SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY MARCH 8, 1951

This Town... That World

A GUY OF THE OLD SCHOOL... Few there are who have not heard or read these words...

For 25 years now I have seen this Spanish rule of thumb... It is a tradition with those of the stage that, once paid or served or whatever, there is an unerring law that the player must carry out.

TEACHER PAY HIKE LAUDED

Superintendent Says $30 Raise Per Month To Improve Situation

The addition of approximately $30 to the teachers pay which is expected to result from the $6,000,000 appropriation asked by Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby is expected to improve the quality of available teachers in Floyd County next year, said County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall this week.

The county has 118 emergency teachers in the classroom this year, and this is the greatest number of emergency in the state, though not the highest percentage, Mr. Hall added.

This extra $30, it was pointed out, may tempt teachers from lucrative war plant jobs to the schoolroom and employment at home in quiet surroundings and where living costs are not quite so high.

Mr. Hall said that the county is expected to receive a grant from the state for the purchase of additional land for the school building program.

BOARD VOTES TO BUY LAND FOR BUILDING

But Gym Delay Seen Here; Commitments Elsewhere Talked

The Floyd County Board of Education voted Tuesday to purchase the additional land asked by George L. Yancy, Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction, for a county high school plant here but at the same time indicated construction must be limited to that of classrooms, with an auditorium and gymnasium a project for the future.

Previous commitments to the town of Martin, La. and City School for the school here and the need of school structures at Ligon and Boone were given as reasons.

Mr. Yancy had been critically ill a few weeks earlier, but was believed convalescing until stricken by a wide circle of friends and relatives in Kentucky and neighboring states.

An attorney 37 years of age, he attained his greatest brilliance as a defense lawyer in criminal trials. He was the first attorney from Floyd County to be qualified to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Mr. James was born at Thomas, Ky., Feb. 22, 1880, the son of Thomas and Nancy Jackson James, and first came to Prestonsburg as a student in 1908.

MASKED MEN HALT DRIVERS IN MINE ROW

Crowe Asked To Send Troopers to County; Foreman Fired Upon

Six squad cars of the Kentucky State Police patrolled the highway between Daviess and the forks of Middle Creek, three miles from here, after two groups of masked men halted half a dozen automobiles at road blocks in a resumption Monday night of disturbances growing out of resentment at the employment of a Johnson County man at the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company's "D. A. mine" at Permele, near Daviess.

The state troopers were ordered here after Guthrie Hinkle, county commissioner of Kentucky police, had been asked to take action.

The troopers were joined by sheriff's deputies. During the night the area was quiet, with no semblance of disorder.

SEN. CHAPMAN AUTO VICTIM

Kentucky Democrat Dies In Washington, Today; Death Causes Conjecture

U. S. Senator Virgil Chapman was fatally injured in a Washington, D. C. automobile accident this Thursday morning, dying shortly before noon.

It was learned here that he was hurt when his auto and a trailer-truck collided. His injuries were so bad he believed not to survive.

Death of Senator Chapman, one of the Democratic workhorses in Congress, created wide conjecture as to what the effect will be on the Kentucky political picture.

The possibility exists that Governor Wetherby will resign, with his successor, William H. Hunt, as a result.

A Present Help in Time of Need

SOME argue that Governor Wetherby's proposal to present surplus $6,000,000 to raise teachers' salaries is economically unsound, because there is no guarantee the salary boost can be maintained.

We toss the textbook on Economics aside to reply that a lot of folks are buying high-priced automobiles this year with no assurance they'll be able to replace them later with cars equally as fine and expensive. And to add that, these days, the teachers of this state, along with a lot of other people, are concerned with now, not later.

There is a strong possibility a surplus will exist next year. The state financial picture may be even brighter. Whether it is or isn't, the teachers and all the friends of teachers know the Governor has attempted to help them as far as the where-withal will go.

Just now, well-paying jobs are opening up in war plants. Teachers are faced with the high-cost-of-living, as aren't we all, and economic realities will oblige them to take jobs which will pay more. Had not the Governor taken the step he did, Kentucky might have had a teachers-shortage which could have disrupted our common school system.

