President declares 23 Eastern Kentucky counties disaster area

President Bill Clinton declared most of Eastern Kentucky a disaster area Tuesday, after sudden storms swept through the area in May.

The declaration releases federal emergency disaster funds to 23 counties, including Floyd. The funds will help local governments recover from damages that occurred during the sudden storms that tore through southern and eastern Kentucky in May.

Even though final estimates are not yet available, the state Disaster and Emergency Services said preliminary damage estimates could reach over $50 million. The storm caused widespread power outages, damaged electrical distribution systems and created extensive debris removal problems for electrical utilities and state and local governments.

Congressman Hal Rogers and Governor Brereton Jones asked Clinton to declare Kentucky a disaster area after the storm, allowing federal assistance to help cover the costs of the storm-related damages.

Counties in the disaster area declaration will receive assistance through Hazard Mitigation and Public Assistance funds. Public Assistance will repair or replace disaster-damaged public facilities, while the Hazard Mitigation funds will prevent long-term risks from natural hazards.

Floyd, Magoffin and Johnson counties are eligible for the public assistance grants. Individuals who received storm damage to their properties should contact the National Teleregistration Center at 1-800-462-9029.

Flood protection study funding is approved by House subcommittee

A flood protection study for the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River was approved Tuesday by the House Appropriations Energy and Water Development Subcommittee.

Congressman Hal Rogers asked the subcommittee to approve $330,000 in funding to continue the flood protection study begun by the Army Corps of Engineers in Floyd, Johnson and Pike counties.

The subcommittee also approved a request by Rogers for almost $2.5 million for operation and maintenance of the Army Corps facilities at Dewey Lake in Floyd County and almost $1 million for Paintsville Lake in Johnson County.

Rogers helped write the version of the funding bill that will now be considered the full House Appropriations Committee.

Youth hit by truck still in critical condition

The condition of the Prestonsburg boy who was hit by a pickup truck Tuesday morning has not changed.

Ricky Allen Hays, 8, is still listed in critical condition with severe head trauma at Cabell Huntington Hospital in their pediatric intensive care unit.

Hays was hit by the pickup truck about 9:16 a.m. Tuesday when he ran across the road near Hardee's on University Drive.

Fiscal court may scrap plans for new courthouse

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

It looks like a new multi-million dollar courthouse facility planned for Floyd County could be scrapped by the fiscal court due to financial concerns.

On today's (Friday's) fiscal court agenda is a proposed ordinance directing the Floyd County Public Properties Corporation not to proceed with the courthouse project.

Last year, the court agreed to proceed with the estimated $15 million project, which would have housed new courtroom facilities and county offices. The state's Administrative Office of the Courts would contribute $6 million toward the project.

The county is bowing out of the project, the ordinance says, due to budget constraints and asks that "any and all petitions for approval of the lease and debt" be withdrawn.

If the fiscal court agrees to halt the project, the ordinance would become effective after its second reading.

Pay hikes slim; fields costly

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

Pay raises may be slim or none next year for Floyd County school employees if board members lean toward the superintendent's suggestion that a two percent pay hike be approved.

Board members tabled discussions on the issue at Tuesday's board meeting and decided to take the issue up at a special meeting set for June 27.

Superintendent Steve Towler explained to the board that the district's budget committee recommends a two percent raise for certified and classified personnel and offers a longevity raise to employees who have worked eight, ten, fifteen and twenty years in the system.

Towler said the district could not afford to offer longevity raises for fifteen and twenty-year employees, and said that any pay increase would be costly for the district. He said he would not recommend any increase totaling over $500,000.

Towler added that declining enrollment is costing the district money every year and an increase in property tax assessments has generated about $700,000 in additional funds.

"We are, in my opinion, pushing the outer limits on what we do with $700,000," Towler said. "It would be appropriate for an increase in the $500,000 range, and, on the very outside, $600,000. Any way you give a raise in the system in Floyd County costs a lot of money."

The superintendent said that some systems in the state are not offering any pay raises for next year and the largest increases he has seen have been two percent.

In other business Tuesday, board members voted to submit two BG-1s to the state Department of Education for the purchase of two athletics fields.

The BG-1s show that the board is trying to acquire a 10-acre site on KY 122 in the vicinity of South Floyd High School and a site at the intersection of KY 979 and KY 1426 for an athletic field for Betsy Layne High School. The estimated cost for the two sites is $412,413.

The board authorized attorney Phil Damron to proceed with acquiring those sites, which will be used for baseball and other athletic events.

Local monies will be used to purchase the sites if approval for the projects is granted by the department of education.

City may drop out of 911 project if KSP is operator

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

Prestonsburg city officials may decline to join in the county's effort to establish an E-911 system if the E-911 board elects to go with the Kentucky State Police for the operation of the service.

Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin, who is a member of the E-911 board, told board members Thursday that it would be more cost effective in the long run to locate the service in Floyd County.

Fannin said that if the board decides to go with the KSP, "there's no use" for the city to participate.

"What we have is as good as a 911 system," Fannin said. "Yes, they can do it cheaper, but, no, they can't do it cheaper. If this can't be worked out, I can't see the city joining in the 911 program."

Fannin explained that the city and the sheriff's department will still have to fund 24-hour dispatching services even if the 911 service is operated by the state police. He said that taxpayers would be paying twice for those services.

Two arrested, pot plants are confiscated

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

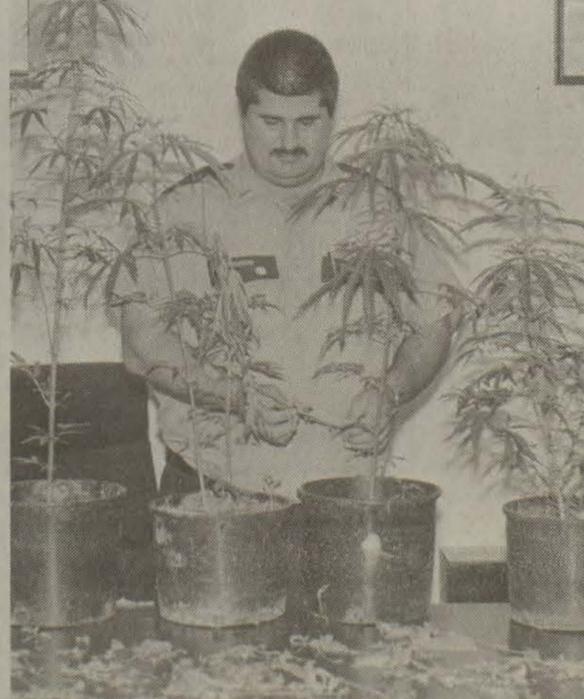

Two Left Beaver residents were charged Wednesday with a felony drug charge after a deputy sheriff found over 60 marijuana plants growing outside their home.

Sue Ellen Marsillett, also known as Sue Ellen Bowens, 26, of Minnie and Craig L. Tackett, 28, of Minnie, were charged with one count each of cultivating marijuana, over five plants.

Deputy sheriff Ricky Thornsberry said that officers found the marijuana plants growing behind and in front of Tackett's mobile home located on Cemetery Branch at Sizemore.

Marsillett was taken into custody at the scene, Thornsberry said, and Tackett surrendered himself to authorities Wednesday afternoon. Marsillett sometimes resides in Martin County, Thornsberry said.

The sheriff's department had

Timing is the key to funding for fall festival

by Janice Shepherd Managing Editor

In its 1996 budget, the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission is once again refusing to allocate funds for the Jenny Wiley Festival until commissioners and festival organizers can agree on scheduling of the festival.

Jim Sparks, a member of Prestonsburg Tourism Commission, asked the tourism board Wednesday to conduct a special-called meeting with "all parties concerned with the Jenny Wiley Festival" within 30 days.

Sparks and several members of the tourism commission expressed concern that the festival has not been moved from its fall date to one earlier in the year. Most of the commissioners agreed that too many festivals are held when the Jenny Wiley Festival is held.

The festival is held the second weekend in October. Paintsville's Apple Day is held on the first weekend in October. Other festivals held around that time are the Red, White and Blue Festival, Autumn Jam, and the Hazard Black Gold Festival.

Commissioners announced last year that they would not fund the Jenny Wiley Festival again unless the date was changed. At a planning meeting last month, a proposed budget for the new fiscal year, which begins in July, did not allocate funds for the Jenny Wiley Festival or for a clogging event.

Funding — which is distributed in the form of grants — for the Folk Festival, Old Christmas, the 4th of July and the Battle of Middle Creek was provided in individual categories, but a special categories called "festivals" listed zero funding.

Before the planning meeting ended, commissioners agreed to add $10,000 to the budget in the festival category. The tourism budget of $169,000.

Wildlife preserve in plans for Big Sandy

by Janice Shepherd Managing Editor

A wildlife preserve could be established along the banks of the Big Sandy River if Prestonsburg Tourism director Fred James has his wish granted.

At a meeting Wednesday afternoon concluding this year's River and Streams project, Fred James announced that he plans to pursue the establishment of a Big Sandy Wildlife preserve. James, who spearheaded the Rivers and Streams project, is seeking agencies that will support the project.

James said that many ideas and activities had sprung from the river project, including an annual canoe race, an ongoing education scheme, and an undertaking to bring the problems of the river to the surface in order to resolve them.

James also suggested that wing dams be built in the Big Sandy. The wing dams would help raise the water level for boating and also could create a white water rafting effect for boaters.

Board members postponed a decision on where to locate the county's PSAP (Public Service Answering Point) because Fannin and Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson have not yet put together a cost estimate for the emergency service.

Thompson apologized to the board for the delay, which he attributed to Fannin's recent hospitalization and that he had previously scheduled a trip out of town.

Thompson said that those figures could be put together fairly quickly and suggested the board meet soon to compare proposals for local operation of the system versus the state police's plan.

Judge-Executive Bob Meyer, who is chairman of the E-911 board, told the board that no true comparison can be made relating to the costs until Fannin and Thompson submit a proposal.

The board agreed to table the issue. A meeting is set for July 5 at 10 a.m. at the courthouse annex and a proposal is to be presented by Thompson and Fannin.

The 911 board has been hustling for the past month to decide on an implementation plan to present to the fiscal court at today's (Friday) court meeting.

The 911 board may have had a slow start getting organized, but the group is certain about some issues that need to be resolved before an emergency service system can be implemented in the county.

Board members decided Thursday that an E-911 or basic 911 service cannot go on line until provisions are made for county-wide fire protection; a comprehensive assessment of communication equipment is done; and boundary lines are established for private ambulance services.

Jim Caldwell, representing the emergency service advisory committee, said that area fire departments must expand the fire taxing districts in order to provide service to areas of the county not presently covered.

