout reduction efforts, the coordinator would function to work toward the acquisition of added funding, according to Deloris Smith. "It would be an important part of the coordinator's job to become aware of what kind of funds are available and go after those grants," she said.

The ARC money will allow the Forum, in cooperation with the board of education, to make a more comprehensive effort to stem the dropout rate. Forum Board Member Jean Rosenberg believes unification of heretofore scattered dropout reduction projects to be the key to greater effectiveness. "We have realized there is so much momentum lost because people have to take care of their own turf," referring to dropout reduction projects which have been initiated, up till now, primarily by a handful of concerned teachers or board staff at some schools. Many such "individualized" projects have been well-executed and enthusiastically received although no well-defined county-wide plan has yet been possible.

According to STAY objectives, a dropout rate reduction of five percent per year would be achieved over the next five years. With effective planning, coordination and continued funding, Forum members and the Floyd County Board of Education are confident that such goals can realistically be met.

Both classes have about 50 members and each elect seven of their peers to a committee that carries out club decisions.

They raise money with candy and fruit sales or car washes. Occasionally, fundraisers such as dances can net $800 the students said and in the past, bake sales have been successful as well.

Some of the stocks in the groups' portfolios include blue chip accounts such as Baxter Travenol Labs, Walt Disney and PepsiCo. But for the most part, the students like to gamble on companies that are expected to make quick substantial gains.

"Baseball cards are red hot now," Frazier explained, "so the kids bought Topps, who manufactures the cards."

"The kids decided on Toys R Us and Topps on their own, and they're both good choices," said Hoertz. "A lot of money can be made in baseball cards, so I thought that was a neat idea on their part."

The students agreed that their biggest success was buying Overnite Transportation, a trucking company that was going under, just before a take-over bid. After the stock's price climbed they sold and doubled their money.

But there have been blunders as well. Worlds of Wonder, the toy company who manufactures "Teddy Ruxpin," was way up after the Christmas season, but they have since filed bankruptcy. "Kids must be given the freedom to fail or succeed," Frazier stated. "You've got to be willing to let them make mistakes and learn something from them."

The investment club concept has gained nationwide attention. The groups were recently the subject of an article that appeared in "Better Investing" magazine. They have also appeared on KET, channel 57 in Hazard and channel 8 in Charleston. The Lexington Herald-Leader and the Ashland Daily Independent have also written about the clubs.

And high schools and colleges alike, from across the country, are carefully monitoring the success of the program as a future possibility for their own institutions.

Frazier has limited participation in the program to the two classes in order to watch the outcome. "We're trying to see if (the program) has any effect on the dropout rate, which is a big problem in eastern Kentucky," he explained. "But as far as I'm concerned, it has been an unqualified success because it's education in the best form—hands-on. They're learning a whole lot more about how the economy functions than if we gave a lecture on theory. Kids care more about something if they're directly affected by it."

Because, Hoertz said, individuals under age 18 cannot purchase stock, Frazier and three other school faculty members are listed as representatives of the clubs, however they do not receive any of the profits.

Frazier called the program an ideal partnership between education and the business community. "Many businesses really want to help schools, if you just ask them," he said.

Grants totaling some $2.5 million are being provided to six eastern Kentucky hospitals—three in Floyd county—to help cover the financial losses which accumulated during the record coal loss. A flood insurance and flood protection meeting has been arranged by Congressman Carl D. Perkins at Martin Elementary School's multi-purpose building, Saturday, May 20, at 3 p.m. An investigation by State Police Troopers Weedman and Stephens last Wednesday turned up a total of 121 marijuana plants found growing on an abandoned farm at the head of Akers Branch of Toler Creek, near Harold. The $33,000 bid of Akers & Akers, Dana contractors, for construction of a county school bus garage at Garth was accepted last Wednesday evening by the Floyd County Board of Education. Yvonne Stumbo Jones, of Prestonsburg, was sworn in as Floyd County Judge-Executive by state Supreme Court Justice James B. Stephenson. There died: Bert Mitchell, 68, of Teaberry, Monday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Mrs. Effie Smith Daniels, 79, of Garrett, Friday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Wayne L. Newman, 67, of Hi hat, Wednesday at his home; Mrs. Judy Ell Mitchell, 82, of Teaberry, last Wednesday; Elisha Chaffins, 68, of Garrett, Wednesday at Our lady of the Way Hospital; Granville C. Hughes, 56, of Little Paint Creek, Friday at his home; Elder Ed Mosley, 99, of Martin, Thursday at Our lady of the Way Hospital; Mrs. Alice Marie Rudder, 60, of Martin, Saturday at Our lady of the Way Hospital; Avady Wagner, 73, of Cow Creek, Thursday at his home; Red John Hall, Jr., 80, formerly of Craynor, Sunday in Willard, Ohio; Herbert F. Johnson, 70, of Buckingham, May 2 in Pikeville; Mrs. Hattie Webb, 54, of Teaberry, Friday at U.K. Medical Center; Mrs. Margarette Reffitt, 69, formerly of Prestonsburg, Sunday in a Warsaw, Indiana Hospital; Mrs. Beatrice P. Shell, 47, of the Winchester section near Allen, Saturday at her home; Harlan Sexton, 86, of Hueysville, Monday at Our Lady of the Way; Mrs. Lucy Jones Brown, 80, of Printer, Monday at Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Lugene Campbell, 55, of Wayland, Sunday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Mrs. Etta Ray Osborne, 73, of McDowell, Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Mrs. Fleedie P. Kingley, May 1 in an auto accident.

Twenty Years Ago

(May 9, 1968)

A dozen, perhaps fewer, one-room schools will be operated in Floyd county next year as a result of action taken at last Saturday's meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education. Sp-5 Jordan A. Belcher, 22, of Teaberry, was killed April 28 in Vietnam of fragmentary shell wounds received while driving a military vehicle during combat, it was learned here recently. Betsy Layne high school's Debbie Branham, 17-year-old senior, was crowned 1968 Music Festival Queen in festivities here last Saturday, succeeding another Betsy Layne girl who won the crown last year. Betsy Layne's band also won trophies as the best-playing band and another for best all-round performance. Although it suffered fire damage Tuesday which will range from $50,000 to $60,000, the Reynolds Body Company at Allen was back at work next morning with only one work shift lost. A building in which a family of six were sleeping last Friday morning was knocked down upon them by a careening milk truck. The family escaped serious injury. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Potter, Jr., of Minnie, a son, May 3; to Mr. and Mrs. Bill J. Carroll, of Martin, a son, May 3; to Mr. and Mrs. David Andrews, of West Prestonsburg, a son, May 3; to Mr. and Mrs. Hatler Evans, of Grethel, a son, May 3; to Mr. and Mrs. Tramble Mitchell, of Martin, a daughter, May 4; to Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Conn, of Ivel, a son, Ronald, May 21 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. James Merrill Goble, a son, James Alan, April 25 at Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wills, of Paintsville, a son, Patrick Rodney, April 25. There died: Tommy Hughes, 43, of David, Monday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Dick Branham, 74, of Allen, last Thursday at Our lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Mrs. Anxie Kimble, 61, Monday at her home at Melvin; George Hall, 89, Monday at his home at Bevinville; Tivis Moore, 85, of Pyramid, Friday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Susie Johnson, 83, of Blue River, Wednesday at Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Della Martin, 82, of Hueysville, last Wednesday at Our lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Melvin Cox, 75, of Garrett, Sunday at the Prestonsburg General hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(May 8, 1958)

As hearings on reservoirs to control Eastern Kentucky floods were being held in Washington this week days and nights of rainfall created uneasiness throughout the Big Sandy valley and Wednesday the Big Sandy invaded Pikeville eight feet past the 35-foot flood stage. Miss Frieda Collins, representing Martin high school, was named Floyd County Music Festival Queen for 1958. Several of the county's hard-pressed truck mines had another obstacle to meet this week as an attempt was made to stop, by threat or persuasion, their miners from working. Gov. A. B. Chandler directed the Department of Conservation last week to change the name of Dewey Lake State Park to Jenny Wiley State Park. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Shannon, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Kimberley, April 26 at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; to Mr. and Mrs. Bucky Burchett, a daughter, Kathy Ann, April 27 in a Lexington hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. John D. Goble, a son, May 5 at Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: William (Bill) Stumbo, 53, of McDowell, Sunday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Lucy Little, 67, of Wheelwright, Monday at the McDowell Memorial hospital; Harry Lee Crum, 48, of Arkansas Creek, Friday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin.

Forty Years Ago

(May 13, 1948)

Floyd county's 242 high school seniors will hear Jesse Stuart, noted Kentucky author, deliver the Commencement address marking their graduation next Wednesday evening here. John Day Tackett, 65, well-known McDowell carpenter, died Saturday at Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of injuries sustained on the preceding Saturday when a defective timber broke under his weight as he was erecting rafters of a home at Drift. Hobart Singleton, of Garrett, motorman for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Wayland, and Sil Isaac, 51, Bevinville, carpenter for the Gibson Coal Company on Wilson Creek, were fatally injured while working in and around coal mines last week. Prestonsburg's 1,100 school children Monday afternoon staged a blocks-long parade to voice their plea for a playground. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Tandy Bartley, of David, a son, May 4; to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Turner, of David, a son, Phillip Titus, April 20. There died: Anthony L. Newsom, 62, Friday at his home at Betsy Layne; Miss Pearl Marie Helton, 31, of Wheelwright, Thursday at Lexington; Mrs. Ada B. Hyde, 91, formerly of Prestonsburg, Monday at Woodstock, Virginia.

Fifty Years Ago

(May 12, 1938)

Struck by a hit-and-run driver while returning from church at Tram Saturday night, Myrtle Edna Layne, 22, is dead and two companions seriously injured. Sketching the depletion of natural resources in Eastern Kentucky from its first settlement until the present, Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville, member of the State Game and Fish Commission, told a group of citizens at the courthouse here Monday night, that this depletion would be corrected, bringing economic security, once the Jefferson National Forest area in the Breaks had been completely taken over by the national government. Temporary settlement of Auxier's school strike was affected by Attendance Officer Leonard Martin Wednesday morning when approximately 100 Auxier junior and senior high school pupils, many of them wearing placards, "We Want Stewart," called at his office, saying that they would not return to school unless the County Board of Education rehired John Stewart as teacher. There died: Mrs. Allen Stone, 84, Sunday at her home at Blue River; Green Howard, 50, Friday of gunshot wounds at Prestonsburg; Ray Wolf, 35, last Wednesday at his home at Wayland.

Are We Chopped Liver??

By Quentin D. Allen

In the words of the unnoticed and unadorned, Eastern Kentucky and Floyd County may well say:

"Well, what am I...chopped liver?"

Well, indeed. Take the most recent case of geographic discrimination. Our long awaited airport is two years past its original opening date.

Local, state and federal officials seem to think that we've waited this long for an airport, we can just keep waiting. Try that number in Northern Kentucky, Louisville or Lexington and see how many brickbats those folks can unfurl.

Close Stanford Field, Louisville, Bluegrass Airport, Lexington, or the Greater Cincinnati International Airport for one day and you've got a riot on your hands. But when you talk Eastern Kentucky air transportation rights, getting into operation next year or the year after is fast enough.

Now, as we are saying this, we aren't quite so stupid as to compare those well established airports to our regional airport. They are fixtures on the national scene. But consider this story:

In the height of the second world war, an out of townner in Salyersville noticed an elderly man sitting on the courthouse steps with his head in his hands, moaning.

Taking pity, he asked, "Well, uncle, what seems to be wrong?"

The old codger looked up. "Hit's them Germans. They're liable to bomb us any day."

The young man looked relieved. "Uncle, don't worry. The Germans aren't going to waste their bombs on little ole Salyersville."

The old man leaped to his feet and with a scratching voice that would take the bark off a tree, retorted:

"I'll have you know this is the County Seat!!!"

We will side with the older gentleman on this one. We may not be a metropolis but Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin are prolific bituminous coal producing counties not only in the United States but in the world. As such, we deserve, as Rodney Dangerfield, a "little respect."

It is the complacent attitude that we are lucky to get anything at all that is the reason we have suffered some of our historical difficulties. How many know that Morehead University was literally given away by one of our own many years ago? How many realize the great tragedy of not contending for canalization of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy? How many realize the thousands of lost jobs, the migration from Eastern Kentucky to far away states because of a depressed economy? But, then, to hear some officials tell it, we are lucky to have an economy at all, so don't rock the boat!

And our replay to those who saw enough justification to salt $11 million into the creation of a regional airport is the fact that little ole Eastern Kentucky, while not Northern Kentucky or Lexington or Louisville, is very important and dear to us and we want a fair and equal shot at the establishment of a regional airport.

Airports around the nation have shown themselves to be excellent business investments. The cornerstones of land, air and water transportation are the building blocks of diversification. They can become the harbingers of jobs and jobs, for Eastern Kentucky and Floyd County, are the stuff dreams are made of.

Two weeks ago, The Times broke an important story, the seeming negligence by many of a regional asset, the Big Sandy Regional Airport. From the appearances of the situation, local, state and federal airport planners have sunk $11 million into a facility without an access road. While we do not profess to be regional planners, isn't it just plain common sense not to build a house without a door? Would you build a church or a hospital on top of a mountain without a way to get to it?

And, too, for those who now use the airport (and it is being used), what is the liability to the region in terms of life and safety? What if there is a terrible accident? How do you get ambulances to the top of the hill? Do you suspect, as we do, that the access road might suddenly become accessible? And the danger alluded to might dissipate a bit?

Well, the essential question remains:

"Are we chopped liver?" If you don't ask your friendly county representative, senator or judge-executive about this blatant misuse of public monies, beware of meat counters!

the board about students charging meals. He said that presently following state guidelines, the child is allowed to charge a month and a week and during the last week parents must fill out a form to allow the child to charge an additional three months. Ratliff said that the basic problem is that some parents and children are ashamed to sign up for free lunches which are reimbursed by the state. He said that no one need know a child is receiving a free lunch and every effort is made to prevent embarrassment. Ratliff was equivocal in his belief that all children should be able to eat in the lunchroom.

The board voted to advertise for bids to build a fence around the football field at Allen Central High School and said the fiscal court had agreed to build the backdrop. Several parents went before the board requesting that lights be installed on the field but Supt. Brackett told them that the money was not there at the present time. The board agreed to consider the lights at a latter date and took no action.

Well-known Prestonsburg Attorney Woodrow Burchett was honored at the meeting by being presented a proclamation by the board, thanking him for 26 years of service to the school system. Burchett thanked the group for the opportunity to serve the schools and said that his work on behalf of the school system had been the most rewarding of his life.

The Board took action on disposal of property by approving the demolition of the old Maytown science building to make more room for parking. The demolition work will be done for the materials and the contractor is required to clean up the site. It was also agreed to proceed to seek state approval for the sale of the Dwale property belonging to the school system.

The Board also approved leaves of absence, resignations, and hiring of substitute personnel, including the following: Eva Faye Curry as a replacement for Sandy Daniels at Osborne Elementary, who is taking a leave of absence, resignations of Freddie Hamilton and John Hall as bus drivers at Stumbo Elementary; emergency substitute teachers for the remainder of the school year, Kimberly Ann Shepherd, Laura Cooley, Brian K. Jones, Lora Hardwick, Michael B. Laferty, Tiffany Coleman, Karen Taylor and Caleb Dean. Kay Newsome was named substitute clerk for Harold Elementary, Betsy Layne and Stumbo Elementary and Belva Vanover was named janitor at Garrett Elementary. Substitute janitors named were Betty Patton, Allen Elementary, Gladys Frasure, Wayland Elementary, and David N. Slone, Wheelwright. Teachers aides approved were Pamela Collins, cap size teacher at Clark School, and Leora Davis, cap size teacher's aide at Clark. Harold Newsome was named to replace Freddie Hamilton at Stumbo Elementary. Bobby Wells, a teacher at Prestonsburg High School, will retire following this school year, it was learned.

Trial testimony about what happened prior to the shooting was conflicting. Hamilton took the stand and admitted that he was holding the shotgun when it went off but that his finger was not on the trigger. He said the victim had pulled a knife on him and this was corroborated by three family members who also testified. Yet the Commonwealth's witnesses stated that Howell never pulled a knife and that he was asking Hamilton to put the shotgun down when he was killed.

The coroner testified that Howell was wearing big overalls at the time that he examined him at McDowell Hospital and that his leg pocket contained a seven-inch dagger-type knife, but that it would have been impossible for the victim to have returned the knife to his pocket after having suffered severe damage to his spinal column.

According to testimony, bad feelings between the two men started earlier in the day with an altercation over a car accident; that was followed by a fight between the victim and the defendant's son. Drink was also a factor. The victim had a blood alcohol content of .19 (legally drunk) at the time of his death, and the defendant also admitted that he had five or six drinks before the shooting.

KSP Detective J. Rederick investigated the crime and testified for the prosecution. Following the shooting, Hamilton escaped into the hills with his 16-year-old son, but gave himself up the next day to deputy sheriff Harold Johnson.

On May 6 Pillersdorf filed a motion for reduction of sentence, contending that: "the penalty imposed by the jury was unduly harsh as matter of law, especially when compared to the types of sentences other defendants have received under similar circumstances." It further states that the defendant, "has no prior criminal record, is the father of four young children, has had a stable family life."

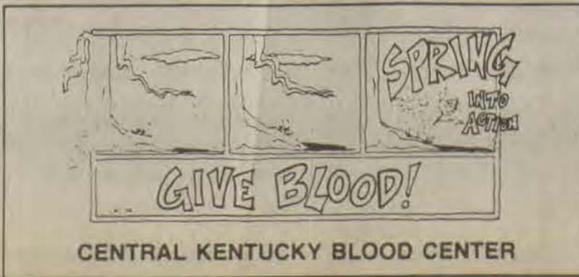

Patton, on Monday, countered with his response: "the recommended sentence was not unduly harsh. The twenty years recommended by the jury would be the minimum in a murder conviction which was consistent with the credible evidence in this case."

"Mr. Hamilton has four children. Mr. Howell's right to have a family of his own was taken away by Mr. Hamilton." On Friday, May 13, Circuit Court Judge Hollie Conley will sentence Hamilton.

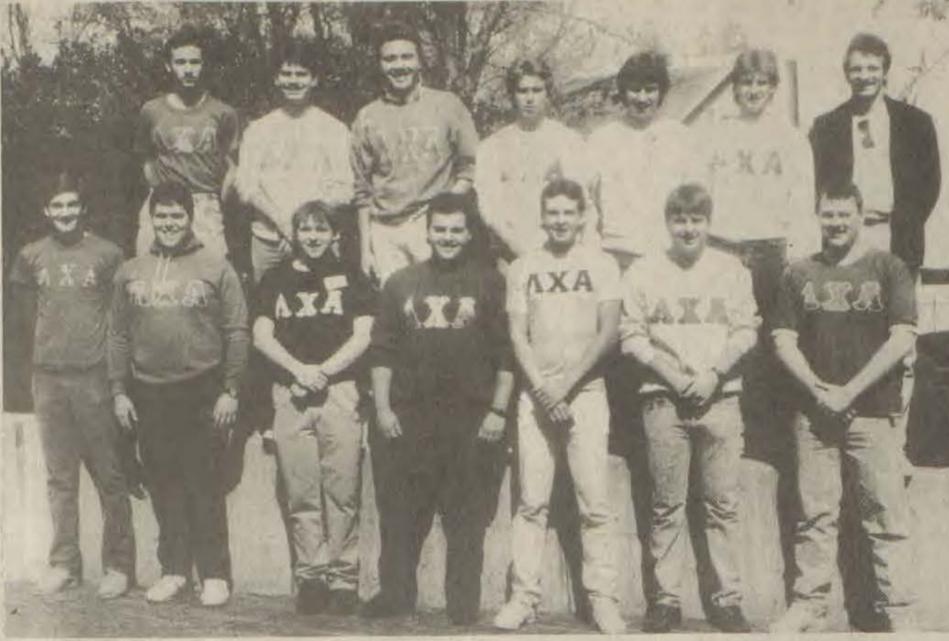

In discussing the verdict and Patton's vigorous prosecution, Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Dan Rowland said, "As Commonwealth Attorney, it is his job not to convict everyone, but to see that justice is done, and we feel in this case, justice was done."

Floyd Conservation District Meeting

Lambda Chi's Raise Money For Easter Seals

Traffic Is Termed No. 1 Problem As Council Meets

By Joe Porter

"Traffic is the number one problem right now in the city; it's just terrible," said Mayor Ann R. Latta at the beginning of Monday night's City Council Meeting. 21,000 vehicles pass through Prestonsburg every day, and the council agreed with the mayor that steps have to be taken to improve traffic flow and access during peak hours.

Yet in a real sense the Mayor and Council are limited in their ability to solve the traffic problems. The two major roads that pass through and intersect the city—1428 and U.S. 23—are state roads, and therefore, controlled by the Department of Transportation. The city can't even erect a sign on them though they're within the city's boundaries; the city can only recommend changes and hope that the state acts quickly and favorably on them. Now though, the city faces a traffic crisis.

