THURSDAY

WE ACKNOWLEDGE OUR ERROR

There was a time when we wondered why the Great Day that was Tuesday of this week should be known as V-Day in the first place. It should simply and finally be called 9-Day.

For there are other victories to be won before V-Day comes. Victory Day will be something greater when the defeat of the despicable Nazi and the unspicable Jap.

There is a sense to be won that our dead may not have died in vain, that the youth of another day may not have V-J to look forward to.

And yet it is the victory to be won at home, or the defeat to be sustained in the present world. Much effort must be expended on preparing for the future.

There will long survive this war, and intolerance will exist as a spiritual cancer. Not all the wounds are of the body. There will come out of chaos as by the wave of a magic wand.

Ahead time greatness lies—if we become masters of ourselves, remain strong and in our strength remain determined to protect ourselves and our finest ideals.

Yes, V-J is the correct term. Victory Day in all the future world, a distant thing, perhaps even a dream.

NEWSWEEK Story Features Former Floyd Physician

The system employed by Inland Steel Company in finding, diagnosing and treating through industrial medicine veterans returning after service in the armed forces is credited by Newsweek in its edition of Aug. 12 to Dr. H. C. Carleton, who formerly was with the company at its Wheelwright operation.

Now Inland's medical director, Dr. Carleton, who has many acquaintances in this county began delving into medical literature of the modern, paying special attention to reports of army and navy doctors.

The result is in a veteran applicant to Inland for a job, a doctor or medical interviewer for the company records all the places he visits, the illnesses that best him and any changes in health noticed since the applicant entered the service. Then, if the employee becomes ill, even months later, the company doctor need but refer to the record. Dr. Carleton's geographical index and his report on possible dis-

Desire to Avenge Father Considered Cause of Stabbing

The quiet of a theatre crowd engrossed in a film drama was broken here Sunday afternoon by a disturbance which ended in the cutting of Lewis Dale, of Prestonsburg.

The knife-wielder, John Kazee, Prestonsburg hotel employe, was arrested by local police and booked at the county jail on a peace warrant.

County Attorney W. W. Burchett said an investigation revealed that Kazee had threatened a man named Bryant here who allegedly had cut Kazee's father, a few years ago.

Kazee first accepted a Bryant girl on the theatre stairway and after this disclosure had been quelled at the theatre.

Japan for First Time Bows Knee to Conqueror

FLOYD COUNTY GETS NEWS WITHIN SECONDS; GASOLINE RESTRICTIONS LIFTED WEDNESDAY; NONE AGED 26 OR OVER SUBJECT TO DRAFT

Within a matter of seconds after 7 o'clock Tuesday evening when President Truman announced at the White House of "unconditional" surrender of the Japanese empire, the news reached Floyd county and every corner of the nation.

Although this moment had been awaited since receipt of the Jap offer of surrender was first announced last Friday, the news was hailed by wild enthusiasm here as elsewhere over the nation.

The banshee wail of Prestonsburg's fire siren heralded the "Great Hour," and while residents of the town were wondering whose home or business was threatened, the solemn notes of church bells revealed the true import of the moment.

Within a few minutes, Prestonsburg was a bedlam of noise and the traffic, though jammed, was a mad jangle of horns and the spontaneous celebration lasted for hours.

V-J Day, however, will not be proclaimed officially by President Truman on such time as when General Douglas MacArthur, recipient of the Nobel peace prize, accepts the signed peace agreement of the Japanese empire.

Wednesday and Thursday of this week were declared by the President as a whole week of the country. While the official V-J Day was awaited, banks, postoffices and most business houses were closed.

Following a conference with other Prestonsburg pastors, the Rev. W. B. Garrett, pastor of the Methodist Church, announced that the religious celebration of V-J Day will be conducted at a union service at the Methodist Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

Mayo E. P. Arnold said Wednesday that the official V-J Day will be marked by his official proclamation calling for a time of worship and thanks for V-J Day.