Meyer explained that the fiscal court will have to approve enlarging those boundaries and the tax for residents would be 10 cents per $100 valuation of property.

Sheriff Thompson suggested that the court may want to delegate more authority to the E-911 board on that issue because magistrates could "take a lot of heat" for creating new taxing districts.

The board agreed to submit a partial plan to the court today, which includes:

- determining the most efficient and cost effective means to provide fire protection in the county and the primary and secondary emergency ambulance responder;
- a request for an assessment and inventory of communication equipment from two local businesses, Big Sandy Two-Way Communication and Highlands Communication;
- consideration of hiring a database manager to update the county's E-911 map and addressing system.

which included the additional festival funding, was adopted at Wednesday's meeting of the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission.

No funds will be designated specifically for the Jenny Wiley Festival until a special-called meeting is held, commissioners concurred. A meeting date will be announced later.

Other changes in the budget included salary and benefit increases for both the Prestonsburg Tourism Director and secretary; additional funding for welcoming signs and traveling shows.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, tourism director Fred James announced that a dedication of the River Park in downtown Prestonsburg will be held Saturday, June 14 at 7 p.m.

In other business:

• James plans to conduct a series of meetings with communities along the Big Sandy River in order to develop a program to clean up the river.

• Montana Estrada, group sales director of Jenny Wiley Theatre, and Bob Bogdanoff, acting general manager, reported that the theatre had received three group bookings and two mystery tours from a travel show Estrada attended earlier with James.

• Bogdanoff also reported that the theatre had already scheduled its lineup for the 1996 summer season. Productions next season will include "Annie Get Your Gun," "Forever Plaid," "Wizard of Oz," and "On Golden Pond."

PHS student goes to Governor's School of the Arts

Michael Halfhill leaves Sunday, June 18, for a summer session of the Governor's School of the Arts at Bellemarine College in Louisville.

Halfhill, a son of Mike and Peggy Halfhill of Prestonsburg, was one of only 164 students selected from the 1,400 students who applied for admission to the school.

In order to be admitted to the school, Halfhill had to pass two auditions, one in Morehead and one in Louisville. A vocalist, the Prestonsburg High School senior will receive training at the school until July 8.

When he returns to Prestonsburg, he will audition for the Kentucky Opry.

He is a member of the Prestonsburg Honor Choir and was selected for all-district and all-state chorus during competition this year. He was elected to serve as president of the National Honor Society for the 1995-96 school year. He is also a member of the Forensics program in his school and is active with his youth church group at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church.

He is the grandson of Olive Pruitt of Allen and Jean Halfhill of Prestonsburg.

Jenny Wiley Theatre announces special reception, contests for opening of Annie

To celebrate the return of everyone's favorite orphan Annie to the stage of Jenny Wiley Theatre, a reception has been scheduled for the opening night of Annie, July 7, to take place in the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center at 6:30 p.m.

A coloring contest open to area children ages 12 and under will coincide with the opening of Annie. Prizes for the winning picture will be awarded at the July 7 punch-and-cookie reception, and you must be present to win. Those who are interested in taking part in the coloring contest can pick-up the forms at their area McDonald's. Entries must be returned to McDonald's by July 5 or to Jenny Wiley Theatre before the reception.

In addition to the coloring contest, the reception will also include an Annie look-alike contest. Perspective participants should arrive at the reception in their Annie costumes. Winners of the look-alike competition will also be awarded prizes.

Door prize giveaways including a trip to King's Island, as well as special entertainment are also on tap for the evening. The price for admission to the reception is $5 per person with admission to that night's opening of Annie set at the theatre's usual prices of $13 for adults, $12 for senior citizens and $7 for students under 18.

roll system so that employees will be paid twice per month. The board also voted to discontinue the practice of central office employees doing personal banking for district employees.

• Board members approved a revised student code of conduct for next year, which did not include any major changes. A weapons policy and a Title I parent involvement policy were also approved.

• During the public comment session, Ina Robinson requested that the board match $6,000 raised by the Allen Central track team for equipment; Lance Blackburn asked the board what renovation plans were being made for two buildings on the Betsy Layne Elementary campus; and Derrick Hicks presented the board with documents concerning a new Prestonsburg High School. No action was taken on those issues.

• The board agreed to continue funding the primary resource teacher position and approved a new primary and intermediate report card.

• Board members renewed facility leases for the instruction and special education departments.

Board members met for about an hour in closed session prior to the start of Tuesday's meeting to discuss property acquisition and litigation.

The board will meet in special session June 27 at 6:30 p.m. at Adams Middle School.

Safety aids designed for drowsy drivers

One in four motorists has fallen asleep behind the wheel of a vehicle. University of Louisville researchers are working on projects that could help keep them awake.

University of Louisville engineering researcher Mark Rajai leads a team of students who are designing devices which rely on hand and eye sensors and blasts of cold air to keep drivers alert or rouse them if they doze off.

They are seeking patents on some of the equipment, which they hope will have real-world safety application for truckers and other weary motorists.

River

People who have put a boat into the river or who have fished along its banks are encouraged to contact James in order for him to do a survey of the river's usage.

At the meeting, Clark Allison, reported that the U.S. Geological Survey is in the process of cleaning up coal refuse sites and he had discussed possible clean-up of coal refuse sites at David which have been polluting Middle Creek and the Big Sandy.

Clark also reported that the Natural Resource Conservation Service is seeking an isolated site for the establishment of a pond that can be used for recreation and wildlife preservation.

In other business, the group discussed:

- the establishment of a boat ramp at Goble-Roberts and at American Standard near Paintsville;
- establishment by the Floyd County Board of Education of outdoor classrooms at Adams Middle School and at Allen and Duff elementaries.
- a "real bad smelly area ... that takes your breath" along the river at Emma.
- asking the county to build picnic areas in an area of Beaver Creek;
- getting Floyd County 4-H students involved in river projects;
- a joint application for the River and Streams Grant by Prestonsburg and Paintsville governments.

Stalking charge amended; grand jury to hear assault case

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A grand jury will hear charges against a Floyd County man accused of shooting at a couple who drove by his home last October.

At a preliminary hearing Wednesday, Laura Bentley testified that Steven Todd Harris of Allen fired shots at her and her husband after Harris and her husband exchanged words.

Bentley said that she and her husband, Randy, had to travel past Harris' home at Gas Fork due to work on a railroad crossing and that Harris had "hollered and cussed" at them as they passed by.

The couple had to make a second trip past Harris' residence, Bentley said, and her husband stopped to ask Harris what was wrong.

Harris went into his home and returned with a gun and fired shots at the two, Bentley testified.

Harris is charged with two counts of first degree wanton endangerment.

District Judge James Allen ruled that probable cause had been established and referred the case to the grand jury.

Also Wednesday, a Toler Creek man is facing a second degree assault charge for allegedly hitting a Pike County man in the face with a gun last month.

Arthur Long of Cow Pen in Pike County testified Wednesday that Kenneth Gooslin had attempted to take a gun that Long had loaned to a Helen Osborne. Long said that Gooslin was at Osborne's home when he took her the pistol.

"It was empty and lying on the table and Kenneth Gooslin picked it up and said he was taking it," Long said. "He started off the porch and I put my hand on his shoulder and asked him to give me back my gun. He turned and struck me in the face with the gun."

Long said he first attempted to pry the gun from Gooslin's hands.

"I thought I should've hit him instead of asking for my gun," Long testified.

Judge Allen referred the case to the grand jury.

In a related case, Gooslin was charged with first degree stalking for allegedly breaking into Helen Osborne's home on May 7.

Osborne testified that she awoke to find Gooslin standing over her bed and that he had cut the telephone lines to her home.

Osborne said that Gooslin had stayed at her home on previous occasions because "he wouldn't leave." She testified that she did not invite Gooslin to stay at her home.

Judge Allen ruled that the charge should be amended to second degree stalking, a misdemeanor, because Gooslin did not threaten Osborne and he did not have a weapon at the time. Judge Allen said the case did not meet other statutory requirements to warrant the felony charge.

Dinner theatre

The setting for Jenny Wiley Theatre's luncheon matinee and dinner theatre performances is located in the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center and offers a comfortable atmosphere for both dining and performance viewing.

Jenny Wiley Theatre offers charm, entertainment, dinner

In addition to bringing the entertainment of the theatre arts to Eastern Kentucky each summer through musicals in an amphitheatre setting, Jenny Wiley Theatre also offers the charm of an evening of entertainment in a dinner theatre setting.

Performed in the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center, located directly in front of the amphitheatre, the romantic fantasy of the humorous musical The Fantasticks combines with a meal catered by chef Jim Stinnett and the staff of May Lodge to put together a unique theatre experience. The evening of entertainment begins with the buffet meal, which includes three entrees, four vegetables, salad, dessert and beverage.

Then, immediately following the meal, The Fantasticks, New York's longest running show, brings to the audience a combination of delightful songs and inspiring themes that have endured it to theatre enthusiasts world-wide for nearly 35 years. Having played to audiences on four continents, this musical frolic has had something to offer people of all ages and backgrounds during its long stint in theatres throughout the world.

The play comes alive with its playful message to parents that children will usually do what their parents do not want them to do. As the story unfolds, a boy and a girl attempt romance behind their fathers' backs because the parents have shown disapproval of the couple. Meanwhile, the two fathers have actually staged their disapproval in order to achieve a marriage between the disobedient children. The theme of "reverse psychology" culminates in the song "Never Say No" when the two father's confess their attitudes. The song cites, "Your daughter brings a young man in/And says, 'Do you like him, Pa?/ Just say that he's a fool and then/ You've got a son-in-law."

Included in the songs that should prove to be instantly familiar is "Try to Remember," a tune that was brought into the popular spot light when Ed Ames made the song famous with his rendition during the early 1960's.

The Fantasticks is being performed as both a dinner theatre and luncheon matinee, in addition to regularly scheduled performances throughout Jenny Wiley Theatre's summer season. With only four dinner theatres and four luncheon matinees scheduled, space will be limited. Dinner theatres begin at 6:45 p.m. and all tickets are $26. Luncheon matinee performances begin at 11:30 a.m. with tickets priced at $21. For more information or for reservations, contact the Jenny Wiley Theatre box office at (606) 886-9274. For information on group reservations, ask for Montana Estrada.

Key panel approves ARC funds

A key House subcommittee has approved $142 million for the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) for Fiscal Year 1996, U.S. Congressman Hal Rogers announced this week.

The action taken Tuesday by the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development is a reduction in funding from last year's level. However, it is a sharp reversal from a congressional budget proposal to shut down the ARC and its development efforts in all or parts of 13 Appalachian states.

Rogers, vice-chairman of the House Appropriations panel, said Tuesday's effort was the first step in an important fight to provide funds for the ARC.

