Suff Writer With temperatures sparing into the 90s, students at Adams Middle School are finding it difficult to concentrate on learning when their classroom tem-peratures match those outside. Problems with the three-year-old school's air conditioning units have the school system's new locitities di-rector hurrying to solve the problem. Greg Adams, who began his du-ties on August 16, said Tuesday that maintenance workers are trying to find out why two of the school's four air conditioning units are on the blink. "I went up there this morning and called the maintenance during and had some help come durt and we started trouble shooting," Adams said Tuesday, "We found out that zone three and four, which are the

Minutes, minutes, who's got the minutes?

by Scott Perry

We confess to be totally and completely buffled by the deceptive practices local officials employing to finalize the development of a horse track, convention center in Floyd County

The latest head-scratcher was provided Monday by the Floyd County Public Properties Cor poration in what fans of Perry Mason might have called The Case of the Mysterious Min-

Last week we received via the fax machine an agenda for Monday evening's special meeting of the properties corp complete with what was purported to be the minutes of two previous meetings The only problem was that these so-called minutes didn't reflect what actually transpired at those meetings. Then, over our objections, the property corp. approved a set of minutes at its Monday evening meeting, without reading or pro-viding copies to the media and without comment on our questions about potential inactura-

When questioned after the meeting about differences in the minutes faxed to us and the actual events that transpired, one member of the property corp. admitted the purported minutes were maccurate. Confused?

Wait, there's more. On Tuesday, we obtained another copy of the special meet-ing minutes which differed greatly from the set we had re-ceived by fax.

This set, which County Clerk Carla Boyd said was delivered to her after Monday's meeting and after we objected to the original set, came closer to recording the prior meetings' actual events but still lacked complete accu-racy. To top that off, we can't find anyone who'll own up to writing either set of minutes. Here's the $64 question... What the heck-is going on?

Ever since this project was first proposed it has drawn unbelievable public support or accep-tance, but that approval doesn't give developers the authority to make the rules up as they go. As long as public money is involved, the public trust must be maintained

These shenanigans don't get that job done very well at all.

Eastern Kentucky lost a good friend and an irreplaceable asset this week with the death of Martin County Judge-Executive John Callaham.

Judge Callaham was a tireless booster of his home county and a constant supporter of regional projects designed to better our way of life in the Big Sandy. He was as comfortable roaming the halls of Frankfort's bureaucracy as he was walking the streets of Inez in fact, travelers from our area to the state capital were as likely to bump into John Callaham as they were their elected representatives.

His persistence often paid off, and his departure will create a sizable void that not likely to be filled soon. We'll miss him.

Kentucky is in a financial pinch so severe that education funding has been cut, agency budgets have been sliced, tax refund checks have been delayed and some state employees are prob-ably going to lose their jobs. So, how do our legislators respond to the crisis?

They push ahead with plans to spend some $3 million to provide themselves with executive-style private offices. That's an average of about $22,000 per legislator who, for comparison's sake, spends about 3.2 days per month working on state business Now, class, do you have a better understanding why Kentucky is in a financial pinch so severe.

The nerve of them guys.

The U.S. Treasury Department's his-torical association is offering, for a mere eleven bucks, commemorative ornaments marking the 80th anniversary of the 16th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

That particular amendment, in case you're interested, authorized the national income tax

For some reason, we don't feel like celebrating the occasion ...

For 39 years, eleven months and ten days we counted ourselves among the fortunate...the visually unimpaired.

We left those ranks Monday to be-come one of the multitudes who must rely on the aid of spectacles to achieve an in-focus picture of the spectacles of life or, more specifically, the fine print on the printed page. The good news is we have to use the things only while reading. The bad news, as you might expect for someone in the newspaper business, is that accounts for about every waking hour.

In the world of machines, this physical deterioration is known as "planned obsolescence." Mother Nature just calls it "turning forty."

$1/2 million and nothing to show

Editor: Why should the Betsy Layne Grade School addition be canceled? What is a juviliable reason for can-cellation of this project after the ex-penditure of 1/2-million laxpayer dollars? We don't know. What we do know is that the Floyd County Local Planning Committee (LRC) recommended completion of the BLGS project the LPC was made up of people from different sections of the county administrators, teach-ers and parents). Two of the reasons the LPC res-is maneful completion were:

Two of the reasons the LPC re-ommended completion were: "The addition of the existing Beesy Layne site is the most cost effective approach in adding good classrooms and eliminating portables in the county. The site is already owned and the basketball facility on the site clum-nates the need for a physical educa-tion facility."..."The district the al-ready invested $451000 in the site and planning. ## Send "Prayers" to Congress

Editor:

Editor: A recent U.S. Supreme Court de-cision ruled a prayer at a graduation service to be illegal. As a result, many high schools in this country canceled the baccalaureate service from their 1993 regular high school graduation exercises.

Editor: Our commonwealth finds itself in a fiscal vrisis where expenses exceed $300 million. In the last three years; with annual budget shortfalls of be-tween $300 million, and $100 million, the State Revenue Cabinet has sim-ply withhed incrome taxrefunds from Kentucky taxpayers until the next exercises. tion workers in Kentucky ranges from approximately $8.50/hour (for un-skilled labor) to $13.00/hour (for jour-neymen), plus fringes, Yet, the "pre-vailing wages" established by the Department of Labor in Frankfort generally range from $12.00 to in excessof $20.00 per hour, plus fringes which are often two to three times the going rate. As a result, the taxpayers of Kentucky must shoulder an in-creased cost burden of approximately 15 cents on every $1.00 of the state lunded "prevailing wage" construc-tion. Additionally, these "prevailing wages" apply to some local projects in which there is no state funding at all. all

