More info sought on waste law

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

Due to a good amount of local input, a proposed county ordinance regulating private waste disposal sites did not make it through its first reading during Friday's session of the Floyd County Fiscal Court.

According to County Attorney Jim Hammond, several people were concerned that the regulations outlined in the ordinance would affect a business which generates waste. Hammond said he wished to make it "crystal clear" that the ordinance affected only those who were operating a waste disposal site.

Hammond also pointed out that an amendment needed to be added stating that the revenue generated by the issuance of a permit for private waste disposal sites was to be put into a trust fund as opposed to going into the general fund. This trust fund would be used exclusively for cleaning up any environmental or other damages done at the site.

Hammond also stressed that this is a "public health and safety ordinance" and we are not trying to shut down any businesses. It will regulate all private waste sites and facilities in Floyd County.

He noted that the University of Kentucky study on what the state can do in using its legislative powers to keep out-of-state waste from coming into Kentucky was due to be released this week. That study may have some affect on the local ordinance, and Hammond recommended to the court that they table any further consideration of the ordinance over to the next fiscal court meeting in October.

Other concerns were raised that if the medical waste disposal site in Floyd County, Medisin Inc., shut down, the area hospitals would have nowhere to dispose of their waste economically. Hammond passed out a list of three operations within the state of Kentucky that could be used at about the same price and he noted that others were available. Those listed were: Browning Ferris Industries, of Frankfort; Waste Management Inc., of Louisville; and Medigen, also of Louisville.

Hammond also publicly thanked the Kentuckians For The Commonwealth for their help with legal matters and the use of some of their sources.

Traffic change recommended for downtown

An ordinance allowing two-way traffic on part of Arnold Avenue in downtown Prestonsburg was given its first reading at Monday night's meeting of the Prestonsburg City Council.

The ordinance, which was proposed by Councilman Jerry Fannin, would allow two-way traffic from the parking lot at the Richmond Plaza to Friend Street. The measure would allow motorists to travel from the Mountain Parkway and U.S. Route 23 into the downtown area. Currently motorists must travel on West Court Street to access the downtown area.

Councilman Billy Ray Collins suggested that the city make an effort to find off-street parking for residents of Arnold Avenue who are presently parking vehicles on the street. Members agreed that the measure would be important to

Here's the plan

Shenault Woodford, of the contracting firm Chrisman, Miller and Woodford, presented the plans for redesigning the space in the courthouse when a new jail is built to the members of the Floyd County fiscal court during their most recent meeting. Court members agreed to look at the study more closely and determine a course of action at a later date.

Four cases resolved :

Docket results are mixed-bag

Four cases scheduled for trial in Floyd County Circuit Court last week and this week resulted in two guilty verdicts, a not guilty verdict and a dismissal of charges.

After short deliberations Monday, a Floyd County Jury found Gregory Hall, 38, and Johnny Keathley, 23, both of Galveston, guilty of theft by unlawful taking for stealing two coal truck tires belonging to Dana Spurlock. The jury recommended the men be sentenced to one year in jail. Final sentencing has been set for October 5. The men were indicted in November 1989.

A Martin man was found not guilty of charges that he tried to obtain drugs with a forged prescription. Virgil Conn was tried last Thursday on two counts of attempting to obtain Tylenol 3 and Valium from Wal-Mart Pharmacy with a forged prescription. The jury deliberated for a short time before returning the not guilty verdict. Conn was indicted last November.

Theft by unlawful taking charges against three men were dismissed after the prosecuting witness dropped charges before the case was scheduled to begin Tuesday in circuit court.

Greg Martin, 23, of Lexington; Michael Hoover, 19, of Eastern; and Richard Short, no age and address available, were released from theft by unlawful taking charges after Bernard Martin, the witness in the case, wanted the charges dropped. The three were indicted last November for allegedly taking a Jeep valued at more than $100 from Bernard Martin.

William Spencer, no address given, was found guilty Monday of criminal trespass, a Class A misdemeanor, and given a six-month sentence and fined $250. Spencer was indicted last September for second degree burglary for unlawfully entering the home of Johnny Clifton.

New juvenile detention center proposed, too :

Jail study suggests new, 95-bed facility

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

Ten months after Kentucky's Correction Cabinet ordered Floyd County to address overcrowding and structural problems at the county jail or close the facility, a feasibility study for a new jail has been completed.

That study, conducted by the engineering firm Chrisman, Miller and Woodford, resulted in postponement of a state order to have the current jail transformed into a 72-hour holdover facility.

Results of the jail feasibility study were presented by Brad Black and Shenault Woodford to fiscal court members during their September meeting Friday.

The report offered two options: closing the old jail or building a new facility. Based on past and present statistics, the team recommended a new, 95-bed jail to accommodate inmates into the year 2020. The jail presently holds 35 beds.

Black noted that a single level building was the most cost effective and it offered the possibility of expansion. The study estimated the cost of such a facility at $2.4 million.

The study broke expenses down into operational and financing costs and also estimated the amount of revenue that could be generated by holding state inmates and keeping the facility at 80 and 100 percent capacity. The fuller the jail stays, the more economical. At 80 percent the county would spend $223,000 per year, and at 100 percent, $166,000.

County Attorney Jim Hammond questioned how big the facility would need to be to pay for itself and was told about 120 beds would be needed. Woodford said that size wouldn't be feasible.

"You can take in others' laundry where your own doesn't cost you anything," Woodford said, "but the project would have to be very big. Both the gain and the loss (potential) would be great."

The study noted that renovation of the existing facility was not feasible because the problem was too big. It gave a figure of $360,000-plus per year, to close the jail and pay for the transportation and housing of Floyd County prisoners elsewhere. It was determined that it would be cheaper to have a jail than to contract services.

The study also included the building, renovating or closing of the Juvenile Detention Center. The center technically is a holding facility presently, according to Margie Osborne, center director, although they do keep detainees up to a year.

The study recommends making the juvenile center a secure detention facility versus an intermittent or holding facility. Such a site would require 9,400 square feet and cost about $1.4 million. The operational cost per year would be $400,000, but the revenues, if kept at near capacity, would be $512,000. Consequently, the county could show a $112,000 annual profit on the venture.

Hammond noted that it would require aggressive personnel to keep the center at full capacity. The center presently does show a profit, so historical records show it can be possible to make money.

If the county took the option to renovate the existing facility, they would lose beds. This project would cost about $800,000 but would make the center only a holding facility,

Attorney General rules :

Schools must redo utility tax measure

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Board of Education will hold a special hearing, Wednesday, October 3, at 6 p.m. at the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria for the purpose of public comment concerning a three percent utility gross receipts license tax and a special meeting of the board will follow the hearing to enact the tax. The announcement came at a special meeting of the school board held Monday.

The Floyd County board, along with school boards across the state, are scrambling to set public hearings after the state Attorney General ruled last Thursday the hearings were mandatory in order to pass the utility tax. School superintendents were previously told by the Kentucky Department of Education the hearings were not necessary under the new Education Reform Act. The deadline for the hearings is October 1.

Attorney General Fred Cowan said if school districts missed the deadline by a few days a good-faith effort at compliance would likely be satisfactory. Cowan said school districts have been acting in good faith upon the advice of the state department and the courts should uphold the actions if they are challenged in court.

If the utility rates are approved without the hearings, utility companies could challenge the board's action in court, using the attorney general's opinion. If the utility tax is not advertised and approved by the October 1 deadline, utility companies could, under the new reform law, take actions to block the tax

Bader freed; in Jordan, reports say

Local physician Syed Badradujja, otherwise known as Doctor Bader, is reportedly out of Iraqi hands and safe in Jordan.

Kathy Rubado, spokesperson for Highlands Regional Medical Center, said Tuesday evening that she had spoken to Dr. Bader's receptionist who confirmed that the doctor had phoned his wife sometime Sunday or Monday and reported that he had been allowed to leave Kuwait and was in Jordan. The doctor reportedly told his wife that he was safe and would possibly be home within a week.

Bader, his wife and three children were trapped in Kuwait when Iraqi forces invaded that country on August 2.

At Wheelwright :

Insurance tax proposal gets first-reading okay

by Tim B. Preston
Staff Writer

Tempers flared and proposals were postponed as Wheelwright Mayor Kenneth Johnson and Councilman David Sammons exchanged differences of opinion at Thursday night's meeting of the Wheelwright City Council.

The meeting began calmly, with the first readings of two ordinances—one establishing the city's tax rate and the other levying taxes on life insurance premiums.

The city's property tax rate was proposed at the past rate of 40 cents per $100 valuation.

"That's the same as it's been for the last ten years that I know of," said

Wheelwright City Clerk Mary Ann Johnson.

The life insurance premium tax, which was proposed at 5 percent, was also approved after Mayor Johnson explained that the county government is likely to enact such a tax and added that the city would receive no funding if it did not levy the tax before the county.

"If we've got an ordinance to collect it here, it will go here," said the mayor. No estimates were made as to how much funding would be generated by the tax.

Wheelwright resident Debbie Hall then addressed the council to request support for a Christmas parade. Hall explained that she had coordinated the parade for several years, but had lost interest in the city in recent years. "I was in the school library," explained Hall, "when I was hit on the foot by a book called 'What is a community?'. After I read that book I wanted to say, 'Hey, there is something to our town'." The council agreed to donate $100 to the Christmas parade and lend any possible assistance to the effort.

Council members also spent several minutes discussing the possibilities of reopening the city swimming pool building. Although the pool has been in need of expensive repair work in recent years, Mayor Johnson and council felt that the building at the pool should be reopened for use by

Church official urges 'yes' vote on amendment

ASHLAND — Most Kentucky churches and religious organizations will be taxed for the first time in their history unless a proposed state constitutional amendment is approved by voters on Nov. 6. Katherine Kinnamon, the executive director of the Kentucky Council of Churches warned local ministers and lay leaders Saturday. As it is currently written, the Kentucky Constitution exempts from state and local taxes most church property. Amendment 4 would redefine the constitution definition so income-producing property owned by churches would be subject to taxation. (The Sunday Independent)

Battle in 'cultural civil war' begins

LOUISVILLE — In a case that is being watched by the arts community nationwide, a Cincinnati museum and its director go on trial today on obscenity charges stemming from a controversial exhibition of the work of photographer Robert Mapplethorpe. The case, which scholars say is the first of its kind, has created a controversy in Cincinnati, and the Mapplethorpe show — which includes several graphic images of homosexual, sadomasochistic acts — has come to symbolize the current national debate over limitations on artistic expression. (The Courier-Journal)

Professor starts long road in tribute of ancestor

SOMERSET — Juliet E. K. Walker is hoping to walk her great-great-grandfather into history as she began a 370-mile tribute to Free Frank McWorter, a Kentucky slave who bought freedom for himself and 15 members of his family before the Civil War. Later, he became the first black man to establish a town in the United States. McWorter formed part of the little-known black pioneer movement, a movement Walker wants to rescue from obscurity. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Cockfights might be on decline despite legality

LOUISVILLE — Chicken fighting is legal in Kentucky and apparently has been for some time. But an attorney general's ruling to that effect last St. Patrick's Day has not resulted in a flurry of new cockfighting in the state. "I think the attorney general's opinion really has had very little effect on the sport... But the publicity — I think that's had a great deal of effect," said Robert Rowe Jr., a Prestonsburg attorney who has represented those charged with cockfighting crimes in the past. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

20th Sorghum Festival just one week away

WEST LIBERTY — Home folks and visitors from far and near will celebrate the 20th anniversary of Morgan County's annual Sorghum Festival in downtown West Liberty Sept. 28, 29 and 30. (The Licking Valley Courier)

Martha Wilkinson faces high disapproval rating

LOUISVILLE — Martha Wilkinson may be gaining fast in fund raising for next year's race for governor, but she faces major obstacles in winning the office, according to the latest Bluegrass State Poll. The survey, conducted by The Courier-Journal from Sept. 13-19, found that only 22 percent of Wilkinson's fellow registered Democrats had a favorable opinion of her, while 44 percent held an unfavorable view. The poll found that her patters of support resembled those of her husband, Gov. Wallace Wilkinson, whose job-performance rating has dropped significantly from five months ago. (The Courier-Journal) downtown businesses and approved the first reading of the ordinance.

In other business, the council agreed to advertise for bids for a four-wheel drive truck with snowplow and salt spreader. Council members were informed that the large truck which is now owned by the city is too big to scrape many of the smaller back streets in town.

Council members later agreed to approach insurance companies to submit negotiable quotes for the city's liability insurance instead of advertising for bids on the service.

Mayor Ann Latta informed the council that archaeological work was effectively completed at the First Avenue location of a proposed parking lot and city park and she asked that the council make a motion to begin work on the project. Members approved preliminary gravel work at the site and requested that plans for the park area be obtained.

Councilman William Callihan proposed a motion to obtain devices for anchoring concrete parking curbs in the city municipal parking lot, explaining that teenagers had been moving the heavy blocks into the center of the lot. No action was taken on the motion, but Mayor Latta asked city police chief Greg Hall to instruct patrol officers to ask the teens to stop moving the blocks before harsher methods were initiated.

The mayor then read a letter from state Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant informing the council that the request for the installation of a turn lane on Route 1428 at the Adams Middle School had been denied due to "budgetary constraints and other priorities across the state".

Two way traffic?

No further action was suggested on the issue.

After brief discussion, council members agreed to approve Tuesday, October 30 as trick or treat night in Prestonsburg. Children 12-years-old and younger will be allowed to trick or treat in the city from six to eight p.m. and firefighters will be on duty to help children cross highways at strategic points.

Before taking the meeting into executive session, council members adopted a resolution endorsing a proposed constitutional amendment which will allow cities to offer new or expanding businesses a 10-year moratorium on property taxes. City Administrator Fred James was also recognized for his work with the city in recent years and was presented a plaque of appreciation for his work.

Jail Study

which may be discontinued within a couple of years. Presently the state only has two secure detention facilities and those are in Lexington and Louisville.

The option to close the detention center would cost the county about $162,000 per year for Floyd County juveniles to be detained in another facility.

Upon the relocation of both the jail and the juvenile center, the courthouse and courthouse annex would also be renovated. There is a need for increased space in both buildings. The cost on the courthouse renovation project, remodeling the third floor and opening up the first floor, was estimated at $1.2 million.

"The AOC would pay for the portion of the building it uses," Woodford said. "If you dedicate the whole thing for court space then the county doesn't pay anything. The county only pays for what it uses."

Black and Woodford suggested that the new jail facilities be built in the parking area behind the courthouse on top of a 1 1/2 level parking structure. Court members did not appear pleased with this idea since it would mean there would be no room for expansion. Most wanted the jail and detention center built somewhere in the county.

The net cost of the whole project was set at $202,000 per year for the county. The court members decided to look at the study more closely and then bring back questions.

"You don't solve a problem this complex on the first try," Woodford said.

collections.

The board of education voted at its August 8 meeting to levy the three percent utility tax and to raise the real estate tax and motor vehicle tax rate in order to increase revenue for the district. Real estate rates were raised from 28.5 cents per $100 assessment to 45.5 cents. The motor vehicle rate was raised from 26.8 cents per $100 assessment to 41.8 cents. The increase, along with the utility tax, is expected to generate $3,443,566 in new revenues.

The deadline centered upon getting the notice of hearing published in the local newspaper not less than seven days before the meeting. Most newspapers throughout the state publish weekly but most newspapers had already published for the week prior to the Attorney General's ruling.

If local districts do not meet the newspaper deadline, public notices residents. "That's a $100,000 building we've got down there rotting," said the mayor.

A motion was passed to have electricity and water utilities reconnected and to organize an effort to prepare the building for use.

Wheelwright resident Lowell Dean asked the council to consider imposing an occupational tax in the city and use those funds for projects like the swimming pool. Mayor Johnson agreed to put an occupational tax proposal on next month's agenda as well as a proposal for the city utility commission to adopt the pool facility, possibly assuming costs of the operation.

Wheelwright Fire Chief Oval Pack asked the council to take measures to stop city utility workers from using the town's fire truck without his knowledge. Pack said that the workers had brought the fire truck back to the station with firehoses, "all wadded up." Pack added that he would be resigning as fire chief at the end of the year. No motion was passed in regard to the request, but a motion was made to authorize repair work to the doors and windows of the fire station.

City residents who attended the meeting became vocal when a motion was proposed to hire a volunteer police officer to collect delinquent taxes in the city. Residents said that the position should be advertised and that local men should be given opportunity to fill the position. Council members argued that the volunteer officer, Todd Daniels of Prestonsburg, had experience in collections and law enforcement but they finally agreed to advertise for the position. A motion was passed to accept Daniels as an auxiliary police officer.

