"Lady" No Longer Objects To The Chiming of Bells

Church bells ring now but "Lady" makes no objection further than raising her head and registering a silent protest that her years were wasted in a very disgusting whine. "Lady," in case you do not know, is the favorite collie dog on Second street, owned by Buddy Fitzpatrick. Years ago probably 10 or more, "Lady," then just a puppy was brought to the Fitzpatrick home by Lewis Mayo who occupied the home while the family sojourned in Frankfort. In the spring Lady with all the rest of her mother's family of puppies returned to the Mayo farm where the Mayo family went home and the Fitzpatricks returned. But Lady wouldn't stay on the farm. No, Sir, she was a town dog, and in town she intended on staying. And, she did. The mother however, made regular trips to town to

VERNON WARD SAVES ROLAND ALLEN FROM DEATH BY DROWNING

Allen, Has Narrow Escape From Drowning at Patrick Swirl Monday Evening

Unable to swim, Roland Allen, well known citizen of West Prestonsburg, and candidate for magistrate, would have drowned Monday night at Patrick Swirl a few miles north of here had he not been rescued by Vernon Ward, who with seven other persons, was a member of a swimming party there.

In water over his head, Allen had gone down several times when he was reached by Ward. Semi-conscious, he clung to the rescue boat, which was towed by a boat, propelled by Andrew Crum, reached them. With the assistance of Bill Jack Stephens, another member of the party who aided the rescue, Allen was placed in the boat.

Allen, almost recovered Tuesday, said, "I owe my life to Vernon Ward." He added that he knew very little concerning the near fatality, as he was barely conscious all the time.

Bank's Fireproof Addition to Have Entrance On Court Street

With the completion of the new addition to The Bank Josephine here by October the bank will have fireproof vaults for files, additional space for the book-keeping department and a Court street entrance of the same architectural style as that of the original building, Joseph D. Harkins, Sr., director of the bank, announced Monday.

The entire book-keeping department will be removed to the mezzanine floor of the new addition, which measures over all 10x40 feet, and will be of fireproof construction throughout. The second floor of the addition, which will have a floor-level equal to that of the original building, will be used for fireproof storage, and the ground floor will be utilized as a specialty shop. Mr. Harkins said that applications were already being received for the use of the ground floor.

Extensive alterations and re-decorations will be made the original structure and with the removal of the book-keeping equipment the bank can boast of a "sound proof" structure in addition to a fire proof one.

M. E. CHURCH PLANS UNUSUAL PROGRAM

For Twenty Years to Be Laid Away

At a meeting of the Board of Stewards of the local Methodist Church held at the church last night, definite plans were made for rounding up the work of the year in preparation for the annual conference which meets September 9 at the Johnson Memorial Church in Huntington. A novel feature of the year's work will be observed on September 5. At that time a box made as a replica of the cornerstone will be filled with pictures, letters and mementoes of various kinds. The box will be permanently sealed by the church members and shall not be opened for 20 years, which is on the 40th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone.

It was pointed out by Rev. H. F. King, the pastor, that the church has just celebrated its 20th anniversary and this box to be opened 20 years from now will furnish a most interesting part of that celebration in 1957.

A box the size of the cornerstone will hold quite a bit of material such as papers, letters, pictures, church bulletins and programs, etc. Persons will be asked to supply articles to go into the box. Many will want to leave letters as words of greeting to the members of their families or to the church, 20 years hence. A picture of the Sunday School and the congregation will be made on Sunday August 29, to be included in the box. Rev. King says: "In 20 years from now what fun it will be to look at the picture and see if you can find your self. Well, you can't, if you are not there to be in the picture."

CIRCUIT JUDGE OK'S DIVISION OF COUNTY IN EIGHT DISTRICTS

Caudill Upholds Eight Districts in Place of Floyd's Original Four

CASE TO BE APPEALED

July 26—With more than 100 candidates and thousands of voters awaiting the outcome Circuit Judge John W. Caudill today upheld the redistricting of Floyd county into eight magisterial districts in place of the original four, after hearing the suit filed by Attorney C. E. Wheeler for Lee A. Alley and et al. against A. B. Meade, Floyd county court clerk.

