Price Drop Hits Coal Production

Some Market Gains Seen in 30-60 Days; Producers Stockpile

The Eastern Kentucky coal boom which was marked by unprecedented demand for the fuel and astronomical prices has slumped for the last 90 days, and the market this week was reported at its slowest in months.

But veterans of the industry view the situation philosophically. They do not expect a return to $20-a-ton prices, but see, instead, a leveling off and a continued demand for coal.

The current situation was viewed by one operator as a result of the general industrial sluggishness "catching up with us."

This source expressed the hope that there will be improvement in the metallurgical coal market within the next 30 to 60 days. At the same time, however, the feeling exists that little improvement, if any, will be experienced in the steam coal situation before the end of the year.

"I believe," one industry leader said, "the slow-up now have as bad as it's going to be."

Coal prices were described as "dramatically down"—steam coal reported as $17, some as high as $20, per ton, depending upon the b.t.u. content of the product, metallurgical coal, ranging from $35 to $40—"if you can get an order."

Although these prices are 300 per cent, or more, above those of pre-boom days, increased costs of production, including higher wages, costlier machinery and the like, place many operations in the marginal category, and some smaller operations are reported temporarily closed.

Others are stockpiling against the day of greater demand and better prices. Some whose yards are full have cut operation by as much as 40 per cent.

Most of the steam coal, which apparently is hardest hit by the slump, is produced by either strip or auger mining.

Accidental Gunshot Fatal to Drift Boy

The gunshot wound which killed Ronald Glenn Collins last Wednesday, two days before his eighth birthday, was accidentally fired by himself, it was held following an investigation.

The child was said to have been playing with a .22-caliber pistol at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mable Spears Collins, at Drift, when the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking him in his face. He was dead on arrival at the Appalachian Regional Hospital, McDowell.

State Trooper Dennis Williamson, who investigated the tragedy, was told that Larry Wayne Collins, an older brother of the victim, witnessed the accident. The boy said he left the bedroom where his two brothers were playing and that as he re-entered the room the weapon fired.

Surviving are his mother; his father, Cullen Collins, of Cohen, Ky., and three brothers, Larry Wayne, Tony and Jonathan, all of Drift.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday from Pilgrim Rest Regular Baptist Church at Price, and burial was made in the Lucy Hall cemetery at McDowell under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

9% Base Raise Voted Teachers At Board Meet

The Floyd County Board of Education last Saturday completed preparations for the school term opening August 26 with the approval of a teacher salary schedule and the employment of lunchroom cooks, bus drivers, school clerks and custodians.

The teacher pay schedule includes a 9 per cent raise provided by the Minimum Foundation on base pay, and the lowest-paid certified teacher (Rank III with no experience) will be paid $7,190 for the year. The highest paid teacher in the system (master's degree, plus full experience credit), will receive $10,550.

Cooks employed:

Project Gets "Seed" Money

Thomas Hereford, former president of the Floyd County Area Jaycees, recently presented to Richard T. Stal, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, a $5,000 check, a Project Mainstream grant which the local Jaycee chapter had been instrumental in procuring for the Center almost two years ago at the time Hereford headed the Jaycees.

Lightning Bolt Does 'Inside Job'

The exterior of the home of Mrs. Eva Layne at Harold almost completely escaped damage during a recent electrical storm, but the interior tells a grimmer story.

Lightning struck a tree, approximately 100 yards from the residence, the afternoon of July 23, and a neighbor, Carl Hatcher, said he saw a flame of fire shoot across the intervening space into the Layne home.

The result was that the interior of the house was charred or destroyed. A refrigerator partially melted. So did the television and other items containing metals. The aluminum facing of a window through which the lightning bolt is thought to have entered became liquid. Chairs, tables were charred. Nothing inside the building escaped damage.

Mrs. Layne was visiting in Pikeville at the time of the storm, and is convinced that if she had been at home she could not have survived the inferno resulting from the freak lightning bolt. She says she had the feeling while the storm was in progress that her home was burning.

No estimate of the damage was available.

Exterior of Layne home shows only blackened area around a window near the location of a switch-box inside the house. Interior photo shows "melted" refrigerator, stove, other items.

Board of Education Payroll Includes 700

The general budget of the Floyd County Board of Education which was adopted last Saturday indicates that that body is the largest single employer in the county. Its payroll includes approximately 700 persons, in capacities ranging from superintendent of schools through the teaching categories, maintenance and custodial workers and the like.

Teachers alone will be paid a total of $3,704,234 during the next nine months. It is estimated that the cost of transporting pupils will be $462,000.

Administration of the school system will cost another $110,000, and the cost of pupil attendance services will be $27,109. Operation of plant, which includes cost of all utilities, salaries of custodians, etc., was placed at $300,000.

The entire budget is $5,566,494, 19, but of this amount only $663,154, or 12 per cent of the total, is to be raised through district taxation.

The district's share of the budget is to be raised by a levy of 32 cents per $100 valuation on real estate, tangible and personal property and public service companies; 38 cents per $100 of bank shares, and 7.6 cents per $100 for the retirement of gym bonds.

Road Aid Fund Totals $137,240

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has announced that the Floyd county has been allotted $137,240 in county road aid money for the current fiscal year, beginning July 1.

According to the governor, the funds are being set aside to assist in maintaining more than 190.5 miles of county roads and five bridges.

Similar allocations to other localities in Kentucky also are being announced.

Michigan Boy, 14, Hurt in Lake Dive

A 14-year-old Michigan visitor to this county suffered what was described as "a broken neck" Sunday when he dived into shallow water in the German bridge area of Dewey Lake.

The youth, Billy Holden, of Taylor, Mich., was taken to Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington, where his condition was described as satisfactory. He suffered two fractured vertebrae, it was said.

State Asks Bidding On Lake Work

Nearly $1 Million Reported Available For Dock Area Job

Bids have been asked by the Department of Parks on Phase I of harbor and dock improvements at the Jenny Wiley boat dock on Dewey Lake, and the opening of bids has been scheduled for August 18. The Times was told this week.

George Barker, manager of Jenny Wiley State Park, said as much as $950,000 may be available for the work, since federal funds reported at $200,000 are being added to the $750,000 already appropriated by the state.

If acceptable bids are received, work is scheduled to begin, soon after Labor Day.

Phase I of the proposed work will involve dredging of the Brandy Keg Cove harbor and landscaping. Phase II, on which bids have not yet been asked, will include dock construction and other improvements.

Monday Meet At May Lodge To Talk Rates

The Governor's Commission on Electric Utility Rates and Regulations will continue its hearings at various places in Kentucky with a meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, at 10 a.m. Monday.

The first meeting was held this week at Murray, where Dr. Thomas B. Hogan, camp, resident of Murray State University, said the cost of electric power at the university had risen from $450,000 in 1972-73 to more than $1 million the last fiscal year, forcing Murray State to cut back on its instructional services.

Clyde Reeves, of Lexington, chairman of the commission, said of the work it is undertaking:

"We're trying to learn what we can, gather all the information we can, to help solve the energy problem from the state standpoint."

He added that the commission hopes to have a report ready for Governor Carroll by December 1.

Court Approves Slight Tax Rate Boost for Year

Slight increases in the tax levy for the new fiscal year were voted last week by the Floyd fiscal court.

The levy for county tax purposes was increased from 18 cents per $100 evaluation to 19.2 cents, and the rate for school taxes was raised from 51.9 cents to 52.4 cents. The health tax was increased from 3.1 cents to 3.3 cents.

The levy for all other purposes remained unchanged—library, 2.1 cents; CET (extension), 1.4 cents; and gym tax, 7.6 cents.

The levy was based on these assessment estimates: Real estate, $87,187,844; tangible personal property, $52,245,440; public service companies, $44,285,659; bank shares, $6,494,940.

This Town . . . That World

We complained about the drought? Then it rained. Then we complained that it didn't rain enough. Summer complaint?

SPARE THAT SKUNK!

Time was when the hero snarled, "You lowdown skunk, unhand that here gall!" and everybody cheered. But since our publication of an item about skunks ambling around Prestonsburg we have been hearing from gardeners that the animals are much-maligned, that they aren't at all "onsey" or "lowdown," not even when you call them polecats.

George Brown, whose garden is just outside my office window, tells me that they aren't at all "onsey" or "lowdown," not even when you call them polecats. George Brown, whose garden is just outside my office window, tells me that they aren't at all "onsey" or "lowdown," not even when you call them polecats.

Mrs. Venelia Rinehart, who grows flowers, tells of similar service rendered by a family of skunks around her premises.

Block Grant To Help Park, Water System

Floyd county will receive $483,200 in Community Development Block Grant funds from the federal government.

County Judge Henry Stumbo has received a formal letter from HUD Area Director Virgil G. Kinnard approving this county's application for funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

The new law, administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, eliminates the former categorical community development program and gives money to communities in one block grant. The local communities now set their own priorities and make the own plans—with minimal federal guidance or involvement.

Of the total block grant to Floyd county, $183,200 has been earmarked for a county recreation center planned at Allen, and the remaining $300,000 is scheduled for the extension of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District into David and vicinity from Brush Creek.

The Allen recreation center may be two years away, it was indicated last week when it became apparent that a site will not be available until after Jan. 1, 1976.

