In attempted murder of sheriff :

Little pleads to lesser crime

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man accused of trying to kill Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson entered a guilty plea to a lesser charge before his trial began Wednesday in Floyd County Circuit Court.

Greg Little, 36, of Water Gap, pleaded guilty to first degree wanton endangerment and resisting arrest and in return received a four-year prison term, plus he agreed to leave the state of Kentucky for 10 years after he has served his sentence. Patton also recommended that Little be sentenced to 60 days on the resisting arrest charge to be served concurrently with the four-year term.

Formal sentencing is set for Friday (today).

Before Circuit Judge Harold Stumbo informed Little of his sentence, the defendant offered his apologies and his hand to Sheriff Thompson.

"I'm sorry I caused this situation and I'm sorry for what I did," Little told the judge. "I was under a lot of stress; I had some personal problems and medical problems. I'm sorry I pulled the shotgun on the sheriff."

Little then walked over to Sheriff Thompson and the two men shook hands.

Little was indicted last year by a grand jury on attempted murder and first degree wanton endangerment charges.

Prosecutor Jerry Patton said he was satisfied with the outcome of the case.

"Under the circumstances, I'm satisfied," Patton said. "One, that the gun was empty, even though Sheriff Thompson thought it was loaded, and that, apparently, Mr. Little was under extreme emotional distress which is documented in the psychiatric report. I think this was more appropriate."

David Williams, Little's public defender, was also pleased with Wednesday's events.

"The sheriff's office decided to be lenient, but this is far more than a slap on the wrist," Williams said. "The man just lost it and he admits he lost it. It's fortunate that nobody was hurt. He was being treated at Mountain Comprehensive Care for a sleep disorder at the time and stress brought on by other things."

Sheriff Thompson agreed with Little's arrangement.

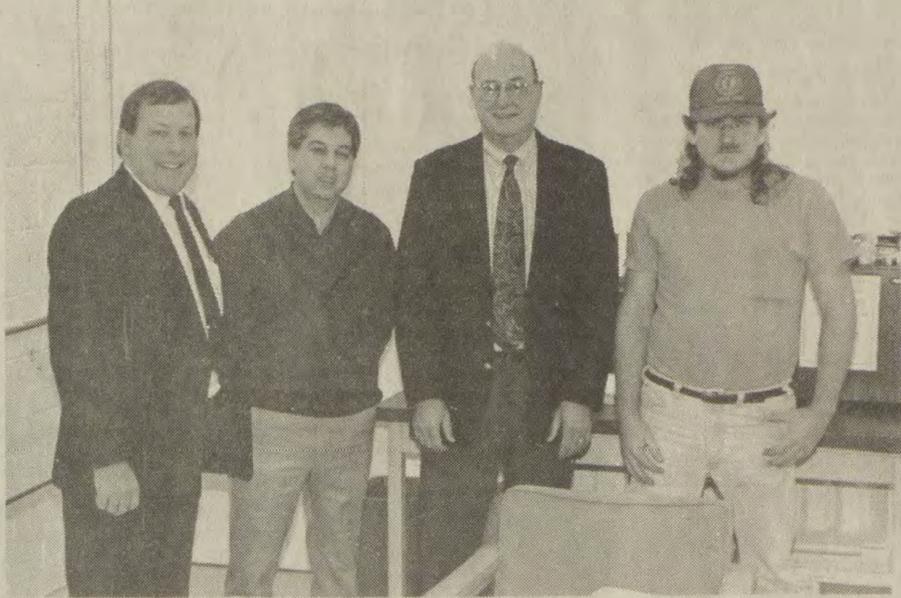

"Based on the psychiatric statements, one more year was all he could have gotten and I'm satisfied with four," Thompson said.

The incident happened January 25, 1992 when Little's wife called in a domestic violence complaint to the sheriff's department. The couple has since divorced.

Sheriff Thompson responded to the call.

"I was walking toward the residence carrying my flashlight when I heard someone yell 'put out that light,'" Thompson said after the incident last year. "I stepped from around the house and naturally, I turned my light toward the voice. The man had a shotgun pointed right at me. Then I heard 'click.'"

Thompson said he dived for cover behind a vehicle and that Little pointed the gun in his direction again and pulled the trigger of the empty gun two more times before putting the gun down and going back into the house.

Labor group to survey businesses

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Members of the Big Sandy Labor-Management Committee met in Prestonsburg Thursday with Floyd County Development Authority Executive Director Darrell Gilliam to discuss an upcoming comprehensive employment survey of the five-county area.

The Big Sandy Labor-Management committee is a non-profit organization formed in 1987 with matching grants from the Kentucky Labor Cabinet's Office of Labor-Management relations. It is made up of more than 30 representatives of both labor and management in Floyd, Pike, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin Counties, and is dedicated to educating managers, workers and the general public about the current state of labor relations in the Big Sandy area.

Committee co-chairmen Don Combs and Mick Crum, along with Martin Owens and Jerry Vaughan of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Development and Economic Authority of Pike County, met with Gilliam to finalize plans for the survey.

The 20-page survey, designed by Big Sandy Area Development District staff members Bob Lowendowski and Scott Richardson, will be sent to more than 100 businesses in the region. The survey will ask employers questions relating to current labor practices, such as wages; fringe benefits; absenteeism; work ethics; and occupational safety.

Combs said Wednesday that the survey was just one of six projects the Labor-Management Committee is currently developing, and that they should have compiled all the necessary information by the end of the month.

The Labor-Management Committee survey is a precursor to what the United States Bureau of the Census is calling the largest comprehensive economic census ever undertaken.

According to census bureau public affairs officer Robert Marske, more than 3.5 million American businesses have already received or will receive 1992 Economic Census questionnaires.

According to a press release issued this week by Marske, the 1992 economic census will for the first time measure activity in finance, insurance, real estate, communications and utilities. Also included in the census will be traditional questions covering such categories as retail and wholesale trade; service industries; transportation; manufacturing; mining; and construction industries.

The census bureau conducts an economic census every five years in order to help identify trends in business activity that are vital to measuring and encouraging growth in the United States' economy.

The data is also used to help businesses develop short- and long-term plans, calculate market shares and compare themselves to industry average. The locations of retail outlets and the design of distribution systems are also frequently influenced by the outcome of the census' results.

Death threat made

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Kentucky State Police are investigating a string of incidents aimed at the acting Wheelwright police chief which include a death threat and the vandalism of the chief's personal vehicle.

Acting police chief Bob Moore found a note in his police cruiser last month which said "Moore will die tonight." Moore reported the threat to KSP and trooper Jeff Anderson is investigating the matter, said KSP Captain Bob Forsythe. Forsythe said if anyone is prosecuted in the case the charge would be terroristic threatening.

Last week someone broke out three windows in Moore's personal vehicle which was parked in Wheelwright while he was on patrol. KSP trooper Terry Keelin is investigating that incident which is classified as criminal mischief.

Acting chief Moore is convinced the incidents are related to a controversy between the Wheelwright City Commission and suspended police chief Charles Harmon.

Harmon was suspended from his job by commissioners last month because of alleged policy violations and citizen complaints. A hearing on the charges against Harmon is set for Saturday, January 23.

In a related issue, city commissioners Andy Akers and Lowell Parker filed formal harassment

Harmon counters charges

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Suspended Wheelwright Police Chief Charles Harmon claims that harassment charges filed against him by two Wheelwright City Commissioners are just another chapter in a continuing battle between him and commissioners.

City commissioners Andy Akers and Lowell Parker filed separate harassment charges against Harmon on Monday, saying Harmon's charges are nonsense and that they filed the complaints because they were concerned about their safety.

Harmon responded to the charges Wednesday saying he has been the target of harassment for the past year. Harmon added that he was pursuing a lawsuit against the two men in federal court.

"As far as these charges of harassment go, I will agree there has been plenty of harassment," Harmon said. "I have been harassed for over a year by these fine city commissioners. These charges they filed are only another cheap attempt to degrade me."

"I admit I did advise these commissioners they would get what was coming to them and they will in a court of law," Harmon continued. "It does seem odd, though, these events took place on January 3 and they waited until the 11th of January to

Jury finds Bank Jo bandit guilty

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Several hours of grueling deliberation greeted jurors Thursday in United States District Court in Pikeville before they returned a verdict of guilty against Jeffrey Mullins, the man accused of robbing a Prestonsburg bank twice in less than two weeks, after a four-day trial.

Mullins, 34, formerly of Hi Hat, had been accused of robbing the North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg branch of the Bank Josephine on June 26 and July 8 of last year, threatening bank tellers and patrons, and stealing a total of $12,669.

Mullins was also on trial for the House Majority Leader Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, (left) introduced a resolution last Friday adjourning the House of Representatives in honor of the memory of Floyd Countian Jake Cooley. Cooley, a self-taught man, was an accomplished engineer who received many patents for mining equipment improvements in the 1940s and 50s.

Holiday Closings

The following offices will be closed Monday, January 18, in observance of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday:

- all state offices; and
- all post offices.

Note: The trial of John A. Fletcher who was charged in connection with a break-in at the home of Frank Adams in Prestonsburg will begin Monday with Floyd County Circuit Court Judge Harold Stumbo presiding.

Also all county and city offices will be open.

City revises water policy

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Martin City Council held the first reading of an ordinance Wednesday to revamp the city's water system in an effort to collect thousands of dollars due from delinquent customers.

Mayor Raymond Griffith estimated that "$30,000 to $40,000" is due to the city from unpaid customer accounts. The mayor added that if the city is to continue operating the water system proposed changes are necessary.

"At the present rate it's not going to stand up," Mayor Griffith said. "We keep going in the hole on water and it has to stop. We're not trying to make money; we just want to break even or someone else will own the water system"

Proposed changes include raising customer tap on fees to $250 for a five-eighths inch line and to charge the actual costs for installation of a one-inch line; adding a 10 percent penalty to past due accounts; and charging additional fees to reconnect water meters.

Councilmen Steve Jenkins and Ralph Frye worked with Glen Patton of the Big Sandy Area Development District to draft the changes necessary to keep the city's water system fiscally solvent.

Jenkins said the amended ordinance did not include any raise in city water rates.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, Mayor Griffith announced that the council is not considering hiring a July 17 robbery of the First American Bank near Ashland.

Despite Mullins' protests that he was driven to the crime by an addiction to crack, a cocaine derivative, and fears that he might have AIDS, jurors found him guilty on three counts of bank robbery Thursday after deliberating for nearly five hours.

The jury also found Ashland-native Roger Allen Clark, Mullins' alleged accomplice in the Ashland bank heist, guilty of aiding and abetting a bank robbery.

A second alleged accomplice, Darrin C. Dillon, 29, of Ashland, earlier pleaded guilty to one count of aiding and abetting Mullins in the July 8 robbery of the Bank Josephine.

Assistant United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky said Thursday that the three men face a maximum sentence of 20 years and a $250,000 fine on each count.

Mullins pleaded guilty last month in a U.S. District Court at Huntington, West Virginia to the robberies of the Huntington Federal Savings and Loan and the Ceredo, West Virginia branch of the One Valley Bank. He was charged with two counts of bank robbery and one count of the use of a deadly weapon in a crime of violence.

He was sentenced to 270 months in prison, followed by three years of supervised release and was ordered to pay restitution.

Formal sentencing for Mullins, Dillon and Clark for the Kentucky bank robberies will be conducted April 5.

file charges. It is also very strange that these charges were filed the day after the commissioners received notice that charges were being filed against them in United States District Court.

One of the commissioners who filed a complaint against Harmon, Lowell Parker, said that he did so because of safety concerns.

"I filed charges because I was concerned for the safety of ourselves and our families," Parker said Wednesday. "I'm not concerned with the issues this person is raising. We only want to live in peace and harmony and conduct business in Wheelwright. Nobody is interested in blurring his name. We're more concerned that his rights are not violated, as well as the rights of myself and others."

"When vulgar language precedes a promise I'm going to get something, to me that's a threat, but the law says it's harassment," Parker continued.

Parker added that he had "no knowledge" of any federal complaint that Harmon may be pursuing.