STEAMER'S BABY MULE I've received many comments concerning the article I wrote about Doc Randall, the medicine man from Persia, Tennessee. Another medicine man who is equally captivating is Doc McConnell whose story about his brother, Steamer, has long been Doe McConnell whose story about his brother. Steamer, has long been one of my favorites. Doe's folks lived in an isolated community called Tucker's Knob. All of the family self-sufficient and Steamer wanted to do his part, too. He was fascinated by mules and sgot be notion that he could do all sorts of odd jobs if he just had a little mule. "If had a little baby mule, wby I'd nurse it and feed it and take care of it." he told his father each night at the supper table. "When it gets up to be about three or four feet tall, I could start using it topull a small side. Then when it grows a little more I can plow with it. We'd plow every com patch bors about mules and where he could fud one. Alltes seemed to think about bors about mules and where he could find one. All bescement o think about was wanting a little baby mule with soft fluffy fur and big floppy cars. "Mormy, do you think Santa will bring me a little baby mule at Christ-mas," he asked as his mother hung clothes on the line. She was able to pacify him with a "maybe, hut I don't think so."

He went with his father to town and as his father took care of busi-ness, Steamer was busy asking everyone about mules.

"Do 'yah know anyone who has a itter of mules that I might be able to get a little baby mule out of," he asked. "I'd even take a little ole' runt, just as long as it has nice soft fluffy fur and big old long floppy ears and big old borg floppy ears and just as long as it has nice soft fluffy fur and big old long floppy ears and big old bind legs." Onone Saturday the men at Mark's Country Store saw Steamer coming and planned to trick him. John Mark had just received a shipment of coco nuts—the first ever in those parts of Tennessee. He put the box of coco-nuts right where Steamer couldn't help but see them. After entering the store, Steamer started to ask John Mark about a litter of mules when he noticed those big brown hairy coconuts. He had never John said with a straight face. "Them things is mule eggs. One hundred percent pure American hred mule eggs. Haven't you ever seen a mule egg before?" "A mule egg." Steamer said in awe of what he saw. "Yeah, a mule egg. There's a old mare mule what laid these eggs over there in the thicket this morning. We found them things and put them in the basket and brought them over here. "You know how hen eggs are. You take them out to the hen house and put them under an old hen, let that old hen set on them for about two weeks. That old hen keeps them eggs good and warm, and they batch out. That shell just opens up and out comes a little baby chicken. "Mule eggs is exactly the same way. "Does your husband. know how you really feel about your funeral...?"

Talking about your own funeral may be uncomfortable for you. But if you don't talk about it now, your spouse will have to take care of it... alone. Isn't it good to know you can arrange your funeral ahead of timewith Forethought' funeral planning. When the time comes, a single call to our funeral home should be all that's needed. # I'M GORMON COLLINS SR., AND I WANT TO BE YOUR NEXT COUNTY JUDGE FLOYD COUNTIANS, ASK YOURSELF:

taught two years with Lexington layette Urban Co. Govit

Private lessons available upon request

Who should you blame for jobs lost due to coal mines and businesses closing?

Who should be providing leadership to bring industry into Floyd County (Not minimum wage jobs but good-paying jobs with security)?

Who's to blame when you can't get good water up your hollow?

Who's to blame when you receive a property tax bill you can't pay, that's based on an evaluation that is unreal (you can't sell it for what they say it's worth)?

Do you wonder if your new tax bill will be mailed before November, and how much higher it will be?

Who's to blame for you paying millions of dollars on your phone bills for a 911 service you still don't have?

Who's to blame when big, rich cable TV companies charge huge prices for snow on a few channels?

Who's to blame if your garbage collection is bankrupt after millions of dollars have been poured into the system, and where is the money?

THE ANSWER IS YOUR COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

I am Gormon Collins SR., candidate for Floyd County Judge Executive. Most people seek office for money and power. I seek this office for one four-year term - no more, because I see a county going backwards in terms of a place to live and raise a family.

I can change the direction Floyd County is going because of my experience and ability.

Owner Furniture-Hardware Store, Lackey, 15 years Owner WDOC-WQHY Radio Station

I have the experience to be your next County Judge Executive. As your judge, I will run our meetings, and welcome input from you, the taxpaver.

My office staff will be friendly, helpful, and will answer to you, the taxpaying citizen. I will be open to you at all times, so you can discuss your problems with be or my staff. Paid for by Eva Collins, Treasurer 59 First Ave., Prestonaburg

Camp Incredikids for asthmatic children sponsored by Highlands Medical Center

Running, jumping, playing games, and participating in sports are all con-sidered routine childhood activities for healthy children. However, for for healthy children. However, for children with asthma, any type of physical activity brings with it the possibility of triggering an asthma attack. Ask any parent of an asth-matic child about what happens when their child has an asthma attack and they will relate a variety of incidences ranging from slight coughing spasms to severe respiratory problems sume-times requiring hospitalization.

times requiring hospitalization. This summer, for the first time in Eastern Kenteky, children with asthma had the opportunity to attend summer caup and participate in a variety of activities they would oth-ervise have been unable to partici-pate inbecause of their asthma. Camp incredikids, held July 19-23 at Ar-cher Park in Prestonshurg, was a free week-long day camp forchildren ages 7-13 who have moderate to severe subma. The camp was cosponsored by the American Lang Association of Kentucky and Highlands Keginnal Medical Center.

