PARK METERS ARE BOUGHT BY COUNCIL

Purchase is Made On Nine Months Trial Basis

Purchase of parking meters to be installed immediately here was unanimously authorized Monday evening by the City Council.

Twenty-one meters were purchased and will be installed in the postoffice area on Third and Court streets, in the business section of Court street and on First of the machine. Pipes collected for violation of the parking ordinance to be enacted in connection with the installation of the city treasury.

The machines were bought on nine months' trial, they will reduce 25 per cent of the money deposited in the meters by automatic, the meter company to receive the remainder as credit against the cost of the machines. Pipes collected for violation of the parking ordinance to be enacted in connection with the installation of the city treasury.

The Council here was prompted to purchase the meters by the success met in Pikeville with the same system.

The price of the meters, it was said, is $65 each, with an installation charge of $150 each to be added.

The meters will be in operation, Monday through Friday, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. They will not be in operation on Saturdays and Sundays.

A representative of the meter company estimated that the average collection from each meter should be 20 cents a day. Deposit of 50 cents a meter would entitle a motorist to an hour's parking, and a dime would insure from two hours to 125 minutes parking before "time up" is registered.

It was indicated at Monday evening's meeting of the council that for the first few days of parking meter operation here, warning tickets will be issued by officers to violators of the path and without thereafter strict enforcement of the ordinance will be made.

George Harris was sworn in at the meeting, after which he was commissioner during the illness of Starling Sweeney.

CORRECTION! Story in TIMES False; McGuire Not Arrested

The statement appearing in this newspaper, dated April 30, to the effect that Eric McGuire was arrested, with Casey Newsome, by Prestonsburg police, on a charge of taking certain items from the smokehouse of Mrs. Ben Ferguson here is wholly untrue as to Mr. McGuire.

The TIMES published the news-story in Food, Faith and the malle whatever. It regrets that the good name of Mr. McGuire, who has an excellent reputation in this community, has been damaged and makes this means of correcting the mistake that was made.

As this newspaper now understands the case, neither Mr. McGuire had any connection whatsoever with it, except that some of the stolen items were taken by others to their homes. McGuire was informed, police, thus enabling them to make the arrests.

HALL CLEARED IN SHOOTING

Of Perry Johnson; April Court Term Ends Saturday

Last of the Floyd circuit court's April term murder trials was that of Jim Hall, who was acquitted Saturday in the slaying of Perry Johnson at Wheelwright Junction.

Hall contended that the shots he fired were aimed at Casper Osborne and that he fired them in self-defense after Osborne had fired on him. He testified that, if Johnson was hit by his bullets, the shooting was accidental, that he did not see Osborne during the gunfight with Johnson. It was testified during the trial that Johnson shot Osborne first.

The Commonwealth sought to show that Hall, an officer at the time of the shooting, was the aggressor in the shooting with Osborne and that his action resulted in Johnson's death.

Allen Stone, former Lacey officer, recently convicted in the slaying of Marion (Jack) Triplett, was sentenced Saturday by Circuit Judge Stephens to two years in the state reformatory.

The murder trial of Mrs. Mary Tackett, accused in the slaying of Byrd Tackett, was continued to Sept. 12. Her husband, Ben Tackett, was given a 21-year term in the same slaying at the April court term.

At Thursday's morning session, the week that Joe Taylor Hilly, Prestonsburg high school athletic coach, will enter the Naval Reserve here at the end of this month. The application for the coaching job here have already been received. Mr. Yeager said.

May Call 3A Class By Next Fall, Hill Says

Floyd county's supply of draft registrants classified as 1A is nearing the exhaustion point, and filling of future draft quotas may see a wind-up on the more deferred classes.

Harry T. Hill, clerk of Draft Board 44, here said he could not authorize any statement as to the procedure to be followed after the 1A group is called up, but did express the belief that by autumn selectees from the 3A classification will begin receiving calls for service. It was announced in Washington Saturday that a small number of February draft registrants in the 36-45-year group and those who had attained the age of 21 since the previous registration will be called for service next month.

COURT SENDS ULTIMATUM

The Floyd fiscal court, in special session last Thursday, delivered to Works Progress Administration headquarters in Louisville a 10-day ultimatum.

The ultimatum, in the form of a resolution which received the unanimous vote of the court's four Magistrates, was prompted by the refusal from the WPA payroll of Edith H. Hall, for more than six years chief WPA timekeeper in this county, and the reported intention of the WPA to hire a Johnston county as diploma.