And all the gladness of victory, there was sadness and deep concern—mourning for those who paid the price of victory with their lives, anxiety over the fate of those held prisoner by the Japanese.

Despite all misgivings, the people as a whole were gratified that the United States had triumphed victoriously over the cruelest of wars and that Japan, which would boast had

In commemoration of the event, the company invited the public from one end of this section to the other to enjoy at the company's expense a dance next Saturday evening, beginning with a square dance at 8:30 p. m. and ending at 9:30 p. m. Thereafter, George Charles and his orchestra, Huntington, W. Va., will provide music for other lovers of the torch.

Franklin W. Moore, manager of the company, announced that the new quarters of the company were built by Winston P. Ford, Prestonsburg, building contractor.

Prestonsburg's baseball team jumped back into the lead this week by defeating Harold, 6-4, in the second game of the season.

Harold took a one-run lead in the first inning, but Prestonsburg's bats came up in the second and after Vance had been pitched out, Harold was behind.

Prestonsburg would gain a lead in the fourth with two runs on three hits. This put the lead in the hands of Harold who had a lead of a hit and a runner on base.

AGE LIMIT 'SAVES' ONE

As Draft Boards Notify Selectees To Peacetime Duty

Floyd county Selective Service boards were notified Wednesday that they select 26 years of age or older is not to be called up for service.

Even as the end of the war was announced, Floyd county's two draft boards released names of selectees for induction to the armed forces, and pre-induction examination.

But the announcement, from Washington to the effect that, hereafter, no man over 26 years old will be drafted had local selective service officials uncertain as to the status of the selectees notified.

In Washington Congressman A. J. May called for an immediate halt to further inductions and the earliest possible release of the men drafted. He said he would introduce a bill next month to end all draft calls.

Thirteen men were notified by Draft Board 45 to leave here Wednesday morning, Aug. 23, for induction. These are:

Clayd Maynard, Betty Layne (now of Portsmouth, Va.), Vernon Glone, Blue River; Estil DeLong, Prestonsburg; (now of Austin); Earl Atkins, Trout; Henry G. Hall, Prestonsburg; Joe Jack Salsbury; Amba; Robbins; Jeff Wells; Auxler; Jesse Kizer; Jr.; Betty Layne; Moran; Rathiff; Lander; Gratis C. Boyd; Betty Layne; Curtis; Owen Brown; Justell; John Stumbo, Jr.; Harold Archie Deaver; Goble; Betay Layne.

Ninety-six selectees were notified by Board 45 at Martin to leave Aug. 23 for pre-induction examination. Names and addresses of these selectees follow:

C. M. Yates, Alphaetta (now of Wheeler, Ind.); Oscar Frazer; Hovevell (now of Vpland); Mich; Robert Bates; Wheelwright; John D. Hovevell; (now of Frank, W. Va.); London; O. W. Fred Gayheart; Gearheart (now of Freeland, W. Va.); Earl; David and Louis.

IDEAS . . . WORDS—NO ACTION

APLETHORA OF IDEAS and extreme paucity of action is one of several things afflicting Prestonsburg and Floyd county in their plans for post-war improvements, etcetera.

Fact is, there hasn't been a bad idea offered in the lot, and there have been several tendered; but little has been done beyond that.

The writer of this editorial is one of the worst offenders in the lot in the matter of doing things that need being done. We, as most others, have grandiose ideas—but, we confess, we suggest . . . just suggest.

In this edition of THE TIMES Mr. James Donahoe has an excellent suggestion. But what will be done about it? We still contend that our idea of a public library, without which no modern town of Prestonsburg's size should be content, and which would also be a permanent memorial to Floyd county's men and women who served during this war, with provisions for a meeting-place of all Floyd county groups embraced therein, is one deserving earnest consideration.

Every individual of whatever age the boys fought for would benefit from such a memorial. The building and its contents of prose and poetry would be ageless. It would be a thing not to be forgotten.

And we must remember . . . To do that requires an effort . . . To prove that we do remember and appreciate, all the things the "boys" fought for will, however, require some labor of love, which should be our greatest endeavor.