The Times is not concerned with the matter of political strategy in Governor Wetherby's move, and it isn't filled with anxiety about the abstrusities of economics as such. It is more interested in a group of professional women and men whose services are essential in the fullest meaning of the word, and in the fact that they are being encouraged by positive executive action to devote their talents to the education of Kentucky children.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF JUDY DOKES

If you would be read, write about things good to eat, or how to get or keep well. Or, if you are shy on matters on these subjects write yourself a piece about taxes, giving the administration and all and sundry had Columbia.

Here's something about those blankety-blank taxes. Joe Dokes stretches forth his hand at 6 a.m. of a morning to turn off his (a blight on the things) alarm clock (price $5, tax $3). He crawls half-awake, from his cozy bed (price $195, annual personal property tax 5 cents, let's say), staggers across the floor and winds up by switching on the light (17 cents on his monthly bill).

Extravagantly he turns on the bedroom radio (price $49, tax $3) and adds to the static by shaving with his electric (see above) razor, which he has bought in a store, in a chain and contiguous territory with shaving lotion (price $1.30, tax 26 cents). Finally, pressible, he hurries to the kitchen where the way putting on his wrist watch (price $60, tax $2, not counting customs duty which is 10 per cent of foreign manufacture, which it isn't).

A glance at the watch shows he barely has time to snatch two slices of brown toast from the electric toaster (price $18, tax $1.80), get the coffee pot from the gas stove (price $120, tax $12) and grab a glass of orange juice from the refrigerator (price $25, tax $2.50). He bestows a quick kiss on Friend Wife (marriage license $5), gets into his '32z-Model 8 (price $1,800, tax $180, license $10, title $10, sales tax $1, car license $5, wheel tax $4, personal tax $30 or thereabouts) to work.

State Tax 3 cents with a match (tax 5 1/2 cents a thousand). He stops and buys gasoline (state and federal taxes 5 1/2 cents a gallon). At work the poor broke jobs (a lot) and settles down to his job (annual income, $6,000, federal income tax $47, his part of social security tax $46). If he works hard the remainder of his days, and if he is lucky he may save enough to put his family in shape to pay some inheritance tax when he dies. And if he dies the day after tomorrow, his wife will be exempt from sales tax provided he doesn't "enjoy" the luxury of one costing more than $100.

It means the increased rates of July 8 will continue, notwithstanding the commissioner's decision, until the question is settled in court. The next step in the case will be the transfer of the record from the P.S.C. to circuit court. The record is 20 days to bring the record to court.

Whole blood and plasma, flown across the Pacific directly to combat fronts in Korea, have helped save the lives of thousands of wounded servicemen. According to Dr. Richard L. Your contribution to the Red Cross 1951 Fund Campaign will help keep this vital blood program operating at peak efficiency throughout the coming year.

GREEN PASTURES

The Kentucky Green Pastures program will be conducted again this year by the Extension Service of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Last year there were 25 Floyd county farmers enrolled in the program. The pastures were not judged at the proper time to make the farmers eligible for county and district awards. Maybe Floyd county will be eligible this year.

Partners who are interested in raising livestock the cheapest and easiest way should enroll in the Green Pastures Program. Once a pasture is established it will provide grazing for many years if it is properly managed. Cover crops can be managed to furnish pasture in late fall and early spring and cut in half the amount of hay and grain required to winter a cow. Most pastures in this county provide good grazing in the spring and then "dry up" in July and August. By planning your pasture program and sowing several kinds of adapted legumes and grasses in the fall and grain can have green grass the year around.

The rules for entering the Green Pastures Program are:

1 The entrant must farm in a county having an organized Green Pasture Program.

2 For a county to participate there must be at least five entrants.

3 The entrant must be the operator of a farm. He may be the owner, the tenant, or owner-tenant partnership.

4 All the land operated as a farming unit, either owned or leased, must be included in the program.

5 Eligibility must be approved by the County Green Pastures Committee.

6 Enrollments must be in the county agent's office by April 1, 1951. Entry blanks for enrolling in this program can be obtained from the County Agricultural Agent's office.

Don't forget that you must fill out an entry blank before April 1 if you want to join the program for a greener Floyd county.

