COCK OF THE WALK
That rooster Paul Raffill owns is creating no little disturbance and considerable sore feeling around Martin.

Whether you like all its provisions or not, you'll have to admit Judge Hill's roadhouse order published in this newspaper last week was well-written.

If it's a short name they're wanting for the present international disturbance, why not call it "THE WAC"?

JUDGE PATTON'S RESERVATIONS
Ever since I have been "so" high, I have heard of Judge John S. Patton, the Eastern Kentuckian whose name is legend in legal circles of this section.

A tobacco-chewing unconventional son of the hills, the man today is branded as a genius. His decision for "the cup that cheers," his unconventional in dress and speech--these were overshadowed, we are told, by his possessing wisdom and eloquence that have furnished the inspiration for many the tall tale told over the years around winter firesides.

This man whose life and acts and talents are hailed by the passing of the years and by the admiration-fueled approval of those older who were his contemporaries, was the only Democrat, we are told, ever to poll a majority of the vote of rock-ribbed Republican Martin county, of which he was a native.

For these reasons this column feels justified in re-printing from a yellowed copy of the Eastern Kentucky Post supplied by Tom Hills, of Prestonsburg, what is purported to be one of the "long" tributes to the old courtier, some time between 1880 and 1888 when Judge Patton occupied the bench of the courts of the old sixth judicial district.

Champions of the grand jury, there is a circumstance to which I wish especially to call your attention. A beautiful day in a country neighborhood has just arrived at the age of 16 and has invited the young folks to the community to her home to help celebrate the occasion. It is almost sunset in the month of June. This girl is dressed in white and has a red rose pinned upon her bosom. Her cheeks have

Floyd Singers, Declared By Authority, 'Unique,' To Make Appearances

Jive, folk or classical--you should listen to any music form classified by an authority such as is Miss Gertrude Knott, director of the National Music-Festival, as being "absolutely unique." Now, wouldn't you? All that amounts to an invitation to all of you to attend on Monday, April 26, when Edith James and her Plain Song Chanters will appear in a Community Sing on the lot at the head of Fifth street which they plan, some day, to occupy in a work-and-play-sing project designed to make them self-supporting. If interested in the "sing," bring your own song books, your "Sweet Songsters" in particular.

After Edith James and her Chanters are "through with" local appearances they will, on the invitation of Miss Knott, sing for the fifth consecutive year at the National Folk Festival, Washington, D. C. No other group, we are told, can supplant them in a program of such national

Mrs. Lily Harris, Native of Ohio, Dies in Ohio

Mrs. Lily Brantman Harris, 68 years old, wife of R. N. Harris, and a native of this county, died Sunday at her home in Lucasville, O., following a four-day illness of heart disease. The body was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Goble, Emma, where funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Isaac Stricker officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home. Surviving her husband, three sons and one daughter: John Earl and Buster Harris, Stockdale, O.; and Mrs. Edna Harris, Lucasville, O., and Mrs. Goble, of Emma.

THURSDAY

ATTACK MADE ON JUDGE'S ORDER

'Fight to Finish' On Roadhouses Is Envisioned

A fight to the finish over the regulation of roadhouses was in prospect this week as J. B. Raffill, Lancer roadhouse owner, filed a petition in the Floyd circuit court for a writ of prohibition restraining County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., from enforcing the opening and closing hour order issued by him last week. A temporary writ of prohibition, granted by Circuit Judge Henry Stephens, Jr., was construed as permitting roadhouse operators to keep their places of business open until April 26 at all hours, if they desire to take the risk of paying the penalty, in the event Judge Hill's order is held valid. It was explained that granting of the temporary injunction was mandatory and that the possible "open house" between now and April 26 is a result of the 10-day notice necessary to be given Judge Hill before final hearing of the case. Judge Hill's order last week specified that all Floyd county roadhouses may not open before 8 a. m. and may not remain open after 8 p. m. Mr. Raffill's petition, filed by Atty. Joe P. Tackett, asked that Judge Hill be prohibited permanently from attempting to enforce either the state law empowering County Judges to regulate roadhouses or his recent order stating the hours during which roadhouses may be operated.