After the hearing Attorney Wheeler announced that he would immediately appeal the case to the Court of Appeals. A final decision is expected this week.

Although filed in Prestonsburg to prevent names of candidates appearing on election ballots for the newly created districts, the suit was heard in the Knott Circuit court at Hindman.

County Court Clerk A. B. Meade stated that he had no part in the suit and that he favored neither side. The suit was merely filed against his office in protest of the new division made by the fiscal court. According to law the county court clerk has no voice in the matter. He must adhere to the ruling in favor of the eight districts unless the action of the fiscal court and Judge Caudill's opinion

Household Helps

Do you know the proper thing to say when you sit on a wad of chewing gum?

If your suit is washable, here is the correct command—if you want to get rid of the chewing gum and not your garment.

"Bring me an egg white, some soap and some lukewarm water. Then stand back and watch me soften the gum with the egg white—so! And finally wash it completely away with the soapy water."

If your suit isn't washable, the fabric-saving element is carbon tetrachloride, which will remove all traces of stain.

The authority for these points of chewing gum etiquette is a new booklet called "Handy Helps for Homemakers," which has been prepared by a group of home economics authorities.

A copy of the "Handy Helps for Homemakers" book can be secured by sending 5 cents to cover postage and handling to Miss Boyd, 210 S. Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill.—Adv.

Why Not Give Fans in Smaller Cities Dream Game Break?

The upshot of a lot of listening and noting I did at the recent All Star game in Washington is that I have an idea. Aside from proving that if a reporter has strong legs and an ear trumpet he can always get pieces done for the papers, this idea is that far better use could be made of baseball's dream game.

Last year Boston, usually a good sports town, failed to sell out for the contest this year. Washington, a smaller city, not given to making millionaires out of its sports promoters, was demanding twice as many tickets as was available. Why? The reason seems to me to be that Washington is a town represented in the major league while Boston can garner at both organizations. Therefore Washington is more interested in getting the game next year when it is the National League's turn to entertain. Then the good burghers will have a chance to peer at Gehrigs, Fozzes, Rolles and other baseball emmentissimus who never previously have stepped down Vine street.

Do you get the idea? Then let us go on with the improvement on it. Greater New York, possessed of three big-time teams, can be very well pleased with the news that Lou Gehrig's home being the real and double accounted for and thus runs for the first time in five years. Then the total single-handed. There also was a pleasure in reading the news that Red Rolfe and Bill Dickey were performing as if they were the Chicago Cubs were down, that Lefty Gomez did the most accomplished pitching of the afternoon in the longest remembered folks must now forget Joe Di Maggio's disaster twelve months ago.

Greater New York did not devote too much time worrying because Carl Hubbell looked like a batting practice pitcher. Neither was there too much rejoicing because Mel Harder ran his total of scoreless pitching innings up to 13 for four All-Star games.

That, to a town with three teams, is as much applause as the additional news that Dizzy Dean was pitching in the real dizzy until he ran into Gehrig's home. Maybe it means the Cards, paced by Joe Medwick, who obtained a cool four hits in five innings to the plate, will more than vex our ambitious Giants later. But, as has been suggested, why should New York worry? New York has three teams and almost every day it can see the nation's best pitchers.

Therefore New York is used to such things and can take them in a calm, turnstile-ticking stride. But what about the Buffalo, the Kansas Cities, the Milwaukeees, the Baltimorees and other metropolises somewhat off the big-time baseball track? Most of them are fair-sized cities where baseball occupies a major portion of the two or three pages each paper devotes to sports. When a reporter or player visits one of these towns to give a baseball talk he is almost mobbed by people wanting to talk about the national game.

Yet—in spite of this evidence and in spite of the less well-substantiated reports of recent date concerning increased attendance, baseball is being played in most of these towns. Largely it is in a bad way because the big-time club owners have set their sights on the big money sources of customer and player supply. Of course many of them are reported to be in the league and each year the high-class gees send business representatives to whom it up for the box office.