Joe Anderson, district traffic engineer for the state Highway Department, appeared at the meeting, unrolled his maps, and made notes on changes the mayor would like to see implemented. The problem is that vehicles coming off the side streets can't enter the flow of traffic during rush hours. "It's fine for the people passing through on U.S. 23," Mayor Latta said, "but it's a problem for people who live in town."

To alleviate the snafus, Latta wants two traffic lights put up—one at the intersection of Friend Street and South Lake Drive, and the other at Patton and North Lake Drive. That would break up the constant flow and allow motorists access on to the main arteries.

When Anderson remarked that a light on U.S. 23 would disrupt the flow, the mayor shot back, "we've got to consider the people who live here. We want to keep the traffic moving; we don't want to stop it at every intersection, but we also want to be able to get onto it."

As a safety measure, Mayor Latta also wants the speed limit reduced from 55 mph to 45 on the stretch of highway between KY 114 and the Bert Combs Bridge, where it becomes 35 mph. "We'll check and see if we can justify it," was Anderson's reply. The traffic engineer took the opportunity to inform the council that their request that 1428 through the city be reclassified from a rural secondary to a state secondary road had been denied. Latta said after the meeting that she would appeal that decision because a rural secondary classification has lower priority when it comes to improvements. The mayor said she will be meeting with Secretary of Transportation Milo Bryant in the near future.

By a five-to-one vote, the council approved a zoning commission decision to allow a variance on Earl Street. The one structure will move from a residential 3 rating to a commercial 2. Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, a statewide citizens organization, has purchased the house with the intent to use it as an office. Joe Szakos, who works for the KFTC, assured the council that only three or four people would be working there at a time and that they would not hold meetings there. Not sure it wouldn't cause parking problems, Councilman William R. Callihan was the lone dissenter.

The council reviewed the budgets for the Tourism, Recreation, Convention Commission as well as for the Park Board. Of the $135,000 expected revenue from the Restaurant Tax, $100,000 will go to Archer Park and $35,000 to the Commission. On examination, Callihan questioned how concession expenditures for the park board budget could exceed concession revenues by $1,500. "I can't understand it when they charge 75 cents for a little cup of coke," he said. No one knew the answer, so the budget was tabled to the next meeting.

Under old business, they then considered the City's 1988-89 budget. "We're trying to get this budget cleaner than it has been," Mayor Latta said. "This budget is pretty close to what we're doing."

Permission was granted for the Dewey Dam Dog & Cat Protection Society to set up a roadblock in the city, June 4. At the close of the meeting, the council members unanimously voted that through the summer months the council would meet only once a month on the fourth Monday, starting in June.

East Point Woman Wins Photo Exhibit

By Janice Shepherd

The Rev. Eddie Taylor was killed, Tuesday morning, as the result of an explosion at his residence on Hunter's Branch at Hunter. Rev. Taylor was 53.

Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson said the blast occurred at around 9 a.m., igniting a fire that totally destroyed the wooden frame house. Taylor's wife, Ellen, was in the far end of the house at the time of the incident and escaped uninjured although debris was flung as far away as 350 feet.

State Police Arson Investigator Barry McKenzie said there was no indication of foul play, adding that a preliminary investigation indicated a natural gas explosion. Due to the intensity of the heat at the site, a more thorough examination will be made today (Wednesday), McKenzie indicated.

A son of the late Floyd and Ollie VanHoose Taylor, the victim was born December 20, 1934. A disabled miner and member of U.M.W.A. Local No. 1373 at Spurlock, he was a member of the Tackett Fork Free Will Baptist Church at Mud Creek where he was one of three pastors of the church.

Survivors, besides his wife, include four sons, James Taylor, of Staffordsville, and Floyd, Andy and Jack Taylor, all of Hunter; two daughters, Debbie Goble, of Weeksbury and Rebecca Garnett, of Hunter; six brothers, Raymond, Bill, Toby, James, Johnny and Danny Taylor, all of Virginia, and two sisters, Betty Jo Amburgy, also of Virginia, and Peggy Pilgerton, in Texas. He also leaves 11 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete as of Tuesday. Burial will be made in the Taylor family cemetery at Hunter under direction of the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

MSU Commencement Scheduled Saturday

Morehead State University will hold its 1988 Spring Commencement at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, May 14, in Ellis T. Johnson Arena of the Academic-Athletic Center.

More than 580 undergraduate and graduate students are candidates for degrees to be conferred by MSU President C. Nelson Grote.

The commencement ceremony will be marked by the conferring of MSU's 1,000th degree in music and the awarding of the University's first Bachelor of Science in Nursing degrees to graduates of the program for registered nurses.

Commencement speakers include MSU Board of Regents Chairman Louie B. Nunn, Dr. Grote and graduating senior Nina M. Goecke, of Georgetown, Ohio.

After the degrees are conferred by Dr. Grote, the new graduates will be welcomed into MSU's Alumni Association by Lisa Browning, the president-elect.

Dr. Earle L. Louder, professor of music, will serve as grand marshal, assisted by Dr. Frances Helphinstine, professor of English, and Alex D. Conyers, associate professor of finance.

Following commencement, Dr. and Mrs. Grote will host a reception for new graduates and their families on the northeast lawn of the Academic-Athletic Center.

Commencement activities will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, with a pinning ceremony in the Eagle Room, Adron Doran University Center, for the first graduates, of MSU's four-year nursing degree program from the registered nurses track.

At 10:30 a.m. in front of Fields Hall, MSU's Army Reserve Officers Training Corps will hold its 31st annual commissioning. Twenty-three students are expected to receive their second lieutenant commissions at that time. The guest speaker will be Brig. Gen. Edward L. Gill, assistant adjutant general of Kentucky. A reception will follow.

At 11 a.m. in Reed Hall Auditorium, graduates of MSU's two-year veterinary technology program will receive their pins symbolic of their degrees.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Okie Collier, Jr., wishes to thank all of those who were so kind and considerate during our time of grief. We want to thank those who sent flowers and gifts of love. We especially want to thank the Martin Branch Free Will Baptist Church, the ministers, Green Boyd, Doug Burkett, and Clinton Jones and the Hall Funeral Home for being so kind. All your kindnesses were greatly appreciated.

Wal-Mart Sponsors Fund Drive

Where Everyone's A Winner

"Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt." With this Special Olympics motto as their guide, a group of students from the Prestonsburg Elementary multi-handicapped unit competed in the regional Special Olympic Games, April 23 at Johnson Central High School.

Nearly 500 students from a five-county area competed in events ranging from a 50-meter dash to softball throw. The nine students representing Prestonsburg were Jackie Leedy, Kenny Darby, Joe Jarvis, Brad Meek, Lora Dingess, Eric Jarvis, Melissa Powers, Docia Stephens, and Shawn Miller. Chad Shepherd, represented Clark Elementary.

Other events included tennis ball throw, body bowling, object find and creeping. Students also competed in an art contest and two paintings, by Eric Jarvis and Lora Dingess, were selected to be judged on the state level.

The team was accompanied by program volunteers and parents. It was pointed out by a representative of the group that in the games there are no losers. Every child who competes is considered a winner.

Serious Questions

The recent hearing in Lawrence county concerning the permit application of the hazardous waste incinerator project proposed by PyroChem revealed many disturbing facts concerning the competency of the Kentucky Environmental Protection Agencies Permit review division.

As you may remember, the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet declared the technical aspects of the permit application complete and satisfactory. Shortly after they did so, the Lawrence County Concerned Citizens received a report by the Federal E.P.A. that contained 29 pages of serious flaws in Pyro-Chem's construction design. If that wasn't bad enough, a geologist from the University of Kentucky disclosed that the permit application made no mention of the fact that the plant site sits on top of an earthquake fault (Wall Bridge Fault). The geologist also pointed out, to the embarrassment of PyroChem supporters, that according to the coordinates on the permit, the site was located in downtown Louisa instead of where they intend to build, two miles away. All the geologist could say was, "How can you expect a company to run something as potentially dangerous as a hazardous waste incinerator if they can't even correctly locate their own plant on a map?"

All this leaves us with some serious questions that need to be answered. Why did the state miss all those flaws in the Pyrochem permit? Are the existing incinerators, such as the Liquid Waste Disposal company that is now operating in Calvert City, equally flawed in design? Could it be that the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet pushed through other hazardous waste incinerator projects without thorough investigation and analysis of the permit application?

We may never know the answers to these very important questions unless Governor Wallace Wilkinson orders an investigation of the activities of the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet. If it is found that existing incinerators are flawed in design, then there must be an immediate shutdown to protect the public and those responsible for allowing these projects to go through must be held accountable.

On High School Baseball

Not long ago, Martin, Wayland, Wheelwright, Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg, McDowell, and Auxier high schools had a baseball park. Today neither of the five high school baseball programs in Floyd county have a baseball park. What happened? We, our neighbors, our friends, our bosses, our superintendent, our county judge, all of us have let them slip away.

Floyd county has a great Little League program as well as a fair Babe Ruth program. Floyd county has dedicated people working hard to establish an American Legion program and they will. The American Legion program will be as strong as our high school baseball program, which is not so strong.

Our high school baseball players are stronger, better conditioned, better equipped and more fundamentally sound at the plate and on the field than ever before. They have all the tools.

Our coaching staffs improve year after year, our principals support this great game more and more each year, and the sports editor of the Floyd county paper attends every game he can. He works hard and gives a great report of each game.

I have the greatest admiration for Floyd county baseball coaches. They struggle and strive to teach the game and they do. Whenever and wherever they can find a place to do so.

Floyd county sends two teams to regional competition every year to represent Floyd county high school baseball, but as of yet I can't remember a regional championship for our program. The tools are there, but our players don't have the facilities to hone them to the razor's edge, necessary to win in regional competition.

Imagine Floyd county's high school basketball program with only one gymnasium in Floyd county. The program would be gone, and if we're not careful our baseball program will be gone.

There are people working to improve our baseball program, let's help them. What we need to improve is not: parents, principals, coaches, equipment, players, umpires, or sports writers. We have all these.

If you want to make me mad meet me at the softball park. You can't make me mad because I won't be there. If you want to steal my heart and make me fall in love with you, meet me at the Floyd county high school baseball parks. I will be there and I won't be hard to find. We only have one, located several miles from every high school in the county.

POW/MIA Rally

On May 28, 29, and 30, the Rolling Thunder POW/MIA Rally will take place in Washington, D.C. The purpose of the rally is the American servicemen who are still held captive (as POWs) in Southeast Asia and elsewhere. The late director of the CIA, William Casey, in 1987 said: "Look, the nation knows the POWs are there...but there's no groundswell of support for getting them out."

Everyone who cares about our POW/MIAs must be there. An overwhelming cry from a united America can ensure an accounting for these men. There are 2,115 men still over there. You are an American. Your voice can make a difference. We are expecting 50,000 people and 10,000 motorcycles in Washington. Be there; they need you.

In conjunction with the motorcycle parade at 11 a.m., Monday, May 30, there will be a Freedom March, Sunday May 29 at 10:15 a.m. Various POW/MIA organizations will conduct POW/MIA activities on the mall (near the Vietnam Veterans Memorial).

The convoy from Kentucky will leave Preston, Ky. on May 28 at 10 a.m. Preston is 50 miles east of Lexington on I-64. Take route 36 south (exit 121) 1 mile to route 965. Go 2 miles on 965 to Preston (pop. 175).

Everyone who cares will be in Preston on May 28 at 10 a.m. Walk, ride a motorcycle, car, truck, bus, or whatever, but be there. Our boys must come home. Call 606-498-4799 for information, or send donations (to help pay costs of transportation to and from Washington) to KBA, POW/MIA Fund, P.O. Box 7259, Mt. Sterling, Ky. 40356-7259.

Urges Blood Pressure Checks

I'm writing to commend The Floyd County Times for its May 4 article titled "High Blood Pressure is Threat to Health."

May is National High Blood Pressure Month, so your article was timely. But more importantly, you brought needed attention to a national health problem which is controllable. As your article stated, controlling hypertension prevents disability and death.

My hope is that your article will prompt your readers to have a blood pressure checkup. I'd like to remind them that Our Lady of the Way Hospital offers free blood pressure checkups in our emergency room 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Thank you for printing this informative article and for your demonstrated interest in the health of our community.

OSM Suit Names W'wright Mining

The U.S. Office of Surface Mining has sued Wheelwright Mining, Inc. of Price, charging the company with operating nine two-acre mines as parts of a single operation in order to circumvent stricter reclamation requirements for larger mines.

Back in February the federal agency took over from the state responsibility for regulation of almost all two-acre mines in Kentucky. Presently, it is reviewing about 2,500 of these mines to see whether any are related and should be considered part of a larger mine.

The problem goes back to 1977 when Congress passed the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act, which served to exempt two-acre mines from many regulations. Operators of two-acre mines were not required to eliminate all highwalls, pay abandoned-mine fees of 35 cents a ton, or provide drainage controls. They also had less stringent application and bond requirements.

The two-acre exemption provided a loophole for operators to avoid compliance. Often operators have exceeded the two-acre limit and mined large areas by stringing two-acre mines close together. In 1987, Congress abolished the exemption.

On April 29, inspectors from the office of Surface Mining delivered nine cessation orders to Wheelwright Mining. The orders cited the company for mining without a valid surface disturbance permit and ordered it to reclaim nine two-acre mines according to standards for larger mines.

In size the nine mines range from 0.9 acres to 3.7 acres, with six exceeding two acres. These mines cover an area of 22.51 acres and lie within five miles of one another. Six of those mines cited, which received permits in 1984 and 1985, have previously been cited by the state for exceeding two acres or being part of the same company. However, the state cited the permit holders, not Wheelwright Mining, Inc.

Records assembled by the Office of Surface Mining show that Wheelwright Mining held the mineral rights for the mines, had contracts with other companies or individuals to operate the mines and purchased the coal.

Healthcare Career Fair at HRMC

Area high school students pictured at HRMC Career Fair

Highlands Regional Medical Center opened its doors on April 27 and 28 to area high school students interested in healthcare careers. The career fair provided students with valuable insight into health related fields. Students were able to acquire knowledge of jobs and information regarding the opportunities for these positions through discussions with healthcare professionals on a first hand basis. The fair was primarily designed to make students aware of career opportunities in all areas of the hospital, especially those careers that are in great demand in this service area.

Over 200 area high school students visited Highlands during the two day event. The nursing, lab, pharmacy, administration, finance and accounting, radiology, physical therapy, respiratory therapy, medical records, dietary and marketing/PR departments provided information booths manned by departmental personnel who answered in-depth questions regarding their respective professions.

Some departments conducted demonstrations which included making hand lotion, working on a PC, taking one's own blood oxygen level and heart rate, examining x-rays and viewing a special nursing video tape. John Boswell, M.D., answered questions concerning college demands for medical students and talked about the realities of life as a physician. The students were also treated to special tours through many restricted hospital areas including CCU/ICU, ER, lab, and the morgue.

Pat Willis, Marketing Representative of Highlands said, "For our first career day I would classify this one a success! We are planning on making it an annual event and next year hope to have even more schools participate because it is so beneficial to the students."

H.R.M.C., being one of the largest employers in the area, held the career fair to make local students aware of the many health related career opportunities for trained professionals.

Burchett Honored By Board

Floyd County Schools Supt. Ray Brackett, left, presents a plaque to Prestonsburg Attorney Woodrow Burchett in honor of Burchett's 26 years of service to the school system. The presentation came at last Wednesday night's meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education.

AMONG THOSE HONORED for outstanding achievement at Western Kentucky University's 18th annual Award Day ceremony held Sunday, April 17, was Laura Jane Cooley who is shown above receiving the award for Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges from WKU President Kern Alexander. Miss Cooley, a senior, also presented the A. M. Stickles Scholarship by Dr. Richard Troutman, chairman of the department of history. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooley, of Prestonsburg.

Academic Trophy Winners

The Prestonsburg High School Academic Team walked off with 19 trophies at the annual East Kentucky Academic Conference Banquet Thursday, April 28. In the overall conference competition, the team tied for first place in Math, Science, and Quick Recall, was second in the overall standings, and was third in Social Studies.

In the Conference Tournament, the team took first in Math, second overall, in quick recall, and in Humanities, and was fourth in Social Studies.

The following team members were named to the all-conference team for having high point totals in competitions throughout the season: Mike Rosenberg, Science, Math, and Quick Recall; David Spiggle, Science, Social Studies, and Quick Recall; Dusty Weathers, Math; and Byron Crider, Social Studies.

Nell Lawson was named Coach of the Year for Science competition. Other schools in the conference are Pikeville, Johns Creek, Feds Creek, Sheldon Clark, Elkhorn City, Virgie, Johnson Central, Paintsville, Magoffin County, Millard, Phelps, Belfry, and Mullins. Superintendent of Public Instruction John Brock gave the keynote address.

Eastern Ky. Loses Jobs As Rest of State Gains

The number of Eastern Kentuckians out of work continued to rise through March, the last month for which statistics are available even though in 87 of the state's 120 counties there was a gain in the number employed.

A total of 30 counties had higher unemployment rates, while Bourbon, Franklin, and Russell counties remained the same for March as in February.

Floyd county's rate rose from 12.9 percent in February to 13.6 in March, and other counties in the Big Sandy ADD showed both losses and gains. Johnson showed a decrease in jobless from 16.1 in February to 15.0 in March; Magoffin from 19.3 to 18.7; Martin rose from 11.7 to 12.6, and Pike had a two percent increase in jobless, from 14.7 to 16.7. The district as a whole rose from 14.6 to 15.5, and 50.4 percent of those unemployed had worked in mining.

In the Kentucky River district, Breathitt, Knott, Lee, Leslie, Owsley, and Perry had minimal decreases in unemployment while Letcher and Wolfe counties unemployment figures rose. The Kentucky River district jobless decreased from 15.1 to 14.9.

The Cumberland Valley district, including Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle and Whitley counties decreased only from 13.5 in February to 13.3 in March with all counties showing double digit unemployment percentages.

In the Big Sandy, Kentucky River, and Cumberland districts, the major number of those filing for unemployment insurance benefits had previously worked in mining.

Despite the gloomy outlook for those seeking employment in Eastern Kentucky, the view in the rest of the state is for the most part encouraging with March marking the 12th consecutive month that the state has recorded single-digit unemployment. Further, the employment estimate for the state—1,539,300—is a record for March, surpassing the previous high set in 1985.

The state's preliminary unemployment rate for March was 9.4, down from 9.7 percent in February and 10.2 in March 1987.

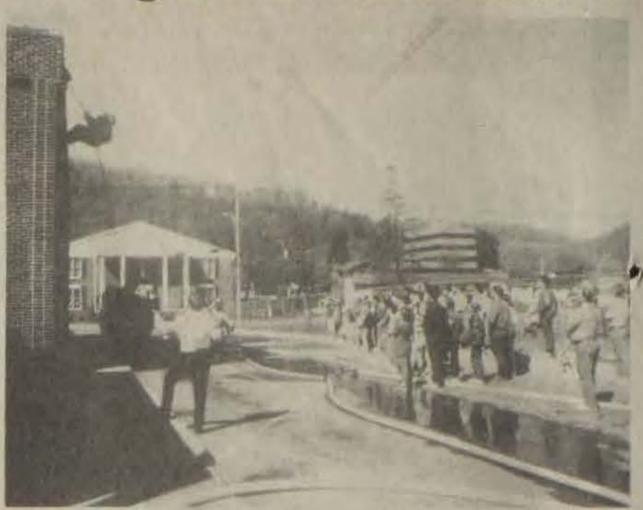

Nationally, unemployment fell from 6.2 percent in February to 5.9 percent in March.

Lowest rates in the state were reported in Trimble county with 3.2, followed by Shelby with 3.9, and Carroll and Woodford counties with 4.3 percent each.

Edmonson county had the highest rate, 29.6 percent, followed by Menifee with 27.4, McCreary with 26.9, and Elliott with 25.6 percent.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure employment trends rather than actually counting persons working. Figures used were released by the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Firefighters Conduct Classes

STUDENTS FROM PRESTONSBURG ELEMENTARY watch two firemen in full gear rappall down the side of the Municipal Building. The demonstration was part of fire fighting awareness day for the eighth graders. In the foreground with his back to the camera is Major Larry Adams.

By Joe Porter

It's part of Prestonsburg Fire Department's Public Fire Education Program. Every year for the last two years Major Larry Adams has taught a week-long class at Prestonsburg Elementary School; this year, though, the class was expanded to include all eighth graders with a live demonstration and hands on experience by the students.

The fire education class was held every day for eight days during Onda Hunt's Health Class, starting on April 11. One hundred eight students took part. "Every aspect that fire fighters face we gave them," Adams said. He designed the classes so that they would be—besides interesting—practical. Films and slides were shown and safety was stressed as the students learned about First Aid and how CPR is performed. The emphasis, Adams said, was on teaching them things that might be useful in a life emergency situation.