In a letter to Judge Stumbo congratulating the county, HUD Secretary Carla A. Hills wrote, "I hope you will be able to attract wide citizen participation as you carry out the plan, and I trust that this grant will be a positive step toward the betterment of your community."

Thomas Hereford, former Floyd County Area Jaycee president, (right) presents Richard T. Stal, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, with a $5,000 check—a Project Mainstream grant to be used in development of an integrated Food Processing Program for the handicapped.

RETIRETEACHERS TO MEET
The Floyd County Retired Teachers Association will meet Saturday, August 9, for a 12 o'clock luncheon at the Wise Restaurant. The guest-speaker will be Miss Maie Sanders, of Wilmington, N. C., district vice-president of the National Retired Teachers Association. Michael A. Auh, insurance consultant with the Colonial Penn Insurance Company and manager of the branch office in Atlanta, Ga., will attend, and discuss the various types of insurance available for members of the Association. All retired teachers are urged to attend.

ATTEND HOSPITAL CONVENTION
Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Frazier attended the Kentucky Hospital Association Convention at Woodson Bend last Saturday. Accompanying them were Mrs. Elizabeth Lynn Sutherland and Lynnon Frazier.

Needed: A Floyd County Room

Whatever Floyd county's plans for the observance of the nation's Bicentennial, it is doubtful if anything we do could be of more lasting value or more appropriate than to preserve what is left of our historic past.

Much is already gone, or is past restoration. Many of the oldest court records have been lost or destroyed, or are missing. The present county court clerk has some of the oldest remaining records under lock, because such relics of the past have had a strange way of disappearing. This is another way of saying, some records have literally been stolen. Others were lost through improper storing in the old courthouse; many were lost to fire and flood.

Fortunately, a few of the oldest court records in the region remain.

As Bicentennial year approaches, we might also turn our thoughts to the preservation of the county's buildings which date from another century and wear the aura of history. Too many are being sacrificed to "Progress," to become sites of apartment complexes, parking lots and industrial buildings.

The Oral History Project at Alice Lloyd College is doing a monumental work in preserving the folk tales, the speech and culture of another day. The popularity of "The Foxfire Book," a work born of a similar undertaking, attests to the deep interest the old ways and things still hold for millions of Americans. But Floyd county's interest is in its own history.

Our weakness is, we fail to recognize the gold in our own lode. Somewhere—in the county library, at Prestonsburg Community College, or in the proposed courthouse annex—a Floyd County Room should be established, set apart to receive and keep safe for this and succeeding generations our historic past. Old court records, the music, the speech, the items that went into time-to-day early living, the genuinely historic memorabilia should be afforded such sanctuary.

'Privacy' Should Not Seal Records of Known Criminals

By CLARENCE M. KELLEY

Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

Some well-meaning proposals to further safeguard the privacy of individuals unfortunately threaten seriously the law enforcement profession's ability to combat crime. These efforts in behalf of privacy persist in the face of an alarming rise in nationwide levels of lawlessness in nearly every category of serious crime. Surely, crime conditions implore us to strengthen, not weaken, police resources.

Overall, serious crime in 1974 recorded its largest increase in 14 years. Violent crimes jumped 11 per cent, while property crimes spiked 17 per cent. Rural, suburban, and large metropolitan areas alike similarly reported substantial increases in crime. In each of the nation's four major geographical regions, Reports of offenses compiled thus far this year continue this frightful trend.

The most potentially harmful proposals to law enforcement efforts are those that would, after stipulated periods of varying length, seal criminal offender records, commonly known as "rap sheets," from examination by law enforcement agencies. Certainly, these proposals have the very best intention: to prevent a rehabilitated offender's or arrested and convicted person's record from exposing him to embarrassment or worse forms of public notice for the remainder of his lawful life. However noble is the purpose, the proposals to seal criminal offender records strike harshly at a pivotal resource to law enforcement agencies. These records are of invaluable assistance to law enforcement agencies, which commonly employ them at the outset of many investigations to quickly winnow logical suspects from dozens and even hundreds of possibilities. Criminal offender records permit this to be done by virtue of the positive, personal identifying data only they contain.

Indeed, should many criminal offender records be sealed or their examination delayed in the fast-moving pace of most criminal investigations, law enforcement agencies would be obliged to turn to the personal recollections of the investigating officers or resort to other less exact institutional-type records. Needless to say, such conditions could very easily expand the risks of invasion of privacy which the proposals are designed to minimize.

Furthermore, unless criminal rehabilitation programs show dramatic and unexpected improvement, it is a fact established by countless criminal recidivist studies that persons once involved with some significant violation of the law are much more likely to commit a crime than those who have no police record.

One has only to look at the sordid lawbreaking backgrounds of police killers to grasp the impact criminal recidivism has on the course of police investigations. In the murders of 858 officers during the period 1964-73, for example, of the police killers identified, 42 per cent had been previously arrested for a violent crime, 59 per cent had been convicted of a prior criminal charge, and 77 per cent had been arrested before on a criminal charge. Yet some of the proposals to seal criminal records would deny the police the police which assignment 98 per cent of the 858 officers met their deaths—critical, possibly life-saving, information on a suspect encountered on the street.

Privacy is an intangible and lofty goal. Still, there is no doubt it must be pursued with constant vigilance. But in doing so, let us ask ourselves some frank questions: Is any degree of privacy achieved by sealing certain criminal records of the few worth the added jeopardy this action would bring to the many law-abiding citizens and to a growing legion of persons who no longer feel safe from crime on the streets of their neighborhoods and even in their homes and places of employment? Must not privacy and the many other benefits of a mature society begin with the control of rampant criminality?

It seems to me that the privacy of individuals is scarcely served, and the community unnecessarily endangered, by shackling law enforcement efforts with the sealing of certain criminal offender records.

Nursery School

To Open Kindergarten

Calico Corner Nursery School plans the opening here of a new kindergarten which includes a specially designed program and curriculum for children 5 to 6 years of age, beginning September 8. The nursery school originally opened in January, 1973.

The school has employed two qualified teachers, Mrs. Virginia Boush and Mrs. Mary Kay Lafferty, and Mrs. Leatha Kendrick will teach kindergarten pupils. Registration for the program will be August 26, at 7 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. Those interested in registering should call Mrs. James R. Allen at 886-0770.

The funds will be used to provide for blacktop resurfacing of the Allen-Banner road, Black Main and Stone streets, and both drainage and blacktop resurfacing of Depot Street.

The work will be done by the city with the state's Bureau of Highways financing all or a portion of it in accordance with the municipal aid agreement.

Consumer Comments

By Atty. Gen. Ed Hancecock

Don't let insects "bug" you—but don't let pest control salespersons "bug" you, either. If a sales person comes to your door offering a free inspection, stop him. Our office has received several letters from consumers who complain they spent hundreds of dollars on unsuccessful treatments for insects and found the only thing that was exterminated was their bank accounts.

If you are told you have termites, beetles or other insects or bugs, don't panic or rush into signing a contract. A warning that your house is in severe danger may be nothing more than a scare tactic to make you sign a contract faster. An offer of a discount "today only" is another tactic designed to convince the consumer to sign a contract which is far more expensive than most other companies.

Before you do anything, get the opinion of two other pest control companies as to whether or not there is a problem. If the companies do not agree, or you have doubts as to whether or not you have insects, write to the Director, Pest and Noxious Weed Control, Department of Agriculture, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Their inspection team may be able to help.

Once you have determined that there is an insect problem, obtain price estimates for any needed work. All estimates should be put in writing, and each should describe the exact method of extermination to be used. Find out if periodic inspections are included in the cost, and ask that this information and any guarantees be put in writing, as well. Also, check the company's record with the Better Business Bureau.

All pest control companies must be licensed by the Department of Agriculture. The company's name and license number should appear on all service vehicles regularly used and each salesperson should carry an identification card issued by the Department of Agriculture.

If you have complaints about pest control inspection or service, write to the Division of Pest and Noxious Weed Control at the Department of Agriculture, and send a copy of your complaint to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, the Capitol, Room 24, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Ratcliff To Teach Orchestral Strings

Orchestral Strings, which include violin, viola, cello and string bass, will continue this week as part of the Community Service Program at Prestonsburg Community College. Buddy Ratcliff, gifted violinist who resides at Bucks Branch, Martin, is the instructor for the strings. Ratcliff, who plays all four instruments, will be teaching the beginning class for those who have had no lessons on Tuesdays, 6:30-7:45 p.m., starting September 2. For those who have had one or more years on their instruments, the class will meet from 8 to 9:15 p.m. For those who wish to study privately, studio lessons can be arranged.

A goal for this year is to establish one or more chamber ensembles, such as a quartet or quintet, for an orchestra. For more information, call 886-3863, Ext. 208.

Mr. Barker said plans for Phase I call for rental of a fleet of barges, with the bottom of the harbor, and extension of the harbor area farther into the head of the inlet. A dike will be built across the mouth of a hollow joining the lake at the rear of the May Lodge swimming pool to permit use of the hollow as a dumping ground for the 13-14,000 cubic yards of soil to be removed from the harbor area. This is expected to provide a level area which may later be developed in connection with May Lodge grounds or its recreation program.