But—well, what I was getting at, is why not give these smaller towns a break. Hubbell, Gehrig, Dickey, Gomez, the list is too long to call the roll but it was a swell show and Washington liked it. What is good enough for Washington should be more of the same for St. Paul, say.

So big-time gentlemen to whom this is a holy mission, kindly dedicated—quit squawking about where you are going to hold your show next and what trouble it is. Try it out on the so-called sticks some time.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

THE Dodgers would gladly pay $100,000 for Joe Medwick—if they had the money. Six years ago they could have had the greatest right hand hitter since Rogers Hornsby even if they didn't have the money. That was when he worked out each morning at Ebbets field doing pushups. He would give a husky high school kid a chance... Similarly, the Giants have a swell opportunity to obtain Chicago's Bill Jurges as well. That was when he was clerking for a Williamsburg bank and devoted two weeks of one summer vacation working out at the Polo grounds... A recent racing survey reveals that the more people there are at a track the less money is bet or spent by the average visitor. The reason probably is that the crowding makes it more difficult for visitors to bet or spend.

Spike Webb, former Olympic boxing coach whose navy teams have won so many intercollegiate ring titles, writes from Europe that "This is my seventeenth trip over here and each time I note a big improvement in the athletics. Schmeling says he can take Louis in five rounds... A friend reports that Wayne Sabat, Davis Cup team alternate, cleared $1,000 in expenses last winter. If true, that indicates a considerable upturn in the amateur tennis business. Not too long ago 'Doc' Berkeley Bell, one of the best tennis players in his sport, pure days, a whole season to achieve a similar profit... Ford Frick, president of the National League, says that the Cuban ball parks carry words on the walls: 'In Mexico umpires wear ads for the best cigars in the world.' Sugar Cain of the White Sox and Wes Ferrell of the Senators are regarded as the best players in baseball... It costs London Flight Reporter Critchley $200 a week to keep Max Baer's public supplies with the clubs of the great 'He-U' man. Or at least that's what Critchley complains... Managers of losing ball clubs use the same as many pitchers when performing in the home park as they do on the road. They insist the fans speak so much when a faltering hurler is not removed that this is the only way to convince the public that the effort is being made to win. They also add that such tactics use up pitchers who need rest and so weaken the team's chances... Big Bear, one of the favorite ponies of Prince Serge Midval, now is the favorite mount on the polo string of Major E. Nichols, first division leader at Fort Hamilton... The Frank (pole writing) Whitst expected to visit from St.ork shortly after that busy bird gets back from the Army-Navy football game.

Coaches Fritz Crisler and Johnny Gorman are having a merry argument at Princeton. Gorman says he'd rather be coached but that will provide the greatest sophomore line in Tiger football history. Crisler keeps saying "No"... Lloyd (four, four) amateur baseball player, is to marry Lois Hanlin, daughter of the Wierdon Steel Mills' V. P. The lady is a Carnegie Tech graduate and now medical technologist at Ohio Valley hospital.

Hank Greenberg bet a Boston fan who delights in picking on the Marylander that Jimmy Fozz would hit over .200 this year. The assistant bat boy has the rival first of his pet bats with which to hit. The recently fitted closed Aqueudet race meeting showed an interest of 10,000 in attendance over 1936, which is not exactly peanuts at $2.50 a seat... Jimmy Fozz John Stretch Pol... It is said that Vince Dunbar, who has just completed ten happy years as secretary to Fight Manager Max Waxman... Proper odds on these heavyweight championship fights now mentioned in the charitable press—Bob Pastor Joe Louis, 6 to 5 and take your pick; John Henry Lewis-Joe Louis, ditto; Max Schmeling-Joe Louis, Schmeling, 2 to 1; Tommy Farr-Joe Louis, Louis, 6 to 1.

Joe Medwick keeps all the balls he hits into the St. Louis stands now. Has the assistant bat boy his into the bleachers with a new ball to exchange for the original every time he slips one out there... Goler Jimmy Fines and the Missus won many a cup for Charleston dancing contests when the step was in style ten years or so ago. Motorcycle racers earn $15,000 to $20,000 a year. Have to spend about $3,000 for their equipment, since the one cylinder machines cost $600 and have to be rebuilt after every race. Hubbin' Hank will jump out of a Pullman window if you spring an insect or a snake on him all of a sudden.