Tibetan Has an Odor All His Own, Writes Sgt. Quentin Terry

From Tinsukal, Assam, India, Sgt. Quentin Terry, who is with a railway operating battalion, writes Dave Tullis, of Wayland, a letter which graphically describes this country. Sgt. Terry is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Terry and the husband of Mrs. Lavinia Martin Terry, all of Wayland. His letter follows in part:

"There's been many things happened since the last time I saw you. The wrecked homes, the heart-break, tears and sufferings of the people of the world have been great, and the personal sacrifices of the individual American soldier have been greater than can be imagined in a lot of cases. In my case I have had life very easy compared with the boys at the front. Our job has been to deliver the fighting equipment to the front and since seeing the work close up the way I have here I can readily see the importance of this work. Our outfit has established a good record in rail-roading here, and has received a commendation from Undersecretary of War Patterson, as well as from General Guevill, chief of the Services of Supply.

Censorship has lifted lately to the point where we can give our exact geographical location. As you notice at the top of this letter, I am at a small village by the name of Tinsukal, way up in the northeastern section of the Province of Assam. Before the coming of the war in China and Burma this section of India was pretty well isolated and many of the hill people are literally savages—especially the Nagas and Tibetans. We are in sight of the great Himalayan mountains as seen from our camp. It is not so far from here to Tibet, the newest country in the world. Thousands of miles of Tibetan territory has never had the foot of white man set upon it, and the people from there are surely the wildest, dirtiest looking people I've ever laid eyes upon. I could close my eyes and tell a Tibetan by his odor alone. Their hair is never cut and never combed. You've probably seen a cow's tail matted with coaklin burrs—well, that will give you some idea of how their hair looks. Some time ago, I went up into the Nagas Hills on a trip which I enjoyed very much. We made the trip by boat up a beautiful stream where the dense jungle grew down to the very edges of the river. We didn't see much wild life, except monkeys and huge fish tiger, wild elephants, etc., as well as all kinds of snakes.

About a year ago I went on a 20-day furlough to Calcutta, India, and I found it to be an amazing city. Thousands and thousands of people in every type of dress imaginable, and the pad, pad of thousands of bare feet literally wearing away the streets. Beggars, salesmen, shins, boys, prostitutes and thousands of other kinds of pests are on the streets to aggravate the life out of the American soldier. Some of the beggars were pitiful cripples. Some covered with horrible looking sores. I saw, at least three separate times, men completely naked, walking across the streets in the most public part of the city. I saw one naked woman on the street. These people are either "holy men" or "mad people," as the Indians call them.

Gasoline for Discharged Veterans
Special gasoline rations will be provided for servicemen discharged from the armed forces for use in attending to personal affairs and making adjustments to civilian life, OPA announced this week.

The special ration, which local War Price and Rationing Boards began issuing August 3, is limited in each case to the needs of the veteran and may not exceed 30 gallons of gasoline.

Issuance of the special ration is restricted to veterans who have been released from active service within the preceding 30 days or to officers on terminal leave preceding their separation from the service.

When applying to their local boards, both officers and enlisted men discharged from the army must present their copy of War Department Form 100 together with application Form OPA 350 and the mileage record. Enlisted men discharged from the navy, marine corps or coast guard must present Navy Form 823, Marine Corps Form 78FD or Coast Guard Form 353. Officers discharged from the navy, marine corps or coast guard must present a copy of the orders releasing them from active duty.

Coal Delivery Violations

Consumers and purchasers of coal were warned this week by E. B. Hinton, district fuel price specialist of the OPA, that there had been a widespread violation among truck dealers of the regulations regarding weight and price.

Consumers are reminded that each coal dealer, whether truck dealer or equipped yard, is required under OPA regulations to furnish purchasers with sales slip showing purchaser's name, weight of coal sold, price per ton and total amount of sale. The purchaser should check such sales slip and if slip is refused or incorrect, the violation should be reported to the local board or district OPA office.