Mayor Johnson then explained that he would like for the council to consider relieving city resident Bobby Terry of all criminal charges of defacing city property. Terry was reportedly arrested for using a sledgehammer to break off the edges of a sidewalk in order to get his car onto his property.

Councilman David Sammons was opposed to the suggestion and said, "If they are going to forgive him they'll have to do it the next meeting." Sammons said that the mayor was only trying to get re-elected, prompting the mayor to say that he would try to make sure that the councilman was not re-elected, adding that he felt Sammons was simply biased against Bobby Terry. Sammons replied that he would also put the mayor out of office. Johnson said that he would withdraw his request and propose it again at the next meeting of the council.

Before adjourning, the subject of business licensing was discussed and also tabled for the next meeting.

A special meeting of the council has been called for tonight, Wednesday, September 26, in order to have second readings for the city tax rate and life insurance premium tax as well as to propose dropping charges against Bobby Terry.

Waste Law

In other court business, Jess Sagraeves of the Department of Highways in Pikeville came before the court asking them to take seven roads into the county system. The total mileage is less than one mile. Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo informed the court that the county was already maintaining most of these roads anyway. The fiscal court members agreed to look at the issue and give Sagraeves and answer later.

Bids were accepted for the Clark Branch Bridge and the $50,000 bid from Cyrus Contracting, of Louisa, was tentatively accepted pending approval from the state. The next lowest bid was from Jones and Bourland of Prestonsburg for $52,200. Two others came in for $54,400 and $56,497 from Modern Engineering and Construction of Pikeville and LHS Contracting of Lexington, respectively.

The court voted to pay $988 in expenses for the Aug. 4 local option election, and Jailer Lawrence Hale presented a request for Keith Hackworth to be hired as deputy jailer in replacement of Don Lewis, who resigned this past week. The court moved to hire Hackworth on a tentative basis until his background check was done.

The court also voted to update the Jail Policy and Procedure Manual. The changes were presented by Mrs. Hale.

Since a six-month probation period is up for Arnold Daniels, the court moved to raise his hourly rate of pay. And, the court received a Deed of Easement from Ernest G. and Marilyn Burchett to accept Burchett Layne into the county road system.

Also appearing before the court were representatives of Chrisman, Miller and Woodford company to present the feasibility report on a new Floyd County jail (see related story).

Confiscated....

Martin woman arrested after chase :

City police nab 23 on various charges

Members of the Prestonsburg Police Department arrested a total of 23 people over the weekend on unrelated charges ranging from drug possession and trafficking to alcoholic intoxication and DUI.

Several bags of marijuana were confiscated along with prescription drugs in improper containers. The arrests were made during weekend road checks and in conjunction with ongoing investigations by the department.

A Martin woman was also arrested shortly after midnight Friday after leading Officer Sue Blackburn on a nine-mile chase which began on U.S. 23 and ended on Route 1428 near Arkansas Creek. The woman, Rita Caudill of Martin, was captured when she was stopped at a roadblock manned by members of the Floyd County Sheriff's Department and the Kentucky State Police. She was charged with attempting to elude an officer, driving without a license, no insurance, expired tags and DUI, registering .10 on the breath alcohol analyzer.

There was some question as to the legitimacy of the arrest by a city officer outside of city limits, however officers pointed out that according to Kentucky Revised Statute 95.740, officers of a fourth class city such as Prestonsburg have county wide power of arrest.

Officers also arrested a juvenile subject Friday afternoon at approximately 4:30 p.m. for possession and trafficking in marijuana within 1,000 yards of a school. The subject, who was lodged in the Floyd County Juvenile Detention Center, was arrested after selling approximately seven grams of marijuana to undercover officers for $25 nearly two weeks ago.

Detective Jeff Stumbo added that anyone with information about illegal drug sales or other activities can call him at 886-1010. All information will remain confidential.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Okay, everybody's kid is beautiful, fit for the covers of fashion magazines and television commercials. Not a homely one in the crowd.

Well, all right, that ain't necessarily so, but who cares? Beauty is in the eye of the beholder.

Seems the fad of the moment (it's been quite a long moment, too) is beauty contests...for kids.

Hardly a festival comes without a contest to see who's cutest, cuddliest or comeliest, and the entries waddle in by the dozens. Dragged in by the dozens might be the more appropriate choice of words.

Hardly a festival pageant passes without a melee over who was chosen cutest, cuddliest or comeliest.

So what's the purpose, anyhow? Herding babies, toddlers, little misters and little misseses across gym floors for a shot at a tiara or a trophy is carrying this obsession for looks a bit far, particularly when you consider that these kids would rather be picking their noses or scratching their behinds somewhere less public.

Kids will be kids...if we let them. And we should.

Speaking of kids, how about inviting a few to sit in on discussions about what we should and shouldn't be doing to dispose of our solid waste?

After all, they're the ones who will inherit this trash pile we call Earth.

And, with Earth Day still fresh in the minds of many youngsters, you might be surprised at how environmentally conscious they are.

Our oldest, age 10, came home upset from a recent school-related activity where food and drink were served on and in styrofoam accessories.

Styrofoam, she said, doesn't decompose, its manufacture produces ozone-damaging fluorocarbons and it was one of several materials cussed and discussed during last spring's Earth Day awareness program at school.

Hmm.

Maybe we shouldn't just invite youngsters to join our debates about trash, maybe we ought to let them lead the way.

While the Who's Who in Frankfort debate the When and How of a likely special session of Kentucky's General Assembly, we'd like to toss another item on the legislative agenda.

So far the topics of the not-yet scheduled special session center on environmental issues (waste disposal) and tougher drunk driving laws (waste disposal, too?), but just as critical as these issues are to the state, neither is more critical than Kentucky's economic future.

In Eastern and Western Kentucky the hunger pangs of joblessness and hopelessness grow ever stronger while Frankfort remains idle on formulating a policy to deal with our economic woes.

Local groups are addressing the issues, that's true, but the state must provide the impetus to push us over the hump.

That means money. The most reasonable source for those needed funds is coal severance taxes.

The allocation of coal tax revenues has been a sticky subject in the past. The topic will become much stickier in the not so distant future when those revenues begin to dry up.

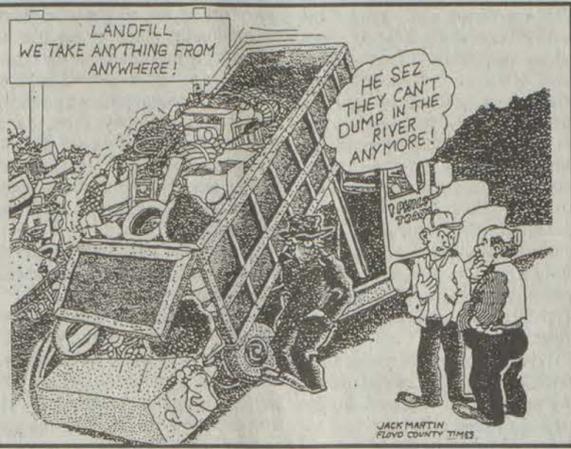

Kentucky's coalfields deserve a chance to pick up their economies where coal eventually will leave off and the time to create that chance is now.

Times' assistant editor Tess Whitmer becomes Lieutenant Tess Whitmer this week as her reserve unit is called up for Iraqi conflict duty.

Her departure creates something of a void here at the Times, but our problems are secondary to our concerns for her well-being and safe return.

You don't miss the water 'til the well runs dry and you don't feel the effects of world events until they hit close to home. This one hit real close.

For Tess and other local and area service men and women, our support and prayers go with you. May the homecoming be soon.

Constitutional Change Would Benefit Local Communities

from Kentuckians Helping Their Hometowns

Communities throughout Kentucky would greatly benefit by the adoption of a constitutional amendment that will appear on the November ballot. According to local officials from across the state, "Constitutional Amendment #3 will help prepare our hometowns to meet the challenges of the 21st century."

Last month, Louisville Mayor Jerry Abramson announced the formation of Kentuckians Helping Their Hometowns — a diverse, statewide, bipartisan group of civic, business and political leaders who are working to promote the passage of Constitutional Amendment #3.

According to Abramson, "We have a unique opportunity this November to help assure a brighter future for all Kentuckians."

The Amendment, which has the support of local officials across the state, was approved by the General Assembly in March of this year and will be on the November 6th ballot.

The changes proposed by Amendment #3 were studied for over five years by local officials, citizens and state legislators and were recommended by a special constitutional Review Commission appointed by the Legislative Research Commission in 1986.

The Amendment includes provisions that will have several effects. It proposes to expand local economic development incentive authority to help attract new jobs and help existing businesses expand.

The Amendment should also validate the "home rule" authority granted to all Kentucky cities and provide greater flexibility to deal with local needs. Moreover, the General Assembly will have greater power to set the limits on local property tax rates. The procedure for classifying cities will also be updated.

Constitutional Amendment #3 would also remove several outdated provisions of our 1891 Constitution, such as a section authorizing a poll tax.

The Kentuckians Helping Their Hometowns Committee plans an aggressive, statewide effort to encourage support for the Amendment. The Committee's plans include addresses to many local civic groups, providing several mailings to inform voters about the Amendment's proposals, and a radio campaign to urge voter support.

The Amendment has already been endorsed by the Ky. League of Cities, the Ky. Chamber of Commerce, the Municipal Attorney's Association of Ky. and the "Lexington Herald-Leader."

Also supporting Amendment #3 and serving on the Committee with Abramson are: Senator Wendell Ford; former Governors Martha Layne Collins and Bert Combs; Lexington Mayor Scotty Baesler; Owensboro Mayor David Adkisson; former Lt. Governor Wilson Wyatt; former Congressman Frank Burke; State Senators Joe Meyer and Eugene Stuart; State Representatives Ken Harper, Ron Cyrus and Richard Lewis; Rev. Wayne Smith; Dr. Grady Stumbo; and several others.

Amendment #3 is one of four constitutional amendments that will appear on the November ballot.

Strange Enough

Does the Mayor play pool?

One thing that I find noticeably absent in the fine city of Prestonsburg is the lack of a good pool hall.

Now I'm not talking about a well lit billiard parlor with a family atmosphere, I'm talking about a down and dirty pool hall.

You know, a place where men hang out and spread rumors and gossip while slyly exchanging dollar bills for pool games won or lost.

Why would I want such a place? Tradition, honor and a place to pick up juicy news tips. That's why. Some people swear that a beauty or barber shop is the best place to hear gossip and news. Others swear by the courthouse.

Me, I like the pool hall.

If you have never been to a pool hall let me explain one fact of life. The classic pool hall is probably the last hold out for men who want to hang out without the bother of women. It is a place where spitting and cussing, swapping dollars and talking roosters is more than accepted, it's expected.

Not in Prestonsburg though. If there is actually anything like a pool hall, I can't find it. I know there used to be a pool hall where there is now a restaurant and there is now a billiard parlor and restaurant where an arcade used to be. What is a poor reporter to do?

I wonder why this is because deep in my heart I know that Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta is either a pool shark or a dangerous poker player. On top of that she is probably one of the only ladies I have ever met who could hang out at a dirty old pool hall without experiencing any lack of dignity.

I can picture the mayor bending down to eyeball a tricky bank shot. She looks up at her opponent and says, "Wanna put a buck on this shot?" The opponent shakily agrees to the bet and the mayor sinks the shot while giving her victim a look which implies "Hand it over sucker".

Or...
Sitting in a smoky room with a deck of cards and four or five members of the city council. The mayor slowly raises her hand and tosses a five dollar chip on the table, knowing that she only has a pair of deuces. Only councilman Billy Ray Collins has the nerve to hang with the bet, so he tosses a five chip and adds another just like it. The mayor counters with a ten dollar raise and grins that "your mine" grin. Billy Ray folds, and the mayor rakes in the loot, never letting her opponent see her hand.

Yes, in my mind I can see it. Yet there is nowhere in this town for such things to happen. It's a shame.

So Mayor, how about it? Up for a game of eight ball?

Soapbox

Life's weird. Just when things start to work out for the better, poof, things change. Little changes are cool. They make life interesting.

Major changes are a headache. They make life hell. I was just finally getting comfortable about being "single" (I wasn't married but I was committed), living on my own, taking on more responsibility at work and working back into a niche. And then the bomb drops.

I got the infamous phone call Monday after work — my unit has been mobilized.

I thought I would be able coming, but I was in a state to believe it.

I hate to leave, I have so think I have made a reputation, and I have people who Having just gone change here, I know how my co-workers when I leave. I'm not saying I'm irreplaceable...but it will take a couple of days, I believe, for them to work out my system (or develop their own).

It was almost ironic, when the phone call came I was sitting at my desk with my replacement teaching her what the job entailed. I'm sure she knew from the first "you're kidding?" what the call was about. If she didn't, I'm positive she figured it out when I screamed as I hung up the phone.

For some reason I thought I was safe since it was after 5 p.m. All day I had been catching my breath when my phone rang, knowing that the call was on its way. I started to relax at five bells.

That was it for the lesson, I couldn't think straight. I went up front to talk to a friend, and I just couldn't bring myself to leave. So, I called my mom — she wasn't too thrilled. My little sister volunteered to go for me, what a girl. My mother said she was prepared for a son to possibly have to go to war, but her daughter, that was something no mother could ever prepare for.

The person in my unit who phoned me said he would have to call me later that evening with more specifics, so I went home. I tried to write some checks to pay off some bills I had gotten that day. It took me five tries to write two checks. I just couldn't concentrate. I had one ear tuned for the phone to ring, I guess.

I really wanted to call some friends, but I don't have call-waiting so I paced up and down the hall for about 15 minutes and finally broke down and called my unit. I have to be there 9 a.m. Thursday.

After that I was on the phone for the next 4 1/2 hours calling people I knew. Nice to know I upset everyone as much as I was. Boy I have good friends. Even Kim's daughter Tiffany got on the phone and said "I hope you win the war Tess." Her mother hadn't told her anything, but that girl watches the news and she overheard Kim talking to me and figured it out. She's so sweet, she even drew a me picture to take on my trip. (Thanks Boog, I love you too.)

Yes, I am worried. Everyone has asked me that. I'm worried that I can't cut the mustard. I'm worried that someone will rely on me to know something I don't. I'm worried about all the changes back home and all the news I'll miss (I am getting the Floyd County Times mailed to me, so I can keep up with it). And, I'm worried that everyone is going to worry too much.

I will certainly miss things around here. Right know, what I really hate is missing the fall colors in the mountains. It's my favorite time of year here.

I'll keep in touch though. Hopefully the Times readers can still read this column from time to time. And, I will be back; ready to hit the news head on and ready to jump back into the organizations I belong to feet first.

See you in a few months...Until then, keep the prayers going and the yellow ribbons on display for all the soldiers.

President, Society for Animal Protective Legislation

Some of the most important letters you can ever write on behalf of animals will be the letters to save the Animal Welfare Act which is being destroyed by industry and research opponents of humane treatment of laboratory animals. Knowing they cannot actually repeal this landmark legislation, they are taking the sneaky route of chipping away at the regulations. This thwarts the will of Congress and citizens who support the Act — the only protection the unfortunate laboratory subjects have.

Thanks to your letters on the Improved Standards for Laboratory Animals, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has finally issued revised, repropoed standards for dogs, cats, monkeys and apes in the Federal Register on August 15, but the standards have been drastically weakened. They are now available for public comment. Don't miss this opportunity to speak for the animals in laboratories! They need the help of every humanitarian at this critical time.

You have, with your letters, been in the forefront of the battle since the last amendments in 1985. You must again make your voice heard, loud and strong, so that Congress and the Administration know their constituents want to see the arrogant research lobbyists foiled in their destructive weakening of the Act.

Here is the situation: The laboratories and animal dealers, led by the National Association for Biomedical Research (NABR), supported by the National Institutes of Health and backed by OMB, have managed to insert the unenforceable "performance" standards we warned against in our last letter. They are doing their utmost to tear down long-established regulations of the Animal Welfare Act. The enemies of animals are actually reaching back trying to destroy humane standards that have been in effect for twelve years! They hope to annihilate it by eroding its regulatory force.

The proposed regulations MUST be changed before they are made final.

Please write to: Honorable Richard Darman, Director, Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503. Ask him why he permits OMB personnel to stymie the will of Congress in the ill-conceived weakening of regulations under the Improved Standards for Laboratory Animals amendments. And why OMB has delayed action for more than four years.

