Sizemore-Casbolt Vows Exchanged

The wedding of Miss Katherine Frances Sizemore, daughter of Mrs. Lou O. Sizemore, of Hazard, and Edward C. Casbolt, Jr., son of Mrs. E. C. Casbolt, of Newport, was solemnized Friday, March 19, at the Baptist Church in Richmond. The Rev. Ernest M. Perry, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and huckleberry foliage interspersed with floor candelabra holding white wedding candles.

Miss Lenora Douglas, of Hazard, organist, presented a program of musical selections including "I Love You Truly," "At Daybreak," "Because," "Romance" and "Eve's Star." "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played for the entrance of the wedding party and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Douglas Jones, of Fulton, Lake, N. J., wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was a white orchid.

Miss Shirley Johnson, of Hazard, maid of honor, wore a gray suit. Miss Nancy Henderson, of Manchester, O., bridesmaid, wore a pearl gray suit. Their flowers were gerberas. Jack Casbolt, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were John Deering, of Lexington, Norman McGuffey, of Sturgis, and Bob Sardinian, of Newport.

The bride is a graduate of Clay county high school, Manchester. She is a junior at Eastern Kentucky State College and is a staff member of the Eastern Progress and the Milestone, and a member of Kappa Club, Perry County Club and the Young Women's Christian Association. The bride is a former student at Carey Creek where her mother was nurse.

Mr. Casbolt is a graduate of Newport high school and served 18 months in the armed forces. He also is a student at Eastern, where he is affiliated with The Eastern Progress, The Milestone, Northern Kentucky Club, Young Men's Christian Association and Canterbury Club.

It is expected that all of the Powell county will be doubled over the 16 1/2 acreage.

"Are we going to let them shift for themselves, from street to street, dodge passing automobiles in their play, and try to enjoy themselves in an environment where it's a never-man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," where the law of survival of the fittest prevails? All because a strip of land cannot be bought at the figure all of us can agree is reasonable?"

"And when the expense is not being borne by one man or one woman, but by us all, with none financially better off because of the sum total of expense?"

Look into your own hearts, probe your consciences. Be honest with yourselves and the children. Then you will decide the children's need is as great as that of an individual family for a better home.

"You'll surely say—'What are we waiting for?'"

GOOD, OLD ARKANSAS

And now comes this paragon to the grand state of Arkansas by a Congressional named Hays, as it appeared in the Congressional Record, thus proving the Record is a work of literary merit for which the taxpayers should never renege a cent against the circulation.

"Mr. Speaker, if my colleague from Pennsylvania thinks that the members would be interested in my tribute to the dog, which I delivered at Gettysburg on the Fourth of July, I shall be glad to give it again. My defense of the Arkansas dog is offered in the same spirit of good will which inspired the quotation of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, Mr. Speaker, when he maintained our dog by started something."

"It is true that I import a lot of subjects from Pennsylvania. The people of Pennsylvania ought to love us for we are among their best customers. While we are not yet able to match Pennsylvania in the field of industry, we do have our home products to sell. The rose, long and distinct, the Keystone state can never equal."

"If all the oaks in Arkansas were cut down, she could stand with her feet in the Gulf of Mexico, her hind feet in the Atlantic Ocean, and with his mighty scout could dig another Panama Canal."

"Mr. Speaker, if all the dogs in Arkansas were one dog, he could stand on the loftiest peak of the Catskill mountains and raise a howl that would blow the rings of the planet Saturn, and all the possums in Pennsylvania would not grease his upper lip."

HOW TOWNS ARE MADE

Tom Hill was editor of the Kentucky Bulletin this week, and he mentioned the need of a playground in Prestonsburg, also the need for a site at least.

"Then he mentioned the county library project. Wrote Mr. Hill: 'Speaking of another fine project in the county public library, if you will build it at Allen, near the center of the county, my wife told me to tell you that I would donate a site for the building site.'"

"Now that spirit, my brethren, is what makes a town!"

FISHING REPORT

Never believe a fisherman. And don't bet on what anybody else tells you about fishing. The Associated Press last week reported, with straight face, that fishing was poor throughout Kentucky, except in one spot. That "paradise," AP reported, was "in the vicinity of Prestonsburg, Ky."

