Abner Fork Resident Still Waiting For A Steady, Safe Water Supply

by Anne Chaney, Editor

For most of their years on Abner Fork, Buck Keens and his wife have hauled water or caught it in drums — or done without.

"There used to be a spring four or five feet deep" in back of his house, Keens relates, "with the prettiest water you ever saw."

The water disappeared in the mid 1960s when Keens dynamited the spring to make it deeper.

For seven or eight years, the family hauled water to Keens' home, set on the side of Abner Mountain. His 80-year-old mother and 26-year-old daughter, for whom he also hauls water, live just feet away in their own homes.

After spending several years traveling the 12 miles to Jack's Creek each week to get water, Keens and his family had a 300' well dug. His mother applied for and received a government loan to finance the project. Replacing a pump which burned out brought the family's total investment in a water supply to $5,000. Then the well went dry.

Government officials refused another loan, saying his mother was too old to qualify.

"It was pretty clear water," Keens says, recalling the well. "It never did change color or anything until it went dry. But when it went dry, it went dry overnight."

Unbeknownst to him at the time, his neighbor's wells were also going dry or dropping water levels substantially.

Keens, whose house is located within a half-mile of four to five natural gas wells, believes drilling caused his well to go dry.

"We're concerned about acid rain, but if you don't have anything else, you're grateful for what you've got."
— Ruth Keens

He contacted the company and was promised water, but never received any.

He had been hauling water — again — since November 1987. An auto accident in July left him without a pickup truck for hauling. Now, he says, he can't haul the 55-gallon drums of water he used to, but instead gets "a few jugs at a time," in his car.

"We have to wait until it rains to do our washing," adds his wife, Ruth. The couple collects condensed water from their air conditioner to flush toilets; a rain barrel outside catches water for washing dishes and bathing. Although they had an automatic washing machine, they gave it to a daughter because they didn't have enough water to use it. Today, they use a wringer-type washer.

Their 10-year-old daughter recently visited relatives in Detroit, Mich., and returned home marveling at having a choice of a bath or shower.

"If it rains a lot, then we can run it in the bathtub and she can bathe. Otherwise, she just has to take it the best way she can," explains Ruth.

"There have been times we didn't even have a bit of water to drink," her husband adds.

The family uses rainwater for everything but cooking and drinking, catching it out of gutters in 55-gallon drums. "We're concerned about acid rain, but if you don't have anything else, you're grateful for what you've got," notes Ruth. Her parents' water has also provided problems to them during the years — dropping to a lower level and turning red and rusty.

"We washed clothes in it one time and it broke me out," says Buck.

The couple continues to cope with day-to-day problems caused by no reliable water source, but they remember well a dozen years ago when one of the three houses burned.

"The only water we had was what the fire truck brought. The fire fighters put quilts in the rain barrels and draped my mother's house to keep it from also catching fire," says Buck.

'If Ever I Would Leave You'

... It certainly wouldn't be in autumn, which officially begins today. The reason, of course, is that Eastern Kentucky's beauty is never more pronounced than in early to mid-autumn. Nature's richest colors appear, almost overnight it seems. One day the green is fading, and the next morning we wake up immersed in a painting by the world's greatest artist. The scenery is, to use a tired word, breathtaking.

Precisely, the autumnal equinox is at 8:20 p.m. today. For our friends in the Southern Hemisphere, this is the first day of spring. Every place on earth today, except the poles, will have nearly identical daylight length, about 12 hours, 8 minutes.

Wow, what about that Mother Nature!

Splash and Chill

A high pressure system from the Northeast combined with a cold front from the West, with a dash of Hurricane Hugo, is the formula for wet and cooler weather, according to the Jackson meteorologist. Today holds a 90 percent chance of rain, with showers and thunderstorms in the forecast. Daytime highs range from 75 to 80 degrees, with nighttime temperatures in the low 60s.

The chance of rain lessens to 70 percent Saturday (whoopee!) with highs from 70-75 and lows in the lower 50s. One bright spot: the showers are supposed to end Saturday night.

Grab a sweater and blanket for Sunday. The forecast is for partly cloudy skies, with highs in the 60s and lo-o-ows in the mid- to upper-40s.

Monday and Tuesday are expected to warm a little, with partly cloudy skies and temperature highs into the 70s and lows around 50.

Frost? The weatherman says he's not "going out on that limb." But he warns that nighttime temperatures in low-lying areas are generally 4 or 5 degrees colder than the hill where the weather station is located.

Indonesians To Visit

A number of senior members of the Indonesian government will be feted Friday, Sept. 22, at the Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg, in a joint reception sponsored by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce and Kentuckians For The Commonwealth.

The reception begins at 5 p.m. Officials with the International Management Development Institute of the University of Pittsburgh were contacted earlier this year by the Ministry of Home Affairs of the Indonesian government, and asked to conduct a seminar on regional planning. Twenty-two high-level Indonesian officials are touring West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky to study rural development projects, citizen mobilization and grass roots efforts.

On-Line Retailer Session Planned In P'burg Oct. 9-10

As sales of instant tickets topped $170 million, lottery officials announced the schedule of training sessions for about 1,000 retailers who will sell the on-line tickets beginning Oct. 16.

About a dozen Floyd County firms are expected to take part.

Locally, several three-hour training sessions are planned Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 9-10, in the Weeksbury Room at the Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg.

On Monday, sessions will be held at 8 and 11:30 a.m., and another at 3 p.m.; on Tuesday, training sessions will be held at 8 and 11:30 a.m.

According to Frank Keener, lottery president, attendance at one of the training sessions is mandatory for licensed on-line retailers. Retailers should have received letters noting which session they should attend, Keener added.

Coal Camp Tales

Intrigue Played Out In Legend

By Pam Shingler, Assistant Editor

A heated romance between a coal miner's pretty daughter and the handsome son of a mine supervisor, a hoped-for wedding and the bride-to-be's body found in the Ohio River.

The elements of a television miniseries, perhaps? Better yet, a fitting subject for the program "Unsolved Mysteries."

Of course, there was no TV in 1916 or '17 when the drama of Lula Viers unfolded in Auxier. Folk ballads sprang up about the intrigue, but much of what remains of the legend lies only in the memories of older residents of the community, most of whom were youngsters when the story took place.

Robert Castle, president of the Auxier Historical Society, has attempted to research what happened when Miss Viers met her untimely death, but he has run up against walls of incomplete information and conflicting versions.

Castle has been able to verify that Miss Viers had a son by John Coyer (often written and pronounced as Collier). Documents in the Floyd County courthouse attest that Coyer was ordered to pay support of the child, who went by the name Russell Viers.

On Jan. 24, 1916, a jury, composed of Albert Burchett, Carl DeRossett, Joe Salmons, Sam Hale, A.J. Snaveley and Sol DeRossett, directed Coyer to pay the sum of $25 per year for 12 years to Miss Viers. Less than two weeks later, a court record indicates that Coyer had been jailed for 10 days for not making the first payment. Coyer, according to the record, claimed he was an "unsolvent debtor" and apparently was released, without having to pay.

From there, all dates are cloudy. Many of the older Auxier residents Castle has interviewed remember the events that reportedly occurred, but he has been unable to pinpoint the exact year, much less the dates.

Legend says that Coyer promised to marry Miss Viers. One account is that a Mrs. Charles DeCoursey, who lived next door to the Viers', made the young woman's wedding clothes — which later enabled authorities to identify the body. On the day of the wedding, Coyer, legend relates, went on to Prestonsburg to get the marriage papers and Miss Viers was to meet him there. Miss Viers' departure on the train to the county seat marked the last time her family saw her.

No other facts survive, except that See COAL CAMP TALES, Page 6

Siphoning Water

Buck Keens and his family catch water for household use in rain barrels carefully placed below gutters on their Abner Fork residence. Having been without a safe, steady source of water for several years, he and his family catch rain water, use condensed water from their air conditioner and haul water from Jack's Creek, 12 miles away, for household use. Above, Keens connects a siphon hose leading from a rain barrel outside his home to the water heater inside.

Auxier Mystery Still Puzzles

Lula Viers, the coal miner's daughter who died mysteriously — some say at the hands of her lover — sits peacefully in a painting by David Wallen. The artist, who is doing a series of paintings about the history of Auxier, captured Miss Viers from a photograph taken before her death.

Oops! Judge Lets Man Go

MOREHEAD—A Louisiana judge earlier this month mistakenly released a man who had been sentenced to two life terms for the assault and robbery of two Morehead women. Thomas C. Mitchell, 40, was set free on $1,500 bond on a Louisiana burglary charge by the judge who did not have information on Mitchell's imprisonment for the Morehead crime. Mitchell was serving the Kentucky sentence when he was transported to Louisiana to be arraigned on the charge there. (The Morehead News)

School Administrator Overpaid?