It will also be helpful to send copies of your letter to the Department of Agriculture to your Senators and Representatives.

Senators may be addressed at: Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Representatives may be addressed at: House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Dear Editor:

I read with considerable amazement the article about Superintendent Hager's press release pertaining to Edward Patton's $76,800

I find it fascinating that Mr. Hager boasts that he settled a case without an admission of guilt for $76,800.

This leads to the obvious question. If the school board and Mr. Hager will pay $76,800 when they are not admitting guilt, what will they pay when they have actually done something wrong?

Sincerely,
— Ned Pillersdorf

Fall weather may bring unwanted six-legged visitors into your home

Autumn may seem like it is months away because of the unseasonably high temperatures the state is experiencing, but when days grow shorter and the mercury starts to drop some six-legged creatures will start scurrying for protected areas.

Some people may become concerned if insects select their homes or buildings for their winter protection.

But according to a University of Kentucky Extension entomologist, the insects are no more trouble than a "couch potato."

"As with all good 'couch potatoes,' these individuals tend to remain inactive and generally are a mild nuisance rather than a severe problem," said Lee Townsend, an Extension entomologist in the UK College of Agriculture.

Species that may turn up in buildings include:

* Boxelder bugs are one-half of an inch long black insects with narrow red lines on the back. They have sucking mouthparts and a relatively long antennae on the head.

Boxelder bugs can be seen congregating on outside walls, and they often are a problem where boxelder bushes are present, Townsend said.

* Elm leaf beetles are one-fourth of an inch long, yellow to dull green beetles with a dark stripe down each side of the hard front wing.

"Generally, these insects come from nearby elm trees," Townsend said.

* Soldier beetle larvae are elongated, somewhat flattened one-inch long body with a black, velvety texture to the abdomen and a brown head.

"Normally, soldier beetle larvae occur under rocks and ground litter," Townsend said. "They also may be present in relatively large numbers in basements or garages."

* Face flies/cluster flies are a little larger than a house fly. These flies can be seen on outside walls and around windows. Cluster flies also have fine golden hairs on their body and lethargic movement.

Townsend said it is best if these insects are outdoors. Control results also are best if insects are hit directly by the spray. "Soap sprays or pyrethrin insecticides will provide good control by direct contact," he said.

Once the insects infiltrate the indoors, swatting, vacuuming or aerosol pyrethrin sprays are a good tactic, he said. "Avoid widespread application of residual insecticides indoors," Townsend said. "Once settled, these insects will remain inactive and unnoticed until the move back outside in the spring."

Major points to stress in your letter:

Existing regulations—which require animals to be removed from cages before hosing or steam cleaning must not be weakened.

Please urge that clear, specific, enforceable standards be restored. Ask that "performance standards", which hamper USDA inspectors in their attempts to enforce the law, be removed. You can register your protest effectively by citing the examples of major flaws given on the enclosed yellow page.

We will be writing a detailed point-by-point analysis of the repropoed regulations and invite organizations to sign on to a joint submission to USDA. Let us know if you belong to an organization that would like to be listed in this formal submission in addition to writing your own letter.

EACH OF THESE ACTIONS ARE NECESSARY TO GET DECENT TREATMENT OF ANIMALS IN LABORATORIES AND THE PREMISES OF THE BIG-MONEY DEALERS. The Executive Summary of these regulations actually states that the "major burden" of expense will fall on the dog breeders and large primate suppliers. The genesis of the National Association for Biomedical Research comes from the businesses that make millions of dollars selling animals to laboratories. The more animals are used, the more money they make. Their goal is therefore the very antithesis of humane efforts to reduce the use of animals and develop alternatives.

Congress has mandated positive, forward looking regulations which industry has fought unremittingly for five years. We must not let them win. Urge everyone you know to write. If you need extra copies of this letter, let us know. Only your concentrated work can save the Animal Welfare Act regulations, for which we have labored so long, from being destroyed.

$100,000,000

Over the last four years the Floyd County Board of Education has had a budget of nearly one hundred million dollars. THAT'S RIGHT, NEARLY ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS! Even with this money available we recently heard the chairman of the board, at a meeting to discuss raising your taxes, say: "Let's go as high as we can. This is a one time chance." And apparently he was not satisfied with this arrangement. Because in the last board meeting he again spoke up and made a motion to get the last dollar left in your pocket by raising the admission price to local sporting events around the county. His reasoning, it would take this dollar to provide supplies for classrooms. He would have you believe that the teachers got all of the money. Don't be fooled! You saw the salaries printed in the paper. Have you ever had to buy candy or had your child sell trinkets to help the school buy supplies? Yes, you have! That was before tax increases and after these large increases it still continues. How large are the increases? You won't see completely until after the election. There isn't even adequate money for supplies at the new school that bares his name. Money for signs, money for administrators and central office but not for teachers and supplies for our children! Ask yourself what's wrong! Look around at the school your child is attending. Look at the restrooms, look at the classrooms, and remember the times you have had to help teachers paint, clean, and buy supplies. Increased taxes, increased admissions, and still you must supply the needs! With nearly one hundred million dollars available surely we can manage better for our children. It's time for a change!

REMEMBER IN NOVEMBER!

ABOUT SQUARES AND THINGS

It's kind of funny how some things just seem to stick with you. One incident that occurred nearly 30 years ago that I'll never ever forget comes to mind, partly, I suppose, because it sort of put everything into perspective for me — personally, as well as professionally.

I had been teaching only a few months when I walked into a classroom filled with bright-eyed first graders. It was time for their weekly art class and their desks had been cleared in eager anticipation of the arrival of Mr. Art. (Few could remember to call me Mr. Pack, but Mr. Art was just fine with me.)

Their eagerness for my arrival was no less than mine, for I couldn't wait to pull the brightly-colored construction paper from my art box, hand out the glue and the scissors and begin the project I'd decided was the next logical step in helping these youngsters become true creative artists.

As their regular teacher slipped from the room — she didn't need to stay any longer for these students were used to me now, and very few of them cried anymore — I began to explain the names of simple geometric shapes. Not only were these children learning what circles, squares and triangles were, but they were going to cut these shapes out free-handed and use only the three primary colors. A red circle, blue square and yellow triangle were to be pasted to a larger black sheet.

Was I a good teacher or what? Not only was I teaching design, but also color theory and motor-skill development. Dr. Giles, my advisor at Eastern and my favorite college professor, would be so proud of me.

Now, in order to have time to cut and paste, my little introductory talk to the meaningful exercise needed to be very concise. Furthermore, I had to say the exact things so that not only did these kids know what to do, they'd also have a keen awareness — yes, even an appreciation — for why they were doing it.

Three or four minutes is all I allowed myself, so after an absolutely perfect oral presentation, followed by an enthusiastic discussion on things that are round, things that are square and things that are triangular, I looked into those beautiful, freckled faces and asked, "Now, do you have any questions?"

A little girl with pigtails and a smile worth a million dollars raised her hand.

Wow, I thought, just like it's supposed to be. They're all so interested, so involved in this lesson. Am I a real teacher, or what? Looking in the direction of this budding young artist I said, "yes?"

The question she asked will forever be a part of my vast store of memories as a teacher.

"Mr. Art? Won't it, if you eat glue, stick your guts together?"

You think that won't make you humble?

Willie Nelson, Marlowe Tackett slated to perform at Galbraith fundraiser

Willie and Gatewood

Country music star Willie Nelson will perform for a fundraiser for Kentucky gubernatorial candidate Gatewood Galbraith. Nelson and local musician Marlowe Tackett will play at a benefit October 14 in Louisville. Galbraith and Nelson will drive a hemp oil powered vehicle, "The Hempmobile", from Ashland to Louisville the day of the show.

The Gatewood Galbraith for Governor committee announced this week that country music star Willie Nelson would be performing at a campaign concert next month in Louisville.

Galbraith, whose political platform is regulated growth and sales of hemp in Kentucky, said that he felt the Willie Nelson show would bring added support and attention to his campaign.

Joining Nelson and Galbraith at the October 14 show will be local country musician and night club owner Marlowe Tackett. "I'm not supporting anyone," said Tackett. "Willie is a friend of mine, so that (the Galbraith campaign concert) will give us a chance to work together again. I'm not supporting anybody. I just want to play music."

Galbraith and Nelson will also drive a hemp oil powered vehicle from Ashland to Louisville on the day of the concert. The vehicle, a 1980 Mercedes station wagon, will be powered by a combination of diesel fuel and hemp seed oil. "The diesel engine runs very effectively on hemp seed oil," said Galbraith. "We just want to point out the effective use of hemp seed oil as an agricultural fuel which can be produced by this state. Willie has always been on the side of the farmer and he realizes just what this important agricultural fuel could mean for the farmers of this state."

Nelson and Galbraith will be making campaign stops in Morehead, Ashland, Lexington, Frankfort and Louisville. "We'll start at Ashland and pour the hemp seed oil in and travel to Morehead where we will put more hemp seed oil in and travel on to the rest of the area," said Galbraith.

The concert is scheduled for October, 14 at Louisville Gardens in Louisville, Kentucky. Tickets are on sale state wide through any Ticketron outlet and all other ticket vendors, the price of the tickets is $17.50.

Cereal Lowers Cholesterol

According to University of Kentucky researcher Dr. James Anderson, ready-to-eat oat bran cereal provides a practical means to lower total cholesterol levels. In a randomized study comparing an oat bran cereal diet with a corn flakes diet, researchers found that oat bran cereal significantly lowered total cholesterol levels by more than 5 percent. There was no significant change in subjects on the corn flakes diet.

"Through various research projects we have demonstrated that oat products, such as oatmeal and oat bran, are very good sources of soluble fiber. Soluble fiber is effective in lowering total cholesterol levels. In some cases, levels have been lowered by as much as 19 percent," said Anderson, UK professor of medicine and clinical nutrition and chief of the endocrine section at the Lexington Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center. "We chose to look at ready-to-eat cereal basically for practical reasons. While oatmeal and oat bran are effective, they are not always as accessible as ready-to-eat cereal."

The study, published in the September issue of American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, involved 12 men, 46 to 70 years of age, whose initial serum cholesterol levels were undesirably high. The National Institute of Health (NIH) recommends that all adults maintain serum cholesterol levels below 200 mg/dl. The subjects were randomly assigned to a typical American diet that included either 56 grams of oat bran cereal or corn flakes daily for two weeks. Following the two-week period, subjects were switched to either oat bran or corn flakes for another two weeks. The study was conducted in the metabolic ward at the VA Medical Center in Lexington.

After the two-week period, subjects on the oat bran cereal diet showed a reduction in total cholesterol levels of 5.4 percent compared to levels after two weeks on the corn flakes diet. In addition, there was a significant reduction in a type of cholesterol known as low density lipoprotein, the harmful cholesterol that can cause clogged arteries, leading to heart disease.

Road hazard

An unplanned deposit on the roadway at the Route 80 intersection in Martin last Friday, had state highway crews out sweeping scrap nuts and bolts out of the road. Eugene Stumbo, Jimmy Hall and Lloyd Ray cleared the road and removed the debris that was reported to be the cause of several flats for area motorists.

EMTs train to keep certification

In order to improve training for and availability of Kentucky's ambulance services, the Department for Health Services has established regional emergency medical services coordinators.

The four coordinators, to be based in Bowling Green, Hazard, Madisonville and Morehead beginning around Oct. 1, will concentrate on two priority areas — continuing education for emergency services personnel and technical assistance for local providers and governments.

Health Services Commissioner Carlos Hernandez, M.D., said that the coordinators' first task will be to assess educational needs among Kentucky's existing ambulance services and emergency medical technicians (EMTs) and then to determine how best to meet those needs.

"In urban areas of Kentucky, it's fairly easy for EMTs to find opportunities to obtain the required continuing education classes," he said. "In rural areas, however, it's often a hardship for them to fulfill the education requirements to maintain their certification."

"A lack of qualified EMTs, in turn, becomes a hardship for Kentuckians who need ambulance services to respond to emergencies," Hernandez said. "Our main objective is to make it easier for emergency medical services to maintain the valuable service they provide to Kentucky communities."

Kentucky has 320 licensed ambulance services that provided 450,000 runs in the past year. The state has approximately 10,000 EMTs, who are certified by the Department for Health Services, and 750 paramedics.

Robert Calhoun, the department's emergency medical services branch manager, says that after determining educational needs of EMTs in their regions, the coordinators will turn their attention to organizing the means to provide that education.

"Several solutions might be considered," Calhoun said, "including identifying current training opportunities, pulling several services together for special training sessions or developing additional classes at educational institutions or regional medical centers."

"The coordinators will work as intermediaries among schools, instructors and the services themselves in arranging continuing education," he said.

The four coordinators will also be available to local ambulance services and governments to provide technical assistance, Calhoun said.

Dad, even though it's been a year since you were taken away it seems to us like only yesterday. We never knew how much you meant until you were already gone. You're kindness and mercy was surely felt in everything you've ever done.

We know that God has you now. Amidst his care and love. With God's grace, we'll learn to go on each day. Lifted up like the great white dove.

Each moment we shared was one to last. You're smile meant a lot to see. Something that helps us know you're ok. Is God's everlasting prophecy. We love you Daddy with all our hearts. Nobody will ever take your place. Please be patient and watch over us. We'll meet you one day, with God's grace.

It's great to be so dearly blessed. With a dad who is the very best. And more than words can ever say. You're loved and missed more every day.

Dedication ceremony slated for First Presbyterian Church

Dedication ceremonies for the addition to the First Presbyterian Church will be held on Sunday, October 7th, 1990, exactly one year after ground-breaking was held for the new facility. Though the building has been in use since June 10th, the dedication will provide the opportunity for several memorials, and for community groups to tour the facility.

The new building was constructed by Engineering Design and Construction company of Pikeville, with Randall Burchett as architect. The Building Committee from the church was chaired by John Reed, and the Honorary Chairman of the Financial Campaign Committee was the late Marvin Music.

As part of the events which begin at 12:30, the Fellowship Hall, which occupies the first floor along with a new kitchen, will be dedicated in Mr. Music's memory. The new Presbyterian symbol adorning the front of the addition will be dedicated in the memory of the late J. Y. "Sonny" Goble.

A new church sign is also planned as a memorial to Mark Howard. The second floor of the addition contains a room for an expanded choir and music ministry, as well as a room for youth programs. And, in connection with the building work, the wing connecting the new addition to the sanctuary has been redone for church offices and Sunday School rooms.

The ceremonies will follow worship and world communion services to be held at 11:00 a.m. Church officials and others have been asked to bring greetings during the dedication ceremony, which will be followed by a reception-lunch for all in attendance.

The community is invited to all of the day's functions, particularly the ceremony at 12:30.

Say Amen

The First Presbyterian Church of Prestonsburg will hold a dedication ceremony for its new addition on Sunday, Oct. 7, exactly one year after the groundbreaking for the facility. The building has been in use since June 10.

The United way

United Way President John Hiers recently spoke at May Lodge during the organization's "Meet The Needs" campaign. Hiers announced that several local organizations had been selected for United Way funding.

United Way kicks off 1990

The United Way of Eastern Kentucky kicked off the 1990 Campaign Tuesday, Sept. 11, with a luncheon at the Jenny Wiley Lodge. The luncheon was sponsored by the First National Bank of Pikeville.

United Way President, John Hiers announced the goal has been set at "Meet the Needs," and the needs in the Big Sandy region are great. Currently, 16 member-agencies receive funding in addition to 8 agencies receiving grants from the 1989 campaign. The 1989 campaign reaped a 108 percent increase over the 1988 campaign. The United Way hopes for a similar increase this year.

United Way agencies providing services to Floyd County are God's Pantry, Rape-Victim Services, Family Abuse Center, Red Cross, Kidney Foundation (Highlands Dialysis Center), Hospice of Big Sandy, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Floyd County Literacy Council, Salvation Army, Parents Resource Center, Greater Eastern Kentucky Multiple Sclerosis and the Special Olympics.

Through a single community-wide campaign, the United Way raises funds, primarily in the workplace, to help meet local health and human-care needs. Funds raised are funneled

Calcium Needs Program at ARH

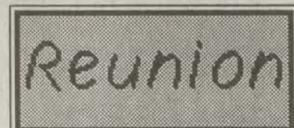

McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital (ARH) will offer a program concerning calcium needs on Wednesday, Oct. 3 at 7:00 p.m. Many Americans do not consume adequate amounts of calcium. Data from the Second National Health and Nutrition Examination survey, conducted by U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, revealed substantial portions of the population have calcium intakes well below the recommended dietary allowance.