Medical Center. Camp Incredikids was staffed by a team of physicians, respiratory therapists, and nurses. Sonia Shell from Paintsville, a representative of the Kentucky Lung Association, and Margo Bayes, R.N.C. chincial man-ager of the pediatris department at Highlands Regional Medical Center organized the camp.

organized the camp. Eleven children attended Camp Incredikids, Supervised activities in-cluded swimming, skating, tennis, softball, basktball, and arts and crafts. An important component of the camp was asthma education. Breathing exercises and relaxation techniques were among the topics discussed to help the children better understand and manage their asthma. Asthma is a condition caused by in inherent sensitivity or twitchiness in the airways (breathing to r bron-child tubes). During an asthma attack the muscles around the airways partially closed (Bronchoconstriction). Next the lining of the airways wells and closed (Bronchoconstriction). Next the lining of the airways swells and pushes inward (a condition known as edema) taking up more space and leaving less room for air to pass through. Then the mucous glands begin to secrete more mucous than is needed and cause a further blockage of the airways. In addition, the mu-cous may become thick and stringy and form plugs in the airways. The wheezing sound that is typical of asthma is caused by air forcing its way through the narrowed airways and vibrating the mucous. During a serious asthma attack, the lungs become orapped in the air sake behind the points of obstruc-tion in the narrowed airways. Even after breathing out as hard as pas-shile, air remains trapped deep in the ungs and becomes stale and contains excessive amounts of carbon dioxie the. The carbon dioxie taden air excessive amounts of carbon diox-ide. The carbon dioxide laden air sends signals to the brain that the body's supply of oxygen is not ad-equate. The breathing control center then directs the involuntary nervous system to speed up the rate of breath-ing to overcome this deficit of oxy-gen, which explains why children breather rapidly during an ashuma at-tack. Asthma attacks occur sporadi-cally and can vary in severity, de-pending on the degree and location of the airway blockage. Some children the airway blockage. Some children outgrow asthma, Others do not.

Asthma is different from other Astima is different from other chronic lung problems because the symptoms of asduna are reversible. This means that normal breathing can resome in most children with asthma until something triggers the next attack.

next attack. Medicines help control asthma, but as with most other medications, must be taken as prescribed in order to do their job effectively. Serious asthma attacks can often be prevented by avoiding situations that trigger asthma, such as pollen, dust, mold, animal dander, smoke, emotional stress, and too much exercise. Asthma attacks that get progres-sively worse and do not respond to ing an attack require emergency treat-mentin a hospital or a doctor's office. Highlands nurses volunteering Highlands nurses volunteering lieft services as camp nurses were Margo Bayes, R. The 1903 school year has just began. But for the South Floyd cheerleaders and Mellasa Turner, a senior at South Floyd'. It has been a hany summer. Turner was manued to the Universal Cheerleaders Association (UCA) All-Star squad and will be representing South Floyd High School as one the members of the 10-member squad. By being manued to the search Turner will get to tour Europe this year. She will be taking part in the Queer's New Year's Day Parade in London, Turner will be taking for Europe on December 26 with the other nine girls. Turner will be following in the footsteps of her sister Margle Les Turner who was named to the same squad in 1990. Mellasa had been a cheerleader at McDowell High School for the past three years until McDowell consolidated with Wheelwright this year. The South Floyd cheerleaders, although in just their first year, have already been impressive in summer campa.

The South Floyd cheerleaders, although in just their first year, have already been impressive in summer camps. Attending the UCA summer camp this year, they won the UCA Leadership Award, only one of which was given for each camp. The local squad also won the camps' spirit sticks, and received a superior trophy and superior fibbons; a first for this area. South Floyd includes eight members from McDowell and seven from Wheelwright. The squad is sponsored by Linda Terrar.

WALTER BRUGH Paintsville High football coach Walter Brugh is 'quietly' closing in on Gamis Martin's record as the Blueon Gamis Martin's record as the Blue-grass State's all-time leader in high school coaching victories. Martin had 271 in 38 years. Brugh began his 38th last week against Shehy Valley with 268. It is a wonderful statistic for football fans to play with and that's the idea. A few years ago only the coaches themselves had a clue (maybe) how many times their tearns had won. Then, in 1984 a fan wrote Sports In Ky, to as who the all-time leader was.

One of the most productive sum-mertime areas to fish is the boat docks. They are known for holding the big-gest of Keepers. You see, when the weather gets hot, the hass take cover. And what better place for them to go than under a boat dock. Docks supply them with many advantages such as shade and cooler water temperatures. They can also provide many more if they are built at the right place. For the fishermen, the key is to figure out which docks are best at holding the larger fish. Here are some tips. hey didn't like. Hooray! Tilfany was elated to find she wasin Mrs. Walker's fount geade class. She even has homework the first day of school. Her homework was to take the letters of the alpha-bet and write descriptive words of people. She loved it all, except the X that is. But what I found interesting

X that is. But what I found interesting was the packet Mrs. Walker in-cluded to parents. For example: Did you know: "The average parent spends 14 1/2 minutes each day communi-cating with each child. What these findings could mean to gardeners in the future is that they to gardeners in the future is that they may be growing a tomato that has a valuable gene—such as for drough resistance—that's borrowed from a wild potato. That's in contrast to today spractice of crossbreeding only the same species, whether tomato or potato, to capture a desirable trait Actually, Potatose and tomatoes once were classified together in Scharm In 1753, Swedish biologist Carl immeus put them in that getus Shorty thereafter. English bioanist Philip Miller moved iomatoes into the genus I yeopersion. Scientists, have debated the issue ever since "I think we've made a good case that the polotion and iomato are sister species that belong in the same ge-nus," Sponer said 14 stadid the name debate is likely to continue. "Scien-tists aren't required to use Solanum or Lycopersicon for tomatoes, they can use whichever one they wish. It will be interesting to see which name scientists use in four research pa-pers." # USDA's "Farm" to document sustainable ways to grow crops