INEZ—A Martin County School System administrator is under fire for receiving close to $5,000 for directing a five-week summer work program. School officials defended Michael Kessinger's pay, saying it was not illegal, although perhaps "excessive." The money, officials noted, came from Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Project and not the school system budget. (The Martin Countian and Mercury)

Prestonsburg Traffic Count Shows Development, Need For New US 23

By Gwen Hall
Freelance Writer
Traffic through southern Prestonsburg has tripled in the past 30 years.

In 1959, the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission reported an average of 4,800 vehicles traveling US 23 every 24 hours. What was US 23 then is now known as State Highway 1428, or South Lake Drive.

The Department of Transportation's latest figures for southern Prestonsburg's US 23 traffic count were compiled in August 1988, and show an average of 14,454 vehicles per day.

Joe Anderson, district traffic engineer for the Department of Highways, says the increase doesn't surprise him.

"When you build a new road — and the new US 23 four-lane highway was built during that time — you generate traffic. Traffic stimulates development of all kinds, commercial, educational, industrial, residential and economic."

"It all indicates that we're a growing, thriving part of Eastern Kentucky," says Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta.

Prestonsburg did a traffic study of its own in 1985 that showed almost identical numbers.

"US 23 is a major north-south route. The two-lane sections need to become four-lane highway. The traffic count indicates our need to get the rest of the road finished," said Latta.

Chalmer Frazier, executive director of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, says US 23 has been "worked on" for more than 30 years.

"In (President) Johnson's time, the plan was to have a four-lane highway from Detroit, Mich., to the Kentucky-Virginia line... (Governor) Bert Combs got a bond issue to pay for our share and we were closer to paying our part than any state in the union. But Henry Ward wanted to spread the money around the state. He said, 'Eastern Kentucky doesn't need that size road'... and we still don't have it. There are gaps between Paintsville and Prestonsburg and Pikeville and Jenkins."

"If we get it (US 23) finished," says Frazier, "it'll double the tourists because it's the shortest route south."

"Tourist dollars are the finest in the world," continues Frazier.

Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo says construction of the four-lane section on the Prestonsburg end is scheduled to begin in 1990.

"The new road will bring more traffic, more tourists and should enable us to move coal faster by the ton cheaper," says Stumbo.

But according to Stumbo, that's not all.

"What we have is Route 3 coming in from Inez, Highway 114 from Salyersville, Highway 80 from Hazard and US 23 from Paintsville and Pikeville. These five roads make Floyd County a hub that has to help our economy."

Mayor Latta envisions a cleaner, less congested Prestonsburg.

"There's really a strain on downtown traffic flow," she explains. "Local traffic at just 7,000 a day is a whole lot, and still twice what it was 30 years ago when it (South Lake Drive) was the major highway."

"The traffic is so heavy it's hard to fix the road, so it's an eyesore in our community. I'm not criticizing the state; they've tried. But, as it is presently, it can't be maintained," she continues. "The only answer is the new road."

"Through traffic is not going to stop here anyway. A bad traffic situation makes them not want to stop here anyway."

"Studies show that more and more people are traveling the byways," says Latta. "We expect the new road to bring more tourists than business travelers. It will open up a new area for new development."

Latta says Gov. Wallace Wilkinson promised this month that work on US 23 would begin at the Prestonsburg end.

"The first segment goes from here to East Point," says Latta. "An access road by the hospital (Highlands Regional Medical Center) will allow users to return to the existing US 23 until the Paintsville segment will be built."

Anderson says the new sections of 23 are in the design stage and nearing the right-of-way stage.

"It certainly is important," he says. "I can't think of another facet of society that isn't dependent on good roads."

Floyd Veterans Still Eligible For Kentucky's Bonus Program

With more than six months of the one-year application period already expired, the Vietnam Veterans Bonus Branch in Frankfort has received 41,140 applications from an estimated 108,000 veterans and their beneficiaries who are possibly eligible in the state, according to Jason M. LeMay of the Department of Military Affairs.

The average estimated bonus of the applications that have undergone preliminary processing to date is $378 per claim. Of the 41,140 applications received, 16,000 have been entered in the office's computer, according to LeMay. Of those entered, 218 are from Floyd County. Records show that there are 1,230 veterans eligible in Floyd County.

"One area that seems to have confused some people," said Bonus Branch Manager Brigadier General Ed Gill (Retired) "is the question of eligibility for veterans who did not serve in Vietnam itself. They probably are eligible if they served on active duty between Aug. 5, 1964, and May 15, 1975, even if they served stateside during that period."

The Division of Veterans Affairs, a newly formed arm of the Department of Military Affairs, is in overall charge of the Bonus program.

'Check Out' PCC's Library

As part of the Awareness Series Program at Prestonsburg Community College, the library there is conducting a general tour of its facilities entitled "Library Survival Skills."

This tour is open to the public and students, and will be given on three days: Tuesday, Sept. 26, at 11:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 27, at 5:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Oct. 4, at 1:50 p.m. The approximately hour-long program will be conducted by librarian Sandra Robertson and assistant librarian Trisha Morris, and will cover such things as the Special Collections Room, Microform Room, Newspaper collections, research tools for students or genealogical searchers and more.

Morris adds that area residents are welcome to use the academic facilities and do not need a library card.

"All they need to now is their Social Security Number to check out material," Morris noted. "They have the same check out privileges of any material which circulates as the students, and we (the library staff) are available to assist in any manner needed."

Floyd Countians Support State School Intervention

by T. Mark Miller,
PCC Sociologist

On Jan. 11, things in Floyd County changed. The state school board members voted unanimously to intervene in the management of the Floyd County school system.

Since then, debate has abounded, with many people supporting the state takeover, including the Floyd County Education Forum. However, others have voiced opposition. This week, we will look at how people in this area really feel about the takeover and the local school system.

When asked, "Do you agree or disagree with the state takeover of the local school system?" 70 percent polled said they agreed. Twenty-eight percent said they disagreed, and 2 percent had no opinion. However, when asked if they felt they or their family had received a quality education from the local school system, 42 percent said yes, 42 percent said no, and 16 weren't sure.

It seems clear that the majority of the community does support the school takeover; however, feelings are mixed among many groups. If we look at various income levels, we find that support is again varied. The strongest support (83 percent) comes from those who make less than $20,000 a year. This is certainly understandable, since education is one of the most important paths to success in American society. Those in the lower income levels have the most to lose if a school system does not operate well. Among those making $20,000 to $40,000 a year, 62 percent support the takeover. Of those making more than $40,000 a year, 75 percent supported the state's action.

EDUCATIONAL GROUPS

If we look at support for the takeover by educational groups, we have some fascinating results. For adults with less than a high school education, only 17 percent support the takeover — or, on the flip side, 83 percent disagreed with the state's action. Those persons who have been failed by the local school system, interestingly, are those who are most likely to support its autonomy.

This finding is hard to explain. We do, however, find that most of these people tend to make between $20,000 and $40,000 a year. They may be from the generation that could drop out of school and still make a good salary working in the coal mining industry. From their point of view, formal schooling may have played a small part in their occupational success. This is one possible answer, but clearly other things come into play. Among those who have at least a high school education or GED, 88 percent support the state takeover. Those who have four or more years of college supported the state's action by 72 percent.

When we look at Floyd County population, we find that it does lag behind the nation at large in educational achievement. For the 1980s, the Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development in Frankfort tells us that 40 percent of the Floyd County population has a high school degree or its equivalent. Six percent of Floyd Countians have four or more years of college. This is slightly below the national average. The National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago reports that from 1980-85, 52 percent of all Americans had a high school degree or GED, while 12 percent had four or more years of college.

How can we account for this difference? To understand the problems in the Floyd County school system, we must also look at our national system. Sociologists have been concerned with education problems for some time. Floyd County is by no means the only school district experiencing problems — Whitley County schools were taken over the same day as the local district.

One of the insights of the sociological debate over America's schools is that schools are part of a system. Floyd County does not stand alone. It is also part of the state and federal systems, and is part of a community. If we look for somewhere to place the blame for lower educational achievement, we don't need to look any further than ourselves. We vote in the politicians, or we don't bother voting at all. We allow abuses to occur. If our educational system fails, it is because our social system has failed.

Research tells us that all bureaucracies (the school system, for example) are resistant to change. This may be one reason why the best districts in Kentucky tend to be the independent systems. In this area, both Pikeville and Paintsville's independent schools do well in state ratings. A smaller school is usually easier to change.

We may find that it's not that the Floyd County school system has gotten worse, but that other school systems have been less resistant to change and have been able to correct past problems. In many ways, the state takeover is one group — the state — telling another group — the county — that it's moving too slowly. (Next Week: More On Education)

Maytown Firefighters Have Busy Week

Two fires blazed in Maytown this week, according to firefighter Keith Hays.

Early Tuesday morning, an automobile caught fire while parked in front of the owner's home in downtown Maytown. Hays was unable to provide the owners name but he did say that the car "was pretty well destroyed." Ten firefighters responded and spent half an hour putting out the flames. The cause is still under investigation by the Kentucky State Police.