In many cases, the amount of coal sold does not correspond to the amount purchased, therefore the coal is being sold at over-ceiling price. Numerous complaints have come into the district OPA office that truck dealers have not given weight slips or that weight slips did not accurately designate the amount of coal delivered.

OPA regulations further require every truck dealer to have a copy of his truck the price list for selling prices on coal, and the consumer should check accuracy of price at time of purchase. Ceiling prices may be obtained at the local board.

O'Brien in Pacific As War Ended

As the war ended, Raymond O'Brien's letter reached THE TIMES office from his post aboard the destroyer escort Howard F. Clark in the Pacific. Written weeks before the current turn of events, Seaman O'Brien's letter described the war as "not half over" and denied the complacency of the folks back home after V-E Day.

"Coming aboard ship," O'Brien wrote relatives, "I found that there were three fellows I knew back in civilian life: R. L. Spurlock, yeoman here; W. L. Mullins, yeoman; and B. Peters, Jr., seaman 2 c. of Martin. We are in the best of health and enjoying this seafaring life as much as possible."

O'Brien in civilian life was a resident of Hunter.

JARVIS ALLEN THANKS VOTERS OF COUNTY

I take this means of thanking each of you who worked and voted for me and made my nomination for County Court Clerk possible. It is difficult to express one's gratitude in a general statement, but I trust you all will understand that, however ineffectual my words are, I am trying my best to convey to you my deepest gratitude.

For those who opposed me I have no ill feeling. As American citizens you had, and exercised, the right of free people.

My ambition is, as I have heretofore stated, to give all the people the very best of service as a public official and that I will do to the very best of my ability.

Your continued support is earnestly solicited.

Your friend,
JARVIS ALLEN

Notice to Candidates:

G. H. DINGUS, W.M.
D. E. CHAPIN, Secretary

To the Citizens of Floyd and Knott Counties:

For your support and efforts in my behalf in my recent race for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the 31st Judicial District, I am indebted to each of you for your support and gratitude. I consider your support and influence a personal favor.

To those of you who urged me to support my opponent, I assure you I shall not hold any prejudice whatever against you. You had no part in my race to support the candidate of your choice, and a Circuit Judge is unworthy of the office who would so ungratefully take so deny you that privilege. I want you to feel free to call upon me at any time that I can be of service to you.

All the citizens of Floyd and Knott counties contribute to the payment of the salary of the Circuit Judge. I expect to be the judge of ALL the people, both Democrats and Republicans; those who opposed me as well as those who supported me.

Gratefully,
EDWARD P. HILL

The Purchase Certificate Invalid

A recent amendment in the OPA rationing regulations effective August 3 is announced by R. Raymond Bell, district rationing officer of the Office of Price Administration.

R-2 tire purchase certificate becomes invalid in the hands of the consumer on August 15 and in the hands of the dealer on August 31. This amendment has been introduced because of the frequent counterfeiting of the form and the new form, issued to replace R-2 certificates, will be printed on safety paper to insure its proper usage. The new form will be known as R-2a.

Attention is also called to the fact that dealers have not been requesting turn-in tires from the certificate holders at the time of purchase of new tires. Although all Grade III tires are free from rationing control, the present OPA regulation makes it compulsory for the dealer to accept from the purchaser car owner the tire mentioned on the R-2a certificate. The regulation calls for the dealer accepting these turn-in tires, tagging or marking them with the certificate-holder's name, certificate number and the date of transaction, and holding them for 30 days after the date of the sale, unless otherwise instructed by the OPA district office. Dealers found in violation of this amendment will be called on by the enforcement division.

SUGGESTS SWIMMING POOL

Editor, The Times: Having just read your editorial in "The Times of last week, I feel as though I have a "natural" in the way of a memorial to the boys who have fought and are fighting for us today.