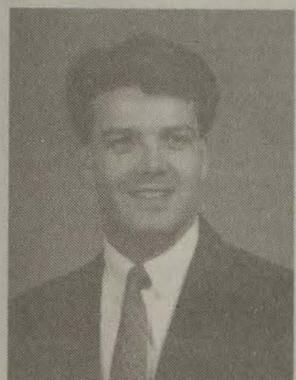

"This is a significant victory," Rogers said. "There is still a long road to travel, but this is a good sign and very important first step."

"ARC is vital to southern and eastern Kentucky and other very poor regions in our country," Rogers said. "It has provided thousands of jobs and miles of roads and waterlines for our communities. With its small federal staff and a lion's share of state and local decision making, ARC is the kind of program the new Congress should be supporting."

Rogers also pointed to the fact that the Energy and Water panel is dominated by members from outside the Appalachian region, including several first-time law makers.

Also approved in the panel's legislation was Rogers' request for more than $19 million in funds for flood projects in southern and eastern Kentucky.

Rogers said the bill now faces votes next week in the House Appropriations Committee and the full House of Representatives.

Phil Blankenship

Former Floyd Countian helps asphalt research

A former Floyd Countian is keeping the nation's economy moving through his research on blacktop.

Phil Blankenship, a son of Wanda and Bennie Blankenship of Prestonsburg, researched asphalt while a student at the University of Kentucky. As part of his thesis work in civil engineering, he wrote an article "The Method for Laboratory Hot Mix Asphalt," which has been published in the National Transportation Research Record.

His work will be used as a guideline by highway departments and contractors throughout the nation.

The study of the asphalt mixture was initiated by the Asphalt Institute for the Strategic High Research Program (SHRP). Blankenship, 26, worked for the Asphalt Institute in Lexington and spent one year in research with new methods of asphalt for the Kentucky Department of Highways.

He has represented the state highway department for the past two years in Louisville, Indianapolis, Washington, D.C., Portland, and Reno, just to name a few.

He is currently employed in Frankfort with the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, Division of Materials.

He is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and the University of Kentucky, where he received his B.S. and Masters Degrees. He also attended Prestonsburg Community College before transferring to UK.

He is married to the former Grete Nearhoof of Allen, who is a substitute teacher in the Fayette County Schools.

Medical students get 3-D learning tool

A realistic look at the human body is essential for medical students learning about gross anatomy. University of Louisville surgeon Robert Acland has developed a teaching tool that lets students see inside the body without touching a cadaver.

Acland's three-dimensional video anatomy atlas was prepared in a refrigerated studio and uses a robotic camera arm he designed.

McDowell Elementary expresses gratitude

Editor:
McDowell Elementary School is very fortunate to have the McDowell ARH in its community. The McDowell ARH staff have donated many hours of time to bring programs and services to our school. Every student in our school has benefited from these services.

Throughout the year, the hospital has supported our students in many activities. The hospital has offered many programs through the Family Resource Center and local agencies.

There is no way that we could ever repay the kindness and caring that the McDowell ARH has shown toward the children of McDowell Elementary. From the entire staff and students of McDowell Elementary School we say, "Thanks for a job well done!"

Flag Day recalls the tears and cheers of generations of Americans

by William M. Detweiler
More than 180 years ago, while America was in the midst of war, a fierce battle occurred.

After two days, the outcome remained uncertain as the night sky brightened with the first hint of dawn. On that brisk September day, a young man stood on the deck of a warship, his eyes straining to see the shore from his vantage point in the harbor.

Suddenly, through the morning mist, he saw what he had hoped for.

Later, the young man wrote down in verse form his emotion-filled thoughts of that morning. His verse began with this question:

"Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light, what so proudly we hail'd, at the twilight's last gleaming?"

That young man, of course, was Francis Scott Key, who penned what was to become known as "The Star-Spangled Banner," our National Anthem.

The American flag that inspired Francis Scott Key was tattered and torn by shot, but still flying over Fort McHenry in Baltimore. It was the morning of September 14, 1814, and the flag was evidence that American forces had not been overrun by the British.

The sight of the flag told Francis Scott Key that America might yet prevail.

America's celebration of Flag Day 1995 also testifies to the endurance of the United States and of the American flag as the symbol of our land.

The flag was officially authorized by Congress on June 14, 1777.

In 1916 President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation asking the nation to observe June 14 as "Flag Day."

In 1949, Congress passed a joint resolution and President Harry S. Truman officially designated June 14 as "Flag Day."

Through more than two centuries, the flag has served as the symbol of our country for generations of Americans. Under her broad stripes and bright stars, men and women who had been born in foreign lands called this country their new home and became Americans.

And they, in turn, raised new generations of Americans—a free people who worked the land, built and operated great industries, created new technologies, advanced the sciences, and improved the world immeasurably.

These are Americans who love this land of opportunity, who believe in honest, hard work, and in serving one's country. To them, the flag serves as the great unifier in America, bringing political and religious differences and crossing boundaries of age, geography and cultural heritage.

Rhonda Shearer of Tippecanoe, Indiana, is one of these Americans. She wrote the following in a recent letter to her local newspaper.

"I may live in a small town, I may be only one person, but there remains one thing I believe...the flag of the USA should be treated with respect. The flag represents blood spilled, lives lost, assistance and charity, a better way of life, and independence. It represents everything this country stands for. I am proud of this country. I am proud of this flag."

I believe most Americans would agree with Rhonda Shearer.

Unfortunately, there are some who delight in desecrating the flag. In March of this year, for example, two teenagers burned an American flag on the campus of the University of Pittsburgh.

One of the teens said afterward: "I don't like the idea of people bowing down to a piece of cloth...I believe in peaceful anarchy, or removal of the government."

The America Legion believes the American flag should be protected from such despicable acts.

That's why we formed the Citizens Flag Alliance last year to lead a nationwide effort for a constitutional amendment to protect the flag from physical desecration.

A proposed flag amendment has now been introduced in both houses of Congress. And, 49 states have officially asked Congress to send them the amendment for ratification.

All Americans should support this issue.

The flag holds the tears and cheers of generations of Americans—now gone. They left their flag in our care.

Were Francis Scott Key alive today, where would he stand on the issue of flag protection?

Would he side with the U.S. Supreme Court, which said in 1989 the flag desecration is just a form of free speech?

Or, would he shake his head and ask—as he did one morning long ago—"Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave, o'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?"

William M. Detweiler is national commander of The American Legion, the nation's largest veterans organization.

Rally 'round the flag, boys

by Scott Perry

Of all the grand schemes we've concocted to protect ourselves from our own ignorance or inadequacies...like child-proof caps, seat belt laws, warning labels on cigarettes and even proposed term limits for legislators...we can muster support for just one.

We would favor a constitutional amendment that would prohibit the desecration of the American flag.

Call us a redneck or a radical if you like, but we firmly believe Old Glory deserves unconditional respect.

Its stars and bars reflect the sacrifices our forefathers have made to ensure that liberty prevails in this country.

The cost of those sacrifices have often been dear.

Is it hypocrisy to suggest that the symbol of our freedom should be given a status that supercedes some of those constitutionally guaranteed rights?

We think not.

The real hypocrisy is excusing desecration of the flag under the pretense of freedom of speech.

Those who burn the flag are saying, we suppose, that this country is nothing; that the men and women who died to protect our freedoms are nobody; and that the rights we have earned are worthless.

Why not just burn the Constitution?

No one cherishes the right to free speech more than us, but we recognize the responsibility that goes with it.

The flag is more than brightly colored cloth woven together.

It is a reminder that America is the greatest country on earth and it is a symbol of that greatness.

It shouldn't take a law to make us see that, but apparently it will.

Count us among those who won't hesitate to rally 'round the flag.

It's too precious to be relegated to a status of commonness.

Betsy Layne school Champions climax school year with trip to King's Island

by Reba Hammond Hamilton

This has been an action packed year at Betsy Layne High School for Mrs. Reba's Champions. The club has done so much including recently attending project P.A.R.T.Y. at the National Guard Armory. This was done by the help of the Youth Services and Mrs. Mary Campbell who sponsored the club. It was a fun packed time and a very informative day for the following who attended: These played and performed; Glenn Hamilton, Samatha Martin, Joe Newsome, Brandi Compton, Nick Adkins, Valerie Boyd, Jarred Hall, and Adam Newman.

The song was "Think about Elvis" and Samatha Martin was the lead vocalist.

The year was climaxed by a trip to Kings Island on Saturday, May 6. The trip couldn't have been made without the help of Dr. Towler, Jim Osborne, Lola Bearshear, Chapter IV; Dotty Hastings, and Don Daniels. Tawanna Williams also assisted with the club this year. They made seemingly an impossible situation for us, as a club, possible.

party was sponsored by the Chapter I students for their parents. It was a huge success. Approximately 100 people attended.

Joan Adkins was the parent Rep for Chapter I and she worked and did so much. She fixed candy for the party and also attended a very special planning meeting to see that this program goes on for next year in the Floyd County System. Joan helped to make this program such a success this year by telling many of its values and needs for it in our school systems.

Jim Bowling, Rosie Stewart, Ruth Thompson, Irene Goble and Don Daniels also played a role in the success of the year. They each had a large part in helping Chapter I at Betsy Layne High School.

A Look Back....

Prestonsburg Blackcats state baseball champions in '48

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

In 1948, a Floyd County high school team brought home a Kentucky state championship trophy -- the Prestonsburg Blackcat baseball team.

The mark still stands as the only state tournament title a Floyd County school holds in a major high school sport.

No county basketball team has ever won a state title. No football team, although the Blackcats came close in '93, has ever brought home a championship trophy.

So the 1948 Blackcat baseball team owns, still today, the lone state championship for a Floyd County school.

The '48 team compiled a perfect 36-0 season with power and great pitching.

Behind the plate was Franky

Delano "Set" Branham, who was named All-State catcher that year.

Howard Burchett tossed a seven-hitter in the championship game against Newport Catholic, collecting three hits himself and scoring three times. Burchett struck out nine and walked three in the game the Blackcats won 12-3.

Bill Goble was the team's left fielder and drew the attention of many college scouts with a perfect 5-for-5 in the opening game against Fort Knox.

Goble had a double, triple and three singles against Fort Knox, a game Prestonsburg won 13-9 -- the only game in which coach John Eibner's ballclub would be challenged.

Prestonsburg had to score twice in the bottom of the seventh inning to tie the game at 9-9 and send it into extra innings.

In the eighth, the Blackcats pushed home four runs and held on for the 13-9 win.

Fort Knox scored six times in the first inning against starter "Blue" Childers before he gave way to Harmon. Burchett eventually came on to finish the game for Prestonsburg.