Akers says he has always been fair in dealing with the city's police force.

"I've been the fairest one of all to that police department," Akers said Wednesday. "No one has ever come to me from that department with anything that I've not tried to help with. Anybody can check on what I've voted for. I've always been fair and honest with everybody."

Harmon said Wednesday that no lawsuit has been filed against the commissioners in federal court.

A February 24 court date has been set for the cases.

Apply now for Mayo Nursing program

Applications are now being accepted for the 1993-94 Mayo Practical Nursing Program. All candidates must take the TABE test and obtain an acceptable score before an application can be completed for the program. An application fee of $15 is required. The test is given at Mayo every Monday and Tuesday at 8 a.m. There is no charge for the test. Deadline for 1993-94 applications is February 28.

Students who have applied before February 28, 1992, or wishing to re-enter and have acceptable TABE scores need only complete a new application at the Mayo campus in Paintsville.

Local incumbents file for primary

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Three incumbent office holders have officially filed to retain their seats in county and state government. Floyd County Circuit Court Clerk

Frank DeRossett, Property Valuation Administrator Lovel Hall and Coroner Roger Nelson filed with the county court clerk's office this week.

Also this week, the races for Constable in Districts One and Four expanded with the addition of one candidate in each race.

Incumbent Morgan Joseph joined the race for District One Constable and Green Wakeland jumped in the race for District Four Constable.

Candidates have yet to file for the office of County Surveyor.

new police chief to replace chief Hershel Lester, who died last year.

In response to a question asked from the audience, the mayor said that the police department is running smoothly.

"The job hasn't been advertised," Griffith said. "I was told by a judge that we didn't have to appoint one now and we're getting along pretty well so far. When we need one, we'll appoint one. Right now I see no reason to appoint one."

In other business Wednesday:

- council voted to give city employees a three percent cost of living raise. City clerk Johnnie Stephens said the pay raise would increase the city payroll by $162.69 per month; and

- the mayor said Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo had said he would assist the city with annexing a road at McGuire Camp where the city's new sewer plant will be built.

Councilmen E.P. Grigsby Sr. and Denzil Halbert were absent from Wednesday's meeting. The next scheduled meeting of the council will be Wednesday, February 10, at 7 p.m. at city hall. The meetings are open to the public.

Commodities may reach 1.56 million pounds for the quarter

Seventeen trucks carrying more than 278 tons of food will be rolling into Kentucky this month for needy families and also for soup kitchens and food banks throughout the state.

January's deliveries from the federal commodities program are just a part of the 1.56 million pounds of food allocated for Kentucky during this quarter ending March 31. The estimated value is just under $1.05 million.

During the same quarter last year, Kentucky received 2.3 million pounds of food valued at $1.29 million, said Commissioner Mike Robinson, whose state Department for Social Insurance oversees TEFAP—The Emergency Food Assistance Program—in Kentucky.

For January through March, 1,281,018 pounds of food valued at $870,493 and designated for low-income families and individuals will be distributed by 17 area development districts and community action agencies including the Big Sandy Community Action agency.

The other part of the federal commodities program will send 282,942 pounds of that quarterly total to over 30 soup kitchens and food banks operated by churches, spouse abuse centers, the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America and other nonprofit organizations.

Tuna has been added to the foods available to families this quarter, but it will not be here until March. Other foods expected are pork, rice, peanut butter, cornmeal, butter, orange juice, green beans, and raisins.

"People should be looking at the commodities program as only a dietary supplement, as the food stamp program is meant to be the main source of aid for people in need," Robinson said, emphasizing that not all commodities are available in all counties.

People with limited income should pay attention to their local media, which will notify residents of food distribution times and places.

Foods designated for soup kitchens and food banks this quarter include pork and chicken in limited quantities, applesauce, peas and tomato juice.

Overall, the 10-year-old surplus commodities program has been shrinking steadily since the mid-1980s, when some 45 trucks hauled to Kentucky each month an average 2.3 million pounds of milk, honey and other foods, and "government cheese" became almost a brand name.

"Cheese hasn't been available for some time, and the program has shifted from a distribution of surplus to the careful buying of supplementary foods for all the states from about $120 million annually," Robinson said.

A recent survey among states to show the need for more emergency food assistance program funds led Congress to authorize $42.3 million more, but how that will be shared among the states is uncertain at this time, he said.

Election registry to conduct seminar for candidates

The Registry of Election Finance will conduct a seminar for political candidates at 3:30 p.m., January 21, at the Big Sandy Area Development District Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg.

The seminar is designed to help candidates who will be running for office in the May 1993 Primary, comply with the changes in Kentucky election laws made by the 1992 General Assembly.

Registry staff will explain the forms required to be filed by candidates, how money may be raised and spent, and how campaign finance reports are to be prepared and filed with the Registry.

Additionally, the Registry has promulgated new administrative regulations which effect political campaigns.

Persons interested in attending the seminar should contact the Big Sandy Area Development District office.

Adult new reader project receives aid

The Kentucky Foundation for Literacy, Inc. has been awarded a $20,000 grant from the Knight Foundation in support of the state's on-going Adult New Reader Project.

The Foundation is a non-profit companion organization to the Kentucky Literacy Commission (KLC), an agency in the Kentucky Cabinet for Workforce Development. It obtains funding for special projects to enhance the state's literacy efforts and, since 1986, has contributed more than $800,000.

The KLC administers volunteer-based literacy programs in all Kentucky counties, including the David School's literacy program. The Adult New Reader Project, subsidized by the grant, includes leadership training sessions and funding for the publication of Slices of Life, a collection of works written by and for adult literacy students. Funds from the grant will also support the establishment of new reader ambassadors to serve as literacy recruiters, public speakers and leaders of new reader groups throughout Kentucky. The Knight Foundation of Miami, Florida, was established in 1950 and awards national grants in journalism, education and the field of arts and culture. Grant awards are expected to total $29 million in 1992.

Spring College-Community round table to begin

Tuesday, January 19, is the date for the first in the spring 1993 College-Community Round Table series at Prestonsburg Community College. The discussion will take place in its usual location, Room 102 of the Johnson Building on the PCC Campus in Prestonsburg from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Because January 19 is so close to a special date—the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King—Eileen Lewandowski, the series' moderator and organizer, has chosen to title this month's discussion: Follow-Up on the Dream.

The group will discuss the following: Has the dream Dr. King spoke of in his famous speech come true? Is it true here in the Big Sandy Region of Kentucky? Is it true at Prestonsburg Community College? Participants will include faculty members, students, community leaders and the general public.

For further information about the College-Community Round Table series or this program, call Eileen Lewandowski, assistant professor of Communication and coordinator of Appalachian Civic Leadership Project at 886-3863, ext. 403.

The man for the job

Oppegard miners' advocate, should be on board

He's been down in the "dog hole," out in the coalfields and fighting in the courtroom for miners' rights.

And now, Tony Oppegard of Lexington knows what it's like to be the one championed rather than the one championing for someone else's benefit.

A stack of letters floating around Kentucky and Washington, D.C., makes clear the intensity of feeling folks have for Oppegard. The letters—from federal mine inspectors, citizens groups, miners and coal miners' widows—call on President-elect Clinton to nominate Oppegard to the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission.

This commission with the long, bureaucratic title has a mission that is at its core simple—and vital. It is to help ensure safety at the mines. The five-member commission judges safety cases brought by miners and coal companies' appeals of safety violations.

Those who recommend Oppegard for the vacancy on the commission see him as a true advocate for miners, one who has long been vocal about safety taking precedence over production. The idea of safety first, of course, is nothing new, but it hasn't always received a warm reception during the Reagan-Bush years. The mining law, after all, recognized that miners are in the best position to spot unsafe conditions and practices and should be free from retaliation from coal operators if they express their concern or refuse to work.

Those are the miners the 42-year-old Oppegard has represented. He is the directing attorney for the Mine Safety Project of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund in Lexington and spent more than a decade litigating cases for the fund's Hazard office. Many of them were safety discrimination cases brought under the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act of 1977. He represented, in congressional hearings, widows and families of seven miners killed in the 1981 explosion at the Adkins Coal Co. at Topmost.

He has descended into the mines, including the "dog holes," those sites where miners will turn last for work. One miner recalled in his letter how Oppegard spent a shift alongside him in one of those mines, where the working places were only 29 to 31 inches high.

As one retired mine inspector put it in his letter, when it seems there is no one to stand and represent survivors when their sons', husbands' and daughters' lives are lost, "people like Tony will always be there to lift the survivors' hands and to (encourage) them."

If Clinton wants to build a government that will work in the best interest of people, with their health and safety given the highest priority, he can start by nominating Oppegard. He sees the world from the miners' perspective. After securing congressional approval, the next step should be to make him chairman.

Bring back prayer in school

Editor:
When I was in school, we started every day with prayer. No one was forced to pray if they didn't want to participate. Back then, we seemed to have less problems in school. We didn't have people selling drugs and bringing guns to school, nor were drug dealers on the street corners. Well then, due to the actions of a few people who don't believe in God, we lost our religious freedom of prayer in school. Look around in our schools now. It's common to read about a student being shot in class, or a teacher being assaulted. Drugs are everywhere in our schools, and people have lost respect for one another. Maybe stopping prayer didn't cause all these problems, but when we had the right to pray, we seemed better off.

Free to be wrong

Lottery board should correct error—independently

The Kentucky Lottery Corp. has made a mistake, and two key members of Gov. Brereton Jones' administration have pointed out how to correct the error.

The lottery's mistake was to enter into contracts with companies that have ties to L. Rogers Wells. Wells was secretary of the Finance Cabinet under former Gov. Wallace Wilkinson. He was a close adviser to Wilkinson when Wilkinson pushed for the lottery's creation.

Clearly, that association raises questions about possible political manipulation of the lottery corporation's contracts. That's especially true because some members of the lottery board knew of Wells' ties to the companies but did not tell their colleagues on the board.

That, in turn, could raise doubts in the public's mind about the integrity of the lottery itself. And that's exactly what the lottery corporation cannot afford.

In the circumstances, it seems clear that the lottery board should follow the suggestions of two key members of Governor Jones' administration, Cabinet Secretary Kevin Hable and Finance Secretary Pay Mulloy. They suggest that the lottery correct its mistake by canceling its contracts with the two companies. And they suggest that the lottery's attorney investigate the contracts to make sure there was no impropriety involved in awarding them to firms connected to Wells.

George and the Gorge

Setting aside natural areas for protection by the federal government was never a high priority for the Bush administration and ran entirely counter to his predecessor's political and economic creed.

So Mr. Bush's unexpected end-of-the-term support for including a 19.4-mile stretch of Kentucky's Red River in the National Wild and Scenic River System underscores again that the celebrated gorge through which it flows is a special place, and not just to Kentuckians.

Actually, the action was a long time coming. More than 17 years ago, Gov. Julian Carroll withdrew state support for a Corps of Engineers plan to dam the river for flood control, water supply and recreation. That was the culmination of an epic struggle in which an alliance of conservationists and local landowners, reinforced by national celebrities, stopped a project backed by much of the political and bureaucratic establishment.

The gorge's natural beauty and scientific interest were decisive factors. But the proposed dam was also burdened by the Corps' inability to prove conclusively that it was the best and most economical way to achieve its supposed goals.

Discussion of appropriate ways to protect what Mr. Bush rightly referred to as a "geological wonderland" has continued sporadically ever since. But recommendations for wild river status had mostly bounced around Washington "in" baskets until the President made his announcement.

The designation is by no means honorary. It would restrict development along the river and bury any notion that the dam might be revived. To make sure the Red River remains unspoiled for generations to come, the Kentucky congressional delegation needs to invest at least as much energy in winning approval for Mr. Bush's initiative as it does, say, in watching out for the interests of tobacco and coal. —Lexington Herald-Leader

by Rev. Timothy Jessen

Editor's Note: Rev. Timothy Jessen, who has been in Berlin, Germany, since January 4 as part of the Louisville Seminary's continuing education requirements, continues to discover the importance of the unity of men during his study of the church in Germany and how it was affected by exposure to various forms of government through the years. He will return home on January 23.