Major Paul Burke was in charge of the demonstration at the fire station, which included a rescue from the roof of the building, raising and lowering a victim on a stretcher, and repelling from the top of the building. The students also got a chance to don fire fighting equipment, climbed a 35-foot ladder, and hose water in simulated drills. "They did it the way we would do it," Burke said.

"It looks real easy on TV, but in real life there's a little bit more to it," one eighth grader told Adams after going through the drills.

"Larry does a fine job," said Hunt. "Anyone he's done, it's been exceptional. That's the reason why the program has been successful." In October the fire department, as part of a fire prevention program, will visit other schools throughout the county and give classes.

The students were impressed by what they learned from the firemen, so impressed that in their written evaluations after the class, one student said, "the past eight days were pure learning fun," and a number of students stated that they were now interested in joining the fire department. With that kind of response, Adams said, the department is seriously considering starting a Junior Fire Fighting Department.

All riders raising $50 or more will receive a trophy. Sharon Gibson, chairperson of the Bike-a-Thon, expressed appreciation to those who helped with the event, the riders, and the Allen Central Beta Club.

The President's Hi-Tech Ears

"Now when I whisper sweet nothings into his ear, at least I know he'll be able to hear me."

Cleopatra to Antony? No, Nancy Reagan to husband, Ron.

The First Lady's reported quip about the President's newly-acquired hearing aids brings home an event that affected millions of hearing-impaired Americans: the President's decision to go public in 1983 about his hearing loss, and the substantial benefits he derived from hearing aids, inspired them to finally do something about their own hearing loss. Quarterly sales of hearing aids rose a dramatic 30% following President Reagan's hearing aid fitting, according to the Hearing Industries Association.

Hearing aids, remembered by many as the clunky, cumbersome devices their grandfathers once wore, are in fact today a dramatic illustration of one of America's most recent triumphs of electronic miniaturization and efficiency.

The President's hearing aids, called canal aids because they fit entirely within his ear canal, are one of many styles of hearing aids that are worn at ear level. They are like tiny hi-fi seats, packing much of the technology of a sophisticated home stereo system into a package that can be as small as a marble. They consist of a microphone, amplifier and speaker and are powered by a battery that is less than an eighth of an inch thick. Like similar models available today, the President's hearing aid is custom made to fit his ear and to help his particular hearing loss.

According to the Hearing Industries Association, which gathers statistics on hearing aids, only 25 percent of the over 20 million hearing-impaired people in the United States wear hearing aids—even though most of them could benefit greatly by wearing them.

Why don't they? Some feel they don't need help, others are reluctant to find out. And perhaps most troublesome, many physicians lack up-to-date knowledge about hearing aids, and so cannot advise their patients properly.

The Maytown Homemakers will meet Thursday, May 19, at 7 p.m. at Helen Boyd's home.

Floyd County Homemakers attended a leader training meeting on selecting and making clothing accessories this week. This topic will be presented at the various Homemaker Clubs during their May meeting.

Those attending were: Gladys Allen, Alice Hayes, Marge Sammons, Kathy Lowe, Lucy Regan, Lillian Sturgill, Carma Sturgill, Belle Conn, Golda Williams, Garnet Fairchild, Barbara Dawson, Gail Osborne, Jean Meade, Donna Jefferson and Frances Pitts. Door prize winners were Gail Osborne and Garnet Fairchild.

Floyd County Homemakers attended the State Annual Homemakers meeting in Lexington last week.

Serving as voting delegates were Dorothy Harris and Carma Sturgill. Assisting with State Cultural Arts Display was Mary Sue Moore. Attending as voting State Board Member was Sharon Sparr, State Chairman.

Dinner Set In Honor Of Fr. William Poole

A special program is scheduled honoring Fr. William Poole on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, June 19 at 4 p.m. at Mary Queen Catholic Church in Lexington. Father Poole was pastor of the Catholic Church in Floyd county from 1965 to 1981.

An Irish band will play during a social hour until the dinner at 5 p.m. Fr. John Cahill (formerly of Drift) will be the master of ceremonies. Tickets are available at $12.50 from: The 25th Anniversary Committee, St. Peter Claver Church, 410 Jefferson St., Lexington, Ky. 40508.

Students Publish Newspaper

Six enterprising students at Wayland Elementary have been hard at work this year publishing the student newspaper, The Sting. The students practice interviewing techniques and experiment with photography. They are also responsible for the layout and design of the newspaper.

The Sting reporters are in front Melissa Corbett and in back are Nikki Ratliff, Ray Osborne, James Sexton, Stewart Hall and Danny Johnson. Their sponsor is Mrs. Sheila Ratliff.

MSU Sets Respiratory Workshop For Nurses

Morehead State University's Continuing Education Program for nursing and allied health professionals in conjunction with St. Claire Medical Center and Life Care Center of Morehead is sponsoring a workshop on respiratory nursing on Thursday, June 2.

The workshop, to be held in the Eagle Room on the MSU campus, is designed to provide intermediate level continuing education to nurses in Eastern Kentucky. Training in caring for those persons with chronic lung disease will be stressed.

The faculty for this one day session will be Micki McAndrew Harman and Janet J. Gross.

Nurses attending this workshop will receive seven contact hours as approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing. The cost is $20.

Additional information and registration is available from MSU's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences. (606) 783-2635.

WINNING CONSUMER DISPUTES

When you get into a dispute over a product bought or a service given, what are your rights? First, says The Better Way in Good Housekeeping's April issue, remember that your resourcefulness and persistence in pursuing a solution are important.

If you're having troubles with a new car: Even though the car is under warranty and you're not paying for repairs, you don't have to put up with a new car that is not in good working order. Call your state attorney general's office to see if your state has a "lemon law" (43 states have one). This requires the manufacturer to refund your money or replace the car if there have been four failed attempts to fix any one defect, or if it has taken 30 cumulative days to fix all defects, within the first year or 12,000 miles.

Check-clearing delays: Right now, there is no control on how long a bank can take to credit a deposit to an account. But starting in September 1988, federal law will require banks to credit local checks by the third working day, and out-of-town checks by the seventh day after deposit.

Pastors Participate In Hospital Week

Ten Floyd county pastors are helping Our Lady of the Way Hospital to prayerfully observe National Hospital Week, May 8-14.

The Rev. Joe Muench, St. Martha Church, Water Gap; the Rev. Mike Curry, Assembly of God, Martin; the Rev. John Adams, retired pastor of Jack's Creek Baptist Church, Hi Hat; the Rev. L.J. Moore, Martin Methodist Church, Martin; the Rev. Jack Howard, Emma United Methodist Church, Emma; the Rev. Steve Hopkins, First Baptist Church, Prestonsburg; the Rev. Lorie Vannucci, Assembly of God, Martin; the Rev. Weyman McGuire, Wayland United Methodist Church, Wayland; Jerry Manns, Old Regular Baptist Church, Rock Fork; and Omery Hall, Little Nancy Regular Baptist, Little Nancy, are each coming to the hospital to lead morning or evening prayers. Usually the prayers are led by the hospital's chaplain, Sister Charlene Young.

"We're the Caring Kind" is the theme of a special prayer service planned for today, Wednesday, May 11, at 1 p.m. in the hospital's chapel. The public is invited.

Special prayers are not the only activities through which Our Lady of the Way is observing National Hospital Week.

Sunday, May 8, mothers admitted to the OB department were presented flowers by the hospital's nursing staff, and a free, stop-smoking program jointly sponsored by the American Cancer Society began last night at Seton Complex.

Throughout the week, patients' trays have been adorned with hospital week tray tents.

National Hospital Week is celebrated each May by the 6,000 members of the American Hospital Association and the 610 hospitals of the Catholic Hospital Association.

A HOMEOWNER'S DREAM: Scientists have developed a miracle strain of grass that could someday make lawn mowers obsolete. International Wildlife magazine reports that the new grass grows only two to eight inches a year. This new grass comes up in early spring and is greener than most other varieties. It also gives off substances that keep weeds from invading its territory.

In last week's Martin's Bestway Market advertisement, the Times erred when it incorrectly listed the price of T-bone steaks as $2.29 per pound. The correct price, as given the newspaper, was $3.29 per pound. The Times regrets this mistake and any inconvenience it may have caused Martin's Bestway Market or its customers.

KET How-To Series To Begin Sunday
Make Yourself At Home, a new series for families active in and around their homes, makes its debut Sunday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m. on KET.
 The 13-week series provides ideas and practical assistance in three primary areas of interest: food and entertaining, gardening and home improvement. It features people throughout the country working on home projects which can be achieved by viewers in a single weekend (and not simply demonstrated by "experts").
 Whether it's building a brick patio, cooking pasta or bonsai gardening, the series emphasizes the satisfaction and fun that result from working together.
 Gordon Jump, best known as Arthur Carlson on the television series, WKRP in Cincinnati, hosts Make Yourself At Home. Field reporters Joan Pond and Scott Devenney provide further depth and variety to each program, but the real stars are the people shown enjoying and improving life around their homes and apartments.
 In the first program, Jump introduces the pleasure and ease of growing roses. From there, viewers journey to Boston and join the fun of an old-fashioned New England clambake. Finally, learn tips and hints from experts about repairing drywall and getting the "hang" of fixing doors.
 In future episodes, Make Yourself At Home tackles such subjects as windowsill gardening, coping with common plumbing problems, building an arbor, the 30-minute dinner party, the secrets of growing orchids, simple weatherization techniques, and new ways to use microwave ovens.
Make Yourself At Home is a co-production of KTCA-TV/Channel 2, St. Paul/Minneapolis and Sunset Films and Television of San Francisco.

Rudean Adams

For State Representative
92nd District

Why I Want To Be Your State Representative

- * To help promote the awareness of Eastern Kentucky's problems to Frankfort.
- * To show the impact these problems have on our area, because of the changing role coal is playing in our economy.
- * Implement economic development through help from federal, state and local government agencies and the private sector.
- * Use local ideas from organizations and individual citizens that are concerned about our direction for our future.
- * Bring as much of the law making process, as possible, to district areas so citizens may see how their input can be important.

In other words, I desire your help as much after I'm elected, as I do now to get elected.

"Your next air conditioner should be a heat pump."

Bob Vila
HOME IMPROVEMENT EXPERT

A regular central air conditioning system only works for you during a few summer months.

But the modern electric heat pump operates 12 full months of the year. In the summer, it's an efficient central air conditioner. In the winter, it teams up with your furnace to help heat your home.

And because of its high energy efficiency, it can help you cut your total heating bill.

Get the complete story by contacting your power company or your heating and cooling dealer today.

Average Winter Rainfall Declines In Kentucky

Although the average yearly rainfall in some parts of Kentucky has been greater during the past six years than earlier, the winter rainfall, critical to the recharging of ground water, actually has declined.

"Rainfall during the December-to-March period for each year from 1961 to 1986 decreased in Princeton, Bowling Green, Louisville, Lexington and Quicksand," said University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension agronomist Ken Wells.

Wells and his colleagues, R.E. Phillips and Harold Rice, found that the December-to-March rainfall from each of the five locations studied varied from 2.3 inches under the previous 20-year average at Princeton to 5.7 inches below at Lexington airport.

Wells cautioned that it would be wrong to interpret such limited data as indicative of a long-term change in rainfall.

"First, our data are quite limited. We found wide variations in rainfall patterns within a few miles. Second, a six-year period is much too short for anyone to conclude such a change," Wells said.

Nonetheless, the fact that rainfall during the critical recharging period between December and March has been short for the past several years means that farmers aren't imagining problems when they say their ponds are low.

The answer to the puzzle is that distribution of rainfall during the year has been different, the agronomist said.

"If this trend continues, Kentucky can look forward to more intense effects of dry soil on environmental conditions, particularly in early spring and summer," Wells said.

HOROSCOPE

Glucose Sweetens Calcium Absorption

"A spoonful of sugar helps the medicine go down," sang Mary Poppins, and sugar now has been shown to help the human body absorb calcium, according to scientists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging.

Ten grams—about a teaspoonful—of glucose sugar taken with a calcium capsule can increase the body's uptake of the mineral by nearly 25 percent, according to Richard J. Wood, nutritionist, and Irwin H. Rosenberg, director of the center. Located at Tufts University in Boston, the center is funded by USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

"Many women, in particular, don't get enough calcium in their diets," Wood said. "Our findings indicate that glucose could be an effective way of enhancing intestinal absorption for this group."

Glucose polymers, which are sold in drug stores under several brand names as calorie supplements, are as effective as the sugar, Wood said. And both appear to work as well in postmenopausal women as in young women.

Earlier findings, Wood said, suggested that 40 grams of glucose polymers were needed to enhance calcium bioavailability. Now the scientists report that one-quarter that amount, having only 40 calories instead of 160, is just as effective.

Wood foresees combining calcium supplements with glucose or the polymer, such as "calcium in a syrup."

"There's a lot of scientific interest in the potential of increasing calcium intake to prevent osteoporosis," Wood said, "and some evidence that it may be effective in preventing hypertension."

Rosenberg said he and Wood revived this line of research about five years ago with scientists at the University of Chicago because "calcium isn't absorbed very efficiently, particularly in older people. We want to find a way to maximize a person's own ability to absorb it. Otherwise, the effectiveness of calcium supplements in postmenopausal women is questionable."

In their four human studies to date, Wood said, calcium absorption improved in men and women in their twenties through their fifties, including patients with gastrointestinal disease.

By HAROLD COOLEY

THE PLACEBO EFFECT

It has been observed that when given an inactive substance, some patients will display an observable effect. This is called the "placebo effect." The word "placebo" is derived from the Latin word that means "to please." The placebo effect demonstrates just how great the role of the mind is in overall health. Just the expectation of better health is enough to actually cause a turn in that direction in some people. In comparative medical studies, placebos are given to one group of patients, while an experimental drug is given to another. Neither group knows which substance it is getting. Researchers then chart the effectiveness of the experimental drug against the effect of the placebo.

COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your pharmacy. Our records are fully maintained for all drug warnings, drug interactions and personal drug allergies here at # 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Army Corps Opens
Bulltown Center

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers opened the Bulltown Historic Area's Interpretive Center May 7, for the 1988 recreation season.

Visitor attractions at the historic area features the center, a Civil War battle site and a reconstructed 19th century farmstead.

Interpretive Center staff, wearing period clothing, will give guided tours to the battle site and farmstead. Center visitors may view numerous artifacts and displays as well as daily slide shows about Burnsville Lake and area history.

The historic area is located next to the campground at Burnsville Lake off U.S. Highway 19 near Napier, West Virginia. Schools and special interest groups may schedule special tours and programs by calling 304-452-8170.

Hours for the area will be daily 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through Labor Day, September 5, and noon to 4 p.m. through mid-October.

"LEADERSHIP YOU CAN BE PROUD OF"

My name is Grady Stumbo. I have served state government as Secretary of Human Resources and twice ran for Governor of Kentucky. The people of East Kentucky overwhelmingly supported my efforts to elect a Governor from East Kentucky with large majorities in both 1983 and 1987.

I met and worked with many Legislators during my tenure with state government. One state senator that was always working for his District was Senator Benny Ray Bailey of Senatorial District 29. Benny Ray is a lifelong friend of mine and managed both my statewide campaigns. I have seen him work in Frankfort on every issue to make sure that the people of East Kentucky receive consideration on all matters of state government. I believe all residents of East Kentucky can see the results of Benny Ray's work for his area.

I support Benny Ray Bailey for re-election to the Kentucky State Senate and I hope each resident of District 29 will also support and vote for Benny Ray. He is a senior member of the Senate Budget Committee, Chairman of the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, Chairman of the Budget Sub-Committee on Human Resources and a member of the Senate Counties and Special Districts Committee. Benny Ray has earned the respect of his colleagues in the Senate through his hard work and his ability to rapidly understand the complex procedures of state government and make them work for our area.

Benny Ray Bailey is a state senator that all of us can be proud of. I encourage each of you to go out on May 24th and vote to keep Benny Ray Bailey as our state senator. There is simply no better senator in Frankfort. Thank you.

Goble Wins 'Hillbilly' Quilt

Freddie Goble, of Auxier, displays the 1988 Hillbilly Quilt made by Mary Anne James and Ardena Wheeler that he won during Hillbilly Days at Pikeville.

Freddie Goble, of Auxier, won the Hillbilly Quilt drawn and designed by children at the Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospital in Lexington. Goble, whose name was drawn from the thousands of entries at the conclusion of the Hillbilly Days parade, April 16, purchased his winning ticket at Walmart here where Mrs. James and Mrs. Wheeler reportedly sold 500 tickets.

This year marks the ninth annual quilt donated by the ladies and according to Mrs. James, it began as a way to give something back to the hospital for the care her granddaughter, Stephanie, received there.

When Stephanie was born with birth defects, doctors said she would be unable to walk and would remain a 'vegetable' for the rest of her life. The family contacted the Shriner's Hospital and medical miracles began. The child is now walking with the aid of braces and is a third grade student. She is a year-long participant in the Special Olympics games.

When Mrs. James and Mrs. Wheeler began the project nine years ago they raised $300 on the quilt. This year the quilt was displayed in stores in Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Paintsville, Whitesburg, Lexington, Frankfort and in Williamson, West Virginia. Sales totaled $6,000.

Proceeds were used to supply four recreation rooms for the hospitalized children, with items such as slow motion volleyball, jumbo wall planning calendars, birthday posters, ring toss games, sit-down baseball, etc. A computer specially equipped for the handicapped has also been ordered. Any funds left over will be used for a cook-out for the children at an open house celebration to be held June 12.

Mrs. James and Mrs. Wheeler express their appreciation to everyone who contributed in any way to the fund raiser.

Flood Insurance Workshop Set

The National Flood Insurance Program will hold two back-to-back seminars here this Spring. A registration fee payable to the National Flood Insurance Program payable in advance will be required.

The first scheduled seminar will be May 17 for local mortgage lenders, and May 18 for insurance agents to be held at the Holiday Inn. Hours of the seminar will be 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Topics covered for the area mortgage lenders are designed to be of benefit to compliance officers, loan processing officers, and servicing personnel. With 80 percent of property located in the 100-year floodplain, not covered by flood insurance, the focus of the insurance agents seminar will be getting to know the flood program.

For information on registration forms for the seminar, contact the National Flood Insurance Program, 5775-C Peachtree Dunwoody Road, Suite 350, Atlanta, Ga. 30342, or the Kentucky Flood Control Advisory Commission, 624 Shelby Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: In your column, you often mention two organizations—the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute. What are these organizations and how do they differ?

ANSWER: The National Cancer Institute (NCI) is the Federal Government's principal agency for research on cancer prevention, diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation. NCI is also responsible for dissemination of information about the control of cancer.

NCI is one of eleven research institutes that make up the National Institutes of Health (NIH). Located in Bethesda, Maryland, NIH is part of the Department of Health and Human Services.

All funding for the National Cancer Institute comes from tax money appropriated by Congress each year. These funds support cancer research in the NCI's Bethesda Headquarters and in about 1,000 laboratories and medical centers throughout the United States.

The American Cancer Society (ACS) is the major voluntary non-profit organization for cancer. Its national office is in New York City and there are 58 divisions—one in each state, Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia and six metropolitan areas.

The American Cancer Society supports programs in public education, professional education, service and rehabilitation for cancer patients as well as medical and scientific research. The majority of its work is done by the 2,500,000 volunteers of the ACS. Private contributions provide the sole source of funding for the ACS.

The Kentucky Cancer Information Service is a program of the National Cancer Institute.

For more information about American Cancer Society and National Cancer Institute, call the Cancer Information Service (CIS) at 1-800-4-CANCER. Or write to the CIS at the Markey Cancer Center, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. The CIS is a service of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

Seventh Annual Rescue School Set May 14-15

Field training for Kentucky emergency response personnel will offer an action-packed list of search and rescue courses during the annual rescue school at Eastern Kentucky University May 14 and 15.

Sponsored by the state Division of Disaster and Emergency Services and E.K.U., the courses will be more intensive than in past years, with instruction covering all day both days, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., at the weekend school.

"This is all very practical training," said James H. (Mike) Molloy, executive director of state DES. "We will have on the order of 150 emergency responders enrolled, and working very hard in these courses," he said.

Trainees will choose from a list that includes 12 separate subjects, most directed at search and rescue techniques.

On the list are fundamentals of search and rescue, special sections on cave, aerial, farm, and river rescue, vehicle extrication and search dog techniques. These courses require turnout gear or other appropriate clothing.

Several other courses feature emergency medical training subjects, mass casualty triage, which qualify for EMT certification, plus instruction in driver safety and emergency communications. One course teaches realistic ways to prepare "victims" for roles in disaster exercises.

GRETHEL HOMEMAKERS

Grethel Homemakers met May 2 at the Grethel Baptist Church Annex at 8:30 p.m. The meeting was called to order by Arietta Hall. Devotions were led by Christine Crisp on the topic, Prayer based on Psalm 65:2.