Phase II is designed to provide docking facilities for a total of 234 boats. The east (lodge) side of the cove will be used for docking houseboats, with both electric power and drinking water provided. All smaller craft will be docked on the opposite side of the cove.

Phase II also will include a new shop or renovated dock building and bath shed.

The court received from residents of the Goble-Roberts Addition, a petition bearing 307 signatures, asking the repair and opening of the bridge across the Big Sandy at Knotley Hollow. Metal flooring of the span was asked. The petition pointed out that the access road to the Goble-Roberts Addition was built and is maintained by the Kentucky Road Oiling Co., that the road is crossed by the C. & O. Railway tracks and that trains coming up the track from 30 to 40 minutes. During such occasions, residents claim, that section of Prestonsburg would be cut off in an emergency from ambulance and fire department service, if only the access road is to be used.

They've convinced me that we should let the stunk alone, individually and collectively, and not go around creating a stink in the neighborhood.

"WHAT'S FAIR FOR THE COHO . . ." It's quite possible that the Falcon Coal Company experiment in grape-growing on stripmined land will be successful. We hope it is.

But the plan to convert those grapes into wine hits a snag with us. We have no desire to grow legislative halls, butonhole legislators and lobby for this or that. But we subscribe to the principle of equal opportunity. For which reason, so help us, if the state approves a winery for those grapes I will insist upon a friend of mine who grows a hillside patch of corn, and all others like him, being given the right to convert his grain into a beverage, also.

THE SALMON EXPERIMENT

Fred Harris has for some time now been aware of my interest in hybrid fish, particularly in this cross of a reekfish and a white bass which has been tested in lakes of the area and which I've insisted deserve a chance at survival in Dewey Lake. So it was that Mr. Harris, the other morning, handed me a sheet, headed, "Coho Salmon Experiments in Lake Michigan."

This report I pass on to you who may read:

"The Coho," not being a native of the Lake Michigan waters, has experienced difficulty in surviving. The female, when going up the Lake Michigan feeder streams, has been losing her roe on the rocky bottoms, and when she got far enough upstream in the small pools and creeks, had great difficulty getting back into the mainstream over the sand bars, etc. In fact, as high as 90 pct. were dying in the upper reaches of the Lake Michigan tributaries, which caused a pollution and odor problem.

The Lake Michigan Department of Fishing decided to crossbreed the "Coho" with the native "Walleye" for two reasons: (1) The "Walleye" had the strength and knowledge to get through the Lake Michigan tributaries and (2) was not prone to lose the roe while going upstream. This new species was named "CoWal". However, in crossbreeding the fish that the "Coho" was noted for, was lost to the more sluggish tendencies of the "Walleye".

To combat this sluggishness, the experiment went further. They bred the "CoWal" with the greatest river water fighter in North America, the "Muskie". This created a hybrid, double crossbreed and introduced a top American Game Fish. They named this hybrid the "Co-Wal-Ski" and they now have to teach the dumb so-and-so to swim.

They may want to rewrite the Warsaw Pact after that one.

Collins-Tussey

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stumbo, of Martin, announce the marriage of their daughter, Linda Faye Collins, and Raymond Tussey, of Columbus, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tussey, of Denton, Ky., on July 7.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Mark Stumbo. The reception was held, following the ceremony, at the home of the bride and Mrs. Ronnie Adams, of Columbus.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Hawaii and are now residing at 139 Amsterdam, Columbus, O. Mrs. M. Tussey is a supervisor at the Owens-Illinois plant.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By JOHN WILSON

The sportsmen of Kentucky, through their purchases of hunting and fishing licenses and through a federal excise tax on hunting and fishing gear, provide virtually all of the financial support for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. License holders also are entitled to participate in the selection of members of the Fish and Wildlife Commission, the governing body of the department.

In return, the department offers a variety of services to the sportsmen of the state and to all the people of Kentucky.

The local conservation officers, whose primary job is enforcing fish and game laws, are the backbone of the department. Without these men, members of the division of law enforcement, modern game and fish management would be extremely difficult, not to mention impossible.

Not only does the conservation officer control the illegal taking of fish and game, but he also—through the intimate knowledge of his local territory—serves as an indispensable aid to members of the department's other divisions.

He will often, for example, help game biologists in their research, management or survey projects. These biologists, members of the division of game management, engage in research projects to determine the problems and needs of wildlife. They also conduct annual surveys to determine wildlife population trends, surveys which form the basis of the yearly hunting season lengths and bag limits. The game management division is also in charge of the state's wildlife management areas and runs the popular Game Farm near Frankfort.

Biologists with the division of fisheries also conduct annual surveys to determine population trends of Kentucky's game fish and they do lake and stream water quality investigations and in vestigate cases of water pollution which cause fish kills.

Another important aspect of the fisheries division's activities is stocking fish from rainbow trout, brook trout, mountain streams to giant rockfish or musky into large lakes. The farm pond stocking program, which provides pond owners with free bass, bluegill and channel catfish, is a popular part of this division's activities.

The department's division of conservation education employs 19 full time teachers, who pay monthly visits to over 100,000 fifth and sixth graders throughout the state with lessons on wildlife conservation and outdoor safety. During the summer, this division also operates three camps for the youngsters who have participated in the school program.

The division of public relations, through its weekly television and radio programs, "Happy Hunting Ground" magazine, newspaper articles, brochures and pamphlets, attempts to keep the state's sportsmen informed about hunting and fishing conditions throughout the Commonwealth, about game laws and regulations and about current projects and policies of the department.

A small, but important division is engineering, whose four employees engage in a variety of activities, including land surveying, building design and construction on departmental property and other related work. Several of the state-owned lakes around Kentucky were planned and built by this division.

The fiscal control division is in charge of printing and distributing licenses, keeping payroll records and making sure the books balance.

The administration of the department is handled by the commissioner appointed by the Fish and Wildlife Commission and the assistant commissioner. Also included under the administrative section is the departmental attorney.

These, then, are some of the activities the sportsmen of Kentucky support through their hunting and fishing licenses. The sportsmen benefit from these activities through continued quality hunting and fishing, but all the people of the Commonwealth also benefit, both directly and indirectly, from bountiful fields and forests and from clean, productive streams and lakes.

UNITED METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The United Methodist Women met Monday night, Aug. 4 at the church with Elizabeth Ramey presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by Gertrude Bradbury. After a business session the meeting was turned over to Christine Ball and Mary Roberts. Christine read the scripture from 1st Cor. and 1st Timothy. The program topic was to create and re-create. A beautiful assortment of handmade items were on display. Mrs. Roberts had each one describe their interest in craft and creative expressions. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Alice Ball and Hope Whitten to, Elizabeth Ramey, Goldie Baldrige, Alice Harris, Lack Roberts, Mary J. Brown, Patsy Brown, Geneva Carter, Katherine Stephens, Gertrude Bradbury, Eleanor Horn, Edith Kendrick, Edna C. Greenwood, Mable Brown, Effie Hopkins, Verelita Rinehart, Mable Allen, Christine Ball and Mary K. Roberts.

Traces Beginning Of the Mess

The following materials are excerpts from a lesson response of a home study course on the American Environment recently completed by Bill Deming, of Prestonsburg, RC&D Project Coordinator, Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This discussion of how solid waste is actually disposed of is no reflection on local units of government and private individuals who are feverishly seeking sites for sanitary landfills and other environmentally sound solutions to the problem. County Judge Henry Stumbo, of Floyd county, is especially active and vocal on this issue.

Background: Due to the many streams and narrow valleys of the area, the first settlers, indeed most people even today, built their houses on or near the banks of these streams. It seemed only natural to find a dead cat or a pair of worn out shoes into the creek and let it float away, and besides, the kids' swimming hole was up the creek, and the drinking water came from the spring which ran out of the coal seam at the foot of the hill. At first, this didn't amount to much. There were only a few people in the "holer," and they didn't waste anything. Kitchen garbage (or slop) was fed to hogs or other livestock. Old clothing was "made over" for the "younguns" or given to cousin Jessie. An occasional wooden packing crate was used for a truck to store clothing or quilts or maybe used to cover a crack in the cabin wall. In a few words, there were only a few people, who didn't have much to throw away and the creek was a good place to do it and besides most of what they did throw in the creek was readily degradable.

The foregoing is how it started and became the custom and has continued even to the present time. The population has grown to large proportions, along with ready transportation, changes in social customs, creation of industrial employment and other related factors, which meant that needed goods are purchased and transported to the homes in containers. Americans have become the great containerized society. This is where big trouble starts. The containers are no longer wood, paper or even steel (which rusts readily when exposed to the weather). They are plastic and aluminum which lasts indefinitely. These things, along with table scraps (no hogs or chickens now), worn out machines and scores of other things are still, naturally, being thrown in the creek or out the car window into a road ditch and sometimes concentrated at illegal, uncontrolled "dumps."

The public is not entirely to blame for this area becoming one of the filthiest places in the country. A practical custom simply grew like "Jack's Beanstalk" until it has nearly enveloped us. No area-wide, organized, solid waste pickup and disposal service exists, so the people throw it in the creek, along roadsides, at one of the dumps where they see a big, neat sign saying: "300.00 fee for Litter" and start littering in the face, or living with it. This is the situation in much of the area today.