"Rassismus muss nicht in Deutschland sein" the sign scrawled on the side of a building in former East Berlin said. Berlin seems filled with graffiti these days, but this one I appreciated: it means "There must be no racism in Germany." While the Western press has focused much interest on the revival of Neo-Nazism in some parts of Germany, we have seen little evidence of that. Rather, there seems to be a desire to compensate for the errors of the past, by remembering the terrible tragedies of the Third Reich and by being compassionate and welcoming to people from other lands. This is extremely difficult for persons from the former GDR, because they were virtually excluded from outside contacts during that regime's 40-year rule. But, many things are beginning anew in Germany these days.

Today, our group visited Sachsenhausen, one of the notorious concentration camps of Hitler's Germany. While it had been presented mainly as an "anti-fascist" memorial by the Socialists, now a revision of history is taking place that takes into account the fact that Stalin also used the camp to imprison his opponents in Germany after the war.

But, the overwhelming feeling from Sachsenhausen is derived from the horrors of the Nazi period, when over 100,000 persons (political prisoners, foreigners, Jews, church leaders, Gypsies) were put to death here. (That is about the combined population of Pike and Floyd Counties, and yet it represents only a small fraction of Hitler's victims.) Though it was not primarily one of the extermination camps, it does have gas chambers, the remnants of a crematorium, a public gallows, and the shooting trench where uncounted numbers were put to death. One is repulsed by the senseless nature of this unspeakable brutality, for it seems largely to spring from racism: the notion that our country, our race, our nationality, is the only one that counts, and that all others should be despised, if not eliminated.

We also visited Wannsee, where the Nazis planned, with typically Prussian precision, the extermination of the Jewish race. After a while the pictures, statistics, bureaucratic paper work, and euphemistic talk dull one's senses to the immensity of this tragedy. Germans and all citizens of our world must face this horror, however, with the determination "never again."

We must never again discriminate against people because of their race, national origin, physical handicap, or political ideas. We must never again allow the disease to infect us that somehow we are superior to others who are different. And we must fight, with all that is in us, to insure that our world and our nation treats all its citizens fairly and justly.

It is necessary to remember from time to time these things, as horrible and distasteful as they are. And we must teach our children that "everyone is beautiful" in his or her own way, and has the right to "Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" as our country puts it.

It is fitting, having viewed the horrors of Sachsenhausen, and the demonic plans of Wannsee, to recall the Martin Luther King American holiday, in the land of Martin Luther. Christians should join with their brothers and sisters and with all races and creeds to celebrate our unity in diversity, and to ensure there is no "Racism in America" either.

I cannot be there for it, but the Presbyterian Church is planning just such an experience to celebrate our unity in a broken and divided world (Sunday, Jan. 17th). In these and many other small but significant ways, we seek to guarantee that the horrors of the Nazi Holocaust will be "never again." But, we must remember the history of Germany, America, and our world in this tragic twentieth century if that is to be so.

Pike man killed on U. S. 23 when car hits mountainside

A 64-year-old Pikeville man died Tuesday morning of injuries he suffered when the car he was driving struck another vehicle and slammed into a mountainside along U.S. 23 near Lowe's department store.

Arnold Roberts was pronounced dead on arrival at Methodist Hospital of Kentucky in Pikeville.

Mr. Roberts was driving north on U.S. 23, passing another vehicle, when he tried to merge from the passing lane into the right lane, Pikeville police said. He lost control of his car, and it struck another vehicle and hit the mountainside.

Mr. Roberts had not been wearing a seat belt. No one else was injured in the wreck. Mr. Roberts, who was the federal program coordinator for the Pike County schools, was the husband of Justine Akers Roberts.

Services will be at 11 a.m. today at Robinson Creek Regular Baptist Church.

Ex-Floyd judge hearing cases for Letcher's Collins

Former Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley will stand in for Letcher Judge Larry Collins, who was suspended last month because of his arrest on bribery charges.

Conley, who was a judge in Floyd County for 28 years before leaving office last year, began holding court in Whitesburg last week. Conley was appointed by state Supreme Court Justice Robert Stephens.

"Everything's been going along pretty good," said Conley, who brought his secretary and bailiff to replace those used by Collins.

The state Judicial Retirement and Removal Commission suspended Collins with pay last month after state police charged him with five counts of accepting a bribe as a public official. Police allege Collins accepted $7,000 and marijuana in return for protecting a drug suspect from prosecution and for promising probation for a convicted sex offender.

Attorney General Chris Gorman has said that Collins' arrest in November was only the "tip of the iceberg" in an investigation of Letcher County government. The investigation has continued for more than a year. —Lexington Herald-Leader

How HIV virus spreads

The human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) destroys helper T cells, which are critical to the body's immune system. The virus kills such cells by replicating within them, then budding from them, damaging their membranes.

The HIV virus

RNA: Contains genetic information to replicate virus

Inner protein coat: Protects virus' RNA

Lipid bilayer: Outer shell of virus
Protein knob: Binds with proteins on T cell's surface

Where AIDS strikes

- Brain
- Lymph nodes
- Thymus gland
- Lung
- Lymphocytes in blood, semen, vaginal fluid
- Skin
- Bone marrow
- Colon, duodenum, rectum

How it spreads

AIDS virus attacks a particular protein on T cell's surface and enters the cell

1 An enzyme converts the virus' genetic code (RNA) into DNA molecules

2 The virus DNA enters T cell's nucleus and partly replaces its DNA

3 Cell duplicates virus DNA along with own DNA

4 Under guidance of DNA and RNA made from it, cell produces new proteins; some are AIDS proteins

5 Proteins assemble into new AIDS virus, which escapes through cell membrane, out into body

Circle of Love

It was a heartwarming thing to see students who did not have money to spare sacrificing for the good of little children they had never even seen. Phi Theta Kappa's Circle of Love project provided Christmas gifts for area children.

Prestonsburg Community College's Phi Theta Kappa completes Christmas circle of love

"Santa lost our address," "Santa can't come here because we don't have a chimney." How would you explain to your children why they did not receive Christmas gifts? Luckily, 70 families in our area did not have to answer that question because of the generosity of students, faculty and staff at Prestonsburg Community College and the administration and staff at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Sponsored by PCC's scholastic honorary, Phi Theta Kappa, the Circle of Love project provided gifts for 70 families from Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, Floyd and for needy children of members of the single parent and homemaker's program at PCC.

Students and staff collected over 200 gifts given by faculty, staff, and students. Children not covered by PCC's family were generously picked up by the staff of Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Highway marker to honor former Gov. Combs

Eastern Kentucky may soon see a memorial highway marker honoring the former Gov. Bert T. Combs, if funding for the project becomes available.

"Right now, money is only trickling in but I expect we'll reach our goal of approximately $1,400 by late February," said Brian D. Thompson, chair of the fundraising effort.

The effort to raise a highway marker for Combs began in mid-1992, shortly after his untimely death. Although the marker program is funded through the Kentucky Historical Society, a budget shortfall last year made it necessary to seek outside help.

Thompson, closely associated with the Kentucky Junior Historical Society which Combs began in 1962, then decided to seek their help with the project. After consulting with KJHS Coordinator Susan Lyons Hughes and Mrs. Sara Walter Combs, he began the fund drive in December 1992.

"The state would eventually do it because he was governor, but this way we get to do it now—while he's still on everybody's mind," Thompson said.

The text for the marker is being drafted with a decision on the location expected sometime in March. According to Thompson, the marker will hopefully be erected at Beech Creek Cemetery in Clay County, a very appropriate place.

"It's not only the place where he is buried, but near where he was born," Thompson said. "He decided he wanted to go back, so it's appropriate to put the marker where he wanted to be."

Funds to build the highway marker will be contributed by KJHS chapters across the state and anyone else who wishes to donate by sending a check to the Bert Combs Memorial Fund at 803 Lancaster St., Stanford, Ky. 40484. The deadline for the donations is February 20.

"I believe that since he did so much for Kentucky, and especially Eastern Kentucky, it's important his accomplishments are recognized in this way," Thompson said. "Anyone who feels Gov. Combs had an affect on their life, and any Kentuckian should feel that way—because his accomplishments are all across the Commonwealth."

HRMC to offer Orthopedic services

Highlands Medical Offices in Paintsville will open an Orthopedic Clinic beginning Thursday, January 21.

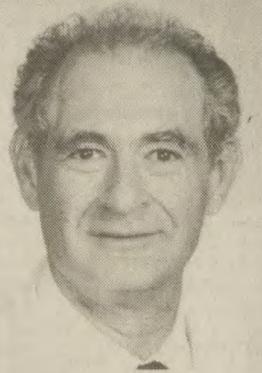

The Orthopedic Clinic will be staffed by Dr. Herbert Kaufer, Board Certified Surgeon and Chief of Orthopedic Surgery from the University of Kentucky.

Orthopedic problems that will be treated include arthritis or injuries of the lower extremities (hip, knee, thigh, calf, foot or ankle). Appointments will be scheduled by physician referral only.

Dr. Kaufer, received his bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan. He attended medical school and completed his internship at the University of Michigan. He also completed his residency in orthopedic surgery at the University of Michigan Medical Center. He was certified by the American Board of Orthopedic Surgeons in 1968. He served a four year tour of duty in the United States Air Force and then returned to practice as a professor of Orthopedic Surgery at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

In January of 1990 Dr. Kaufer was recruited by the University of Kentucky to serve as professor and Chairman of the Division of Orthopedic Surgery in the Department of Surgery, University of Kentucky Medical Center and has served in this position to the present.

Children's hospital

Kosair Children's Hospital is a 235-bed pediatric tertiary care, teaching hospital affiliated with the University of Louisville School of Medicine and part of the Alliant@Health System. The region's only level I trauma center especially for children, Kosair Children's is also the home of the Kentucky Regional Poison Center and has the area's only pediatric burn unit. The 67-bed neonatal nursery, special ECMO (Extracorporeal Membrane Oxygenation) team, cardiovascular surgery (including infant heart transplants), kidney transplant program, and intensive care unit dramatically set apart Kentucky's only full-service pediatric hospital. The hospital's leukemia cure rate is unsurpassed in America.

Auditions set for Jenny Wiley Theatre

The stage may be cold now, but it will soon be set with costumes, lights, music, dancing and family entertainment. Jenny Wiley Theatre's 29th Season will begin June 18 with the premiere of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella" and you can be a part of it all. How, you ask? By auditioning for one or several of the numerous roles in the acting company needed this season.

Local auditions, according to JWT General Manager Tedi Vaughan, are the starting point for casting the theatre's shows.

"Traditionally, we begin casting each year in mid-winter and the first place we look is right here at home," said Vaughan. "We always find wonderfully talented people who make our productions even more special."

Vaughan also mentioned last year's biggest hit for JWT, "The Wizard of Oz."

"That show simply would not have been the same had it not been for the local talent featured in it."

"Wizard" starred, of course, Pikeville native Misty Daniels, Allen native, Jodie Lynn May (Toto), and numerous Eastern Kentucky children who played Munchkins.

Vaughan urges anyone interested in auditioning for this season's productions to come to the first local auditions which will be held from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, February 13, in the Pike Auditorium on the campus of Prestonsburg Community College in Prestonsburg.

Interested persons should prepare a one-minute monologue and a two-minute piece of music which best shows their range and vocal ability. Having a second musical piece ready is recommended as well.

The first local auditions will be for teenagers 16 and over and adults.

Auditions for children ages 7 to 15 will be held in April. Also, applications for orchestra positions will be taken on February 13.

Musicians/actor positions for "Pump Boys and Dinnettes" will audition on the 13th. Be prepared to sing and play an instrument and present a monologue. "Pump Boys" calls for a lead guitarist, a rhythm guitarist, a bass guitarist, and a keyboard player.

The season's feature production, "Cinderella" calls for townspeople (ages 16 and up) for the ballroom scene. For these supporting roles, actors must learn to ballroom dance (don't worry, we'll teach you). There are also 6 male and 6 female roles for actors 16 and up.