The cause of another fire is under investigation as well. The 1:30 a.m. Wednesday fire took place at a service station in downtown Maytown. The 12 firefighters were able to put down the flames in half an hour, but remained on the scene for more than four hours, according to Hays.

It's A Date!

Underway

— A revival is underway at the Daniels Creek Church of God, according to the Rev. Jerry Tackett. Services begin at 6 p.m. each evening, and continue through the week. The public is invited to attend the services, as well as a singing convention at the church on Saturday, Sept. 23, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Friday, Sept. 22

— Jenny Wiley Chapter No. 3528 of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will hold its September dinner meeting Friday, Sept. 22, at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of Highlands Regional Medical Center. Blaine Hall, Prestonsburg insurance agent, will be the guest speaker. Patsy Evans will read poems composed by Hall. Members and friends of AARP are invited to attend.

Saturday, Sept. 23

— The Floyd County American Association of Retired Persons, in conjunction with Highlands Regional Medical Center, will sponsor their fourth annual Health Fair. The fair will be held in the classrooms of the learning center at Highlands from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Hospital staff will offer health screening and testing, with physicians, dentists, optometrists, podiatrists and hearing specialists donating their time and services.

— Members of District 9 of the Kentucky Association of State Employees (KASE) will hold their quarterly meeting Saturday, Sept. 23, at Fish Trap Dam picnic shelter in Pike County. The district meeting will be held from noon to 1 p.m., and an election for the district board of directors will be held. Nominations for the election will be taken from the floor, according to Charles Wells, field director for KASE.

— A gun safety workshop for women, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Police Department, will be held this Saturday, according to Chief Dickie Campbell. Safety pointers and the correct handling of firearms top the agenda, along with a little target practice. To get in on the action, call 886-1010.

Saturday, Sept. 28

— Highlands Regional Medical Center is offering its next "Living Well With Diabetes" class on Thursday, Sept. 28, from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Floyd Room at the hospital. Dr. Mark Caruso, internal medicine specialist, will speak on diabetes, and Barbara Rodenbeck, staff dietitian, will talk about how to read food labels.

Saturday, Sept. 30

— Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin will hold a health fair for women, featuring several types of screenings, including cholesterol, blood pressure, pap smears, blood sugar, vision, hearing and respiratory. Several health organizations will also have displays.

— The descendants of Abraham and Elizabeth "Betty" Preston Childers will hold a family reunion Saturday, Sept. 30, at Jenny Wiley State Park, Shelter No. 3, near Prestonsburg. For more information, call Daniel Childers, 754-5050.

Sunday, Oct. 1

— A reunion of the late Jimmie George and Addie (Conley) George's family will be held Tuesday, Oct. 1, at Kenwood Baptist Church fellowship hall, Crestview Drive, in Russell.

— "Trimming the Cholesterol and Fat," a heart-healthy cooking class, will be offered at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital. The cooking class will begin at 6 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria; registration is $5 to help cover the costs of publications and samples of prepared recipes. Preregistration is required, and interested persons may call 377-2411, Ext. 125, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

— The family of the late Jimmie

George and Addie (Conley) George will hold a family reunion Sunday, Oct. 1, at Kenwood Baptist Church fellowship hall, Crestview Drive, in Russell.

Correction

In an article on candidates for municipal offices in the Sept. 1 edition of The Times, Allen Taylor is listed as a candidate for city commissioner in Wheelwright. Taylor should have been listed as a mayoral candidate. The Times regrets the error.

United Way Kickoff

Jonathan Heirs, vice president for business development at the First National Bank of Pikeville and area campaign chairman for United Way of the Big Sandy, officially kicked off the 1989 United Way campaign at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, on Thursday. Faye Mullins, executive director for the five-county agency, said the organization's 1989 goal is to receive $100,000 in donations.

Fifty Years Ago

(Sept. 28, 1939)

A second theater in Prestonsburg was in prospect this week as announcement was made of the purchase of a lot from Judge E.P. Arnold. The building will front on Mayo Trail, 46 feet wide and 100 feet long...

I'm trying not to get a complex about this thing, but it's beginning to get me down.

Remember when you wanted to go to college and they made you pay a bunch of money to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test? You showed up at the crack of dawn on a Saturday morning and they routed you to the cafeteria along with 100 or so other high school seniors.

The maximum score on the SAT is 1,600 — 800 each on the math and language segments. They give you 400 just for showing up.

I made a lousy 980. They let me in college anyway, but I'm sure it was against the dean's better judgment.

I raised the SAT question with more than a dozen reporters and editors at The Courier. Nobody reported a score under 1,050.

One guy yawned and said he got a 1,300. "Easiest test I ever took."

Quickly, I said, what is the capital of Maine?

He didn't know. Who played shortstop on the 1958 Milwaukee Braves?

He didn't know that either. "Just as I suspected," I said, "You're not smart. How did you manage to beat me on the SAT?"

He asked me to define quantum physics.

I didn't know. He asked if I knew that Tishri, the seventh month in the Hebrew calendar, has 30 days.

I shook my head. That's how I beat you on the SAT test, he said as he buried his head in a book that had two words in the title I didn't understand.

I know state capitals, I told him. I know baseball. I know to come inside when it starts raining. What else is there?

No, that's not all there is, he responded with the sigh of a philosopher. There's Kierkegaard, there's Nietzsche, there's de Beauvoir. He said the brains of 1,300-type guys are filled to overflowing with stuff like that.

Impossible, I said. How come you say goofy things when we're together? Smart guys don't talk goofy.

He said he acts one way when he is with a Nietzsche-type guy and a completely different way when he is with a Milwaukee Braves-type guy. He said people who are extremely intelligent can do that.

One reporter said his score was in the 1,200 range. "I was nervous that whole morning or it would have been higher."

Another reporter said his number was 1,150. "When I told my friends that's all I got, they thought there was something wrong with me."

Another reporter — a more sympathetic reporter — said she totaled a 1,230. "Maybe you had a head injury the night before you took the test and that's why you scored so low."

All the evidence was in. There was no point in carrying the argument any farther. There was no point in telling the sympathetic reporter my head was in perfect condition on the morning of the test.

I accepted the verdict of the jury of my peers.

A 980 is a good score if you bowl a five-game set. A 980 is a good score if you shoot skeet. A 980 is not a good score if your goal in life is to talk with people about Nietzsche.

Everybody has a complex about something. I might as well have one of my woeful math and verbal abilities.

My dismal SAT performance has yet to affect my day-to-day life, but I figure it's only a matter of time.

I go to the garage to get my car fixed. The mechanic tells me I will have to wait my turn. I take my protest to the service manager.

"Look, fella," I say, "I was in here long before those other guys brought their cars in. What gives?"

"I'm sorry, sir," he says as he makes notations on his clipboard, "but at this stop we determine a customer's place in line on the basis of his SAT scores. See that Porsche over there?"

The owner had a 1,430. And that red Caddy? Well, that's an 1,380. And you're a 980, right?"

"Don't remind me." "The owner of the garage believes 1,430-type guys are more important than 980-type guys so he wants to get their cars fixed first," the service manager says. "I'm sure you understand."

"What about that Ford Bronco?" I ask. "There's a Dixie Cup full of Skoal spit on the dashboard. My test score has to be higher than the guy who owns that vehicle."

"Sorry, sir. He's a 1,190."