A committee also was named to procure additional land at the Martin consolidated school location, presumably with the view to giving the construction James Salisbury, principal of the school. E. P. Grady and W. J. Reynolds, Jr., were named to the committee. Superintendent Hill was authorized to procure plans for a four-room school at Ligon. Otherwise the meeting was devoted to the purchase of school buses and other necessities for the coming school year. School bus purchases, on the basis of competitive bidding, were made as follows: One 48-passenger Chevrolet with Superior body, from the Valley Motor Car Company, Prestonsburg, for $3,900; a 66-passenger Diamond T with Thomas body, from the Mule Moore Co., Prestonsburg, for $6,150, and a 69-passenger International with Superior body, from the Big Sandy Motor Co., Paintsville, for $5,992.23. Other purchases were 250 pupil chairs, 50 tablet-arm chairs, 100 kindergarten chairs and 100 steel folding chairs from the Chas. Burch Co.; nine dozen volleyball nine dozen basketballs and four dozen softballs, from Sittler's; four rural school diplomas for graduates, from Balfour & Company. smaller masked group stopped the... of Mrs. Ora Howard, manager of the company's clubhouses at David, and Russell Harman, company official. This group, it was said, was armed with clubs, not with guns as was the gathering at the forks of the creek. Officers here were quickly notified of the occurrences but no arrests were made. Price reported that after his auto was stalled he was not permitted to return home toward by Prestonsburg but was routed on up the main highway toward Salversville. He added that his car was fired upon as he drove away. Danish said he and the miners with him were ordered from his car and then informed by a spokesman from the group that "if your coal is mined in Floyd county, Floyd county men will mine it." He said a man lying in the ditch at the roadside fired a 22 rifle bullet through the window of his car as he left the scene. A Grey Creek coach halted were permitted to leave, unimpeded. There has been a fight between Floyd county residents and Johnson county employees," commented a company official. Last Thursday morning, four Floyd county miners, en route to the mine, were ordered from a bus at the forks of Middle Creek. This was construed as retaliatory action against Floyd men by Johnson county. The mine was picketed by a small group and was idle, remainder of the week. Both mines of the company, however, were operating this week. In a letter to employees of the No. 2 mine, commenting on the situation, David L. Francis, Princess Elkton president, said this week: "We want to be fair in our employment policies. In the past we have leaned over backwards toward hiring people who live in the communities surrounding our mines if they are qualified. We have about 80 Shepherds on our payroll, all of whom live in this vicinity. Certainly we have treated the Shepherds well. There are also many Stans, Ouseys and Hickses and others who live in this vicinity. For their families working for us. These people, and the general public, like ourselves, want law and order at all times."

Biggers Named to Post Vacated by Holbrook In Ky. Legislature

Ex-Representative W. G. Biggers, of Prestonsburg, was named sergeant-at-arms of the House, Monday, when Kash Holbrook, Salversville Democrat who flashed a pistol at the 1950 Legislature session, resigned the post for the special session of the General Assembly. Holbrook gave no reason for resigning. Friends were quoted as saying he felt some of the House members who were angered by his action at the last session might attack him with spears from the floor. Holbrook was sent by the Speaker of the House to quell a scuffle between two representatives during the 1950 session. He pulled a new unloaded small pistol from his coat pocket, but quickly put it back. Several members ragged at him for carrying a gun.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many expressions of sympathy, by the presence of friends at the funeral, by flowers and by both oral and written expressions on the death of our beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. Polly Allen.

Especially do we thank the members of her old home Stone Coal Church for their presence at the church during the funeral offering, and the ministers, Marion Chaffins, Brock Hayes, A. J. Moore, Banner Manns, M. C. Wright and Alex Coburn, for their comforting words. Also, we thank the ministers of the United Baptist Church, Revs. James Peck, Henry Mullins and Ed Howard, for their comforting messages at the services held at her old home, the night before her burial. Rites for Mrs. Allen From Church Founded By Great-Grandfather

The funeral last Thursday of Mrs. Polly Allen, who died Feb. 27 at her home near Haysville, was held from the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church which was founded in 1869 by her great-grandfather, the Rev. John Morris, who was a grandson of Robert H. Morris, the patriot-financier of the Revolutionary War. The Reverend Morris originally called the church the Philadelphia Church, possibly in honor of the city in his native Pennsylvania. Since that time his direct descendants, including Mrs. Allen, have been members of the old church. Rites at the church were conducted by the Revs. M. M. Chaffins, Brock Hayes, A. J. Moore, Banner Manns, M. C. Wright and Alex Coburn. Burial was made in the Jacob Allen cemetery at Brush Creek under direction of the Annual Funeral Home.