The lesson, Accessories—The Finishing Touch, was taught by Floyd Co. Extension agent, Mrs. Frances Pitts who demonstrated many scarf styles. A scarf pattern was available to copy for home sewing.

Election of new officers were president, Arietta Hall; vice-president, Barbara C. Newman; secretary, Eileen Martin; treasurer, Shirley Hamilton; telephone chairman, Flora Tackett; devotional committee, Christine Crisp and Glenna Evans.

Homemakers' Camp will be held June 1-3. Shirley Hamilton and Barbara Newman served raw vegetables with onion dip, potato chips, cake and coffee to the group.

KET's Wild America Presented Through May

In Wild America's new season, host Mary Stouffer travels from the Pacific Coast to the Louisiana bayous to Maine's Moosehorn Wildlife Refuge to uncover natural wonders across the North American continent.

Wild America airs Mondays at 7:00 p.m. on KET.

"Beautiful Blues" (May 16) looks at the color blue in both plant and animal kingdoms from bluebells to bluebirds to blue whales, and explains some of the reasons why it exists.

"Timberdoodles of Moosehorn" (May 23) tells the life story of the unusual woodcock nicknamed timberdoodle, bog sucker, or twister. The program is filmed at the Moosehorn Wildlife Refuge in Maine.

"Minnesota Mink" (May 30) features the wild mink. Much more than a fur coat, the wild mink is graceful in water as an otter, as feisty on land as a wolverine, and as a pungent under stress as a skunk. Marty Stouffer follows mink along streams near Lake Superior.

Census Bureau To Collect Data

The Census Bureau will visit area residents May 16-21 to collect data on employment and unemployment, according to William F. Hill, director of the bureau's Charlotte regional office. Interviewers also will collect data on employee benefits such as retirement plans and health insurance.

The local labor force data will contribute to May's national labor force picture to be released June 3 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The data (seasonally adjusted) from January, February, and March showed a national civilian unemployment rate of 5.7 percent for the first quarter of 1988.

Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

NOTICE OF SALE

On the 19th day of March, 1988, the City Commission of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, adopted an Ordinance directing the sale, at public outcry, of a city electric power franchise. The Ordinance is in words and figures as follows.

ORDINANCE NO. 02, 1988

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF WHEELWRIGHT, KENTUCKY, PROVIDING FOR THE ADVERTISEMENT AND SALE OF A FRANCHISE AUTHORIZING THE OWNER THEREOF TO OWN, MAINTAIN, CONSTRUCT AND OPERATE ELECTRIC POWER TRANSMISSION AND DISTRIBUTION LINES UPON, ALONG, OVER AND UNDER THE STREETS, THOROUGHFARES, ALLEYS, SIDEWALKS, BRIDGES, PUBLIC WAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES OF SAID CITY.

WHEREAS, the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky is incorporated under the provisions of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, and desires to grant a franchise for an electric power company to own, maintain, construct and operate its electric power transmission and distribution lines upon, along, over and under the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and other public places of the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, and

WHEREAS, there exists a public necessity for adequate service of electric power and energy to the citizens of the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, and

WHEREAS, it appears that it is to the interest of the public that a franchise be advertised and sold, granting and entitling the grantee to use the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and public places for the erection, operation and maintenance of lines for the transmission and distribution of electric power to the citizens of the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, and to persons, firms and corporations beyond the limits of the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky.

THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF WHEELWRIGHT, FLOYD COUNTY, KENTUCKY, DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1

That there be sold at public auction to the highest and best bidder, the franchise, privilege, right and authority to acquire, maintain, construct and operate in, above, under, across and along the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and other public places (as the same now exist or may hereafter be laid out) of the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, lines, poles and equipment for the distribution of electric energy, either by means of overhead or underground conductors, with all the necessary or desirable appurtenances for the purpose of supplying electric energy to said City and the inhabitants thereof, and persons and corporations beyond the limits thereof, for light, heat, power, and any other purpose or purposes for which electric energy is now or may hereafter be used, and for the transmission of the same within, through or across said City.

SECTION 2

Said lines and appurtenances shall be constructed so as to interfere as little as possible with the traveling public in its use of the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and public places.

SECTION 3

The franchise, privilege, right and authority shall be in full force and effect for a period of twenty (20) years from the date of the passage of the ordinance granting it.

SECTION 4

The grantee of this franchise shall save the City harmless from any and all liability arising in any way from negligence of the grantee in the erection, maintenance or operation of said lines and appurtenances.

SECTION 5

The grantee of this franchise shall have the right and privilege to take up such portion or part of any pavement and make such excavation in the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and other public places of the City of Wheelwright as may be deemed necessary for the construction and maintenance of its lines, wires or cables, but whenever the grantee of this franchise shall begin the erection of any lines or other equipment, it shall promptly and diligently prosecute the work to completion and leave the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and other public places where such work is done in as good condition of repair as before such work was commenced.

SECTION 6

Wherever in this franchise either the City of Wheelwright or the grantee thereof is referred to, it shall be deemed to include the respective successors and assigns of either and all rights, privileges and obligations contained in this franchise shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the respective successors and assigns of said City and said grantee, whether so expressed or not.

SECTION 7

The grantee of this franchise may make such rules and regulations, covering the furnishing of said electric energy, as may be fair and reasonable and consistent with the standard practice of the grantee. Said grantee may charge such rates for electric services as shall be fair and reasonable. The said grantee shall render service under said franchise of like quality, that is, adequate, efficient and reasonable, to that now being rendered to said City.

The consideration paid by the successful bidder for the franchise, privilege, right and authority provided for herein shall be complete compensation and consideration for said franchise, privilege, right and authority, and for the use and occupancy of the streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways and other public places of the City, in lieu of any street or alley rental or of any charge for the use or occupancy of said streets, thoroughfares, alleys, sidewalks, bridges, public ways or other public places of said City, and in lieu of any pole tax or meter tax.

SECTION 9

Mary Ann Johnson, City Clerk of the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, is hereby appointed Special Commissioner to sell said franchise, privilege, right and authority hereby ordered sold, and said Special Commissioner is directed to offer said franchise for sale at public auction and shall sell same to the highest bidder at the front door of the City Building in Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, at 9:30 a.m. on May 21, 1988, after she has advertised the time, terms, conditions and place of sale, pursuant to law, by inserting a notice of sale in the Floyd County Times, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, a newspaper of general circulation in Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks prior to the date of said sale, said advertisement to include this Ordinance.

SECTION 10

Bids and proposals for the purchase and acquisition of the franchise, privilege, right and authority hereby granted shall be in writing and shall be delivered to the Mayor upon the date and at the time fixed by the Special Commissioner in said advertising for receiving bids. Thereafter, the Special Commissioner shall report and submit to the City Commission at the time and place of its next regular meeting said bids and proposals for its approval, and said City Commission reserves the right for and on behalf of the City of Wheelwright to refuse any and all bids for said franchise, privilege, right and authority. In the event the bids reported by the Special Commissioner shall be refused by the said City Commission, it may direct, by resolution or ordinance, said franchise, privilege, right and authority to be again offered for sale from time to time, until a satisfactory bid therefor shall be received and approved. Each bid shall be accompanied by a deposit, and each bidder shall post bond in accordance with the provisions and requirements of KRS 96.020. However, such deposit and bond need not be made by a corporation or person already owning in or adjacent to the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, a plant and equipment sufficient to render the service required by this Ordinance.

SECTION 11

Each bidder for said franchise, privilege, right and authority shall file, as a part of his bid, a certified copy of a Certificate of Convenience and Necessity from the Public Service Commission of Kentucky, issued under the authority of KRS 278.020(3).

SECTION 12

This Ordinance granting this franchise shall be accepted by the grantee thereof within sixty (60) days from the date of its passage.

Approved this 19 day of March, 1988. s/DENNIS HOLBROOK Mayor Pro Tem

ATTEST: s/MARY ANN JOHNSON City Clerk

Introduction and First Reading February 6, 1988 Second Reading March 19, 1988

Pursuant to the direction of the City Commission of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, as set forth in the foregoing Ordinance, the undersigned will, on the 21st day of May, 1988, at the front door of the City Building in the City of Wheelwright, Floyd County, Kentucky, at 9:30 a.m., offer for public sale, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, an electric franchise on the public streets and thoroughfares of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, which electric franchise shall be in terms set forth in the foregoing Ordinance, and said sale shall be made in all respects in accordance with the Ordinance set forth above, and all bidders will be required to comply with the terms of said Ordinance.

WITNESS, Mary Ann Johnson, City Clerk and Special Commissioner, this 7th day of April, 1988.

MARY ANN JOHNSON, City Clerk and Special Commissioner 5-4-3t.

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350, notice is hereby given that Coal Mac Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Ky. 41501, intends to apply for bond release on permit number 836-0013, which was last issued on 2-7-84. The application covers an area of approximately 64.53 acres located 2 miles south of Grethel in Floyd county.

The permit is approximately 1000 feet west from State Route 1929 junction with State Route 979 and located 1/4 miles north of Hamilton Branch of Mud Creek. The latitude is 37° 27' 52". The longitude is 82° 39' 30".

The total bond now in effect is $206,323.00 of which approximately 60% is to be released. Reclamation work thus far performed includes: backfilling, final grading seeding, and mulching completed in fall of 1984. Results thus far achieved include initial growth of vegetation as per the revegetation plan.

Written comments, objections, requests for a conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Field Services, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, by date 30 days from the last advertisement. 4-27-3t.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0196

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350, notice is hereby given that Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501, has filed an application for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation. The proposed operation disturbs approximately 377.8 surface acres and will underlie an additional 107.3 acres. The operation is located 1/4 miles southeast of Eastern in Floyd county.

The proposed operation is approximately 1/4 miles southeast from KY State Route 550's junction with State Route 80 and located 1/4 miles south of Right Fork of Beaver Creek. The latitude is 37° 30' 13". The longitude is 82° 47' 36". The surface area is owned by Goldie Osborne, Gosling Branch Coal Company, Inc., S.C. Allen Heirs, Charlie Martin et al., Frank Justice et al., Bernie Gayheart, Earnest Hayes, Luther Hicks, Coal Mac, Inc., Hayes Heirs, Clinton Terry, David Smith, Angelo Dudley, Nelle Johnson, Edgill Hayes, and LaFayette Gayheart. The operation will underlie land owned by: LaFayette Gayheart, Charlie Martin et al., Frank Justice et al., Hayes Heirs, Earnest Hayes, S.C. Allen Heirs, Gosling Branch Coal Company, Inc., and Willie Duff.

The proposed operation is located on the Martin and Wayland U.S.G.S. 7-1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the mountain top removal, contour strip, and auger method of mining. The application will include a variance from approximate original contour. The application also includes a proposed land use change from the forest pre-mining land use to a wildlife post-mining land use and a forest land post-mining land use. The operation will affect an area within 100 feet of public road Gosling Branch Road. The operation will involve mining thru the public road, but access will remain at all times and the road will be relocated at or near the original location.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's, Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 4-20-3t.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, and/or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date. It.

U.S. SENATOR FOR KENTUCKY

Mitch McConnell

THE BATTLE OF THE BUDGET CONTINUES

On April 14, the U.S. Senate voted on a budget resolution that will spend $1.1 trillion for fiscal 1989. The final vote on this measure was 69 for, 26 against. I was one of those Senators that voted against this budget.

The spending measure included $299.5 billion for defense, and domestic discretionary spending of $169 billion. The budget was cut, but it was not cut enough. Congress has, for too long, plunged head first into runaway spending, choosing to throw the deficit on the backs of our children instead of taking a hard-line approach at cutting spending. The reality of this financially irresponsible behavior came to a head on October 19, 1987 when the stock market crashed a record 508 points and the Dow Jones Industrial Average lost 22.6% of its value.

Washington was swift in calling for an investigation. Experts pointed to a number of different causes including the use of computer trading to speed stock sales. However, there was unanimous agreement the root cause was federal spending and the deficit.

Recognizing this, the President called an emergency economic summit meeting on Capitol Hill with House and Senate budget leaders to find ways to cut the budget and slash the deficit. The time was ripe for broad, meaningful budget cuts with bipartisan support. But after 6 weeks of discussions, the negotiators finally agreed on a budget package that reduced the deficit by only $23 billion for 1989. I was very disappointed with this figure. I think the negotiators missed a golden opportunity to make the hard choices that are necessary in cutting government spending.

With the budget summit behind us we must turn our efforts to other areas, namely a line-item veto and a constitutional amendment to balance the budget. A line-item veto will allow the President to strike single, "pork-barrel" projects without having to veto an entire spending bill. If the President had this power, he would be able to eliminate millions of dollars of unnecessary federal spending.

A constitutional amendment to balance the budget is another way to make the federal government responsible for spending decisions. It would force Congress to balance its budget the same way we balance our checkbooks -- by spending only as much as we collect.

Although Congress talks a lot about balancing the budget, its actions speak otherwise. The stock market crash was a warning about the volatility of our financial markets and how the federal budget and deficit affects its up or down movements. As a member of the Senate, I will continue to stand for a balanced budget, the right of the President to have a line-item veto, and a constitutional amendment to balance the budget. It will take sacrifice and effort, but we must get federal spending under control.

Preventable Injuries Leading Child Killer

Preventable injuries kill more American children than all childhood diseases combined. This year one of every four children is expected to suffer a preventable injury serious enough to require medical attention.

The Louisville/Jefferson County Safe Kids Campaign, is a five-year program to save children's lives. The local coalition is one of many working with the National Coalition to Prevent Childhood Injury. The coalition is made up of organizations and individuals committed to changing the way people think and act about childhood safety, and therefore, reducing the number of injury related deaths and disabilities among children 0-14 years of age.

Accidents or preventable injuries are the leading killer of children. They account for nearly half of all childhood deaths. Nearly 8,000 children within this age group die from preventable injuries each year, and about 50,000 are permanently disabled.

The fact that preventable injuries are the leading cause of health risk to American children continues to go unrecognized. This lack of recognition stems from the small amount of knowledge that the public has. A national survey of parents' attitudes showed that although children are about 100 times more likely to die in accidents than to be kidnapped by strangers or to die from drug abuse, drugs and kidnapping top the list of parents' fears. The survey data show that parents suffer from both lack of accurate information and widespread misinformation.

The following safety tips are offered by the Kosair Children's Hospital.

Cross streets hundreds of times with your children before letting them cross alone.

Always use car safety belts and car seats.

Get your child into the habit of always wearing a bike helmet when cycling. Supervise children in and near water. Lower the hot water temperature to 120F.

Overseas Vacation Could Become Medical Nightmare

To keep your dream vacation from becoming a medical nightmare, check with your physician before traveling overseas, advise Kentucky Department for Health Services officials.

Michael Moser, M.D., the department's chief epidemiologist and director of preventive services, says that international travelers should seek advice before the trip about immunizations and how to avoid illnesses such as traveler's diarrhea and malaria.

"People who plan to travel in other countries should check with a physician well in advance of leaving," he said. "Some countries pose no health threat, but immunizations and other precautions are important if one is traveling to certain parts of the world."

Medical advice to travelers is based on the individual's health, sex, age and the area to be visited, Moser said, so consultation with a personal physician is necessary. However, there are some general precautions.

Everyone should have diphtheria and tetanus boosters updated every 10 years—regardless of travel. People planning a trip abroad should check on those boosters. Adults born after 1957 who have not been immunized against measles, mumps and rubella should get immunizations before leaving the United States.

"These illnesses are still common outside the United States," he said, "and can cause significant problems when developed during a trip."

If one's itinerary includes the parts of Africa or South America where yellow fever is common, travelers should be immunized against the disease.

If traveling to areas with poor sanitation, polio boosters and a hepatitis A immunization may be called for. Adults who had the full series of polio immunizations as children are advised to get a booster before traveling to such areas.

Malaria, although common in many parts of the world, can be avoided by taking anti-malarial drugs before and during travel in areas of risk. The appropriate regimen of medication depends on the area to be visited, Moser said.

Visitors to Western Europe, Japan, Australia or New Zealand have no greater risk of exposure to communicable disease than during domestic travel. Reasonable hygienic practices should be adequate for travel to these areas, Moser said.

However, travelers to most other parts of the world should not assume that food and water are safe, he said. Uncooked food and unpasteurized milk products, including cheese, have often been implicated in illness. Carbonated, canned or bottled beverages are generally safe, but ice may not be safe. Food purchased from street vendors and water in rural areas are especially suspect.

Moser recommends that anyone who becomes sick after a trip abroad should mention their travel to the attending physician.

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, or "FAS," is the number two cause of birth defects and is totally preventable when expectant mothers avoid drinking alcohol, according to Kentucky's Division of Substance Abuse. May 8-14 is FAS Awareness Week.

A Message From W.R. (Robert) Walters To All His Friends In The Seventh District

Warmest greetings to all my friends. I am Robert Walters of Pikeville, an 82 year old Pike Countian. Outside of Pike County most of you who remember me know that I ran the Pikeville Livestock Market for 27 years. I made good long friendships with people from all the 21 counties in the Seventh District.

It is those fine old friends of mine across Eastern Kentucky that I now speak to by this ad for my friend Judge Dan Jack Combs. I am the one in the wheelchair in the picture which accompanies this greeting, and if I still had both legs I would try to see all of you in person.

I have known Dan Jack Combs for forty years and consider him one of the smartest lawyers in the coalfields. He is now on the Court of Appeals and is running for the State Supreme Court.

As my lawyer he fought hard for my right under the Constitution to have a gun collection and to trade them. He will uphold your rights too. He is a good, honest, and fair man who believes in the Constitution and the rule of law. As your friend I assure you that you will be proud to vote for Judge Dan Jack Combs.

GARFIELD SLONE

For STATE REPRESENTATIVE 92nd DISTRICT

O.K. People—we're getting down to the home stretch—with less than 2 weeks to go. I think most of you know me by now but just in case you don't, I'll review just a little bit.

I was born and raised at Pippa Passes. I am the only candidate to attend and graduate from a local college (Alice Lloyd). I've only sought office once before and was elected as magistrate, serving from 1974-1978. I was the youngest magistrate to serve in Ky. I was appointed Honorary Clerk of Court of Appeals of Kentucky and Honorary Kentucky Colonel during this term. I assisted in the Knott County courthouse being remodeled, Knott County Ambulance Service, new Knott County jail, Human Services Center and swimming pool, saved the Knott County library without raising taxes, built Trace Fork Road, Mullins Branch Road to Hollybush, Zebb Hall Road, plus other roads too numerous to mention. Also, several bridges such as Dry Creek Bridge, John Hall Bridge, Slone & Layne Bridge in lower Beaver, helped get thousands of dollars for local fire departments. These are just some of the things I accomplished during that term.

Since then, my dad retired, and my mom and I have managed Slone's Grocery (better known as Elbert Slones Grocery) at Pippa Passes.

In the last few years, after listening to various people's concerns and seeing our area being ignored, I decided I wanted to try to make things better for all of us in the 92nd District. I'm not going to make a lot of promises. My wonderful parents told me, when I could barely talk, "son, make sure you can follow through, before you make any promises—because if you don't—people will never trust you again." I've tried to live by that rule, all my life. However, I will make you this promise, if you elect me to represent you, I will do everything in my power to curb the rising costs of utilities, insurance, etc., make our area more appealing to outside industries so they'll move into our area and provide the jobs we so desperately need, give top priority to education, and try to revive our sagging coal business.

Talk to your family and friends about me. After doing so, and reviewing the situation that our economy is in right now, I feel confident, that you will decide that Garfield Slone is our "Pathway To The Future."

Thank You Very Much!

P.S.—My Great-Aunt Verna Mae Slone and her husband Great-Uncle Willie Slone asked me to add that they'd like all their family and friends to go out and vote for me on May 24th. She is the author of WHAT MY HEART WANTS TO TELL, and other great books. If you don't have a copy be sure to pick one up—you'll be glad you did.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Supporters of Garfield Slone are having a get-together Sunday, May 15 from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. beside Garfield Slone's Grocery at Pippa Passes. This is located about ¼-mile above Alice Lloyd College.

Local bands will be performing and free refreshments will be served.

We hope to see you there!

Allen Central To Compete In Regional Meet

The sport had become a dinosaur, extinct throughout the county, until Allen Central High School revived it during the 1986-87 school year.

Track and field was totally non-existent in Floyd county before last year, but now Allen Central is making sure the sport stays alive. And Saturday they hope it will carry some of the students to the state's sectional competition.

"Several of our boys stand a real good shot of advancing," Forrest Hughes, Allen Central's coach, said of his team's chances in the upcoming regional meet. "We're right on the bubble with several of our teams, such as the relay teams, having a chance to advance."

The top four finishers in each event in regional competition, which is to be held at Pikeville Saturday, advance to the sectional event to be held at Boyd county. The two best finishers there go on to state play.