John Drake, Purdue's star half back, is summing in California... The 1939 All-Star baseball game will be played at Yankee stadium as a feature of the world fair... Arky Vaughan, Pirate slugger, originally was a right handed batter... Wild Bill Cummings, automobile race driver, favors handball and golf as conditioners for those long drives... Aubrey Devine, Iowa's former all-American quarter back, has an 11 year old son who is shooting golf consistently in the low 80s... Devine, who assists Howard Jones in coaching the Southern California football squad, practices law in Los Angeles.

Household Questions

Washing Cretone Covers.—When washing cretome covers or curtains, add two or three aspirin tablets to the water; the colours will not run and will retain their brightness.

Removing Water Spots.—Equal amounts of turpentine and linseed oil mixed together will remove the white spots from furniture, caused by water.

The Measuring Cup.—Grease the measuring cup before measuring sirup or molasses and the ingredients will not stick to the cup.

Burnt Sauscapes.—If the bottom of a sausage pan is burnt, sprinkle salt over it and leave for an hour or two. Then add a little water, rub well, and when washed out the marks will have gone.

Washing Spinach.—When washing spinach, place a generous pinch of salt in the water to make the sand sink to the bottom.

Sauce for Meats.—For a snappy and delicious sauce to serve with meats, mix one cup apple sauce, 4 cup horseradish and one cup whipped cream.

For Washing Brooms.—Allow two tablespoons of ammonia to half a gallon of water, which should never be too hot. Speed is essential as the glue which holds the bristles in place will melt if allowed to rest in the water for long. Rinse the brooms in clear cold water and hang up to dry. Never allow a broom to rest on its bristles on the floor. Hooks should be high enough for the bristles to clear the floor.

THE LOAFERS' JINT
The Romans had their Forum—a place where people met in official and unofficial ways to discuss everything; our counterpart of this institution was and is and ever shall be I suppose the loafers' jint. Kings may die or abdicate. Presidents may succeed each other, the rivers may continue to run into the sea, but the loafers' jint changes little from its ancient and honorable status. The one I knew in old Fidelity was the exact image of the one you knew in Podunk or The activities sponsored by the loafers' jint were many in the good old days. The Civil War, then a little more nearly like contemporary history, was fought all over again, usually to the advantage of the South. Anecdotally, I fear not many of the people of Fidelity had much to boast of. By counting distant cousins, however, nearly everybody could name some great or near great relative. Since 90 per cent of Fidelity loafers were Democrats politics could not get very far, except such political economy as concerned the county or magisterial district. The few Republicans were hardly safe or welcome when the village wisecracks were deciding the national campaign. Religion, though, was a subject that was open in proportion to one's ignorance of differences between denominations. The Methodists, the Baptists and the Christians thought a triangular battle that seldom knew a truce. Nothing but the necessity of getting home to do the mending and feeding could end the debates on baptism, the Lord's Supper, church government and such matters. The gentle art of quoting scripture for one's own purpose never had a better situation than in those old days at Fidelity. The loafers were not all so intellectual as this would imply. There were tricks to play on the unwary, horse-shoes to pitch, knives to swap. Blackguarding was the official language, innocently indulged in by people who would have sworn that they were not foul mouthed. Boxes had to be whittled to their basic elements; Russell Barlow should have lived in ancient times so he could have been made the patron saint of loafers. Some of the boys and men could do tricks with strings and coins and buttons. Others could jump a grapevine rope in all the approved fashions. Some could wrestle like Jacob. But with less fortunate results. Nearly every generation of loafers had one boy who could do some fancy clog dancing. A barn door with a little sand sprinkled on it was stage enough for this act. Some of the loafers were veterans who'd lived beyond their years in this serious business of loafing. Others were young men learning the gentle art of loafing; still others were boys too young to be allowed this great privilege of grown men, boys who hung on the edge of the crowd and laughed furtively at the risqué yarns and talk. When an older artist led or moved away, some younger yarn spinner and whittler inherited his mantle and carried on the age-old tradition. Precious bargains were succeeded by the automobile, and the very spot where the loafers used to sit now has a gas station, but close by there are whittling and spinning the same yarns. Thus time goes on but does not and cannot conquer the loafers' jint.