"Foxfire" will audition two males and one female ages 25 and up. One male role requires some singing; the other roles are non-singing roles. "I Do! I Do!" will audition one male and one female (excellent singing required) between the ages of 25 and 40.

Positions are also available for the Apprentice Program for high school students between 16 and 18 years of age. Applications will be taken for members of the technical/production staff as well as for box office personnel.

For more information on auditions or for ticket reservations, contact the theatre at (606) 886-9274.

Jurich participates in research project

N. Roger Jurich, MD, who has a practice in Prestonsburg, is a Physician-Investigator in the Boston University Fever Study. This large, nationwide study was designed and is being conducted by medical researchers at Boston University to examine the safety of medications commonly used to treat fever in children.

Dr. Jurich is one of a number of selected physicians from across the country participating in this first-of-its-kind research project. The study was developed to respond to a request from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. It is the largest research effort of its kind, and because it is being conducted in doctors' offices, the results will apply directly to the care of children with common, everyday illnesses accompanied by fever.

Founded in 1873, Boston University School of Medicine is a private institution known for an extensive research program and excellence in medical education.

Childbirth classes offered at OLOW

Our Lady of the Way Hospital, in collaboration with the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association will begin the next series of six weekly Childbirth Education Classes on Monday, January 25, at Seton Complex from 6:30-8:30 p.m. The series will run through March 1.

The following series will begin on March 8. A maximum of 10 registrants will be accepted for the series. In order to secure a place in the class, it is recommended that you register immediately. Interested couples or individuals may register for the series that will begin March 8, by contacting the Community Health Education Office at 285-5181, Ext. 388, for more information.

These Parents Chose Mountain Christian Academy

Becky Burchett, Prestonsburg
Two children at MCA, Grades K and 2

"Our children's education is a top priority for us. With teachers working one-on-one with the students, we know our children are getting a good education.

We like the Christian aspect of the school. The positive and uplifting environment at Mountain Christian Academy creates an atmosphere where the children can grow and develop into well-rounded individuals. MCA truly puts the children first.

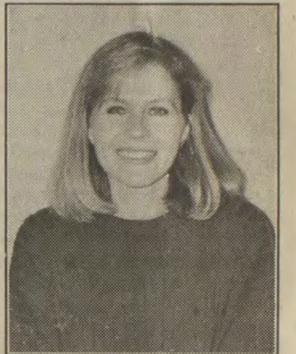

The parents and teachers are very involved with the school. Our opinions really matter."

Teri Allen, Allen
Four children at MCA

"We chose Mountain Christian Academy for a variety of reasons but primarily for its Christian orientation. We have a Christian home and it is important to us that our children be able to combine the Christian aspect of their lives with their academic education. It means a lot to us that our children can pray at school, have inter-denominational Christian assemblies and Christian Education classes.

We find far fewer disciplinary problems at MCA and believe this is due to the Christian standards of the school.

The children are challenged academically but, at the same time, allowed to be children."

Terry & Liz Giese
Abbott Creek, Prestonsburg
Two children at MCA

"We chose Mountain Christian Academy for our preschool and kindergarten children because of the Christian values taught there.

Also, the small size of the school assures us of personal attention and care. We know they're safe there."

Alice Cole, Minnie
Two children at MCA, Grades 4 and 7

"I chose MCA for my children to attend for several reasons including the Christian Education Program taught every day and the close teacher-pupil relationships in small classes. The uniform dress code is also a plus.

My older child, now in seventh grade, was in the very first class at MCA and I am well satisfied with his academic progress. When my second child reached school age, I had no doubts about where she would go."

Jimmy Stumbo, Langley
One child at MCA, Grade 2

"My aunt was a teacher at Mountain Christian Academy and she was one of the best ever. I know because she taught me in school way back when. If MCA chose her for a teacher, I knew they had high standards. I definitely have not been disappointed.

My child loves MCA. The kids I work with in the sports program at the school tell me the same thing.

Although my son is only eight years old, he already realizes the importance of a good education. At Mountain Christian Academy, he's getting that good education and a strong sense of Christian values."

If you want this educational setting for your children, Mountain Christian Academy currently has limited openings in grades K through 8. Your child can make an academically sound transition into MCA's second semester if you act now. For more information, call Monica Schieber at 285-5141.

Pearl Harbor Day

On December 7, Mrs. Osborne's Biology II class from Wheelwright High School went to Lexington to participate in Pearl Harbor Day. They sang songs from the 1940s. Carrie Miller did the narrations and the rest of the class sang. Sherry Johnson, Amy Cox, and Stephanie Boyd did a dance routine to the song, "The Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B." Wheelwright High School was invited back next year.

Memories of WHS

FROM HAZEL RAINEY— CLASS OF 1934

"There were only ten students in my graduating class. Very little transportation. Few people had cars but the train ran twice daily. Saturday night was the highlight of the week. The hangout was the company fountain. The Methodist Church and young peoples' groups were a big part of our life. I left in 1940 to attend nursing school."

FROM DR. JAMES STEWART, —CLASS OF 1941

"I lived in Ligon which was the first bus stop in the morning and the last each evening. Always plenty of waiting time, so I did my homework then. The building was new and governed by Wayne Radliff, a strict disciplinarian. Frances Turner taught English and was a real delight. Walter Price taught biology and had a repertoire of bird calls to amuse us.

Classmate Cleo Caudill played fullback and was almost unstoppable. We beat Vicco 100-0, a national record for that season."

KET presents call-in on Kentucky College tuition policy

Cuts in the Kentucky higher education budget may bring about changes in tuition rates at Kentucky colleges and universities.

Kentucky college students and their parents will get a chance to ask questions and voice opinions about those possible changes with KET's Call-In at 9 p.m. Thursday, January 21.

Members of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education will explain possible changes to current tuition policy. Parents and students are invited to call the panel throughout the hour-long program with questions and comments.

College Tuition Policy: A Kentucky Call-In is a KET production.

Ober Gatlin

Members of Wheelwright Student Council visited Gatlinburg and Ober Gatlin where they went ice skating.

Run over by a reindeer

The Wheelwright High School students in Mrs. Osborne's Biology II put on a Christmas Carol. Mr. Bartley and Mrs. Woody helped along with Mrs. Osborne. The program was narrated by Rhonda Thornsburg, and a solo by Lora Smallwood. There was a song that was sung about Mrs. Osborne, that originated from the Christmas carol, "Grandma Got Run Over By a Reindeer." Some of the students were stunned that funny things were sung about her. The day ended with the principal giving away two bikes for perfect attendance.

Baby python

Two students from Wheelwright High School are preparing a cage for what will be the new addition to the Biology II lab. Doris Osborne ordered a baby python for the class and Jeremy Johnson and Terry Crager are preparing the cage. The cage should be completed in a couple of weeks and the python should arrive in early February.

TIP students

Student council visits Gatlinburg

On the weekend of December 4-6, the Wheelwright High School student council took a trip to Gatlinburg. Approximately 20 students stayed in the Days Inn where they enjoyed the indoor swimming facilities on their first night.

On Saturday, the students boarded the tram ride to Ober Gatlin. Once there some went ice skating while others rode the Alpine Slide or shopped. On the return to the hotel they were given free time.

On the return trip Sunday morning the students stopped at Pigeon Forge where they went shopping or took a scenic helicopter ride over the area.

The only bad part of the trip was the rainy and cold weather, but that didn't alter anyone's fun.

Book Review

Information courtesy of the Floyd County Library

Hidden Animals

by Amanda Leslie
Hidden Animals first displays a page filled with smudges of color. The adjoining page has only a cut-out shape—no color—and a clue is offered to the youngster to guess the animal.

When the page is turned, the shape is outlined on the colored page and the animal is revealed.

This is a good book to teach shapes and animals to young children.

Sitting on the Farm

by Bob King
Sitting on the farm, happy as can be,

I had a little bug on my knee.
The little girl in this rollicking song is just trying to eat her lunch.

But verse after verse after verse, one creature after another lands on her knee and—MUNCH! MUNCH! MUNCH!
There goes lunch.

Sitting on the Farm has rhythm. The action pictures keep the reader interested and chuckling.

This is a funny book to share with a child.

William Dustin Hammonds

Honor student

William Dustin Hammonds of Prestonsburg, a second grade student at Martin Elementary was presented a $25 check, January 4th for being an honor roll student. He is the son of William and Marlene Hammond. His grandparents are Harold and Gwendolyn Hammonds of Prestonsburg, and Roy and Geraldine Robinson of Martin.

Young Authors

Julia Taylor

The The Floyd County Times and the Department of Instruction of Floyd County Schools jointly feature the student work of Julia N. Taylor, a second grade Young Authors' winner from Charlene Nunn's class at Clark Elementary. She is the daughter of Timothy Taylor of Tazewell, Tennessee, and of Beverly and Dennis Oxford of Prestonsburg. Her book, A Year of Rhymes, was the winner in the second grade "poetry" competition. Her work is printed with permission. She was a room winner, a school winner, and a county-wide winner for the 1991-92 school year for her book. She received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond at a spring awards ceremony. Over 5,000 elementary and middle school students participated in competition throughout the county.

JANUARY

January blows the snow.
And we dig the snow with a hoe.

FEBRUARY

February, Cupid shoots a dart.
It makes people never want to part.

MARCH

March is the month we fly a kite.
It makes a pretty sight.

APRIL

April makes the rain drop.
The sun comes out and makes it stop.

MAY

May is the month of Mother's Day.
And mothers get presents in May.

JUNE

June is the month that is hot.
And I wear my shorts with a red dot.

JULY

July is when we have a parade.
Loud firecracker sounds are made.

AUGUST

August we go to school.
School is very cool.

SEPTEMBER

September leaves start to fall down,
Red, yellow, orange and brown.

OCTOBER

October is the month of Halloween,
And all the witches want to be mean.

NOVEMBER

November we eat pumpkin pie,
If we don't get some, we want to cry.

DECEMBER

December we have a Christmas tree.
Bright lights and ornaments we see.

Stand up and sing

The kindergarten classes at Mountain Christian Academy presented a short program at the January PTO meeting. The students demonstrated the many different types of learning that take place in the classroom. They presented the "ABC Stand-Up Song" in which the students use body motions to learn letters, sounds, and coordination. "A Parade of Colors" was used to reinforce the colors. Also, the "Number Cheer" allows for the use of loud "ball game" voices while using the numbers 1-10. These are just a few of the learning activities used to provide hands on experience. The students can learn while having fun. Geneva Bailey and Alisha Gibson combined their efforts and ideas so both classes learned along the same curriculum. The teamwork and sharing of ideas benefited everyone.

Community Calendar

Editor's Note: As a service to the many clubs and committees that meet in our community, the Floyd County Times' Community Calendar will post meeting and public service announcements. # Quality Education and Christian Values are Compatible

QUALITY EDUCATION

As a parent, are you seeking a primary school where your child can receive a quality education, one that can equip your child with skills and knowledge equal to or better than students at any other school in the United States?

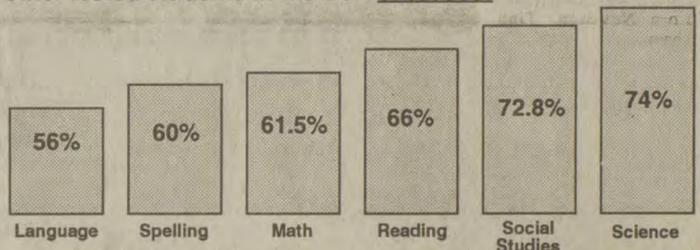

Some say that this cannot be done in Eastern Kentucky. Yet today, there is a school which is consistently getting the job accomplished...that school is Mountain Christian Academy at Martin, Kentucky (MCA).

Objective testing has demonstrated that MCA's students are academically outperforming the majority of students in all subjects throughout the entire country.

Yes, that's right: not simply outperforming those in our region or state but the entire U.S.A. Striving for smaller class size which allows individual attention for each child along with high parent-teacher involvement have made this possible.

National Testing Results

Based on average test scores, MCA students, in comparison with all other tested students in the USA exceeded:

CHRISTIAN VALUES

Adding to this important achievement, Mountain Christian Academy is accomplishing these advances in an atmosphere where prayer, belief in God and Christian values are presented as relevant to life today.