The resolution asked that George H. Goodman, state WPA administrator, report on the matter by May 15, and advised that if no report is received by that date, the court will have nothing further to say, but in the absence of satisfactory explanation, the same resolution which received the unanimous vote of the court's four Magistrates, was prompted by the refusal from the WPA payroll of Edith H. Hall, for more than six years chief WPA timekeeper in this county, and the reported intention of the WPA to hire a Johnston county as diploma.

The 10 students from Prestonsburg enlisted for Signal Corps service are Virgil Goble and Darwin Lacey, of Johnson; and Palmer Patten, of Ashland; Radford Hall, Paul Gene Williamson and William Leslie Roberts, all of Prestonsburg; Thomas Clay, of Woodson; and Richmond Stone, Blue River, all ordered to report to Pantsville for training. Jerry Stephens and Wilburn May, both of Prestonsburg, and James Patton, of Emma, who have passed their examinations and are awaiting call to training.

At Thursday's morning session, Mrs. C. Burnett's salary as stenographer in the office of her husband, County Attorney W. W. Burnett, was ordered to be $1125 a month, beginning next month. County Treasurer W. J. May and County Auditor R. B. Allen were named to make settlement for this county with Ex-Sheriff Dial Salisbury as collector of 1941 taxes.

Seniors Join Signal Corps

Ten students from Prestonsburg high school's 60 seniors who will graduate this school year left school for U. S. Signal Corps training, (Clayborn Stephens, principal of the school, said Monday).

The Commonwealth sought to show that Hall, an officer at the time of the shooting, was the aggressor in the shooting with Osborne and that his action resulted in Johnson's death.

Local boards here this week received blanks for possible re-classification of registrants in the 3A group to 3B. Occupational certificates in such cases are to be signed jointly by the registrant and

The Committee, it was explained, cannot pay for the wire and must depend upon the public's sense of patriotic duty to help supply this material.

A clerk supplied by the Works Progress Administration is at salvage headquarters on Third avenue throughout the day. The office telephone number is 3081.

THE STUDY OF A MINUTE MAN

The Minute Man came into being at Concord and Lexington. He was so called because his question of hours didn't bother him when trying to win a war.

With him a minute was 60 seconds and even if it ran into 62 he didn't demand overtime.

When his country wanted him, a minute's notice was plenty, for he was so loyal he would even take your version of what time it was.

The Minute Man was a Minute Man and never a Four-Minute Guy. He studied for a minute in a long time when somebody's life is at stake.

He knew there were 60 seconds in an hour but he acted as diligently as if he were afraid there might be only 59.

He stood ready to fight at a moment's notice but didn't squawk if he got only 30 seconds.

He never put off till the morning what he could make today. He never heard of the word complacency, but if it had been explained to him he would have thought himself guilty if he had stopped to look around between jobs.

His slogan was, "Don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes!" but he gets 'em now when he senses the black of their hearts.

When life and liberty were involved he knew no word of compromise that didn't depend on manhood. The Minute Man hadn't even a half second for an apesnee.

He was no luxury bound when the going was good, and when the going was tough he thought he was well fixed if he had a fair supply of dry powder and bullets.

He never left to any committee, agency or board anything he could do himself. He never confused an attack with an appropriation.

To a Minute Man every minute counted in the job of licking the foe and he never argued over hours.

He didn't argue the peace until he had won the fight. He never entered his head that he could do his duty in a free-for-all fight by buying some stamps, appearing at a benefit or offering to spend two hours on a roof every week, unless he was over 60.

Nothing would have disturbed him less than a reduction in luxury transportation, less rubber in his suspenders and a room in which the temperature got below 70.

He knew all the Indians were the words and not in his legislative bodies. He was brave and rugged but he thought one war at a time was enough for any man.

He never called his fight a "defense" effort and was always out to lick the fellow who started the trouble.

He didn't need long and frequent speeches to make him understand he was in a battle. In his most desperate minutes the Minute Man never gave any part of a minute to worrying about his morale. It would have taken two many hours.

The Minute Man was an all-year-round man every second. NO RETIERS I cannot buy a radio. My tires they are going fast, I'm low on oil, alas!

I'm running low on beer (canned)—Of sugar I am short. Of gas I should get a new sedan. I'd finish in a court. No longer can I buy a gun—There is no man on rope: The more I think of it I know That Sherman had the dope!

THE GARDEN THE BLIGHT

Blight is a disease that destroys vegetable foliage and thus curtails the crop. It always starts on the older, lower leaves, dotting them with small spots which grow until the leaves are entirely brown and drop off.

It is caused by germs that are carried on the air. If the weather is showery and hot as they alight, they "dig in" and multiply until they completely cover the foliage.