THE FARM AND HOME
(Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station)
From now until fall there is nothing to do for the lawn other than to mow it, and then it should not be clipped. It is too late to apply any fertilizer or to sow seed. Set the mower to cut high and mow only when necessary. Leave clippings on the lawn.
Poultry production may be increased by feeding distillery mash instead of corn. Four fifths of the corn in the mash may be replaced by thick distillery slop fed in separate troughs and kept before the birds at all times.
Shade for pigs, poultry and other stock will save feed in the hot season. Where no trees are available posts can be set up, poles laid across them, and straw hay or lumber used for a cover.
The striped cucumber beetle is usually on the job, ready to get in its deadly work as soon as the plants appear. The control is dusting with one part of calcium arsenate and 15 parts of gypsum or land plaster. Dust every three or four days.

If curtains are used in the kitchen they should be made so as to pull aside easily and leave the window free for ventilation either at top or bottom. Full length window screens are an aid in good ventilation as they permit either sash to be opened.

Paintsville Coal Jubilee Expects Crowd of 35,000 At Celebration
Advance ticket sales for the Black Diamond Jubilee indicate that probably the largest crowds ever gathered in Eastern Kentucky will be present on August 27, 28 and 29 at Paintsville when this great spectacle is to be staged. J. B. Wells Jr. announced this week.

Kentucky is to be staged. A Beauty Queen is to be crowned with "black diamonds" hewn from Kentucky cannel coal. Mule races are being planned. Merchants are planning a big day and all in all there will be lots of entertainment Mr. Wells said.
The newspapers through out Eastern Kentucky and even the Courier Journal of the Louisville Times, Lexington Herald and Lexington Leader Ashland Daily Independent and others throughout the state have used articles telling about the forthcoming Jubilee.
With the amount of publicity already given so generously by the newspapers, it appears certain that there will be more than 35,000 persons at the Paintsville gathering, according to Mr. Wells, who is president of the Paintsville Festival Corporation which was organized to sponsor the celebration.
Numerous committees have been working diligently to get the plans ready for the big event.
The pageant will be along the lines of the Pineville Laurel Festival staged each year by the residents of Bell county.
It is planned to make this an annual event in order that people from all over the state may become more familiar with Eastern Kentucky, it is in celebration of Kentucky's major industry—coal—that the Black Diamond Jubilee is being put on and coal operators and United Mine Workers of America alike are helping to make it a success.
Permanent headquarters have been established in the public school building at Paintsville and a full time manager has been engaged to carry on preparations.
A feature of the jubilee will be a large catalogue with a beautiful cover design depicting the Beauty Queen adorned with her crown of "black diamonds."

MEADE IS REPLACED AS SCHOOL TEACHER

Capitola Hamilton Appointed to Complete Term in District 117

Following the suspension of John Meade, teacher of district school 117 on Little Mud, by County Superintendent Town Hall last week, Capitola Hamilton was appointed as teacher to complete the term.

(Editor's note: Following is the order of suspension brought to The Times office by Superintendent Hall):

July 29, 1937
Mr John P. Meade
Teacher District 117.

Dear Sir:

Kentucky Statute Sec. 4399-34 adopted in 1934 says in part: "The superintendent shall have the power to suspend any teacher or other employe for cause deemed by him sufficient and the Board of Education shall take such action upon the resolution or removal of such person as it may deem proper."

Pursuant to my visit to your school on July 20, 1937, while your school was in session and acting under the aforementioned statute I, Superintendent of Schools of Floyd county, Ky. hereby suspend you as teacher in sub-district No. 117, as of July 20, 1937, and for cause assigned. You were failing and neglecting to follow the uniform schedule for rural schools adopted by the Superintendent of Floyd county schools during 1937-38.

2. While in your schoolroom you recited two fifth grade classes not to exceed five minutes each; and a seventh grade class which by my watch, was held for two and one-half minutes. Assignments of the poorest type for the next lesson were given to the pupils. Each of the above lessons should have been approximately 15 minutes long according to the schedule in force in Floyd county rural schools.