David Woman's Club Hears Social Worker

Miss Dorothy Dorson, social service worker for Floyd and Martin counties, gave the David Woman's Club an intimate glimpse into her social work Friday night when she spoke to them at "Café Wilbur" at the home of Mrs. Russell Harman.

Monday, derived from Miss Dorson, an every-body in Kentucky now has a social service worker. Miss Dorson was shown in the discussion of delinquent children and what constitutes a delinquent child. The club made plans for its monthly party at the armatorium with their husbands as guests. Mrs. Robert Green is in charge of arrangements.

An election of officers was held at the armatorium and newly-elected officers are announced as follows: President, Mrs. Russell Harman; first vice-president, Mrs. Charles Schindler; second vice-president, Mrs. Gray Howard; recording secretary, Mrs. Yvonne Van Glines; correspondence secretary, Mrs. Earl Bartlett; treasurer, Mrs. John Stratton.

To Preach at Martin

MARION G. ROMNEY

Assistant to the Council of the Twelve Apostles and Assistant Managing Director of the Church Welfare Program of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, will preach at Martin High School Auditorium Thursday, March 15, 7:30 p.m.

Previous to Elder Romney's current position, he was active in the auxiliary organizations of the Church, having served as Sunday School superintendent and president of the 33rd Quorum of Seventy in 1906. He was appointed bishop of the 33rd ward, in 1938. He was appointed president of the Booneville Stake, a position he held until being appointed an assistant to the Council of Twelve.

He has had an active career in Church and legal circles in Salt Lake City for several years. He was born in Sept., 1897 in Colonia Jarez, Mexico.

He came to Salt Lake City with his family in 1912 and since has had an active career both in Utah and Idaho. Graduated from the University of Utah, receiving his B.S. in 1928 and his LL.B. in 1932.

He entered the Utah Bar in 1930 and in addition to his practice has served as assistant to the county attorney, the district attorney and to the city attorney.

Elder Romney filled a mission to Austria from 1920 to 1923.

The average man is prone to think of religion as concerned only with worship and the teaching of moral truths. However as assistant Managing Director of the great Church Welfare Program he had an important part in the shipment of hundreds of carloads of food, clothing, and bedding to starving families in Europe, the saving of many Navajo Indians' lives by the same means, and the support of the worthy poor in the Church.

Since 1938 there have been helped through the Welfare Program from 17,913 to 55,460 persons each year. More than a thousand families who were previously dependent have been helped to become self-supporting. During the past five years more than two thousand persons have relinquished their positions on government relief rolls to participate in the Church program and of these almost one thousand have become completely independent of all gratuitous help. One of the objectives of this program is to "help others to help themselves." 3-1-2t.

High Court Okays Floyd Legal Rating

Frankfort, Ky., March 2—Appellate Court today approved Floyd Circuit Court's refusal to oust John Allen as agent for owners of gas production wells. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Stephens who owned fractional minority shares in several of the leases tried to have Allen removed. The Court also ruled that the Jenkins Board of Education must arrange for pupils living outside the city school district, even though they reside within the city limits. The city limits include a larger area than the school district. The opinion reversed Letcher Circuit Court's order that Elmer Hunt's children could attend the city schools free.

Reason Children Quit Taking Music Lessons

Fewer children would quit taking music lessons if teachers and parents would help them to enjoy music, rather than drill them for show-off recitals.

That's the conclusion reached after a survey made among teachers by Good Housekeeping magazine, which says that, "The more music a child can play—good or bad, but music attractive to him—the prouder and more willing to continue his lessons he will be."

Writing in the March issue, music editor George Marek, reports that teachers, themselves, blame poor teaching methods for most cases of abandoned music lessons. Parents, he says, must choose a teacher who uses "skill, imagination and daring."

The author quotes Marguerite Hood, president of the Music Educators National Conference, on the problem of practicing. She suggests that a regular time be assigned to it, a time that does not conflict "with a prized recreation, like football."

Another expert believes that music should be taught by relating it to experiences in the child's life. "Many teachers," he says, "have had good luck with making up little stories about music to be played."

Marek believes that two things are necessary to keep alive a child's enthusiasm for music. First, he needs a feeling of success; second, he needs help with practicing.