Every student participates in one-half hour per day of Biblically-based Christian education, through the use of pre-printed literature. These prepared materials are made available to every parent so that you may know exactly what is being taught. The teaching material is so Bible-centered that it is currently in use throughout the nation in schools of all denominations, Catholic and Protestant, including Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian and Pentecostal. MCA views Christian education's role as one to affirm what your child is taught in your own church, not to deny it.

At Mountain Christian Academy, quality education and Christian values are compatible, not in conflict.

If you want this educational setting for your children, Mountain Christian Academy currently has limited openings in grades K through 8. Your child can make an academically sound transition into MCA's second semester if you act now. For more information, call 285-5141.

Combined Final Notification and Finding of No Significant Environmental Impact

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) has received an application for financial assistance from the City of Allen, SA# KY920429-0633. The specific elements of this proposed action are the construction of a new wastewater collection system and 0.1 MGD wastewater treatment plant to serve the communities of Allen, New Allen, and Dwayne.

FmHA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of this proposed action and determined that the location of the treatment plant and some of the sewer lines would impact the 100-year floodplain. It has been determined that there is no practicable alternative to avoid this impact. The basis of this determination is as follows:

—The floodplain will be impacted by construction of the wastewater treatment plant and some of the sewer lines.

—The proposed improvements must be located within the floodplain in order to serve the proposed customers.

—All practicable mitigation measures have been agreed to by the applicant.

—The proposed action confirms to applicable state and local floodplain protection standards.

—The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, through its Community Development Block Grant program, and the Appalachian Regional Commission are also participating in this project.

FmHA has also determined that the proposed action will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment and will not prepare an environmental impact statement.

Any written comments regarding these determinations should be provided within 15 days of this publication to Mr. James B. Dunsmore, Acting State Director, Farmers Home Administration, 771 Corporate Drive, Suite 200, Lexington, Kentucky 40503-5477. FmHA will make no further decisions regarding this proposed action during this fifteen-day period. Requests to review the FmHA environmental assessment upon which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be directed to the FmHA District Office, 207 Shopping Center, London, Kentucky 40741.

HELP YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP WHENEVER IT NEEDS YOU

The word "help" is one of the most versatile ones in our language. It can mean something as little as holding a door open for someone, or as much as offering your services as a full-time volunteer to help the poor. Your local community is full of people and organizations in need of your assistance, and this list includes your House of Worship. When you think of all the blessings you have received there if you have been attending the services regularly, you will be filled with a natural desire to do whatever you can in return. This might involve making phone calls, typing the bulletin, baking cookies, painting the stripes in the parking lot or performing some other needed job. You depend on the Lord for many things; show Him that He can depend on you to be there when you are needed.

ALL MY CHILDREN: Jack skidded to avoid hitting a beautiful woman, who mysteriously disappeared when he tried to talk to her. Later, upset over his break-up with Angelique, and being fired by Palmer from Dixie's custody case, Jack bought a one-way ticket to Rio. Stuart and Gloria planned a Valentine's Day wedding. Doctors refused to let Dimitri see Erica, who was still in shock. But when Opal agreed to mention his name to her, she responded. "Ted" was upset by his flashbacks, and began to wonder about his true identity. Lucas didn't like the closeness between Taylor and Derek. Wait To See: "Ted" becomes increasingly agitated over a persistent flashback.

ANOTHER WORLD: Grant and Vicky were shaken by the assassination attempt, and she reluctantly agreed to remain on Spencer's estate until the culprit was caught. Ryan, who believed Carl was trying to protect, not hurt Grant, found another note. Tommy's mother arrived just before he fell ill. Christy overheard Douglas tell Frankie he didn't want to die attached to tubes. Vicky and Ryan were shocked to learn Grant had been kidnapped for ransom. Jack told Paulina, Sloan could be useful to them. Wait To See: Ryan feels he's on the right track toward finding the guilty party.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Although he called out her name in his sleep, Royce insisted to Emily that he didn't know anyone named Cynthia. Later, he told Cynthia over the phone that he hoped to see her. Nancy confided her story about Mac to Bob. Lucinda's attempt to tell Holden about Aaron was interrupted by a call from Lily. Lyla said goodbye to Cal after a last unsuccessful bid to get him to open his mind about the Navajo lands. Caleb was accepted by the police department. Wait To See: Emily is puzzled by mixed signals from Royce.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: While trying to get firewood, Brooke was caught by tumbling logs and lay trapped in the snow. Ridge arrived and searched until he found her. With Taylor's help via telephone, he was able to deliver Brooke's baby. Sheila secured the magnetic key while Tracy showered, but found she needed a personal code I.D. number to open the genetics lab. Furious at what she considered his deception, Macy told Sly she never wanted to see him again. Wait To See: Sheila, as usual, finds a way to implement her plan, but again, as usual, things don't always go quite as she hoped.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: On the mat, Austin reluctantly prepared to lose the match until Carrie's cheers urged him to get up and go for the win. Bo and Taylor arrested Tim for making bets at the fight. Billie took $2,500 of the Tony Becker stash to bail out Tim, who then skipped town, leaving Bo to suspect Austin as the head of the gambling ring. Later, a

HOME ALONE ONCE

It's a sad commentary on our times to learn that an Illinois couple left their two children (ages 4 and 9) at home unattended for nine days while they vacationed in the Bahamas. Fortunately the children survived the ordeal physically, but what about their emotional well being?

Our 15-year-old son was only left at home once in his life until he reached the age where he didn't want us at home with him. We realized that this would happen, so now we stay home to aggravate him.

Once when he was 11, he did not come home at dark. We had cautioned him against staying out that late without letting us know his whereabouts so when he did not return, we left.

"Don't you think we should leave him a note?" I nervously asked Jimmie.

"No, I don't. He didn't give us the courtesy of letting us know where he is, so I don't think he deserves the courtesy of us letting him know where we are," Jimmie answered.

"But he's just a little boy."

"Yes, and he needs to learn some responsibility," Jimmie replied.

Even though I knew Jimmie was right, I couldn't help but think about what would be going through J.R.'s mind if he came home and we were gone. Would he think we abandoned him? Would he believe something had happened to us? Would he secretly rejoice and take over our bedroom?

As we pulled out of the driveway I looked back and dropped chewing gum wrappers out the car window so J.R. would have a trail to follow, but I ran out of wrappers by the time we got to the end of the street. Twenty minutes later as we turned onto the street leading to our house, we noticed silver glints from the chewing gum wrappers on the blacktop and three cars in the driveway.

"See!" I screamed. "Something's happened to J.R., and we were gone!"

Screaming to a halt, we noticed that the cars belonged to my mother, our daughter, and a friend of ours and J.R. was standing in front of the garage. His swollen eye-lids were a dead giveaway that he had been scared to death.

"Where have you been?" he cried. "Why did you leave me?"

"You weren't where you were supposed to be," Jimmie answered. "Why are all these cars here?"

"Well, when I got home and couldn't find you, I called MiMi, Tara, and Allene to come over here."

"Why?"

"Because I didn't know where you were."

"Son," Jimmie said in a fatherly tone. "You know we wouldn't leave you, but what if something had happened and we didn't have time to hunt

Songwriters Association opens Nashville's doors to Kentucky musicians and writers

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

The capital of country music—or at least a part of it—will be in the heart of country music—or at least the essence of it—this weekend when several of Nashville's top songwriters and producers come to Paintsville for the first East Kentucky Songwriter Showcase.

The presentation of original country music and southern rock begins at noon Saturday, January 16, at the Carriage House. The event is sponsored by the East Kentucky Songwriter Association to promote country music in Eastern Kentucky. "People have no idea of the talent here," said Bill Hall, a member of the local songwriter's group.

Hall, whose songs have won state and national contests, has been trying to break into the Nashville circuit. Because he has contacts in Nashville, local songwriters and musicians are always bringing him tapes to listen to and to "pitch it to Nashville."

"That's hard to do," said Hall, who explained that record companies won't take outside tapes because they are fearful of a lawsuit.

"The company may not accept your song, but years down the road, they may produce a song that sounds like yours and end up with a lawsuit," he explained. "So, they must go through a reputable publisher or producer."

That's almost impossible, said Hall, unless you know the inside track, and that's what Hall and his group are doing by bringing Nashville to Eastern Kentucky.

"There are so many good songs here, so we brought Nashville here," said Hall, who explained that the showcase will open Nashville's door to area musicians and songwriters.

"Hopefully, they (the producers) will go back and spread the word," he said.

Among those spreading the word will be Vern Dant, whose song, "Rumor Has It," reached the top of the charts through the sultry tones of Reba McEntire. Vern Dant, president of Vern Dant Productions, has also written "Cruisin'," performed by Alabama and "Two Broken Hearts," performed by Dave and Sugar.

Songwriter Will Robinson, who is in the publishing business with Vern Dant, will also be on hand. Robinson has written about fifteen No. 1 hits, such as "I Know How He Feels," performed by Reba McEntire, "There's No Way," and "You've Got the Touch," by Alabama.

Also in attendance will be the songwriter of "Achy-Breaky Heart."

Performers and songwriters from as far away as Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and, possibly, Michigan, will premiere their talent. If a producer likes what he hears, said Hall, he will sign a contract on the spot.

One of the producers is working on a record deal for Donna Cox, a member of the Kentucky Opry, said Hall. Cox will also perform during the showcase, as well as fellow Opry members Jodi Conley, James and Tony Whited, and former Opry member Sean Caudill. Cox, Conley and Caudill will sing songs written by Hall. Ron Spriggs will also perform songs by Hall.

Each performer will be limited to performing two original songs, and songwriters are allowed to have someone else sing their songs. Though pre-registration has already been held, walk-ins will be accepted and should register at noon on Saturday. The event is scheduled to conclude at 10 p.m., but Hall said the producers will stay until everyone has had a chance to perform.

Brief intermissions will be held throughout the performance. A question and answer session will be held sometime around 4 p.m. Producers will discuss copyright laws and how to break into show business.

"It's an excellent opportunity to find out how its done," said Hall.

No admission is charged for writers and performers, though a $3 fee will be charged to the public in an effort to defray some of the expenses, Hall explained.

The event should also prove a tourist attraction to the area and may become a semi-annual affair. The group has received an offer from the city of Hazard to sponsor next year's event.

The showcase has grown from the group's initial plans, and Hall expects it to bring more than 250 people to town. Hall thinks the event will keep growing each year because country music keeps gaining in popularity.

Country music has been popular with Eastern Kentuckians for generations because it plucks at the heartstrings. It is the pulse of mountain people.

Truth, Justice and the American Way

by Geoff Belcher, staff writer

It is fatal to enter any war without the will to end it.

-Douglas Mac Arthur, speech, Republican National Convention (1952)

A just fear of an imminent danger, though there be no blow given, is a lawful cause of war.

-Francis Bacon, Of Empire, Essays (1959)

Boys and Girls, Women, that would groan to see a child! Pull off an insect's leg, all read of war! The best amusement for our morning meal.

-Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Fears in Solitude (1798)

It's deja vu all over again.

-Yogi Berra (the legendary coach, not the legendary cartoon, and I don't know when he said it)

Well, kids, here we go again. War. America's favorite spectator sport. Pull up a chair and pop some popcorn.

Yep, the world's biggest televised car wreck—you don't want to look, but you just can't help it—has entered Round 2, and Wolf Blitzer just couldn't be happier (meanwhile those of us still young enough to get caught in the draft are feelin' kinda chilly, but that's another story).

If you're anything like me (and as I've said before, you must be, for I cast you all in my image) you spent most of the last couple of days flipping around on your television dial, eager for the latest Saddam update, every one of which went mostly like this:

Anchor person: ...we return now live to the Pentagon, where our Washington correspondent, Stud Studley, will give us the latest word from the president. Stud?

Stud: Well, Anchor Person, President Bush's flunky, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, fielded questions and de-briefed reporters moments ago in the White House press room. Why Mr. Fitzwater took the reporters' briefs is still anyone's guess.