Were you ever stopped as a child when you decided to dig a hole in your back yard for a swimming pool? Have you ever been 18 and thought of anything else on a hot day other than to be able to get in the old swimmer's hole and in between times to lay out in the hot sun? In your later days have you passed by a pool to watch the expression on the faces of those enjoying this refreshing recreation? Can you see yourself in these people, the expression on the faces of some who have just a brief illness, "disease" and of those who have done the ducking?

After all, most of our boys who left for the service were just 18. These will be the boys they will have to offset future wars. It will be necessary for the younger boys now to accept compulsory military training. We are dependent on these young men in such a way that we are indebted to those at present. So we are at home. Our finances have been strained and the time we make this home where we have passed by a pool to watch the expression on the faces of those enjoying this refreshing recreation.

There were boys and girls of all ages and sizes. Some a little younger than I was. Some a little older. I had a mother and father and all the children. Mother had seen all that it had to offer. But this was not the "old" of the present, the boy of the future, the boy who is not dead, they live. They live in a faster world than that of yesterday and they live in one of greater strain tomorrow.

I was in Norton, Va., last week—on Sunday, to be exact. I saw no signs reading "we love our children," but I saw something else. Right in the heart of the community where perhaps the largest business house could have stood was "That Swimming Pool." Yes, there it was. It was the largest swimming pool in the county. It was the largest swimming pool in the county. It was the largest swimming pool in the county.

There were boys and girls of all ages and sizes. Some a little younger than I was. Some a little older. I had a mother and father and all the children. Mother had seen all that it had to offer. They live in a faster world than that of yesterday and they live in one of greater strain tomorrow.

Mr. Allen, I believe that contributions can make this project possible for a start and that this same project is capable of paying its own way. Let's all operate and function together with a living active memorial to the boys who have fought and are fighting for us today.

Just remember that if money should be needed and taxes should have to be raised—boy, what a noise that would bring! On the other hand, let's give and give generously to a project of this type and maybe we can lower them for us and the boys.

INFLATION

Editor, The Times: Inflation is the chief subject in all our minds at this time. But inflation is not thoroughly understood by all. It is presently understood to mean a rise in prices of commodities or merchandise. To a limited degree this is true, but the injurious type of inflation comes in other forms. Rise in prices do not mean so much when the material and workmanship in the product. But put inferior material and inexperienced workmanship into the product, you then have more than inflation—you have nothing for your money.

You can see concrete evidence of inflation in most everything you buy. It is in your short-tail shirt, your hat, your shoes, your household goods and every other thing you buy. The producer of the finished article cannot produce it under prevailing conditions unless a living profit is made by all having anything to do with it. Necessary and ultimate results are out of proportion. Competition, which is the life blood of advancement and improvement, has been crowded out of the picture by impractical theorists, who will not change until they have bought one of the lately made shirts which is not long enough to reach down to the waist of his "briettes."

A $1,000,000 AGENCY

The Hatler Johnson Life Insurance Agency has several million dollars' worth of insurance in force on the lives of prosperous, satisfied, permanent policyholders; and is currently placing new business at the rate of over $1,000,000 a year.

- This success is due to three factors: 1) Selection of agents whose business methods inspire public confidence. 2) Policies for every need from the cradle to the grave and beyond. Educational, Health, Income, Retirement, Mortgage Redemption and Family Protection. 3) Agent's contract, training and learning the business in dignified manner that enables the agent to make enough money to conduct himself as a business man should.

We have no "high-pressure-30-day-wonder-blow-hards" whose "brilliant" records are eclipsed with the discouragement and the ill-will of a constant long train of lapsed policies. We are looking for people in Floyd county who can qualify as agents our way; and the pay will be good.

column's statement last week that the town's financial statement, as published in THE TIMES, was "a scandal in that it did not itemize receipts and expenditures." "I read your 'This Town' World column in the August 9 copy of The Times with considerable amusement. Your apparent interest in the financial statements of the two towns mentioned no doubt justifies the gentle barb. But—it seems to me that if the statements as presented are acceptable to the Auditor of Public Accounts for the Commonwealth of Kentucky at Frankfort, Ky., they should be taken without comment by a person who could have no immediate interest in the matter. As we see it from here, it is the duty and privilege of a great city(?) weakly(?) such as yours to point out to the public all irregularities in government and conditions in general, and bring about necessary reforms, and we believe the proper place to start is at home (Prestonsburg). You could devote several years to pointing out to the good people of your town, and we would very much like to see your editorials in the future devoted to this subject.