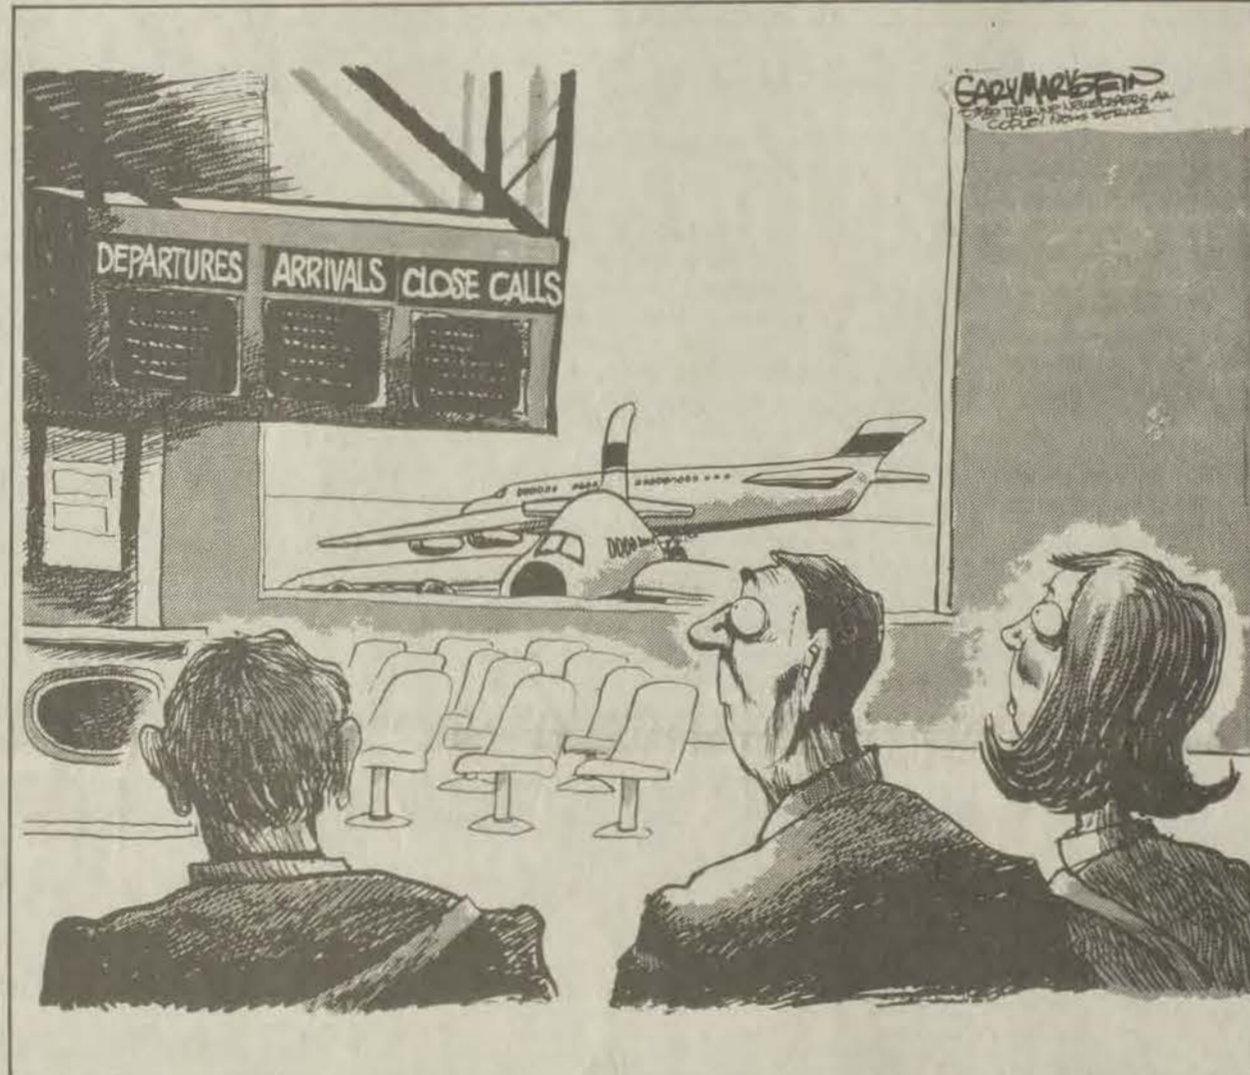

"Well, what about that little Chevette over there? There are ketchup stains on the floorboard, knife marks on the upholstery and rust has eaten a way almost all of the rear end. Surely I'm ahead of that guy."

"Wrong, again. A solid 1,285 and he turned in his test booklet two hours early because he was late for a Mensa Club meeting."

"When will it be my turn?" He ushers me into the waiting room and gives me a copy of "War and Peace."

"Read slow."

Postscript

By Pam Shingler

Okay, the time has come to risk raising the dander of some folks. The time has come to let our elected officials, from Washington on down, know that not all of the voters — not anywhere near all the voters — believes in the mindlessness of uncontrolled gun ownership.

Yes, I do agree that we have the privilege (I won't concede the "right") to own guns. I've enjoyed a few tasty meals of squirrel and venison the same as anyone else. And yes, I acknowledge the merit in the statement that "if guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns."

My quarrel is with the view that no attempt should be made to put some controls on what some regard as their sacred right, even duty, to own firearms and to do with them what they wish. These same people seem to have no problem with being required to apply for a permit, take a test and pay a fee before getting a license to drive a vehicle. They appear to realize the inherent rationale in controls which demand that we drive in the proper lane, that we stop for red lights, that we have insurance to protect both us and the other driver in case we have an accident. They seem to concur with laws that say we should not run people down with our cars and that if we drive drunk we should not be allowed to drive for awhile.

In the last few years, and the last few days in particular, we've heard of several cases where guns have led to death, at worst, and lingering terror, at the least. Yes, the guns — in uncontrolled hands — have led to the disasters. If the disgruntled employee of Louisville's Standard Gravure had entered the building flashing a knife, his former co-workers, now dead, would have had a chance to run — and to live. If the high school student in McKee had tried to hold his classmates with threats, there would be fewer traumatized students in the Jackson County school today.

Frankly, I don't understand the reasoning that is opposed to a waiting period and more thorough checks on persons who try to purchase guns. If someone simply cannot wait, say, two weeks to buy a gun, that ought to tell us something about that person. It seems improbable that a hunter would not plan far enough ahead before hunting season to wait for an "all clear" on his record. (Even those rushing into as rash an act as marriage have to go through a process of checking and waiting.)

Further, any reason given for owning an automatic or semi-automatic weapon strikes me as insane. I happen to be among those folks, including most police organizations, who regard these types of armaments of no use except for killing other people. The term "assault weapon" seems entirely accurate. A hunter does not "assault" a deer or a rabbit or a squirrel. "Assault" is the word we use when we speak of harm done by one human being to another. And I certainly can't imagine any honest-to-goodness hunter wanting to be in the same woods with the carrier of such a weapon — who may or may not be in possession of all his faculties.

It's time we take a harder look at the responsibilities that go along with gun ownership and get off this kick of damning any type of control. The laws should be stricter for potential gun buyers, to include background checks and waiting periods — nationwide. And there should be a total ban on all "assault" weapons, whether of foreign or domestic origin.

The French Baron, Montesquieu, who authored much of the philosophy adapted for the United States Constitution, said: "In order to have this liberty, it is requisite the government be so constituted as one man need not be afraid of another."

Obviously, the day when no person is afraid of another is far off. But if we are ever to approach being truly civilized, we must have more stringent controls on the buying and the selling of implements of death.

And it's high time our lawmakers realize this and stop fearing the special interest groups that tell them otherwise.

Letters to the Editor

MHS Alumni Got More Than Money's Worth

Dear Editor, In the letter from "name withheld" concerning the Martin Homecoming, the writer complained that a single person had to pay $10, the same amount as a couple, to enter the homecoming dance. He spoke favorably of the weekend as a whole, so he had obviously participated in some of the other homecoming activities. Actually, the $10 was not an admission charge to the dance, but a registration fee to cover expenses of the entire weekend which "name withheld" had not yet paid. It costs money to decorate a town and school, provide free food at several events, video tape yearbooks, present awards, pay bands, etc. Most of us had preregistered and contributed at least $10 several months ago so that the homecoming committee could plan accordingly.

I am confident the homecoming committee set the registration fee at an amount they felt every family could afford. Some alumni may have received more for their $10 than others, depending on how many in their family attended and in how many activities each one participated, but everyone received more than their money's worth.

"Name withheld" appeared to be concerned that he contributed more than someone else. If the loyal and true volunteers of the Purple Flash Homecoming Committee had held such concerns, we would not have been privileged to enjoy such a fantastic weekend. Our family appreciates their dedication to the Purple Flash cause!

Sincerely, Emma Lois (Flanery) Pigman, MHS Class of 1958 Hindman

WHS Trojan Win Would Highlight Tonight's Homecoming Festivities

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Wheelwright Trojans will be hosting the Sheldon Clark Cardinals tonight at Bracket Field, and it will be homecoming for the local school. What could make the event more meaningful than a victory over the visiting Cards?

Sheldon Clark is coming off a 16-12 loss at Betsy Layne last Friday evening. Coach Roger Johnson's Trojans suffered a 28-8 setback at Johns Creek.

The Cardinals will be led by senior quarterback Chris Goss, who Cardinals head coach Jim Matney labels "one of the best athletes in the state." Inexperience on the offensive line has plagued the Cardinals this season, but the Cards defense is one of the team's strong points.

Coach Johnson's squad seems to be coming around at the start of the second half of the season. The Trojans scored big against a tough Hazard defense in a 54-38 loss. Wheelwright managed to get inside Johns Creek's 20 yard line four times last Friday night, only to turn the ball over each time. Running backs Chad Hall and Bobby Hood have been carrying the ball the majority of the time for the Trojans, while Mike Justice has surfaced as a bona fide threat to carry the ball for yardage.

Johnson's troops have been hampered by the loss of three top defensive linemen, two for the year, Shane McCoy, Adam Hall and James Bra-nam. The loss of the three has required Johnson to do "some shuffling in the defensive line."

"Sheldon Clark is very strong at the fullback and halfback positions," Coach Johnson stated. "Their quarterback (Goss) throws the football real well."

Defensively, Johnson looks for the Cardinals to run a "52 with Monster" defense—a quasi-blitz—against the Trojans.

"Sheldon Clark will blitz a lot on defense," he said. "Their secondary may be a little weak."