Burchett also was a part of the four-run rally in the eighth inning getting a two triple. He later scored on a slow roller off the bat of Porter.

Prestonsburg faced a strong Central City team in the semifinal. The Blackcats had to claw their way back into competition. Central City scored five of their seven runs in the fifth inning with Burchett once again coming in to put the opposition away.

Prestonsburg posted a 10-7 win over Central and advanced to the championship game against Newport.

Drift Astros win division title with 4-2 victory over Martin Cardinals

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Bub Goins hurled a complete game and pitched the Drift Astros into sole possession of first place in the Beaver Creek South Division after the Astros posted a 4-2 win over the Martin Cardinals.

"We can't finish worst than first now," said Astros coach Clinis Hall. "We have it locked up."

Goins fanned 11 batters in picking up the win.

"Bub pitched a strong game for us," said Hall. "I'm really proud of all of them."

The first place finish gives the Astros the top spot for the third time in four years.

"I wasn't supposed to have anything coming back this year," Hall stated. "But this little team just played hard all the time."

The win improved the Astros to 9-2 on the season and the Cardinals fell to 7-3.

"I have been blessed with good talent over the last four years," Hall said. "I love these kids. I couldn't ask for a better team."

Drift took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning when Mike Hall beat out a bunt and scored on an error.

The Astros added two more runs in the second inning on a two-run double by J.J. Hall. Hall's hit scored Robbie Stumbo, who reached on an error and Justin Taylor, who walked.

Martin got a run back in the top of the third after some shaky fielding by the Astros to make it a 3-1 game.

Drift added their fourth run in the fourth on a single by Stumbo, who stole second and third before scoring on Hall's sacrifice fly.

Martin picked up their final run in the fifth on a base hit by "Biggin" McGlothen. McGlothen stole second and third and rode home on Josh Yates' sacrifice fly.

"I'm so happy," said the elated Drift coach. "I figured a .500 season at the best. We got down earlier in the season but this team pulled together and came together."

The Beaver Creek Little League tournament starts Monday at both the Martin and Minnie Parks. Coach Hall said that his team will be ready.

"We need to play good defense," he said. "If we do that we'll be all right. We've been working hard on our hitting and we're making good contact."

Jeremy Hayes suffered the loss for Martin. He fanned five batters in allowing only five hits.

"Jeremy pitched a good game against us," said Hall. "He didn't give us too much to swing at."

Close at third!

The Little League baseball season is winding down and the different leagues will be selecting their All-Star teams soon. Here the Martin Cardinals and Drift Astros met at Minnie Park for their final regular season game. The Beaver Creek Little League will field two All-Star teams this year. The Astros posted a 4-2 win over the Cards to clinch first in the South Division. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Three of the five students who made the trip graduated, including Hunt. The other two were Jackie Gillespie and Curtis Gillespie.

Combs bats Duff Orioles past Wayland Jaguars 16-5

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Anthony Hall went five full innings and Beth Combs collected four RBIs to lead the Duff Orioles to a 16-5 mercy win over the Wayland Jaguars last week at Minnie Park.

Combs had two doubles and an inside-the-park home run to lead the Orioles from the plate.

Hall fanned 10 batters and walked two in picking up the win. John Ousley had two hits and two runs batted in for the winners.

Wayland broke on top 4-1 with four runs in the first. Moore had an opening inning double and scored on Stumbo's base hit. A walk, a hit batter and Allen's RBI single made it a 3-1 game. Allen scored on an error to make it 4-1.

The Orioles scored first when Combs walked, stole second, third and home. The Orioles left the bases loaded in the inning.

Hall held the Jaguars at bay in the second inning, allowing them a run on a walk to O'Neal, who scored on a passed ball.

The Orioles put five runs on the scoreboard in the third inning on Combs three-run home run. They added nine more runs in the fifth to mercy the Jaguars.

The Jaguars did not collect a hit over the final four innings. They only put three base runners on base after the first inning.

Mullins hammers a pair of homers in Braves 12-11 win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

How about those Braves! Not the Atlanta Braves, but the Prestonsburg Braves.

"Hammering" Hank Mullins belted a pair of home runs and Randy Stone collected three hits to send the Braves to a 12-11 extra inning win over the Prestonsburg Reds this past Monday evening at Archer Park.

The big hit came in the bottom of the eighth inning when Matt Tackett lined a base hit to center, scoring John Gillispie with the winning run. Gillispie had reached on a leadoff walk and advanced to second on Nick Hager's ground out to first base.

Chris Spriggs pitched the seventh and eighth innings and received credit for the win.

Craig Prince suffered the setback for the Reds.

The Reds led 11-10 heading into the bottom of the sixth inning. The Braves plated a run in the bottom of the inning to tie the game at 11 and send the game into bonus frames.

Gillispie led off the Braves sixth with a base hit and scored on Hager's RBI single.

The Reds took a 11-10 lead on J.T. Abshire's single that scored Chris Blackburn.

Fleenor collected two hits for the Reds. Greg Arnett had a two-hit night and Abshire singled in the sixth and doubled in the eighth.

Abshire's two-bagger in the eighth set up what could have been the tying run. But Bo Sturgill grounded to short for the final out.

Mullins played long ball in the third and fourth innings. He blasted a three-run shot in the third and again in the fourth. He had six RBIs in the game. Gillispie and Tackett had two hits each. Spriggs doubled in the fifth.

Rangers score two in eighth to nip Yankees in extra innings, 19-18

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Rangers continued to be giant killers despite a less-than-banner season.

The Rangers posted a 19-18 come-from-behind win over last season's league champions, the Prestonsburg Yankees, at Archer Park last week.

The Rangers scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth inning to notch the victory.

The Yankees scored a run in the top of the inning to break a 17-17 tie entering the bottom of the eighth.

Elray Cline walked and scored on a wild pitch to give the Yankees the lead at 18-17.

The Rangers weren't finished. With two outs in the bottom of the inning, Phillip Allen drew a walk. He moved to second on a wild pitch and stopped at third base when Chad Wallen singled with two out.

Wallen stole second to put both runners in scoring position. Josh Meade was behind in the count at a ball and two strikes when he drilled a gapper to the right centerfield fence to score both runners and give the Rangers the victory.

The fans were treated to nail-biting close plays, good throws, bad catches, missed calls and home runs.

The Yankees gave Ranger starter Josh Slone a rude greeting by scoring seven times in the first inning as 11 batters went to the plate. The Rangers helped the opposition by committing three errors. Shepherd had a three-run triple in the inning for the Yanks.

Wallen scored for the Rangers lone run in the bottom of the first.

The Yankees added another run in the top of the second as Hackworth scored on Hunter's single.

Josh Slone tried to bring his team back with a three-run triple in the bottom of the second inning. The Rangers trailed 8-4 after two innings.

Slone found the Yankee bats still hot as he gave up four runs in the top of the third inning. This time, Brook Stennett tripled with the bases loaded for the Yankees.

In the bottom of the third, Meade got the Rangers started with a solo home run. Josh Shepherd walked and later scored in the inning for a 12-6 count.

Slone allowed the Yankees one run in the top of the fourth on an RBI single by Bell to score Elliott.

Elray Cline came on in relief of Yankee starter Brook Stennett and was greeted with a barrage of Ranger hits. Wallen singled and later scored on a passed ball. Two runs scored on Chris Crider's two-run double to right center. A throwing error led to two more Ranger runs for a 13-11 Yankee lead.

The Yankees continued to add to the lead with two runs in the fifth inning. Hackworth drilled a two-run home run to give the Yankees a 15-11 lead.

Bradshaw's two-run singled pulled the Rangers to within one, 15-14, after they batted in the bottom of the fifth.

Coach Bobby Shepherd's Yankees still had some juice left in their bats as they played two more runs in the top of the sixth to lead 17-14 with the Rangers coming to bat for what appeared the final time.

But the Rangers scored three times in the frame to tie the game at 17 and send the game into extra innings.

Slone had a two-run single to right scoring Phillip Allen and Barnett.

The Yankees got a fresh look at new pitcher Zack Bradshaw in the seventh inning and he fanned the side, facing five batters.

Bradshaw got credit for the win in hurling two innings. Slone, in going the first six, allowed 17 runs on 13 hits. He fanned six and walked six.

Cline was the losing pitcher in relief. He allowed 13 runs on 10 hits.

Slone had five runs batted in for the Rangers. Meade picked up three RBIs. For the Yankees, Stennett and Hackworth had three hits each and three RBIs.

runs on one hit. Josh Slone went the distance for the Rangers, working four and two-thirds innings before the game was called on the mercy rule. Slone surrendered 10 runs on 13 hits.

The Yankees exploded for five runs in the bottom of the fifth with Neeley, Hunter and Elliott doubling home runs. Stennett had the game-winning hit with a single down the third base line.

Cline collected three hits for the Yankees as did Neeley. Elliott picked up two RBIs for the winners.

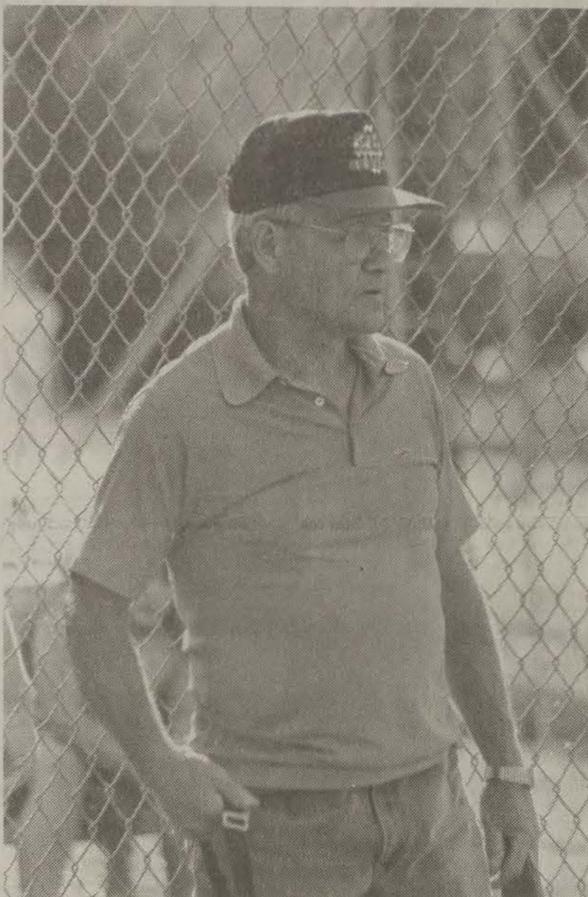

Zack Bradshaw and Wallen had the only two hits for the Rangers. Wallen's hit came in the first inning and after that nine straight Ranger batters went down in order.