It is not all bad. All the bigger towns and several smaller communities, and some rural areas, have regularly scheduled solid waste pickup and are making great strides toward disposing of it properly. Units of government are aware of their responsibilities and are making plans for solving the problem for all the people. These units of government are working through the Area Development District, RC&D committees, other resource groups to form solid waste districts, and other action programs to properly dispose of the mess and improve the natural beauty of the area and make it a clean and healthful place to live, work and play.

AT ROTC CAMP

Fl. Riley, Kan.—Cadet Gerald L. Onry is attending annual Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps camp here. He will participate in six weeks of practical field exercises based upon the theories learned in the classroom the past few years. At the conclusion of the program, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Onry, East Point, Ky., is a student at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond.

ERDA Awards $937,000 Contract To Develop Coal Gasification

The U. S. Energy Research and Development Administration has awarded a contract for $937,000 to Paramount Exploration, Inc., Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, for underground coal gasification experiments in West Virginia.

The contractor will drill three directionally controlled wells in the Pittsburgh coal bed, near the village of Princeton, about 50 miles west of Morgantown, West Virginia. The drilling is expected to be completed by November and gas production started by next January.

The coal and surface rights for the wells were provided by the Consolidation Coal Company and the Continental Oil Company.

The wells will be initiated from a near-vertical position and drilled at an angle of approximately 45 degrees per 100 feet approximately 100 feet below the surface, which is the depth of the Pittsburgh coal bed. After the wells have been cased

Wild Greens

Here is another common plant of late summer gardens, called red-stemmed careless or pigweed. Along with lamb's quarters, careless helps to take over the garden along about August. The leaves are large, oval and tinged with red. The stems and roots are deep red. It is said that red-stemmed careless makes a delicious mess of greens when cooked alone. It is mild in flavor and can be pepped up by adding mustard to the greens. Cook the juicy plants lightly, drain, add butter, salt, pepper and a sprinkle of vinegar. In former times, the seeds of pigweed were ground to make mush.

Pigweed, or careless, is one of the coarse greens to feed fat-tening hogs. One of my evening chores as a boy was to cut an armload of careless to feed the fat-tening hogs.

For a real mess of greens, try a combination of the following: Young poke shoots, dandelion, wild beet, curly dock and violet leaves. Cook, season with bacon and sprinkle with vinegar when serving.

I think we need to go back to nature for a source of foods rich in vitamins, minerals, and free from the many adulterated fancy foods of the modern supermarkets. Many of the foods of the modern mass markets have additives and acid preservatives, which are not conducive to good health and proper nutrition.

Mine Depths Yield Rum Haul

Approximately $1,800 worth of whiskey and beer was recovered Wednesday night by county and city law enforcement officers from an abandoned coal mine at the outskirts of Prestonsburg, and Charles "Buck" Joseph was arrested in connection with the raid.

Acting on a search warrant which was obtained after Commonwealth's Detective Doug Lewis had reportedly observed Joseph leaving the mine with two pints of whiskey earlier in the day, Lewis, Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Prestonsburg Policemen Woodrow Lafferty and Keith Lawson returned at nightfall and followed the mine for an estimated quarter-mile. Two hundred sixteen pints of whiskey were found, and 480 cans of beer, which were buried three cases deep at the end of the mine, were also seized. Much of the whiskey was broken or poured out in the mine, it was said. Joseph was charged with possession of alcoholic beverages for purpose of sale. He executed bond the following day.

Wanted in the state of Nevada on a charge of non-support, Eugene Weathers was arrested here last Sunday by State Police Detective Gary Rose and State Trooper Estep on an extradition warrant and lodged in the county jail here. A hearing for Weathers, who executed bond the same day, is set for Friday.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

Charles Hicks, KRS 508-010, by Deputy Sheriffs J. D. Martin and Linzie Hunt; Velva Hicks, KRS 508-080, by Deputy Sheriff Linzie Hunt and Sheriff Joe W. Lewis; David Lee Johnson, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Denver Spurlack; Billy Mitchell, drunk driving and speeding, by State Trooper Williamson; Will Henson, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriff Melvin Martin; Wallace Tackett, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Troopers Estep and Stepp; Kenneth Sells, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Troopers Estep and Stepp; Tom Ray Risner, unlawful imprisonment, by State Trooper Tucker; Darrell Lyons, littering, by State Troopers Stepp and Weedman; Larry Moore, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Trooper Weedman.

618 Attend Reunion

July 13 of Tackett Family

Six hundred eighteen members, relatives and guests of the Tackett family met July 13 at the G. F. Johnson Elementary School on the Long Fork of Shelby Creek in Pike county for the 17th annual Tackett family reunion. In addition to fellowship and dinner, the reunion featured prizes for winners in the following categories: oldest person, youngest person, person who traveled farthest to the reunion, and largest family present. Attending the reunion were family members from Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Florida as well as family members from all sections of Kentucky. Hassell Tackett, founder of the Association, welcomed the group.

Reo Johns, secretary-treasurer of the Reunion Association, announced that the date for the 1976 reunion has been set for August 1. The site has not yet been selected.

The Federal Wage Garnishment Law limits the amount of an employee's disposable earnings which may be garnished in any one week and protects an employee from discharge because of garnishment for any one indebtedness.

Retired Harlan Judge

Succumbs at Lexington

Funeral services for former Harlan Circuit Judge Edward G. Hill, 63, were held Saturday at the Harlan Baptist Church.

Judge Hill died last Wednesday night at U. K. Medical Center after a brief illness.

Burial was in Richmond cemetery, with graveside services there. Hill served as judge of Harlan circuit court for 20 years. He assumed that position in 1953 through appointment by former governor Lawrence Wetherby. Hill succeeded the late Judge Astor Hogg, who left the Harlan bench to take a seat on the Kentucky Court of Appeals. Hill retired as judge of the Harlan court in January.

Hill gained national and state recognition during 1962 and 1963 when he presided over a grand jury investigation into vice and crime in Newport, Ky. Several indictments against major figures resulted from that investigation. He was awarded the Judges Outstanding Service Award in 1967 by the Kentucky Bar Association.

He was also active in community activities and served on the board of trustees of Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Hill was elected to the bench for three terms in Harlan county without opposition. In 1972 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Kentucky Court of Appeals, Seventh Appellate District.

He received an Eastern Kentucky University Outstanding award in 1970 having graduated from the college in 1935. He attended the University of Cincinnati Law School and studied further at Harvard University.

Among survivors is his widow, the former Kathleen Welsh, three children, including Mrs. Lane Hill Gentry, Lexington, and Mrs. V. D. Florence, Jr., Cynthiana and a brother, Walter Hill also of Lexington.

"KEPT"

"The Lord will KEEP the feet of His saints."

(1 Samuel 2:3)

"KEEP" what a lovely word is cherished for us so many times in Scripture, and how much it means to the believer who is the Lord. As we journey along our earthly pilgrimage, the difficulties to be encountered are too great, the temptations too many, the trials too powerful, and the evil in this present world of corruption, lawlessness, and sin, that we need the Lord's help to keep us from being led astray by the evil one.

Let us remind ourselves of the promises concerning the Lord's KEEPING power. He promises to "KEEP" us from all unrighteousness. He promises to "KEEP" us from all temptation. He promises to "KEEP" us from all sin. He promises to "KEEP" us from all evil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all unbelief. He promises to "KEEP" us from all doubt. He promises to "KEEP" us from all fear. He promises to "KEEP" us from all sorrow. He promises to "KEEP" us from all grief. He promises to "KEEP" us from all pain. He promises to "KEEP" us from all death. He promises to "KEEP" us from all hell. He promises to "KEEP" us from all Satan. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the devil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the evil one. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of darkness. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of evil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of hell. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of Satan. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the legions of the wicked. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the enemy. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of the air. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of the devil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the legions of the wicked. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the enemy. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of the air. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of the devil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the legions of the wicked. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the enemy. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of the air. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of the devil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the legions of the wicked. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the enemy. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of the air. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of the devil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the legions of the wicked. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the enemy. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of the air. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of the devil. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the legions of the wicked. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the enemy. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the powers of the air. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the forces of the world. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the hosts of the flesh. He promises to "KEEP" us from all the armies of the devil. ## Red Cross Works as Advocate Of Flood Insurance Program

Did you know if much of Kentucky was suddenly flooded by heavy rainfalls or an overflowing of the Ohio and all its tributaries many Kentucky businessmen and homeowners would be ineligible for Federal financial disaster relief?

Did you also know that since July 1, federal mortgage guarantees and insurance, as well as VA and FHA mortgage loans and commercial and industrial lending by federally insured or regulated financial institutions for construction purposes are no longer available within certain sections of the flood prone areas of Kentucky?

The reason is, says Robert Spangler, manager of the Kentucky Division American Red Cross, "that many areas of our state have not yet either applied or qualified to enter the National Flood Insurance Program."

"The Red Cross is working as an advocate of the program," Mr. Spangler explained, "in an effort to mitigate the disastrous effects on communities and individuals of damages caused each year throughout Kentucky by floods and mudslides."

The National Flood Insurance Program is a comprehensive approach to flood damage protection. For the first time, individual property owners in flood prone areas of Kentucky are able to acquire insurance coverage at affordable rates. At the same time, however, it requires communities with designated flood prone areas to adopt flood plain management regulations to protect against the devastation of future flooding, said Mr. Spangler.