Does that mean the Trojans can be expected to throw the ball more than usual? "You can look for it," the Trojans mentor said.

"Their defense extends out real well, which will make it a problem on the sweep for us," says Johnson. "That doesn't mean that we want try the sweep. We also can go quick up the gut if we have to."

According to Johnson, the Trojans have received some welcome news. Royal Taylor, a 328-pound nose guard got a doctor's release, and will be in uniform for the Trojans tonight in the homecoming game.

"Royal had some problems with headaches and hasn't been able to play so far this year. He has really been working hard in practice. He loves football."

The Trojans seek win number one tonight; game time is 8 p.m.

Clay's Free Throws Sink Harold

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Clark Elementary Lady Indians opened their basketball season on a winning note in a close game Tuesday night, garnering a 23-22 victory over the Harold Elementary girls at Betsy Layne.

Jamie Clay and Christy Little each scored nine points in leading the Lady Indians. Harold held a two-point lead at the end of the first quarter of play, 7-5, and led 11-8 at halftime.

In the second quarter, Clark's Clay went to the line 10 times and converted only three free throws.

With Harold on top 11-8 at the start of the third period, Clay scored a bucket to open the quarter to make it 11-10. Heather Keathley tossed in a lay up to go up 13-8. Two field goals by Little and a basket by Clay put the Indians up at the end of the third stanza, 16-13.

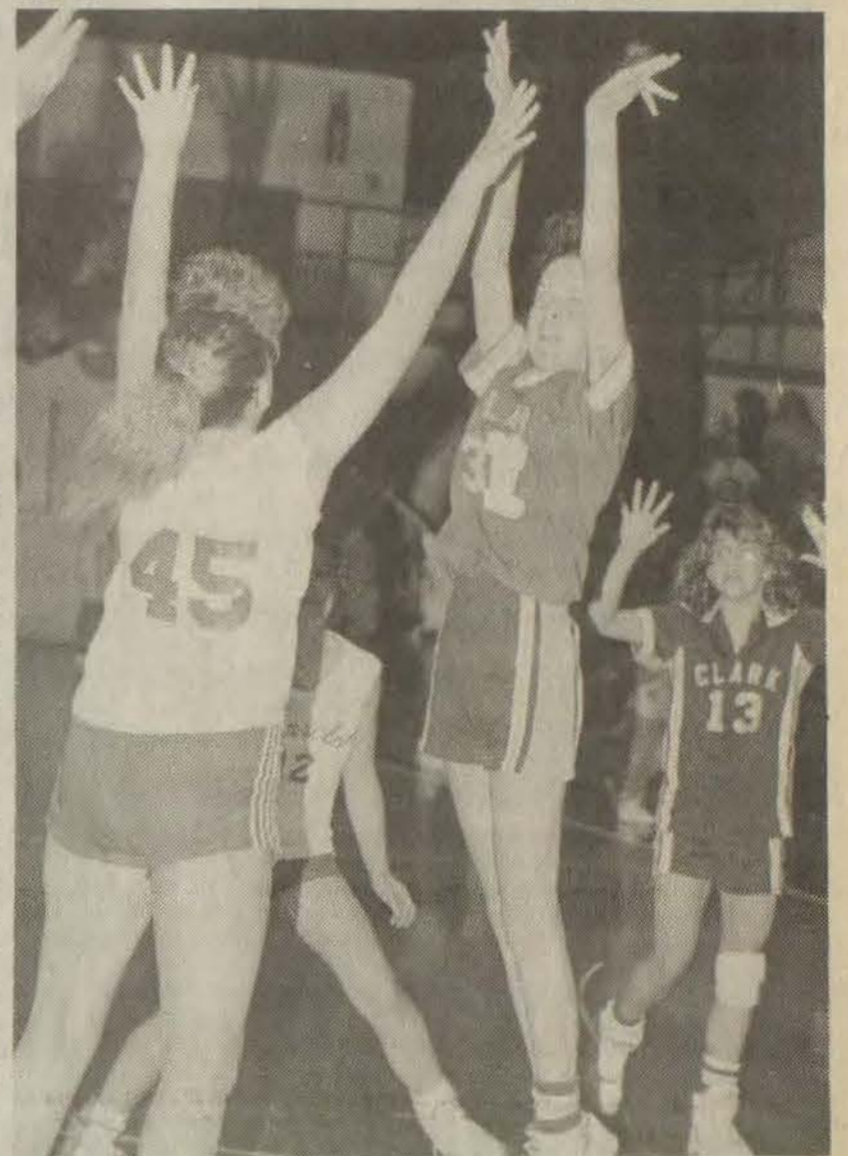

The game got closer in the fourth period. Harold reclaimed the lead, 17-16, with baskets by Melissa Mullins and Keathley. After Maria Hicks missed three free throws for Clark, Della Flannery netted a basket to put Harold up by three, 19-16.

Little scored on a short jumper to pull the Indians to within one, 19-18, with 1:55 remaining in the game. Jessica Hamilton's free throw made it 20-18. Little maneuvered underneath for a basket to tie the score and was fouled on the shot. Little sank the free throw to put the Indians up by one, 21-20.

Clark had the ball and the lead with :53 seconds showing on the clock, when Keathley stole the ball and drove the length of the court for a lay in to give Harold a one-point, 22-21, lead. With :31 seconds showing, Melissa Gearheart fouled Clay in the act of shooting. Clay sank both free throws to give the Lady Indians a 23-22 victory over Harold.

Keathley led Harold in scoring with eight points. Flannery, Gearheart and Hamilton each tossed in four.

Clark 5 3 8 7 (23); Jamie Clay, 2 0 5-19 9; Christy Little, 4 0 1-2 9; Andrea Shepherd, 1 0 1-3 3; Rebecca Webb, 1 0 0-0 2; Maria Hicks, 0 0 0-6 0.

Hands Up
Rebecca Webb (3) shoots over the outstretched arms of Melissa Mullins (45) as the Clark Lady Indians opened their '89 basketball season against the Harold Lady Red Devils Tuesday night at Harold. The Lady Indians came from behind and defeated the Lady Red Devils, 23-22 on two free throws by Jamie Clay (13).

Rebels Entering Season's Second Half With Confidence, Says Coach Daniels

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Week number six of the high school football season unfolds this week, and the Allen Central Rebels traveling to Berea tonight for an 8 p.m. start.

Coach Donnie Daniels' squad enters the "second half" with confidence that the team has improved enough to start winning some football games.

Daniels feels that his offensive line is getting better, and he looks for a solid effort from Brian Wallen (6'3", 302) and Brian Meadows (6'7", 305). Daniels believes that the rough part of the Rebels' schedule is behind them, and that the teams that lie ahead — while not "patsy" games — are ahead his squad can be confident playing against.

Rebel Tommy Gibson (6'0", 195) has been on a rushing tear lately, gaining 158 yards against Raceland. Gibson needs someone to help carry the load, and that someone is going to have to be John Slone (6'1", 212) or Adam Tackett (5'10", 176). Tackett has come a long way for the Rebels in the last three outings, scoring touchdowns in the last two.

The Rebels have not been shut out

P'Burg Jr Pro To Meet Monday At PCC

The Prestonsburg Junior Pro Basketball League will hold an organizational meeting Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College in room 123, according to league president Dickie Hall.

The meeting is for organization only and not signing up of players, he added.

in any of games thus far this season. The offense has been able to move the ball well, but the defense has given up too many points. Case in point: the lowest score allowed by the Rebels defense has been 34, scored by Jenkins and Phelps. Magoffin County riddled the Rebels defense for 55 points two weeks ago. They allowed Paintsville 49 and Raceland 48.

Allen Central has capable personnel, but they need to get it together, along with another good offensive night. Tonight could be the beginning of a new season for the Rebels. After tonight's road game, the Rebels will play four of their last five games at home.

Coach Letton Returns To Alma Mater Friday Against Danville High

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Bill Letton will take his Prestonsburg Blackcats football team on the road to play the Danville Admirals tonight in an 8 p.m. game.

The Admirals are the number two ranked team in the Class AA football ratings, according to the latest AP High School Poll, and boast a 3-0 record. The Admirals are currently ranked fourth best overall in all classes in the state.

Letton is a graduate of Danville Central High School.

"Danville can beat anybody in the state," Coach Letton stated. "They are averaging 320 yards rushing per game. They are a very quick team with a lot of speed."

The Admirals will be led by Donnie Redd at quarterback, who was one of the top runners in the 100 meter run in the state. David Walker and Fruncy Ford will fill the halfback positions for Coach Sam Hart's club. The Admirals defeated Lincoln County (29-6) and Glasgow (34-6) for two of their three victories.

Prestonsburg will be coming off a "wet" 14-6 loss to regional power Paintsville last Friday evening.

The Blackcat defense has been tough all season, except for a break down in the second half against Paintsville. Field conditions were not the best for either team. Danville will be a bigger challenge for the Prestonsburg defenders because of the Admirals' backfield speed, and the team is probably bigger than any they will face this season.