Hunter had an RBI single for the Yankees in the second.

Cubs show Rangers no mercy

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Bart Barnett, a 9-year-old Little Leaguer with the Prestonsburg Rangers, got his first taste of pitching when he took the mound in the fourth inning to face the Prestonsburg Cubs last Friday at Archer Park.

The Cubs showed little sympathy for the rookie -- touching him for five runs en route to a 16-6 mercy win.

Josh Shepherd started for the Rangers and was hit hard by the Cubs -- allowing four runs in each of the first two innings.

The Cubs scored four in the first with the help of three walks by Shepherd and a double by Chris Stephens.

The Rangers made it a 4-3 game with three in the first on RBI singles by Chad Wallen and Zack Bradshaw.

Four Cub runs crossed the plate in the second for an 8-3 lead. Gibson had a two-run single and Sosebee had a RBI double.

Barnett then made his appearance and allowed five runs to the Cubs in the fourth. He worked two-thirds of an inning. The youngster is a battler and will be a good one in the future.

The Rangers tried to rally in the fourth, scoring twice for a 13-6 game. Josh Meade and Chad Wallen drove in a run apiece. Chirs Crider relieved Barnett in the fifth but couldn't stop the Cubs from scoring three more runs.

Chris Stephens finished the game with two doubles and a triple. Sosebee had a double.

Martin one-hits Rangers

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Indians scored 12 runs in the final three innings and handed the Prestonsburg Rangers a 12-2 mercy setback.

Ryan Martin didn't give the Rangers much to hit as he allowed only a single to Josh Meade. Martin struck out seven batters while walking four in picking up the win.

Josh Shepherd had trouble finding the strike zone for the Rangers. He walked eight batters and struck out two. He allowed six runs on two hits in the two innings he worked.

Matt Setser relieved Shepherd and hurled the final two innings. He surrendered six runs on only one hit. He walked 10 batters and fanned two.

The two teams combined for only four hits in the game. Shawn Newsome and Martin had a pair of doubles for the Indians while Wes Jenkins singled.

Martin finished with three RBIs.

Everything was taken but scalps in the battle of two tribes on the Little League field at Archer Park this past Saturday afternoon.

The Prestonsburg Braves got timely hitting from Jason Isom and Chris Spriggs hurtled four strong innings to help the Braves to a 17-12 war cry win over the Prestonsburg Indians.

All Isom did was collect four hits in four plate appearances. He had two triples, a double and single.

Spriggs fanned eight batters and he collected three hits. Spriggs tripled in the second, walked, singled in the fourth and doubled in the fifth.

The Braves made it a 3-3 game on an RBI triple by Isom and an error.

Three runs scored in the Indians second on six walks and an error. The Braves came back with 11 in their half of the second to lead 13-6. Burchett, hitting for the second time in the inning, singled home two runs to give him four RBIs for the inning.

Danny Layne had a run-producing single and Randy Slone doubled home a run. Isom collected his third hit of the game in the inning with a single.

Spriggs started the rally with a leadoff triple. Anthony Burchett then drilled a two-run home run. Three batters later, Isom collected his second triple of the game, scoring Randy Slone. Matt Tackett had an RBI single in the inning.

The Braves went out in order in the third but scored twice in the fourth and dented the plate for two more in

The Indians scored four times in the sixth inning as they tried to rally. Turner had a two-run single.

The Braves improved to 8-2 on the season and strengthened their hold on first place in the Prestonsburg Little League.

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

A pair of 10-year-old arms paced the way for the Prestonsburg Rangers as they did in the Prestonsburg Mets 4-2 last Saturday at Archer Park in Little League baseball play.

Zack Bradshaw and Matt Setser scattered three Mets hits with Bradshaw getting the win and Setser the save.

Bradshaw allowed one hit over the four innings he pitched. He did not allow a run. Setser surrendered two runs on two hits.

who disposed of tournament favorite Louisville Manual the night before. Newport found the pitching of Burchett and the bats of the Blackcats too much.

Prestonsburg collected 15 hits in the championship game with Branham collecting three hits in as many at bats. Goble had two hits in the game.

Porter swung a heavy bat for the Blackcats with four hits in five plate appearances.

Bill Goble finished the three games with nine hits in 12 trips to the plate. As a team, Prestonsburg batted .402. They collected 35 hits over the three game series.

Courier-Journal Sports Editor, Earl Ruby, rated Branham and Goble as "great prospects" and "the professional leagues will hear about these boys."

Goble, Porter, Garber, Weddington, Williamson and Branham were seniors that season.

It was the fourth consecutive state tournament appearance for a Prestonsburg baseball team.

Traveling exhibit of artists on display

"Images From the Mountains: A Traveling Exhibit of Appalachian Artists" is on display now through June 22, on the fifth floor of the Camden-Carroll Library on the Morehead State University campus.

The exhibit, sponsored by Appalshop, will be displayed during the university's Appalachian Celebration which will run June 18-24 and highlight the culture and heritage of the region.

Now in its ninth year, "Images" is an annual competitive exhibition of work by established and emerging artists from Eastern Kentucky. Displayed are works of 13 artists. They include:

Catherine S. Wells of Flat Gap, who uses art to express an understanding of natural surroundings; and Thomas J. Whitaker of Prestonsburg, a Magoffin County native who has been working on a series of paintings with a quilt theme.

The exhibit was described as a testament to the dynamic and ongoing tradition of visual art created by artists living and working in Eastern Kentucky by the juror, Lisa Blackadar, curator for the Headley-Whitney Museum in Lexington.

Additional information on the exhibit is available by calling the library at (606) 783-5122. Details on MSU's Appalachian Celebration are available by calling (606) 783-2077.

Appalachian Celebration

For many, grinding cornmeal and making lye soap are only a part of history that is discussed along with "days gone by."

But while these talents, like making brooms and blacksmithing, are not as common today, there are those who still practice the old methods of making useful items.

Visitors to the Morehead State University campus during the annual Appalachian Celebration, June 18-24, will have the opportunity to see skilled craftpersons producing a variety of works. Several demonstrations will be offered from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday, June 19, through Thursday, June 22, at Laughlin Health Building.

Additional information on MSU's Appalachian Celebration events is available by calling the Office of Continuing Education at (606) 783-2077.

Former school employee sues

Contributed by the Salyersville Independent

A Salyersville man has filed a suit in Magoffin Circuit Court seeking punitive and compensatory damages against Superintendent Howard Wallace and the Magoffin County Board of Education in part because of a claim of wrongful termination of his job with the Magoffin County school system.

The plaintiff, Henry C. (H.C.) Prater said in his complaint that the termination of his job in the maintenance department of the Magoffin County school system by Superintendent Wallace was retaliatory and was based in part on his having previously filed a workers' compensation claim against the Magoffin County Board of Education.

According to the suit, Prater worked for the Magoffin County Board of Education for seven years. On or about December 4, 1992, the Plaintiff said he filed a workers' compensation claim alleging that he suffered from occupational disease of pneumoconiosis, respiratory disease known as asbestosis, which he contracted in part while working for the Magoffin Board of Education.

Also, he stated in the suit that on March 21, 1990 he received injuries in a motor vehicle wreck, including a herniated disc and pinched nerve in his neck. Prater said he informed his employer, the Magoffin County Board of Education and the then-superintendent, Carter Whitaker, of these injuries. He continued to work in the same job, but under light duty limitations until his wrongful discharge by Wallace.

The suit states that Prater and the Magoffin County Board of Education entered a settlement agreement for his workers' compensation claim on April 25, during which the defendants acknowledged his disease and disability.

Prater states in the suit that after he filed his compensation claim, defendant, Howard Wallace, made numerous statements that the Magoffin County Board of Education had far too many workers' compensation claims against it, and that he was going to remedy that situation and stated that his workers' compensation claim was one of the reasons Wallace terminated his job.

He also claims that his relationship with former superintendent, Whitaker, as a friend and political supporter, led to his termination by Wallace.

Prater claims that Wallace's termination has violated his constitutional rights and has resulted in lost wages and benefits; deprived him of his livelihood and has subjected him to public humiliation, and that he has endured great and severe mental anguish.

The Plaintiff is asking for judgment against the defendants, jointly and severally, for both punitive and compensatory damage in sums exceeding the minimum jurisdictional limits of the court, a trial by jury, attorney's fees and all other relief to which he is justly and properly entitled.

Guardcare '95 was done in cooperation with the 475th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital (M*A*S*H) of the Kentucky Army National Guard, the Mud Creek Clinic and the Big Sandy Health Care Corporation, in Grethel. Dental services were provided by the 973rd Medical Detachment unit. Dental work consisted of anything that did not require a lab, mostly pulling and cleaning teeth. (photo by Alisa Goodwill)

Pike given go-ahead, Phrase III opens

by Lucy Holman
Staff Writer
Appalachian News-Express

County officials have been given the go-ahead by the state to open Phase III of the county's landfill at Ford Mountain.

Judge-Executive Donna Damron obtained the operating permit from the Division of Waste Management during a trip to Frankfort this past week.

Phase III is expected to be in use for the next six years, and has been permitted through the year 2003.

Damron said the county's landfill has the capacity to expand three additional phases.

The first two phases of the landfill were expected to be filled to capacity by February 1995, according to an engineer's report.

Timing was crucial, and officials worked to expedite construction of the third phase by January so the county wouldn't have to haul its trash to another landfill.

Damron said the construction of Phase III took longer than anticipated due to weather delays; however, the county was never in a crisis situation.

Phase III construction costs were estimated at $1.9 million.

Battle Ridge Company of Charleston, West Virginia, was able to complete the construction project under budget, and Damron said she was pleased with the quality of the company's work.

During a previous discussion on Phase III, Magistrate Stirl E. Harris said litigation and continued change orders during construction of earlier phases of the landfill left the county with unanticipated expenditures of $850,000 for transporting Pike garbage to Mingo County.

Harris, who was interim judge-executive during the first phase of landfill construction, called the experience with the previous contractor a "nightmare."

Only 28 landfills are in operation statewide.

Pike County is one of six counties in a 35-county area that currently has an operating permit.

The county's permit allows for the disposal of authorized waste originating in Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin and Perry counties.

Of those, only Perry County has registered a notice of intent with the Division of Waste Management to construct a landfill; however, records indicate that it will not be permitted for some time.

The county recently purchased a new compactor, which is expected to extend the life of the landfill, and a dozer for the landfill.

Paintsville medical school on schedule

by Tony Fyffe
The Paintsville Herald

Plans for an osteopathic medical school in Paintsville appear to be on schedule, school officials said this week.

If things go as planned, construction on the Southern College of Osteopathic Medicine is scheduled to begin in August, said Paintsville attorney Chad Perry, secretary of the school's board of trustees.