"You cannot practise for your child," he says. "Just be in the background, so that when help is needed, you can say calmly, 'Let's do this one again.'"

Wayland, Martin in Regional Meet

Wasps Win District Crown Over Martin by Single Point

Out of the hurly-burly of what is often termed the toughest district tournament in Kentucky emerged Saturday night at Martin the two basketball teams that have long been considered Floyd county's best to represent the 38th district in the 18th regional meet at Pikeville this week.

Wayland high school's Wasps won the district championship in a stirring final game with the Martin Purple Flash; 79 to 69, and these two fives, as strong as any ever to represent this county in a sectional meet, will enter the Pikeville tournament to compete with other champions and runners-up of the 18th region for the right to play in the state tourney at Lexington next week.

The tournament, witnessed by capacity crowds, was one of the most interesting held this season. Martin's gymnasium was inadequate to handle the crowds, and school officials wisely turned away fans rather than overcrowd the frame structure.

Not until the semi-finals were reached Friday night did play assume the light, nerve-tugging character. But the semi-finals and finals supplied all fans were looking for, including the near-spect of the favored Purple Flash by McDowell.

Prestonsburg opened the tourney last Tuesday night with a 78-56 victory over Auxier. The following night, Betsy Layne ousted Maytown, and Wayland easily overcame Garrett, 79 to 56. Wednesday night, McDowell eliminated the Prestonsburg Black Cats, 84 to 45, and Martin doubled the score on Wheelwright's Maroon, 74-37.

The first game of the semi-finals between Wayland and Betsy Layne was no thriller, with the Wasps 12-point winners, but the second game was a humdinger. McDowell, the underdog, had the host team, Martin, trailing by two points, with only four minutes left.

The game evened the score between the two fives for the season.

The all-tournament team, which was named by coaches of the nine participating fives before the first game of the tourney and on an all-opponent basis, was announced Saturday night. The 10 boys named to the all-star aggregation are, in alphabetical order:

The championship game between Martin and Wayland was equally as close. Martin held an edge at the end of the first and second quarters, and the tide of battle ebbed and flowed as though the full four periods. Wayland edged ahead by five points two minutes of play remaining, but Martin surged back to snare overtime period was missed when Tackett of Martin fouled on a come within a single point of tying it up. LIBERTY, AND NOT PIKEVILLE, WAS FIRST PIKE COUNTY SEAT

BY G. C. RATLIFF
(In The Ashland Daily Independent)

Pike county, Kentucky was born 123 years ago Sunday, March 4, according to the records of Spencer Adkins, the county's first clerk. After several hours of hard and painstaking work with the aid of T. M. Riddle, father of Besiee Riddle Arnold, present county court clerk, the following records were translated from the old goose quill writing of the first directors "of the county's affairs":

"It is remembered that at the house of Spencer Adkins, on Monday, the Fourth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand, eight hundred and twenty-two, it being the first Monday in said month of March, Simeon Justice, James Roberts, Reuben Rutherford, John Hunt, and John Bevis, produced commissions from under the seal of the said John Adkins, governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, with the seal of the said Commonwealth, thereto appointing each of the said gentlemen, Justices of the peace in and for the county of Pike, and thereupon the said Justices, did on the said day of March, in said commissions, did on the Holy Evangelist of Almighty God, look as well the oath to support the constitution of the United States and of this State, as the oath of a justice of the peace. Together with the oath prescribed by the act of Assembly, entitled 'An Act More Effectually to Suppress the Practice of Duelling' and then the said Simeon Justice administered on the Holy Evangelist of Almighty God to the said James Roberts, Reuben Rutherford, John Hunt, and John Bevis the persons in the said commissions as well to support the constitution of the United States and of this State as the oath of a justice of the peace, together with the oath prescribed by the act of assembly (on duelling) and thereupon a court was formed for the said county of Pike.

"And on here at a court held agreeable to the Act of Assembly, establishing the county of Pike approved the nineteenth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-one, at the house of Spencer Adkins aforesaid on Monday, the Fourth day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two and in the thirtieth year of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

"Present, Simeon Justice, James Roberts, Reuben Rutherford, John Hunt, and John Bevis, Gentlemen Justices. John Hunt resigned the next day. Simeon Justice served through Pike county's first court, which lasted for some weeks. It was a busy court, what with the swearing in of all the officers, and settling programs, telephone service to ships and vehicles. Today America has 62% of the world's telephones and enjoys the most and the best telephone service in the world. Another great achievement of American ingenuity under a system of free enterprise and individual incentive and reward.