The Blackcats offense will have to get in a higher gear in this one. One touchdown, which is what the 'Cats have scored in their last three games, will not be enough. The potential is there in Ryan Porter, Bill Tom Compton, Aaron Flannery and Aaron Tucker.

Game time is 8 p.m. For those who can't make the trip to Danville, the game will be heard live on Radio Station WXXKZ in Prestonsburg.

Double Team
Jason Osborne (10) and Jeremy Osborne (24) double teams a Harold player in grade school "B" team basketball action Tuesday night at Betsy Layne against the Harold Red Devils. Clark won over Harold 19-12.

Girl's Panorama Tonight At Martin

The Martin Lady Purple Flashes will be conducting their annual Panorama tonight at the Martin gym, with other grade school teams from around the county taking part.

The Panorama is scheduled to start at 5 p.m.

Betsy Layne To Play Leslie County Tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

With their confidence sky high, Coach Gerald Newsome's Betsy Layne Bobcats will entertain Leslie County in a big District 2 game. Leslie County comes into tonight's contest with a 1-0 District 2 record — their lone victory coming against Morgan County, 22-7.

"Leslie County is an all county school, so they should be a strong team," Betsy Layne mentor Newsome explained. "They are probably as strong as Johnson Central. They have a tremendous blocking wedge on the kick off, and they will run some isolation off tackle and off the end play."

Bobcat defensive coordinator Dewey Jamerson relates that Leslie County likes to "spread it out a lot."

"I saw about half of one of their games and threw the football a lot. Of course, they were behind and had to throw it," Jamerson added.

According to Newsome, the Bobcats will set up sweeps and run power plays and go up the middle, "at least to see what happens."

Jamerson reports that the Bobcat defense has improved.

"Our defense right now is so good that if we score that will be all there

Clark's 14 Points Lead Red Devils To Victory Over Indians, 56-36

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

A large crowd was on hand to watch the Harold Red Devils host the Clark Indians in the opening game of the '89 basketball season for both schools.

Barry Clark tossed in 14 points in leading Harold to a 56-36 victory over the Indians at the Betsy Layne gym. First year coach Dwight Newsome's squad came out with a tight man-to-man pressure defense and scored the first 14 points of the game. The Red Devils led at the first stop, 25-5.

Harold picked up where they left off in the second quarter, butting the Indians with a 12-0 run as Brian Hunter scored six points in the run. Clark scored the last six points in the half to make the score 37-11. Harold outscored the Indians 14-6 in the third period, with Clark getting six of his 14 points in the third stanza. Newsome substituted freely throughout the second half, giving the reserves some early playing time as Clark scored the last 13 points of the game to out score the Red Devils

Week three for the Floyd County Times prognosticators has arrived. The predictions are in and each one is hoping for better results this time around. Publisher Marty Backus has forged back into the top spot, while darkroom technician Mike Burke vows to take the top spot next week and keep it. Our bookkeeper, Kim Little, made it over the .500 mark. The fearless Times forecasters see the Browns and Denver in the pros winning, Alabama taking our Wildcats, and Wheelwright winning locally.

Cutoff

Della Flannery (44) of the Harold Lady Red Devils cuts off Rebecca Webb of the Clark Lady Indians in the opening game of the season basketball season for both schools. The Lady Indians won, 23-22.

College Outlook

KENTUCKY AT ALABAMA

Kentucky travels to Alabama in a Southeastern Conference opener for both teams, and both are looking to finish higher in the league than they did last season.

The Tide finished in a tie with Florida for fourth while the Wildcats and Vanderbilt finished eighth. Last year's match-up was a scoring melee, with Alabama finally winning 31-27.

MICHIGAN STATE AT NOTRE DAME

A more appropriate name for the Fighting Irish this season might be the Traveling Irish. Notre Dame hosted Michigan State Saturday in its only home game until Oct. 21, when the Irish will finally return to South Bend for four straight games. Playing the two Michigan teams back-to-back has become a scheduling habit, but the Spartans haven't benefited from being able to follow the Wolverines on the Irish schedule the past two years. Notre Dame won 20-3 last year and should be a strong favorite Saturday.

IN THE EAST: BOSTON COLLEGE AT PENN STATE

Penn State, upset by Virginia in its opener and coming off one of its worst ever seasons under Coach Joe Paterno, plays Boston College at home. The Eagles haven't beaten the Nittany Lions since their big 27-17 win in 1983.

OUT WEST: MICHIGAN AT UCLA

Michigan is going from the frying pan (Notre Dame) into what is possibly a smoldering fire. The Bruins, last year's Pac 10 runner-up, upset by Tennessee two weeks ago, entertain the 1988 Big Ten champions in their first meeting since 1982. In that year, UCLA met Michigan twice, beating them during the regular season, 31-27, then repeating in the Rose Bowl, 24-14.

Organizational Training League Meeting Slated

The Betsy Layne basketball training league hold its organizational meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. at the Betsy Layne Dome Gym, according to league director Mike Potter.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize for the coming basketball season. Potter said he needs to meet with all the parents of kids who will play in the league this year. There will be no players sign ups.

CLOSER TO HOME: WEST VIRGINIA AT LOUISVILLE

Coach Howard Schnellenberger's Louisville Cardinals, 2-0, will be waiting anxiously for the Mountaineers of West Virginia, 3-0, to come to town. Schnellenberger sees the West Virginia game as a chance to break in the rankings with a win over Coach Don Nehlen's club. Emotions could take over in this game for Louisville.

week on just seven carries. Bias has caught the football three times for 117 yards. Bias ran the ball 56 yards against Sheldon Clark for a TD last week.

A newcomer to the Bobcat backfield is Blaine Depoy, who started against Sheldon Clark. Depoy carried the ball 10 times in the Bobcats' 16-12 win, for 59 yards, an average of almost six yards per carry.

A victory would give the Bobcats a 1-1 record in District 2 play. Game time 8 p.m. at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex at Betsy Layne.

Clearing The Boards

Basketball action has returned, as the Floyd County grade schools have kicked off the round ball season this week. Here, a Clark Indian clears the boards for a rebound against the Harold Red Devils last Tuesday evening at the Betsy Layne gym in "B" team play. The Indians defeated the Red Devils, 19-12.

F&W To Sponsor Hunter Safety Course

A hunter safety course, sponsored by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, will be conducted at the Woods Bend Boys Camp in Morgan County beginning at 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 22. Instruction will continue on Thursday, Sept. 28, and with field qualifications on Saturday, Sept. 30. The course will consist of six hours of lecture on hunter safety, survival, ethics and first aid, followed up with four hours of field work on Saturday. Those who attend all three sessions and complete the course will be certified and receive their hunter safety card from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources in Frankfort.

There is no charge for the course and all materials are supplied free by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. All hunters under 36 years of age who plan to hunt at Fort Knox must take the course. For more information call Henry Williams, director of Woods Bend, at 743-3177 or David Deskins, fourth region hunter training officer, at 432-1804.

First Place Winners

What do fjord, peninsula, isthmus and strait have in common? All are physical features of the earth and are being studied in Sheila Ortega's sixth grade social studies class at Betsy Layne Elementary. Students held a poster contest as part of their studies; above are the first place winners, Shawn Shaffer and Rodney Hamilton. The two designed their island in the shape of a pair of jeans, with a peninsula shaped like a tennis shoe.

Second Place Winners

To help students better understand physical features of the earth — including fjords, peninsulas and the like — Sheila Ortega's students participated in a poster contest to create similar features. Students used lima beans, coffee, colored rice, raisins, corn flakes and oatmeal to give posters texture. After the votes were counted, Timothy Nobles, Brad Bailey, Claude Hopkins and Tim Hunt are shown with their second place poster.

Third Place Winners

Students in Sheila Ortega's class participated in a poster contest as part of a unit of study on the earth's physical features. Above are third-place winners Misty Forsythe and Shonna Boyd. Winning the contest were Rodney Hamilton and Shawn Shaffer, who designed their island in the shape of a pair of jeans with a peninsula shaped like a tennis shoe. Some of winning poster's features included Levi Lake, Britannia Harbor, Mt. MacGregor, Jordache Plain, Pony Plateau, Gulf of Wrangler, Dam of Denim, Ocean Pacific and British Knight Peninsula.

As The Bands Come Marching In... To PHS

Fifteen bands will march across the field at Prestonsburg High School on Saturday, Sept. 23, with trumpets sounding, flags waving and batons twirling.

Groups will be judged to see who has the best high school band.

The competition will begin with opening ceremonies at 12:30 p.m. Prestonsburg High School Marching Band will give an exhibition performance at 4:30 p.m., while the points are being tallied, and trophies will be awarded at 5 p.m.

High schools participating, and their class, are: Class A Small (less than 30 members), Betsy Layne, John's Creek, Paintsville Independent and Breathitt County; Class A Large, Elkhorn City, Cumberland, Lawrence County, Oneida Baptist Institute, Virgie, Estill County and Garrard County; Class A (41-60), Johnson Central and Round County; and Class

AAA (61-80), Laurel County and Pulaski County.