3. The small children were receiving very little good from the school. No seatwork was being used, as called for by the daily schedule in force in Floyd county schools. In fact Mr. Meade, you paid no attention at all to the smaller grades while the superintendent was present, and the children in those grades numbered at least thirty.

4. Most of the children were allowed to idle their time away. Very few were studying at all. There was no order or discipline among them and you, Mr. Meade, did not attempt to eliminate noise or disturbances at the pupils' seats, or to put them to work.

5. You did not have your record book at the schoolhouse so the attendance officer who was with me, could make proper notations or gain required information. Neither did you have a daily schedule to present to the superintendent when he called for it.

6. The school room was not a place of business. It was dead and lifeless for the want of a better teacher. Methods employed are antiquated and not of a type that would warrant their continuance. The children were not getting what under the law they are entitled to in a public school supported by public money. Your teaching was incompetent, inefficient and unprogressive.

These reasons are deemed by the superintendent of

TAYLOR MEADE GETS LIFE SENTENCE FOR MURDER, THURSDAY

Paintsville Jury Convicts Man Who Killed One Woman and Wounded Another

Taylor Meade, 35, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the fatal shooting July 7 of his dead brother's mother-in-law, Mrs. Dora Spears, 56, by a jury of seven women and five men Thursday morning at a special term of the Johnson circuit court in Paintsville. The dramatic trial opened Monday and the jury received the case late Wednesday evening. The jury returned the verdict today (Thursday) at 10:30 a. m.

Meade, brother of Hobart Meade, Paintsville bank clerk who was found slain in his automobile near Paintsville two years ago, is alleged to have gone to the home of his brother's widow, Mrs. Edna Mae Meade, 33, early this month and fired bullets into Mrs. Meade and her mother, Mrs. Spears. The latter died a few days later.

Mrs. Meade, pretty blonde widow of Hobart and the surviving victim of the double shooting July 7, was brought into court Tuesday afternoon on a cot to testify in the case. She testified that Taylor Meade had made many unwelcome advances toward her and that the night preceding the shooting he had placed a gun against her side and said: "I'll burn you up" after she had refused to go to Ashland with him to seek evidence in the death of his brother. She said she talked him out of harming her by promising to go with him the next day. She refused, however, and he shot her and her mother after a brief argument she testified. The Paintsville courtroom was crowded to overflowing during trial of this bizarre murder case. Almost every angle to be found in fast-moving detective mysteries are hidden away in the case and in others with which it is connected.

A $47,500 robbery of the Paintsville National Bank December 9, 1932, furnished the background, Hobart Meade, bank clerk, identified Wilson Jennings as one of the robbers of the bank. Jennings, along with Lawrence Flery, went to the state reformatory at Frankfort under sentence of 20 years for their part in the banditry - Big Sandy News.

Superstition on Sick Horses
In the days when superstition was rampant in connection with the curing of suffering humanity, various forms of superstition extended in a great measure to the treatment of sick animals as well. Sick horses, for instance, were supposed to be possessed by evil spirits and the witch would be consulted when a horse went lame.

Heavy Water
Heavy water is water in which the hydrogen atom is replaced by the double-weight hydrogen isotope, deuterium. Chemically it is indistinguishable from ordinary water, except that a given amount weighs more. It is mixed with ordinary water in the proportion of about one part in 6,000. It was first prepared by the electrolysis process at the Bureau of Standards shortly after the discovery of the heavy hydrogen atom.

3 CHURCHES RECEIVE NEW MEMBERSHIPS

26 Members and Attendance Gain Reported by Local Pastors

Interest in life and work of the Christian church is reflected by 26 additional members in the recent revival held at the high school grounds. Additional numbers are expected by all three of the churches, the Missionary Baptist, Southern Methodist and Presbyterian.

Also indicative of an increased concern in religious matters is the gain in Sunday School attendance. The three Sunday church schools had a total attendance of 325 last Sunday. The Methodists had 118; the Baptists, 115; and the Presbyterians, 92.