To be eligible for this federally-subsidized insurance protection, he said, the community in which an individual resides must apply to the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and meet the minimum requirements established by FIA for participation in the program. Once an area has been accepted in the program, local insurance agents will sell the policies. (Floyd county and the cities of Prestonsburg and Wheelwright have been accepted in the program. —Ed.)

EXPLANATION

The Oliver Hall who was listed in The Times last week as having been arrested on charges of drunk driving and attempting to elude officers is not the Oliver Hall who resides at Galveston, in this county.

To be accepted in the program initially, the community must submit an application, part of which requires the adoption of minimum flood plain management regulations, such as a simple building permit system if one does not already exist.

Once the community has fulfilled this simple procedure and is accepted into the program, individual property owners throughout the entire community can immediately purchase subsidized insurance to cover losses up to $25,000 on a single dwelling; $100,000 on multi-unit dwellings, and $100,000 on the contents of each unit, and $100,000 on non-residential buildings and $100,000 on their contents. The rate for residential coverage is only $0.25 per $100 of value. Insurance protection for a residence valued at $20,000, for example, would cost the purchaser only $50 per year.

Following acceptance in the program, FIA will contract with a federal agency or private engineering firm to provide the community with flood data, necessary to develop adequate additional flood plain management measures to minimize flood damage. This technical information will include an actuarial rate map enabling property owners to purchase an equal additional amount of non-subsidized insurance at actuarial rates once the additional flood management measure are adopted for their area. A map and study will contain sufficient technical data on the special flood hazard areas of the community to enable it to formulate needed improvements.

Meanwhile, said Mr. Spangler, many property owners in Kentucky will continue to face the risk of uninsured losses caused by flood devastation until the community applies to join the Federal Flood Insurance Program.

Even in the communities that have joined the program, the number of policies that have been written is relatively small according to Mr. Spangler. On March 11 of this year the Kentucky Division of the American Red Cross held a news conference urging those individuals eligible to purchase flood insurance to do so. Shortly thereafter, flooding affected many sections of the Commonwealth. One common lament was heard from property owners affected by the flooding. It was, "I wish I had taken out flood insurance."

Mr. Spangler urged that, "now, before the winter and spring rains hit Kentucky, communities that have not done so should qualify for flood insurance. In those sections of the state where this step has already been taken, the responsibility lies with the individual to purchase flood insurance."

FLOYD PLAYERS ON POST 150 TEAM. Six Floyd countians helped lead Salyersville's Post 150 American Legion baseball team to a winning season in its first year. Post 150 concluded the season last week when it fell to eventual District 10 champions, Pikeville. Greg Dixon, of Prestonsburg, was the mainstay of the team's pitching staff with a 6-2 record, including a no-hit performance against Winchester. Ricky Pack, of Allen Central, and Jeff Burchett also turned in fine mound performances. Mike Dixon, of Prestonsburg and Tom Murphy were mainstays in the team's offensive efforts, batting third and fourth, respectively, in the batting order. Keith Frasure, of Allen Central, absent from the photo, was used as a utility infielder. Curt Reed Burchett, of the Auxier road served as co-manager of the team, along with Tim Bostic, of Salyersville. Pictured, from left, front row, are Tony Murphy, Allen Central, Greg Dixon, Prestonsburg, Jerry Patrick, Tim Salyer, second row—David May, Frank Smith, Jr., Dale Minix, Stan Howard and Mike Dixon, Prestonsburg, back row—Kenneth Hoskins, Curt Reed Burchett, co-manager, Ricky Pack, Allen Central, Tim Bostic, manager, and Jeff Burchett, Prestonsburg.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., August 4—Fishing for bass in Kentucky is a little better this week, with fair to good catches reported on several major lakes. Bluegill and crappie fishing also remains fair to good. The lake-by-lake rundown, as compiled by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

Kentucky: Bluegill excellent on worms, crickets and flyrod poppers; white bass good jugging inlets and bays and out in the lake; below dam, catfish fair, sauger slow to fair; clear, stable, 2 1/2 feet below pool and 82 degrees.

Burley: White bass good in jumps; black bass fair on spinner baits and artificial nightcrawlers over submerged cover and drop-offs, below dam, catfish good, white bass slow, clear, slowly falling, two feet below pool and 82 degrees.

Rough River: Bluegill good in the south fork around deep banks; white bass fair trolling deep runners with trailers off rocky points and deep banks; black bass fair casting artificial nightcrawlers at night over drop-offs, clear, stable and 83 degrees.

Laurel: Crappie good around stick-ups; bluegill good over submerged cover; clear, stable and 82 degrees.

Buckhorn: Bluegill good off deep banks, white bass fair trolling spinners off points and in inlets and bays; below dam, trout slow, clear, stable, one foot below pool and 86 degrees.

Nolin: Bluegill good over submerged cover, black bass fair trolling deep runners off rocky points and casting artificial nightcrawlers over drop-offs at night; clear, rising slowly, four feet below pool and 84 degrees.

Herrington: Black bass fair on soft crawfish during the day and casting artificial nightcrawlers at night along rocky points and deep to deep; bluegill fair drift fishing deep banks, clear, stable and 84 degrees.

Cumberland: Black bass fair trolling deep runners off rocky points and muddy banks on the upper lake; crappie fair at the heads of deep covers over submerged cover, below dam, trout excellent, white bass and crappie fair to good; clear, stable, 30 feet below timberline and 86 degrees.

Dewey: Bluegill fair along deep banks; crappie fair over submerged cover; clear to murky to muddy, stable and 87 degrees.

Green: Black bass fair to good casting artificial nightcrawlers at night and trolling deep runners during the day on the lower lake around rocky points and drop-offs; crappie good on the upper lake over submerged cover, below dam, trout fair, clear, rising slowly, 40 feet below pool and 84 degrees.

Fishtrap: Catfish good on trout lines and limb lines using minnows and cut bait; crappie slow round stick-ups, below dam, trout slow, clear, stable and 82 degrees.

Grayson: Catfish good in the upper lake off muddy banks at night; bluegill slow in inlets and bays, crappie slow over submerged cover, below dam, trout fair, clear, stable and 82 degrees.

Luxmore Guarantees Students Needed Help Is Available

PIKEVILLE, Ky.—"We are offering you the opportunity to succeed in college and I will guarantee a student who needs financial aid will not be turned away."

It may sound like an ad in the newspaper or a commercial on radio or television, but Paul Luxmore tells this to all newcomers at Pikeville College.

Luxmore heads the new federally-funded Special Services Program at the 86-year-old college.

It is Luxmore's desire to find 60 students among the college community who, because of academic or social problems, may not finish college. Said Luxmore, "The total social and academic structure of the student may not be geared to the social structure on campus. Whether or not a student has the ability to succeed is not the question. This (college) establishment itself turns off students.

"In many cases, what we as college professors fear," he continued, "is a young person from a non-professional home trying to cope with a professor who knows nothing but academic surroundings. It's difficult for both to understand."

Under the Special Services Program, Luxmore, an aide, and a team of nine college students will counsel lower classmen in a wide range of potential problem areas.

Luxmore said, "We must first determine which students need help. During freshman orientation we will test the students and determine where they need academic help. After the series of tests, students will be counseled in the academic areas. From that point, students will be referred by their professors when they make a low grade, or the student himself may come to us for help. Our team of students will then take over with individual tutoring sessions. First we want to tutor a student with his individual problem, then have group study sessions the night before an exam."

"The end product," said Luxmore, is a student who may have quit after one semester, finishing college.

The Special Services Program is jointly funded by Pikeville College and the Office of Education.

A certain tract or parcel of land lying in Floyd County, Kentucky, on Big Mud Creek near mouth of Tucker Fork, containing four acres, more or less, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at Highway 979 running up the hill with John D. Martin line 150 feet and then around the hill following the John D. Martin line to the center of a drain; thence up the drain to the John D. Martin line to the Henry Hamilton line; thence up the hill to the Jimmy Mitchell line; thence down the road to the beginning, and this being all the interest that Nollie Hamilton and Alpha Gean Hamilton, his wife, have in said boundary.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $3,807.91 with interest thereon at 6 percent annually from the 19 day of June 1975 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or surplus, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 21st day of July 1975.

Although the nationwide employment service system was created in 1953 with passage of the Wagner-Peyser Act, there were municipal and a few state employment services before World War I and a labor distribution system to provide workers for wheat and fruit harvests before that.

A recently completed Bureau of Labor Statistics study estimates that approximately 765,000 systems analysts, programmers, computer operating personnel, and data processing machine repairers were employed in 1970 - a growth of several hundred percent since 1960.

Wed in July 5 Ceremony

Sama Clark Branch of the Freewill Baptist Church was the setting on July 5 for the candlelight wedding of Miss Teresa Gayle Howell and Mr. Charles Azza Conn. The Rev. Robert Owens, of Dana, Ky., was the officiating minister. Miss Howell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howell, of Grethel, Ky. Mr. Conn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Conn, of Dana, Ky.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore for her wedding a long gown of white tulle, with a waist-length veil and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Katherine Akers, aunt of the groom, was matron of honor. Mr. James Akers, uncle of the groom, served as best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Karen Conn, sister of the groom, Miss Glyn Clark and Miss Diana Hall, friends of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Mike Howell, brother of the bride, Mr. Dale Conn, brother of the groom, and Mr. Tim Collins, friend of the family.