The endeavor of control is to cover the leaves with a material through which germs cannot dig, and copper is such a material, which applied as a spray or as a dust liberally plates the plants with a copper armor.

Two forms of copper may be used, copper sulphate (bluestone), and copper oxide (the "yellow" form). The sulphate bluestone is combined with lime and water to make Bordeaux mixture. The "yellow" copper oxide, quite recently developed to make a spray, needs only stirring into water, and may therefore be considered more simple to use.

Complete directions for using "yellow" copper oxide in spray are printed on the container. Best instructions for making Bordeaux mixture in lots small enough for a home gardener to use are given under the "Blue" section of the Kentucky Extension Circular 376. Of this, a copy may be procured free in the County Extension Office, or by writing to the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington.

Inasmuch as the copper armor is not complete, it is recommended always to use a sprayer, a 3-gallon compressed-air sprayer, for example. Both the tops and the bottoms of the leaves should be covered, as well as the vegetables grow, causing "breaks" in the protective armor, spraying should be done again. Germs in the interval should be two weeks, and as many as three sprays will pay on the shorter-growing crops as beans, and up to 6 in the garden longer.

Jackson county expects to exceed its quota of 134,000 extra gallons of milk this year.

THE HOME FRONT

HERE IS A RESUME OF IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS OF APRIL

Oil prices control here. Best sellings being prepared. Farmers assured low cost fertilizer. We spend 100 millions a day. More than 8 billions to go for planes. Gasoline price ceiling coming. War licking up drinking alcohol. Taxi service may disappear. Labor agrees on internal disputes. Henderson thanks school teachers.

The government's bold stroke to combat the rising cost of living and inflation by a comprehensive control of prices overshadows every other event on the "home front" as the nation enters its sixth month of war.

In a single sweeping order—General Maximum Price Regulation—Price Administrator Leon Henderson set the highest price ceiling on virtually everything Americans eat, wear and use.

For wholesalers and manufacturers the price order is effective next Monday, for the retail trade, on May 15.

Prices on literally millions of articles of all sorts are thus automatically controlled. When a given commodity because of special conditions required special price treatment, separate order was issued.

In the first World War the government paid 31 billion dollars to crush German imperialism and it is estimated that 13 billion of this was wasted paying swollen prices for war supplies.

Back of the present drastic price regulation is this lesson of World War I and the determination of the government that it shall not happen again.

"This goes into effect the most drastic and far-reaching step ever taken to control the American economy."

Rents will not be permitted to skyrocket while other components in the cost of living are stabilized. The rent fixing order of the week will affect 10 million in 302 "defense rental areas" housing 76,000,000 people in addition to the 21 areas previously designated it reaches into every state except North Dakota and state except North Dakota and state except North Dakota.

The order does not have the immediate effect of law, as giving price control order. OPA is giving price control order. OPA is giving price control order. OPA is giving price control order.

"A program as vast as this," said Mr. Henderson, "will need the fullest public support, and we know that we shall have the backing of all landlords who have not attempted to take an advantage of abnormal conditions."

The nation's farmers are assured that there will be no upping of mixed fertilizers, superphosphate or potash, by an OPA order ceiling superphosphate which expired. The price on bulk amounts of 250 pounds or over are those which persist in March. Smaller sales are covered by the General Price Ceiling Order.

Said Price Administrator Leon Henderson: "Because of the great expansion of agricultural activity due to the war effort, the demand for fertilizer has sharply increased. To permit regulation at such time, increase in prices which would increase the farmers and a hindrance to their efforts in producing vital commodities and foodstuffs. . . high fertilizer prices at this time can only serve to hinder the national food production program."

President Roosevelt told the nation during the week that we are spending at the rate of 100 millions daily for war, and will be spending double that rate before the year is over. Said he about the whole war program: "The bluest-foot is that every single person in the United States is going to be affected by this program. . . the price of civilization must be paid in hard work and sorrow and blood."

Figures which picture an accuracy as possible the economic effort on the "Home Front," were made available this week. War funds made available by Congress for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since June, 1940, have reached a staggering total of $164,616,000,000. The sixth supplemental appropriation of $19,136,000,000 signed by the President, significantly budgets $87,761,000,000 for planes.

Service station gas prices will be under ceiling throughout the nation effective May 18. Ceiling is at the maximum March level except in 17 rationed eastern states and the District of Columbia where the March base is raised four cents a gallon, to raise the market to wartime transportation conditions.

War production demands alcohol for explosives. Known to the industry as "high wine," beverage alcohol from 100 to 180 proof has been brought under absolute control by the War Production Board to supplement the industrial alcohol supply.