Results indicated 25 to 50 percent of males between 18 and 34 years consume less than adequate amounts of calcium on any given day and less than 33 percent of women age 18 to 74 have adequate calcium intakes on any given day. After age 35 even fewer women (less than 25 percent) consume adequate amounts of calcium. A prolonged calcium deficiency may lead to several serious health problems including osteoporosis, alveolar bone loss, and hypertension.

The class will be presented by Cathy Brown, registered dietitian, consultant for McDowell Appalachian Hospital with the assistance of Vernal Turner, chief of dietetic services, and Gloria Jones, food production supervisor. The program will include a high calcium food break. There is no fee but preregistration is required. Call McDowell ARH at 377-3400, ext. 125. Please leave your name, phone number and number of participants planning to attend.

ARH is a not-for-profit health care system with over 25 years of service to central Appalachia.

GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL UNDERWAY...BUT

With the start of the Right Beaver Invitational Basketball tournament this week (Monday) the grade school basketball season officially got underway in Floyd County. I enjoy grade school basketball a lot. There are many good players in the system and that means only good things for the high school programs in the years ahead. But it still spells trouble for an already troubled grade school football program. In talking with some of the grade school coaches around the county — basketball and football — the football season should be moved to the spring of the year where the two sports will not interfere with one another.

My understanding is that it used to be that way until it was changed a few years back. The problem it creates is, now that basketball season has started, football players are not interested in playing football and are faced with a decision to give up football and play basketball. Naturally, as one coach stated, the kids are going to pick basketball.

High school football in Floyd County is already at a low point. Not only are there not many players coming out for the sport, the ability to put together a competitive team is almost nil. In four games this past week, only three touchdowns were scored by county teams.

I have gotten phone calls here at the office from concerned parents about the quality of the teams we have in Floyd County and I know there isn't anything personally that I can do about it. But I sure would like to see some of our struggling teams have something to look forward to in the next few years. I say the answer is a STRONG grade school feeder system! If you think so, write me and I'll print your comments.

Don't forget to order your Kentucky High School State Basketball Tournament tickets for the this spring. The tournament will be held at Rupp Arena (Yeahhhhh!) this year. You can order your tickets by contacting the Kentucky High Athletic Association in Lexington.

WILL THE REDS DO IT?

As of this writing (Tuesday) the Reds will begin a nine-game homestand as they close out the regular season at home. The stand began with the Atlanta Braves coming to Riverfront for a three-game series. Remember the last time the Reds played the Braves they were swept. The Reds need only a combination of wins plus Dodger losses to win the West Division. I must admit I truly had my doubts they could do it.

What has made the difference? The Reds are starting to do the little things in the stretch drive (beginning at San Diego in their four-game sweep of the Padres) that they did at the beginning of the season. Four things stand out: (1) The bats are starting to come around now. Simply put, Eric Davis is swinging a hot bat. Barry Larkin is looking like the "Lark" of old with his batting average back over .300. (2) More aggressiveness on the base paths has helped the Reds offense. (3) The Reds are collecting more clutch hits (with people in scoring position) like they did the first of the year. (4) The rebounding of a once struggling pitching staff. Tom Browning may not have pitched a jewel of a game in the second game of the doubleheader Saturday, but the fact that he went five innings — the previous longest stint was two — shows that he is getting back to his old form. Danny Jackson had a good seven innings also Sunday against the Padres. If Browning and Jackson continue to pitch well in their next start and get stronger, the Reds could be playing in their first World Series since 1979. It will take a strong pitching effort from the Reds to beat the Pirates (my choice) in the playoffs considering the Bobby Bonillia's and Bond's they have.

Kicks off season

Gearheart's 22 points leads Martin past Harold 71-20

It was a rough way to get your basketball season off on the right foot, as the Harold Red Devils drew county power Martin in the Right Beaver Invitational Basketball Tournament at Martin Monday night. Harold, a young team under first-year coach Eddie Rose, fell to the Purple Flash 71-20.

It was the hot shooting of Byron Gearheart that led the Purple Flash to their first win. Gearheart hit the nets for 22 points and pulled down eight rebounds. The Martin gym was crowded as the Purple Flash faithful came out to cheer on the grade school team.

Martin dominated the game throughout as they built an early lead and coasted to the win.

The only lead the Red Devils held was 2-1 in the opening minutes of the game. Martin then ran off 10 unanswered points behind the scoring of Chad Slone who finished with 10 points.

In the third quarter Martin used their running game to scorch the nets for 29 straight points over the smaller Red Devils. In the stretch Gearheart hit 12 points as he found the basket from outside as well as inside.

Martin coach Jimmy Hopkins began emptying his bench early in the game as all players got to see some playing time. Martin, with a strong bench, will definitely be a contender (as they always are) for the county title this year. The Purple Flash bench contributed 25 points to the win.

Jason Bevins, a seventh grader at 6' 1", had six blocked shots in the game and pulled down eight rebounds.

The Red Devils had trouble at the charity stripe, missing on 13 tries.

Willie Meade led the Red Devils in scoring with five points. J.P. Skeans and Jackie Bush each tossed in four points.

For Martin, Toby Robinson canned nine points and Brian Conn finished with five.

The tournament semifinals will be held on Friday night and the championship games will take place on Saturday night.

Harold (20): Willie Meade, 2 1-2 5; Steve Lawson, 1 0-0 2; J.P. Skeans, 1 2-8 4; Jackie Bush, 2 0-1 4; Kevin Keathley, 1 0-2 2; Kevin Keathley, 1 0-2 2; Dwayne Akers, 0 1-4 1; Mike Gillespie, 1 0-0 2.

at Martin (71): Byron Gearheart, 10 2-4 22; Toby Robinson, 4 1-2 9;

Chased!

Wheelwright quarterback Steven Johnson (12) felt the pressure from the Sheldon Clark defense last Friday night at Sheldon Clark. The Trojans dropped a 20-0 game to the Cards.

Watt's Leads Cardinals To 20-0 Shutout of Trojans

The defense was there, but the offense was missing. That's the way things went for the Wheelwright Trojans Friday night as they dropped their fifth straight football game, a 20-0 loss to the Sheldon Clark Cardinals. The Trojans lone win came in the first game of the season by the same score — 20-0 over Betsy Layne.

Quarterback Jesse Watts threw for 136-yards on six completions in 15 attempts to lead the Cardinals to victory.

The game was, like other games in the area, was played in the rain, which caused problems for both teams in handling the football.

The Cards scored in the first on their second possession of the game. On the opening possession, the Wheelwright defense played tough and forced the Cardinals to give up the football. On a third and eight Brian Rhea, who has played great defense for the Trojans all season, caught Watts behind the line of scrimmage and sacked the Cardinal quarterback for a loss, forcing Sheldon Clark to punt.

Following a good carry, 13-yards, by Ryan Johnson on first down play, Trojan quarterback Steven Johnson was intercepted by Arthur Preston and the Cardinals regained possession. Watts then hit Craig Grayson with a 53-yard touchdown pass for a 6-0 Cardinal lead.

In a strange turn of events in the closing minutes of the first period, Wheelwright fumbled the football and Sheldon Clark recovered. Before the Cardinals could get the ball for play, the officials reversed their decision and gave the football back to the Trojans. Wheelwright was unable to score as the quarter ended with the ball going back to the Cardinals.

Late in the second period, 1:55 remaining, Sheldon Clark took over the football on downs and seven plays later Watts, on a quarterback sneak, crossed the goal line from 1-yard out to score. Goss ran the conversion and it was 14-0 Cardinals. The drive covered 63-yards. Watts hit Grayson for a 21-yard pick up and found Goss for 19-yards in the drive.

Young Blackcats Defeat Little Rebels

You can tell they love their football in Prestonsburg and at Allen Central. Fans from both sides filled the stands at Allen Central's Don Daniels Athletic Complex Thursday evening to watch the Adams Middle School (AMS) Blackcats defeat the Little Rebels of Allen Central 26-14 in a good game. The game had the appearance and atmosphere of a high school game as the fans really got into the act — even to the point of hollering at the officials.

Even though AMS jumped to a 26-0 lead, the Allen Central grade school team did not give up and made a mild comeback. AMS got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter when Thomas Ratliff broke tackle on a first down play and ran 33-yards for the TD. Ricky Lemaster added the two point conversion and the Blackcats were on top 8-0. Ratliff had carried the ball three straight times in the series of downs, picking up first downs on the first two runs before the TD.

Allen Central had opened the game on offense and Brad Blackburn, who passed for 148-yards, hit Mickey Slone with a 23-yard pass on the first play from scrimmage.

A recovered Allen Central fumble set up the next score for AMS, when on a first down play, Greg Hicks scampered 37-yards for the score to give Adams a 14-0 lead. Hicks had carried the ball eight times in the game for a total of 64-yards rushing.

The Little Rebs put together a good drive with 4:57 remaining in the first period, led by the running and passing of Blackburn. The drive stalled out on the Adams 33-yard line.

With 6:47 remaining in the first half, Jason Spurlock carried the ball for a 9-yard pick up to the Rebels' 42-yard line. On second down, Ryan Ortega took a Brett James handoff and on a sweep play galloped 58-yards for a touchdown that gave Adams a 20-0 lead.

With first possession in the third period, on a drive that consumed 62-yards, Adams went up 26-0 on a 1-yard plunge by Spurlock with 2:41 to go in the quarter.

Behind the sharp passing of Blackburn, Allen Central moved the ball to the Adams 5-yard line where Tim Robinson struck paydirt for the Little Rebels. The touchdown was set up by a recovered Adams fumble.

The Little Rebels scored again, with time running out, when on a 52-yard drive Slone one-handed a Blackburn 42-yard pass for a touchdown. Blackburn ran the extra points as the Blackcats won 26-14.

For Adams, Ratliff rushed for 68-yards on just four carries. Ratliff wasn't used much in the backfield after the first period. Lemaster collected 26-yards on six carries. Lemaster scored a two-point conversion also.

Adams amassed 239-yards of total offense, all coming on the ground. James passed once with no completion. Adams was penalized three times for a total of 25-yards. They turned the ball over one time on a fumble.

For Allen Central, the story was the opposite. The Little Rebels had trouble moving the ball on the ground but the air lanes were to their liking. Blackburn tossed for 148-yards on seven completions — all to Slone. The Little Rebs were called for three penalties for 25-yards. Allen Central lost the ball twice on fumbles.

Adams goes to 1-0 in their first game and Allen Central falls to 0-2. The Little Rebels will see action again Tuesday night against Betsy Layne.

This is a football!

A helping shoulder

Allen James (38), Prestonsburg, puts the tackle on Steve Dowdy (12), quarterback for Greenup County, last Friday night at the Prestonsburg Athletic Field. The Musketeers ran past the Blackcats 48-19.

Falls to 3-2

First Quarter Fumbles Costly To Blackcats

It was typical Friday evening at the Prestonsburg Athletic Field weatherwise — it rained. It was not, however, a typical night of football on the field as the Prestonsburg Blackcats fumbled their way to a 48-13 loss to the Greenup County Musketeers.

The Musketeers proved they are real this football season after a 3-8 year last year. The win ran Greenup County's record to a perfect 5-0 while Prestonsburg lost for the second straight week.

The Blackcats looked like they were ready to pick up where they left off two weeks ago when they played their best game to date with a 28-21 win over the Paintsville Tigers.

The Cats struck first Friday, very early in the first quarter when the dynamic tandem of quarterback Aaron Tucker and Worth McGuire went to work and Tucker hit McGuire with a 70-yard TD toss. Jason Storey kicked the extra point and it was 7-0 Prestonsburg.

On the ensuing kick off, Greenup County fumbled the football and the Blackcats recovered, only to cough up the ball when John Goble fumbled. Greenup County took control of the ball and, with 6:40 remaining in the period, Brady Taylor carried the ball over for the Musketeers. The extra point was no good and the Blackcats held a 7-6 lead.

With 4:40 remaining in the quarter, things didn't get any better for the Blackcats as Allen James, usually a sure-handed runner, fumbled the on the 18-yard line of Prestonsburg. Greenup County recovered. It was Taylor again on the run from the 18 for a Musketeer touchdown. Troy Porter added the two point conversion for a 14-7 game.

With the rain causing problems for the Blackcats, Prestonsburg fumbled again — for the third time — on a carry by Mike Hobson on the Blackcat 25-yard line. Jason McGlone recovered the fumble for Greenup County. Facing a fourth and 13 situation from the Prestonsburg 28, Dowdy connected with Porter for a 16-yard pass completion and a Musketeer first down. Taylor carried to the Blackcat 8-yard line and a 5-yard penalty placed on the three, where Taylor scored his third touchdown of the quarter for a 20-7 lead. The point after was no good.

Prestonsburg was unable to move the football on their next possession and gave the ball up as the first quarter came to a close. In the opening minutes of the second stanza, Greenup County had the ball on the Blackcat 42-yard line when Dowdy hit Porter with a 32-yard pass putting the ball on the 10. Taylor's pick up of 8-yards moved it to the 2 when Brian McDowell ran into the endzone for a TD. The Musketeers failed on a fake extra point kick and it was 26-7.

John Clark replaced Tucker at the quarterback position in the second period for Prestonsburg. The Blackcats moved the ball 57-yards on nine plays that saw Todd Goodman score from 3-yards out with 6:14 remaining in the first half.

The Blackcats were back in the game — that was until the ensuing kick off, a short onside kick by Storey. Adam Cochran (6-3, 205) took the kick off and fumbled the ball only to recover it himself and he outran the Blackcat defense 78-yards for a TD. Porter added the two-point conversion. Prestonsburg added their final touchdown with 3:13 remaining in the game on a 5-yard run by Jonathan Leslie.

The 48-19 loss dropped the Blackcats to 3-2 on the season as Greenup County goes to 5-0.

Greenup County had, unofficially, 341-yards total offense. The Musketeers carried the football 32 times for 248-yards on the ground. Dowdy and Hatfield combined for 93-yards passing on seven completions. Greenup County was penalized 15-yards and Hatfield was sacked for a 15-yard loss. Cochran's one run for 80-yards led Greenup in rushing. Brady Taylor collected 46-yards on seven carries. Tony Sammons had one carry good for 44-yards. Baker carried 10 times for 40-yards.

For Prestonsburg, most of the yardage came from passing. Tucker had one pass for 70-yards and Clark connected for 74-yards on five completions for a total of 144-yards passing. The Blackcats could only grind out 126-yards on the ground on 29 carries. McGuire had five receptions for 119-yards. The Blackcats turned the ball over on four fumbles. They were penalized 30-yards.

Prestonsburg will regroup as the road gets tougher with a road game with the Belfry Pirates, 6-0.

Johns Creeks Sweeps Betsy Layne Grade and Jr Varsity Teams

It wasn't a good night for the Betsy Layne Grade School and Junior Varsity Bobcats as it has not been good for the varsity of late.

The two teams traveled to Johns Creek Monday night to match up against the grade school and junior varsity teams of the Bearcats.

In the grade school encounter, Johns Creek took a 26-6 decision over Betsy Layne. Johns Creek took the opening kickoff and drove 55-yards for a touchdown with Kermie Weddington going across the goal line from 26-yards out for a 6-0 lead with 5:14 left in the opening quarter. The drive took five plays.

Betsy Layne tied the score at 6-6 when Amos Smith took the kickoff from Johns Creek and ran 78-yards for a touchdown just 23 second later.

However, the grade school Bearcats took the lead for good, driving 58-yards on just seven plays with Jerry Thacker scoring from 24-yards out.

The Bearcats added another second quarter touchdown when Thacker intercepted a Bobcat pass and ran 32-yards for a TD with 6:59 left in the first half. Shane Johnson added the two-point conversion for a 20-6 halftime lead.

Johns Creek scored their final TD in the third period when Donnie Ray scampered 3-yards for a score.

In the Junior Varsity game, the Bearcats completed the sweep with a 22-0 shutout of the Bobcats. Johns Creek scored the only points they really needed in the second period on a 3-yard run by Shawn Thacker on a drive of 58-yards that took nine plays. Chris Gannon added the two point conversion for a 8-0 lead.

The Bearcats added another touchdown in the third period when Thacker completed a 52-yard drive by carrying the ball from 22-yards out for a TD with 5:59 left.