Members received thus far by the three churches include: Baptist—Ann and Dorothy Allen, Vinta Blackburn, Margareta, Southa and Helen Branham, Vivian and Bennie Mae Caudill, Gordon Fox Homes, Cliff Latta, Jr., James Andrew May, Henry Lewis Mayo, and Robert Salsbury; Methodist—by confession: Mrs. Beatrice Isaacs, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Mayo, Virginia Copeland, Judith Davidson, Mary and Myra Hill and Laura Virginia Roberts; and by letter: Mrs. Woodrow Greenwood, Mrs. Emma Madigan, and Mrs. B. G. Stone; and Presbyterian, by profession of faith: Mr. Ralph Davis; and by re-affirmation: J. C. Spurling.

The three churches are continuing to cooperate in evangelistic endeavor with union services being held each Sunday night in one of the churches. The service Sunday night will be at the Methodist Church.

The money spent for sugar in the canning season is well spent. A shif of clean and sparkling jellies, spiced fruits and preserves has many a time proved a god-send to a busy housewife when unexpected guests are rived.

Pickled Crab Apples

6 pounds crab apples, 1 quart cider vinegar, 3 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon cloves—heads removed, 2 sticks cinnamon broken in places. Wash the crab apples and remove any spotted ones. Boil vinegar, sugar and spices together until syrup is clear. Add about half the apples and cook until tender—about two cubes. Pour in jars and seal. Repeat with rest of apples.

Flecked Watermelon Rind

Feel and slice rather thick rind from watermelon and cut into cubes. Put in jars and night covered with water to which 1 tablespoon of salt has been added on each quart. Drain off each pound of rind use 1 thinly sliced lemon. 1/2 stick to citrus fruit. 1/2 stick to citrus fruit. 1 pound of sugar and 2 cups of vinegar. Boil together until clear and thick. Seal at once.

Plum Jelly

3 cups plum juice, 7 1/2 cups sugar, 1 1/2 cups liquid fruit pectin. Crush thoroughly 4 pounds early ripe plums without peeling or pitting them: add one cup of water, bring to a boil cover and simmer 10 minutes. Strain through jelly cloth and place in jelly. Measure the juice and sugar into a large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over full heat and at once add liquid pectin stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1-2 minute. Remove from the fire, skim and pour quickly into clean hot glasses. Farrain with a thin layer. When cold add a second coat of paraffin. Makes about 11 8 ounce glasses.

Ginger Watermelon Preserves

Cut rind into squares and to each pound of rind add 2 quarts of water and 1 ounce of sliced lime. Let stand in water for night. Drain, let stand in fresh cold water 2 hours. Drain well and boil rapidly in strong ginger tea (1 ounce of ginger to 1 quart of water) for 15 minutes. Seal while hot.

Grape Jam

Crush the grapes and separate the skins and pulp. Place the hulls in a closed vessel with one cup of water for every 5 pounds of grapes. Cook slowly until the hulls are tender. Heat the juice and pulp in another vessel until the pulp breaks down enough to liberate the seeds. Then put the pulp through a colander. Put the seedless pulp and hulls together. Add one pound of sugar to every two pounds of fresh fruit. Cook slowly until thick. Pack and seal in hot sterilized jars.

Karakul Fur Bearer Old

Member of Sheep Family The karakul fur bearer is an ancient member of the sheep family, dates back thousands of years. History recounts that conquering tribes came into the independent kingdom of Bokhara, bordering old Russia, thousands of years ago, bringing their sheep with them. The cheologists have dug up mummies buried for 3,000 years that were found to be wearing this fur. — in perfect condition, writes a correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune. The breed takes its name from the little town of Karakul, not far from the Aral sea, in-Turkistan, Asia. It is said to be the crest of the Medici family. These balls represented pills, we were told, because the Medici family were physicians, says London Answers Magazine. They were also money-lenders, and Edward IV of England, wishing to borrow from them, offered them a street in London where they could transact business. They called the street Lombard street, after Lombardy, their native town, and altered the six balls in their crest to three. So when one visits one's "uncle" one knows the origin of the sign of the three balls over his shop. The Medici began as traders and bankers, not physicians, and became rulers of Florence and Tuscany. The Methodists were physicians of ancient times who relied on general principles rather than experiment.