Hughes, a former track and field coach at Prestonsburg, says Allen Central's 440 girls relay team "stands a real good chance of advancing." He says the same of the mile and 440 boys' relay teams.

"We've got a real good girls' team," Hughes said. "They could end up probably second or third. They've broken school records three or four times with different groups running."

Breaking school records, which this year's team has done frequently, doesn't have much of an impact when the fact that this is only Allen Central's second year of competition. But it does tell Coach Hughes that the program has made progress from last season to this season.

"Mostly we've got freshmen and grade schoolers. We've got a young team, but they've done real well this year. I'm proud of their performances," Hughes said.

Allen Central, the only track and field team in the county, placed fifth at a Jenkins High School meet, and recently finished fourth in the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference meet.

One reason for the Rebels' quick success is discus thrower Brian Wallen, a freshman who also throws the shot put. Wallen, 6'11" and close to 300 pounds, has recorded a 128.5 foot discus throw this year, only 12 feet shy of the state's longest this season.

Hughes holds high regard for Wallen's performances, and is quick to point out that the best is yet to come. He is the favorite in the region to capture top honors for the discus, and may go even further.

"He's beaten everyone in the region this year. He is favored to win the region, and could make it all the way to the state," the coach said. "He's a big time college football and track prospect. He's real strong, and he's young."

"I've been in this for about 15 years and I've never seen a freshman any better," Hughes continued, "and I've seen a lot of freshmen come and go."

Wallen also holds the Allen Central record for the shot put, tossing it 40 feet. He also plays football for the Rebels. Other performers expected to show strong in the regionals include Mickey Parsons, and Kenny Keens.

Parsons, a sophomore, has set school records in the 100-yard dash, and is a member of the record setting 440 relay team. Keens, Tim Slone and Bobby Hopson also run the relays with Parsons.

Keens, another sophomore, holds the half mile record, and runs the mile relay with Slone, Gary Carpenter, and Chris Yates. Both relay teams are expected to show strength at Pikeville.

The track and field team, which consists of seven girls and 12 boys, has only one senior, Bobby Hopson. Other than Hopson, and Lisa Hicks, a junior, the team is made up of sophomores, freshmen, and grade school students.

"We're going to be real good in a few years," Hughes speculated. "When we get a track, and they've promised us one, we're going to be able to have a good team here." As of now Allen Central holds its practices without proper training facilities and space.

And track and field, according to Hughes, is something that takes time to master. "Track and field is something that takes time to learn. Rarely does an athlete come out and say 'I want to run track' and do a good job," Hughes said. "It takes a year just to learn how to run track. We're still learning this year, but next year we'll get a little better, and then the next year we'll improve some more."

The first two seasons have been an introductory course for the participating athletes, but Hughes says his team has enjoyed success even though they have been challenging more advanced, mature programs.

Winning though, is something he has put on a back burner. Track and field itself is the main fuel that keeps his fire for the sport burning.

"I might not ever win a district championship or a regional championship, but that doesn't really matter. I just love the sport, and that's enough for me," Hughes said.

"We've got some good athletes on the team, but we've got some kids that aren't strong enough to play football, or fast enough to play basketball. They come out, and find what suits them, and that's what they do."

Host Pikeville is considered to be the favorite in the region, which begins at 9:30 a.m. But Hughes expects some of his own athletes to perform well enough to advance on to sectional competition.

Bobcats Hold Off McDowell To Advance In Tournament

Coming into Monday's game Junior Newsome already had respect for McDowell's offensive capabilities. He proved just how much by starting Duran Newsome, considered to be the Bobcats ace, on the mound.

Then the Daredevils proved why Betsy Layne's coach held high expectations for their hitting ability. McDowell collected a total of eight hits, including one the park couldn't hold, but the Bobcats had enough firepower of their own to come out an 11-6 winner.

Betsy Layne had 13 hits themselves, and rode a three-hit performance by Brad Hall to the win, which propelled them into the district tournament's second round. They play Wheelwright. The Bobcats, after falling behind 1-0, scored three times in the second, and added one in the third to take a 4-1 lead. McDowell rallied to tie the score in the bottom of the fourth, but then the Bobcats tallied once in the fifth, and hit for six runs in the sixth to blow the game open.

Newsome, who needed relief help in the sixth inning, got credit for the Betsy Layne win. The junior right-hander pitched five-and-two-thirds innings, giving up all eight hits and all six runs. He walked four and struck out eight. Brad Hall, a senior right hander, came on with two outs in the sixth and knocked off the final four batters in order to preserve the victory. Hall struck out one in his inning and a third of work.

Henry Webb, who went the distance for McDowell, suffered the loss. Webb struck out only one, and walked five in seven innings.

The Daredevils took their only lead of the game in the first inning when Webb struck out leading off the game, but reached as the pitch bounced past catcher Glen Hammond. Webb was sacrificed to second on a Brent Rose bunt, went to third as Mike McQuate flied out, and scored when Dickie Joe Shannon doubled down the left field line. But that lead didn't last long. Betsy Layne, after getting two runners out down due to base running mistakes, scored three runs on four hits in the second inning.

Brad Hall kicked the rally off with an inning opening double. Kevin Spurlock followed with a single, and proceeded to steal second. Keith Hall then scored both runners with a single to left. Hall later scored as Glen Hammond collected a single, putting the Bobcats up 3-1. They added another run in the third when Duran Newsome, who had reached on a fielders choice, scored on another Spurlock hit, this time a double.

McDowell, though, hadn't earned Junior Newsome's respect for nothing. The Betsy Layne coach had praised the Daredevils' ability to hit a baseball, and some of that talent presented itself in the fourth inning.

Scott Tackett opened the successful McDowell inning off by cranking a homerun over the left field fence, trimming the deficit to 4-2. With one out, the Daredevils got their bats cranking out hits again, as Keith Shelton and John Stumbo hit back-to-back doubles, and Jamie Lawson slapped a single to left. Stumbo's hit, one of his two, plated Shelton, and he scored when Lawson dropped his single over the infield, tying the score.

But as potent as McDowell's bats were, Betsy Layne could send out some capable sticks themselves. And they did, especially in the sixth inning.

Todd Sturgill, the Bobcats' designated hitter, had doubled with two out in the fifth, and came on around to score on Brad Hall's second hit of the evening, giving Betsy Layne a one run lead. In the sixth, though, they got some help from Webb, who struggled with his control, and scored six runs with the benefit of only two hits. Webb, a junior, let Keith Hall reach first when he threw wildly on one tapped back to the mound. After a strikeout of Hammond, the Daredevil pitcher proceeded to walk Adam Gearheart and Dwight Jarrell to load the bases.

Barry Hamilton, with the McDowell infield drawn in, bounced to shortstop Darrell Goble. But Goble's throw came in high to catcher John Stumbo, allowing Hall to score.

Duran Newsome doubled to score two runs, and Brad Hall added a run scoring single as Betsy Layne continued to pound the baseball. Webb surrendered

Wallen is undefeated this year in the discus, and Hughes says Keens has a good chance of winning the half mile event. Lisa Hicks and Nicole Fitch have also established new school records, and the coach figures they will enjoy success in the upcoming regional meet.

But the program is showing signs of progress, and that's what Hughes hopes continues. "We're still trying to arrange for a track. We're just trying to get the program off the ground right now. We started at the bottom, and we're building up."

a bases loaded walk to Keith Hall, who opened the inning, and all of a sudden the Bobcats led 11-4. McDowell scored two runs in the sixth, and when Shannon drilled a single to score Jamie Lawson, Junior Newsome took Duran Newsome down and replaced him with Brad Hall.

With the bases loaded, Hall retired the side by getting Scott Tackett to pop up to third baseman Kevin Spurlock. Hall then retired the Daredevils in order in the seventh inning. In addition to his mound work, Hall also had three hits, two singles and a double, and drove in two runs. Kevin Spurlock, Barry Hamilton, and Duran Newsome had two hits each for the Bobcats. Keith Hall had two RBI's, and also scored two runs.

Shannon, John Stumbo, and Jamie Lawson were the only McDowell batters to collect more than one hit. Stumbo scored two runs as well, and Shannon drove in two.

Betsy Layne, with the win, advanced to the 57th district tournament's second round where they will play Wheelwright. McDowell, with the loss, was eliminated from the tourney, but the Daredevils lose only two players from this year's squad.

SHORT SPORTS

Pete Rose thought the penalty was too harsh. After all, the Cincinnati manager said he was poked by umpire Dave Pallone, provoking him to push the umpire.

Pallone says he didn't poke Rose, therefore not provoking the push, and the National League office agreed with Pallone, and denied Rose's appeal. With it all said and done, Rose was suspended 30 days for shoving Pallone during an argument April 30. Rose's appeal was denied Friday, and as a result he will not be allowed in the Reds' dugout or clubhouse until June 1. Rose was also fined $10,000.

Rose, after Pallone delayed a call in a game against New York, went out to argue with the much-criticized umpire. The argument turned into a shoving match with Rose doing all the shoving. The National League handed down a 30-day suspension against Rose. He appealed the suspension, saying Pallone poked him in the face during the argument, but the league office sided with the umpire.

In Rose's absence, coach Tommy Helms has been running the club. Cincinnati lost all three games of a weekend series in New York, and without the benefit of a weak division, would be in a much tougher situation than their five-and-a-half games behind Los Angeles.

Winning Colors broke out fast, got off to an early lead, and held off Forty Niner to take top honors in the 114th running of the Kentucky Derby. Winning Colors took the first step toward a Triple Crown. The Kentucky Derby is the first leg of that racing honor. The winner claimed a purse and added extra worth $611,200. Second placed Forty Niner brought home $100,000. Risen Star and Proper Reality claimed $50,000 and $25,000 respectively for finishing third and fourth.

Gary L. Stevens was the jockey aboard Winning Colors. Regret and Genuine Risk were the other two fillies to break the take at the Kentucky Derby.

Billy Martin's baseball career, both as player and manager, has been filled with highly-publicized altercations on and off the field.

Martin has fought with opponents, and his own players, but his latest encounter with the physical occurred in a Texas bar, this past weekend. According to reports, Martin and two others stopped at a bar beside the stadium in Arlington, Texas after the Yankees' loss Friday to the Texas Rangers.

Martin, who had been thrown out of the game, left his companions as they were exiting the bar. The New York manager excused himself and entered the restroom.

Apparently three men attacked Martin there, inflicting wounds of varying kinds. Martin suffered injuries to his head, and after being treated in the team's hotel, was taken to a local hospital, treated, and held overnight for observations.

The Sporting Times

The high school baseball season, as short and interrupted as it has been, came to a close this past week. But this season seemed to end just as it was about to begin. Rain brought about a halt to play early, then the senior trip forced teams to play shorthanded. But the sun came out for a while, providing an opportunity to get a few games in, but then came the rains again.

Those fans of the diamond sport may feel cheated this season, but the true losers are certainly the players, especially those senior players standing on the borderline of a college scholarship. And take this to heart—although some of the bigger schools will not give them the opportunity, many players of this district are big time prospects. It is kind of like the Bud Newsome situation.

As the story goes, Morehead State wouldn't surrender one of their precious scholarships in order to obtain Newsome. They had rather take it elsewhere, maybe give it to a similar talent from South Florida or the Cincinnati area, than to provide assistance to an area youth. Newsome, though, made MSU pay the price. He recently earned a victory over the Eagles as Georgetown defeated Morehead.

But according to Georgetown coach Marvin Stringfellow, maybe Newsome wasn't overlooked. The coach prefers to think Newsome simply choose Georgetown over the other schools.

At first glance that might be a little unbelievable, but a closer look tells us that this choice may in fact be the smartest one a young baseball player could make.

Georgetown plays all over the United States, and this season they have compiled a 35-8 record. Newsome has enjoyed tremendous success, probably because he got all he needed—an opportunity to prove himself.

Danny Tuttle, who plays at Berea, wasn't recruited at all, but he too has enjoyed success at the small college level. Although Berea's baseball program doesn't compare with Georgetown's, at least not this season. Tuttle has managed to keep a dream alive while receiving what will be one of the most highly-regarded educations of any from all other Kentucky colleges. And don't forget Jimmy Dale Turner, a guy that went to Georgetown College on a basketball grant in aid, but is now playing in the Atlanta Braves' organization.

It just goes to show everyone exactly how much talent this county has produced. But the best group yet may be coming out this spring. Strong arms, fast feet, and quick bats are more than abundant with this crew of talented players, and the oddity about it is that most of them play the same position, center field.

Darren Conn, possibly the most consistent senior performer, is a strong armed center fielder for Allen Central. Conn is one of the Rebels' top offensive players, and without a habit of hitting the baseball at defenders, could be hitting at an even higher percentage. His defense, and knowledge of the game are probably his biggest assets, though.

Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg also have talent in the outfield, and mainly in the middle. Dwight Jarrell, boasting probably the strongest arm in the region, is the heart of a quality Bobcat outfield. His speed is almost as impressive as his arm, and Jarrell proved he could hit the ball, finishing last season over .400.

In today's baseball way of thinking, speed and a strong throwing arm are the two main ingredients in the making of a good outfielder. With that in mind, no one is any better than Jarrell. And not many can throw any better than Joey Griffith, Prestonsburg's center fielder. Although Griffith may be more valuable to the Blackcats on the mound, his defensive skills in the outfield have proved to be a nice asset. The senior southpaw is one of the region's better pitchers, and at the plate he can hit for both power and average.

And Prestonsburg also holds rights to another fine outfielder in Johnny Ray Harris. Best suited for left because of his arm, Harris has the speed to cover plenty of ground, and his bat and small strike zone makes him an ideal leadoff hitter.

Floyd county has developed a reputation for producing pitchers, and this year a pair of hurlers could prove to provide help to which ever school decided to give them an opportunity to do so.

Nathan Shelton, a left hander at Allen Central, has been looked at by Georgetown, but that certainly wouldn't be his only choice. Shelton has improved his fastball by at least 10 miles per hour over last year, and nobody anywhere has any better off-speed stuff. Shelton keeps hitters off balance with his curve, and the added pop on his fastball now allows him to blow an occasional pitch by a batter.

Mark Tipton is exactly the opposite. Tipton has a naturally live arm and throws hard. He's made great strides this year at Betsy Layne, and has the talent to become a solid college pitcher. Both Tipton and Shelton will not be 18 until late this fall, and improvement is all they can look forward to.

Brad Hall, Betsy Layne's heavy hitting first baseman, has been described by his coach, Junior Newsome, as a small college prospect that could play both first base and help out on the mound.

It could prove to be a gold mine of talent, but then again they may all be passed over in favor of out-of-state prospects.

But maybe it's another story about the player nobody wanted, but he finds a team and comes back to beat all those who wouldn't take a chance on him. It could, though, be a matter of deciding the best program.

While Morehead State was returning home this past weekend after being eliminated from the OVC tournament, Georgetown was still playing baseball in their post season tournament.

Punchless Cincinnati Gets Lift From Jackson, Ends Losing Skid

Good pitching stops good hitting, and so on, but the New York Mets and Cincinnati Reds took that beyond reasonable means this past weekend.

Two years ago the Mets' pitching staff silenced many offensive fires in lifting New York to the National League's Eastern Division title. Last year, powered by young and talented hitters such as Eric Davis and Kal Daniels, Cincinnati set the league on fire with a blistering display of hitting power.

After suffering a rash of injuries last year, the Mets' staff appears to be back on track. Cincinnati's offense this season appears to be on the track New York's pitchers took last year, a track that leads to disappointment. And when they met in a three-game series this past weekend it wasn't hard to figure which had the upper hand. New York pitchers continued to enjoy incredible success, while Cincinnati hitters were the ones leading them toward record-setting performances.

In the three games, all New York wins, the Reds had a total of 18 hits, and they scored only five runs. When adding the fact that Cincinnati had 12 of their hits and three of their runs in one game, Met pitching success looks even more impressive.

Dwight Gooden, undefeated through six decisions, gave up 11 hits Friday night, but the Reds managed only two runs off the hard throwing right hander during his nine innings of work. Chris Sabo made Cincinnati's 12th hit of the night a homerun in the 10th inning.

For a long time it appeared that it would also be the winning run as reliever John Franco set down the first two New York hitters in the bottom of the 10th, but he walked Keith Hernandez, and gave up a long homerun to Daryl Strawberry. The runs were the first earned ones Franco had given up this season, but they were enough to hand the Mets a 4-3 win, and Franco his second loss.

The blast was Strawberry's ninth longball of the year, adding to his career total that now stands as an all-time Met high.

Randy Myers, who gave up Sabo's homerun, picked up the victory, his first of the year. Until the Reds scored in the seventh, New York pitchers had thrown 27 consecutive scoreless innings, and had allowed only one scoring inning in their last 43.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats and Wheelwright Trojans meet this evening at 5:30 to decide the other finalist in this year's district tournament championship.

The Bobcats, in a game coach Junior Newsome said they were lucky to win, defeated McDowell 11-6 Monday to advance to today's semi-final contest.

Betsy Layne will probably pitch Brad Hall, a right hander who retired all four batters he faced against McDowell. Wheelwright is expected to throw Brad Compton, a sophomore right hander.

The winner will advance to the district finals, and earn a place in this year's 15th region tournament, which begins Monday evening at Pikeville.

It's still more than two weeks before the actual race, but the biggest event of the Indianapolis 500, prior to race day, will be held Saturday afternoon as drivers try to qualify for the event, which is considered by many to be the tops of all auto races in the United States.

Time trials will begin Saturday at 1 p.m., and will be televised by ABC. Practice runs began last Saturday, and will continue through the time trials. All qualifiers will make up the 33-car field that will run in the race to be held May 29. The top qualifier will earn the pole position.

Early race favorites who are expected to qualify high are defending champion Al Unser, along with veteran drivers such as Rick Mears, Mario Andretti, and Bobby Rahal.

Roberto Guerrero, who suffered a near fatal crash last fall, is attempting a comeback which should be another highlight of the time trials and forthcoming race.

The Los Angeles Lakers and Boston Celtics continue on their collision course which has them designed to crash in another NBA championship series.

The two teams have battled constantly for the NBA title during this decade, and they both took another step closer to another matchup by winning their quarter final series this past week. LA, getting a leg up on the Celtics, dumped San Antonio in three games, and Sunday afternoon defeated Utah 110-91 in a semi-final playoff series.

Boston gave the New York Knicks a victory in the Big Apple, but disposed of the Knicks in four games. The Celtics open their semi-final round tonight at home against Atlanta, winner Sunday evening over Milwaukee to capture their opening round series in five games.

Other matchups in the semi-final round of the Eastern Conference has Detroit, who eliminated Washington Sunday by winning the fifth game, and Chicago doing battle. The Pistons have the home court advantage, as does Boston, in the best of seven series.

The other semi-final series in the Western Conference pits Dallas against Denver. The Nuggets, thanks to a late season rally, has the home court advantage during this one.

Cincinnati reached Gooden for two runs in the seventh, but that was the last multi-run inning they would muster against the Mets during the remainder of the series.

Saturday, Bob Ojeda and Roger McDowell combined to limit the Reds to only three hits as New York posted a 2-1 win. Ojeda, 3-1, worked seven innings, and gave up only one hit. Ron Robinson, who barely missed a perfect game less than a week earlier, limited the Mets to six hits and one earned run through five, but still lost his third game.

Cincinnati got a game opening double from shortstop Barry Larkin. He later scored on a Kal Daniels ground out, but they failed to score any more.

New York dented the plate with a run in the third when Kevin McReynolds slapped a two-out double to score Wally Backman. They added the eventual winning run in the sixth as Len Dykstra reached on a Nick Esasky error, and scored when Keith Hernandez doubled.

The Mets were officially on a roll. Their pitching staff was close to perfect, and they somehow managed to always get the big hit. They had won nine of their last 10, and Sunday proved to be no different.

Ron Darling held Cincinnati to only one hit through the first eight innings, and it took a mixed up play and a bunt single for the Reds to avoid a shutout.

Jeff Treadway led off the final frame by lifting a fly ball into short right centerfield. Daryl Strawberry and Len Dykstra suffered a mixup, and as a result the ball fell in for a double. Pinch hitter Dave Collins followed with a bunt single, and the Reds managed to get a run of it, but fell 5-1 to New York.

Darling, 3-2, continued New York's impressive pitching streak which, over the past 64 innings, had given up only eight earned runs.

The Mets, leading 1-0, struck for four runs in the seventh inning, and that was all Darling needed to get his third complete game. Mario Soto, who gave up all five runs, suffered the loss. He slipped to 1-2.

New York owns the fifth best earned run average in the Major Leagues, and is tops in both leagues with seven shutouts.

The Reds' team batting average slipped to .241 following Sunday's game. Only eight teams in both leagues hit for a lower percentage than that. One of those is the Philadelphia Phillies. They hit less than .230 as a team, better in the NL than only Atlanta. It shouldn't have come as a great surprise when Danny Jackson, Cincinnati's most successful pitcher thus far, shut the Phillies out Monday night.