The Bearcats scored their final touchdown off of a turnover by the Bobcats. Jody Maynard intercepted a Betsy Layne pass and returned the ball to the Betsy Layne 19. Gannon, on the next play from scrimmage, scored with 3:41 left in the game. Clayton Slone added the two extra points.

Cardinals

Neither team could score in the third period and as time was winding down in the final stanza with 25 seconds showing on the scoreboard, Goss carried from 11-yards out for the touchdown to make it 20-0.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Cardinals, who lost to Paintsville in the Big Sandy Bowl at the opening of the season.

Goss was the leading rusher for the Cardinals with 53-yards on 14 carries. It was the passing of Watts that made the difference as the field was to muddy for grinding it out on the ground. The Cardinals had a total offense of 191-yards.

For Wheelwright, Brian Rhea carried seven times for 35-yards and he played good defense. Ryan Johnson piled up 32-yards on 12 attempts and Arnold Adams, on just three carries, rushed for 46-yards. Steven Johnson had minus yardage in the passing department.

Wheelwright had three turnovers as Johnson was intercepted three times. The Trojans had no fumbles in the game. Robbie Wright had a good game on defense for the Trojans as did Chris Hamby.

It will not get any easier for the Trojans as they travel to Pineville for a game with Evarts, 6-0, one of the leading offensive teams in the state.

Nowhere to go

This Adams Middle School "B" team runner found no place to go against the Allen Central Little Rebs "B" team in grade school football last week. The Little Rebs remained undefeated with a 14-6 victory over Adams. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

AC "B" Squad Stays Undefeated With 14-6 Win Over Adams

The Allen Central Little Rebs. "B" team stayed undefeated in grade school football play with an exciting 14-6 win over the Adams Middle School Blackcats "B" squad. The stands were filled at the Allen Central Don Daniels Athletic Complex, as fans from both schools came out to support their teams.

The Littlest Rebs, coming off a win over Magoffin County Tuesday evening, took a 8-0 lead when John Moore intercepted a Mike Castle pass and ran the ball back 89-yards for a touchdown. Eric Moore ran the two-point conversion for AC. The interception came on the Blackcats' second possession of the first quarter. Adams was moving the football up field and had good field position on a 25-yard carry by John Morse to the Allen Central 21-yard line before the turnover occurred. The Rebels carried the lead into the second half.

Neither team could score in the third period, but in the fourth period the Blackcats struck paydirt on a 10-yard run by Morse. The two-point conversion failed and the Rebels held a slim 8-6 lead. The drive consumed a total of 60-yards. On the drive, Morse carried the ball nine times for 41-yards. Castle had one completion for 12-yards.

Allen Central wasted no time scoring when, on next possession from their own 40-yard line, the Little Rebs marched 60-yards for a touchdown. On the drive Moore had a carry of 28-yards and another of seven. On a second and three situation, Moore hit John P. Samons with a 32-yard pass for a TD to give the Little Rebs a 14-6 lead and their second victory of the season against no defeats.

Morse carried the ball 19 times in the game for Adams for an unofficial 97-yards rushing. The Blackcats had a total offense of 127-yards with 115 coming on the ground. Adams fumbled the football once and was intercepted once.

Allen Central had a total offense of 153-yards with 121 coming on the ground — mostly from the 89-yard run by John Moore. Eric Moore had one completion for 32-yards passing. Allen Central had one turnover — a fumble — with no interceptions. Eric Moore carried the ball six times for 36-yards.

Besty Layne Bobcats Go 0-6 In 72-0 Loss To Leslie County

It has been a hard football season for the Betsy Layne Bobcats and their coaching staff. The Bobcats, who had hopes of competing this season for the District 2 title along with Whitesburg and Prestonsburg, found it hard going at Leslie County Friday night as they dropped an lopsided 72-0 game on the road.

The shutout was the fourth of the season for Betsy Layne out of the six games they have played.

The Bobcats have had trouble being able to score all season, a puzzle to the coaching staff of a team that has the talent there to be competitive. However, against Leslie County, 2-4, the Bobcat defense was not noticeable.

Leslie County struck quick and hard at the Bobcats as Landry Collett took a pass from 8-yards out from quarterback Greg Couch for a quick 6-0 lead. The host school wasted no time in putting eight more on the board on a pass from Couch to Mike Baker from 8-yards. Collett ran the two point conversion and Leslie led, 14-0. It was 20-0 before the first quarter could come to an end when Casey Wilson carried the ball 3-yards for a TD.

At halftime the Bobcats were in trouble, trailing 53-0 as Leslie County put 33 points on the scoreboard in the second quarter. One touchdown came when the Bobcats fumbled the football in their endzone and Ben Pugh recovered for a TD.

Another endzone play resulted in a Leslie County touchdown late in the game. Jacob Adams blocked a Betsy Layne punt and recovered for a TD.

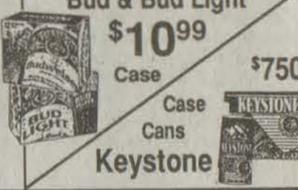

Billy Collett finished off the scoring with a 2-yard run. The win was only the second of the season for Leslie County.

Betsy Layne will travel to Elkhorn City as they pass the mid-point of the season with five games remaining.

Good Yardage

Rebels Find "Bulldogs" Bite Hard In 40-6 Loss at Hazard

Some dogs you can trust not to bite, but not so with the Hazard Bulldogs as they bit the Allen Central Rebels to the tune of 40-6 at Hazard Friday night in a downpour (was else is new). It was a big night for the 5-1 Bulldogs as they captured an important District 2 game over the Rebels.

Things looked good for the Rebels in the opening quarter after they gave up the football on their first possession, Hazard, on second and two, elected to toss for the first down only to have Brett Meadows pull down the interception and carry the ball to the Bulldogs 48-yard line. The Rebels had no trouble moving the football on the ground in the rain, but a loss of yardage and penalty stalled out the drive. The Rebels elected to go for the three-point field goal with Brian Wallen kicking from the Hazard 28-yard line. The kick was short and the Bulldogs took over.

Hazard got on the scoreboard, 6-0, on their next possession when quarterback Steve Sizemore hit fullback Bob Williams with a touchdown pass for 58-yards.

Hazard made it 12-0 when, facing a fourth and 18, Sizemore found Dwight Hagins open for a 46-yard touchdown pass. Hazard used two quarterbacks in the drive that took 10 plays to complete. Freshman quarterback Pete Combs engineered the drive at the start completing two passes for 30-yards. Sizemore replaced Combs for the score.

Allen Central again put together a good drive of their own from their own 28 moving the ball to the Hazard 20 where they stalled out.

Hazard could not move the ball for a first down and was forced to punt. Hagins was standing on the Bulldogs 12-yard line to punt the ball when the snap from center sailed over his head and landed on the Bulldogs 3-yard line where Allen Central took over. Jason Rister carried the ball across the line of scrimmage on the first down for a 12-6 game.

Hazard went on top 18-6 when Colby Combs took the kickoff from Allen Central and went untouched, 85-yards, for a touchdown. Before the half could end Sizemore hit Hagins again, from 35-yards out, for a TD and Sizemore ran the conversion for a 26-6 halftime advantage.

The Rebels were playing without running back Tommy Gibson, who was thought to have suffered a shoulder injury. However, Gibson says that he will be back for the Kentucky School for the Deaf (KSD) game on Tuesday, October 2. The Rebels will have this week off as an open date. B.J. Aldrich who has been out for several weeks returned to the Rebel team in the Hazard game.

Hazard got touchdowns from Combs, a 35-yard run, and Hagins, a 22-yard run to complete their scoring.

The Rebels fall to 1-5 on the season and are now 0-2 in District 2 play.

Lady Toppers Face Tough Schedule In 90-91

Western Kentucky University's Lady Topper basketball team will undertake a tough schedule in 1990-91, squaring off with 10 teams that participated in the NCAA tournament and one team that saw action in NWIT post season play.

"Our schedule presents a challenge at every turn," commented WKU head coach Paul Sanderford, who begins his ninth year at the Lady Topper helm. "But, we've always had tough schedules and I wouldn't have it any other way. It was the strength of our schedule that got us an NCAA bid (WKU's sixth straight)."

Western opens the regular season in "Paradise," participating in the eight-team Wahine Invitational in Honolulu, Hawaii over the Thanksgiving holidays, November 23-25. The Wahine Invitational will feature the strongest field of any tip-off tournament, with six of the eight teams seeing action in last season's NCAA tournament. Five teams, host Hawaii, 26-4; N. C. State, 25-6; South Carolina, 24-9; Utah, 20-11; and Texas Tech, 20-11, posted twenty or more wins, including the Toppers' first round opponent, Utah.

"We're excited to be opening the season in Hawaii," Sanderford said. "This is the most prestigious tip-off tournament in the country this year and you can bet the pollsters will be taking a close look at the results. It will definitely be a tough way to open the season, but it will also be a great opportunity to turn some heads and climb up the rankings."

The Lady Toppers go almost non-stop from Hawaii to Illinois, where they will compete in the Illini Invitational. WKU will take on Miami of Ohio in the first round, a team that posted an impressive 23-5 mark last season.

The other tournament on the Topper schedule is the eighth annual Bowling Green Bank Invitational, played this season over the Christmas Holidays, December 29-30, in lieu of its traditional tip-off scheduling in November. The 1990 BGBI field includes national power Stephen F. Austin (28-3, NCAA), Minnesota and Western Carolina. Western will take on the Carolina Catamounts in the first round, while S. F. Austin meets the Golden Gophers of Minnesota.

Western fans can get an early look at the Lady Toppers in two preseason exhibition games. The women's team from Ft. Hood will be in town on November 10 for a 7:30 p.m. exhibition, and the Canadian National Team will play in Diddle Arena November 17 at 7:30 p.m. Indiana State will provide the competition for Western's first official home game, set for December 4.

Other highlights on the 1990-91 slate include home games with Long Beach State and long time rivals Tennessee Tech and Southern Illinois. Exciting road matches include the annual showdown with Vanderbilt, Sun Belt Conference foe Old Dominion and West Virginia.

In all, the Lady Toppers could face 13 teams that recorded 20 or more victories in '89-90, and 16 that won 19 or more games. The 33 teams on the WKU schedule accounted for nearly 500 wins last season, an average of over 16 per team.

Western winds up the regular season with the women's Sun Belt Conference Tournament, played for the first time in Birmingham, Alabama, March 7-9.

Deer Hunt At Depot Canceled For 1990

Due to the Lexington-Blue Grass Army Depot's continuing support to Operation Desert Shield, it has been determined that it will not be feasible to have a deer hunt at the Blue Grass Facility this year. The Directorate of Ammunition Operations is still shipping ammunition to the soldiers deployed in the Middle East and will likely continue to do so through the deer hunt season. Holding a hunt at this time will not only interfere with the shipping operations, but might also present a safety hazard to hunters.

Depot wildlife officials determined that a year's break from hunting will give the herd an opportunity to increase, thereby providing more hunt spaces in 1991.

The depot will cooperate with the state in a limited trapping operation, with a small number of deer being trapped live and relocated to other areas of the state.

Attorney General's Opinion

Local School Boards Can Restrict Participation In High School Sports

A new Kentucky law which prohibits rules barring seventh and eighth grade students from participating in high school sports does not prevent local school boards from restricting participation based on other factors such as a student's health, safety or academic standing, according to an opinion issued by Attorney General Fred Cowan.

The opinion deals with House Bill 443 which was enacted by the 1990 General Assembly. The Attorney General's opinion was requested by the Fayette County Board of Education which asked if the new law prevents the Board from limiting the participation of students of a particular weight and height in high contact sports.

The opinion states that House Bill 443 prohibits the state school board, the Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA), and local school boards from barring seventh and eighth grade students from participating in high school sports or from participating in more than one school sponsored team at the same time in the same sport.

However, the opinion says nothing in the law "prohibits the state board, KHSAA, or local school boards from making rules that limit a student's participation in sports activities based on the student's health, safety and academic standing." The opinion cites a 1990 Kentucky Court of Appeals ruling, Thompson v. Fayette County Public Schools, which states: "[A] student has neither a property interest nor any fundamental right to participate in extracurricular activities in Kentucky."

Thus, the opinion concludes that if the Fayette school board determines that it is not in the best interest of the general health and welfare of students of a particular weight and height to participate in high contact sports, the board "may limit participation in such sports activities by students who fail to meet the weight and height requirements without violating the terms of the House Bill 443."

In the final game of the Martin Panorama, the Stumbo Mustangs rolled to a 67-43 win over the Duff Bulldogs behind the 22-point performance of Steve Johnson. Two other players scored in double figures for the Mustangs. Derrick Newsome and Joe Bryant each finished with 12 points. Martin had eight points in the win for the Mustangs.

For Duff, Jeremy Hall hit the nets for 18 points and Donnie Combs scored six points. Donovan Hall tossed in four.

The game was close for the first six minutes of the first half when the Mustangs pulled away on a 10-2 run for a 22-10 lead. In the second half Stumbo ran off 23 straight points. Duff outscored Stumbo in the closing minutes of the game 12-2 to make the score respectable.

COLLEGE HIGHLIGHTS

College Highlights
Colorado State has been flexing quite a bit of muscle through the first few games of the new season. They upset the Air Force in their opener 35-33, then blasted Montana State 41-5. The Rams finally fell two weeks ago to Arizona State 31-20. However, they may give Arkansas all it can handle Saturday. The Southwest Conference champion Razorbacks, headed for the Southeast Conference, whipped Tulsa in their first outing two weeks ago. Arkansas is favored, but the Rams versus Razorbacks could be very interesting.

While we're in the Southwest and speaking of muscle, Southern Methodist showed signs of life early in September with a 44-7 shellacking of Vanderbilt. The Mustangs "came back" to football last fall and finished 1 and 9. Two weeks ago, however, they were beaten by Tulane 43-7. S.M.U. hosts Texas Christian Saturday, a team that's been up and down early. The Frogs lost to Washington State in their opener, then edged Missouri 20-19. Frogs and Mustangs, also interesting. We favor TCU.

The feature contest in the Southeast Conference will be in Auburn, Alabama, where the Tigers will entertain Tennessee. The Vols served notice on the football community in late August, tying Colorado 31-31. Since then they've wreaked destruction on Pacific (55-7), Mississippi State (40-7) and Texas El-Paso (56-0). Auburn has beaten Cal State-Fullerton and Mississippi. The Volunteers upset the Tigers in Knoxville last fall 21-14, Auburn's only conference loss. This year's winner, Tennessee.

In the rights and wrongs department, through all Division I-A major college games of Saturday, September 15, we show a delightful picking percentage of .815 with 106 right and 24 wrong. However, overall, the average is more average. Our totals are 379 correct and 139 incorrect for a .731 average.

Finally, Ohio State will be the underdog at home against Southern California, and Texas A & M is favored over LSU in Tiger Stadium in Baton Rouge.

Top grade school player

Lady Purple Flashes Escapes Harold 38-34 In RBI Tourney

It is that time of year again as the grade school basketball season officially got underway with the opening round of the Right Beaver Invitational Tournament at Martin. The Martin Lady Purple Flashes played a first round game against Eddie Rose's Harold Lady Red Devils with the Lady Flashes coming away with a hard fought, 38-34 win over the Lady Devils.

It was not an easy game as both teams seemed to have opening game jitters. However, Veronica McKinney took charge and scored a game high 15 points and pulled down 18 rebounds to lead Martin.

At the end of the third period, Martin held a 26-20 lead over Harold when Jessie Johnson (smallest player on the floor) came in and hit two long shots. A bucket by Jessica Hamilton tied the game at 26-26. Chrystal Floyd hit a freethrow and McKinney's basket, with 3:23 remaining, put the Lady Flashes back up by three, 29-26. Hamilton hit a baseline jumper and Johnson's third basket since coming off the bench tied the game again at 30-30 following a freethrow by McKinney.

After a time out, Martin pinched their defense and ran out to a 37-30 lead with 1:51 showing on the scoreboard and held off a late charge by Harold to win.

The game was close all the way as Martin held a 10-7 advantage after the first stanza. McKinney established her presence with eight points in the first period. The game was tied only once in the quarter at 6-6.

Harold managed to stay close in the second quarter behind the scoring of Hamilton, who finished the game with 14 points. Martin had built the lead to 16-11 before the Lady Devils made a run as Hamilton hit three buckets in a row. A 6-2 run by Harold closed the score to 23-20 at halftime.

Harold found it hard to score in the third period as they could not find the basket.