by Don Comis

by Don Comis Tomato plants are driving with-out chemical fertilizers this summer on a U.S. Department of Agriculture farm outside Washington, D.C. Hairy vector plants make the dif-ference. They are used as a mulch miscal of plants to cover the soil around tomato plants. "Vetch fixes its own nutrogen and slowly releases it as own nutrogen and slowly releases it as fertilizer for the tomatoes," says it as fertilizer for the tomatoes," says Donald D. Bills at the Beltsville, Md., research center. "Our experiments this summer "Our experiments this summer have shown that vetch eliminates the need for adding any nitrogen fertil-iter," he adds: "As a result, the toma-tees look as healthy and tall as plants that have 150 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer added per arer." The tomato plots are part of a new sustamable aprenulture projecheaded by Bihls for USDA's Agracultural Research Service at Beltsville. Sei-entsis are dexumenting the results of using 11the or no farm chemicals on using 11the or no farm chemicals soft various crops, from tomatoes to straw-berries, broccoli, corn, soybeans and other beams ther beaus. Plant physiologist Arel A. Abdul-Baki, who started the tomato-vetch experiments several years ago, says he at first used only half the chemical fortilizer usually applied on conven-tional tomato fields. Now he will use no chemical fortilizer. He says the vech also squelches weeds, keeps away major insect pests, reducets soil erosian, addsorganic matter and helps the soil hold more water. Bills says that tomatoes planted in vetch has averaged 20 percent higher yields at lower operating costs. "Any alternative system that balances en-vironmental and financial concerns of farming over the long run is sushe at first used only half the chemical and the second strange with of farming over the long run is sus-tainable agriculture."

Whenever possible, he says "what's used on the farm should come from the farm and stay on the farm. Vetch is an example and so is our recycling of manure from the dairy barns onto crop fields."

Faints only they factors. Farmers and representatives of agribusiness and agencies that help farmers are "working with us and regularly touring the project sites," Bills says. "Maryland farmers will serve on an advisory board, helping us deliver answers to farmers." (Ag-ricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture)

The Floyd County Times-Wednesday, September 1, 1993

by Mike Capuzzo

I have some very good news for those of you who have committed the unforgivable lapse of not paying attention to your cat at all times and therefore discovered that Morris has leaped 30 stories out an open window: HE WILL LAND ON HIS STOMACH AND NOT BE HURT.

Scientists in New York City have proven this remarkable phenomenon in a study of 132 cats that fell an average of 5.5 stories out of tall buildings: Ninety percent of them survived, including Sabrina, who fell 32 stories and chipped a tooth and was hungry because she'd traveled a long way without eating. SPECIAL NOTE: Dr. Wayne

Whitney and Dr. Cheryl Mehlaff of the Animal Medical Center in Manhattan have had their lives ruined by reporting this research, and they want to emphasize THEY DID NOT THROW 132 CATS OUT OF SKYSCRAPER WINDOWS ON PURPOSE. The cats just feil. Since High-Rise Syndrome, or HRS, has been reported from Los Angeles to Miami to Washington, D.C., this summer, "Wild Things' offers a safety guide to Frequent-Flier Felines:

 Move to a Higher Floor. Among 13 felines that fell more than nine floors, there was only one fracture and no deaths. This is because after falling about five stories, cats spread their wings like squirrels, scientists suppose, parachuting to the ground on their bellies and softening the impact. Cats are believed to have nine lives because of their remarkable ability to land on their feet, but HRS superstars survive by landing stomach-first. In shorter falls, cats do land on their feet, causing greater injury (fractures and hemor-rhages are common), but few deaths. • Don't Try This at Home. Cats, remarkably, study the horizon (even at night) and torque themselves right-side-up for a proper landing in the FIRST THREE FEET OF A FALL. Then they reach a maximum speed of 60 miles per hour while cruising in for a gentle landing. Humans, however, tumble out of skyscraper windows at disastrous angles and reach an impres-sive maximum speed of 120 miles per hour. People cannot be taught to right themselves like cats, experts say. It's innate · Don't Assume Cat Intelligence. If cats are so graceful and smart, why do they fall out of open windows? Sixty-four percent of "high-fliers" are 2-1/2 years or younger and are making the bad judgments of young creatures everywhere. Cats, so confident of their superior balance, commonly play on open ledges, leap for insects or tumble in playful kitty duos out the window. In Dade County, Fla., where a Himalayan named Bailey is the HRS record-holder with a 24-story injury-free flight, cats leap after taunting birds. "The cat leaps at the bird. The bird flies away. The cat keeps going," says a Miami vet. "Cats are instinctive hunters." Alas, cats can't judge depth. Ten stories looks like two stories to them.

• Don't Let Your Dogs Try This. Dogs are more careful around the window ledge, but in 81 cases in New York City over several years, canines chased, among other things, a squirrel, cat, another dog—and, in one case, a burglar—right out the window. Dogs also reach impressive speeds in midair and don't fare as well as cats landing on sidewalks from great distances.

Indian Pipe grows in clusters from the dark fertile mold of decaying leaves. Instead of leaves, it has scales and must take its nutrients from the roots of other plants or from decaying organic matter.

It is no wonder it is also called ghost flower or corpse plant. The plant has a pale, ghostly appearance. It turns black when touched by human hands. It feels clammy to the the touch.

It was named Indian Pipe by early settlers, probably because when it begins to grow, it ressembles a longstemmed pipe. As it reaches maturity, it droops its head and resembles whiterobed nuns.

Indians crushed the plant into pulp, steeped it in water and then used it as a lotion to treat certain eye ailments and injuries.