The Monroe Doctrine

The Monroe Doctrine, named for President Monroe and enunciated by him in his presidential message of December 2, 1823, was originated by his Secretary of State, John Quincy Adams. The formation of new republics in South and Central America had led to the belief that European powers were contemplating the invasion there to restore the old form of government. The fundamental principle of the original Monroe Doctrine is that there are two natural spheres of world influence, separated by the Atlantic ocean and that European powers should keep out of American affairs. At a later time the doctrine was extended to imply a United States policy of non-intervention power in this hemisphere.

Birth Circumstances Law

When the great Napoleon was finally exiled to St. Helena the British secretary of state issued strict orders no French visitors were to be allowed on the island. But destiny was not reckoned with and when the Emperor's wife, the French general and companion of Napoleon, gave birth to a child on the island she presented the baby to the Emperor as the first French visitor that had entered the island since the commission of the British.

Lions Classed as Vermin in Some Parts of Africa

For long the lion's right to be styled the "king of beasts" remained unchallenged, but the wider settlement of Africa and closer acquaintance with the species has done much to discredit him. Most people who have intimate knowledge of him in the wild spaces regard the lion as a fraud, asserts a big game hunter writing in London Answers Magazine. Within recent years lions have been hunted with packs of hounds, ridden down on horseback, and pursued by motor-cars, lassoed by American cowboys, killed with bows and arrows by Europeans and natives, photographed, and played with in their natural surroundings.

The Masai, Nandi, and Lumba tribes in Kenya have killed lions with spears in single-handed combat or massed attack. The "cow people" of Bunyoro, in Uganda, do not consider them worthy of powder and shot, but thrash them to death with sticks. In most of the game ordinances of Africa lions are classified as vermin, and may be shot outside the reserves without a license.

He has earned his false title through a misconception of his true character. At first the majestic appearance and challenging voice of the lion filled man with awe.

RALLY IN BREAKS PLANNED FOR AUG. 15

Leaders Plan to Annex The "Breaks" to National Forest Reserve

At a rally before the meeting of the National Forest Reservation Committee in Washington next month, advocates of the extension of the Jefferson National Forest to include the picturesque Breaks of the Big Sandy will gather in the Breaks area Sunday August 15, it has been announced by leaders of the movement.

The meeting in the Breaks Sunday, August 15 will be an all-day affair and Virginia-Kentucky and national leaders in conservation will address the gathering which is expected to run into the thousands. These speakers will point out the benefits which will be derived by merchants and residents in the territory if the national committee sees fit to add the 125,000 acres in the Breaks to the Jefferson National Forest.

Business and professional leaders have long been interested in developing the Breaks into a national park or adding it to the Jefferson Forest and a few months ago an organization was perfected to bring the proposal to the attention of national leaders. This organization consisted of men from 15 counties of this region, both Kentucky and Virginia.

At this meeting Lee Long, President of the Clinchfield Coal Company of Dante, Va., was chosen president; Mayor K. J. Day of Pikeville was named vice-president and Harry LaViers of Paintsville was named secretary-treasurer. Directors of the organization include: Pearl Stewart of Pennington Gap, Va.; Rev. Frank Clark of Grundy, Va.; Frank A. Groszclose of Tom's Creek, Va.; Andrew L. Holbrook of Neon, Ky.; H. H. Smith of Hindman, Ky.; Albert Carpenter of Salvorsville, Ky.; W. R. McCoy of Hazzard, Ky.; E. R. Price of Wheelwright, Ky.; C. W. Hoskins of Hyden, Ky.

All of the speakers for the August 15 gathering have not yet been named but a number of them will be from the National Forestry Department. They will make recommendations to the National Forest Reservation Commission and action will be taken by the national body at a late August meeting.

The public is invited to this gathering and all families are asked to bring a basket lunch and spend the day. For those not wishing to pack a large basket 2,000 pounds of fresh fish will be fried and sold at 25c per order. More complete details of the meeting will be announced later.