Besides McKinney's 15 points to lead Martin, Kathy Conn netted seven and both Floyd and Jennifer Mullins had five points.

For Harold, Kelli Stanley tossed in eight points and Johnson also finished with eight.

Martin is 1-0 and will advance in the tournament while Harold falls to 0-1.

GOOSE AND DUCK SEASONS — THE OUTLOOK

Thanksgiving Day (November 22) marks the beginning of the 1990-91 waterfowl season in Kentucky. For the first time, goose hunting and duck hunting opens on the same day. The early portion of the split season closes after November 25.

Goose hunting resumes statewide December 1 and extends through January 31, 1991. The Western Waterfowl Zone could possibly close earlier — if the harvest quota for Canada geese is reached prior to the scheduled closing date.

Fulton County will remain open for Canada goose hunting through February 4 — unless the Ballard Reporting Area harvest quota is reached prior to that date.

The daily bag limit for geese in the Western zone is seven, and may include no more than two white fronted geese and three Canada geese. The daily limit in the Eastern zone is also seven, except that it may include no more than two white fronted geese and one Canada goose. The possession limit is twice the daily bag. Shooting hours are from one half hour before sunrise until sunset, except in the Ballard Reporting Area where shooting ceases at 3 p.m. from December 1 through January 26.

As might be expected, there is some misconception about the reasons for implementing more conservative limits in the Eastern zone. The lower harvest limits are simply part of a dedicated management effort aimed at restoring the eastern population to an acceptable level.

Kentucky is the wintering place for two distinct Canada goose populations, one considerably smaller than the other. The Western zone is refuge for the Mississippi Valley flock which has flourished in numbers, while the Eastern zone is host to the smaller Southern James Bay group which, because of over-harvest, poor nesting conditions and predation, has not fared quite as well.

Rocky Pritchert, waterfowl program coordinator for the fish and wildlife department, is quick to point out that the slow growth of the Southern James Bay population is a trend which can be reversed.

"We witnessed a similar pattern among the Mississippi Valley flock in the early '80s, when the population dipped to around 280,000 birds," he said. "Proper management techniques which included reduced harvest limits have rebuilt that population to a current level of about 1.3 million."

Pritchert hopes to see signs of a "tumaround" in the next couple of years, and points out that bag limits in the Eastern zone will be reevaluated when the number of birds reaches an acceptable level.

Kentucky's reduced limit affecting the Southern James Bay geese is part of a cooperative management effort involving several states which comprise the Mississippi Flyway Council and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Last year, Canada geese invaded Western Kentucky in record numbers and experts are predicting even greater quantities this year. Hunting in the western portion of the state is forecast as "excellent."

And let's not cast a negative shadow on the east — barring severe winter weather conditions, goose hunting in the Eastern zone is projected again to be good — much the same as last year. Hunting for ducks, coots and mergansers resumes December 12 and continues through January 6, 1991. Hunters should note a slight change in the daily bag limit — three ducks which may include no more than two mallards (no more than one female mallard or black duck), two wood ducks, one redhead and one pintail of either sex.

In the past, duck hunters could take one female mallard and one black duck. This is no longer the case. The change was made to afford added protection to mallard hens, insuring the potential to increase mallard numbers.

In addition to their daily duck bag, hunters may take 15 coots and five mergansers (only one hooded merganser) per day. The possession limit is twice the daily bag and shooting hours are one half hour before sunrise and until sunset.

Canvassacks may not be taken. Hunters are required to use non-toxic steel shot in Kentucky's Steel Shot Zone, which has been reshaped to include all of Henderson County. Steel shot is also required in Bracken and Oldham counties.

Waterfowl seasons, limits, and guidelines are set within and must comply with parameters established by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Those wishing to hunt on Ballard and Henderson/Sloughs wildlife management areas (WMAs) must complete and submit the necessary application forms by September 30. Forms are available from both WMAs, most hunting license outlets, state conservation officers and from the Central office in Frankfort.

Hunters are encouraged to obtain (and read carefully) a copy of the Kentucky Waterfowl Hunting Guide, which includes any exceptions to the standard statewide guidelines. The guide should be available from the sources listed above around the first of November.

CONTEST DEADLINE APPROACHING

Have you taken any interesting photos lately? If so, you may want to enter Happy Hunting Ground magazine's annual photo contest.

The rules are fairly simple. All entries must be "fish and wildlife" related and taken in Kentucky. People of all ages "caught in the act" of enjoying nature or hunting and fishing type activities make good subject matter.

Although 35mm slides are preferred, color prints 5x7 or larger may also be submitted.

Winning photos will be published in an upcoming edition of Happy Hunting Ground and each winner will receive a cash award. The Grand Prize is $150.

Complete rules and official entry forms are available from the Department of Fish and Wildlife's public relations division; phone 502-564-4336.

Entries must be postmarked no later than October 1.

PUBLIC HEARINGS SCHEDULED

Public hearing dates regarding early migratory bird and spring turkey seasons and regulations have been scheduled as follows: October 23, 9 a.m. — early migratory bird season dates; October 31, 9 a.m. — spring turkey season dates.

The hearings will be conducted in the commission meeting room at the department's central office in Frankfort. Those wishing to address either of these public hearings must write to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Wildlife, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601. If no written requests to be heard are received for a particular hearing, it will be canceled.

LIVE CALL IN SHOW SLATED

October 4 is the date for the next "live call-in" show on the Kentucky Afield TV program. The popular format allows viewers to channel their questions and concerns directly to a panel of officials from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The tentative line up of guests includes Commissioner Don McCormick, Division of Wildlife Director Lauren Schaff and Assistant Director Tom Edwards. Also on the panel is Paul Oliver, director of law enforcement.

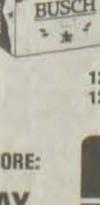

Kentucky Afield airs each Thursday evening at 8 p.m. on KET.

Belfry Pirates Defense Shines In Win Over Pikeville Panthers

In a steady rain at the W.C. Hamby Complex Friday night, the Belfry Pirates used two big defensive plays to turn back host Pikeville 21-13. The win evened the series between the two Pike County schools since 1949 at 13-13-3.

The Pirates took a 14-0 first quarter lead. After an exchange of possessions, Pikeville drove from their own 25-yard line to the Belfry 41. Junior quarterback Christian Caudill was pressured to throw the football into the hands of defensive back Keith Tincer who ran 66-yards for the game's first touchdown. Brad Barker added the extra point with 6:40 remaining in the quarter.

The teams exchanged downs again, with Chad Varney returning the punt on a run covering 39-yards, to the Pikeville 30. Danny Oliver gained 2-yards and Eric Coleman picked up 7 to make it third and one. Dale Oliver ran for 9-yards for a first down on the Panthers' 14-yard line. With the ball on the Pikeville 9-yard line, Oliver sneaked into the endzone with :59 showing on the clock for a 13-0 lead. It was 14-0 after Barker added the extra point. Belfry dominated the quarter, producing 62-yards to only 8-yards for the Panthers.

Pikeville took advantage of a rare Belfry mistake when Pirate quarterback J.J. Hylton fumbled the football and Pikeville's Shannon Cochran recovered the ball and ran 85-yards untouched for a TD. Jason Howell's extra point cut the Belfry lead to 14-7.

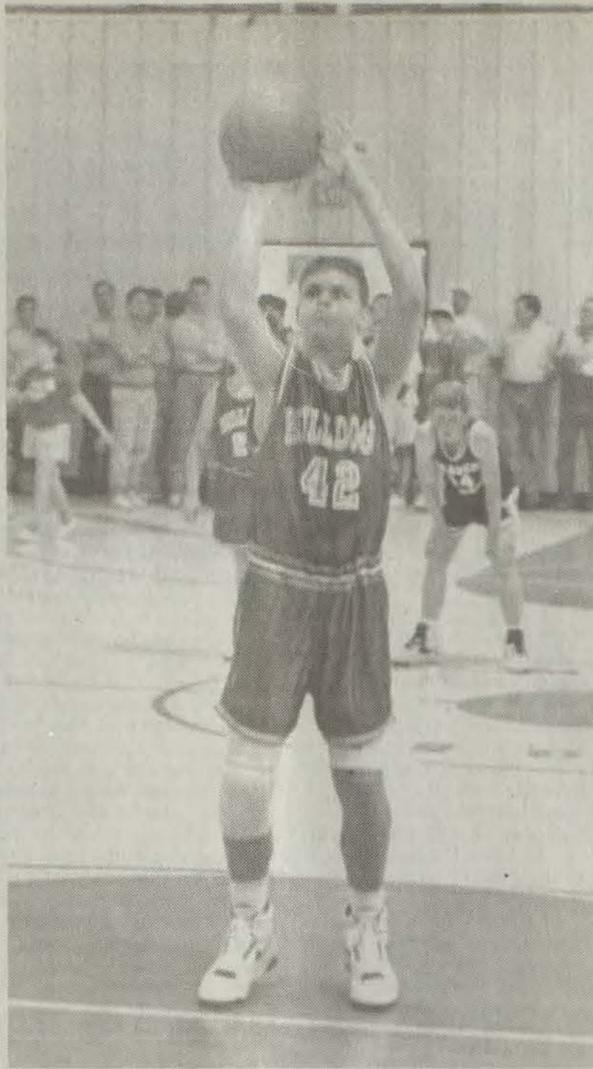

The Panthers second score came as a result of a fumble. Pikeville punted to Belfry's 9-yard line. On third down play Belfry fumbled with Pikeville recovering on the Belfry 10-yard line. Shane Allara bullied his way to the Pirates 1-yard line where Lance Rose plunged across the goal line for the TD. The extra point attempt was blocked and the lead was 14-13. It was Pikeville's time to dominate the quarter, getting 72-yards to Belfry's 18.

Defense from both sides dominated the second half. After an exchange of possessions, on third down Pikeville fumbled the football and Oliver scooped up the loose ball and raced 60-yards for a TD and Barker added the extra point for the final 21-13 score.

Rose carried the football nine times for 49-yards on a wet field. Oliver led Belfry with 67-yards on 11 carries.

Pikeville ran 52 plays in the game compared to Belfry's 45. The Panthers had six first downs as did the Pirates. The difference was on the ground as Belfry rushed for 137-yards compared to Pikeville's 50. Pikeville picked up 66-yards on five completions while the Pirates had no yardage by the air. Pikeville fumbled the ball four times losing it three. Belfry lost the ball all three times they fumbled. Pikeville was penalized four times for 30-yards and Belfry was set back 25-yards on four penalties.

Belfry, ranked 13th in the state in the latest polls, goes to 6-0 on the season while Pikeville is 3-2.

IS SUMMER OVER?

Well there went Labor Day, done and over. Now most people think that's the end of summer, but not the Corps Rangers at Dewey Lake. We know that summer at Dewey can last well into October. So for those of you who aren't ready to let the season get away here's some activities for you to get into.

According to our shelter reservation list we still have more than a month of summer left. The shelters in the Downstream Recreation Area have been booked up most of the summer and on into October. If you were one of those people that tried to get a last minute shelter reservation at the lake, you weren't alone. Many people tried and found out just how booked up we were. For now, there are still quite a few shelters open in October. What a perfect time for a picnic!

The lake visitation tends to slow down now that we're into September, but that makes it more enjoyable for those of you who want to getaway from it all and relax and enjoy yourself. It's still warm enough for that tan, but you don't have to fight the traffic and waves from all the other boats.

The fishing at Dewey Lake is good year round, but the best fishing is from now until the snow flies. A variety of fish can still be caught such as Large Mouth Bass, Small Mouth Bass, Crappie, and the ever popular Bluegill. So don't trade in that rod and reel for those shotguns yet. There's still plenty of time to catch that lunger that got away.

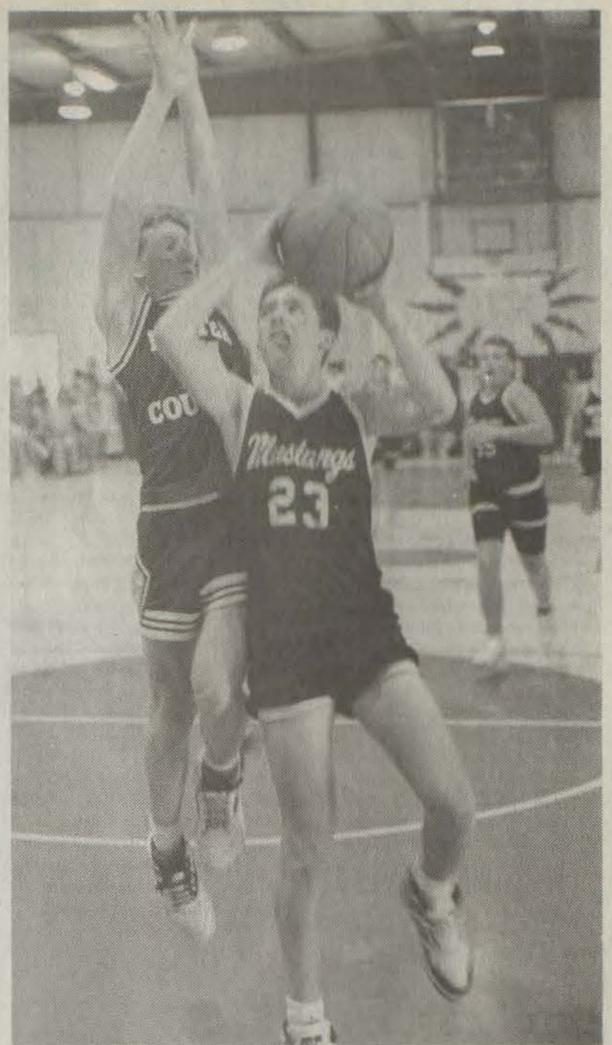

Now that the weather's getting cooler and the bugs are disappearing, a hike in the woods would be a great getaway from the pressures of back to school. The Jenny Wiley State Park has a number of well marked trails, for a map, stop in at the lodge.

Even though the kids are finally back in school and Labor Day is over, that doesn't mean you have to give up those weekend get aways. Come back and spend some time at Dewey Lake before cold weather and cabin fever descend upon us.

PERSONAL FLOTATION DEVICES

Since 1980, there have been 12 drownings on Dewey Lake. None of the victims who drowned had a life jacket or personal flotation device (PFD) on. Most of the people who died in boating accidents last year died within sight of land or help. Many of them owned life jackets, but when they died they weren't wearing one. The Corps of Engineers and National Safe Boating Council urge people who use small boats to make sure, before leaving shore, that everyone on board is wearing a well fitting personal flotation device. Federal law requires each boat have a PFD for each passenger, and if the boat is longer than 16 feet, wearable flotation devices and a throwable device must be on board. But if the life jackets are tucked under the seats instead of worn they don't do the occupants of a capsized boat any good. Most fatal accidents involved falls overboard or the sudden swamping or capsizing of a boat, that happened too suddenly to get into a life jacket. Once overboard, a life jacket keeps the boater safe long enough to climb back onto or into the boat. Statistically, your chances are seven times better if you stay with the boat until help arrives. Remember, the life jacket is your friend for life, but it won't work if you won't wear it.

Whoa Derrick!

Bassin' with the Pros

A Doctor's Excuse Started This Fishing Career

For years, Randy Dearman had spent his weeks working the oil fields of south and west Texas as a heavy equipment operator, and his weekends fishing for fun on Lake Livingston north of Houston.

Now a successful tournament angler and a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff, Dearman laughs as he looks back at how bass fishing took priority over oil wells.

"A guide on Lake Livingston booked four doctors for a fishing trip one day," says Dearman, "and he called me to take two of them in my boat. I refused, because I'd never guided anyone before, but then I finally consented.

"We managed to catch a lot of bass, and the doctors asked me to guide them again the following day. Again I refused, because I had to go back to the oil fields, but then one of the doctors wrote me a medical excuse to give my boss.

"I skipped work and took them fishing, and that's how I became a bass fishing guide."

That was 21 years ago, and today Dearman can look back on a fishing career that was often difficult but never dull.

"Guiding forces you to learn to locate bass under every possible condition," says the Johnson pro, "which really helps you in tournament competition. You can think back to a guiding experience under certain weather or water conditions, and apply that experience to what you may be facing in a tournament when you have a limited time to find fish."

One of the problems Dearman and a lot of other anglers faced earlier this year was rapidly rising water levels, due to heavy rains. Although rising water usually moves bass into shallow water, it can also present certain challenges for fishermen.