Each town in Kentucky has its place in history. Take, for instance, the town of Hodgenville, located about 43 miles south of Louisville. It can boast that it gave birth to the end of slavery. The town lists one of the United States' most famous presidents among its native sons.

Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth president of the United States, was bom on February 12, 1809 near Hodgenville, on the Sinking Spring Farm on the south fork of the Nolin River. His father, Thomas Lincoln, a carpenter, cabinet maker and farmer, purchased 350 acres of land on Nolin Creek in 1808.

The family lived in a one-room, dirt-floored log cabin when Lincoln was born. Abraham Lincoln was named after his grandfather Abraham, who was killed by Indians while working near his cabin in the wildemess near Green River.

The land at Nolin Creek proved barren. When Lincoln was two, his family moved about seven miles northeast to Knob Creek. Lincoln always said his earliest memories were of the time he spent on the farm at Knob Creek.

He and his sister Sarah learned to read and write in a small backwoods school near the farm. He also helped his family plant corn and pumpkin seeds and in later years told of watching a hard rain wash all the seeds away.

Much of the lore of the young Lincoln revolves around his time in Kentucky.

Speculation during Lincoln's term in office made the rounds that Lincoln was illegitimate. To quash the rumors Lincoln wrote to county officials at the place of his birth and asked for a copy of his parents, Nancy Hanks and Thomas Lincoln's, marriage bonds. Hardin County courthouse officials wrote back that they did not have the marriage bond. This fired the gossips, and Lincoln went to his grave believing that his could not obtain land title to his do property, Lincoln once said the rat move across the Ohio River was ma partly because Kentuckians were seven miles northeast of Hodgenville. Though Hodgenville did not officially exist as a town when Lincoln was born, the settlement was a social center of activity. The settlement kept growing and in 1818 the Hardin County Court created the town of Hodgenville at the request of the widow and sons of Robert Hodgen, an Englishman who moved to Kenucky from Pennsylvania.

Robert Hodgen built a mill in 1789 on the North Fork of the Nolin River. The mill was located near Phillips' Fort which was built in 1781.

The town became incorporated on February 18, 1839 and became the county seat on March 4, 1843 when Larue County was created out of Hardin County. The county of Hardin County. The county courthouse was built in 1844.

The Civil War came to Hodgenville. On October 13, 1861, North and South skirmished on the streets of the town. Confederate guerrillas burned the county courthouse on October 23, 1861. The Confederate troops burned the courthouse because it had been used to house Federal troops.

A second courthouse was constructed in 1866 using the foundations of the first. A third courthouse was built in 1964.

The Civil War slowed the economy in Hodgenville, and farm prices became unstable. But then the railroad came through town and with it came an economic boom. The Illinois Central Railroad

The Illinois Central Railroad (now Illinois Central Gulf) opened Larue County to markets in the South and West when it built a spur from Hodgenville to Elizabethtown.

Hodgenville has continued to grow. The population in 1970 was 2,562; in 1980, 2,531 and in 1990, 2,721. Its economy has mainly remained agricultural, but the manufacture of clothing and lumber products has aided the economy.

Herman Porter is a walking-talking history of the community of Allen — at least about the events of this century. He even lives on the site of the town's namesake pioneer store. During his 88 years as a resident of Allen,

During his 88 years as a resident of Allen, he has lived through the Great Fire of 1924, witnessed several train wrecks, and survived at least six floods. He saw gunfights in the street, the paving of main street, the advent of electric lights, the telephone and refrigeration, and he put in the town's first modern water plant and cable television system.

What Porter doesn't know about the town's first hundred years can be gleaned from history books, namely The History of Floyd County.

Unlike several Eastern Kentucky towns that were established by coal development, water

settled along a creek bank known as the Mouth of Beaver Creek. The land, now known as Old Allen, was owned by Thomas Jefferson Allen (1848-1920) who had been deeded the land by his father-in- law William J. Mayo. Allen took advantage of the water transportation afforded by the creek by building a general store nearby. The store became a drop-off point for steamboats and barges that delivered products from Ashland. The boats then carried farm products to points on the Big Sandy River. The store became known as Allen's Place and the community became known as Allen.

From the time of its establishment until recent years, Allen was a hub of activity, serving as a distributing point for supplies going up Beaver Creek. In 1902, construction of a line of the Big Sandy Railway was started and then finished with the first engine crossing the Beaver Creek Railway Bridge November 4, 1905. The Allen Post Office opened May 16, 1905 and twice a day mail was brought from the nearby C & O Railroad Station.

The town had a stave mill that built oak barrels for the liquor industry, a hardware store and four hotels, among other businesses. Churches and schools were established. The town was extended in the 1940s when

The four was exceeded an umber of houses in what is now known as New Allen. The Big Sandy River separates the two sections. Old Allen was incorporated in 1913 and has its own mayor and city government. New Allen remains unicorporated.

Porter, born in 1905, has sharp memories of his early childhood. His parents, Mr, and Mrs. Henry Porter, owned Mountain Hotel located in the heart of town. "Traveling salesmen would stay all night with us," he recalled. "Father had 12 to 14 horses. Salesmen would take them and would ride them up Beaver Creck and make their sales rounds and come back in about three days with the horses. Then the salesmen went back to their main store in Huntington. People ordered from the salesmen and then picked up their orders at Allen depot." He said the town "was a hub during World

He said the town "was a hub during World War I. It was a rushing place. They put in the mines up Beaver Creek and were shipping coal through Allen for the war."

The occupations were farming, oil and gas well drilling, coal mining, and sawmilling. "There was kind of a variety of businesses," he said, including a doctor's office and a casket shop, which were kept busy when Porter was a boy. "There were feuds here. They shot each other in the streets. It was like the Wild West. One shooting was during an election. "Garfield Wright was a policeman and he was a nervy fellow with the drunks and he had a Wild West style. He got right up with them. He got shot and he killed others." April 24, 1924 was the day of the Great Fire.