THREE KILLED AT HINDMAN

Martin and Hall, Bystander Die In Affray

Hindman, onetime battleground of feudists, but recognized for years as the most peaceful of Eastern Kentucky county-seats, tonight was the scene of a pistol battle last Thursday afternoon which cost the lives of three men. The dead are: Deputy Sheriff Marion Martin, 29; Hindman, William Hall, of Hills, Ky.; and Winton Hale, Hindman, Ky. The affray, as a result of which the three men died, started in what is said here as Deputy Sheriff Martin and Edley, a man Monroe Combs, of Hindman, started to leave Bolen's restaurant in Hindman with Ed Martin who had told the officers that they were of the shooting says, he preferred to accompany them than to surrender to an officer, arrest a man as they were leaving, and try to dictate the acts and conduct of the fellow in office, for their own selfish purposes. I am not being "run" by any man or set of men, but am entering this race for Sheriff of my own free and voluntary judgment. I believe in public officials being honest with the public always, and above all, honest with themselves. If I, as Sheriff, am to be judged by the law fairly, equally, modestly and above all, not for selfish reasons, then let me first clean house at home. I'll never, as long as I live, be drunk for drinking while I drink. In other words, friends, I'll not be a fanatical fool and get drunk with am to enforce the law fairly, but rather, I'll be fair, reasonable and ready at all times to work. I'll greatly appreciate your help at the Democratic primary next August.

To the Democrats Of Floyd County:

Most men who run for office say that their many friends have urged them to do so. It has too long been the custom of some people to try to convince me to run for office and then assume all the credit and try to dictate the acts and conduct of the fellow in office, for their own selfish purposes. I am not being "run" by any man or set of men, but am entering this race for Sheriff of my own free and voluntary judgment. I believe in public officials being honest with the public always, and above all, honest with themselves. If I, as Sheriff, am to be judged by the law fairly, equally, modestly and above all, not for selfish reasons, then let me first clean house at home. In other words, friends, I'll not be a fanatical fool and get drunk with am to enforce the law fairly, but rather, I'll be fair, reasonable and ready at all times to work. I'll greatly appreciate your help at the Democratic primary next August.

FOUR NAMED IN SLAYING HERE

Doctor Here Named In $10,000 Suit

Alleging that Dr. D. H. Daniels left a roll of gambles in the incision he made at the Prestonsburg General hospital when he performed an appendectomy on her, Jan. 17, last, and that as a result she suffered permanent injury, Opal Hall, of Auxler, this week filed suit in the Floyd circuit court asking $10,000 damages. The plaintiff, whose suit was filed by Atty. Joe P. Tackett, alleged that the gauze remained left March 9 when another operation resulted in its discovery and removal.

HENRY HARRIS DIES AT 61

West P'burg Man, Paralysis Victim, Monday Morning

Henry Clay Harris, prominent West Prestonsburg man, died Monday morning at 10 o'clock at his home, six hours after having been stricken by paralysis. He was 61 years old. Elder son of the late Robert W. and Agnes Fitzpatrick Harris, the victim was one of the county's best-known citizens. For years he was a teacher in the local common schools, later engaging in the lumber and mercantile business at West Prestonsburg. He had, since early childhood, been a member of the Methodist Church here. His friends were all who knew him.

Mr. Harris was, according to Dec. 31, 1914 to Miss Jennie O'Dell, who survives. To this union were born two daughters, Miss Agnes Harris, Norfolk, Va., and Miss Anna May Harris, a sophomore at Lees College, Jackson, Ky. He is also survived by one step-daughter, Mrs. C. F. Rinehart, Mt. Vernon, O., his step-mother, Mrs. Kate L. Harris, West Prestonsburg; one brother, Jim P. Harris, Shelbyville, Ky., and seven sisters: Mrs. Ernest Langley, Flushington, N. Y.; Mrs. J. W. Sutherland, Mrs. W. P. Runnels and Miss Alice Harris, West Prestonsburg; Mrs. F. D. Wellman, Morehead, and Mrs. J. P. Allen, of Hindman.

SALVAGE BODY FORMED HERE

Floyd county's contribution of scrap metal, rags and paper to the national war effort was given "high gear" impetus Tuesday evening as organization of the Floyd County Salvage Committee was completed at a meeting held in the committee's new headquarters in the Nursery building on Third avenue. Committee members led the meeting with instructions to get the salvage work in their respective sections of the county started immediately. All papers, rags, steel, copper, brass, scrap iron, rubber and tin are to be salvaged. County Agent S. L. Isabel was named leader of the salvage movement in sections outside of Prestonsburg. C. H. Smith heads the move here. County Superintendent Town Hall, named to work with the county's schools, designated Jesse Elliott, county agent leader, to ask every teacher to call on his or her pupils to begin now to bring to their respective schools all items listed as salvageable. J. D. Fitzpatrick, Prestonsburg county supervisor of highways for the Kentucky Department of Highways, was named to head the task of arranging for the transportation of

MAYTOWN FLIER, FIRST FLOYD MAN TO GET 'WINGS'