The will be judged by nine independent judges, none of whom are connected in any way to the schools competing, according to Janet Tackett, Prestonsburg Band Parents, Inc., secretary-treasurer. The categories being rated are music, by Robert Spiegelhalter and Robert Bischof; overall effect, by Marvin Ambs and Lisa Wolf; visual, by Dennis Anderson and Larry Brewer; percussion, by David Milburn; auxiliary, by Terri Roberts; and field commander, by Sheelah Simpson.

Trophies will be awarded for first through third place in each class (except those which only have two bands competing) and for best auxiliary, best percussion and best field commander. A special award will be given to the band booster club which has the most representatives present, according to Tackett. The grand champion, the band with the most overall points, will be awarded a five-foot-plus high trophy, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Rotary. Bands which do not win will be given a participation plaque, sponsored by Rebel Lanes, Little Bear Market, Jim Hammond, Wall-Mart and Judge John M. Stumbo.

Other individuals, groups and business sponsoring trophies are First Commonwealth Bank, Randell Burchett Architect, Sam an Tonio's Restaurant, Zeplins Subs, United Federal Savings Bank, Cooley

Apothecary, Bank Josephine, Burchette and Bottoms CPA, 3M Credit, Gorman Collins Jr., Festival of Faces, Auxier Historical Society, Emmanuel Coal, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Meese, Prestonsburg City Council, Ken's Sport Shop, Denzil Allen, Gateway Counseling Services, Action Petroleum Inc., McDonald's of Prestonsburg, Carla Robinson Bolton, Carter Hughes Toyota, Music, Carter, Hughes, Chevy-Buick-Chrysler-Dodge, Shirt Shop, Pioneer Truck Parts and Taylor Harris Diesel Service.

HONEST, MORE FOLKS FEEL THAT NEWSPAPER IS THE MOST BELIEVABLE MEDIUM

We can't lie. A recent study showed that more people feel newspaper is the most believable medium.*

- Not television.
- Not radio.
- Not magazines.
- But why?

It's probably because we know that a newspaper lays it all out in black and white. Right in front of you. The places, the people, and the prices. The offers, the promises and the claims. It's all there to read, think about, and keep. And that goes for advertisements, too. When people turn to their paper, they turn there with interest. Which means that's where your advertising message needs to be. With all the choices available, it's difficult deciding how best to advertise your business. But everything becomes a little simpler when you remember one rule.

Books & Things

her previous works. Tall Woman (1962) and The Far Family (1966): These two novels tell the story of several generations of one family. The Tall Woman begins with the story of Lydia Moor's marriage to Mark McQueen, and The Far Family concludes with the death of their daughter Martha. The twin books reflect the many interests and convictions of Wilma Dykeman. In The Tall Woman, you can feel her champion the mountain woman's strength through adversity as she makes her reader follow Lydia McQueen from her marriage in 1864 to her death from typhoid fever in 1869. The Far Family reflects her strong interest in civil rights as the story focuses on the central issue of a white man wrongly accused of killing a black man. And, in both books, Dykeman pleads for the practices of good conservation as she tries to show the inter-relationship of man and nature. The books are about one Appalachian mountain family, but it could as well be about many where "some members have kept the strength of their roots even as they adapt to today and others have cut themselves off and perished without the nourishment of the past." They are about families who glory in their history and in the good earth they till.

human resources are its future. Through his voyages and his writing he brought the nation's conscience to the problems of the Appalachian mountains. Physical poverty captured a nation's attention but it was the "poverty of the spirit, the malnutrition of vision" that claimed the lifetime attention of Dr. Weatherford. Profit of Plenty is a fitting tribute to the man who recognized education as breaking the cycle of poverty. His name is immortalized on the Appalachian collection that he was the impetus for at Berea College.

COUNTY HOMEMAKERS REMINDED OF MEETING

Frances Pitts, Floyd County Co-operative Extension Service home economist, reminds members throughout the county of the annual covered dish luncheon meeting Friday, Sept. 29, at 10:30 a.m., at the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church, Prestonsburg.

The speaker will be retired florist Ethel Colvin of Prestonsburg. Pitts asks that each club furnish a floral arrangement to be used as centerpiece for tables and later as door prizes, and that at least two members represent each club in the style show, which will be included in the program.

One of the most popular parts of the day's events has long been the cultural arts exhibit, and this year's list of categories indicates that the forthcoming demonstration will be no exception.

Categories (and subcategories) include: Basketry; carving and sculpture; china painting; Christmas decorations; counted cross-stitch; crochet; drawing, charcoal, pastels, pen and ink and pencil; embroidery, crewel, candle wicking, smocking and miscellaneous; heritage skills, doll making, tatting and trapunto; knitting, hand and machine; needlepoint; painting, acrylic, oil, water color, tale and folk art; photography, black and white, and color (mounted or framed); quilted apparel, quilts, applique, embroidery, patchwork and miscellaneous; rug making, braided, woven and hooked; soft sculpture; spinning and weaving; stenciling; wall hanging, maximum 36 inches by 36 inches; and miscellaneous.

Pitts suggests that each homemaker study this list and choose the category in which she can do best for the display.

She adds that the winning item will be entered in the area meeting in Boyd County on Friday, Oct. 6.

FUNERAL SERVICE CALLERS

Among those who called at the Hall Funeral Home and attended graveside services following the death this past week of Gordon Collins, formerly of Lackey, more recently of Lexington, were Mrs. Gordon Collins, Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johnson and three sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris, all of Lexington; Pam Collins and son Daniel of Versailles; Lois Gaut of Chattanooga;

The Rev. Steve Hopkins, who participated in the services, Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins Jr. and daughter Hallee, Beatrice Collins, Rose Collins, Astor Collins, Brady Collins, Mrs. Rodney Willis, Amy Calhoun, Erma Jean Laferty, Cassie Allen, Myrtle Allen, Rebecca Rasnick, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettey, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wright, Estill Lee Carter, Chester Patton, Camden Garrett and Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeRossett, all of Prestonsburg.

WOMAN'S CLUB REMINDED OF BOARD MEETING

Members of the KFWC/GFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club are reminded of the KFWC Fall Board meeting Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 27-28, at Drawbridge Inn, Ft. Mitchell. Phyllis Herrick, president of the local club, urges all members to attend.

TEACHERS AT LOCAL CHURCH HONORED

Teacher Recognition Day was observed at the Community United Methodist Church during services there this past Sunday, with Linda Smith, chairman of the church education department, presiding.

Teachers in all departments of the church and those attending from the public schools were honored. A solo, entitled "I'll Be There," sung by Rita Mounds, was dedicated to them, and the Rev. Ron Masters, church pastor, presented them with certificates of honor.

REBEKAHS RECEIVE POEM BOOKLET, WISH THE ILL WELL

Venelia Rinehart, a charter member of Miriam Rebekah Lodge #31, has recently been unable to attend the semi-monthly meetings at the IOOF building or the district dinner meeting held there this past Saturday night.

During her absence she compiled a booklet for each member of her lodge and members from other lodges who attended the district meeting.

Distributed by Mary Zemo, a member of the local lodge, the booklet is composed of poems such as "Because He Lives, We Too Shall Live," "The Greatest Gift," "Heart Gifts," "The Golden Chain of Friendship" and "The Seven Last Words." It also includes an article on the question, "Am I A Good Rebekah?" The booklet was well received.

Among the sick of Prestonsburg and vicinity are Della Herald, Christine Spradlin, Billie Little, Mark Howard, Eula Branham, Andrew Stephens, Dorothy Burke, Phyllis Herald, Nelson Baldrige, Dana Bingham, Lillian Pelphrey, Stanley Combs, Dorothy Sturgill, Frankie Best, Lucy Ransdell, Emily Salyers, Mrs. Norman Allen, Flossie McGuire, Nell Howard, Mary Margaret Webb, Bill Pettey, Anna May Mellon, Anna Laura May, May K. Roberts, Alice Hackworth, Beatrice Collins, Maurine Wheeler, Juanita Hager, Gale Music, Edna Carol Greenwade, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Audrey Arnett and "Baby Annie" Stumbo.

Elsewhere in the county, among the sick are Mrs. Thomas Flannery, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Salisbury, Lexie Allen, Edna Mae Allen and Annie England Tackett.

And among those Floyd Countians presently living elsewhere who are ill are Goldia Wicker, Irene Dorsey and Cora Smith. The Rebekahs wish all of them the very best.

OSBORNE HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Dorothy Osborne, who recently underwent surgery at King's Daughters Hospital Ashland, is home now and improving nicely.

WELCOMED INTO CHURCH

Teresa Slone was welcomed by letter into the fellowship of the First Baptist Church during services there this past Sunday.

MRS. FRANK H. LAYNE PASSES AWAY

The community was saddened this week by the death of Mrs. Frank H. (Mary Lou) Layne. A wonderful church and civic worker, neighbor, friend and family person, she'll be greatly missed.