The bride's mother wore a pink street-length dress with a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue print street-length dress with a corsage of blue carnations.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Billy Jean Osborne.

A reception was held in the kitchen of the church where Miss Sharon Mitchell and Mrs. Pearl Hall served as hostesses.

The four-tiered wedding cake, was baked by Miss Sharon Mitchell.

The couple will live at Hartford, Ky., where Mr. Conn is employed by the Peabody Coal Co.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
 Health Educator

Every boy and girl should have a complete physical examination before entering school. Hearing and vision should be tested and heart, posture and weight should be checked by his or her family physician.

But an examination will be of little value without necessary follow-up. These tests should be made early enough for any defects to be corrected before the school opening date.

When the child has his physical examination is the best time to consider his immunity to communicable diseases. Don't make the mistake of thinking that, once your child has been immunized, the protection will last indefinitely, because it won't. You must keep his immunity up to date. All children should be fully immunized against diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles and rubella before enrolling in school.

If you have forgotten when your child received vaccinations for various diseases, ask your physician or call the Floyd County Health Department for his immunizations record. Every boy and girl deserves a clean bill of health for that first day he enrolls in school.

The Floyd County Health Department announces it will conduct a pap smear clinic Thursday, August 7, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Each year Kentucky physicians may report as many as 1,000 new cases of cervical cancer, but by means of this simple test signs which foretell the development of this kind of cancer can be seen even before the obvious symptoms are noted by the woman or her doctor.

Remember too, that in order to have continuing protection against cervical cancer, you must have a regular pap smear at least once a year. Deaths caused by cervical cancer could be completely eliminated if all women would take this simple precautionary step.

This clinic is free and open to all women.

The Floyd County Health Department announces that on Monday, August 11, a public health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland. Clinic hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the following services being available: immunizations, hemoglobins, TB skin tests, diabetes screening and blood pressures. This clinic is free and open to the public.

The health department would like to take this opportunity to remind all Floyd county parents whose children will be enrolling in the first grade this fall that it is very important that they check their children's immunizations record to see if their children have had all their required immunizations, since certain immunizations are required before a child can be eligible to enroll in school.

Glaucoma is a disease that can slowly and painlessly cause blindness. During the first stages of glaucoma, pressure of the fluid within the eye increases, damaging the nerve fibers which are a major link in the process of seeing. It often takes years for any noticeable warning symptoms to show up and by the time a person realizes what is happening serious and permanent eye damage can occur. For this reason, glaucoma must frequently occur in persons over 35 years of age.

The Floyd County Health Department is conducting a glaucoma clinic Wednesday, August 13, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The health department urges all persons over 35 years of age to take advantage of this free service.

Island Creek Coal Shares in $25,000 Contribution to ARH

Lexington, Ky.—The Island Creek Coal Company and its parent firm, Occidental Petroleum Corp., have made a $25,000 contribution to Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc.

The check was presented last Wednesday to ARH President David K. Heydinger, M. D., by James Rouse, Island Creek's manager of personnel services.

Rouse said the gift was a joint effort of both firms "to further the work of Appalachian Regional Hospitals." ARH operates a network of 10 community hospitals in Island Creek's area of operations in eastern Kentucky, southern West Virginia and southwest Virginia.

ALC's Upward Bound Presents 'Dirty Works at the Crossroads'

The 1975 Upward Bound program of Alice Lloyd College presented Bill Johnson's funny Gay 90's melodrama, "Dirty Works at the Crossroads," in Cushing Hall on the college campus, Monday and Tuesday, August 4 and 5.

The play is the hilarious portrayal of the traditional villain, good guy and heroine plot made famous by the silent movies of yesteryear.

The story revolves around the innocent Nellie Lovelace who is pursued by the evil villain, Munro Murgatroyd. The hero is Adam, the stalwart blacksmith's son. Complete with a railroad tracks climax, the play winds its way through romance, poisonings, comedy and tragedy.

The cast of the play is made up of area students who are participating in this summer's Upward Bound Program at Alice Lloyd College. Upward Bound is a special summer project designed to give area high school age students an early glimpse of college life and help prepare them for their future education by way of special classes and cultural activities.

The cast of players included: Kathy Tackett, of Dorton, as Nellie Lovelace, the true and tender heroine; Edsel Brannham, of Virgie, as the brave but bashful hero, Adam Oakhart; Kay Craft, of Wayland, as the sweet and simple widow Lovelace; Robin Smith, of McDowell, as the deep and dyed Ida Rhinegold; Mike Hughes, of Martin, as the rude and rustic Mookie Maguaggins; Susan Bradley, of Wayland, as Mrs. Upton Asterbilt, high society from Newport and Brooklyn; Alvi Farler, of Viper, as Leonie, Mrs. Asterbilt's daughter and a Madison Avenue belle; McCletha Tackett, of Dorton, as the Asterbilt's French maid, and Lealisa Akers, of Betsy Layne, as the fatherless Lattie Nell. Ervin Polly Jenkins, made a guest appearance as the villainous, Munro Murgatroyd. Polly, an ALC graduate, is a member of the college's Summer Theatre troupe.

Director of "Dirty Works at the Crossroads," Alan Donovan, is a graduate student at Florida State University. Musical director, Mark Rice, director of the Salyersville High School band is an eight-year veteran of the ALC Upward Bound Program.

Eliza Meets Mrs. Higgins

Professor Henry Higgins (Benjamin Middaugh) puts his experiment of turning a guttersnipe into a lady to the crucial test by introducing his protégée, Eliza Doolittle (Beth McVey) to his snobbish and discriminating mother, Mrs. Higgins (Pam Middaugh). MY FAIR LADY opens tonight (Wednesday) at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre and runs Wednesday, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays at 8:30 p.m. through August 16.

Confusion on Dewey Camping Regulations Persists, Corps Says

According to a U. S. Army Corps of Engineers spokesman at Dewey Dam, visitors to Dewey Lake and Jenny Wiley State Park continue to be confused concerning designated camping areas.

"Much of our time is taken up issuing warnings and informing people they are illegally camped," said Ranger Robert Beverly. He explained that there are four designated camping areas on the lake and that outside these areas, anything besides picnicking is not allowed. The "legal" camping areas include the broad point directly across the lake from Terry's Boat Dock, an area across and immediately down the lake from the Stratton Branch swimming area, the Corps camping grounds in the German Bridge area and the state park camping area on Goble Branch.

Most other areas along the lakeshore are marked with either "No Camping" or "Picnic Only" signs, the ranger said.

The Nifty Weather Machine: It's a total heating- air conditioning system.

There have been a lot of changes in comfort systems since Dave Lennox rolled out his first furnace in 1891. Now there are Lennox nifty weather machines that warm, cool, clean the air and even control the moisture in homes and buildings.

And there's a super service organization to back them up. Just in case. Get out from under the weather with a Lennox nifty weather machine.

Region 11 Directors Meet

The KEDR 11 (ROPEs Region 11) board of directors met July 29 at the regional office with the chairman, Charles F. Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools, presiding. New board members attending the meeting were Herald Whitaker, superintendent of Magoffin county schools, and Dr. Curtis Phipps, director of the Division of Guidance. Dr. Phipps will represent the Department of Education on the board. Reo Johns, Region 11 executive director, announced that a basketball clinic, sponsored by Region 11 and the Kentucky High School Athletic Association, will be held at Prestonsburg High School, September 15, 16, 18, 23, and 25 under the direction of Ed Rister, assistant secretary for this region. Johns also told the board that educational development regions in western Kentucky are urging the removal of sales tax on utilities for school districts. Johns was asked by the board to investigate the effect of this removal on school districts in eastern Kentucky.

Larry Jervis, Region 11 curriculum consultant, discussed Right to Read staff development activities to be held at Clark Elementary School, August 4-8 and Aug. 11-14. Activities were formulated by the Right to Read planning committee and will be carried out with an $8,100 grant for implementation of the committee's plans. Participating in the workshop will be three elementary teachers and the principal from each of seven pilot schools in Region 11. Schools chosen by superintendents to participate are: McDowell Elementary, Oil Springs, Salysville Elementary, Grassville Elementary, Sycamore Elementary, Paintsville Elementary and Pikeville Elementary. Bronelle Skaggs, director of Vocational Programs for the region, discussed construction of additional vocational education facilities in the region. Under construction are centers at Belfry and Salysville. Although not yet under construction, a new building for Mayo State Vocational-Technical School and a vocational education center for Johnson County have been approved. Construction of the Johnson county center is contingent on availability of funds. Tony Koester, Division of Program Development, Bureau of Instruction, discussed consumer education guidelines established by the Department of Education. He urged that consumer education be included in all schools. Koester also distributed copies of consumer education guidelines and pledged the support of the Department of Education in curriculum development services.

Don Burchett, area guidance consultant, and Dr. Curtis Phipps, director of the Division of Guidance, they discussed a placement program which will be implemented in Region 11 during the coming school year. Mechanics of the plan will involve receiving information about high school graduates with regard to what they do after leaving high school. When implemented, this plan will provide a vehicle whereby school districts can evaluate curriculum as to effectiveness in preparing students for post-secondary schools or the world of work.