First Floyd countian to win his "Wings" in the air service of his country is William Edward Sutton, 23-year-old son of Worthy and Edith Ed Sutton and Mrs. Sutton, of Langley. He entered the U. S. Army Air Corps in August, 1940, after having been graduated from Maytown high school and attending Berry College, the University of Alabama where he studied engineering and George Washington University, Washington, D. C., where he attended night classes after being employed during the day by the War Department. Lieutenant Sutton, immediately upon his enlistment, was sent to Parks Air College, East St. Louis, Ill., for basic training; was graduated from the Lowry Air Base, Denver, Colo., March 15, last year and received, his commission as Second Lieutenant on June 23. From Lowry Field he was transferred to Barksdale Field, La., as a bombardier instructor. When the "Jap" attack was made on Pearl Harbor he was rushed by plane to join in the patrol of

MADE SIX KNIGHTS

Henry P. Patton and Thomas Thompson, both of Prestonsburg, were initiated into the mysteries of Pikeville Commandery No. 45, Knights Templar, Monday evening. They were accompanied by several Six Knights residing in and around Prestonsburg. During the evening a banquet was given at Louis' Cafe, in Pikeville. Alex H. Spradlin, of Prestonsburg, was installed as the new Emment Commander of Pikeville Commandery, and Claybourne Stephens was duly installed as a time officer of the Commandery.

DEFERRED LIST TO GET 3R'S

Education of Men Being Rejected Is Planned

As the list of men deferred from military service because of illiteracy grows larger, plans are being studied to give these men the basic education of reading and writing. Floyd is one of seven Kentucky counties, it was said recently, which have more than 100 men who have been rejected because of illiteracy. It was said at draft headquarters here this week that a study of the situation has not developed any definite action, although the primary education of "inately intelligent" men is expected to be undertaken. While selective service authorities in general is no worse than that of the national picture, nevertheless the number of prospective soldiers in the state who are being deferred on this ground represents too much of a manpower loss to be tolerated, it is pointed out. A group tabulation of counties having more registrants rejected or deferred for not having minimum educational requirements shows that 33 counties have more than 25 such cases. Twelve have more than 50, and seven have more than 100.

Prestonsburg Man Heads Flying School

His ground and flight aviation school approved under the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the Meadows State Teachers' College last week announced that Charles Meadows, Prestonsburg, will be flight school contractor and will manage the airport on U. S. 60, seven miles west of Morehead. The college itself will be ground school contractor. Mr. Meadows, a private pilot of long experience, last year trained student-fliers here. He is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Dickerson, of Water Gap.

TO ENTERTAIN SELECTEES

Legion Commander Says Floyd 'Boys' To Be Feted

"Boys leaving this county for the army will not, in the future, find the town and county sleeping and hazy around to say a good word to them," W. I. Myers, Drift, commander of Floyd Post, American Legion, declared here Tuesday. Mr. Myers detailed preparations for entertainment here of the "boys" leaving for induction Saturday morning. He said the Floyd County Band directed by Prof. Jesse Elliott and the Prestonsburg high school glee club, under the direction of Mrs. Chalmers Frazier, will render patriotic band and vocal numbers that, at the same time, the selectees will receive doughnuts and coffee. Mr. Myers' detailed preparations for entertainment here of the "boys" leaving for induction Saturday morning was initiated at the Salvage Committee meeting Tuesday evening. Those desiring to have a part in expressing the county's appreciation of the "boys" and the service they will render the country should place their contributions with either Mrs. Chalmers Frazier or Robert D. Francis, it was said. Assisting in collecting funds for this purpose will be the Civilian Defense staff, the American Legion and the Prestonsburg Morning's Club. Teachers in the Prestonsburg schools Wednesday morning asked their pupils to contribute to the cause. Mr. Myers predicted that, in the future, there will be no shortage of funds for the entertainment of the young men leaving for service in the county's armed forces. "I know the generosity of Floyd county's citizens as well as that of the folks in other occupations, and I know that they will not fail us or our boys in the undertaking."