(Cut to the White House press room)

Fitzwater: ...and ath I have thaid before, the prethident hath no comment other than that U.Eth. fighter jeth have bombed theveral targeteth in Iraq and that Thaddam Hutheth ith a big thiththy.

Reporter 1: Mr. Fitzwater, isn't it true that President Bush regrets not just nuking Hussein and the entire country to Kingdom Come two years ago?

Fitzwater: No, I think the prethident ith jutht handling another bad thituathion, jutht ath he handled it before, exthept that thith time, he ithentdh to do it right and nuke Hutheth and the entire country to Kingdom Come.

Reporter 2: Mr. Fitzwater, isn't it true that this whole thing is in essence Hussein's giant send-off party to Mr. Bush and a warm welcome for Bill Clinton?

Fitzwater: No, I think that Hutheth ith an ithane little fruit loop who 'th about to get what 'th coming to him.

Reporter 3: Mr. Fitzwater, did U.S. troops receive any return fire from the Iraqi soldiers?

Fitzwater: We do not have that thort of information at thith time, but it doethn't really matter becauth they're mithelth aren't much better than thingthyots, and beithideth, every time they want to hurt uth, they thyooot at Ithrael anyway.

(Cut back to Stud, who is holding his earphone tightly in his ear, listening to the U.K. game but pretending he's getting some late-breaking news)

Stud (realizing he's back on the air): Uhhm, well Anchor Person, we've just received news that one of the reporters in the White House press room accused Mr. Fitzwater of spitting all over the front row every time he said "Thaddam Hutheth," and that's when Mr. Fitzwater de-briefed everyone.

(Cut back to Anchor Person)

Anchor Person: Thanks, Stud. We now turn to Little Rock, where President-elect Bill Clinton's communications director George Stephanopoulos, not to be confused with Mr. Snuffluffagus of Sesame Street fame, is addressing reporters in Arkansas.

(Cut to Little Rock)

Stephanopoulos (who will henceforward be referred to as "Skippy"): P-P-President-elect C-C-Clinton f-fully supports an-anything that M-Mr. B-B-Bush says because he s-said he w-w-wants to k-keep the old buzzard happy.

Reporter 1: Skippy, isn't it true that Hussein began screwing around with the U.N. accords this week because he thought he'd just have to deal with President-elect Clinton, an alleged-peace loving pinko commie wimp whom he believes will spend too much time getting stoned in the White House and staring at his lava lamp to launch any sort of attack?

Skippy: P-P-President-elect C-C-Clinton f-fully supports an-anything that M-Mr. B-B-Bush says because he s-said he w-w-wants to k-keep the old buzzard happy.

Reporter 2: Skippy, what was Mr. Clinton's reaction when he learned that Hussein had crossed into the no-fly zone and the DMZ, invading the U.S. military's theater of operations, prompting these sorties by the F-117A and B-11 bomber jets, which then came under attack by a wide-variety of Scud and S.A.M. missiles as well as other anti-aircraft weapons, therefore putting American lives in danger even though it's for a really good cause because Hussein is a mean, evil, vicious, cruel dictator who wants nothing more than to destroy Democracy and life on this planet as we know it?

Skippy: Huh?

Reporter 3: Skippy, isn't it true that you're barely out of Pampers and are hardly qualified to be playing with Leggos, much less be the communications director for the next president of the United States?

Skippy: P-P-President-elect C-C-Clinton f-fully supports an-anything that M-Mr. B-B-Bush says because he s-said he w-w-wants to k-keep the old buzzard happy.

(Cut back to Geoff, who is waiting anxiously in the Floyd County, wondering when lunch will arrive)

So, there you have it folks. This amazing war machine that is the United States of America.

Now, personally, I really, really, really hope that Hussein has finally learned his lesson and we don't have to go to war again. I also think that if he even sticks his big toe out of that bunker of his, we oughtta have forty-eleven Patriot missiles aimed right at it.

Which is what we should have done in the first place and saved several hundred million dollars and several thousand lives.

I mean, we have satellites in space that can spot a wart on a gnat's bot-

Griffith forges film industry

Oldham County native David Wark Griffith (1875-1948) started his career as an actor and playwright, but gained fame as a groundbreaking film director and producer.

Just after the turn of the century Griffith, then living in New York, began developing motion-picture techniques that led to the creation of the film industry. Griffith developed such dramatic and photographic effects as the closeup and fade out, and discovered silent film stars Mary Pickford and Lillian and Dorothy Gish.

Griffith's innovations and films, Birth of a Nation, a drama of the Civil War and Reconstruction era, Intolerance, and Orphans of the Storm, have been called some of the most important and influential contributions ever made in the history of motion pictures. D.W. Griffith is buried in Oldham County.

Coal Miner's Daughter sings her way to fame

Loretta Lynn's life story became widely known when her fairy tale-like life story was portrayed in the movie Coal Miner's Daughter. Lynn was born on April 14, 1935, in her family's cabin in Butcher Hollow, a tiny Johnson County community. Her father, a miner with Consolidation Coal Company, gathered Loretta and her eight siblings around the radio on Saturday nights to listen to Nashville's Grand Ole Opry.

Just 13 years old, Loretta married Mooney Lynn and moved to Washington State. She made her singing debut at a local Grange hall in the late 1950's, and soon followed that up by recording her song Honky Tonk Girl for Zero Records. The song was a hit, and the Lynn family moved to Nashville, where Loretta made her first Grand Ole Opry appearance on October 15, 1960 and secured a record contract with Decca Records.

Dubbed the "Queen of Country Music" by the press, this beloved, international celebrity has won numerous awards, including 11 from the Academy of Country Music and eight from the Country Music Foundation, and has logged 16 number one songs. Today she lives on her own dude ranch at Hurricane Mills, Tennessee.

Parts is parts to healthcare workers, regardless of sex

DEAR ABBY: In response to the radiology technician who was offended because someone referred to her work as "disgusting"—I have no objections to the work they do. They are performing a good service. However, I think it is extremely immoral for a woman technician to X-ray the intimate parts of a man's anatomy and it is equally immoral for a man to X-ray the intimate parts of a woman's anatomy. There are both women and men technicians in every hospital, so why can't the male technicians take care of the male patients, and the female technicians take care of the females?

Please publish this. I would like to know if other people feel as I do. I am signing my real name, but if you print this, please don't use my name. It is all right to identify me as a woman. Thank you.

A (FEMALE) READER
IN LOUISIANA

DEAR (FEMALE) READER: Where health and human life are concerned, professionals in the health care field do not have the slightest interest in whether the patient is male or female. Trust me.

Furthermore, patients should be concerned only with getting the best possible treatment, and it matters not if the health care professional is male or female.

DEAR ABBY: I was amazed that you did not suggest that the teen aged identical twins, who were constantly mistaken for one another, wear name tags.

If the relatives have a problem telling them apart, help them out. If engraved identification pins make them feel like hotel desk clerks, how about having some made from gold wire? I'm sure they could find a jeweler willing to solve their identity mix-ups in a beautifully creative way.
FRIEND OF A TWIN,
DALLAS

DEAR FRIEND: Name tags? I would much rather be called "Twin" or "Twinny," which is what Jean Fitzgerald and Bill Gleeson kiddingly called both of us back in our high school days in Sioux City.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor I have known since our girlhood days. We are both in our 60s now. I lost my husband two years ago, but she still has hers. She has a large family. I have nobody.

She called me up the day after Thanksgiving and said, "How would you like to come over for leftovers tonight?" It did not occur to her to invite me for Thanksgiving dinner. She had a houseful of relatives.

HURT

DEAR HURT: Don't dwell on it. You don't know what the circumstances were. She may not have thought of it with all the commotion of preparing for her houseful of relatives.

DEAR ABBY: Why do young women come on to older men? I don't consider myself any glamour puss—I am 80 years old—but I have had more young women come on to me in the last few years than I can count. Many are young enough to be my granddaughters. Are they inadvertently searching for a father (or grandfather) figure?

I must mention that I am a widower. I have never been popular with the opposite sex, even when I was a very young man. And I never was considered good-looking.

Can you explain this?
D.C. IN DULUTH

DEAR D.C.: You may be more appealing than you think. On the other hand, please send me your financial statement, and perhaps I can provide you with a better answer.

FOREVER YOUNG

When the trailers to this movie came out, I was mesmerized. I thought to myself, "This is one movie I can't miss." Well, I didn't miss it, and I am eternally grateful. It is a wonderfully romantic, touching comedy, put together in a very neat, imaginative package.

Mel Gibson (Mr. Megahunk) portrays a pre World War II flying ace, Daniel, who is very happily involved with a woman named Helen (Isabel Glasser). Daniel desperately wants to propose, but he's scared silly, and no matter how hard he tries, he just can't seem to get the words out. As fate (and Hollywood) would have it, Helen is involved in a serious auto accident and lapses into a coma. Sure of her impending demise, Daniel agrees to submit himself to a military cryogenic experiment and is "frozen."

Cut to now. Two kids come upon him accidentally, and also conveniently, awaken him from his 50-year-plus sleep. Horrified by what he's done, one of the kids, Nat (Elijah Wood), decides he should really do the responsible thing and take care of this guy. After all, Daniel doesn't even know what an answering machine is for, and he's definitely not going to be able to function in modern society without some help. Nat takes Daniel home to his mom, Claire (Jamie Lee Curtis), a divorcee raising her son on her own. It is clear Nat is looking for a father figure, and he thinks Daniel will just fit the bill. He hopes his mom and his houseguest will get together.

There is a fly in the ointment, though. It turns out Helen recovered from her coma. Since what happens after we find this out is the best part of the movie, I'm not going to reveal it. I can only urge you strongly to see this movie. In fact, take the whole family. It's rated PG, and I think the kids will love it as much as you!

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Now that you're finally reaping the harvest of your efforts at work, it's time to consider a much-needed vacation. Even a weekend getaway would go a long way toward recharging those creative batteries.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may find it difficult this week to figure out what's motivating certain people's actions. Don't let this get you down. All will be clear very soon. In the meantime, try to have a relaxing, do-nothing weekend.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Romance is in the stars for you this week, whether single or attached. Take full advantage of this. Let your imagination go, and indulge all those naughty fantasies. Your partner will be more than willing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's time to move out of the play mode and get back to reality. Take care of all that unfinished business waiting for you at work. If you don't, you'll find yourself working into the weekend.

LEO (July 23-August 22) This is a good week for you to take stock of your physical needs. A bit more exercise wouldn't hurt, and it would be wise to pay attention to your diet. You've been a bit negligent in that area since the holidays.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) While it's "back to the drawing board" time for you, you will find yourself feeling invigorated by the challenge. As a result, you'll be burning that midnight oil. A loved one may disapprove, but all your work will pay off.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Family and friends will be impressed with how well you handle some minor disappointments. By the end of the week, everything will be looking up once again, leaving you refreshed and relieved for the weekend's socializing. Accept invitations out, and enjoy.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Last week, it seemed you couldn't do anything wrong if you tried. This week, events don't flow quite so smoothly. However, you're up to the challenge and find creative ways of handling it. Rest up this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) The time for lying low is over. Others will look to you this week for the answers, and you'll be able to provide that much-needed leadership with your innovative approach. Higher-ups take notice, and a financial bonus could very well be in your future.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) The beginning of the week will find you somewhat lethargic, and a bit down. However, toward midweek, things will once again be looking up. Even better, by the weekend, you will be positively beaming. Go out and party this weekend. You deserve it.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You're going to have to resist the temptation to fly off in a million different directions this week. A problem at hand will require all your energy and concentration. Let that brilliant Aquarian mind do its best stuff.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You are not aware of it, but a loved one is not pleased with your tendency toward picky criticisms. Think carefully about this, and you will find some of your critiques are unjustified and blown out of proportion. Spend the weekend making up hurt feelings.

HENRY WEBB HAVING GREAT SEASON

In 1989 while a senior at McDowell High School, Henry Webb was a team leader who led the Daredevils to their last appearance in the finals of the 15th Region basketball tournament held that year at Prestonsburg.