"It was a windy day," Porter remembered. "At that time we had coal fires in a hearth in the houses. The wind would blow through the chimneys. The fire started at Bill Malone's when sparks blew out of the hearth and caught his house on fire. The fire was an inferno. It was over with in a couple of hours because of the wind. No one could fight the fires. We had to save our lives. I was trying to help my father take the washing machine out. We had to drop it and run for our lives. No one was injured. Some animals got burned up was all." In a couple of hours, 29 houses, most of the hotels (including his father's), several other husinesses and the Allen depot were leveled. "The fire was so hot it burned the railroad track," Porter said. "They couldn't run the trains until workers came and straightened out the track." The townspeople rebuilt and, by 1926, the town had a grocery, a hardware store, a newspaper and printing company and a new depot. His family didn't rebuild their hotel, he said. Instead, Standard Oil placed a gasoline and oil plant on the site. His father held the first light plant distributorship and he helped his father sell and install Delco light plants in houses. "When electric lights were installed, people came from all over to see," he said. The lighting system ran on batteries. "Gradually, the batteries got old and wore out, so we hooked onto the (Appalachian) Power Company." Until 1937, when the government paved main street, the town "had no roads," he said. "We drove oxen and mule teams. In the summertime the roads were dry and you could go places."

The town was the site of a few train wrecks, he said. But the most memorable one occurred during World War II. A train transporting solders derailed near the town bridge. "The soldiers milkedthe cows and ate everything up in town. Some went AWOL while they were here. The engineer kept blowing the whistle. They like to never got them back on the train."

His father was the first to sell refrigerators. "My father sold them at Prestonsburg and all over," Porter said.

His father got out of the refrigeration business when World War II caused a slump in the refrigeration market and he opened a coal mine at Salisbury. His father also installed the first telephone lines in Allen. Meanwhile, Porter built the first modern water filtration plant and later he wired the city's first television cable system.

The town was inundated with floods in 1937, 1946, 1957, 1962, 1977, and 1984. The worse flood got up to 30 inches in his house. "I spent more money on repairing the house than I did on building it," he said. "Everyhody built their houses back."

Though the town has faced many setbacks throughout its history, the townspeople are survivors. And a new generation of leadership promises a bright future for the city.

promises a bright future for the city. Mayor Chris Waugh said that after years of decline, "a lot of exciting things are happening in the city of Allen"— one thingbeing a city sewer project due to start in less than a year. "The town is on the upswing." he said. Next month: Auxier

In recent years, a school of thought has developed to suggest that Eastern Kentuckians should take more notice of our state's motto: We should stand together more often.

Such thinking led directly to the creation of two groups working to unite Eastern Kentucky in the critical areas of jobs creation and leader ship development-the Eastern Kentucky Leadership Foundation and the East Kentucky Corporation.

Both of these groups include leaders from throughout the mountain counties who realize that when we divide and compete with one another we are more apt to fall-and fail. When we are united and work together we can win.

An industrial plant in one mountain county brings benefits to neighboring counties as well. We have seen this with the American Standard Plant in Johnson County, which employs many Floyd Countians.

Pike County's success in attracting its cookie factory helped Floyd County's efforts to bring in the new lighting plant near Martin. The same principles should guide us in how we work to improve Floyd County Suggesting that the county courthouse be moved from Prestonsburg to another town in the county sets us into an unhealthy competition that divides our local cities.

Such a move would bring no new benefits to Floyd Countians. The Courthouse and the jobs for people working there are already in our county

Moving them to another town in the county, would have a disastrous economic effect on Prestonsburg, but would not improve the over all economic welfare of Floyd County. It is more like robbing Peter to pay Paul. The Floyd County government and the individual cities in the county have had a good working relationship over the past few years. Judge Stumbo, the Fiscal Court, the other Mayors and myself, have worked on many joint projects, including jobs development, tourism, roads and community programs.

Prestonsburg is spending more than $100,000 per year on tourism promotion and advertising-not just for the city but for the entire county.

One result has been that Floyd County is one of the few in Kentucky to show an increase in the dollars spent here by tourists year after year

In fact, in the last five years, tourist spend-ing in Floyd County increased by nearly $6 million, going from $16.3 million to $22.2 million. And 162 new jobs were created in our tourism industry-about as many as a small factory

By agreement, while the city focuses on tourism, the county is working on economic development, for which it created the Floyd County Economic Development Commission.

Just this month, through its efforts, Floyd County was able to announce the new lighting plant which will create 60 new jobs the first year and up to 300 in three years.

Competition can be healthy but I would rather see Prestonsburg or Martin or Allen or Wayland or Wheelwright compete with Winchester for a new plant's home office than to be in competition to take that plant's office from one of us and give it to another.

As I leave the Mayor's office in December I hope we will continue in this direction-all Floyd Countians working together in a united effort to build a better Floyd County, Because united we stand-and succeed.

by Jackie Edford Owens Magistrate, District 2

As a lot of you people in Floyd County know, I have "openly opposed" paying a half million dollars for the municipal parking lot in the middle of Prestonsburg for the construction site of the proposed new Floyd County Courthouse

Yes

As nearly everybody in Floyd County knows, there isn't much parking in Prestonsburg as it is right now.