Jackson, 5-1 and four complete games in seven starts, held Philadelphia to two hits as the Reds broke a three-game losing streak, defeating the Phillies 2-0 Monday at Veterans Stadium.

Phil Bradley had a third inning single, and Mike Young led off the ninth with a double, but other than that Jackson had a no-hitter. The left hander struck out five and walked three in his route going performance.

Dave Palmer, who pitcher into the ninth, was tagged with the loss, but even he kept the Cincinnati bats quiet.

The Reds had nine hits, but they scored only two runs. Until the sixth inning they had only two hits, but Barry Larkin, Cincinnati's leading hitter and the National League's leader in total hits, opened the sixth with a single, and later scored on a Kal Daniels single.

Paul O'Neill later added an RBI single, but the first one was all Jackson would need. The shutout was his second of the season.

The Reds, 3-0 against Philadelphia, will close out their three game series tonight when Shane Rawley and Dennis Rasmussen, a pair of southpaws, battle each other.

Cincinnati will take Thursday off before opening a three-game series Friday in Pittsburgh against the fast starting Pirates. The two teams will play at 7:05 on Friday and Saturday before wrapping the series up with a 1:35 p.m. contest Sunday.

Monday finds the Reds returning to Riverfront Stadium where they will open a six-game homestand. The first three are against Atlanta.

Transy Camp Dates Set

Young basketball players from across the state—and from other states—will sharpen their basketball skills at Don Lane's 1988 Transylvania University Basketball Camp this summer on the University's campus in Lexington.

The camp offers seven sessions for boys and girls between the ages of seven and 18. Coach Lane and his staff of high school and college coaches provide individual attention to the campers, who are grouped according to age, size, and experience. High school teams may elect to attend the camp as a group.

Following are the 1988 camp dates:

June 13-17	Boys, 11-14
June 20-24	Girls, 13-18
June 27-July 1	Boys, 15-18
July 5-8	Boys and Girls, 7-10
July 11-15	Boys, 15-18
July 18-22	Boys, 11-14
July 25-29	Girls, 11-18

Last year, over 1900 campers represented 370 schools, 22 states, and three foreign countries.

For more information, contact Coach Lane, Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky. 40508, or call 606/233-8270.

Rebels Reach Region For First Time In Six Years

It had been a long time since Prestonsburg High School failed to reach the regional tournament. It had been a long time since Allen Central High School had reached the 15th region baseball tournament.

Donnie Daniels called upon Jamie May to end a five-year tournament dry spell. Russell Shepherd sent out Todd Justice in an attempt to run their string of regional appearances to 17 of the last 19 tries.

Both pitchers gave up runs early, but May, after surrendering a run in the second, settled into his usually successful form.

Joey Griffith led the scoring second off for Prestonsburg by pulling a double down the left field line, just out of the reach of third baseman Rady Martin. After stealing third, Griffith raced home when Justice fled out to left.

But even with that run, the Blackcats still trailed. Allen Central kept building on their lead too.

Mickey Parsons doubled in two runs in the first, and after Justice retired the side in order the following inning, Allen Central erupted for four runs in the third inning, driving Justice from the mound.

The bottom of the third brought up the top of the Rebels' attack, and leadoff hitter Darren Conn opened the inning with a double to the right field fence.

Todd Duff and Rady Martin followed with singles, Martin's scored Conn, and that was all it took for Blackcat coach Russell Shepherd to make a pitching change.

He brought in Joey Griffith with runners on first and third. The senior left hander's first pitch got through catcher Eric Blackburn, allowing Duff to score.

May, later in the inning, collected an RBI himself when he slapped a single through the left side of the infield, scoring Martin. Webb came on around to score when the baseball bounced away from Justice in the outfield.

Through the third, fourth, and fifth innings May held Prestonsburg hitless. Meanwhile the Rebels added two more, scoring twice in the fourth as Randy Handsford and Nathan Shelton led off with singles, and scored on a Blackcat error. With runners on second and third, Darren Conn, who went two for three in the game, lifted a fly ball to left. Handsford tagged and made it when Justice's strong throw got through and rolled to the backstop. Shelton came home on the play as well.

Those runs, which probably wouldn't have scored had the throw been handled, proved to be the winning ones. Prestonsburg finally opened up their offensive attack, exploding for six runs in the sixth, but eventually lost 8-6.

Only two of the runs were earned. The Blackcats pounded out three hits in the inning, and got three runs when Nathan Shelton misplayed a two-out fly ball to right. But May, improving to 4-3, set Prestonsburg down in order to preserve the win.

The senior left hander pitched all seven innings for Allen Central to get the win. He gave up only four hits and three earned runs while striking out six and walking four.

The win, the Rebels' ninth of the season, propelled them into the regional tournament for the first time since 1982. They now play the winner of tonight's Betsy Layne-Wheelwright game Thursday for the district title.

Chris Stone, Craig Tucker, Joey Griffith, and Tim Trusty were the only Prestonsburg players to record hits off May, who was helped along by a solid Allen Central defensive effort. Shelton's error was the only one committed by the Rebels.

Allen Central had eight hits in the contest, and all but two had base hits.

Hilltopper Cagers Select Annual All-Opponent Team

All Americans out of the Metro and Mid-American Conference and a trio of the top players in the Sun Belt Conference make up Western Kentucky University's 1987-88 men's basketball All-Opponent Team.

Louisville All-American Pervis Ellison was the top vote-getter. The 6-9 junior frontliner led the Cardinals to an 84-71 win over Western in Freedom Hall in January with 19 points and 10 rebounds.

The only repeater from the Toppers' '86-87 All-Opponent Team is 6-6 senior Dan Majerle of Central Michigan. He poured in 23 points and hauled down 13 rebounds versus Western back in December. But, that was not enough and WKU prevailed 77-73 on the road at Mt. Pleasant.

The three Sun Belt stars elected to berths on the team are: Darrell Coleman of South Florida, Jeff Hodge of South Alabama and SBC Player-of-the-Year Byron Dinkins of UNC Charlotte.

Coleman, a 6-7 senior who battled Western's Anthony Smith for top rebounding honors in the Conference all season long (and won out in the last game of the year), totaled 47 points and 28 rebounds in two outings against the Hilltoppers. Western handed the Bulls an 82-61 setback in Bowling Green but dropped a 71-63 decision to USF in Tampa later in the season.

Hodge, a 6-3 junior guard, hit 20-37 shots and scored 48 points in two games versus WKU. The Toppers bested the Jaguars 109-93 at home in mid-January, but ran into a hot-shooting USA outfit in Mobile in late February and lost 95-80.

Dinkins, a 6-2 junior guard, scored 30 points and had eight assists in a pair of games with the Hilltoppers. Western was one of only three SBC teams to defeat the 49ers this season, tacking UNCC with a 78-69 defeat in Bowling Green. But, the following week in Charlotte, the 49ers came out in the second half bombing in three-pointers and went on to beat the Toppers by a 90-74 count.

Also receiving votes were junior guard Junie Lewis of South Alabama, senior forward Phil Stinnie of Virginia Commonwealth, senior forward Chad Tucker of Butler and sophomore guard Darrin McDonald of Old Dominion.

The 1987-88 WKU All-Opponent Team, selected by a poll of Hilltopper team members, is the 16th selected by Western athletes. Last year's team included Freddie Banks, of Nevada-Las Vegas, Ronnie Murphy, of Jacksonville, Rony Seikaly and Sherman Douglas, of Syracuse and Majerle.

SOAP BEA

Pigeon loves 'Loving'; Shrinker loves Bernard

By Marie Michaels

The cast and crew of "Loving" have adopted a mascot that in reality adopted the soap on its own accord.

The saga started several weeks ago, when a pigeon managed to get trapped on the "Loving" set, on West 66th Street in Manhattan. All efforts to get the bird to vacate the premises and return to the relative freedom of city skies failed, so producer Barbara Duggan suggested that the cast and crew should adopt the bird — and they did.

Having animals on the set is nothing new for the soap; past story lines have featured birds, a pig, a snake and a Doberman pinscher.

Robyn Bernard

• Almost a year ago we first heard rumors that Robyn Bernard, who plays Terry Baldwin on "General Hospital," was dating then former "GH" cast member Kin Shriner (he had played Scott Baldwin). Later we heard that the two had broken up. But now we've learned that Bernard and Shriner, who is back on "GH" full time, are a two-some again.

• Larry Bryggman, who plays John Dixon on "As the World Turns," has split up with Jacqueline Schultz (she most recently played Patty Whiting on "Search for Tomorrow"), his wife of five years. Bryggman and Schultz met in 1981, when she was playing Dee Stewart on "ATWT."

• Marcy Walker, who plays Eden Castillo on "Santa Barbara," is spending part of this month in Paris promoting the soap. There, the one-hour "SB" airs in half-hour segments that are several years behind what we're seeing. But the soap has so captured French viewers that its popularity surpasses that of "Dallas" and "Dynasty."

• Tichina Arnold (Zena Brown) of "Ryan's Hope" is awaiting the October release of "How I Got Into College," a feature that recently completed filming in Hollywood. Arnold and one of her "College" co-stars, Finn Carter (she played Sierra Estaban on "As the World Turns"), have become good friends as a result of working together.

Another young actor featured in "College" is Christopher Rydell, son of director Mark Rydell ("On Golden Pond"). Longtime soap fans will remember that Mark Rydell played Jeff Baker on "As the World Turns" from 1956 to 1962.

Nashville Network brings Judd country to Cuba

By Denise Gorga

"My motto in life is: Happiness is not at the end of the road, it's along the way," says Naomi Judd.

Naomi Judd

For Naomi, 42, and her 24-year-old daughter Wynonna, it's not such a bumpy trail. The mother-and-daughter duo have captured the Country Music Association's Vocal Group of the Year Award for three years straight.

But because they've hit on happy byways doesn't mean that these one-time back-porch divas from Ashland, Ky., have forgotten what it's like to be out of the limelight. On Wednesday, May 18, and Thursday, May 19, The Nashville Network presents "USO Celebrity Tour: The Judds," an hourlong chronicle of The Judds' first USO tour, taped at Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba - the only U.S. Navy base located in a Communist country.

"When we got there, we would break line from the bigwigs that we were with and talk to the sailors," says Naomi, a former registered nurse. "Their faces just lit up."

"The most memorable times were those looks of surprise when I would say to them, 'As an American, I appreciate the job you're doing,'" she says. And gauging the sailors' reactions, the feeling was mutual. "I told Wynonna we should have built a hormone detector, like the metal detectors they have at the airport," she laughs.

Sailors aren't the only Judd fans who relate to the duo. "They're like our friends," Naomi says of their audience. "I get letters from people I've never met, and yet I know them. I know where they work, and about the problems they have with their kids. And what we hear from these folks is that they see themselves in us."

"I'm a single working parent. I have problems with my kids like everybody else," she adds. "I bird-dog Wynonna. I'm always checking for drugs and promiscuity. I've told her a million times, if I catch her getting weird on me, I'll jerk her about by that big mane of red hair."

Naomi Judd also has her eye on another daughter, 20-year-old Ashley. But don't look for Ashley Judd to join the family business.

"She can't carry a tune in a bucket," Naomi says. "We call her 'The Unsung Judd.'"

IN THIS WEEK

Out of Africa comes 'A Shadow on the Sun'

By Paul Elie

"Beryl Markham: A Shadow on the Sun," a CBS miniseries airing Sunday, May 15 and Tuesday, May 17, is the latest of a string of movies about colonial Africa - and just one of three projects about the Britain-born, Kenya-bred adventurer.

James Fox

A group headed by producer Anthony Rufus Isaacs, who knew Markham, owns film rights to her 1942 memoir "West with the Night," which became a surprise best seller upon republication in 1986. And Lindsay Wagner has acquired rights to "Straight on Till Morning," a 1986 biography. But "A Shadow on the Sun," based on a 1984 Vanity Fair profile by James Fox, is the first Markham movie to reach the screen.

"She is one of the most fascinating characters ever to come out of Africa," says Fox of Markham, who died in 1986 at age 83, best known as the first person to fly solo across the Atlantic, east to west. "Fearless, witty, extraordinarily independent. Appalled by snobbery. Completely unambiguous. An exceptional human being."

Fox met Markham in 1979 while researching "White Mischief," his novelistic account of the murder of Lord Erroll, a kingpin of the African mock-up of British society satirized by Evelyn Waugh in "Black Mischief." The book, released in paperback by Vintage last month to coincide with Columbia's release of a "White Mischief" movie, portrays a group of decadent pretenders who lacked Markham's flair.

"She stands out vividly in that set, because she was surrounded by rough, robust male characters," he says. "She was best known as a horse trainer - and as a lover."

Oddly, "A Shadow on the Sun" passes over Markham's years in Hollywood as a flight trainer for Paramount Studios - apt miniseries material.

"What has been cut down was the time when she was in Santa Barbara, in love - there were just too many characters," Fox says. "Instead it goes into her early life and her career as a trainer, which is fascinating."

The main draw of the miniseries - filmed in Kenya and London - is star Stefanie Powers, who owns an estate in Kenya. Fox says that Powers' interest in Africa is genuine. "I went up to her place," he says. "I'd heard that she had a bongo, which is the rarest antelope you can find in Africa. So I went up there, and she had eight of them."

ASK TONI

Short union for Lewis and 'I Married Dora'

By Toni Reinhold

What can you tell me about the young actress who played the daughter on "I Married Dora"? - L.S., Kingston, N.Y.

Juliette Lewis

The role of Kate in the short-lived ABC series was played by Juliette Lewis. A native of Los Angeles, Juliette has five brothers and sisters. Her father, Geoffrey Lewis, is an actor, and her mother, Glennis Bately, is a designer and illustrator. She has studied jazz dancing and ballet and attended the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. Kate on "I Married Dora" was her first regular role. The series starred Daniel Hugh Kelly as a man who married his maid (Elizabeth Pena).

What is the title of the theme for the miniseries "The Winds of War"? - V.S., Kingston, N.Y.

The theme music, by Bob Cobert, is called "The Winds of War." ABC says the soundtrack album is available at "better music stores." For all those readers who have asked for more information about the miniseries, ABC says it still has copies of a "Winds of War" teachers' guide, designed with the public as well as students in mind. Write to Community Relations, ABC, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10019. The sequel to "The Winds of War," "War and Remembrance," is scheduled to air next February. It may be 30 hours long.

I saw the TV movie "Freedom Fighter," starring Tony Danza. Who played the character called Anna Mentz? - T.B., Fort St. John, British Columbia, Canada

Mentz was played by Colette Stevenson in this NBC movie about lovers trapped on opposite sides of the Berlin Wall.

Who played Harlen Pike in the Western series "The Outlaws"? - A.W., Nanaimo, British Columbia, Canada

This CBS Western, a midseason replacement in 1987, featured five cowboys who had been time-warped into the present. Harlen was played by William Lucking.

Which of the "Cagney & Lacey" stars appeared in the movie "Your Place or Mine"? - J.J., Sedalia, Mo.

This 1983 movie featured Tyne Daly (who plays Lacey).

BOOKS AND THINGS

By: TRISHA MORRIS, Librarian, Prestonsburg Community College

Kentucky is more than the Derby and the Bluegrass that nourishes its horses—it is mountain trails, geological formations and breath taking beauty from on top its mountain peaks. The following books from the P.C.C. library give a brief guide to the many wonders to be found and enjoyed in the land where the stars are closer and the songs of the birds are sweeter.

1988 Kentucky Travel Guide
Whatever your interests, somewhere in the Commonwealth there is something for you. This privately published travel guide gives information about Kentucky's State Parks, historic sites, lakes and forests. There is a special section on festivals and an index leading to information about museums, sightseeing tours, colleges and universities, caves and race tracks. Filled with colored advertisements you can also find out about accommodations and restaurants.

Mountain South
By: Dana Facaros
This comprehensive handbook provides all the essential information any independent traveler might need to know to explore the depths of Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas. The author gives all the facts a budget-conscious traveler might need: the best methods of travel; an introduction to the history and cuisine of each state; details of their individual specialties and festivals and, perhaps most important, where to find the best place to lay your head after a strenuous day of sightseeing.

Kentucky's Land of the Arches
By: Robert Ruchoft
A descriptive guide to the Red River Gorge in the Daniel Boone National Forest and to Natural Bridge State Park. Complete with black and white photographs and detailed maps for hiking it would make a good addition to an adventurer's backpack. Included are official trails and automobile sightseeing trips along with advice for hikers and canoers. There are chapters on the history of the area and the geologic explanation of the arch formation. From Gray's Arch to Raven Rock, it is a complete guide to the land of arches, including the best times to visit and where to stay when you get there.

Geology of the Mammoth Cave National Park
The Mammoth Cave area, in east-central Edmonson county, is one of the world's famous cave regions. The story goes that a hunter named Houchins chased a wounded bear into a previously unknown cave in the late 1700's, thus discovering one of the great natural wonders of the world. This booklet was written to give information about the geological formations of the area in untechnical language. It is complete with pictures and maps so that one can see the extent of the cave area and the beauty of its formations. A book that would add to one's appreciation of a trip to Mammoth Cave.

Caves and Karst in Kentucky
Kentucky has 45 caves on the "World's Longest Cave list." Why has Kentucky been so blessed with such long caves? Why are there so many caves in Kentucky? Where are the caves located? How are they formed? And, what is the importance of caves and their associated landscapes? This book was published by the National Speleological Society and the Kentucky Geological Survey to answer these and many other questions about the caves in Kentucky.

Land Between the Lakes
By: Frank Smith
In the early 60's the Tennessee Valley Authority moved over 900 families from the land between Lake Barkley and Kentucky Lake to form a natural recreation area. This book, written by the director of TVA, is a justification of that action. Illustrated with forty-eight pages of color photographs of scenes and wildlife of the area, it is an impressive piece of propaganda.

Kentucky Treasure Trails
Compiled by the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association, this book is a travelers guide to a myriad of interesting and unique places in Kentucky. Divided by County it lists parks, markers, old buildings, museums, cemeteries, fairs and dramas and any other interesting thing happening in that County. From the Blessing of the Hounds in Fayette Co. on the first Saturday in November to Yahoo Falls in McCreary Co., this is the book to read if you don't want to miss the sights and adventures in the State.

Appalachian Wilderness
By: Eliot Porter
In this handsomely produced book Eliot Porter catches and holds the majestic beauty of the Appalachian wilderness. In contrast to his scenic pictures, the harsh human history of the Appalachians is narrated by Edward Abbey with an equally depressing epilogue by Harry Caudill. With such beautiful pictures it is doubtful that anyone holding this oversized book will do any more than flip pages and "ah" at the breathtaking views.

Hiking the Appalachian Trail
Ed: James Hare
This is the narrative stories of 46 men and women who have hiked the 2,023 miles of the Appalachian Trail from Main to Georgia. The combined 100,000 miles of experience tells the day to day adventures, dangers, hardships and satisfaction of making a long hike. We hear about the rain, the bugs, the aches and pains and we hear about the intense moments of happiness, closeness to nature and unique understanding of life and living things. Reading this book is the next best thing to being there.

NOTICE TO PERSONS SERVED BY THE BEAVER ELKHORN WATER DISTRICT PERTAINING TO LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

"The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

"Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

"EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women. "Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

- if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
- if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- if the home is less than five years old, or
- if you have soft or acidic water, or
- if water sits in the pipes for several hours.

The Beaver Elkhorn Water District, in cooperation with the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is providing this information, as required by federal law.

Lead can occur at potentially harmful levels in tap water if the plumbing fixtures through which the water travels, including the solders and fluxes used to connect them, contain lead. The EPA has recently mandated that all newly installed plumbing materials be essentially lead-free.

To find out which type of plumbing you have, look at it and perform the following simple tests:

-Lead pipe is most often found in very old homes and buildings. Lead pipe is gray, relatively soft, and can be easily scratched to shine with a screwdriver, coin, or key. Some iron pipe may look like lead pipe; however, iron pipe is very hard and usually black.

-Copper pipe usually has a characteristic copper color. Until very recently, most copper pipe was installed using lead-based solder. Lead solder is also gray, soft, and can be scratched shiny. Copper pipe that has been soldered with lead usually contributes less lead to the water as time passes because the solder gets coated with minerals from the water. After being installed about five years, lead solder usually contributes very small amounts of lead to the water.

-Iron, steel, and "plastic" pipe have not been associated with any health effects from lead since they contain very small amounts of lead or none, and are assembled without lead solder.

You can reduce the possibility of consuming water with high lead concentrations by following these simple precautions:

-If the water has not been used for several hours, flush the cold water pipes before using the water for human consumption. Turn on the faucet and let the water run until the water temperature cools and gets no cooler. If there has recently been major water use, such as showering, bathing, flushing toilets, or cold water laundry, flushing the pipes may take only 5-30 seconds. If there has been no recent major water use, flushing the pipes may take several minutes.