TWO 'CLEARED' OF MURDER CHARGES

Officer Is Named In False Arrest Accusation

Two of the 31 indictments returned this week by the grand jury of the Floyd circuit court named five men, on murder charges, and another accused an officer of false arrest. The murder indictments were returned in the slaying of Willie Shortridge near here, two weeks ago, and of Monroe Salisbury at Hunter, a few days earlier. Isaac Sturffo, Joe Wheeler Horn, Isaac McGowan and T. J. Fitzpatrick were named in the Shortridge case. Willie Salisbury was accused of the Monroe Salisbury slaying. The officer accused of false arrest is Deputy Constable Jim Hall, who, it was alleged, arrested C. A. Kidd, of Harold, on a drunkenness charge of Harold, on the ground that he was guilty. Kidd also told the grand jury that the officer refused him permission to see Magistrate Dewey Roberts, instead, brought him here to jail where he remained 10 days. The two murder trials of the week resulted in acquittals. Per Hall Sturffo charged with murder in allegedly abetting the slaying of Levi Taylor at Drift by her husband, Doliver Sturffo, was acquitted Monday. Witnesses told of Taylor striking her and advancing on her husband after the latter fired a warning shot in the ground. Doliver Sturffo at a previous court term was given a 10-year pen term for the slaying. Trial of Vernon Prentiss, charged with the slaying of his brother, Byrd Tackett. The trial is slated to begin Friday. The Tacketts have been in jail here since the crime was committed several months ago. Shooting and wounding robbery

HERE IS A BOUQUET

From many Mattownites, who appreciate the services extended to the sick, afflicted, needy, dying and bereaved, by one whose efforts have won her a place in the hearts of all who know of her thoughtful kindness. The weather is never too bad, the home too distant; she can and does go, often into poverty-stricken homes, which know no other help. She never asks about dollars for pay—generally, there are none—she just serves willingly and faithfully, giving a part of herself to the suffering. Most of you know her. If you do not, this clue may help you identify her. She is the daughter of a former pastor of the Mattown Methodist Church.

Floyd County Idle Receive Benefits

Totalling $4,153

Unemployed workers in Floyd county, covered by the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Law, received benefit payments totaling $4,153 during February. Executive Director V. B. Barnes, of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission, announced last week.

A total of 30 new claims were filed in the county during the month of February, Barnes said, while 148 unemployed workers continued claims which they had previously filed.

The cumulative estate total for February, Barnes said, was 8,246 new claims filed; 30,740 continued claims filed; and $208,087.22 in benefits paid.

Generally speaking, Barnes said, an unemployed worker who during the year 1941 earned as much as $800 in wages from employers subject to the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Law (for the most part this includes employers of four or more regular employees), and who are unemployed through no fault of their own, are now eligible for unemployment benefits.

ALL OF US ARE INVOLVED
CURRENT platitude No. 1 is, We are at war.
No exclamation belongs after that sentence, it is a mere statement of fact.

What is our reaction to that news? That is what counts.
Must you see enemy aircraft winging overhead, hear enemy bombs and shells bursting in your own backyard before you can realize that your own little corner of the world is involved in this fight to the finish?

Have you so little imagination that you see civilians leaving town to become the soldiers of tomorrow, without thought of them or their importance to you, your community, county and nation?
Must the crack of doom resound in your ears before you can realize there can be a doom for you and all of us?

We are at war.
You and all of us—all in the maelstrom that will seethe and surge, and from which the strong, the winner will break the current fearlessly, will emerge victorious.

When the victory is won, as surely it will be then men will take an accounting. Their broad perspective in that great day will not include only the obvious hero; over the years, we all shall be remembered for what we did as opportunity was offered.

The warrior's Valhalla is not for all of us. The slacker's role must not be for all of us; else, there will be no Valhalla.
That trusted plow share in the lotus national defense; that blackened bit of rubber, that forgotten rag—make them a part of the victory effort.

In the mountains of Serbia a patriot general leads his fellow-mountaineers in relentless battle against Hitler's legions. Others have fawned and bent the knee before the conqueror. But not these Serbs.
With the fierce, flaming spirit of independence and the hatred of oppression by which these mountaineers are imbued there is a kinship in America wherever mountaineers dwell. To such as these liberty is as necessary as air and food and drink.

Not all of us, however, will carry a rifle or fly a plane in this war. Some of us must do the humbler, though none the less patriotic chores.

Then let us be doing them.

HOW TO CURE THE EVIL
SHERIFFS in Virginia go on a salary basis next January as a result of a 1942 law abolishing the salient fee system for those officials and city sergeants.

The measure, abolishing the fee system, which always injected a profit consideration in handling of prisoners, was one of several bills sponsored by the Virginia Advisory Legislative Council to modernize the state's penal system.
The other bills, also enacted, established a state department of corrections and a system of probation and parole, and abolished the office of constable.

Maximum compensation of sheriffs and city sergeants was set by the new law at $6,000 a year, with salaries graded according to size of jurisdiction. The Commonwealth will pay two-thirds and localities one-third of the salaries, and will divide fee collections similarly. The fee system of paying county officials still is found in about half a dozen states—including West Virginia—despite its elimination in many places during the last several years. The system is a relic of early days of the county, when many public officers received fees or commissions and were allowed to retain them as compensation, without reporting the amount.—Huntington (W. Va.) Herald Advertiser.