There will be even less when the new jail is constructed, because the new jail is going to be built on the present courthouse parking lot behind the courthouse. If any of you have ever tried to park behind the courthouse now, you know what I am talking about I voted against putting the jail right in the middle of Prestonsburg, surrounded by people's homes and businesses because usually when a jail comes, people's property values go down. There is no room to expand the jail in the future

This jail could have been located on an abandoned strip job where the roads would have already been built to and away from anybody or any businesses where the land would have been extremely cheap and possibly even donated

People, we have got to look to the future - not just look at today. We are about to reach the year of 2,000. It's time that we looked at what it's going to cost our kids and their kids in the future.

I'm not opposed to building a new courthouse in Prestonsburg. I'm opposed to paying a half million dollars for a lot to the city of Prestonsburg that's so small 1 could throw a baseball from one side to the other side of it - not to count that the city of Prestonsburg will not have a parking lot for two years or longer.

I know the City of Prestonsburg has had a problem with their budget, but I don't think they ought to try to rob the Fiscal Court, though. I believe that the should think about what they stand to lose if this courthouse doesn't go there.

I think they should put pressure on the mayor and the city council to work with the Fiscal Court. It would be to Prestonsburg's advantage if they gave us the parking lot. It would pay off in jobs during the construction to these people ---not to count the payroll taxes that would go to the city for ars to come

I hope that this November Election brings people to power in Prestonsburg who would have a different outlook on this project

I could have gotten this on the ballot this fall to let the people of Floyd County decide whether or not they want to move the courthouse out of Prestonsburg, but I didn't for two reasons:

•I'm optimistic that there will be changes in Prestonsburg and that there will be a different outlook on this project and

•Due to budget cuts, this project could be delayed for approximately two years and I would still have time to get it on the ballot if necessary.

Artist Brenda Crouch knows the importance of accessibility.

After earning an A. B. degree in commercial art at Morehead State University, Crouch, 31, a native of Sharpsburg in Bath County, worked at the Floyd County Times, first in ad layout and then as ad manager.

But her calling as an artist drew her back into art. She quit her newspaper job and began working out of her home as a free-lance artist. Although she sold her work at local festivals, she realized that to be successful, she needed a more accessible location. "I needed to rent space where people could find me and where I could work," she said.

So she hit upon the idea of a business where local artists and craftspeople could display their work for retail sale and where she could have a studio.

She contacted Floyd County artists and plans started to evolve. In April, 1991, the group of artists had formed the Floyd County Arts. They also had a June deadline for their first art show — the Floyd County Chamber group art exhibition at the Convention Center at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Preparation for the show was a new experience for Crouch. "This was my first time to try to get a display of Floyd County artists' work together." she said. It was hard work, but worth

She credits members of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce with giving the organi-zation the initial boost. "Charlotte McFall was at the Chamber at the time. She sent out letters mailings and organized things. Delores Smith, who was president of the Chamber, helped, too. We had the support of the Chamber.

As a child growing up on a farm at Toler Creek, Julie Johnson learned how to take ordinary things and turn them into something extraordinary. She never dreamed that her crafts making skills would be more than a hobby

But today, she is a successful craftsperson and her handmade corn shuck dolls, flowers and grapevine wreaths are sell-outs at regional crafts shows and festivals. In addition, her work is sold at David Appalachian Crafts and Mountain Heritage Arts and Crafts Center, local businesses which sell the work of area artists and craftspersons

Johnson's involvement with David Appalachian Crafts and Mountain Heritage extends beyond that as just marketplaces for her crafts Since 1985, she has been director of sales and marketing at David Crafts. Recently, she joined the board of directors at Mountain Heritage.

Johnson, 46, started making crafts as a childhood pastime. "I went to a country school, Toler Creek school, and we didn't have a lot to do, especially in the winter and our teachers encouraged us to do projects. They gave us a sewing class. Then, too, my mother was always working on a craft to be used in the home, such as guilts. Everything was utilized because we lived on a farm. We used wood and other natural material.

"My sister and I had played at making com shuck dolls when we were kids," she continued. "They weren't very good. Then about six years ago I started making them again. A friend in Western Kentucky showed me how to improve my dolls and breathe life into them. She had been making them for years. She showed me how they could have more person ality and how to decide what setting they would be in. All of them have personality."

She took out several dolls from her work

"That fall we did an exhibit at Prestonsburg Community College and we decided we vanted to do another which would be a Christmas-type exhibit," Crouch said

This time the exhibit would have its own home - the vacant Dollar Store building on to keep the building open after the Expo, Crouch said 'We closed down and replanned the concept. We made it into Mountain Heritage Arts and Crafts with plans to include more than Floyd County artists. We got funding and reopened in April, 1992 Mountain Heritage Arts and Crafts was and, continues to be, subsidized by the City of Prestonsburg, Prestonsburg Tourism Commission and Prestonsburg industries and corporations in an effort to promote tourism.

Since the reopening, Mountain Heritage has basket and stood them on the table beside her. The dolls included were a school marm, complete with a corn silk bun and wirerimmed glasses, a nurse dressed in a longskirted uniform and a tiny Mary ready for a manger scene - all folksy creations not more than 18 inches high that are all the more charming because of their humble origins.

Johnson said that she sticks mainly to caricatures of women simply because they are easier to make. "Most of my dolls have skirts. With men, you have to make trousers and they are a lot harder to make. I've made Daniel Boone, Pilgrims and occasionally a Santa Claus As a rule, I prefer to do women and little girls. I do

Joseph for nativity scenes because he wears a robe. I do animals when requested, but it's hard to get the shape right.

"I'm slow making dolls. It takes me a couple of hours. I work in stages. The face is slow . Other steps are quick. I start with the arms - I use wire as a form to bend, shape and to hold different items — a basket, a broom. Then I do the head. I work from the top down."