"One guy who had spent long hours fishing to tempt a fish to nibble a worm Sunday, despite a muddier river, finally rose creakingly, stretched cramped legs and said: 'One thing I'd like to know before your motto sets in—and that's who in the h— is reporting for the dented papers from this place?'"

Inspector Commends Safety Improvements At Evans Elkhorn Mine

Approximately 20 recent safety advances in the Evans Elkhorn Coal Company's Jones Fork mine near Lecky are commended and further rock-dusting and other precautionary measures are proposed in the report received by the Bureau of Mines. When resubmitted in January by Russell Shaw, this mine employed 40 men and averaged 400 tons of coal per day.

Rock dust was applied throughout all open places in the mine, according to the report, and recently to within 80 feet of the faces on the Nos. 1 and 2 back entries. In addition, more than 1,000 tons of coal dust and machine cuttings were removed from haulage roads. Inspector Shaw recommended additional rock-dusting where needed to minimize any dust-explosion dangers, and the use of water or a wetting agent to alloy coal dust during mining operations.

Ventilation in the mine was good, the fan was recently equipped with a pressure-recording gauge, and work was started to replace wooden stoppings with concrete-block ones. To prevent short-circuiting of the air from working places, Inspector Shaw suggested air-lock doors on main haulageways or attendants at single doors.

Recent beneficial changes also included safety posts at all working faces, better clearing along haulageways, installing devices for locomotives, effective blocking of standing cars, guards for the trolley wires on main-trip stations, underground telephone service, and orders for enclosed trip lights and proper-type switches.

Addition of a coal-dust-control program, and further timbering, nailing and electrical safeguards are recommended for the Farwell Coal Company's 350-ton-a-day Merrill No. 1 mine in a federal inspection report issued by the Bureau of Mines, which also lists a number of recently-instituted safety measures.

The mine is at Westland, where it employed 47 men when re-examined in January by Inspector Russell Shaw.

Pointing out that the mine had not been rock-dusted, Inspector Shaw said that it should be within 80 feet of the faces. He also proposed using water or a wetting agent to alloy dust formed during the cutting.

To help reduce roof-fall and haulage hazards, the inspector recommended erecting safety posts promptly in face areas, setting permanent timbers closer to working faces, and chipping down or effectively timbering loose haulageway roof, cleaning up the haulageway clearance space and crosscutting other areas with enclosed trip lights and securely blocking standing cars.

Shaw also directed attention to numerous electrical defects and ignition hazards, and he suggested insulator support for some of the power wires, safer installation and more effective guarding of the trolley wires, frame grounds and overhead protection for certain electrical equipment, and provision of insulating platform at the pump starting switches.

The inspector cited more than a dozen recent beneficial changes. They embraced prying down loose roof at one intersection, discontinuing work under loose roof, weekly air measurements, provision of adequate clearance at main haulageway switch throws, cleaning coal-dust accumulations from the mine, elimination of excessively timbering, shielding the fan and pump belts, and posting escape-way-direction signs.

Continued enforcement of the pistol law was asked. Judge Hill pointed out that crime is less prevalent now than a few years ago, attributing this improvement to the fact that "nobody now doesn't carry a pistol."

PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come:
Whereas the Kentucky Field Army of the American Cancer Society is engaged in a program of education, service and research to protect the health of the public against cancer; and
Whereas, cancer is the second cause of death in the United States, killing more than 180,000 annually; and
Whereas, the preservation of health is fundamental to the welfare of the state; and
Whereas, the Kentucky Field Army will conduct throughout the month of April its twelfth Annual Enrollment Campaign to obtain funds with which to carry on the fight against this dread disease;
Now, Therefore, I, EARLE C. CLEMENTS, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby designate the period from April 1 to April 30, 1948, as CANCER CONTROL MONTH IN KENTUCKY and recommend that all citizens cooperate on behalf of the Kentucky Field Army to the end that our citizens may learn the early signs and symptoms of cancer and be aware that prompt consultation with their physicians is imperative if a physical condition of the disease is to be avoided, and contribute to the research program sponsored by the American Cancer Society.
Done at Frankfort, Kentucky, this twentieth day of February, in the year of our Lord, the thousand nine hundred and forty-eight, and in the year of the Commonwealth of the one hundred and sixteenth.

a settlement in the spreading strike over pensions for miners.
The operators said they would be there—with the men they chose in the first place.
Lewis himself set the hour, but in the same communication to the operators he said the presence of Patterson and Humphrey would be "essential to constitute good faith." He refused an operator bid to a 4 p.m. meeting Tuesday without the two men.