900 QUIZZED BY BOARDS

Floyd Registrars in Third Draft Are Questioned

Nine hundred Floyd citizens benefited from the first two drafts of selective service for possible military service this week received their questionnaires from Selective Service Boards 4 and 45 here.

The boards were also preparing to mail to registrants a special occupational questionnaire, it was announced.

Board 4 mailed 400 questionnaires, Board 45, 500, which are to be filled out and returned within 10 days to the applicants' respective boards here, so that a conception may be gained of registrants' fitness for military service. The occupational questionnaire is for the purpose of determining the fitness of registrants for specialized work, in industry or in the professions.

Draft Board 4 Monday released the list of registrars and the places where registration of the 46-48-year age group will be held April 17.

The list follows, the first individual named in each case being chief registrar:
Little-Maryline Hunt, Charlie Hager;
Auzier—Robert Marshall, Darwin Wells.

Prentiss—R. R. Allen, T. M. Sturgill, Wm. Hagans, L. A. Smiley, Carl Horn, Rebecca Ellis, Mrs. Ambrose Mandt.

Barb Creek—John Stephens, Max B. Barr;
Lancaster—O. S. May, Norman Orider.

Cow Creek—L. C. Leslie, Becher Cow Creek;
Buffalo—Darwin Hunt, Johnnie Orider.

Mouth of Beaver—Geldis P. Short, Ed. Allen, W. A. Malone.
Prater Creek—T. B. Akers, Gladys Conn.

Tram—Ballard Scott, Ellen Lafayette;
Betsy Layne—Kelsa Gearheart, Carlos Crum, Mrs. Glenn Black.

Harold—Oma Perry, Matt Hale.
Little Mud—Arthur Jones, Nora Stewart Meats.

Toler—Virgil Bush, Tom Osborne;
Bransford—Crest—T. N. Newsoms, Hazel Hamilton.

Head of Middle Creek—Graydon Howard, Ed. Prater.
Mouth of Lick Pools—Samuel Hale, Golda Stephens, Frankie S. Best, Sparlock—Robert L. Pitts, Wm. Hayward.

TO HER MEMORY

Lola Davidson Trautman, daughter of the late John P. M. Davidson, and Judith Davidson, nee Davidson, died at her home, 1883, past 67 years old. She passed in holy wedlock with Rev. H. M. Trautman, Methodist pastor, Malvern Community, W. Va., District Superintendent, Altoona, Pa. She was active in church work whenever her health permitted. She was a great lover of children and young folks and whenever able would organize them into clubs for action. On several occasions she organized Girl Scout troops, and she had great times with them. She was in such poor health most of the time she could not carry out her duties. She was a member of the Christian Service Society at New-Hamilton, Pa. She was one of the charter members.

She belonged to the Red Cross Division of the Methodist Church Camp. She entertained the Society on March 17 with a St. Patrick's Day program.

She was a member of the Red Cross, Drift, Jesse Elliott and Earl Hays, of Betsy Layne; James Stephens, Cliff; Mrs. M. Claude Davis, Mrs. M. H. Hays, of Betsy Layne; I. H. Triplett, Wm. Graves Caudill, Town Hall, S. L. Isbell, Norman Allen, N. M. White, Jr., R. D. Frantz, J. E. Fitzgerald, J. W. Smith, George Straghan, W. G. Africa and Warren Hale, all of Prestonsburg.

The members' next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, April 28.

How shall we talk about her? How shall we remember her? How shall we friends and relatives? I learned a great deal about the history of her family connections, so the names seem so familiar. She always had a good word for every one of them.

She was a member for many years of the D.A.R. Society and was deeply interested in it. She was a member of the Prestonsburg Chapter, and an auxiliary member of Russell, Simpson, Taylor, Todd, Union, Wayne and Whitely.

She lived with me on the different charges of the Central Pennsylvania Conference for 18 years, then three years at her home. Here her great task was her home. She loved our little home and delighted in arranging things to suit her taste.

She was a devoted mother. I am looking forward to a "glorious reunion in the Morning." May our gracious heavenly Father keep her in His love and she will be no more suffering nor loneliness.

God bless and keep you, dear, till we meet in the Morning.
Goodbye.

REV. H. M. TRAUTMAN,
New-Hamilton, Pa.
This poem from her pen was read at her funeral services.

TO MOTHER

I love the bluebells growing Down by a purling stream,
I love the daisies blooming In the meadow soft and green,
I love the bluebirds singing And the violets peeping through the springtime sod.

And little children singing— To me, all these speak of mother and of God.

I love all these more for love of mother.
Mother, I loved all of springtime splendors, Earth and reaching sky.
Now these treasured joys are gone.

With a faith so high. In this world where lack of loving grieves us, as down life's pathway we stray.