-Use only cold water for drinking, cooking, or preparing baby formula.

-If new plumbing is installed or repairs are made, insist that lead-free materials be used.

-Lead pipes and service connections can be replaced.

The only way to be sure of the amount of lead in your water is to have the water tested by a state certified laboratory. Contact Beaver Elkhorn Water District or the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water for information about testing.

The test results of water samples collected January 1987 and January 1988 from the Beaver Elkhorn Water District distribution system indicate a lead concentration average of 0.001 parts per million.

The Beaver Elkhorn Water District produces and distributes water that is within the established maximum contaminant level for lead.

The Beaver Elkhorn Water District does not have lead service lines or other lead-containing materials in our distribution system. We use all plastic pipe, and brass fittings, which are lead-free.

If you have questions concerning this notice or would like more information concerning lead in drinking water, please contact Bob Hackworth at (606) 358-3491, (606) 874-8183, or at home (606) 285-3785. Also, you can contact the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at (502) 564-3410.

Ky. Historical Society To Offer Heritage Tour

Where in Kentucky can you find prehistoric Indian mounds, Civil War fortifications, three state resort parks, two major recreational lakes, and over twenty historic sites, all within a sixty-mile radius? Only in Kentucky's Jackson Purchase region. Located in the far western end of the Commonwealth, the Purchase is home to Kentucky's "hidden heritage." During August 1-5 the Kentucky Historical Society is inviting forty individuals to spend a week vacationing and exploring the history of the region.

The Society, Kentucky's state historical organization, is sponsoring the five day tour. "It's a new concept," stated Jim Wallace, Kentucky Historical Society staff member. "Tour participants will actually be able to trace the history of the Jackson Purchase from pre-historic Indian settlements through the late Victorian era." The tour, entitled "The Hidden Heritage of the Purchase," offers five days and four nights at Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park, day trips to seven historic sites, meals, an evening lecture series, and round trip transportation from Frankfort.

"It's an exciting approach to learning about Kentucky culture and should appeal to anyone who wants to learn more about the Civil War, prehistoric Indians, 19th century agriculture, Victorian culture, or simply more of Kentucky's history," stated Wallace.

HIGHLANDS REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

US 23N BOX 668, PRESTONSBURG, KY. 41653

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF UNCOMPENSATED (CHARITY) CARE
Highlands Regional Medical Center is required by law to give a reasonable amount of its services without (or at a reduced) charge to eligible persons who cannot afford to pay for care. Eligibility is based on poverty level income as established by the Federal Community Services Administration. This care will be provided for all MEDICALLY JUSTIFIED SERVICES except OUT-PATIENT PHARMACY.

Highlands Regional Medical Center of Prestonsburg, Kentucky will make available from July 1, 1988 to June 30, 1989 $248,224 of Hill-Burton Charity Care. Charity care will be available on the first request basis to eligible persons needing care who are unable to pay for hospital services until the facility's annual compliance level is met. Eligibility for charity care will be limited to persons whose family income is no more than the current poverty income guidelines established by Community Services Administration (see guidelines below). This notice is published in accordance with 42 C.F.R. 124.504, notice of availability of uncompensated services.

To be eligible to receive charity care, your annual family income must be at or below the following levels: (D.S.A. guidelines, published February 20, 1988).

Size of Family	No Charge	Reduced Charge
1	5,770.00	11,540.00
2	7,730.00	15,460.00
3	9,690.00	19,380.00
4	11,650.00	23,300.00
5	13,610.00	27,220.00
6	15,570.00	31,140.00
7	17,530.00	35,060.00
8	19,490.00	38,980.00

For family units with more than 8 members, add $1,960.00 for each additional member. This scale is in effect until further notice.

As a condition for providing charity care, this facility requires that applicants make a reasonable effort to obtain assistance for payment of their hospital bill from the various government programs that provide such assistance (e.g. MEDICARE, MEDICAID, DISABILITY, PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, SPEND-DOWN OR REHABILITATION). And, the charity applicant is required to furnish written documentation to this facility, indicating that application to the appropriate agency was made and, that the application is (1) pending (2) approved or (3) denied.

If you think you may be eligible for uncompensated (charity) services, you may request an application from the Financial Counselor, located in the Credit & Collections Department of the Medical Center, or, after 4:30 p.m. and on weekends and holidays, applications can be obtained at the emergency room admissions area. This facility will make a written determination of whether you will receive uncompensated services within two (2) working days of the receipt of your request. If you have any questions concerning your eligibility, you may call (606) 886-8511 and ask for the Financial Counselor at Extension 511, or you may inquire at the Credit & Collections Department, Extension 513.

MCA Raises Funds For Child Survival

By Joe Porter

Students for Child Survival is a national campaign to raise money to immunize children throughout the world. On Friday students at Mountain Christian Academy released 400 helium balloons in their gym to signify the amount of money that had raised to help the cause.

Half of the money will stay in the area and go to the Mud Creek Clinic. "It'll be used to buy drugs for indigent children," said director Eula Hall. The other half will be sent to the headquarters for the Campaign for Child Survival in New York City. This organization is affiliated with the Save the Children Campaign.

Cindy Monberg, a seventh grade teacher at MCA, and Ann Nieman, a CAP volunteer, have been organizing the drive, which is taking place in 49 states. Mountain Christian Academy, however, was the only school in Kentucky taking part in the fund raising. Monberg said the money will be used to buy vaccine and dehydration medication. Five dollars will immunize a child for life, and the goal is to immunize all the children in the world before 1990.

The students in Monberg's class and other grade schoolers had been raising the money for six weeks by selling balloons to students and parents for $1.00 and soliciting donations from local businesses. On Friday night they sponsored a dance at the school. Proceeds from admission and refreshments sold were added to the fund. The total collected from the drive was $517.

When the balloons were released the students sang, "We Are The World," and that was the point—children helping children in other parts of the world.

The United States' annual average residential water use is 107,000 gallons. The daily use per person averages 168 gallons.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-5169

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Transcontinental Coal Processing, Inc., (P.O. Box 203, Ivel, Kentucky 41642) intends to transfer its permit No. 836-5114 to Buck Coal, Inc., (P.O. Box 203, Ivel, Kentucky 41642). The new permit number is 836-5169. The underground operation affect a surface disturbance of 7.14 acres and underlie an additional 317.80 acres. No new acreage is affected by this transfer.

The operation is located 0.3 miles northwest of Craynor in Floyd county. The operation is approximately 1.3 miles southwest from State Route 979's junction with Mink Branch Road and 0.25 miles northwest Mink Branch. Latitude 37° 26' 29" and longitude 82° 40' 33". The proposed operation is located on the McDowell USGS 7.5 minute quadrangle map.

The surface of the area to be disturbed is owned by Gustavia Howell, Charlie Howell and Rockloridge Coal Company. The operation will underlie land owned by Robert Howell, Della Jones, Milford Howell, John B. Newsome, David Akers, Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Squire Hamilton, Levi & Mary McKinney, Frank & Ivalee McKinney, Emit Howell, Gustavia Howell, and Pauline Tackett.

The application has been filed at the Department of Surface Mining, Reclamation and Enforcement for public inspection at the Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Written comments, objections, and/or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, Department of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, No. 2 Hudson Hollow, US 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, within 15 days of the final weekly advertisement. The written comments, objections, or requests for a conference must reference the above permit application number.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, and/or requests for a permit conference must be received within 15 days of this date.

Dogs, Cats Are Bowling Teams of a Special Sort

By Joe Porter

They call themselves the "Blue Dogs" and "Alley Cats"; they're two bowling teams that battle it out every Wednesday and Friday morning at Rebel Lanes. But what's different is that the two teams are comprised of mentally handicapped students from Allen Central High School.

People learn by doing and that's especially true of the mentally handicapped. The bowling class is part of a new trend in Special Education; it's called Community Based Instruction. "To teach it in the classroom and then go out and use it—it does have meaning," said their teacher Hollie Wicker. Not only is it an education for her students, but it's a way for Wicker to promote a better understanding of what it is to be mentally handicapped. "I want to present them to the public and present the public to them. It's a two-way thing," she said.

The goal is to teach them skills for functional living, so they can perform the same tasks as their non-handicapped peers. "Although the process of bowling may seem simple to a normal teenager, these students are learning to ask for their shoe size, put on and tie their shoes, select restrooms appropriate to sex, and behave properly," Wicker said. The students are also learning how to release and roll the ball, take turns, return their shoes, and pay for the service. "Learning which team they belong on is difficult for some," Wicker said. "Counting the pins knocked down is good functional math, and even if they can't count, they learn the difference between some and none, few and many."

Community Based Instruction also includes grocery shopping, street crossing, and using vending machines and fast food restaurants. When the teacher takes them to Kentucky Fried Chicken, for example, the handicapped students order and pay for their food themselves. Along with bowling, the students also play table tennis and horse shoes, go on hikes and picnics at Jenny Wiley; and Wicker even hopes to get them out fishing this year.

This is mainstreaming in the community but the idea is used first in school. "We try to mainstream them during school hours as much as possible," Wicker said. "They attend assemblies, PE, eat lunch, and attend all extracurricular activities with the regular students."

Handling a class of mentally handicapped students is a job for more than one person. Wicker is assisted with her class of twelve by two aides: Ina Hensley and Veronica Ward. Also, she gets help occasionally from other non-handicapped students at Allen Central. In particular, Wicker mentions Rhonda Fraley of Wayland, who graduated last year. "She was great," Wicker said, "helping them wash their hair and showing them how to apply makeup."

The students clap and leap when they knock down the bowling pins or their teammates do. "Oh, they have the best time," said Rebel Lanes proprietor, Henry Mayo. "They really get competitive. If a teacher shoots a gutter ball, they howl; they really get on her."

"The bowling has made such a difference," Wicker said. "Some of them are talking when they wouldn't before. It's putting them in an excited mood. They've just got the fever I guess."

Area Jehovah's Witnesses To Attend W. Va. Meeting

The Allen Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will attend a seminar, May 14 and 15 at the National Guard Armory in Beekley, West Virginia. Delegates from West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky will be attending. At least 1,500 are expected to attend the two-day gathering.

Preparations have already begun for the seminar. Talks on Bible themes, demonstrations, and symposiums mark the program which will begin Saturday morning at 10 a.m. and conclude 4 p.m. Sunday. The theme for the assembly is, "The Excelling Value of Serving Jehovah." A talk on dedication and baptism will be at 11:30 a.m. Saturday for those who will be immersed as ministers. The high point for the Sunday program will be the public talk, "The World's Values or the Bible's—Which?" to be delivered by Mr. Robert Hartman, a special representative of the Watchtower Society.

The public is invited and all seats are free.

The famous Liberty Bell was last rung on Washington's Birthday, 1846.

Don't Get Stuck In The Same Old Grind

From the American Institute for Cancer Research

There's one area of family grocery economics that hasn't changed much in recent years. Ground meat continues to be a best bargain in the meat department, and no other type of meat is used more often in American diets. Fortunately, there have been lots of developments that make buying, preparing and eating ground meats a more healthful and palate-pleasing experience.

Label reading is an important part of smart ground meat buying. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) standards require that ground meats be labeled with the types of meat contained. No water, binders, chemicals or dyes may be added to any ground meat. Seasoning and extenders can only be added if this is noted on the label.

The American Institute for Cancer Research recommends lowering the amount of fat in your diet, so pay attention to fat content labels on ground meat. The USDA requires that ground beef not contain more than 30 percent fat by weight. Beef labeled "hamburger" or "chopmeat" usually has the highest percentages of fat. Look for ground beef labeled "lean" or "extra-lean" for lower fat content.

Don't get stuck in the grind of serving just ground beef. Other ground meats—including pork, veal, lamb and turkey—can also save money while adding a lot of variety to your menus. Ground turkey is a particularly lowfat option, and is delicious in burgers, meat loaf, meatballs and many of your other favorite ground meat recipes. The recipe below is just one example.

APPLESAUCE MEAT LOAF
1 lb. lean ground turkey or ground beef (or extra lean)
1/3 cup bran
1/3 cup unsweetened applesauce
1 egg
1 1/2 tps. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. onion, chopped
1/4 tsp. pepper

Topping:
5 tsp. unsweetened applesauce
1 1/2 tsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. prepared mustard

Combine all the meat loaf ingredients (save the topping ingredients for now) in a bowl and mix well. Pat the mixture in a lightly greased baking pan.

Make a depression in the top of the meatloaf. Combine the last three ingredients for the topping. Pour into the depression. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until done.

This recipe yields four servings, with 215 calories and 5 grams of fat per serving.

The material in "Good Food/Good Health" is reviewed by Karen Collins, M.S., R.D. of the American Institute for Cancer Research, Washington, D.C. 20069.

Local Childbirth Educator Recognized

The International Childbirth Education Association (ICEA) announces the recognition of Jean Czeka as an ICEA Certified Childbirth Educator.

Czeka has successfully completed the Teacher Certification Program sponsored by ICEA. Candidates complete a rigorous study curriculum, attend continuing education workshops which support the ICEA philosophy, observe labors and the births and are evaluated on their teaching skills before they sit for the certification examination.

The ICEA Teacher Certification Program verifies that the childbirth educator has the necessary education and counseling skills to enable her to prepare expectant parents mentally and physically for a participating, and individually satisfying pregnancy, labor and birth and introduction to parenthood. Over 1000 individuals are currently enrolled in the certification program which is offered internationally.

Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Ed. Assoc. offers childbirth preparation classes through Prestonsburg Community College. For further information call 886-3863 ext. 213.

Election Coverage To Air On KET

Join KET during the month of May for a live pre-election special, election day results, and follow-up analysis during Comment on Kentucky.

May 10 at 7:00/6:00 p.m. CT, KET presents Primary '88, an hourlong, live special featuring opposed candidates for the United States House of Representatives. Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky area broadcaster Bill Myers will host the program. The format will be a series of questions placed to each candidate, with equal times allotted. If all 10 opposed candidates participate, each candidate will have approximately five minutes in which to respond.

On Election Day, May 24 at 10:00/9:00 p.m. CT, KET will provide a complete update of vote totals in congressional, legislative, and judicial races across the state. These results will be based on timely information furnished by the State Board of Elections and the Secretary of State's Office.

In Kentucky, all of the house seats are to be filled, and the odd numbered senate district seats are open. All U.S. Kentucky Congressmen are up for reelection, and certain judicial districts will be holding elections. The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour will follow immediately after the election update.

On May 27, at 7:30/6:30 p.m. CT, tune in to Comment on Kentucky at 7:30/6:30 p.m. CT for complete analysis of election returns. Host Al Smith and his guests will provide in-depth discussion on key results.

Primary '88 and Comment on Kentucky are KET productions.

Art On Display At State Museum

Two art exhibits open at the Old Capitol Galleries in Frankfort. Paintings by noted American Impressionist artist Paul Sawyer will be in the Judges Chamber Gallery from May 1 through July 27. These works will illustrate the poem "The Two Villages" by Terry Cook.

In the main galleries are paintings from the collection of the Kentucky Historical Society. They represent some of the finest artists in Kentucky during the nineteenth century, and portray many prominent Kentuckians.

Also in the Old Capitol, in the second floor Cloakroom Gallery, is an exhibit honoring Governor Simeon Willis. This exhibit was produced to coincide with the publication of The Public Papers of Simeon Willis, recently published by the University of Kentucky Press. "Willis Will Win" remains open until June 28, 1988.

The Kentucky History Museum is located on the Public Square, Broadway and Lewis Streets, Frankfort, Kentucky. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday and 1 p.m.-5 p.m., Sunday. There is no admission charge. For more information please contact, Catherine P. Zwyer, Curator, Kentucky Historical Society, P.O. Box H, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, (502) 564-3016.

ELECT RUSSELL BENTLEY
92ND DISTRICT

Almost every election in Eastern Kentucky, candidates for State Representative come to the voters promising them something they want to hear—more jobs. More jobs are important, we need them. We need more jobs in the coal industry and we need more jobs in other industries in the private sector. We're producing more coal than ever with fewer miners. Small coal operators are being forced out of business. We know we have serious problems.

Promising jobs sounds good—it's what you want to hear. Russell Bentley has plans to create jobs in this area. But Russell Bentley is not the type of man to offer you that quick fix and promising you something and in fact giving you nothing. Jobs will not come until we have economic development. Before you build a house you must start with a good foundation. In order to have economic development, we must have better roads, better schools, adequate water and sewage and more quality housing.

Russell Bentley is not going to promise you jobs overnight. It's going to take long range planning. It's going to take being a sober, responsible person mixing with other legislators down state to help economic development in Eastern Kentucky. It's going to take a person to convince other legislators that the state has not been kind to our coal industry, our miners and our people. It's going to take getting other mountain legislators working together to more or less form an "Eastern Kentucky Chamber of Commerce" in the mountain delegation. Russell Bentley is the type of leader to help bring economic development to Eastern Kentucky. Russell Bentley is a leader for the future, not the past.

Police In Community Service

Students in Onda Hunt's eighth grade health class listen to Captain Greg Hall of the Prestonsburg Police Department talk on drugs. It's part of a three day educational program to make students aware of the harmful effects of illegal drugs.

By Joe Porter

The Prestonsburg Police Department does a lot more than investigate crimes, arrest law breakers, and issue violations to motorists. They actively take part in community affairs, educating children and adults about drugs and firearms, and promote safety.

"We try to help organizations and schools," said Police Chief William R. Campbell about his department's efforts. "If we've got the people available, and it'll help them, we will do what we can."

Monday through Wednesday of last week Captain Greg Hall showed films and taught eighth graders at Prestonsburg Elementary School about the negative effects of drugs. The films came from the state Criminal Justice Division in Richmond. Then on Thursday and Friday the same students learned about the safe use of firearms from Officer Mike Ormerod, and viewed a live demonstration at the Cliffside firing range. "They won't be using any firearms," Campbell said. "It's just to show them the danger involved."

The Headstart program's Parents Appreciation Picnic was held May 2 at the Dewey Dam Spillway, and the police department provided the public address system and handed out pamphlets on safety to parents and preschoolers. The materials advise children against such things as walking by themselves or going near strangers. "They've been very accommodating," said Janie Bailey Smith, Director of the Headstart Program, about the police. "It was really a nice gesture, and it makes for a good working relationship."

400 children and parents attended the event, and besides Campbell, the police department was represented by Sergeant Sue Blackburn and Mike Ormerod, who gave their time on their day off. Campbell said he was hoping the outing would give the small children a chance to familiarize themselves with what a police officer looks like in uniform and what a police patrol car looks like. The police chief believes this kind of involvement will pay off in the long run with improved law enforcement, for example, in cases involving missing children.

On May 14 the police department will sponsor a "ladies firearm school," starting at 10 a.m. at the Municipal Building. Captain Darrell Conley, a qualified range instructor, and Mike Ormerod, will give safety instructions and allow the ladies to shoot for qualification.

These are just some of the ways the Prestonsburg Police go beyond their duty to serve the community.

May Is National Sight-Saving Month

The Kentucky Society to Prevent Blindness estimates that nearly 50,000 individuals will become blind this year. And nearly half of these tragedies could have been prevented.

With regular eye exams, early diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders, and use of protective eyewear in hazardous situations, nearly 25,000 people could save their sight this year—2,000 just during May, National Sight-Saving Month.

Although the prevalence of blindness increases with age, threats to sight exist at every age. The Society points out some of the major eye problems and preventive measures against these common causes of vision loss:

Glaucoma, a leading cause of blindness, can generally be controlled with medications. Regular eye exams and early detection and treatment are crucial to guard against this often symptomless disease. Any vision loss to glaucoma cannot be restored.

Diabetic retinopathy, a leading cause of new blindness in adults under 75, can often be treated by laser if detected in the early stages. Every diabetic is at risk for this condition and should schedule regular examinations with an eye care specialist, whether or not symptoms have appeared.

Cataracts, another common cause of blindness, can be treated by surgical techniques that allow the patient to recover in just a few days. Once the cataract-clouded lens is removed, there are several options for restoring good vision including artificial lens implants.

Age-related macular degeneration is the leading cause of blindness for persons age 75 and over and is the most common cause of new cases of blindness among those age 65 and over. It must be detected at an early stage for treatment to be successful.

Eye injuries at home, in recreation and on the job, can be prevented nine times out of 10 by wearing proper eye protection and taking other sensible precautions. Nearly one million Americans have already lost some degree of sight to injuries, and another 40,000 persons will suffer a vision-impairing eye injury this year. Protective eyewear has long been used in industry and this same eyewear is readily available to the public. Protective eyewear designed specifically for sports (racquet sports; baseball) is also available.

For more information on any of these major causes of vision loss and how blindness can be prevented, contact The Kentucky Society to Prevent Blindness, 727 Starks Building, Louisville, Ky. 40202, 584-6127.

When the rains come to the southern Arizona desert each year, spadefoot toads emerge from below the ground. According to National Wildlife magazine, these desert toads mate at night and lay their eggs near pools of water. As the water begins to recede, the tadpoles hatch and mature. The spadefoot toads then resort to voluntary burial. There they will remain—buried alive—until new rains come to the desert the following year!