The board has received one construction bid and is awaiting another, Perry said. The college will be constructed on land donated by Homer and Mary Short and located behind the new K-mart on U.S. 23.

The Shorts are currently preparing the site for construction, Perry said.

Randall C. Burchett and Associates, an architectural firm headquartered in Prestonsburg, designed the building.

Perry said 63 PhDs have applied or made inquiries to teach at the college. In addition, three hospitals—Pikeville Methodist, Three Rivers and King's Daughters—have agreed to be in charge of the college's intern and residency programs, he said.

Perry also predicts the school will have "no problem" attracting students, noting that 2,200 students recently applied at the University of Kentucky Medical School in Lexington.

Donations, which had been a problem a few months ago, continue to roll in, Perry said. The most recent contributors include the city of Paintsville, which has pledged $10,000 over a two-year period; businessman John Bizzack, who donated $5,000; and Foothills Rural Telephone cooperative, which had pledged $2,000 a year for three years.

Brown's Auto Sales will give school officials the use of a vehicle, valued at $10,000, for two years.

The school is scheduled to open in August 1996.

LeMaster asks for rehearing

Attorneys for former state senator David LeMaster filed a petition last Tuesday asking the entire Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals to rehear his case after a panel of three judges voted 2-1 to uphold the 1994 conviction.

Alva H. Hollon Jr. of Lexington, LeMaster's lead attorney, said the decision the three-judge panel made is contrary to an earlier decision issued by the United States Court of Appeals.

Hollon, along with Louisa defense attorney Eldred E. "Bud" Adams, contends that LeMaster's answer of "no" to several questions does not constitute providing false information to the FBI.

They are asking the court to reconsider whether the "exculpatory no" doctrine should apply to this case. In the petition, Hollon wrote that the majority-opinion of the two judges relies in part on a case that was later overruled by the U.S. Supreme Court. Also, he said the panel misinterpreted another case cited to back their point.

LeMaster was convicted in January of 1994 of lying to FBI agents about receiving money in return for political favors.

He was one of 21 defendants convicted in operation Boprot, a federal probe into corruption into state government.

The FBI said LeMaster received $6,000 in cash from a lobbyist in 1992, and then lied to them about it. He was sentenced to one year in prison and fined $30,000 plus $25,149.60 in court costs.

LeMaster remains free on bond until the outcome of his appeal can be heard. The court has not yet made a decision on granting a rehearing.

Woman charged with shoplifting

A Sitka woman was charged last week with shoplifting at the Paintsville Wal-Mart, authorities said.

Lou C. Hall, 27, was arrested last Monday by Paintsville patrolman John Dale III. The items allegedly taken and value were not listed on the complaint.

Hall posted $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in district court June 28.

Guilty pleas entered by three detention center inmates

Three inmates at the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center pleaded guilty last week to charges stemming from an August 1994 riot.

The three prisoners—Anthony Salyers, George Mayle and Claude Mills—entered the pleas to first-degree rioting charges last Wednesday in Johnson Circuit.

Salyers also pleaded guilty to a third-degree assault charge. Police said Salyers threw urine on a deputy jailer during the riot, which occurred August 13, 1994.

Commonwealth's attorney Ann Deskins Melvin recommended that Salyers receive one year on each of the two charges.

She also recommended that Mayle and Mills each be sentenced to one year on the rioting charges.

Judge Stephen N. Frazier scheduled sentencing for July 7.

A total of eight inmates were indicted for the riot, in which police claimed the prisoners may have been improperly shocked with electric shields by jail personnel.

Court of Appeals upholds local ruling

A teen-age couple's drowning in Paintsville Lake four years ago during a post-prom drinking party was not the fault of the marina operator, the state Court of Appeals ruled last week.

The ruling upheld a Johnson Circuit Court judgment in favor of Rocky Knob Associates Inc., which runs the marina on a contract with the Kentucky parks department.

The parents of April Pennington, 16, and Timothy Stambaugh, 24, contended in a wrongful-death lawsuit that Rocky Knob officials knew the marina parking lot was an afterhours hangout for youths in gatherings that sometimes included drinking.

The suit alleged Rocky Knob also knew of other hazards around the marina, including deep water, jagged rocks and an unlit shoreline.

The teens drowned late May 18, 1991, and autopsies showed both had been drinking.

Wolf Creek miners hear about career options after layoffs

Over half of the 276 miners who have been laid-off from work from Wolf Creek Collieries got together Tuesday at Warfield Elementary to listen to career options. Several union officials and representatives from various agencies were on hand to provide information.

Representative from UMW District No. 17 Bert Melton said, "We all experience some anxieties when we stop working, those anxieties grow and grow. What we want to do is provide you with as much information as we can today. We're trying to get some grant money for you."

Thursday, union representatives on behalf of the 276 miners traveled to Frankfort to advocate for grant money.

If they receive it, miners who enroll in higher education within 13 weeks after they are laid off are eligible for some money.

Jamie Mangent, manpower program advisor for the Workforce Committee in Frankfort, passed out pamphlets containing information about filling out resumes and preparing for job interviews.

Sharon Burchett of the Prestonsburg Unemployment Department, spoke to the attentive group. She said her office could help the miners create their resumes and provide them guidance in the job market.

Joe Sutton, a counselor at Prestonsburg Community College, also told the miners his doors were open to them whether or not they were planning to attend PCC.

Likewise, Mike Browning, of the Southern West Virginia Community College and a former miner, told the group he was available to help in any way he can.

Browning said he had helped other laid-off miners from another mine get grant money and also planned to travel to Frankfort Thursday to advocate for grant money for the Wolf Creek workers.

Mangent said early intervention with your finances is important. "It's really important during this time you call your creditors if you need to and let them know what's happening. Don't just sit back and let your credit card bills go," she said.

Coal haulers picket mine in Magoffin

A group of 22 independent coal haulers began walking picket lines at a Magoffin County strip mine last week over the mining firm's decision to allow out-of-county truckers to work the site.

The protesting truckers claim the move by Miller Bros. Coal, which is mining a site owned by Kentucky May Coal, violates their contract. They say they have been squeezed out little by little during the past several months.

"We want to work with them," trucker spokesman John Risner said of the outside haulers. "They've come in and completely put us out...They're hauling it all."

Bob Miller, the mining company's owner, said half the people he employs at the site are from Magoffin. He called the pickets, who have been demonstrating since Tuesday, "troublemakers."

Risner said he and the others were being paid $4.50 a ton for hauling the coal, but that Miller had recently added five miles to the route and dropped the rate 10 cents a ton.

unconstitutional. Martin's appeal of his dismissal is also pending in Franklin Circuit Court.

Federal mine inspector to plead guilty to extortion

Gary McClanahan, 51, of Freeburn was expected to plead guilty Tuesday to charges of extorting bribes and falsifying reports.

Freeburn, who worked in the U.S. Mine Safety and Health Administration's Phelps office, was indicted in April on charges he took $500 from an official of Burning Ridge Coal Company in exchange for not writing citations.

He was also charged with three counts of lying on forms about inspecting the mine.

McClanahan had pleaded innocent, but filed a motion last week asking to change his plea. His trial is scheduled to begin Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Pikeville.

Judge sentences former mine inspector

U. S. District Judge Joseph Hood this week sentenced T. Richard Oney, a former federal mine inspector, to six months in prison and ordered him to perform 100 hours of community service.

Oney, 47, of Logan, West Virginia, pleaded guilty in March to one count of conspiracy and admitted scheming with another inspector, John W. Banks, to extort at least $7,000 from coal operators in Pike County.

Oney worked for the Mine Safety and Health Administration's Pikeville office when the extortion occurred in 1989 and 1990.

Judge Hood also fined Oney $2,900, the amount he admitted taking from an official of Big I. Enterprises Inc.

Former state trooper files civil rights lawsuit

A civil rights lawsuit was filed in May against the Kentucky State Police by a black trooper who says he was dismissed from his job because he is black.

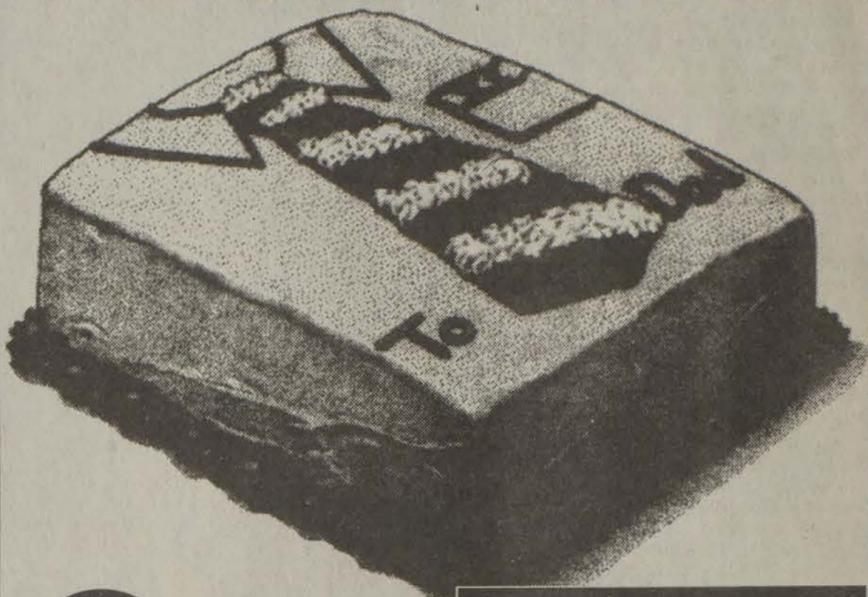

Jerome Martin, who was assigned to the Pikeville State Police post, was fired in January 1991 for alleged homosexual acts. An administrative panel of the state police determined that Martin had engaged in oral sex with a man in his cruiser during Memorial Day weekend in 1990. The board also decreed that Martin had lied about the incident.

Martin continues to deny the allegations and, in the lawsuit, states that his "performance and efficiency was equal to or better than similarly situated white troopers."

In his legal action, Martin, the only black trooper at the post, claims that he was held to a higher standard and was treated differently than his white co-workers. The former trooper said he was singled out and terminated as a result of his race.

Martin, and the other man, Tim Branham, were charged and convicted of fourth-degree sodomy. In 1993, those convictions were overturned based on the Kentucky Supreme Court ruling that the state's sodomy law was

Former organist for Billy Graham to perform at dedication

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

Renowned organist and music professor Dr. Donald Paul Hustad, who once was an organist for the Billy Graham Crusades, will be in concert at Allen First Baptist Church on Sunday, June 25.