SALVAGE BODY

salvaged materials from the several accumulation points to the Prestonsburg storage center in the Salvage Trucks' headquarters. Highway operating firms and individuals will join in hauling materials here. Shipments from Prestonsburg, it was said, will be made to the nearest station of the county where salvaged materials may be picked up as being made there. The contributing firms and individuals are asked to make the handling of scrap as easy as possible—to arrange newspapers and magazines and work are free to be cut cardboard boxes open and flatten them.

W. Carey Burnett, Salvage Committee chairman, presiding at Tuesday evening's meeting, emphasized the fact that the profit motive does not enter into the undertaking—that all contributions and work are free. Various members of the committee and interested citizens discussed phases of the salvage work.

Beginning Monday, April 20, a clerk supplied by the Works Progress Administration will be at the Sal-page Committee headquarters during each day. Those interested in helping to move waste materials on to the production of tanks and guns and other war materials are asked to telephone those numbers in Prestonsburg, if advised by the committee. The members' next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, April 28.

DEFERRED LIST

Counties having from 25 to 50 such cases are Adair, Boyd, Brookland, Buller, Carlisle, Cumberland, Boone, Fayette, Putnam, Boone, Green, Harrison, Harlan, Jackson, Jessamine, Knox, Lee, Letcher, Leslie, Lincoln, McCreary, Montgomery, Nelson, Powell, Rowan, Russell, Simpson, Taylor, Todd, Union, Wayne and Whitely.

Counties having from 50 to 100 such cases are Barren, Breathitt, Bell, Franklin, Henderson, Hopkins, Knott, Martin, Monroe, Perry, Pulaski and Warren.

Counties having 100 or more are Casey, Christian, Harlan, Jefferson, Muhlenberg, Pike, Wayne and Wolfe.

The situation was the subject of a meeting in Louisville recently. The result of this meeting was the more or less informal launching of the state wide campaign. It was agreed that representatives of various groups that they would start seeking out prospective selectors of the state wide campaign. It was agreed that representatives of various groups that they would start seeking out prospective selectors of the state wide campaign.

"The army's regulations require the equivalent of a fourth-grade education, which for the purpose of selection is held to be the minimum ability to read and write," explained Col. Frank D. Rash, Kentucky selective service director.

The regulations we have found in Kentucky a total of 1332 prospective selectors already rejected for illiteracy, and another group of 1,000 rejected for illiteracy. A man now deferred said probably to be rejected for this deficiency.

"This is a total of approximately 2,332 men selected from the manual output of the state's draft boards. Besides the lessening of the number of selectors from Kentucky, it throws the number of selectors we have found in Kentucky a total of 1332 prospective selectors already rejected for illiteracy, and another group of 1,000 rejected for illiteracy. A man now deferred said probably to be rejected for this deficiency.

It was agreed that the army once related its educational requirements, but now was insisting upon the equivalent of a fourth-grade education.

It was agreed by those present that the ideal way to handle the problem would be to induce other well qualified literate selectors and give them the required training in army classes. This, in fact, has been done in some instances. The procedure, however, seems in disfavor with army authorities and hence the community campaign plan was decided upon.

Accepting at the Louisville meeting the task of serving on a continuing advisory committee to the state selective service, were George H. Goodson, Kentucky WPA representative; John W. Brooker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Mark P. Ehrhardt, representative of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times; Robert W. Wilson, Lexington, commander of the Kentucky Department of American Legion; and Stephen A. Burnley, head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mr. Goodson told the meeting of the work WPA has been doing in training applicants for selective service. He said that such personnel and said teacher facilities were available in many localities throughout Kentucky. He estimated that sufficient training in reading and writing could be imparted in four weeks to qualify selectors for induction under army standards. Mr. Goodson agreed to have his organization take charge of such classes wherever they are needed.

Transportation Expert Warns Against Needless Motor Vehicle Restrictions
Handicapping highway transportation with unnecessary rule and extreme restrictions would interfere seriously with the nation's war effort, Professor Harry E. Stocker, of the University of Kentucky, nationally known transportation authority, warns in a study just issued on the "Inherent Advantages of Motor Vehicle Transportation."

"Against look the false step, when under peace conditions has relegated highway transportation to the second position in the economies of the British Isles," Prof. Stocker declared. "After the war began, she recognized her mistake and tried to utilize the inherent advantages of motor transportation to help win the war."

"When the inherent technical and economic advantages of motor transportation were interfered with by unfair legislation, there is a loss to the nation not alone in higher costs for transportation, and restriction or destruction of superior services, but also in the lack of facilities for modernized mechanized warfare."