"(Weakly?) we apologize to Mr. Stevens if he feels that our 'barb' was aimed directly at him. But our omniscience does not remove the fact that his town's statement is not legal. Acceptance by the Auditor of Public Accounts does not change the law, just as Mr. Stevens' opinion and mine about the matter do not make either of us right. As for our duty to Prestonburg, THE TIMES several years ago had some of our city officials of Prestonburg in our editorial comments, although we considered, and still regard, them personally as among the best of our editorial comments, although we mentioned in last week's column, we suggest that, if the task of clearing the whole story in a financial statement is too arduous or irksome, Mr. Stevens should try leaving it off on his first try. Oh, well—it's too hot to take a chance on the old blood pressure. Mr. Stevens. Thanks for the letter.—Editorial.

I desire to express to you who supported me in the recent primary my profound gratitude and appreciation. You will never know just how much I do appreciate your efforts and interest in my race.

To my opponent and those who supported him I have no ill feeling, but goodwill. Mr. Stumbo and I are united in the same plane of decency and respect. I wish him and his family success and happiness.

RED CROSS HELP READY

Home Service Workers To Help in Solution Of Vets' Problems

The Red Cross here in Prestonburg is ready to help any returning serviceman and his family. Miss White, executive secretary of the local chapter, said this week, explaining the home service workers will assist in solving personal or family problems which may stand in the way of the veteran's adjustment to civilian life.

"If the veteran did not file a claim at the time of his discharge, home service workers will help him with his application and in securing the necessary evidence in support of his claim," Miss White said.

"Whether the application for pension or other benefits was prepared before he left the separation point or hospital, or whether he is aided by our chapter after he arrives home, the chapter is responsible for helping him in developing the claim if he designates the American Red Cross as his representative. In giving this assistance the chapter works with the Red Cross field director stationed at the Veterans' Administration office where the claim is filed."

"The field director, who has access to the man's official service records, is able to assist in the development of the claim by indicating the nature of the evidence needed. In addition, the field director represents the veteran before the Veterans' Administration rating board when the claim is considered," Miss White said.

Always in the World War II more than 3,000,000 servicemen have returned to their home communities. Many of this number are Floyd county residents and while some are casualties, others received their discharge because of being over-age, or under the current point-discharge system.

In answer to the question, "How long will the Red Cross service to veterans be needed?" the chapter executive pointed out that the peak of the need from World War I has not yet been reached. The time has been estimated variously from 1947 to 1955. On the same basis, the peak need for World War II services to veterans was estimated some time between 1974 and 1982.

BOYS WRITE CHURCH THANKS FOR LETTERS

APQ 27, care Postmaster San Francisco, Calif. To the Church and to All Good People Back Home:

We are proud to think that you are praying for us and still backing us all the way, and I am sure the prayers from all you saints have reached us many times, from way I have felt. Just keep the good work up. I have received many letters from you and never did take the time to answer them, but I have had so many things to do, I can't think of anything else to say. Just keep the good work going and we will never forget you. I read my Bible at night and before I go to bed I read a chapter.

A LONELY SOLDIER

Dear Mrs. Melion: I received your letter Sunday. It was the best day in the week to receive it, as here people are prone to forget just what Sunday means. I think it very sweet of you and I appreciate it. It helps a lot to know that some one besides one's kinfolks are interested in my welfare. I think your church is doing good work and should be continued. I don't go to church here like I did at home, but there are times when the work must be done. I just hope I can be home soon to get back in my old habits. I am sure I will get the enclosed book, and you can be sure I will read it. I hope it won't be long until I am home and can see all my friends again.