Each year the telephone becomes more useful, and more essential to the prosperity and security of the nation. Today it unites the country, playing a vital role in mobilization and production for defense.

Here in the South, more than 52,000 skilled employees and nearly 3½ million Southern Bell telephones are on the job—more than twice as many as we had when World War II began. And there are four times as many Long Distance circuits. In all, we have built more than $670 million worth of new facilities in a little over five years, and we're still busy at the job.

All this growth—and maintaining the financial strength to keep on expanding—will be increasingly important to the South and the Nation in the days ahead.—Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

up the court machinery for the first time. All first officials were commissioned by the governor, and all had to take the oath as to the suppression of duelling.

James Honaker was the county's first sheriff, and Spencer Adkins, the first county court clerk. William Triplett, who made it appear to the satisfaction of the court that he had been a practice as an attorney at law came into court and qualified as such, who took as well the various oaths.

William Triplett was appointed prosecuting attorney of the court "during the pleasure of the court."

Elijah Adkins produced a commission from Governor John Adair, and was sworn in as the county's first coroner. He was also appointed as Commissioner of Revenue for the year 1822.

Richard Damon and Joseph Adams were the first surveyors. The first man authorized to solemnize matrimony was James Roberts, during the April, 1822, term of court.

At the first term of court, Justice Simeon Justice swore in Jacob Mayo as Spencer Adkins' deputy clerk, upon his recommendation of Adkins.

Spencer Adkins' bond as clerk was heavy "over the thousand pounds" and his co-signers were Abram Beavers, William Ratliff, Willie Tackett, Thomas May, and Thomas Owens, and the conditions were as follows:

"Whereas the above bound Spencer Adkins as clerk of the Pike county court, shall duly and faithfully execute the said office and not refuse or carry or suffer to be removed or carried out, or this said county or any part thereof except in certain cases which were allowed by law. Then the above obligations to be void, else to remain in full force and virtue."

Each man signed with the word "Seal" at the end of the name and a circle drawn around it, with decorations by the goose quill pen. This first court laid out the county's six "Constable" districts, which are now called Magisterial districts, and constantly appointed for them, as follows:

No. 1, with William Ratliff as constable; No. 2, Thomas Tackett; No. 3, George Powell; No. 4, George Tackett; No. 5, Thomas Cecil; No. 6, Sampson Moore. There are now eight magisterial districts in Pike county.

This first court was, apparently, an orderly one, for Justice Simeon Justice was fined $2 for "swearing in a preface of the court." Elwick paid said fine down, $2.

On March 25th, the following commissioners were appointed to decide upon the location of the county seat. Mason Williams, Edward Wells, William Prater, Holloway Powers, and Thomas Tackett.

After "exploring" the country, they decided upon the ideal place as being "in the Payton Justice bottom, about one and a half miles below the Forks of the Levisa Fork of Sandy River, and then there contained one acre of land for the public square, staked off beginning at—(description of acre of ground).

"We do further certify that the said Justice (Payton Justice) has given by bond to the county court, two acres of land together with the necessary streets and alleys necessary for the publication of a town, and a number of the inhabitants of this county met, and consented that the county town should be named LIBERTY."

Therefore, Pike county's first seat of government was, apparently, where beautiful Garden Village is now located. It is about one and a half miles below Millard, or the forks of the river, then called "The Forks," and on the east side of the river.

But, according to the records, every court was held at the "house" of Spencer Adkins until the county seat moved to Pikeville, in May, 1825. In the fall of 1821, Thomas Johns, James Stone, Roland Brown, and Rhodes Meade were appointed commissioners to find a permanent location for the county seat. Justice of the Peace, Thomas Owens, made the appointments.

1876 75th Anniversary 1951 75 Years of Service to the Nation

"Mr. Watson, come here. I want you."

"Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

... and the Telephone was born!