"To insure highway transportation by unrestricted and extreme regulations, priorities and prohibitions, might prove to be one of the greatest handicaps which could be inflicted upon the national defense effort."

I hear (via the Big Sandy News) that the Louisville City Council at its monthly meeting Tuesday, voted to quarantine dogs because of a threatened spread of rabies and directed Mayor C. E. ATTACK MADE

Constitutionality of the law giving County Judges power to regulate roadhouse hours was attacked in the petition. The plaintiff contends that the permitting of roadhouses in incorporated towns to remain open longer than those outside such towns amounts to "class legislation" and is therefore unconstitutional.

Regulation of hours in incorporated towns rests with town councils. The petition also alleged that Judge Hill failed to provide by the provision in the law that he enter within 30 days after entering office an order fixing hours of roadhouse operation. He failed to enter any order of the kind for several months, the petition alleges. County Attorney Woodrow W. Burchett declared roadhouse operators are "barking up the wrong tree in this case." He predicted that Judge Hill will be upheld in circuit court.

Hill's position also claimed that the 8 p. m. War Time closing hour in this case is "ridiculous" and that this would deprive the public "of an opportunity to secure recreation during the hours which to do a general custom are wont to do."

Right of the Club Rustique here to operate later hours than roadhouses elsewhere in the county because of its inclusion in the city limits of Prestonsburg was challenged the week by Judge Hill by issuing a warrant for its owner, Frank H. Lippert.

Judge Hill contends that the Club Rustique is not legally a part of Prestonsburg.

grocery, metal shapes, metal hinges, spot and arc welders and other war production machines.

In the Prestonsburg NYA shop, and in other NYA shops throughout Kentucky, the machinery is similar to that used in war industry. When youth have mastered these machines they are ready to take their places on industrial production lines. Three months is the average time required to prepare an inexperienced youth for a war job.

Since the Prestonsburg metal shop is set up under war law, the 124 youth employed there have not yet been called for production for the army. However, Herbert Markum, Area Director, said he expects the local shop to be called on in the near future to help make army equipment.

First of the youths employed in the shop here to be called to war in the Rev. A. L. Allen, Jr., son of the Rev. A. L. Allen, of Allen, after doing 100 hours of work in three weeks. He left April 9 for the Glenn L. Martin Bomber Company plant, Baltimore, Md., and eight other youths are ready for war industry employment as soon as their birth certificates are proved.

Each month approximately 500 youth leave Kentucky NYA shops for jobs. About half of this number are sent to war industries in eastern states. Others are placed in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio war plants. Those sent east are transferred via der the National Youth Administration, the industrial transfer plan which provides for youth to be sent to areas where war industries are concentrated. Workers are transferred only after industries have requested them. Already more than 750 Kentucky youth, representing 71 counties, have been sent to Connecticut, Maryland and New Jersey and now have jobs with the Glenn L. Martin Bomber Co., Vought Sikorsky Aircraft Co., Remington Arms Co., Hamilton Rifle Co., U.S. Aluminum Co., Electric Boat Co. and other war production concerns.

In addition to those going into war industries, a large number of NYA trained youth join the armed services where they can apply their skill in the use and maintenance of fighting equipment.

FOUR NAMED

and shooting into an auto indictment against John Salisbury and Oliver Allen, of Garrett, were dismissed this week when witnesses were found to be unreliable.

The voluntary manslaughter charge against Ervin Combs was dismissed on the grounds that proof was insufficient to convict. Although their wives voluntarily appeared as witnesses against them, Grady and Carroll, Lawson, were acquitted. They were charged with a charge of breaking and entering to establish proof of how they effected entry into the building; at the same time, the defendants denied their guilt.

Unhappy

When the Medmases Dotson voluntarily supplied information that their husbands were in possession of items which Add Thacker, Wheelwright, identified as goods from his store, defense attorney E. M. James asked if the two men so that divorces could be had. When the two were acquitted, he indicated that their wives could have divorces without further trouble.

Other major indictments returned by the grand jury follow:

Grady and Carroll Dotson, storehouse breaking; George Burdette, rape; Lum Derssett; and Earl Watkins, arson; Clarence Brown, shooting into dwelling house; Willie Cox, shooting and wounding; Jack and Grace Morrow (separate indictments); possessing concealed deadly weapons; Mattie Sexton and Ollie Boyd, adultery and fornication; Henry Shipman carnally knowing a female under the age of 16; Oena Burke and Dorothy Murphy, permitting on premises a slot machine; Jack and Grace Morrow, permitting on premises a gaming device; McKinley Hunter, cutting and wounding; Arnold Hall, child desertion; Harry Howard, child desertion; Johnnie Huttock, forgery; Lawson Brown and Jess Dameron, embezzlement; Gus Little, striking and wounding; Sid Scheiffelin, shooting and wounding; Robbie Harmon, obtaining money under false pretenses; Delbert (Red) Leon, shooting and wounding; Jim Allen, possessing moonshine whisky.