Also discussed by Burchett and Phipps was the possibility of school districts combining funds under Title IV-B, P. L. 93-380, to provide the services of a regional psychometrists. If employed, this person would oversee and coordinate the testing and placement efforts of the local school districts. Also appearing before the board was Mrs. Ann Meade, of Paintsville. Mrs. Meade discussed the school in Paintsville being established by the United Parents of Handicapped Children. One classroom unit of the school will be opened in October.

Board action included: Endorsement of project applications submitted by the Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program, Inc., Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, Berea College, and the Department of Justice; approval of the appointment of Lawton Ray Allen, CPA, as auditor for KEDR XI; approval of Right to Read Project expenditures.

Miller Alleges Fuel 'Gobbleup'

United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller said last week that all sources of energy in the United States are being "rapidly gobbleup" by a few giant conglomerates and urged a Senate committee to take action to restore free competition in the energy market.

Miller said the latest example of monopoly control in the energy field is the acquisition of control of Amstar, Inc., the nation's fourth largest coal producer, by Standard Oil of California, the nation's fourth largest oil producer.

In a letter to Senator Philip Hart, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly, and members of the Subcommittee, dated August 1st, Miller called the Amstar acquisition by SoCal the latest in a long series of takeovers of major coal producers by oil interests.

Miller said that 15 of the top 20 coal producers in the United States are wholly-owned subsidiaries of larger corporations with oil interests controlling more than 40 per cent of the nation's coal production.

Based on Highway Users Federation statistics, a four person carpool can save each member an average of $570 a year if they drive 10 miles to work each day.

But the Words Keep on Ringing

I write this poem intense and grave For the land of the free And the home of the brave.

To all of those who came and went on people's land without consent.

Stripping the mountains of her land and trees, Polluting the land with their debris.

To all of those with power and money Who'd rob the bees of their sweet honey.

And to the Almighty Saint, D-9 Who's raped our land so many times.

The following verse, I dedicate

Out of sadness, fear and hate For man and nature's heartless plea

To all those blinded by their greed Who dis-acknowledge environmental—

To all of you who came and went:

Oh, please Mr. Stripminer, Help us to restore our land. Since you're the one who ruined it, Can't you lend a helping hand?

I've seen some reclamation jobs—very poor indeed. I've seen our green streams choking. Oh, how our woodlands bleed.

Nature's God's creation, sensitive to the cruel Someday when we awaken, she'll prove she can't be fooled.

Oh, please, Mr. Corporation, don't destroy this land and flee. But help us to restore it for yours and mine and me.

Bring out the government cannon, enforce the laws you've made For the sobbing dirge of nature, for the colours of time and place.

But the words just keep on ringing thru the hills that used to be And pass over the home of the rich and brave to the land of the poor and free.

—Sally Ann Goebel (Adv.)

FIVE FLORIDIANS ARE JAILED FOR HARVESTING WILD SEA OATS

FOLLY, Ala. — Five Floridians were arrested and jailed recently on charges of harvesting wild sea oats, from Alabama's Gulf shore.

Chief Jailer Jimmy Hartner said at Bay Minette he did not recall any previous arrests on that charge.

Signaling the beach warn: "Unlawful to harvest sea oats" on the basis that the three foot tall weeds help prevent erosion.

Sea oats are sometimes used for decorations but have no other practical use after harvesting.

95-Year-Old Mountain Academy Schedules Annual Homecoming

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Hazel Green Academy stands on a knoll overlooking the Wolfe county community of Hazel Green, which was named for the lush growth of hazel bushes. On Aug. 8-10 the school will open its doors to the annual homecoming of former students, faculty and friends, who will spend the greater part of three days reminiscing, visiting, remembered trysting places and catching up on news of school and old friends.

One approach to the beautiful town near the headwaters of the Red River is along a tree-lined road that provides a foothill for the academy, beginning its 95th year this fall.

When homecomers gather the second week end in August, familiar landmarks may be seen, as well as improvements about the spacious campus and academy farm.

At the school's 75th anniversary homecoming, Association President J. Goff Long commented that HGA "has had a glorious past, and we look forward to the years that lie ahead as the sphere of its service is enlarged."

The academy was founded in 1880 and bears as its motto: "Where we find a path or make one." Its students have crossed mountains to find it, traveled through valleys and "come up from the Bluegrass" to become educated at the "Light in the Hills."

Academy Director George Buchanan acknowledges an old law of the school—as old as its original founders, Green Berry Swango, William O. Mize and J. Taylor Day—that "no student will be turned away from the academy because he cannot pay his way. We have some who pay less than $10 a month. All students, regardless of financial background, work."

From HGA's beginning, when classes were held in makeshift structures in Hazel Green, the student body was diversified in background. There were some who walked from small hill shacks to mingle with other students who arrived by horse and livery from stables of elegant homes. Yet, all had in common the work and training in Christian education they received at the academy.

All work at the academy has a purpose, according to Buchanan and, while practical, we do not want it to be classed as drudgery.

From that early year when three area men each gave $500 to start the Light in the Hills, many people have contributed to the cause.

Back in 1906, when William H. Card resigned as principal at HGA, a Berea College man replaced him. Henry J. Derthick knew that funds had to be raised to enlarge the school, so much of his time was spent riding his horse to preach in area counties. His offerings were brought to the academy and used to build additions or to hire a new faculty member.

Derthick was invited out of state to preach on occasion and here, too, he managed to inject HGA's need for money. In Detroit, Mich., one Sunday he learned that a faithful member was ill and unable to be in church. He made a point to call unannounced on her. It was at the Edsel Ford estate, and Mrs. Ford left her bed to order the infusion from the premises with "No, this is a private home and I demand that you leave."

When she learned that the caller was a minister and from her church, she in addition ministered home and asked him to return a month later for another visit during the second visit. Mrs. Ford explained that she had longed "for a son in the ministry, but death deprived me of this wish." Throughout the friendship, Mrs. Ford made sizeable contributions to Hazel Green Academy. Ford Industrial Building on the campus is a result of her gifts.

Through the years, the academy has been known for its culture. It has one of the oldest music and literature programs in the area. Once a school for all 12 grades, HGA now is a four-year high school and expects about 100 students this year. Albert B. Osborne, former superintendent of Clyde (Ohio) public schools, has been hired as principal. Like many principals and faculty members before him, Osborne is a minister in the Disciples of Christ Christian Church. The homecoming program will begin Friday evening, Aug. 8, when visitors register and enjoy a social hour. The popular fish fry is set for Saturday night, followed by a talent show directed by Rex Brewer. The Sunday homecoming sermon at nearby Hazel Green Christian Church will be delivered by the Rev. Don Bickers, class of '62 Association President. Fran Harmon requests that reservations be made with Mrs. George Buchanan at the academy.

NEWS OF THE MARTIN COMMUNITY

Mrs. Jacqueline Justice returned home this week from Florence, Ky. after a three-week visit with her sister, Mrs. Joe Howard, and Mr. Howard.

Jimmie Thacker, of Lexington, visited his mother, Mrs. Alma Campbell, here Thursday.

Mrs. Hazel Adams and grandson, Paul David Wells, are visiting Mrs. Adams' sister, Mrs. Mary Robinette, in Dayton, Ohio this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dougie Compton, of Pikeville, formerly of Martin, have just returned from a trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina and Daytona Beach, Florida. While in South Carolina they visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dermont and son, Joe, former residents of Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Allen and sons, Timothy and Phillip, returned this week from a two-week vacation spent in Dewey, Oklahoma. They visited their son, Anthony Craig Allen who works for the Delbert Kyler-K Ranch there.

Curt Layne, of Albion, has returned from a vacation spent in Michigan, where he visited his sons, Robert Layne, of Marshall, and Eddie Dean Layne, of Albion. He also visited relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Denney Atkins, of Battle Creek, and attended a camp meeting in Marshall, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Moore and daughter, Sharon, and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Greene and children, of Minnie, have recently returned from a visit to Sebring, Florida. While there they visited Daytona Beach and Disney World. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Moore and daughter were guests of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edgel Moore.

Mrs. Martha Chaffins has been confined to her home for several days with a broken ankle.

Mrs. Jennie Arrington returned Thursday from a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howard, of Florence, Ky.

Sgt. Major and Mrs. Ronald Osborn and son, Clifton Owen, of Fort Bliss, Texas, were guests last week of his mother, Mrs. Allie Anderson, Mrs. Sally Osborn and other relatives. They were en route to their new station, near Frankfurt, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Jenkins, daughter Tammy and Mrs. Charles Twiss and daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Louie Jenkins, of Ravencliff, W. Va., this week-end. They planned to visit also in Kopperston, W. Va. where Mr. Jenkins and Mrs. Twiss formerly lived.

Mrs. Wilma Mae Stout, Mrs. Nadine Conley and Mrs. Joy Messer returned Thursday from Kansas City, Missouri where they visited Mrs. Stout's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gilstrap. Mrs. Gilstrap and daughter Stephanie returned with them for a visit. Mrs. Elaine Maggard and Mrs. Kathleen Moore were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Allen. While here they attended the Summer Music Theatre at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Sonya Compton, granddaughter of Mrs. Louise Compton, of Hite, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dougie Compton, of Pikeville, recently celebrated her second birthday at the home of her grandmother. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Erman Wadley, Mrs. Debbie Billiter and son, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Taylor and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Terry and children, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Howard and daughter, Mrs. Jake Chick, Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Prater, Barry Collier and little Miss Margaret Ann Chick.