The fate of the taxicab which last year carried almost a billion passengers, will depend largely on how carefully the business conserves its machines and tires. Office of Defense Transportation warns against cruising, dead mileage, and individual hauls.

Jurisdictional disputes between rival labor organizations are stopped for the duration. William H. Davis, chairman of the National War Labor Board, announced that an agreement to this effect had been arrived at with heads of the American Federation and the CIO.

Day by day steel is more at a premium. War Production Board now restricts the amount of metal for hairpins and lock studs, also even urging American women to save the metal containers in which they buy lipstick and other beauty aids.

Mr. Henderson publicly praised the school teachers for their work in carrying out the industrial, commercial and institutional sugar regulation.

Even the Kentucky Derby felt the impact of the war. OPA asked hotel men in Louisville, Ky., not to increase their rates for war workers living there, during Derby week.

Washington, D. C.

SENATOR
War and Navy Secretaries Stimson and Knox let the senate foreign relations committee in on a number of military secrets, which cannot be disclosed as they testified to hand closed doors on the $50,000,000 loan to China. In return, the cabinet officers were vouchsafed a political secret by Senator Tom Connally, committee chairman, which can be told.

The courtly Texan was confronted with a problem in protocol in trying to decide whether Stimson or Knox should be the first witness. Finally, he turned to the 73-year-old war secretary and said:

"Mr. Stimson, we will hear you first. I believe you have something to say."
"I won't stand on my seniority if you prefer hearing Mr. Knox," smiled Stimson.
"Oh, we insist," said Connally. "We are great believers in seniority here in the senate. If that were not the case, the committee chairmen wouldn't have our jobs."

ARMY CO. TO SEA
A hot, backstage fight between the army, navy and maritime commission has developed over Brig. Gen. Charles P. Gross and his ambitious plan for the army to take over all war shipping. The row has even gone up to Harry Hopkins and to Transportation Secretary Clegg, which now sail under the maritime commission and the navy.

The maritime commission and the navy, however, claim that the job of the army is to remain on the land, and they will handle water transportation.

Before the sea-roads realized what was happening, however, General Gross had quietly written out an order and taken it to the White House. It was on the verge of signing it when it was under General Somerville, the chief of the commission, to New York WPA administrator under Harry Hopkins, and Somerville has pushed the plan with his director in the White House.

However, ex-Budget Director Lewis Douglas, newest addition to the commission, so far has not blocked the army bag. He claims the army has enough to do fighting, without sailing ships.

BRITISH RED TAP
"There'll always be an England," but U. S. Secretary of War is wondering why British officials in India don't want them to enter India until 31 days after the end of the war. It is a feverish race to get the U. S. fliers going to India.

Stopping Inflation
Inside fact about the current quarrel over inflation and the farm bill is that the old Benjie Branch long ago warned the President, Louis Henderson and the war office that they could not stop inflation if they put the brake on or prices.

"Price-fixing is like a four-legged chair," Branch warned them. "It won't stand on two legs or even three."
There is no use regulating consumer prices, he said, unless you also regulate profits, also wages, also farm prices. If one of them gets out of hand, the others will too.

Harrison, who was head of the War Industries Board in the last war, has been harping on this point for months. He urged congress more than a year ago to adopt a very high excess profits tax to take away all the war profits from industry; and at the same time he urged the President to clamp down on wages as well as prices.

The President actually got a little irritated by Harrison's pounding away on this theme. Today, however, chief resentment of the farm bill is not so much against Roosevelt's urging that farm prices be kept down, but over the fact that labor's income has skyrocketed while the farmer's has not. Furthermore, the farmer complains that he has to pay a lot more for his labor—when he can get it at all—but he can't increase his farm prices proportionately.

Mother

By A. J. COBURN

Huesville, Ky.

Editor's note: THE TIMES publishes the following from two of its readers as a Mother's Day tribute to mothers everywhere.)

Next Sunday is Mother's Day and I am dedicating this to all mothers. And here, at the beginning, I want to pay brief tribute to my own mother—one of the finest and most Christian-like mothers in this world. I thank God for having had such a mother.

To me, mother is the sweetest word on earth. But it has not always been such. History tells us that before Christ came women were mere chattels, regarded as little more than a beast of work, considered as a provider for the home. But after the coming of the Saviour and the Christian dispensation, motherhood was established as the right place and mother became the most sacred person on earth.

"There is an old saying, 'What is home without a mother?' The question and the answer are the same truth. But when I look out upon the younger generation of womanhood and see the type from which the mothers of the future will come, sometimes I feel myself. 'What is home to be with that type of mother—girls drinking, smoking, going to immoral places, running and fro, running not only their own character but also their health, and losing the respect of mankind.'