The operators in their letter told Lewis:
"It is not within your province or authority to choose the persons who represent the coal operators in collective bargaining. It is the operators' responsibility to select their bargaining representatives."
Lewis said Fairless and Humphrey "more than anyone else are qualified to take part in the negotiation. Their presence is 'essential to constitute good faith.'" He asserted.

Judge McGee's order requires April 13. On April 12 he will hold a hearing on the Justice Department's request for a preliminary injunction to stop the coal strike.
The judge directed his order at both the United Mine Workers which Lewis heads and the soft coal operators whose mines have been shut down for three weeks in a pension fund dispute.

The judge ordered:
1. The union not to continue the strike, or even to permit or encourage the strike. The judge used the word "interfered" even though Lewis had told his members that the walkout is not a strike and he did not cause it.
2. The union to "forthwith instruct" all members "immediately to return to their employment."
3. The union and the operators not to interfere with or obstruct the orderly continuance of work in the mines.
4. The union and the operators to cause in free collective bargaining and to "act in good faith" with the view of ending the present dispute over the miners' pension "at the earliest possible time."
5. The union and the operators to carry out a provision in their contract which says both sides shall "fully cooperate with each other to develop policies for the effective operation of the welfare and retirement fund."
The order says the strike, if permitted to continue, will imperil the national health and safety.

Forewarned—Not Forearmed
THE monotonous regularity of these coal mine shut-downs should, some day, wear away, as the water does the stone, the apparent apathy of Floyd county to its industrial and economic future.
These seasonal business doldrums, all directly traceable to the idleness of a large percentage of the county's population, should point to the unalienable fact that, if this county is to have a lasting prosperity, it must look to other industries.
The mining business is a boon to Floyd county. That cannot be denied. But the county leans too heavily on this one support. A few days' shutdown, and business is seriously affected. Some day, only a few mines will be operating. Eventually, Floyd county's coal deposits will be exhausted.
Then, unless we have forearmed ourselves, we will be without a sizeable industry. All of which is to say: Diversified industry is needed — manufacturing plants, small or large, here and there, something of the business breath of life in addition to that which emanates from the drift-mouth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

IN APPRECIATION OF HELP

Editor, The Times:

The teachers, pupils and patrons of the Drift School are asking your help in making known their gratitude to two friends who have never failed them.

The school wanted to buy a movie projector, but funds were lacking and the only money they had of getting the money was to ask for contributions.

The folks did some talking about the matter and asked some for donations. Then they asked C. D. and B. P. Reed for help. These two men talked it over with Lloyd Stumbo, principal of the school. And then they gave a check for the full cost of the projector—more than $600.

It is only good men in Floyd county as liberal as they, we would have better equipped schools and churches. There are plenty others who can afford to help as they have. The Reeds never turn down any worthy cause.

Now, if the County Board of Education would come across with some improvements for our schools which were promised long ago, we would have a very nice school, with the playground equipment, windows, shades, books, etc. that have been shut with money raised by the school.

VETERAN HOUSING COSTS MUST BE REDUCED

Housing costs must be reduced if builders hope to continue serving the veterans' market, Thomas B. King, director of Veterans Administration Loan Guaranty Service, told the annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago, recently.

"The variance between the prices currently being paid by veterans' families and the prices which can be afforded on the average indicate that the bottom of the market is being approached," he warned.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Riley Shepherd, who passed away two years ago:

We think of you in silence,
No eye may see us weep,
But many silent tears are shed
While others are asleep.

We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly
Has been forever called away.

Death came swiftly like an arrow
Just two years ago today
When God called you, dear husband,
To his heavenly home to stay.

Days of sadness still come over me,
Tears of silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near me,
Though you left two years ago.

Sadly missed by wife and children,
11-12.

Magoffin Children Walk Across Hills To Enjoy Egg Hunt

The David Community Church sponsored an Easter egg hunt following the Sunday School program on Easter morning. Two hundred thirty-five children, including 10 who walked more than three miles from Magoffin county for the event, marched from the church to the hunting ground, near the home of Alta Davis, behind 28 fully uniformed members of the David Boy Scout troop.