On March 10, 1876, in a boarding house in Boston, the telephone carried its first intelligible sentence. Alexander Graham Bell was about to try to send his voice over a new transmitter he had devised. His assistant, Thomas Watson, was in another room, holding a receiver to his ear. Suddenly, Mr. Bell spoke the words of a battery over his circuit. He called out, "Mr. Watson, come here; I want you!" An instant later Watson burst into the room, shouting, "Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

IN THE 75 YEARS since then, the Telephone industry has grown up to transform our everyday pattern of living. For millions, the telephone has become an indispensable aid-in business, government, the home, the farm, and in maintaining family and community ties.

These 75 years have brought an amazing parade of advancements in communication—switchboards, cables carrying hundreds of wires on poles or underground, the vacuum tube, the dial system, coaxial cable and microwave radio relay for transmitting hundreds of simultaneous calls or television

Hear Mrs. Baker Speak

Wheelwright, Ky., March 1 (Sp.) —The program of the February meeting of the Wheelwright Women's Club was held in Community Hall in conjunction with the Wheelwright Club of Beaver Valley, The Wesleyan Service Guild and the 900 Club. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Sally Baker, of Pikeville, radio's 1950 "Queen of America," who gave an interesting talk on her trip to the different European countries as a representative of BOA and the facts leading up to her selection as Queen of America.

After Mrs. Baker's talk the members of the Women's Club adjourned to the clubroom for the business session. Fourteen of the members volunteered to do this.

Jest Among Us...

By Jack Whit

As I went spinning through Kenton county the other day some of the years seemed to drop away and I was back at Independence School, again, where I had been hired to teach English. A week before school was to open that fall, a letter had come saying that, as I had studied journalism at U.K. and had worked on a newspaper, why it ought to be easy enough for me to teach senior typing also.

Well, I sweated it out—literally—and it wasn't long before some of the kids in the class could type faster with ten fingers than the teacher could with two. We got along fine but it was downright embarrassing when the little rascals, who must have suspected something, would say, "Mr. Whit, you've got your hands down and show us how to type?" I was too dignified in those days to tell 'em the truth.

Then the typing teacher who didn't know how to type was given a class to teach in commercial arithmetic. I suppose the principal figured that a newspaperman naturally would be a whiz at figures. The only figures I knew anything about were figures of speech. If only he had asked me, quick like, how many pecks in a bushel or what along me but in one, he would have saved everybody concerned a lot of agony. As it was, my good wife, whose only claim to fame as a writer and patron was that twice she kept within the $5.00 allotted for the week's groceries, did the problems at home for me so I wouldn't appear too utterly ignorant to the kiddies.

One memory had to do with a play called "Henry's Mail-Order Wife" that was presented by the Independence teachers for parents, pupils and patrons. You surely know the story—about the lonesome cowboy who writes to a matrimonial agency for a wife, the other hands getting wise to it, dressing up one of their number to look like a girl, and passing "her" off on poor Henry. Reuben Hirschild, who now is principal at Simon Kenton High was Henry, and I—my cheeks still burn at the thought—was cast as his mail-order wife. Miss Edna Taylor, another teacher, fixed me up with long dress, high heeled shoes and a pretty red wig made out of her own hair, and she also colored me in my falsest. It was a cold winter night but it was plenty warm up on that stage, and Reuben was perspiring freely in the courting scenes. Things were moving along fairly well except that I was having trouble balancing on the high heels, then it happened. Reuben moved suddenly as if to grab me, and I, lady that I was, hepped nimbly away—right into a bucket of water that was one of the stage props.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

For the past several months now, and especially since the recent publication in The Floyd County Times of my query to the Attorney-General relative to the filing-place for candidates to judicial districts, other in this county many of the Christian people of this county, loyal and staunch supporters of law enforcement, have prevailed on me to make the race for Commonwealth's Attorney, have endorsed my candidacy and pledged me their whole-hearted support.

Appreciating this action from so many of the common people from all over the county, being deeply grateful for their pledged support and knowing that they have no political axe to grind, and that their support stems only from their desire to further the cause of good government in Floyd county, I have definitely decided to make the race on the Democratic ticket for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney. I, therefore, announce my candidacy, pledge full time devoted, 12 months out of the year, to fair and impartial law enforcement in this county, and earnestly solicit the assistance, the support and vote of every qualified voter, with the earnest assurance given you all that I have no personal political ambitions other than to serve my community and the county in which I live.

Sincerely,
BURNIS MARTIN