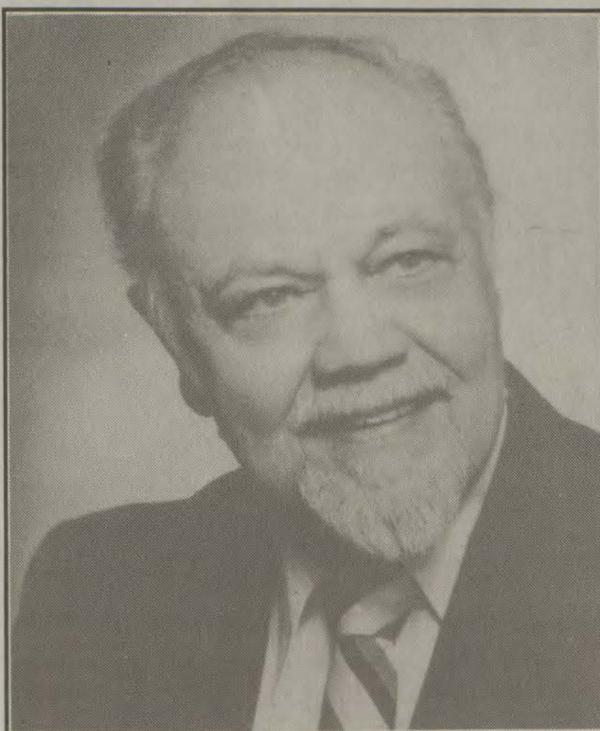

"Dr. Hustad is one of the preeminent organists in the world," said Rev. French Harmon, pastor of First Baptist. "We are thrilled to have him."

Hustad will be playing the church's new Allen organ during the 11 a.m. morning worship service. The musician will also perform in concert for the organ dedication ceremony at the church at 3 p.m.

"He will be demonstrating what the organ can do," Harmon said about Hustad's role at the dedication.

Two years ago the church purchased the $40,000 Allen organ from its manufacturer in Allentown, Pennsylvania and the church has been planning the dedication service for about eight months, the pastor said.

First Baptist Minister of Music Dee White described the electronic Allen organ as "the equal to about a one hundred rank pipe organ. It's one of the finest organs money can buy and one of the biggest electronic organs in Eastern Kentucky. The size of a pipe organ like this instrument costs about half a million dollars."

One of the best

Dr. Donald Paul Hustad, a renowned musician, will perform at First Baptist Church of Allen on Sunday, June 25, at 3 p.m.

White said about guest organist Hustad, "For years he was the organist for the Billy Graham Crusades. There isn't a better organist in the United States."

White added, "I've heard him many times. Anyone who listened to Billy Graham Crusades...at the peak of the crusades, heard him playing the organ."

Hustad has a musical background that includes work as a conductor, arranger, recording artist, teacher and lecturer. From 1961 to 1967, Hustad was a team organist for Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. He was also director of two other association programs, "Crusader Men" and "Hour of Decision."

Presently, Hustad is Senior Professor of Church Music at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. In addition, he is the author of numerous compositions, and the editor of nine hymnals. He is also church music columnist for leading Christian publications, such as "Moody Monthly," "Eternity," "Christianity Today," and "The Hymn."

Harmon, whose alma mater is the Louisville seminary, said that when he attended the school, Hustad was "one of the most popular professors at Louisville."

The pastor and professor had never met, though, until they were seated together on a plane in Chicago a few months ago.

"I knew who he was, but he didn't know who I was," Harmon said.

The two became acquainted during the plane trip and Hustad accepted Harmon's invitation to play at the church's upcoming organ dedication service.

The public is invited to the service. "This man has played in front of millions of people," Harmon said. "If you love good music, this is the place to be."

Appalachian poet receives treasure award

Appalachian poet Albert Stewart of Hindman will receive the Appalachian Treasure Award during Morehead State University's 19th annual Appalachian Celebration, June 18-24.

The celebration will begin with an opening reception on Sunday, June 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the gallery of the Claypool-Young Art Building. Presentation of the award will be made at this time.

A Southeast Kentucky native, Stewart grew up in Knott County. He attended high school at Hindman Settlement School, then continued his education at Berea College and the University of Kentucky where he earned degrees in English.

Stewart has devoted his life to teaching, writing, publishing and encouraging others to publish their works. While he has conducted poetry workshops throughout Appalachia, he returns annually to participate in his high school's writers' workshop.

In the early '60s, Stewart was a teacher at Morehead State University and has since served as a scholar-in-residence for the University's Appalachian Celebration. He established "Inscape," a student literary and arts magazine, and published his first collection of poetry, "The Untoward Hills," while at MSU.

Last year the Berea College Press published a book of Stewart's poems, "The Holy Season: Walking in the Wild" which is described as a summing up of his life and career in the literary world.

Stewart joins a prestigious list of Appalachian celebrities who have previously received MSU's Appalachian Treasure Award. They include: James Still, 1988; Jean Ritchie, 1989; Loyal Jones, 1990; Gurney Norman, 1991; Lyndall "Granny" Toothman, 1992; Homer Ledford, 1993, and Minnie Adkins, 1994.

The Appalachian Celebration, a weeklong festival sponsored by MSU's Office of Continuing Education, offers a variety of activities designed to enhance one's knowledge of Appalachian culture. The heritage and culture of the region will be highlighted in music, storytelling, workshops, noontime and evening concerts, and arts and crafts.

Information on the events are available from MSU's Office of Continuing Education at (606) 783-2077.

Flood and Wetlands Notice

Notice of Explanation

The Floyd County Fiscal Court plans to construct a new three-classroom Head Start facility at McDowell Elementary School. Project elements include demolition of a wood-frame building, elevating the site above the 100-year floodplain, and construction of the new facility. The improvements will prevent repeated flooding of Head Start classroom space. The project area lies within the 100-year flood plain. Project activities, by virtue of their type and scope, must be conducted in the 100-year flood plain.

The proposed construction conforms with all applicable state and federal floodplain construction standards. The improvements are in compliance with the Floyd County floodplain management plan. The proposed action will not affect the floodplain or current backwater flood elevations. An existing wood-frame building will be demolished and the new facility built in the same location. Both structures occupy the same amount of space. Therefore, there will be no increase or decrease on flood or backwater elevations.

Failure to construct a new facility will result in continued and repeated flooding at the existing Head Start facility. It is the county's judgement that the continued viability of the Head Start program in this area outweighs consideration of Executive Orders 11988 and 11990.

Agencies involved in this project are the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (Kentucky Community Development Block Grant); Big Sandy Area Community Action Program; Floyd County School System; Floyd County Fiscal Court; state Labor Cabinet; state Department of Housing, Building and Construction; state Department of Education; Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Water and Division of Waste Management.

Comments on the proposed project will be accepted until Wednesday, July 5, 1995. Comments should be sent to Floyd County Judge-Executive Robert Meyer, Floyd County Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

A more detailed description of the project and the FIA flood maps are available for citizen review at the Judge-Executive's office, Floyd County Courthouse, Prestonsburg, Ky.

CONCURRENT NOTICE

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

June 16, 1994

The Floyd County Fiscal Court, Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, (606) 886-9193, applicant.

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

On or about Wednesday, July 5, 1995, the above-named county will request the Kentucky Department of Local Government to release federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the following project:

McDowell Head Start Facility. Construction of new three-classroom building adjacent to McDowell Elementary School campus (Census Tract 980900).

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the above-named county has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons for the decision, pursuant of Part 58.16(a)(3), are: 1) No public agency or individual has presented any data which indicates there are any negative environmental impacts to result from this project, 2) All environmental impact issues raised during environmental assessment have been resolved or will be addressed during project implementation; and 3) All NEPA requirements can be met without preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above-named city which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, in Office of the Judge-Executive, Floyd County Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, Ky., during normal business hours.

No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons who disagree with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the County to the Office of the Judge-Executive. Such written comments should be received at the Office of the Judge-Executive, Floyd County Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, on or before the close of business Wednesday, July 5, 1995. Any comments received will be considered and the county will not request the release of federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the proceeding sentence.

The Floyd County Fiscal Court will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the Kentucky Department of Local Government (KDLG) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The Floyd County Fiscal Court is also certifying to the State that the City and Judge-Executive Robert Meyer, as chief executive officer, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the Floyd County Fiscal Court may use the Block Grant funds and the State and HUD will have satisfied their responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The State will accept an obligation to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases:

- The certification was not in fact executed by the city's Certifying Officer.
- The County has failed to make one of the two findings pursuant to S58.41 or to make the written determination decision required by SS578.47, 58.53 or 58.64 for the project, as applicable.
- The County has omitted one or more of the steps set forth at Subparts F and G for the preparation and completion of an EA.
- No opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800.
- Objections have been made by a federal agency.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to the Kentucky Department of Local Government, Division of Community Programs, 1024 Capital Center Drive, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the State. No objection received after Friday, July 21, 1995, will be considered by the State.

Signed: Judge-Executive Robert Meyer, Floyd County Fiscal Court, Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653; Janet Tackett, certifying officer.

"He signed with us just to get [an engineering] education, and that's the wrong reason. I wish he had told us that [sooner]."

-- In September, after USAir had suffered two fatal crashes in two months, bringing to five the number of fatal crashes in five years for the airline, Steven Fink, a Los Angeles public-relations specialist, told The Wall Street Journal: "To the casual observer, there seems to be a disturbing pattern."

-- Marie D'Amico, 53, pleading guilty and showing tearful remorse as the prosecutor read the charges against her in Chicago in October for defrauding three local government agencies by accepting high wages for "ghost" jobs for which she barely showed up: "It makes me sick to hear what I did."

NOT WHAT THEY HAD IN MIND

-- A Republican Party of Virginia open house in May to attract black voters, set up for a 6,000-seat convention hall in Richmond, attracted a crowd of nine.

-- In March a federal judge awarded $871,000 in damages to six Belize nationals on the payroll of U.S. drug agents. The six had been hired to fly cocaine to Miami in order to sting the drug runners who would meet the plane, but at a scheduled stopover in Honduras, the cocaine was detected by Honduran officials, who arrested the six and subjected them to 12 days of torture before U.S. officials were able to intercede.

-- In February, federal prison inmate Rodney Curtis Hamrick, 29, was charged with threatening the life of President Clinton from behind bars. Hamrick was originally imprisoned in the mid-1980s, with a modest sentence, for writing bad checks. Since then, for expressing his dissatisfaction about his trial, he has had about 50 years added to his sentence for threatening President Reagan, the judge who sentenced him and his prosecutors, and building five small fire bombs while in prison and mailing two of them to the prosecutors.

-- In January, the city of San Francisco halted its plans to change the name of Army Street to Cesar Chavez Street, in honor of the late labor organizer. The city had budgeted $20,000 for replacing the street signs, but state officials said the cost would be almost $1 million because the longer name would necessitate bigger signs on the intersecting interstate highway, which would require larger beams to support them and more lights to illuminate them.