Hansford Honeycutt was chairman of the egg hunt and directed Grove Johnston, Orville Dosson and J. E. Durham, Jr., in the hiding of 800 colored Easter eggs. Mrs. Virgil Warwick and her Sunday School class, assisted by Mrs. Otis Busser, Mrs. M. E. Thompson and Mrs. J. E. Durham, prepared and colored the eggs.

Ten dollars in cash prizes were made by marking eight eggs with a 25, four eggs with a 50, four eggs with a 100 and one egg with a 200. The finders turned in the treasure eggs and exchanged them for cash.

After all of the eggs had been collected they were redistributed equally among the children to take home. Colored moving pictures were made of the affair and will be shown at a later date.

The two men, both of whom had been prominent in baseball activities here, had an altercation, a few days ago, and a long distance telephone call, and a witness to it, trouble said Roark struck at Dickerson several times, threatened and beat him. At that time, it was said, Dickerson told Roark to stay away from his place of business.

Later, Dickerson was said to have asked Police Commissioner Collins to ask Roark "to stay out of the drugstore." This request, Police Commissioner Collins said, was cancelled, however, Dickerson explaining that he did not want to incur any ill feeling.

Dickerson surrendered at the door of the building to Prestonsburg police, saying, "I had to do it," in explanation of the incident.

He must have been crazy, Elmo Hubbard, one of those who went to Roark's home to see the fight, the witness quoted the wounded man as saying.

The tragedy quickly attracted a big crowd of shocked friends of both Roark and Dickerson, who were kept strait out of the scene.

Dickerson was freed Sunday night after $5,000 bond was posted to a sheriff and wounding charge, with a shooting jury returning the murder indictment on the morning following Roark's death.

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill set the trial for April 28 and disqualified as trial judge because of relationship to the victim, a son of the Rev. James Roark, a Methodist minister, and Mrs. Roark, of Prestonsburg, was born at Hillsboro, Ky., May 18, 1919. Since boyhood he had resided with his parents here. He was a staff sergeant, stationed during World War II in the Indiana-China Burma theatre with the 566th AAF base unit.

A wide acquaintanceship throughout Eastern Kentucky resulted from his duties as playing manager of the Prestonsburg baseball team and the VFW basketball team here.

Surviving Mr. Roark are his parents and one sister, Mrs. Eugene P. Harris, Columbus, Ohio. The body was taken to the home of the parents and funeral rites were conducted this afternoon (Thursday) at the Methodist Church, the Revs. W. B. Garrett and C. D. Prentiss officiating. At the burial in the Mayo cemetery, which was directed by the veteran-aided military honors to the deceased.

Business houses here closed for the funeral, and the late rites were attended by a crowd which overflowed the church.

TOTAL 4,913

In State Last Year With 561 Fatalities; Accident Causes Cited

Frankfort, Ky., April 5 (Sp.)—At least three-fourths of all Kentucky traffic accidents last year were caused by some sort of traffic violation and the greatest cause of accidents was excessive speed, T. B. Smith, safety director, Kentucky Department of Highways, said today.

In a prepared report on 1947 traffic accidents Smith said his office had received accounts of 4,913 traffic accidents occurring during the year on Kentucky highways, 483 of them fatal.

The total toll of traffic accidents resulted in 561 deaths and 3,659 injuries.

Of the total, 3,922 accidents, 298 of them fatal, involved traffic violations and 672 accidents, including 116 fatal, did not include violations, as shown by the report. In the case of 418 accidents, 99 of them fatal, it was not learned whether violations were involved.

The report showed 2,028 accidents, causing 183 deaths, resulted from speeding, the speed limit, other violations causing the most accidents were: cutting in, 419 accidents, 10 fatal; following too closely, 359, 10 fatal; driver did not have right of way, 239, 10 fatal; passing on left, 238, 10 fatal; passing on right, 237, 10 fatal; failure to signal or improper signal, 130, no deaths; and disregard of stop sign or signal, 97, three fatal.

A total of 8,338 drivers were involved in accidents last year, the report stated. Of these, 1,560 were male, 674 were female and 2,104 were of unknown sex. In fatal accidents, and 378 were female, 22 of whom were involved in fatal smash-ups.

A check of the condition of cars involved in highway mishaps showed that 256 accidents which took 20 drivers away from the road were due to defective brakes. Defective steering mechanisms were responsible for 53 accidents taking seven lives and 28 accidents, two of them fatal, resulted from punctured or slow-inflating tires.