Webb was a scorer. The long jumper was his favorite and he had the quickness also to drive around any defender that guarded him too close.

Webb loved the three-point shot and he was good at it. I guess we can safely say that Henry Webb was a complete basketball talent in high school. He could shoot, rebound, dish off the assists and play defense.

But as his high school career drew to a close, many wondered if he could take the same spirited play to the next level, the college game.

Stats prove that there is a high number of basketball players out of the 58th District who never quite make it on the college level.

Then Alice Lloyd coach Joe Stepp came knocking at the McDowell High School door because the Eagle coach saw something that he liked in Webb. He was signed to a four year scholarship and he began play that fall for the Eagles.

The question marks still remained. Could Webb stick it out? Can he hit the treys? Could he play defense on the college level?

I think anyone who has followed this young man's career at Alice Lloyd can easily see that he was a young man determined to prove many wrong.

Listen to his current coach, Jim Stepp.

"I'm very, very proud of Henry," said Coach Stepp. "I have to admit that I, too, didn't know if he could make it or not. But I'm glad to see him stick it out. He's a tremendous young man who will do what you ask of him."

Webb was named the Most Valuable Player in the Birmingham-Southern Invitational Basketball Tournament last week after the Eagles soared to the championship title behind Webb, Shawn Hager and Russell Clark. All three were named to the all-tournament team.

For the second time in his college career, Webb has been named the Player of the Week in NAIA District 24.

During the five game period, Webb averaged 30.4 points per game, hitting 49 of 97 field goal attempts for 50 percent shooting. But there is more. The hot shooting guard connected on 37 three-pointers hitting 43 percent of his three-pointers. He shot 80 percent from the free throw line, averaged six rebounds per contest, and four assists as the Eagles went 4-1 during the period.

Webb hasn't done it all by himself, but Coach Stepp has put together a powerful squad at Alice Lloyd with Webb being the only senior. Alice Lloyd is currently ranked 16th nationally.

Overall the Eagles are 12-2, losing to powerhouse Virginia Intermount and Bryan College.

"We were leg weary when played Bryan College," said Stepp. "We came home after the tournament in Alabama and then took off again to play Bryan College."

"This is our best start in four years," the Eagles coached stated. "We were 13-2 four years ago and finished 21-8 that season."

In the tournament in Alabama, Webb notched another milestone when he broke the old Alice Lloyd College scoring record held by Robbie Russell. The old record that Russell held was 1,721 points. Webb has already scored 1,740 points to become the all-time leading scorer for Alice Lloyd.

"We're waiting for the students to return back to school," said Stepp, "and we are going to recognize Henry then. We want the students to be there."

Webb plans to return to Alice Lloyd.

losing streak at McDowell, 69-42

by Ed Taylor

The Allen Central Lady Rebels may have been struggling of late against outside opponents, but when it comes to conference basketball they take it pretty seriously.

Consider. Staci Moore, who managed only eight points against Sheldon Clark Saturday night after averaging over 24 a game, comes out a slight slump and pumps in 26 points. Moore, who did not have a three-pointer against the Lady Cardinals, buried five against McDowell in the Allen Central's 69-42 conference win.

Consider. Allen Central's full court pressure defense was ineffective against the Lady Cards while an adjustment against McDowell played havoc on the Lady Daredevils.

Consider. Veronica McKinney was more active in the offense for Allen Central.

It all added to Allen Central snapping a modest two-game losing streak and winning for the fourth time against no defeats in conference play.

It adds up also to the fact that the Lady Rebs are poised to win their fourth conference title and hopefully ring up another district championship.

The two teams met two weeks ago at Allen Central with the Lady Rebs pulling out a four point, 53-49 victory over the Lady Devils.

For McDowell, head coach Jimmy Hopkins found some consolation.

"For about five minutes of the game the girls did what I asked them to do," he said. "After that we didn't play well."

McDowell looked like a team that was ready to show that the previous game wasn't a fluke. The Lady Devils raced out to a 10-5 lead in the first five minutes of the ball game until Moore and Marsha Brown got into the act.

Another Brown, Lisa, put the Lady Devils on the board first by drilling a 15-foot jumper and then coming down and scoring on a 10-foot shot. After a Jenny Wiley free throw, Shelby Howell slipped underneath for a basket to make it a 6-1 game.

Marsha Brown scored Allen Central's first field goal, but a three-point-play by Howell at the other end with 4:53 left gave McDowell the 9-3 advantage.

Angela Bailey hit two free throws and Howell scored one for McDowell to make it a 10-5 game.

Then it was all Allen Central after that. The Lady Rebs went on a 11-2 run that netted them the first quarter lead.

McDowell stayed in the game -- for two minutes at least of the second quarter -- as Stacy Shepherd came off the bench and scored six unanswered points to give the Lady Devils a 18-16 lead. Shepherd kept getting behind the Allen Central press and picked up three lay ups.

After Moore's two free throws tied the game at 18-18, Allen Central outscored McDowell the rest of the way 22-3 to take a 40-21 half time lead. Moore hit a field goal and two three-pointers in the final two minutes. She had four three-pointers in the second quarter. Her fourth trey came after Allen Central held the ball for the last shot of the half. Moore then buried the trey from the top of the circle.

Moore led all scorers with her 26 points. Wiley was second with 15 points and McKinney finished with 12 points. McKinney has one of the softest touches around the basket and plays bigger than her height indicates. Brown finished with 10 points as the sophomore hit six of seven free throws. Bailey had six points.

Michelle Hall and Howell each had 10 points to lead McDowell. Hall played most of the game in foul trouble and eventually fouled out in the fourth quarter. Shepherd netted nine points in a good outing off the bench.

Brown, who hit the first two field goals for McDowell, did not score the remainder of the game and had just the four points. Crystal Newsome, who continues to come off the bench and play well, added four points. Nikki Mullins and Misty Shannon each scored two.

Rebs survive McDowell scare, 71-70

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Devil's Den on the campus of McDowell High School was no place for the fainthearted this past Tuesday night.

Floyd County Conference basketball heated up as two long-time county rivals hooked up in a good old-fashioned ball game that went down to the final three seconds before the winner was declared.

Allen Central and McDowell played for the final time in the E.P. Grigsby Fieldhouse with the Rebels escaping through a 71-70 hard-fought win over coach Johnny Ray Turner's ballclub.

The game had its other exciting moments, also. It saw the McDowell coach display some needed emotion that inspired his team to almost pull out a miracle victory.

Coach Turner is one of the "Clark Kent" type coaches who doesn't snort and rave the sidelines but is rather "mild mannered."

But not against the Rebels. He was seen throwing his hands up in the air over a call; bending backwards, holding his head; and at one time running from one end of the bench to the other over a call that meant the game.

It was your typical conference basketball game that can only be played that way here in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

Down 12 points, 65-53, with just over four minutes remaining, the Daredevils turned up their defense and climbed back into the game that moments before seemed out of their hands.

Two free throws by Wally Sexton, who led all scorers with 24 points, and a basket down low by Scotty Stanley put the lead to eight points before Carl Watkins' field goal made it a 10-point game at 67-57.

After a Chris Hamilton layup, Ronnie Samons slipped underneath for a layup and it stayed at 10 points, 69-59, with time running out on the Daredevils.

Then it happened. Sexton scored on back-to-back field goals to narrow the margin to six points, 69-63. Hamilton went to the free-throw line with a chance to cut into the lead further but misfired on the bounous attempt. The ball came down to the Rebels and into the hand of point guard Jeremy Hall only to have the ball squirt out of his hands and into the hands of Sexton, who just laid the ball in the basket for a 69-65 score with 1:06 remaining.

McDowell put Jason Martin on the charity stripe with :58 showing on the clock but Martin missed the front end of the bonus with Alan Joe Moore pulling down the errant attempt. With 42 seconds remaining, Moore buried a three-point shot that pulled the Daredevils to within one point, 69-68.

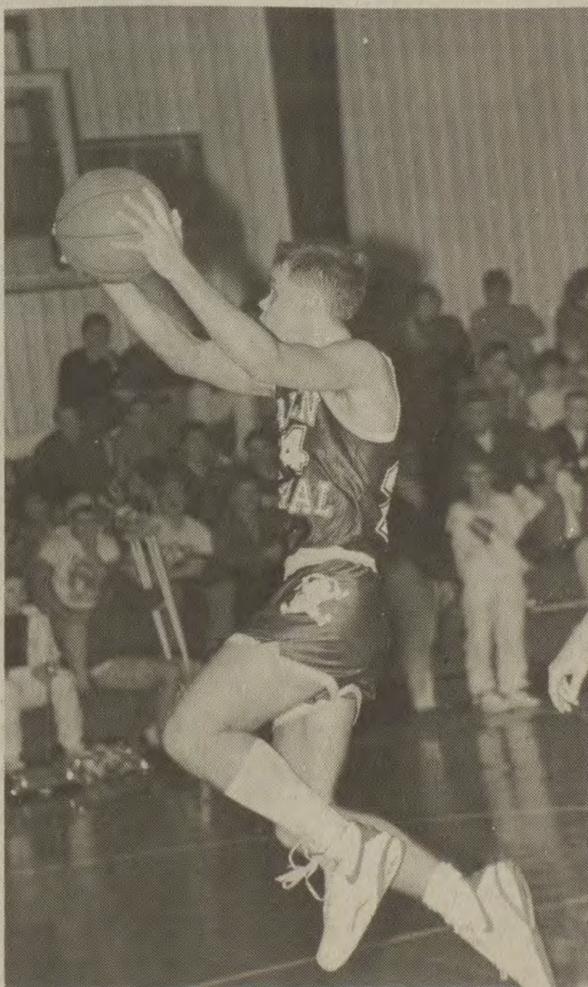

On a run out for Allen Central against McDowell's full-court pressure, Martin was fouled hard by Stanley, who picked up his fifth personal foul, and he went to the line for two shots. Martin connected on the first but the second attempt went off to the right into the hands of Sexton. Allen Central led 70-68.

Quickly up court with the clock their main enemy, Hamilton slipped along the baseline of the left side and put up a soft jumper that nestled on the rim and then dropped through to knot the game at 70-70 as the McDowell faithful roared their approval.

The roar turned to moans when Earl Cook, in an attempt to get the basketball, fouled Martin with :03 showing on the scoreboard. The foul occurred near the McDowell bench and Coach Turner moved quickly from one end of the bench to the other and back.

South Floyd
High boosters meeting slated

The South Floyd High boosters club will hold a club organizational meeting at the McDowell High School this coming Monday night at 7 p.m.

"We want to meet with the parents in McDowell and go over over athletic needs and discuss our facilities," said Wheelwright's head football coach Donnie Daniels. "We already had a meeting at Wheelwright and now we want to get the parents in McDowell involved."

Daniels said that the club would approach the school board at an upcoming meeting to get some questions answered, such as their plans for a gym at the new school and football facilities.

McDowell and Wheelwright are scheduled to consolidate next school year.

All parents in the McDowell area are urged to be at the meeting.

A Look At Sports —

Lloyd next season to get his degree and hopes to be able to coach somewhere after that.

"We will probably have him here next year as a student assistant," said Stepp.

Stepp said the win against Birmingham-Southern was a big win for Alice Lloyd.

"It was probably the biggest win in the history of Alice Lloyd College men's basketball," said Stepp. "It was kind like a David and Goliath story. We were up against a team that had almost upset Mississippi State University. It was our team's defense that made the difference."

Coach Stepp said that there was no time for his team to relax because of the past victories.

While Webb was been applauded at Alice Lloyd, still there was another former Floyd County basketball player being so honored.

Former Betsy Layne standout Brenda Hamilton was named the female Player of the Week in NAIA District 24 for the week ending the last of December.

Hamilton has averaged over 20 points per game for the Lady Eagles in the five game period while pulling down 10 rebounds per game.

She has averaged five assists per ball game and has come up with seven-and-a-half steals a game. The Lady Eagles have gone 2-1 during the stretch.

When Hamilton went to Alice Lloyd three years ago, her study habits were not the greatest. But now the hot shooting guard is carrying a 3.2 gpa and that pleases the Alice Lloyd coaching staff.