"When the water is rising rapidly, I try to find flat pockets off the main channel or even back in a larger creek. The water here may still be clear, and bass usually move fairly shallow. I'll generally use a spinnerbait, and cover the water quickly.

"This sounds pretty easy," Dearman continues, "but water that rises very fast scatters fish everywhere so you seldom find a concentration of them. You have to keep moving and casting."

Rising water can also muddy very quickly, adds the Texas guide, which forces anglers to keep moving. An area that is productive one morning may be unfishable that afternoon.

"The upper end of a reservoir where the water is generally more shallow usually muddies first," says Dearman, "so one solution is to move to the lower end of the lake.

"One thing to remember about muddy water, concludes the Johnson pro, "is that the creeks and tributaries that muddy the quickest are often the first to clear, too, so by the time the lower part of your lake muddies, the upper end may be fishable again."

Appalachia's Immigrant Miners

APPALACHIA'S IMMIGRANT MINERS

From 1900 to 1917, the coal industry was experiencing its first great boom and was actively recruiting foreign workers for mining operations deep in the heart of Southeastern Kentucky. Immigrants from Italy, Hungary, Germany and Poland settled in the mining communities of Benham, Lynch, Jenkins and McRoberts. With them, they brought their families, religious practices and cultural traditions.

It is the story of these immigrant miners and their social and economic contributions to the history of the region and to the history of coal mining that Ronald Eller, director of the Appalachian Center at the University of Kentucky, has sought to preserve through an oral history project.

"Compiling an oral history of the immigrant miners' contributions presented a challenge," Eller says, "because many of the first-generation miners are in their 70s and 80s and have left Eastern Kentucky to live with families in other areas." Others left Appalachia in the 1920s and 1930s when the first boom ended. The miners moved to other industrial areas such as Cincinnati, Detroit or Pittsburgh.

With the help of community and religious leaders, the Catholic Church in particular, Eller and his colleagues were able to compile a list of over 300 names and addresses. Each person interviewed was asked questions on a wide variety of issues. "Unless it is documented now, the social history of the immigrant miners could be lost forever," Eller says. "There are few written records which show the contributions these people made."

Some of the immigrants' contributions are still highly visible today through architecture in certain Eastern Kentucky communities. Eller says there are some beautiful examples of turn-of-the-century Italian stone masonry in homes and churches, especially in Harlan. Another visible example of the continuing traditions of the immigrants is the presence of the Catholic church in a basically Protestant region.

Although the immigrants may have differed in their religious practices from the native Appalachian population, religious devotion was a common characteristic. Another shared value was the importance placed on the family unit, both the immigrants and the native Appalachians believed strongly in a sense of duty to family and extended family, as well as religious duties. These commonalities appear to be responsible for the relative ease with which the immigrants were accepted by the native Appalachians.

Economically, the immigrant miners fared perhaps a little worse than their native counterparts. The immigrants often received slightly less money and worked more hours. Like the Appalachian-born miners, they worked primarily to feed and clothe a large family. And in many cases they were trying to earn enough money to finance a relative's trip to America.

At the height of the coal boom, immigrants comprised as much as one-third of the labor force. Coal operators favored them, Eller says, because the immigrants were willing to work longer hours and were less likely to join unions.

Some immigrants, however, were keenly aware that the company operators kept miners in debt with high prices at the company store. Opposing this idea, Hungarian miners in Martin County operated a cooperative mining company and company town in Himmlerville, now known as Beauty. This cooperative community was one of only a few of its kind in the United States.

Contributions such as this bring the role of the immigrant miner in Kentucky national attention, Eller says. And their presence in the mountains has helped historians realize and document that the Appalachian experience is not so different from that of people in other areas of the country. "I'm hesitant to use the word 'cosmopolitan,' when describing Appalachian life during the early 1900s," Eller says, "but native Appalachians were exposed to different religions, food, types of social gatherings — altogether different cultures."

Scout's Honor — you'll love this museum

Challenge, Adventure. A sense of history. A vision of the future. Where can you find all this — and more? At the National Scouting Museum in Murray. And, this year, the museum has extended its season through Nov. 30, so you still have time to check it out.

Just what will you find there? For starters there's Gateway Park, a 19-element stress-challenge course. Climb, crawl and creep through the park — or try something a little less strenuous, but just as challenging.

There's plenty to choose from — whether it's the Patrol Theater, an interactive computer game where your group rescues a lost child, or the Amazing Adventure, a maze where you might get lost yourself.

A little bit more serious is the Values Theater. This computerized exhibit explores complex personal issues, applying such Scouting values as trust, loyalty and helpfulness in real life situations. Using keypads at each seat, participants decide the story's outcome as they help the characters make difficult ethical decisions.

If you'd rather sit back and relax for a while, you might enjoy live storytelling.

Of course, there's also a taped history of Scouting "told" by Lord Robert Baden-Powell, the founder of the first Scouting organization in England, Ernest Thompson Seton and Daniel Carter Beard, early American proponents of the outdoor youth organizations, and James E. West, the first chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America. Life-size figures of the characters carry on a dialogue about the origins of Scouting.

Norman Rockwell fans will enjoy the collection of his works. The museum owns 45 original Scouting oils, one non-Scouting oil, seven original charcoal sketches and one lithograph print. Rockwell became an illustrator for "Boys' Life" magazine when he was 18. He produced hundreds of covers and illustrations for the magazine, as well as other Scouting publications.

There are other exhibits, too — from Murray the Robot, the museum's official host, to interactive touch screen exhibits to the more traditional offerings detailing the growth of the Scouting program.

Finally, there's Scouting Theater, a dramatic 14-minute multimedia presentation shown on large screens that surround the audience. This show features today's scouts and leaders discussing the ideals of character, values, leadership and personal fitness — and how they are actually put in practice in the Scouting program.

Whether you're a scout, or just like the outdoors, you'll enjoy a day at the National Scouting Museum. To find out more call (502) 762-3383. To find out more about travel around Kentucky call 1-800-225-TRIP.

Money available for home repair

from the Consumer Education Research Center

Most homeowners are unaware that regardless of their income there are federal, state and local programs that will help them repair and remodel their homes.

Government at all levels recognizes that neighborhoods are the basis of life in our country. When a neighborhood deteriorates, many things happen both physically and socially. Homes that are shabby seem to make a neighborhood more attractive to crime and criminals.

An area in decline is like a spreading cancer. As homes become run-down and in need of maintenance, the residents lose their desire to keep up the neighborhood. Streets become receptacles for trash, schools lower their standards and very quickly the selling price of homes in the area drops sharply. This accelerates the cycle of degeneration.

In order to keep and maintain the nation's housing and neighborhoods, government at all levels have programs to give homeowners money (that does not have to be repaid) for repairs or to lend them money at below market levels or at no interest.

In many areas utility companies will do energy conservation work free or at low cost and in other places will lend homeowners money at no interest to pay the contractor of their choice for the necessary work. In addition there are tax incentives to promote efficient energy use.

These programs are not restricted to low-income people, slum areas or urban neighborhoods. Owners of single or multi-family dwellings are eligible for some programs regardless of income. Most of the loans offer long terms and low payments.

Some of the other home improvements covered under these programs are: attic and wall insulation, new windows, outerwall siding, security doors and lock, window guards, side-walks and masonry work, bathrooms and kitchens, electrical and plumbing work, new roofs, gutters or downspouts.

Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, has just published "Consumers Guide to Home Repair Grants and Subsidized Loans," a 208-page book which lists over 8,500 sources of loan and grant programs. The book can be obtained for $10.95 plus $2 shipping and handling from CERC GRANTS, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050 or by calling 1-800-USA-0121 for credit card order.

CBS visits Alice Lloyd

A television crew from the Charles Kuralt "CBS NEWS Sunday Morning" program recently spent three days interviewing students and other persons associated with the Alice Lloyd College and The June Buchanan School.

According to Joan Snyder, production editor, they heard about the college and the marvelous things that were happening on the campus. Snyder indicated they were especially impressed "with the feeling of service and leadership upon which the entire philosophy of the college has been built."

After several conversations with President Mullinax, Snyder felt this was the type of story "Sunday Morning" was looking for.

The segment of Alice Lloyd College and The June Buchanan School is scheduled to air at 9 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 30 on "CBS NEWS Sunday Morning."

In the event the program does not air on that date, it will air in the near future.

Free preventative dental treatment for KY kids

Hundreds of Kentucky's children will receive free dental sealants as part of a nationwide program sponsored by the Children's Miracle Network Telethon and Johnson & Johnson Professional Dental Care, a division of Johnson & Johnson Consumer Products, Inc. Due to the University of Kentucky Hospital's affiliation with the Telethon, faculty from the UK Pediatric Dental Clinic will volunteer their services to apply the sealants.

Dental sealants, recommended by the American Dental Association are thin, liquid plastic coatings. When applied, the sealant flows into the teeth's grooves and seals the chewing surfaces of the back teeth. Because food and bacteria can't penetrate this coating, sealants can provide 100 percent protection from decay of these surfaces.

Working with many organizations, the Johnson & Johnson Professional Dental Care FUND FOR KIDS program will provide enough dental sealant to treat up to 50,000 children nationwide, who might not otherwise receive this preventative treatment. Children will be selected to participate on the basis of financial need.

"Most dental decay among children occurs on the chewing surfaces of back teeth," said Dr. Gerald Ferretti, director, UK Pediatric Dental Clinic and FUND FOR KIDS volunteer. "The most effective protection for the biting surfaces of these teeth are dental sealants." Ferretti and other volunteers hope to treat as many as 500 children at several clinic sites. Two of these sites include the UK Pediatric Dental Clinic and the Family Care Center.

Other sponsors of this program include the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry and the American Dental Hygienists' Association. Volunteers from these organizations, and qualified public health clinics and dentists from the private sector will also participate in the effort to provide this treatment.

Dentists who purchase Johnson & Johnson Professional Dental Care products and are interested in sponsoring children can obtain more information by calling Johnson & Johnson at 1-800-526-3967.

TO THE VOTERS OF EDUCATIONAL DISTRICT #1

You should be aware that eight million dollars has been made available for construction or improvements of school facilities in our district. This has come about through the efforts of state and local officials and from your tax dollars. My opponent and I are totally opposed to one another as to how this money should be spent. James D. Adams desires to use what would represent almost the entire amount on one project. A new high school, outside of Prestonsburg several miles. He desires to spend nearly 500,000 just for the site alone. The development cost and the cost for the water and sewage facilities would most likely run this total site development to nearly $2,000,000. NEARLY ONE FOURTH THE TOTAL MONEY ALLOTTED! Past experience has shown that much more money will be spent for additional contracts and unforeseen costs before the project begins or before the first block has been laid. This would then mean that the total allotted money would be spent on one project.

This money, if spent this way, would preclude any significant opportunity to improve the remaining schools in our district for many years.

THERE IS A BETTER WAY!

I propose that this money be spent in the following manner.

- 1—To renovate and expand the existing high school so that our children have one on par with any school in this area. Build additional classrooms and renovate what is now the biggest gymnasium in this region. This would provide the classroom facilities so needed to offer a curriculum second to none!
- 2—To renovate and expand the facilities of the sixty-three year old building at Auxier. This structure seems to have been forgotten by the board! Before this even begins, the children of this community would be provided transportation and allowed to attend the new middle school.
- 3—While the Clark school is the newest of the three grade schools, it is by no means without needs. Update and improve facilities to prepare these students for their future.
- 4—We will be able to renovate the Prestonsburg facility and finally close the "dungeon" in the basement that fills with water when it rains.

I am proposing that we meet as a community with the teachers, parents and citizens, and students to study what the needs are for these schools. Hear the input from each of these groups and once again make these schools your schools. Through this type of action we can once again achieve pride in our schools. We can become a part of the education process of our children along with their teachers.

However, none of this can happen without your help on November 6th. It's YOUR TAX MONEY, it's YOUR CHILDREN, it's YOUR RIGHT TO BE INVOLVED in what is happening in YOUR SCHOOL. Let's restore sound wisdom to the use of our tax money while having better schools for all our children.

REMEMBER IN NOVEMBER!

Parents warned to look for lice

It seems that school has been in session for no time at all, but the incidence of head lice increases as soon as the kids start hugging and horsing around. Incidents of head lice have already cropped up in some schools within the county, and with the new "nit-free" policy adopted by the board, children are being sent home if they are infested. Jennifer Martin, nurse for the Floyd County school district advises parents there are some precautions that can be taken.

In a letter to parents, Martin explained that "head lice infestation can spread through the entire school or community even if one child arrived with lice." The regular onslaught affects schoolchildren from the ritziest suburbs to the most remote rural area, from the richest to the poorest of families. "Most people associate lice with unclean people or homes," continued Martin. "This is not true in the case of head lice."

Once they are established, frequent bathing or shampooing will not prevent or eliminate head lice. According to Martin, the first line of defense can be a good offense. Children should be warned against sharing hats, clothing or grooming aids, since lice are usually transmitted by contact with such items.

Parents need to check their children's head regularly. Martin describes a louse as "about the size of a sesame seed," which makes it difficult to spot. Light brown in color and averse to light, lice blend very easily into a child's hair, she says. Thus, she suggests parents look for nits, or lice eggs, which are "tiny yellowish-white oval specks attached to the hairshaft." She says that the female louse deposits her eggs in a cement-like fashion to the hair and cannot wash off or blow away.

Though found throughout the hair, lice are most often situated near the nape of the neck, behind the ears and on the crown of the head. A magnifying glass and natural light can assist parents when looking for lice, Martin explains.

The primary symptom of lice infestation, she says, is the itching caused when the insects bite and suck blood from the scalp. She cautions parents to watch to see if their children scratch their heads frequently and to look for red bite marks or scratch marks on the scalp and neck.

If one family member is found to have lice, all other members of the family should also be checked and treated at the same time, said Martin. The next step is to purchase a lice-killing shampoo and apply the preparation to all family member's hair. Some products are available over-the-counter, but a doctor's prescription may also be obtained.

Unfortunately, lice cannot be simply washed away. Even though the shampoo may kill the lice, the nits can live on, unless a fine-toothed comb is used to ferret them out. Martin advises parents to take a one-inch-wide strand of wet hair at a time and rake the comb from the scalp to the end of the strand, wiping the nits from the comb with a tissue.

Cleaning the hair is not enough, warns Martin. The lice may have gotten on clothes, toys, linens and furniture. Everything that can be washed should be, and lice sprays should be applied to mattresses and other upholstered furniture.

Instead of being frustrated or angry, parents simply need to accept that lice and children often go together and start from there to tackle the problem. Parents should remain vigilant throughout the year, periodically checking their children's heads. And always remember: It's no disgrace to get them, but it is a disgrace to keep them.

Head Lice. Easier To Control Than Common Dandruff.

THE PARANOIA ZONE

Even those who consider themselves the most sane sometimes get a bout of paranoia. When mine hits it usually strikes something like this:

I get up in the morning, already running behind time, and discover everything I planned to wear is more wrinkled than a Shar-pei pup. So, I drag out the iron and board and proceed to remove those wrinkles and dress for work (I have even been known to iron the clothes while they are on me to save time).

Moving like a white tornado, I get everyone dressed, fed and ready to roll. About 100 feet from my destination, the paranoia hits. With a lump in my throat, I start imagining I didn't turn off the iron, unplug the electric curlers or flip off the switch on the coffee machine. They say electricity can be your friend, until you're too stupid to know when to discontinue the use of that friend and consequently fry your belongings.

Turning things off is kind of like locking the front door, you do it so automatically that sometimes you can't remember if you did it or not. Those subconscious actions have a tendency to slip your mind.

As you struggle to remember the slight movement it takes to unplug the iron, the more paranoid you get. I always begin to picture everything in my house burning up. Everything I've held so dear and close to my heart. Some things I wouldn't mind losing, but others are oh, so irreplaceable.

After sweating bullets for about ten minutes attempting to rack the memory of electric disconnection from my subconscious, I grab my purse and head for the door hollering "I'm sorry, I need to run home for just a second and I'll return ASAP."

Of course when you are in a hurry, nothing is cooperative. It's funny how inanimate objects can be so hateful. Such things as keys, refuse to work and your fingers cannot perform the simplest task. "Sorry, no manual dexterity today Kim. Why, did you need us?"

Trying not to miss too much work because of some silly paranoia, I drive too fast. Here I am worrying about my house burning down when my immediate concern should be getting home without killing myself.

I get home, and again the keys refuse to work. So, I shove on the door thinking that will help. All it helps me do is fall through the dam door when the lock finally does loosen. I rush over to the coffee pot thinking it may already be to late and... I'll be, I did remember to turn it off.