Smith said this year's checkup showed also that in 59 cases of fatal accidents the drivers had been drinking and were obviously drunk when that 13 fatal accidents occurred and when drivers fell asleep at the wheel.

Out-of-state drivers were involved in 87 fatal accidents and drivers in 33 fatal accidents were found to be operating their cars without drivers' licenses.

The report also listed the following statistics concerning fatal and non-fatal highway accidents: 70 age groups of drivers: 16 years, 70 accidents, five fatal; 21 to 24 years, 1,538 accidents, 116 fatal; 25 to 44 years, 3,511 accidents, 270 fatal; 45 to 64 years, 1,477 accidents, 78 fatal.

Road defects: loose surface material, travel, etc., 119 accidents, 15 fatal; defective shoulders, 49 accidents, 11 fatal.

Location: street intersection, urban, 390 accidents, 24 fatal; highway intersection, rural, 385 accidents, 23 fatal; bridges or overpass, 73 accidents, seven fatal.

Interested in him. The prisoner was paroled to the Reverend White, who procured work for him in a McDowell mine, Floyd residing at the White home.

Later, a young woman, sister-in-law of the minister's friend of the Reverend White, joined the Whites at McDowell. And recently she signed an affidavit stating that Floyd is the father of her unborn child. Told of this turn of affairs, the New York minister came to the county to ask Floyd to marry his girl, the story goes, with the result that Floyd left the White home and took up residence at the home of Mrs. Melvin Anderson, mother of Burr and George Anderson, two of the men questioned.

All those quizzed deny complicity in the dynamite. Floyd was arrested early Friday morning at the Anderson home, and when Deputy Sheriffs J. B. Hall, Levy Rice, Johnny Cassidy and Chas. McGowan arrived at the home he was sleeping, fully-armed, on a downstairs davenport, although his feet are in the upstairs part of the building. He told the officers he frequently fell asleep downstairs and spent the night there. Other members of the family substantiated his claim he had not been away from the house during the night.

An unnamed witness told of seeing two men in the darkness light a fuse near the two cars and of hearing two others talking nearby. The Andersons, Horvitz and Sizemore claimed, however, they had left the roadside place of business the Andersons operate at Orize, to go into Pike county at the head of Abner Fork for whiskey and had not been back the vicinity of the dynamiting during the night.

Floyd remained in jail here Wednesday morning.

'International Relations,' Woman's Club Theme

Betsy Layne, Ky. April 5 (Sp.)—'International Relations' was the theme for the program of the Betsy Layne Woman's Club at its April meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Keen Roinette, of Haroid. Mrs. Alex Davis led the program with various members contributing the following articles: 'Understanding Grows Through Knowledge,' Mrs. W. P. Howell; 'Ambassadors of Goodwill,' a Pan-American article by Mrs. Beecher Hardwick; 'Russian Relations,' Mrs. Earl Hays; 'Put Humanity First,' Mrs. Clyde Blackburn; 'Sure Way to Peace,' Mrs. Clyde Layne. Following these articles, there was a round-table discussion of various international problems, including the war crime trials, the atom bomb, and the part woman's clubs play in world affairs.

Mrs. Jack Williams, the president, presided at the business session at which the club voted to send $10 to the American Bible Society for the distribution of Bibles in foreign countries. The club also will sponsor a movie, with the cooperation of the Betsy Layne theater and school, for the benefit of the cancer drive. Plans were also discussed for aiding needy children in school.

During the social period refreshments were served to the following members: Meddiana T. J. Chandler, Clyde Blackburn, W. P. Howell, Alex Davis, Clyde Layne, Beecher Hardwick, Edward Lyons, cancer drive; Eliza Blackburn, Earl Hays, Lon Roberts, Glenn Blackburn, Elizabeth Pritchard, the hostess, Mrs. Robinson, and one guest, Mrs. Will Cecil.

The next meeting will be May 6 at the home of Mrs. Lon Roberts with Mrs. T. J. Chandler in charge of the program.

Inland Steel Report Predicts Left Beaver Project Completion

With the demand for cold rolled steel sheets still acute, Inland Steel Company is pushing its program to modernize and increase the capacity of its sheet and strip mills at Indian Harbor. The program, which has been subject to repeated setbacks in the delivery of necessary equipment, is expected to be completed during the latter part of 1948, giving the company an increase of approximately 300,000 tons a year in its output of cold rolled products.