MISSION PROBE SCHEDULED SEPT. 22, 23 The Baptist Associational Mission Probe will be held at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 22-23. A pot luck dinner will be served in the fellowship hall of the church on Friday at 6 p.m. with the meeting following. The meeting will resume at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday.

ROBERTS THOUGHT OF DURING ILLNESS

May K. Roberts of Prestonsburg, who was recently a patient at the Highland Regional Medical Center, is now at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Atty. and Mrs. William J. Baird II and family in Pikeville. During a workshop meeting of the BSRT-KRTA at May Lodge this past Thursday, silent prayer was held for Mrs. Roberts, who has been a moving force in the success of these two organizations and is a charter member of FCRT. Her many friends and relatives throughout the area wish her well.

BRACKETT SPEAKS AT PIKEVILLE DAR MEETING

John Graham Chapter member and Kentucky Society State Registrar Mrs. Ray Brackett, Daughters of the American Revolution, was guest of Pikeville DAR Chapter Tuesday, Sept. 12, Landmark Inn, Pikeville, where she spoke on "The Constitution—A Marvelous Document." She presented the regent, Mrs. John D. Forsythe, and other members a Constitution Week (Sept. 17-23) proclamation from Gov. Wallace Wilkinson, courtesy of state constitution chairperson, Mrs. Robert Bramel of Cynthia. The regent presented Mrs. Brackett with a flower arrangement.

CORRECTIONS

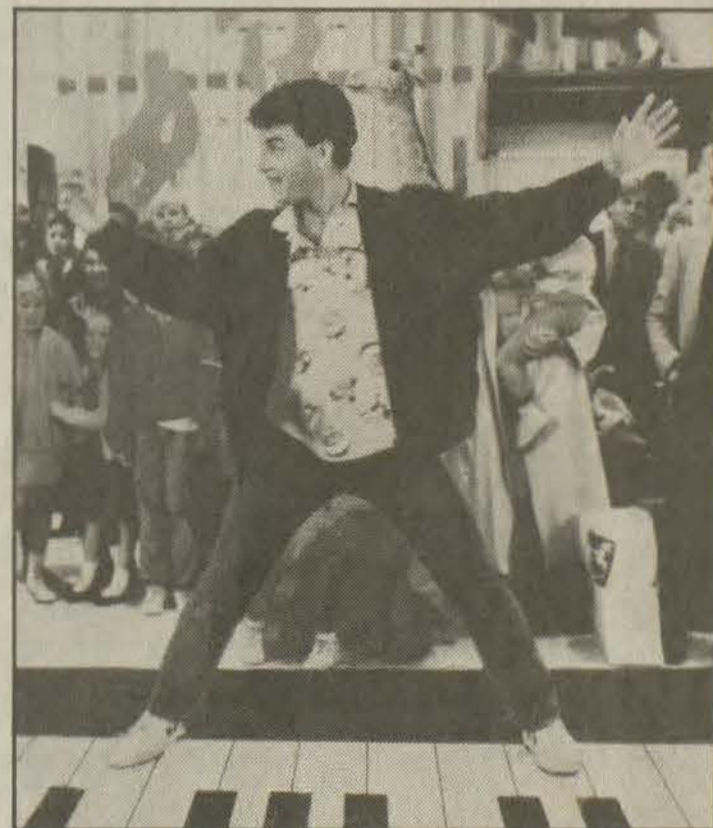

In the article concerning the Wayland High School Class of 1941 reunion, part of it should have read: Faculty who attended were: the class sponsor for four years, Robert Wallace and his wife Jane Wallace of Prestonsburg; Lawrence Price, who also served as principal, and wife Edith Price of Waverly, Ohio; and Chalmer Frazier and his wife Kathryn Frazier of Prestonsburg.

Also in the BSRT meeting announcement, Ethel Fetterly of Martin County was mistakenly identified as vice president instead of president.

And in the picture of the officers of the FCRT, Imogene Caldwell should have been identified as secretary rather than co-treasurer.

HOROSCOPE

September 24 through September 30

By C.C. Clark
LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
You will be going through some changes in your personal life. Re-organize priorities to make time for the things that are most important to you.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
Don't be overly analytical of a loved one's motives. This would be a good week for you to take a short trip and get away from things for a while.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
Great things could happen to you this week if you keep an open mind. Don't let any negativity stand in your way of the things that you deserve.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
You will notice that you are a bit more optimistic this week. You should be re-evaluating priorities and organizing your work more efficiently, too.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
Someone close to you is suffering from grave financial difficulties. Be as helpful as you can, even if you can only afford to give them emotional support.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
You will feel a certain restlessness this week that can only be assuaged by travel. Take a short trip over the weekend, even if it's just to stay with a friend.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
It would be a good idea for you to show that you really care and want to share in a loved one's problems this week. A close friend will keep an important promise.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Forget about past mistakes and enjoy living life for today. An associate needs your help, but is afraid to ask. Be wary of buying large appliances.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
You've been procrastinating about household chores for too long. Take on those added responsibilities and you will be more successful than you ever imagined.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Don't feel guilty for postponing an important meeting. It is necessary for you to take the time to make sure that all of your facts are verifiable.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
You will begin to feel better about yourself this week. Your unusually low self-esteem has had others on edge. This would be a great week to buy some new clothes.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
Virgos should concentrate on business and financial affairs this week. It will be necessary for you to take a closer look at your health and diet.

TV PIPELINE

Young 'Max Headroom' star prefers the great outdoors

By Polly Vonetes

Q: How old is Chris Young who starred in the Max Headroom show? Is he a computer whiz in real life? —C.C., Klamath Falls, Ore.

A: Chris Young was born April 28, 1971 in Chambersburg, Penn. He lives with his parents outside Philadelphia, where he spends his free time skiing, golfing, swimming, juggling and "most of all" biking. He plans to attend college to study filmmaking.

Q: I was wondering if Jesse Hawkes has been canceled, because I'm a really big fan of Shane Conrad. —Deena Mewes, Montrose, Colo.

A: I learned long ago you never count Bob Conrad out. This was "his show" and though it's not on the schedule, CBS never officially said it was canceled. Don't be surprised to see it pop on again as a replacement for one of the new series that may fail.

Q: I want to know if Lou Diamond Phillips is married or single and how old he is. I would also like a list of his movies. —Vicki Miller, Herrin, Ill.

A: Twenty-seven-year old Lou Diamond Phillips is a native of Corpus Christi, Texas and a graduate of the University of Texas. He was married to Julie Cyphers on June 27, 1987. His theatrical movies include: Disorganized Crime, Dakota, La Bamba, Stand and Deliver, Young Guns, Waiting for Salazar, Lakota, Angel Alley, Trespasses, and Walking on Water, and his made-for-television movies are The Three Kings and Time Bomb.

Q: I went to school and graduated with Paul Sorvino, and have tried desperately to contact him. I even wrote to his home in New Jersey, but never received an answer. Do you have an address I could reach him at? —Fred Kraut, Sunrise, Fla.

A: I last spoke to Paul Sorvino two years ago, and at that time he and his family still had their home in New Jersey. You may try contacting him at: Charter Management, 9000 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90068.

Q: Could you please furnish me an address where I could write to Michael Jackson? This is my second letter. Please! —L.M. Bateman, Chesapeake, Va.

A: Sorry I took so long, L.M. It's a good thing I'm from Virginia too or I may still have not answered this request. Do you know how boring it is for readers to read endless requests for addresses? It's like reading a phone book. But OK, write to Michael c/o Ziffren Brittenham and Gullen, 2049 Century Park E., Suite 2350, Los Angeles, Calif. 90067.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest will be answered. Personal replies cannot be granted.

Angie Dickinson once again stars in a police drama

By Steven Alan McGaw
Angie Dickinson will pick up a gun again this fall, when NBC airs Prime Target, a new police drama. Dickinson will portray Kelly Mulcahane, a detective leading a task force charged with investigating the brutal murders of several New York City policewomen. And what a supporting cast: David Soul, Charles Durning, Joe Regalbutto and Yaphet Kotto...
Also on the NBC slate is Lady in a Corner, featuring Brian Keith, Lindsay Frost and starring the legendary Loretta Young. Young stars as the veteran editor of a respected fashion magazine, whose security is suddenly jeopardized when the publication faces a hostile takeover bid...

Peter O'Toole, Phyllis Diller and Kiefer Sutherland will all contribute their voices to a new, animated version of Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite. The film is scheduled for, of course, a Christmas release...
Good news! Post-production work is done on the eagerly anticipated Silent Night, Deadly Night 3: Better Watch Out! Oh boy! Two more surefire screen gems that are currently in the works are Empire of the Rats (not, as you might suppose, a docudrama about the Nixon Administration) and the merry-sounding Psychos on Parade. As the soft drink cups say (for a hearty $2.50, last time I checked), "Escape To The Movies!"