the bright coloring of the sun-gleed her hair as black as the raven's wing. The young folks of the neighborhood are just coming into the town. They were welcomed at the door by this beautiful fairy. Two young men of the neighborhood whose conduct was so bad that the young lady could not in self-respect invite them to be present on this occasion, are riding by on a couple of mules. They are dispersed because they are not invited. It is evident from their countenances, as they look back over their shoulders, as they ride on their way to a blind trip three miles down the creek. Something like an hour has passed from the time they went by the house. The music of the banjo and the shuffle of feet are now evidencing the good times these young folks are having at the home of this young lady. These boys are returning from the blind trip. And you can see the couple of mules. They are the whoop of hell and men singing. "When the last gold dollar is gone." Gentlemen of the grand jury, it is your duty to indict these boys. Bring them to me and I will attend to them.

There is yet another circumstance gentlemen of the jury, to which I invite your attention. There is a little country church by the roadside. A CRISTIAN minister has planted a little maple tree in front of it to beautify and make comfortable the entrance of the grand jury. It is yet a tender little tree. The good folks of the inside of this church are earnestly singing praises to Almighty God. A young fellow with a spur on each foot, his hat tilted to one side, a bandana handkerchief around his neck, rides up to the church on a mule. He dismounts and instead of riding out a little distance and hitching his mule to a fence post or to the swinging limb of a beech tree, he hitches the mule to the tender little maple tree and above the sound of the songs and the prayers in the church the bray of his mule can be heard as he gnaws all the bark from the tree and he destroys it. Gentlemen, that fellow should be indicted and brought before me. I'll attend to him. A man like that would ride a jackass into the garden of Eden, spit in the face of Adam and Eve, and hitch the animal to the tree of life.

Gentlemen of the grand jury, I see an old man guffaw cackled across a meadow field. Across his shoulder he has a big old-fashioned rifle with a barrel about ten feet long. Hanging by his side is an old leather pouch containing some leaden bullets and some factory patches and attached to this shot pouch is a bull's horn filled with powder. This old guffaw has been out at least 100 years old. This old man has started to the woods. Now, gentlemen, I want you to leave that old man alone. He does not mean any harm. He is going to kill a squirrel for a slice of bread. But there is another fellow and I want you to attend to him. I see a young fellow sitting on a bank on the upper side of the road under the shade of a big beech tree. He is all dressed in a suit. Across his lap is one of those new fangled Winchester shot-guns. He has a pretty leather bag and his mule is hitched to all filled with cartridges. He has tilted to one side, a peacock feather adorns it, and he has a red silk handkerchief around his neck. If you get close to him, he smells like musk. He is singing "Sourwood Mountain." I want you to indict him. If he has not already done something, he is fixing to, indict him and bring him before me and I will send him to the calaboose.

A SOLDIER MEDITATES BY FRANK MUSIC [THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES has long refused to publish poetry because of the rejection of contributions, however unimportant, from friends or acquaintances is an unpleasant task. The following, written by an ex-soldier who has returned Feb. 11, 1942 after three years of service because of an illness of diabetes, and now a senior in Ancker high school, is one instance of such merit that we feel justified for the nonce in violating this rule.—Editor.]

Six months ago today I raised my hand. And, when the oath was read, replied "I do." Becoming thus a soldier for my land For three long years, to serve her staunch and true. Six months has gone—long, weary, endless days Of toil in wind and rain and burning sun. Dreaming of home and familiar ways. The family hearthside prayer when day is done. A child's sweet laughter on the evening breeze. A mother's lullaby, the moon-

From This County In Houston, Tex., Report Says

Missing since late last month, Raymond Griffith, 21, Martin, Edward Allen, 19, Langley; Harry Elmer, 17, and her sister, Altha, 15, both of Still, were held last week by federal authorities at Houston, Texas, state highway patrol headquarters at Pikeville said. Griffith picked the two girls up at Wayland high school, highway patrolmen said they were told, and drove southward in a beer-laden Double-Cla truck which he was operating. The company by which he was employed claimed he left in possession of $260 of its funds.

It was not stated if federal charges were filed against all four occupants of the truck. Patrolmen said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had refused Kentucky authorities custody of the quartette.

Shortly after their disappearance, William H. Bates, of the Pikeville office, Federal Bureau of Investigation, entered the case. Violation of the motor vehicle act and the Mann act were again as probable charges that may be filed.