-- Two janitors at a Ceres, Calif., school were hospitalized in April and 16 pupils injured in a failed scheme by the janitors to kill a gopher by pouring a gum-and wax-removing compound on him. One of the janitors lit a cigarette, causing an explosion. And in New Orleans' French Quarter in March, an apartment explosion injured two people when a woman set out six cans of aerosol insecticide (one can is the recommended capacity), which were ignited by the flame on the water heater.

I DON'T THINK SO

In April, Stephen Gordon, 37, was sentenced to almost six years in prison in Denver for stalking a woman. According to his lawyer, Gordon's contacts with the 27-year-old victim were just coincidences. Gordon had pursued the woman first in Scottsdale, Ariz., where he was discovered hiding underneath her car (looking for a bird's nest, he said); when she moved to Denver in 1993, Gordon moved there, too, and eventually moved into her apartment complex, where he was discovered in the crawl space underneath her apartment after allegedly boring holes into the woman's bathroom (trying to trace a mysterious noise, he said).

Popperri

by Scott Perry

I've gained a new understanding of the trials and tribulations that accompany single-parenthood over the last week or so while the wife and daughter are off on a two-week school trip and the son and I are "baching" it.

Maneuvering between parental responsibilities and work related duties is like juggling porcupines.

One wrong move, and you could put an eye out or something.

It's easy to get your roles confused, too.

Sent two bickering employees to their rooms without supper the other day after jumping all over the son for leaving principles dangling all over his room.

"I was not put on this earth to edit your grammar," I told the boy, who promptly responded..."duh."

Household chores are probably the most difficult for me.

Most of my experience in doing laundry, for example, consisted of stuffing my dirty clothes in a bag and driving home from school for the weekend.

Of course, when the microwave oven was invented, I started doing my own laundry. (Well, you had to put money in the clothes dryer.)

Cooking is a different story.

I take great pride in my culinary abilities and am somewhat noted for my originality.

My microwave (a wonderful appliance) popcorn-hotdog casserole is particularly impressive and my grilled cheese sandwiches are food for the gods (or was that dogs?).

The most important element for successful single-parenting, I've discovered, is the ability to make people feel sorry for you or, at least, for the kid you're supposed to be parenting.

I've tried to dress the son up in the shabbiest clothes and made him walk through the neighborhood with a box of dog biscuits, hoping someone would take him in, clean him up and give him something good to eat (enough for two, please.)

Sometimes I even dress him up in the clothes I'm planning to wear to work the next day in hopes that a neighbor will at least iron them for the boy.

Yep, single-parenting is tough work and I'll be at it for at least another week.

If you had an ounce of charity in your heart, you'd send food.

A change of clothes would be nice, too.

Short takes

THE BASKETBALL DIARIES—The hot young star, Leonardo DiCaprio, stars as an East Village (N.Y.C.) teenager who's a high-school basketball star with a lot of potential and tons of scholarship offers from colleges and universities around the country. Instead, the boy abandons his talent for the Tompkins Square drug scene. The film manages to get its moral across without beating anyone over the head and being overly preachy. DiCaprio positively shines in his performance. No wonder this kid is so sought-after! My Rating: ** 1/2.

DON JUAN DeMARCO—Johnny Depp stars as a mental patient who's convinced that he's Don Juan. He's so good at it that he even has his psychiatrist (Marlon Brando) half believing it. Faye Dunaway does a turn as Brando's wife. All three offer stellar performances but I must single Brando out. In his return to the big screen, he demonstrates again why he's a master of his craft. My Rating: ***.

GORDY—I'll admit it. I'm a real sucker for any flick in which an animal stars. However, this one just doesn't cut it for me but you can decide for yourself. Here's the plot (if you can call it that): a talking piglet tries to rescue his parents from the slaughterhouse. What transpires is perplexing and uneven and definitely not amusing. My Rating: 1/2*.

MY FAMILY—This film can boast a cast of the leading Latino talent in the country: Jimmy Smits, Esai Morales, Edward James Olmos. However, it's no Spanish "Roots." It follows the tale of three generations of Mexican-Americans in Los Angeles but for some reason, it never manages to involve the audience. My Rating: *.

A GOOFY MOVIE—Some wisecrack asked me, "Where did Goofy get a son? Whom did he marry? He never even had a girlfriend." Oh, please. Can't you people just lighten up? In this winning Disney flick, Goofy and his son, Max, are on a cross-country fishing expedition in order to do some male bonding. The only problem is, I felt the film was making an attempt to pander to teenagers, not the younger audience which was attracted to it. My Rating: ***.

The Weekend

Singing Evangels coming to town

One of the newest rising gospel groups in the midwest is coming to Prestonsburg.

The Singing Evangels will perform in a free concert Saturday, June 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley Campground.

The Singing Evangels' soft, familiar, easy-listening style communicates God's message of love. The group, from Columbus, Indiana, have been in gospel music, combined, for more than 40 years.

From states such as Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and their home state of Indiana, gospel music lovers have been treated to a unique gospel style.

The quartet — comprised of Lloyd Artis, who sings lead; Judy Artis, alto; Pat Dawson, tenor; and Larry Dawson, bass — are helping forge a new frontier in the gospel music field.

The original group started in 1974. Through many changes, the current group, which has been together since 1987, has developed a style that is noted for the traditional country gospel. It is music in its purest form — music with feeling, depth, sensitivity and backed by a solid message, according to the group's promoters.

The stage appeal of the Singing Evangels, along with their phenomenal energy, has been a prime reason for their rapid rise to the top of the gospel field. Their dedication to the Lord's work, combined with composing talents of this group, have made them a frequently spoken name in the gospel music arena.

"Our music is from the heart, music with soul and it speaks of the problems that confront the everyday man in his daily walk of life — simple, but clearly the message of God," said a spokesperson for the group.

You're driving me crazy

My husband and I spent a relaxing weekend in Indianapolis with my sister, Amanda, and her husband, Willy. It was a stress-free holiday except for the ordeal of getting to Hoosierland and returning to the Bluegrass by way of automobile on the many roads and byways that take you from here to there.

"Let's go the AA Highway. I hear you cut off about an hour from the way we usually go," I told my unsuspecting husband.

"Okay. Well try it," he said.

The AA Highway begins on the outskirts of Raceland and ends in Alexandria, Kentucky, across the river from Cincinnati. It is a four-lane road that turns into a three-lane road just when you think you're starting to make good time. At about the same time you realize you're not going to break any records getting to your destination, you realize that the AA Highway is nothing more than a walking path for area residents.

"I've never seen so many people walking alongside the road, have you, Jimmie?" I asked.

"Nope," he replied as he tried to pass a slow moving vehicle ahead of us. "I take that back. I did once, in a movie."

"That fellow driving in front of us must be sightseeing," I said as I watched my husband clench his jaw and grip the steering wheel. "He must be a local. He'll pull off soon."

"He's got Ohio tags. I'll bet his next stop is Cincinnati."

"Well, we're still making good time," I said convincingly. "When are we going to stop and eat?"

"We'll lose time, Porky. Not to mention weight, but we'll stop. Where do you suggest?"

"Whoa! Are you going to break for that car in front of us?"

"Why? You just did. Do you actually think putting your foot through the floorboard will stop the car any quicker?"

"You make me nervous," I said. "Why don't you pull over at the next fast-food place and I'll just get a little something to tide me over until we get to Amanda's."

"Okay," he said as he passed a truck.

"Slow down!" I yelled.

"Sara, I have to speed up to pass."

"But do you have to go so fast?"

"I got it all the way up to 35 mph. If you don't believe me, roll down your window and ask that woman runner how fast she's going."

"Then speed up so we can catch her," I replied. "I still can't believe these people are using this road for a sidewalk. Where are we anyway? We've got to be close to Alexandria. There's a sign up ahead. What does it say?"

"Alexandria, 45 miles," Jimmie replied dryly. "At the rate we're going we'll be there by morning. When we pass this next car, roll down your window and ask them if there's a motel close. I'm getting sleepy."

"Then pull over and let me drive," I said quickly. "You can sleep while I drive."

"Forget it, I want to be awake when we get to Amanda's so I can see for myself how much time we saved."

"All right," I agreed. "We'll go back the way you suggest, but I'm warning you, this way just seemed longer."

According to Jimmie, by the time we pulled into Amanda and Willy's driveway, you could almost see the rays from the sun. Actually, it was moonlight, but we were both too tired to argue.

"Is that the moon up there, or is that the sun?" I asked.

"Don't ask me. I don't live around here," Jimmie answered as he unloaded the bags from the trunk.

The AA Highway is scenic, but next trip we'll pick convenience over beauty.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The plans you make this week could include travel. It's not the best time for mixing friendship and business, although you are sorely tempted to do so. You'll be especially effective in stating your views this weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Don't have too many irons in the fire this week. Concentrate on one project and you'll make important progress. Both social and mental interests are highlighted this weekend, although you must prioritize invitations.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) It could be difficult to finalize travel plans now due to a partner's stubbornness. However, you must overcome this since teamwork leads to accomplishment. News comes from a friend who lives far away this weekend.

SOAP SCRAPS

Sarah Michelle Gellar is leaving "All My Children" barely two years after she came to Pine Valley as Kendall Hart, Erica Kane's (Susan Lucci's) sad, manipulative daughter whom Erica bore as a result of a rape when she was a teenager. It was Sarah's decision to leave the show to hie herself out to Hollywood and see what opportunities are awaiting her. We wish her well.

Good wishes also go to two very fine actresses—who also happen to be very nice people: "As the World Turns'" Margaret Reed is leaving the role of Shannon O'Hara, which she created. "Another World's" Christine Tucci is leaving the role of Amanda Cory Harrison, which she assumed in 1993. Both departures will take place in early July. There are no plans to recast either role.

Michael Weatherly will make a brief return to "Loving" as Cooper flies from Paris to Corinth after learning about Steffi's (Amelia Heinle) experiences with a stalker.

On "One Life to Live," Bruce McCarty will return for a few episodes as Jonathan, the lover of Andrew's late brother, William. His return will tie in with the observance of the Day of Compassion on June 21. All the ABC soaps, and all, if not most of the other daytime dramas, will have story lines that are linked to this special day.

Andra Navedo plays the short term role of Linda, Javier's girlfriend on "O.L.T."

And, of course, don't forget that on June 20, Gillian Spencer will return as Daisy to "All My Children" for a limited run. She's back in Pine Valley at the behest of her ex mate, Palmer Cortlandt (James Mitchell) who needs her to help him save his marriage to Opal (Jill Larson), who found out about Palmer's indiscretion with Janet Green (Robin Mattson).