"Brenda has worked hard since she came to Alice Lloyd," said Coach Stepp. John Mills is the women's head coach at Alice Lloyd. "Brenda is one of the few players who doesn't have the good study habits, but she decides she is going to make something of herself. She has improved tremendously."

All of us in Floyd County are very proud of the tremendous effort these two former players have made since they left and moved to the next level.

Both are exceptional young people who has proven that with desire and determination anyone can make it.

Both Alice Lloyd men and women's basketball teams will be in action this Saturday at home. The women will play at 2 p.m. and the men at 4 p.m.

If you are not tied up with something else, make the short trip over to Alice Lloyd and watch these two play basketball. You will enjoy the games.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports.

quiet as the McDowell fans tried to distract the free-throw shooting Martin while the Allen Central cheerleaders and some of the fans were giving the usual "hands in the air" good-luck signal. Martin lifted the ball toward the basket and it found nothing but net. The second attempt came off to the right where McDowell took a long attempt that fell way short giving the Rebels the 71-70 conference win.

Allen Central coach Johnny Martin said that the McDowell comeback wasn't a result of what his team did but what McDowell did.

"We missed some free throws down the stretch and Jason (Martin) missed a short jumper," said Martin. "We wanted to spread our offense toward the end but Jason took the short jumper and that's all right. You want to score on every opportunity you get. Then Phillip (Patton) missed a close-in shot and McDowell took advantage of it."

It was a win that Coach Turner really wanted.

"I wanted this so bad," said the emotionally-drained McDowell coach. "Everybody who played for me tonight gave me 110 percent. I can't fault the effort that this ball club put forth tonight.

"We made a couple of mental mistakes that hurt us. The kids got down but they put forth a good effort toward the end. We played a solid game all the way through, and then fell behind 10 or 12 points.

"I think we made a tremendous comeback in the last two minutes of the ball game. That shows what kind of character these guys have."

Coach Turner said that it was a team effort all the way with his ball club.

"We played as a team tonight," he said. "We played hard both on offense and defense."

The effort of the Daredevils came as no surprise to Coach Martin.

"We expected a tough game from McDowell," he said. "They are playing awfully well. They go down to the Clark County tournament, beat Clark County and play well against Henry Clay — then beat East Carter.

You have to get better."

Allen Central won the first game between the two schools two weeks when they posted a 76-59 win over the Daredevils.

"We played some excellent teams in the Clark County tournament," said Turner. "We beat a good Clark County team on their home floor. We lost to Henry Clay by 18 points but I felt it was a 10-point game. We beat East Carter with Jackson Julson. We weren't intimidated. If anything we went out and tried to be the intimidator."

McDowell held a 16-14 lead after the first quarter, overcoming a 14-7 deficit. The Daredevils scored the final nine points of the first period to take the lead. Matt Rose hit a three-pointer that tied the game for the first time and Sexton's basket gave McDowell the lead. The Daredevils lead for the first time at 5-2 on a three-point field goal by Moore.

Allen Central, trailing 7-4, scored 10 consecutive points to take the 14-7 lead.

McDowell held a slim, one point, 34-33 lead at the half and that came on a basket by Sexton with only three seconds left in the first half.

The Daredevils led 32-28 on a basket by Keith Gayheart but Allen Central scored the next five points to go ahead 33-32 before Sexton's basket.

Jeremy Hall and Ronnie Samons hooked up for some good plays to spurt the Rebels in the third quarter to a seven-point, 53-46 lead after three quarters.

Sexton's 24 led McDowell. Sexton also had eight rebounds. Rose drilled four three-pointers finishing with 13 points. Moore totaled 10 points including two three-pointers. Mike Duddleson hit two treys for six points.

Allen Central improves their hold on first place in the Floyd County Conference by going 4-0 in the conference and 7-5 overall.

McDowell drops to 1-4 in the conference and 4-10 overall.

Allen Central will entertain the Betsy Layne Bobcats (8-5) tonight in yet another conference battle. McDowell plays at winless Millard tonight.

Turner scores 30 points in Adams win

David Turner, one of the top eighth graders in the county, tossed in 30 points and pulled down 15 rebounds to lead the Adams Middle School Blackcats to a 64-48 win over a gamed Auxier Hornet team. Turner also had two assists in the game and hit six seven free throw attempts. He connected on 12 of 23 field goal attempts.

Another good eighth-grader, Ricky Johnson of Auxier, had a big outing with 26 points to lead the Hornets.

Adams rolled out to a 15-6 first quarter lead behind the scoring of Turner who tossed in eight points in the first period. Auxier came back in the second quarter to make a game of and trailed by seven, 27-20 at the half. Clabe Hall hit the games only three-pointer in the second period.

Wesley Samons scored nine points for Adams and had seven assists in the game. Jon Morris and Jason Blackburn added six each. Gavin Hale netted four points and John Ortega scored three. Morris pulled down eight rebounds for the Blackcats and Hale had four. Jeremy Osborne scored four points for Adams.

Hall totaled seven points for Auxier. Catre Farler tossed in five with Tony Honeycutt and Greg Richmond scoring four each. Scotty Daniels added two.

Trojans edge Betsy Layne, 71-66, for first conference win

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

Trojans and Rebels battled the boards Tuesday night in a game that left fans breathless.

No one was sure who would emerge the victor, but the Wheelwright Trojans held on to a slim lead in the final quarter and won their first conference win of the season with a 71-66 victory at Betsy Layne Tuesday night.

Greg Johnson led the way for the Trojans scoring 22 points on five field goals, three three-pointers and three-of-four from the line. Betsy Layne's Chris Potter had the game's highest point total as he scored 25 points on one field goal, seven three-pointers, and two-for-two from the line.

"We are playing good ball right now. We are taking care of the ball and taking good shots," Wheelwright's head coach Jackie Pack said. "We are having a lot of fun and everyone is getting along with each other. They look out for one another."

John Tackett scored the first points of the game on a basket that gave Betsy Layne a 2-0 lead with only :28 running off the clock. Wheelwright scored seven points and took the 7-2 lead on a three-pointer by John Hall and back-to-back baskets by Greg Johnson with 5:35 left in the first quarter. After a basket by the Bobcats' Jason Akers, Wheelwright scored five straight points, taking a 12-4 lead with 4:15 remaining on a two-pointer by Brian Johnson and a three-pointer by Greg Johnson.

Betsy Layne's Akers scored the next five points for the Bobcats as he cut the lead to three points, 12-9, with 3:15 left in the first quarter. Back-to-back baskets by the Trojans' Greg Johnson and Hall took the Trojans out to a seven-point lead, 16-9, with 2:50 left in the opening quarter. An exchange of baskets ended the first quarter with the Trojans clinging to an 18-14 lead heading into the second quarter.

With the score 20-15 and 6:25 left in the second quarter, Betsy Layne scored five straight points on a Potter three-pointer and a basket by Brian Hunter that tied the game at 20 with 5:35 left before halftime. Wheelwright took the lead back, 22-20, at the 4:20 mark on a basket by Montu Oden.

A Potter three-pointer gave Betsy Layne the lead for the first time since the 7:32 mark of the first quarter when they led 2-0. John Hall boosted Wheelwright back out to the lead, 25-23, on a three-point play with 2:25 left in the game. Betsy Layne took the lead back as they recorded a free throw by Akers and a basket by Barry Clark with 2:25 left in the half.

"We played good defense," Pack said. "When Betsy Layne took the lead, our kids stayed calm and took good shots."

Wheelwright took the lead back, 28-26, on a Greg Johnson three-pointer with 2:10 left in the half. A pair of free throws by Betsy Layne's Clark tied the game for the third time at 28 with 2:00 left before halftime. An exchange of baskets ended the first half with the score knotted at 30-

30. Again, Wheelwright took the lead, 33-30, opening the second half scoring on a free throw by Greg Johnson and a basket by Brian Johnson with only :15 running off the clock. A basket by Betsy Layne's Hunter cut the lead to one point before Wheelwright ran off four points, taking a 37-32 lead with 6:59 left in the third quarter.

Betsy Layne went on a 9-3 run, taking a 41-40 lead with 4:20 left in the third quarter. Wheelwright quickly took the lead back, 45-41, on a five-point run with 2:33 on the clock. Betsy Layne's Potter cut the lead two points before Wheelwright's Steven Shelton scored his first points of the game on a three-pointer that gave the Trojans a 48-43 lead with 1:25 left on the clock. A free throw by Betsy Layne's Hunter cut the lead to four points going into the fourth quarter.

"Steve (Shelton) hit two big three-pointers for us," Pack said. "We are getting great play from Montu (Oden) at point guard."

An exchange of baskets opened the fourth quarter as the Trojans held on to a 50-47 lead with 7:25 left in the fourth quarter. A three-pointer by Wheelwright's Shelton extended their lead out to six points, 53-47, with 6:30 left on the clock. With the score 58-50 with 5:20 left on the clock, Betsy Layne's Potter hit a three-pointer to cut the lead down to five points, 58-53. ## Betsy Layne Lady Cats trip up Wheelwright 69-33

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

Ashla Stanley scored 27 points leading her Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats to an impressive 69-33 win over the Wheelwright Lady Trojans Tuesday night. Wheelwright was led in scoring by Kristal Isaacs as she tossed in 16 points.

Betsy Layne took an early 4-0 lead on two baskets by Misty Johnson with 6:40 left in the first quarter. Wheelwright got on the scoreboard on one of two free throws by Tiffany Compton as she cut the lead to three points with 3:19 left on the clock. Misty Clark added to the Betsy Layne lead, hitting a basket with 2:59 left in the first quarter. Wheelwright took their first lead on back-to-back three-pointers by Isaacs and Melissa Tackett as the Trojans took a 7-6 lead going into the second quarter.

A basket by Isaacs to start the second quarter extended Wheelwright's lead to three points, 9-6. Betsy Layne took the lead back and never looked back as they went on an 18-0 run to take a 24-9. The Bobcats' Stanley scored nine of the 18 points as she finished off the run for the Bobcats on a basket with 2:35 left in the first half. The Trojans recorded a field goal and a free throw by Isaacs as they tried to cut into the 15-point lead before the half. Betsy Layne extended their lead out to 16 points, their biggest of the half, on back-to-back field goals by Stanley and Rhonda Conn to close out the half with a 28-12 lead.

Three consecutive baskets by Betsy Layne's Stanley to start the second half added to their lead as they held a 34-12 lead with 6:00 left in the third quarter. A basket by Wheelwright's Isaacs was followed by two free throws by Betsy Layne's Jessica Hamilton and a basket by Betsy Layne's Clark as the Bobcats led 38-14 with 2:30 left in the third quarter. The Trojans cut into the lead on free throws by Rhonda Thomsbury and Isaacs and a basket by Tackett cutting the lead to 38-20 with 1:40 left in the third quarter. A basket by Betsy Layne's Hamilton was followed by a free throw by Wheelwright's Thomsbury to end the quarter as the Bobcats held a 40-21 lead heading into the final quarter.

An exchange of baskets by the Bobcats' Stanley and the Trojans' Tackett kept the lead at 19 points, 42-23, as only :55 ticked off the clock. The Bobcats scored six straight points, four from Stanley, as they extended their lead out to 48-23 with 6:15 left in the fourth quarter. Two free throws by Wheelwright's Isaacs was followed by back-to-back baskets by Betsy Layne's Johnson and Stanley as the Lady Cats held on to a 52-25 lead with 5:30 left in the game. With the score 54-26 and with 4:40 left in the game, Wheelwright's Barbara Perkins hit a three-pointer as the Trojans tried to cut into the 28-point lead. The Bobcats scored seven points extending their lead out to 61-29 with 2:25 left in the fourth quarter. Two free throws by Wheelwright's Isaacs sparked a four-point run by the Bobcats as they took a 65-31 lead with 1:03 left on the clock. In the last :30 of the game, Betsy Layne outscored Wheelwright 4-2 taking the victory 69-33.

Betsy Layne improved to 7-6 overall and 3-0 in district play.