Next on the list, electric curlers (I love and need those curlers and would really hate to buy a new set). Thank goodness, they are off too.

Then I remember the iron may still be on. Those things are dangerous and really could burn the house down. So I race through the house, stub my toe on the kitchen chair, hop down the hall on one foot, lose my balance and fall into the wall as I open the bedroom door. What a day, what a morning!

I look, and lo and behold there is no iron, or ironing board for that matter. Wait a minute, I really am paranoid. Maybe I didn't even use the little, menacing appliance this morning. No my clothes are pressed, I must have. I really am losing my mind... I not only unplugged it, but I put it away.

Amazing, I had actually turned, flipped and unplugged the appropriate switches and cords today. And, I wasted a trip home. With the price of gas these days, that is a major hardship.

My mother tries to convince me it's old age. I still like to think of it as my little safety friend visiting again. Okay, I'm paranoid. I can't help it though, I'm losing my mind.

Till next week, flip those switches off, unplug those curlers and irons and drive safely.

When back-to-school for kids means back-to-lunchbox packing for parents, there can never be too many tips for moms or dads trying to keep a good balance between nutrition, food safety, variety, convenience and things their kids will actually eat!

The formula for nutritional success is fairly simple. A child's lunch should include a protein-rich food, a complex carbohydrate (often bread), a fruit and/or vegetable, and a dairy food (usually milk) each day. Just remember to avoid excessive amounts of fats, salt or sugar, and try to maintain variety in the foods you pack.

Eye appeal ranks with taste appeal in child-pleasing school lunches, so consider distinctive shapes, colors and serving ideas. Make a kabob of meat and fruit pieces on a wooden stick. Raw vegetable slices make great finger foods. Or, cut whole wheat bread into shapes of animals with a cookie cutter. Pack colorful containers, napkins and straws for added interest.

Keeping your child's lunch fresh until lunchtime is an important concern. Here are some tips for lunch box food safety:

- Select a sturdy, easy to clean lunch box.
- Keep the food preparation area extremely clean.
- Use only the freshest foods and avoid leftovers more than one day old.
- Keep cold food cold and hot foods hot. Use a thermos for hot or cold foods, and small sized, reusable ice packs can help keep a lunch box chilled.
- Pack foods into the lunch box as close as possible to the time your child leaves for school. Or pack the lunch the night before and place the whole lunch box in the refrigerator overnight.

— Clean the lunch box and any containers thoroughly with hot, sudsy water each day. Avoid reusing plastic bags.

— Teach your child the hazards of saving leftover lunch foods to eat in the afternoon.

Whenever the kids crave something sweet or unexpected guests arrive, it's easy to whip up a homemade snack cake. Whatever the occasion, opt for one made with the convenience and healthful goodness of an oat bran muffin mix.

Carrot Pineapple Snack Cake is just the recipe to have on hand to satisfy a sweet tooth and provide needed fiber.

Best of all, for those counting calories and watching their cholesterol intake, the cake is delicious when prepared with the two egg whites and served with a light dusting of confectioners' sugar instead of the icing.

CARROT PINEAPPLE SNACK CAKE

1 egg or 2 egg whites, beaten
1 can (8-1/4 oz) crushed pineapple in its own juice, drained (reserve 3 tablespoons juice)
1/2 cup grated carrots
1 package (7 oz) Oat Bran Muffin Mix

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease an 8-inch square baking pan. In mixing bowl, combine beaten egg or egg whites, pineapple, reserved juice and carrots. Blend in muffin mix just until moistened. Pour batter into prepared pan.

Bake 24 to 26 minutes or until golden brown and cake begins to pull away from sides of pan. Cool in pan on wire rack. Spread with Lowfat Cream Cheese Icing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

LOWFAT CREAM CHEESE ICING

In mixing bowl, combine 3 oz. softened Neufchatel cheese and 2 tps honey. Blend well.

Snacks play an important part in the daily diet of active youngsters. Since snacking habits learned at an early age may carry through to adulthood, it is important to teach children to snack wisely. Having sensible snacks on hand helps them choose great-tasting foods that will not spoil dinnertime appetites and can provide important nutrients.
"Homework Helper" Snack Mix gets high grades in taste and nutrition. It is a chewy/crunchy combination of Oat Squares Cereal, dried apple chunks and raisins lightly sweetened with brown sugar and cinnamon.

"HOMEWORK" HELPER SNACK MIX

2 Tbsps margarine
1 Tbsp firmly packed brown sugar
1 tsp cinnamon
4 cups Oat Squares cereal
1 cup firmly packed dried apple chunks
3/4 cup raisins.

HOW MICROWAVE OVENS WORK
by Dr. Charles Robertson
Professor of Physics, PCC
Have you ever wondered how a microwave oven can cook food so much faster than a conventional oven while using a lot less energy? To understand this situation, we need to understand the nature of heat waves and microwaves.

Heat waves and microwaves are kinds of electromagnetic waves. Electromagnetic waves consist of wavelike variations in electric and magnetic fields. These waves travel

November wedding planned

Julie Bond-Meers of Chapel Hill, N.C., and Ben Patterson of Tallahassee, Fla., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lillian Frances Patterson, to George Hamilton V, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton IV of Nashville, Tenn.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of the late Dorothy Curtis Bond-Meers of Winter Park, Fla., the great-granddaughter of Dr. Charles Franklin Bond and Cordelia Tackett Bond of Prestonsburg and the great-great-granddaughter of Jasper and Sara Tackett of Long Fork Creek.

The prospective groom is the a singer/songwriter and currently writing for High Harmony, Inc. He has just returned from an engagement in Poland. He will be performing in England for most of October.

The wedding will be on Saturday, Nov. 17 in the mountains of North Carolina.

at the speed of light — in fact light is also a form of electromagnetic wave. So are many other familiar waves: X-rays, radio and TV waves, radar waves, infrared, ultraviolet, etc. (Sound is not electromagnetic).

In a conventional oven, heat from the gas burner or electric heating element warms the air in the oven, the interior surface, and the baking pan. The food being cooked receives some heat from the hot air in the oven, but gets most of its heat through the pan. The heat reaches the interior of the food by a process called conduction. As the surface of the food gets warmer, its molecules vibrate faster. They collide with neighboring molecules, causing them to vibrate faster. As this continues, heat is gradually transferred toward the center of the food. The conduction process is slow, so the surface of the food has more time to get hot, and will get more "done" than the center.

There are two notable results of the process just described. One, is that only a small fraction of the heat ever reaches the food. The rest heats the walls and door of the oven, and eventually works its way out into the room by conduction. The other, is that all of this takes a lot of time because the heat that does reach the food must travel by conduction from the surface to the center. Can you see why baking nails stuck through a beef roast or a large potato can reduce the cooking time? Never use them in a microwave oven, though.

What happens in a microwave oven is very different. Instead of beginning with the production of heat, it begins with the production of microwaves. Although heat waves and microwaves are both kinds of electromagnetic waves, they have very different wavelengths. This results in major differences in the way they interact with various materials.

Heat waves are absorbed by most substances to varying degrees; thus the food, the pan, the rack, and the inside surfaces of the conventional oven all absorb heat and become hot. Microwaves are reflected by metals, absorbed by water molecules, and generally pass through most other substances. They are able to penetrate food to a depth of one or two inches and are absorbed by the water molecules in the food.

This results in the food getting hot quickly to a depth of one to two inches. For a large item such as a roast, the center must wait for conduction to bring the heat to it. In a conventional oven, the heat waves don't penetrate very far at all, and all of the interior of the food must wait for conduction to heat it. This explains why microwave ovens cook faster.

Why are microwave ovens so much more efficient? It's because energy is not wasted in heating the air, the inside walls, and the food container. The energy goes directly to heat the food. The air may become slightly warm, and the container may get hot where it touches the food, but that is only because these substances conduct some heat away from the hot food. So the food ends up getting most of the energy, making the microwave oven much more efficient than a conventional oven.

Why isn't it dangerous to stick your hand inside the microwave oven immediately after it has been cooking? Because when the door is opened, a switch turns off the magnetron tube. The magnetron is the device that converts electricity into microwaves. It stops producing microwaves immediately when the power is turned off, just as a light bulb stops producing light immediately when it gets turned off.

There are elaborate safety features built into microwave ovens to make certain that the magnetron cannot be on when the door is open. Government regulations require this, because if you could stick your hand into the microwave oven while the magnetron is on, your hand would get cooked. Regulations also require that leakage of microwaves out of the oven during cooking be kept to safe levels.

Microwaves produced by the magnetron are scattered as they enter the oven so that they travel throughout the oven, going in many directions. Those that miss the food reflect from the interior surfaces and continue to bounce around until they do get absorbed by the food.

The more food there is in the oven, the more microwaves get absorbed on the first trip around and the longer it takes to cook the food. It takes five or six minutes to bake two potatoes in a microwave oven, whereas, four potatoes would take about ten minutes. In a conventional oven, it would take about an hour to bake one potato, and about the same time to bake several.

Why are some containers safe for use in microwave ovens while others are not? Deep metal containers are not suitable because they reflect microwaves, thereby interfering with the cooking process. Shallow metal trays are usually satisfactory, provided the food isn't covered with aluminum foil. In a microwave oven too much metal can result in dangerous sparks; if this happens, remove the metal.

As a general rule, paper, glass, ceramics and many kinds of plastic are safe in the microwave oven because their water content is low and they don't absorb microwaves much. The water content of pottery varies, so some is satisfactory for use in microwave ovens, and some is not. A dish that absorbs microwaves too readily is in danger of cracking from the stress of getting too hot, or if it is plastic it might soften or melt.

It's easy to check a dish to find out if it is microwave safe. Put the empty dish in the oven by itself and microwave on high for 30 seconds. If it becomes very hot, it isn't microwave safe. Otherwise, it's OK.

WAYLAND AREA SENIORS

The board of directors of the Wayland Area Senior Citizens met Tuesday, Sept. 18 at 6 p.m. at the center with chairperson Elmer Morrison in charge.

There was much discussion concerning the purchase of a hood and stove for the center's kitchen, and the director, Mildred Halbert, advised she would be checking on needed information.

Bonnie Hale with Big Sandy ADD was present and inquired concerning home-delivered meals. At present the center is serving 19 home-bound persons. The director also reported that the home-care nurse is at the center each morning for messages, etc. before starting on her rounds in the area.

Health care for the permanent employees was again brought up and a committee composed of Morrison, Jerry Fults, Lula Ratliff and Ernestine Hall will meet to attempt to work out something on this.

Board member Velma Bentley sent a letter of resignation from her office on the board due to the pressure of her other obligations. Ernestine Hall of Topmost in Knott County was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy.

It was voted unanimously that two additional board members be elected by the participants of the center, this to be done immediately, making a total of 11 on the board of directors.

Within the next two months, or by January, a inter-generational project will be undertaken by the Wayland Area Center.

A committee was appointed to formulate a policy for the center and its board members and participants to follow in the event of the death of a board member. Those appointed were Jerry Fults, Odie Perry, Libby Martin, Phyllis Fraley and Mildred Halbert.

It was reported by the director that Denise Blevins Quinn of the Highland Cancer Center spoke on cancer detection and prevention recently at the center. She also reported that Ernestine Hall, a retired nurse, does free blood pressure checks at the center each Wednesday.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 16 at 6 p.m. at the center.

Those present were: Morrison, Fults, Fraley, Martin, Hobert Bates, Perry, Lula Ratliff and Hall, directors, the three center employees and several visitors and Bonnie Hale.

Reception and reading for James Still at Appalshop

To honor the 50th anniversary of James Still's novel, River of Earth, there will be a reception for the author in the Appalshop Gallery at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 27. Following the reception, at 7:30 p.m., there will be a special reading by Still, accompanied by the music of Randy Wilson.

Originally published in 1940, River of Earth, is James Still's first novel. It is the story, as seen through the eyes of a small boy, of three years in the life of his family and their kin. Set in the 1920s in Little Carr, River of Earth depicts a family's struggle to choose between their meager farm with its sense of independence and the mining camp with its uncertain promise of material wealth.

As described by Dean Cadle in the introduction to River of Earth, Still's work "evokes the trials and joys of mountain life with effective images. The dialogue seems more for hearing than for silent reading; most sections of the novel read like mini-plays that could effortlessly come to life on a stage."

Still has lived in Hindman since 1932. In addition to his writing, Still has worked as a farmer, librarian and teacher. He has won many literary awards, and his novels, poetry and short stories reflect his love of the Kentucky mountains.

Randy Wilson is a folk artist in residence in the Leslie County Schools. He has performed readings with Still since the two met at the Hindman Settlement School two years ago. Wilson's music sets the mood for Still's passages and accentuates the reading. Their collaboration makes for a memorable performance.

At the celebration on Sept. 27, Still will read from River of Earth, as well as from his poetry collection, Wolfpen Poems, and from his latest work Man in the Bushes. Wilson will accompany the reading with instrumental selections of regional music on the banjo, guitar and dulcimer. Both the 6:30 reception and the 7:30 reading are open to the public free of charge.

Jerry Crank, winner of the 1990 Belle and Lynum Jackson Music Award at Marshall University, will perform in a free concert at 8 pm Friday, Sept. 28, in Smith Recital Hall, at which time he will be officially recognized for his achievement.

The Jackson Competition provides an annual award to a full time student currently enrolled as a major in music who has demonstrated a potential contribution to the field of music and society in general.

Selected each year by the Chairman of the Department of Music in consultation with a faculty committee, the recipient receives a cash award and also presents a public recital.

There are approximately 129 children in Floyd County who will meet this guideline that are not currently being served by our Head Start program, whose income guidelines are lower than the "free lunch" guidelines. PART IV
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The goals, objectives, and activities established for Floyd County Schools were determined through needs assessments which included achievement test (CTBS/4) scores, student attendance figures, and student drop-out rates.

These needs resulted in the establishment of the following goals:

Instructional Goal

All students will improve to a mean score of the 50th NCE in the basic skill subtests of the CTBS/4.

Instructional Deficiencies

The 1990 scores of the CTBS/4 indicate the following grades and basic skills subtests were below the 50th NCE:

Grade 1 Reading	47.7	Writing	48.5
Grade 2 Spelling	49.6
Grade 3 Math	47.4
Grade 5 Reading	48.2	Math	48.7	Writing	49.8
Reference	49.5
Grade 7 Reading	48.8	Math	49.3	Spelling	48.5
Reference	46.9
Grade 10 Reading	47.1	Math	47.1	Spelling	48.3
Reference	47.6

Comparison of total battery CTBS/4 scores 1990 to 1989

While some basic skills areas rank below the 50th NCE on the 1990 CTBS/4, a comparison of 1990 total battery scores to 1989 total battery scores indicates achievement growth at every grade level as follows:

YEARS/GRADE	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	10
1988-89	48.8	50.2	46.7	48.3	48.4	46.9	45.8	48.1
1989-90	49.0	51.3	50.3	51.0	49.0	50.1	49.3	48.4

The Master Educational Improvement Plan was prepared by a committee composed of students, parents, and school personnel. Improvement has been made in Floyd County Schools to the point that the Improvement Plan addresses student attendance for major focus in 1989-90.

Attendance Goal

The Floyd County School District will improve student attendance 1% for the 1989-90 school year, and 1% for the 1990-91 school year. (1989 district attendance was 92.86%)

ATTENDANCE DEFICIENCIES

The Floyd County School District had a percentage of attendance of 94.32% for the 1989-90 school year, which exceeded the state minimum requirement of 93.5 by 0.82%, but the following deficiencies are noted:

Allen Central High School	92.89
Betsy Layne High School	91.75
McDowell Elementary School	93.19
W. D. Osborne Elementary School	93.44

Attendance Improvement

The percentage of attendance for the 1989-90 school year was 94.32%. An improvement of 1.46% was achieved for the 1989-90 school year.

Student Dropout Improvement

The Floyd County School District dropout rate for 1989 was 4.22. This number has been lowered in 1990 to 2.79, a difference of 1.43% improvement.

When business slows down, some businesses stop asking for business.

They stop advertising.
That's like trying to read a book in the dark. Or holding a prayer meeting at the 50-yard line. Or getting the last word with a politician.
When business slows down, that's time to promote your business. Ask for customers. And tell them why they should shop your store. Maybe even offer specials to increase store traffic. Sound possible? It is. And the way to let your customers know is to advertise. Let us help. Call the Floyd County Times at 886-8506.