Sgt. and Mrs. James M. Osborn and daughter Missy, of Frankfurt, Germany, visited his mother, Mrs. Allie Anderson, last week while en route to Savannah, Georgia where they will be stationed.

Mrs. Myrtle Dye of Huntington, W. Va., visited her aunt, Mrs. Sally Osborn, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Osborn, Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Hazel Creech, of St. Marys, Ohio, is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ratliff, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hackworth and children, Mary Jo and Mike, of Huntington, W. Va., are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Gardis Dingus, this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ratcliffe, of Morehead, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Hansford, of Elyria, Ohio, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spencer and other relatives here last week-end.

Mrs. Magdolene Peters, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Fanny Branham, who is ill at her home here. She was accompanied here by friends, Rodney and Timothy Duley, who returned to their home in Washington after a short visit.

Recent guests of Martin and Little Hammonds were her brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rufford Rudy Hamilton, of St. Louis, Missouri, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hamilton and daughter, Valerie, of Wilmington, Delaware. They also visited their brother, Bill Hamilton, of McDowell, and a sister Mrs. Marie Clark, of Pikeville, while they were here.

Appalachian Heritage: A Portrait of Mountain Life

"Your work, Appalachian Heritage, is a sensitive portrait of life in Appalachia. It is a very human magazine, a messenger which helps to explain the ordinals and triumphs of our people," so wrote one prominent contributor to Al Stewart, the editor of the quarterly magazine published at Alice Lloyd College. The publication strives to portray the life of the people of the Appalachian region in a truthful and unadorned way.

Stewart, who founded the magazine and now serves as its editor, has long been a defender of the individuality of Appalachian people. "Southern Appalachia," he says, "is not one little generalized statement but a tremendous experience." Stewart complies with vigor when the people of the mountains are portrayed as ignorant, uninteresting, and near-savage by people who know little of how life in Appalachia really is. Appalachian Heritage does not attempt to paint a perfect picture of the Appalachian region. Rather it admits the shortcomings of the area while pointing to the creativity and individuality of the people who live there.

In the most recent issue, the diversity of Appalachian life is underscored by way of the many subjects discussed between its covers. Literature, art, folklore, moonshining and coal mining are just a few of the areas touched on by the magazine's outstanding contributors. This latest issue discusses the reaction of the people of Asheville to Thomas Wolfe's great novel, Look Homeward Angel, a story written about real characters in the hometown of the author. Thomas Wolfe's difficult beginnings with Look Homeward Angel and the intimate way he described those around him make the first part of Betty Lynch Williams's three part discussion stimulating reading.

The remainder of the issue presents stories and poems from contributors from all across the Appalachian region. In "The Bewitched Cow," Henry P. Sealf tells a story of pride and witchcraft told to him by "Blind" John Adkins of Pike County, Kentucky. "Quiet Dignity" and "Addie" written by Betty Peterson and Mary Alice Arrowood offer tales of incidents in life so real in subject and description that many will relate them into their own past. Harriette Arrowood's "No Ruts in the Mines" is a vivid recollection of the dangers of coal mining as presented by an old miner and Mrs. Arrowood's own feelings concerning mine safety. "The Ballad of Jimmy Ray Jones" by William Wiser discusses the familiar Appalachian theme of moonshining and its often tragic consequences. "Hand-Made Quilts for Sale" is a description of how the old time way of making beautiful quilts by hand is still carried on enthusiastically in the mountain region. These and many other stories make up 75 to 100 pages of some of the most interesting and honest writing to be found on the subject of Appalachia.

The American Folklore Newsletter of El Paso, Texas, described Appalachian Heritage as a "professional, impressive, and thoroughly absorbing" publication. The Library Journal noted that Appalachian Heritage has "an intrinsic honesty, unusual for regional magazines" and that it is "a worthy addition for any library."

Appalachian Heritage editor, Al Stewart, summed up the latest issue of the magazine by referring to the section on Thomas Wolfe. "Wolfe had genuine people not stereotypes. His characters were real Appalachian people and they have come to be some of the greatest characters in all literature. Once the stereotype is stripped away Appalachian people emerge as a diverse and interesting people."

One avid reader wrote in and said, "I received the Spring issue and think its wonderful. I am enclosing a check for $9.00 for a two year subscription. I can't afford it but I want it so much. I think I will call it my birthday gift to myself—I will be 70 years old on Sunday." If you would like to join the over 1500 readers of Appalachian Heritage simply send $9.00 for a one year subscription or $9.00 for a two year subscription to Appalachian Heritage, Box 132, Pippa Passes, Kentucky 40364. Subscription rates will go up soon due to the increased costs of publication.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

N & W Coal Co., Resources Development Corp., Commonwealth of Kentucky Department of Revenue, Department of Economic Security (now Department for Human Resources), and United States of America, Internal Revenue Service v. Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the July 1 term, 1975 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 8th day of August, 1975 at 11:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the Floyd Circuit Court, for $500.00 cash to be paid at the time of the sale and the remainder in cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land lying in Floyd County, Kentucky, being lot No. 79 in the Dewey Lake View, Inc., subdivision as shown by plat or map on file in the office of the Clerk of the Floyd County Court in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to which reference is made for a more particular description.

Being the same land conveyed to the defendant, N & W Coal Co., by deed duly recorded in the Floyd County Court Clerk's office of the Commonwealth of Kentucky in Deed Book 204, page 528; and being the same land conveyed to the defendant, Resources Development Corporation, by deed duly recorded in the Floyd County Court Clerk's office of the Commonwealth of Kentucky in Deed Book 210, page 433.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $15,646.40 with interest thereon at 6 percent annually from the 1st day of July, 1975 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 21st day of July, 1975.

Soil Insecticides Sale Suspended

Frankfort, Ky. — The sale of chlordane and heptachlor soil insecticides which are widely used in Kentucky corn production has been suspended by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency. Manufacturers of the two insecticides have been given until Aug. 2 to appeal to the suspension.

According to Fred Waters, chief of the pesticides section in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the head of the federal agency, Russell Train, suspended the insecticides July 30 after classifying them as an eminent cancer hazard. Chlordane and heptachlor are root and soil insecticides used commonly in controlling corn insects, such as corn rootworms, cutworms and white grubs. Use of chlordane for controlling termites is not included in the suspension order. However, most manufacturers say they cannot economically produce it for this minor use only.

The federal environmental agency is allowing the manufacturers and formulators of the chemicals five days to appeal the decision. After five days, any manufacturer who hasn't appealed is prohibited from selling the products. A stop sell order issued for companies that don't appeal will make it illegal for them to sell the products.

Since informing formulators in Kentucky of the action, the state pesticides office has received complaints that without use of these insecticides, corn yields in certain cool damp soils of western Kentucky may be reduced by as much as 40 per cent.

IN APPRECIATION

We, the family of John Morgan (Son) Stumba, wish to express our appreciation to all those who were so kind to us during our time of bereavement. We would especially like to thank the staff at Mountain Manor Nursing Home for their tender care. Our heartfelt thanks to the ministers of the United Baptist Church for their comforting words. We also wish to express our gratitude to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Mr. and Mrs. Corky Patton and children are moving into their home which they recently purchased at Laner. Mr. and Mrs. Milford Bryant bought the Patton house here and have already moved here from South Williamson, Ky.

Mrs. Earl Edward Webb, Tommy, Steve and Keith and Mrs. Earl Webb were shopping in Ashland, Thursday. Glennis Ramey, of Alexandria, Ky., was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey, several days last week. He also visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thurnal Click.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Jerry and Sheila, Swanton, Ohio, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Lewis and Tommy Moore. Mrs. Kay Frasure and Teresa, of Sidney, Ohio, spent several days here visiting her mother, Mrs. Hallie Webb, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Rob Lewis and Tommy Moore have been attending a revival conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Layne, of Marion, Ohio, at the Freewill Baptist Church at Lackey where Rev. Brodey Amburgey is pastor.

Mrs. Marie Martin and Yvette have been the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ramey and Tim in Alexandria, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jones and children, of Newcastle, Ind., have been here due to the illness of his mother, Mrs. Noleka Jones.

Floyd Gets $3,459 To Promote Travel

Frankfort, Ky.—Floyd county is now eligible for $3,459.82 in the state's 1975-76 matching funds program.

Of the statewide total of $329,700 allocated in the governor's budget for the matching funds program, the five-county Big Sandy region is eligible for $13,819.86.

The statewide allocation is an increase of $80,300 over last fiscal year's total, and Floyd county's allocation is $937.10 more than last year's.

Each county's allocation is determined by distributing one-fourth of the statewide total equally among the Commonwealth's 120 counties, with the remaining 75 per cent distributed on a per capita basis.

The matching funds program seeks to continue and develop programs which promote Kentucky's travel industry. The programs are of a regional and local nature, with the option of the most effective means of promotion left up to each area.

The promotions can be in the form of mass media advertising (radio, television, newspaper, magazine, billboard), promotional literature featuring local or regional attractions and points of interest, or through participation in sport and travel shows.