It was reported that during the year Inland continued its efforts to strengthen its raw materials position to support expanded operations at Indian Harbor. In its coal operations, the company began the development of the large acreage acquired in 1946, and is undertaking construction of a large washing and screening plant on this property located in what is to be known as Price, on Left Beaver Creek. When completed this plant will handle the entire output of the present Wheelwright mine, as well as that of the recently acquired acreage. The entire project is expected to be completed late in 1949.

In their annual report to Inland's stockholders, April 1, Edward L. Ryerson, chairman, and Whitford Sykes, president, explained that a major part of the company's $16,198,713 expenditure in 1947 for new plants and equipment was in connection with its modernization program for sheet and strip mills. The program includes the installation of additional finishing equipment, the speeding up of existing equipment, and the reequipping of processing facilities.

Rebuilding of the Bristol mine, a reserve iron ore property on the Menominee Range at Crystal Falls, Mich., was started late in 1947. It is expected to resume shipments early in 1949.

Negotiations toward the leasing of a large acreage in the Humphreys district in Kentucky were concluded during 1947, and exploration of these lands is currently under way.

The report pointed out that steel operations are continuing at high level and demand is still in excess of the industry's ability to produce. During 1947 Inland operated at an average rate of 97 per cent of rated capacity, as compared with 82.7 per cent rated capacity in 1946. The steel industry as a whole operated at a rate of 92.9 per cent and 72.5 per cent in 1947 and 1946, respectively.

ROAD REPAIR PLANS ISSUED

Floyd Roads Damaged; Four Routes Selected For Initial Attention

Extensive plans for repairing winter highway damage were issued last week to district engineers and maintenance supervisors by the Department of Highways. A grouping of damaged highways to prepare them for complete resurfacing by contract in order to facilitate early completion was requested.

U.S. 23 at the upper limits of Prestonsburg, a large section of the Left Beaver highway, and the road from Lackey to Wayland are in miserable condition.

"First consideration must be given the heavily traveled roads with emergency repairs until such time as the weather will permit permanent paving," Commissioner Garrett L. Withers said. "Designs are now being prepared and major work will be let to contract just as soon as the roads are dry enough to warrant. We will use our own facilities as far as is practicable, but the damage is so wide-spread and extensive that the contract method is being employed."

A report from the Division of Maintenance indicates that sections of U.S. 25, U.S. 59, U.S. 41 and KY. 80 were subjected to the greatest damage and will be included in the first group to be repaired by contract. "Field checks on several other heavily traveled routes are being made now," Mr. P. Johnson, director of the Maintenance Division, said. "Every effort will be made to prevent damage as rapidly as possible to get resurfacing under contract. In the meantime, temporary repairs will be made to make travel just as safe as possible."

Farmers in Allen county are unusually interested in pastures, having seen fields of fescue and bermuda remain green, despite a severe winter.

Beaver, Ky.—Foster Mitchell, of Grand Canyon, Arizona, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Mitchell, and other relatives here.

WHY must there be 2 kinds of Telephone Dollars?

These are the dollars that are used to run the business—to meet the day-to-day expenses of supplying telephone service. You pay them with your telephone bill and the nickel you deposit in pay telephones. These dollars pay wages to telephone workers and all other expenses of furnishing you service. In addition, these dollars you pay for service must also provide reasonable return to the people who have invested their money in the telephone business.

One kind to keep your service GOING

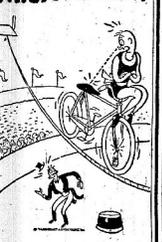

These are the dollars that are used to build the business. They pay for new buildings, switchboards, wires, cables, poles, and other equipment. These dollars do not come from the bills you pay for telephone service because a regulated utility such as the Telephone Company is not permitted to earn enough money to put earnings back into the business. Facilities for improvement and expansion must be financed with dollars from investors, attracted by a reasonable expectation of safety and a fair return on their investment.

One kind to keep your service GROWING

In order to keep your telephone service GOING and GROWING, there must be enough of both kinds of dollars. This requires adequate telephone rates—rates sufficient to pay the cost of furnishing you telephone service with enough left over to yield a reasonable return to investors who supply the dollars that make the service possible.