Named To Who's Who

Scott Miller, son of Kaye Miller, of Shelbyville, has been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students, for his community leadership and positive performance.

A senior at Shelby Co. High School, and the recipient of several awards in area art competition, Miller will attend the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C. this summer as a congressional scholar.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hicks, of Frankfort, formerly of Allen.

*"A Man Who Will Listen
When You Talk"*

(Pol. Adv. Paid by the candidate, 4-20-88)

"I was relieved to discover I was an alcoholic."

One man's story.

The word "alcoholism" is so loaded with shame, it's hard to imagine anyone ever being relieved to discover it applied to them. This is a glimpse of what one man went through to come slowly to that realization.

"The very first time I drank, I got drunk, I got sick, I had a blackout. I didn't intend any of that to happen."

Often from their very first drink, alcoholics seem to respond differently to alcohol. If you sometimes drink so much that you don't recollect certain events, then by definition, you have an alcohol problem.

Normal drinkers rarely lose control to the extent that they have a blackout.

"Within six years, I was drinking round-the-clock, a quart of vodka a day. I didn't care what happened."

As the disease of alcoholism progresses, more and more you don't control alcohol, it controls you. Once you start drinking, you can't be sure whether you'll have two drinks, or twenty.

The consequences—family difficulties, health problems, arrest, loss of job—cease to matter. All you care about is the next drink.

"I thought I drank because I was crazy. I never realized I was crazy because I drank."

The more you drink, the more trapped you become. That's because drinking at your present rate has devastating consequences. But the thought of cutting down is equally awful.

So subconsciously, you seek a way out by flatly denying you have a problem, and laying the blame for your misfortunes elsewhere. You're going insane, people have it in for you or you're simply unlucky.

"Towards the end, I lay in bed, a half gallon on the floor, soaking wet with sweat, a gun in my mouth."

The possibility of suicide is one reason CareUnit likes to treat people as early as possible.

Last year, our program helped over 55,000 people stop using alcohol and drugs.

Treatment is covered by most insurance plans, and includes medical supervision, education, group therapy and free lifetime aftercare.

Incidentally, there's no charge for the initial consultation, which may involve the drinker, or someone close to him.

"Once I admitted my real problem, the worst was over."

It may be hard to believe—and it may not happen until you've been in treatment for a while—but once you admit you have a problem with alcohol, you'll feel a strong sense of relief and release. Then—and only then—can you start to rebuild your life.

The man whose story you've read has been sober 15 years, he's a highly successful senior executive in a major corporation, and he owes his life to one phone call.

And that's the point. If you don't call, we can't help.

Catfish May Become Ky. Cash "Crop" Say Ag. Researchers

Catfish production is a big cash crop in Mississippi. Maybe it will be that in Kentucky, too.

Agricultural researchers Jim Tidwell and Steve Mims' research at Kentucky State University's Aquacultural Research Center, near Frankfort, have early data to suggest that catfish can be produced profitably in Kentucky.

The two believe that Kentucky farmers can raise about 4,000 pounds of catfish per acre of ponds each spring to fall. Those catfish currently are bringing about $1.30 per pound. The cost is about 70 cents a pound to raise the fish to marketing size, including feed, labor and return on the initial investment in the ponds.

"Catfish are very efficient animals. For every pound and a half of feed we give them, they put on a pound of flesh," Tidwell said.

The market for Kentucky catfish, Tidwell said, should develop as more farmers begin to raise them.

"Right now, those we produce here in Frankfort as part of our research project are sold to stocker pond owners and to the fresh fish trade," he said.

"We knew that Mississippians were raising them profitably, but we didn't know if the climate in Kentucky would slow down their development to the extent that they would not be a profitable venture," Mims said.

Although it takes a bit longer to raise a catfish to market size, the market appears to be a bit stronger.

"Even though it takes a longer growing season here in Kentucky to produce market weight fish, the difference is we can market them for a better price. Transporting catfish raised in Mississippi adds to the costs of buying them," Tidwell said.

The two researchers now are focusing their attention on finding least cost rations for the fish, so that they can produce the meat more efficiently. In addition, they are looking into double cropping the catfish with trout.

Trout do well in cooler weather and catfish in warmer weather, so producers should be able to produce them in the same year in the same pond, Tidwell said.

The researchers also are exploring the possibility of raising spoonbill catfish, a first cousin to the shark, as they describe it.

"Spoonbill catfish, also called paddlefish, are native to Kentucky. They are peculiar in that they have no bones, except head bones. Their eggs are considered by some to be delicacies, second in preference only to sturgeon as caviar," Mims said.

"LEADERSHIP YOU CAN BE PROUD OF"

Benny Ray Bailey has represented the 100,000+ residents of Kentucky's 29th Senatorial District since 1980. During this period of time, state government funding of vital services and public facilities for our area has shown unprecedented growth.

- Floyd County Public Schools have received state funding for a new middle school in Prestonsburg; a new high school on Left Beaver Creek; a new grade school for Garrett-Wayland; a new grade school at Allen. Under the School Facilities Construction program, Floyd County has received more state money for new school construction than any other district in the state.
- Prestonsburg Community College has received two new buildings in the state budget in 1986 and 1988. The only Community College in Kentucky to receive new buildings in both 1986 and 1988.
- Local governments have received unprecedented return of coal severance tax monies and, for the first time, 50% of all oil and gas severance tax monies.
- Senator Bailey led the fight to construct a modern rest stop facility on the Mt. Parkway.
- The average school teacher salary has moved from an average of $13,000 in 1980 to $23,000 in 1988.
- State funds for poorer school districts, Power Equalization, has increased from $31 million in 1980 to more than $96 million in 1988.
- Senator Bailey's amendment to the budget this past Session provided senior citizens centers for residents of Betsy Layne and Wayland.
- Senator Bailey's legislation in the 1988 Session will allow the people this November to eliminate the so-called "broad form deed" with their votes.

Benny Ray Bailey has gained the respect of his colleagues in the Senate and the confidence of the people of his District. Benny Ray works hard for the people of Floyd County and we can all see the results of his labors. That's why we need to keep Benny Ray Bailey as our state senator with our support and vote on May 24th.

Up, Up, and Away...

Cowan Seeks To Block Blue Cross Rate Hike

Attorney General Fred Cowan is intervening in a rate hike request by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky that would impact an estimated 100 thousand Kentuckians covered by individual policies. Cowan says he's taking the action because "an immediate rate increase of this size would impose a terrible burden on thousands of people, particularly our older citizens." Cowan will argue against the proposed increase at a Kentucky Department of Insurance hearing on Monday, May 9th at 9:30 a.m. In its filing of April 15th, Blue Cross proposes increasing the monthly premiums individuals pay by as much as 82 percent. For men and women between the ages of 60-64, the average increase would be more than 65 percent. The monthly cost of health coverage for these individuals would go from the current $73.67 to $121.81. "We're not saying Blue Cross couldn't or shouldn't raise its revenues, but there are alternatives to targeting the group of people least able to cope with a sharp and sudden increase," said Cowan. The biggest fear according to the Attorney General is that older Kentuckians will end up without medical coverage, because they can't afford it. To lessen the impact, Cowan is urging, that at the very least, the proposed higher rates be implemented gradually. Under Kentucky insurance regulations, "companies will be requested to implement rate increases of more than 30 percent over two or more years." The Kentucky Consumer Protection Act of 1972 authorizes the Attorney General to represent consumers in all types of rate cases and Cowan stressed that his office will continue to actively advocate the interests of Kentucky's consumers of health insurance.

Clippard Is Named C & H Rauch Manager

C & H Rauch Jewelers recently announced that Debra Clippard, formerly of Frankfort, has been named manager of the Prestonsburg location. A native of Indiana, Clippard comes to C & H Rauch with fourteen years of experience in retail sales. She and her husband, Robert, currently reside in Prestonsburg with their two children, Colin and Tyler.

Forty-four percent of the water supply systems are owned by government entities such as cities, districts, or counties, and 56% are owned by private investors.

MANDATORY NOTICE BY ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY FOR ALL WATER SYSTEMS PERTAINING TO LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

"The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

"Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

"EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women. "Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

- if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
- if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- if the home is less than five years old, or
- if you have soft or acidic water, or
- if water sits in the pipes for several hours."

The Martin Water Works does not have lead service lines or other lead-containing materials in our distribution system. The water in Martin Water Works water supply is not in violation of the current standards. The water in your own house piping may be. It is the responsibility of the customer to pay for testing for lead in their own house piping.

You can reduce the possibility of consuming water with high lead concentrations by the following:

1. Flush cold water pipes before drinking—10-30 seconds.
2. Use only water from cold water pipes for drinking, cooking or preparing baby formula.
3. Lead pipes and service connections can be replaced.
4. Insist that only lead free materials be used in repairs or new plumbing.

The only way to be sure of the amount of lead in your water is to have the water tested by a state certified testing laboratory. For additional information contact the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at (502) 564-3410 or Martin Water Works at (606) 285-3402.

Lead content in Prestonsburg City Utilities, which supplies the Martin Water Works, is less than 0.001.

How To Report Tip Income

Workers who receive tips must report them as income on their tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Those who receive less than $20 a month in tips must keep their own records and include the total amount of tip income received during the year on their Form 1040, 1040A, or 1040EZ income tax return.

Workers who receive tips of $20 or more in a month while working for one employer must report the total amount of these tips to their employer by the 10th day of the following month. Some employers may require these written reports more than once a month.

The monthly tip report must contain the employee's name, address, and social security number. The employer's name and address, the period covered, and the total amount of tips must also be in the report, which must be signed and dated by the employee. If the employee keeps a daily tip record, it will be that much easier to prepare the monthly report, according to the IRS.

Also employers are responsible for withholding social security or railroad retirement tax and income tax due on reported tips.

Certain food and beverage establishments, are required to file an annual report with the IRS. If the total tips reported to the establishment by its employees are less than eight percent of its food and beverage sales, the establishment generally must allocate the difference to employees for information purposes only.

The report requires, among other information, the establishment's total gross receipts from food and beverage operations, total charge receipts on which there were charged tips, tips shown on charge receipts, and tips reported by employees. There will be an allocation of tips if the total tips reported by the employees are less than the applicable percentage of the food and beverage establishment's total sales. Total sales do not include carry out sales, state or local taxes, or sales on which there was a service charge of 10 percent or more. Tip allocations are made only to employees who receive tips directly from customers unless there is an agreement that they be allocated among all tipped employees.

Employers should withhold income, social security, or railroad retirement tax only on the tips reported by the employees, not on the allocated tips. The tip allocation is for information purposes only, but the allocated amount should be added to income on the employee's tax return unless the employee is able to prove a lesser amount with adequate records. However, the IRS may determine that a tipped employee received more tip income than is shown in the tip allocation. The reports filed by employers will be used to determine whether employees have been accurately reporting tip income.

Free IRS forms are available for maintaining a daily tip record and preparing monthly reports. Publication 1244, which contains the forms, and Publication 531, "Reporting Income From Tips," are available by calling the IRS "Forms Only" toll-free number, 1-800-424-3676.

IN MEMORY

Sophia (Clark Jones)
You always gave a helping hand to friends and kin alike, You taught us to be truthful and keep our spirits right.

You taught us how to keep a smile and have a sense of humor, Never talk about our friends or listen to a rumor

The prettiest mom in all the county is what we heard them say, But, your beauty from within taught us how to pray.

Just to be more like you is what we really seek, Caring about all others the down and out, and weak.

Now, you're up in Glory Walking with the King, Waiting for your children as you, and the angels sing.

Written by Your children, CLARA EVELYN AND CLARENCE II.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mom, Pearlle Compton, whom Jesus called to Heaven on May 2, 1981 and Dad, Floyd Compton, whom Jesus called to Heaven on May 11, 1986.

MOM & DAD

Spring has arrived Mom & Dad Even though you are not here, We know it was your Most favorite time of the year.

We miss you so much Mom & Dad And it makes us so sad, To see your favorite flower The beautiful tulips of red.

You both suffered so much Yet, you were so brave, And worried about your family Because, by your side we stayed

We know you are both with Jesus In Heaven above, Waiting for your family With open arms of love.

Mom & Dad, as we go through This life of trouble and woe, With Jesus by the hand We will see you on Heaven's bright shore.

Mom and Dad, we love and miss you both so much. Sadly missed by Linda, Yvonne, David and Bobbie. II.

BENEDICT BAPTIST SLATES REVIVAL SERVICES, MAY 9-14

Revival services will be held at Benedict Baptist Church on Slick Rock Fork of Cow Creek from May 9 to 14, beginning at 7 each evening. Bro. Wayne Gullion will be special speaker. Pastor Gordon Fitch extends an invitation to all to attend.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Teddie Howell, Jr.,
Born July 13, 1960
Died May 9, 1987

Bubby we are so proud that God saw fit to loan you to us for awhile, and it was so hard for us to give you back to him.

In the short time that we shared you and your love, you touched so many peoples lives while here on earth.

Bubby you did not go alone when you were called away that Saturday night, May 9, 1987. A part of us went with you on that sad and tragic night. You were a precious son to your daddy and me.

You always had a smile and a handshake for everyone you met. You were a kind and loving person. You made everyone you met feel special. You shared your love in so many ways. We can all look back with many good memories and thank God we had a son like you. We miss you so much. Sadly missed by your mom, dad and sisters. II.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Elder Milford Adams
May 6, 1912-Nov. 7, 1987

We all love and miss you very much. YOUR HEARTBROKEN FAMILY

A proud tradition

Our funeral home has been responding to the needs of the community for many years. To continue this proud tradition of helping families in their time of need, we now offer the Sunset Security™ Plan.

Sunset Security™, offered by us as a member of the Kentucky Funeral Directors' Burial Association, is a plan that lets you reduce the stress your loved ones will experience at the time of a funeral.

Through Sunset Security™, you can pre-arrange a funeral now. The plan offers an inflation-proof feature that lets you save money by freezing the cost of a funeral at today's prices. And it provides special tax-saving advantages.

We'd like to give you a "Personal Record Guide" and tell you about the Sunset Security™ Plan. Just complete the coupon below and send it to us.

National Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Vince Parsons has been named a United States National Award winner in English.

Vince Parsons, who attends Betsy Layne High School was nominated for this award by Reba Blackburn, an English teacher at the school. His biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Parsons is the son of Millard and Mildred Parsons and grandson of Arnold and Dixie Hunter, of Prestonsburg, and Sid and Gertrude Parsons, of Honaker.

Columbia Gas Offers Help To Avoid Service Shut-Off

Columbia Gas of Kentucky urges customers facing termination of natural gas service to visit a Columbia office as soon as possible to discuss available assistance and payment plans.

"We encourage customers who are having problems paying gas bills to meet with us so that loss of natural gas service can be avoided," said Jimmy C. Curnutte, Columbia's manager for the Prestonsburg area.

"We want every customer who wants natural gas service to have it. We will sit down with the customer and work with them to find a solution to their problem. There are many ways we can help," said Curnutte.

Curnutte cited extended payment plans designed to meet individual needs and financial assistance programs such as the WinterCare Energy Fund as ways to avoid service disconnection.

"We want to help, but we can only help if customers let us know they are experiencing difficulties."

"Our customer service people are trained and ready to assist customers who wish to discuss these programs. There is no charge to customers for these services."

$500,000 Funding Okeyed For Haysi Lake Project

Continued planning for Haysi Lake, in nearby Dickenson county, Virginia was assured last week with the announcement by Congressman Carl C. "Chris" Perkins that funds totaling $500,000 have been approved for the work by the Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development of the House Committee on Appropriations.

The proposed lake will be located on the Russell Fork of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River and is intended to enhance flood control in the Seventh District.

"I am very pleased that the subcommittee has approved these funds so quickly," Perkins stated. "When you look at a map and see the great distances that this dam impacts—from Pikeville, to Prestonsburg, to Paintsville, up to Louisa—you see the tremendous flood protection which it will provide. This project will be a great benefit to many people in Eastern Kentucky. I'm excited to see that it will actually happen thanks, in part, to these approved funds."

The Haysi Lake would provide reduction in the flood of record down the Levisa Fork at where it joins the Tug Fork at Louisa. It would reduce flooding at Pikeville by a little over three feet, at Prestonsburg by 2½ feet, at Paintsville by 1.6 feet and at Louisa by 6/10 of a foot.

Congressman Perkins also announced that the Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development of the House Committee on Appropriations has approved a bill for fiscal year 1989 which will provide $107 million for the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

Being the same property conveyed to Ronnie Shepherd and Zetta Alice Lowe Shepherd, his wife, by deed dated the 21st day of October, 1985, from Don L. Shepherd, Bonnie H. Shepherd, et al, which is duly recorded in Deed Book 297, page 491, in the Floyd County Clerk's Office, which is described as follows:

A certain tract or parcel of land located on Sally Stephens Branch of Middlecreek in Floyd County, Kentucky and beginning at an iron stake located at the edge of the County Road constituting the southern boundary of the land of Donald L. Shepherd and Bonnie Shepherd; thence from the iron stake in an easterly direction a straight line to the top of the hill; thence running with the ridge in a southerly direction to the boundary line of Eddie Wayne Shepherd; thence in a westerly direction down the hill a straight line to the county road; thence in a northerly direction to the iron stake marking the beginning.

Being a part of the same property inherited by the parties under the Joint Last Will and Testament of Estill Shepherd and Stella Arnett Shepherd, said Will dated February 28, 1976, recorded in Will Book E, page 227, of the Floyd County Clerk's Office.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $9,216.14 with interest thereon at 14.17% annually from January 11, 1988 until paid, and the principal sum of $1,068.57 with interest thereon at 15% annually from the 11 day of January, 1988 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 2 day of May, 1988.

MARSHALL DAVIDSON, Master Commissioner 5-4-31.

NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE

Application Number 836-5145 In accordance with the provisions of 405 KAR 16.120E, Section 3, Rough Branch Mining Inc., P.O. Box 613, McDowell, Kentucky 41647, (606) 437-4351, proposes the following blasting schedule. The blasting site consist of approximately 21.87 acres located north-west of Salt Lick Creek in Floyd county. The area is located 3.4 miles north-west of Huesyville and 1.5 miles northeast of Handshoe at latitude 37° 36' 50" and longitude 82° 53' 25". Detonations of explosives are proposed to occur from sunrise to sunset and from Monday through Saturday for the period from June 1, 1988 through May 31, 1989.

Entry to the blasting area will be regulated by signs and barriers. An authorized company representative will prohibit access to the blasting area by unauthorized persons at least ten minutes prior to each detonation. The warning signal shall consist of five long blasts on a siren five minutes prior to the detonation. The all clear signal shall consist of five short blasts on a siren following the inspection of the blast site. All roads leading to or near the blast site will remain closed until the all clear signal is given. The warning and all clear signals will be audible within one-half mile from the blast point. Events which could necessitate blasting at unscheduled time include but are not limited to rain, lightning, other atmospheric conditions, or deteriorated explosives which involve personnel, operational, or public safety. 11.

LEGAL NOTICE PROPOSED USE HEARING MUNICIPAL ROAD AID FUND

A public hearing will be held by the City of Martin at City Hall, Martin, Kentucky on June 9, 1988 at 11 a.m. for the purpose of obtaining written and oral comments of citizens regarding possible use of Municipal Aid Road Funds. The City currently has $19,000.00 in carry-over funds from fiscal year 1987-1988 and will be receiving $11,000.00 during the fiscal year 88-89 for a total of $30,000.

All interested persons and organizations of the City of Martin are invited to a public hearing to submit written or oral comments on the possible use of Municipal Road Aid Funds. These funds will be used for the construction, reconstruction, maintenance or repair of City Streets.

Any person(s) (especially senior citizens) who cannot submit comments should call the City Clerk at 285-3184 so that arrangements can be made to secure their comments. 11.

KET To Air Story Of Misplaced Babies

Channel Crossings' "Mix Up," a fascinating and darkly entertaining "true story" of human error, airs Saturday, May 21 at 11:00/10:00 p.m. CT on KET.

One day in November of 1936 in a Nottingham, England hospital, two expectant mothers, Margaret Wheeler and Blanche Rylatt, each gave birth to a daughter. Upon leaving the hospital, Margaret was certain she had been given the wrong child. Blanche, on the other hand, did not believe there had been a mix-up.

For the most part, both families believed that the girls they were raising were their own flesh and blood. Twenty years later, it generally was agreed by all parties, including the daughters, that a terrible mistake had been made. Each mother had been sent home with the other's baby.

The French documentary "Mix Up" uses interviews with the mothers, daughters, and other family members to present the touching story of a very unusual mistake. The subjects talk about the forever-altered circumstances of their lives. The bits and pieces of interviews often have a contrived and nervous quality because the participants are not used to speaking in front of cameras.

Channel Crossings is a presentation of WNET/New York.