The mother is the soul of the home. The foundation may be of stone, brick, concrete, anything you may choose; the floor, of pine, oak or cedar. The home may be illuminated by tallow candles, coal oil lamps, gas jets or electric bulbs, or even pine knots such as I have gathered for my mother to burn and spin wool by. All this is inconsequential. The home is inanimate without mother. She is its life.

I would like for you all to remember some of the things that happened when you were with your mother. These memories will mean something to her, may cause you to smile at her more often. I am thinking she might want to feel your arms about her a little more often. And, if you are away from her, don't fail to send her a message as often as you can. Some of us would have to send our messages up to the stars and hope she had not forgotten them, but we can deliver the message in person, some day. If your father is yet living, let him hear from you and know you are not forgotten.

Boys and girls, those of you who are away from home, don't forget that May 10 is Mother's Day. You should be glad that you can't forget to write your mother—she is your best friend, and is worried about you. God, help me to live until this awful war is over and see as many of you boys back home as is God's will that shall return, with my own boy accompanying you. He has no mother here to come to you. I feel that she is at the throne of God, asking for his return home to me. If he is not permitted to return, I pray God to reach him with this message to mother.

MOTHER'S GRAVE

By GEORGE MATTHEWS

Within a few days we will take time off in the midst of world-wide tragedy, to do honor to our mothers on Mother's Day. To those who have their mothers with them it will be a day of happiness. But to those who have lost their mothers by death, it will be a day of sorrow and memories of the greatest of all creatures—the hour that's spent by and watched mother's coffin being carried into the home, and then tenderly carried away.

Recently I accompanied a small girl and boy on a pleasure stroll over some Floyd county hills. An April shower had just refreshed the dry plants and flowers that waded in the billow breeze, and the sun that now shone seemed to change the raindrops that still cling to the branches into sparkling diamonds.

While my spirit was lifted high by such heavenly beauty, the girl, pointing far across the valley, asked, "Do you see the tall cedar on top of the mound?" It was low in the valley, at the edge of the half-green forest, and the winding Big Sand River helped to obscure it. After some difficulty I was able to answer, "Yes, I see it." With her eyes now turned toward the ground the girl said in a low voice: "It's at the foot of my mother's grave."
My spirit no longer seemed exalted, for here in the midst of inscriptions that beamed where heaven seemed to be giving eternal life to all things, was a mother's grave.

WAYLAND HOT SHOTS

By R. H.

You know, I feel like the Baptist preacher when he says he has to preach on his mind directs him. My mind is directed to the slacker. I see by the report of our Draft Board of Floyd county that over 100 men rejected from military service because of just plain ignorance. Now, I personally know some of those men who have been sent back home for that cause, and they know a lot more than I do when they are around here. But when they are taken before the doctor for examination, they don't know how many months in a year or anything else.

Instead of the examining doctor sending these men back here among the good fathers and mothers to make them feel their boys who are in the service have been unjustly dealt with, they ought to send these fellows to an insane asylum. If these

22 Acres of Hemp Pledged By Farmers

Floyd county farmers, County Agent S. L. Isbell announced this week, have already filed applications for permits to grow 22 acres of hemp this year as an aid to the national war effort. The county's quota is 100 acres.

Mr. Isbell said other farmers expected to join in the move within a short time. The state quota is 33,000 acres. The hemp is wanted for its fiber and seeds, and farmers "signing up" are expected to find it a new cash crop.

No castor bean acreage has been assured by Floyd farmers to date, the County Agent said. The state quota is only 500 acres.

330 Unemployed Checks Issued; New Claims Filed

Benefits paid by the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission to unemployed workers in Floyd county during March totaled $8,690.00 it was announced this week by Executive Director V. E. Barnes. A total of 330 checks were issued during the month, it was announced, and 26 new claims were filed.

Although the state total of 5,324 new claims filed in March was a decrease of 94.6 per cent from the number for February, benefits payments for March were up $45,150 over February's figure of $285,885. This, the Commission's report said, is an indication that workers in the higher wage brackets are filing claims and is a reflection of unemployment of skilled workers due to the adjustment of plants and other enterprises to the war effort.

Checks written during the month, the report continued, represented payment for 49,413 weeks of unemployment. The average size of each check issued for a two weeks' period of unemployment was $16.31, an increase of 73 cents over February's average payment.

The size of the unemployment trust fund at the end of March, 1942 was $43,971,874, representing an increase of $6,629,727 since March 31, 1941.