As much as she enjoys creating the dolls, she prefers making corn shuck flowers. On a table nearby, a large basket is stuffed full of Items the store carries include hand-woven rugs, baskets, handmade knives, quilts, cornshuck dolls, pillows, afghans, prints, twig furniture, and wood pieces ranging from musical instruments to furniture. Still, Crouch is not satisfied. "We've been Ironically, as proprietor, salesclerk, bookkeeper and janitor of the shop and as a paper carrier for the Hoyd County Times, she's had to put her artistic career on hold.

"It is hard to switch from bookkeeping to paperwork and doing day to day stuff and then go home and get into a creative mode. It all but nakes it impossible."

Her specialty is pencil portraits, although she said, "I dabble with airbrush and, here bing. "Flowers are what I really like to do. The flowers are really fun because they can look like whatever you want them to. I like to make roses, lilies and ladyslippers. But I can experiment...1 don't try to capture nature's perfection. What's great is that you can make them any size you want to." When she starts a flower, she

She also makes wreaths out of grapevines hich she gathers on her mother's farm and adds com shuck and dried flowers as decoration, "The wreaths sell very well," she said. In fact, all of her work sells well at shows. "I do six to eight a year, mostly in Kentucky and nearby states. At shows, everyone asks about the dolls. They think they are made out of crepe paper."

lately, just about anything. I'm fascinated with carving and, lately, leatherwork. "The length of time I've been working on Mountain Heritage, I've taken names of cus-tomers and put them on a waiting list. If at some point we can get Mountain Heritage organized to stand on its own, then I should be able to work on my own work.

"I never dreamed I'd do something like this," Crouch admitted as she sat relaxed at her desk at the shop. "I got out of the newpaper business to pursue my work. I either had to leave the area or do my work here. So far, I've opted to do my work here."

During one particular afternoon, within an hour, she had at least three customers who browsed through the shop, looking at artists' prints and at the various craft items on display. Although the shop has its share of foot traffic, especially during the summer and during Christmas time, most people who visit the shop

"just browse," she said. "Mountain Heritage needs volunteers at this point," she noted, "to baby-sit the shop or to work on a committee, such as the workshop committee or with the education program or publicity committee.'

Also, Mountain Heritage needs more artists and craftspeople to participate, especially those who create their own pottery, jewelry or leather craft items. "We would like to find someone who makes jewelry," she said. "Even people who are willing to instruct a work-shop."

Mountain Heritage also has an education rogram that includes various workshops about the arts. The shop is also the site of the Floyd County Schools art program for gifted students

Eastern Kentucky artists who are interested in placing items for sale at the shop may call Crouch at Mountain Heritage at 886-1842 or bring in sample items.

The store hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Although it may take her a few hours to assemble a doll or a flower, the preparation takes much longer.

She said that she gets a lot of her corn shucks out of her garden and also from a supplier. Then she cleans the shucks with a mixture of salt, Clorox and lemon juice and allows the shucks to dry. Next, she dyes the shucks.

"I use commercial dyes and natural dyes. I make the natural dyes from among plant material such as dry onion skins and elderberries. It's messy doing dyes. It's easier to go to the store and buy them."

After the shucks have dried, she preserves each color in a plastic bag for future use.

Her job At David Crafts is to market the work of the 80 to 100 craftspeople who work on consignment for the non-profit business. While the business sells retail, "wholesale is the biggest business," she noted. "We ship goods all over the country and Canada.'

Her duties consist of taking orders by phone. contacting customers, putting orders together and shipping them. She also promotes and markets the crafts at nationally recognized craft guilds, including Kentucky Craft Market, Southern Highlands and Kentucky Guild.

In comparing David Appalachian Crafts and Mountain Heritage, she said, "David Crafts is a retail and wholesale business, while Mountain Heritage is more like a gallery to view or to purchase items."

The Mountain Heritage board of directors have a common purpose. "We all want the same thing — for the center to be extremely successful," she said. "We have good craftspeople and strive for a high quality of crafts: We also want to develop an educational program as well as crafts with workshops and so forth to teach younger generations about different fields in arts and crafts, such as corn shuck dolls, painting and weaving."

As long as people like Johnson pursue their crafts, the art of craftsmaking will live on.

Who do we elect?

Section 99 of the Kentucky Constitution requires each county to elect, "a Judge of the County Court, a County Clerk, a County Attorney, a Sheriff, a Jailer, a Coroner, a Surveyor, and an Assessor, and in each Justice's District one Justice of the > Peace and one Constable." Other Kentucky constitutional provisions authorize the legislature to take certain action affecting the county officials named in Section 99.

> The General Assembly may consolidate the offices of sheriff and jailer in any county. In such cases the office of sheriff is retained, and the duties of the jailer are assumed by the sheriff (Ky. Const., sec. 105). The offices of sheriff and jailer have been consolidated in Jefferson County. The office of jailer is discussed in Chapter VIII of this report. The legislature may abolish the office of assessor and provide for the assessment of property by other officials (Ky. Const., sec. 104). The 1968 General Assembly replaced the office of tax assessor with the office of property valuation adminis-

The Cost of Dropping out

In 1990, Kentucky's General Assembly enacted a new statute that affects a good many high school students in the state who are old enough to obtain their driver's licenses.

The law is often called the "Nopass, No-drive" statude, but it generally addresses those students who drop out of school before

Legal Ease their 18th birthday and who have not obtained their high school diplomas. According to the law, students aged 16 or 17 who drop out of school are declared to be "academically deficient." Students may be declared academically deficient after they amass nine or more unexcused absences during any semester or if they do not receive passing grades in at least four courses in a semester.

Within ten days of being declared academically deficient, a student's name and Social Security number are forwarded to The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and, as soon as possible thereafter the cabinet will notify the student that his or her operator's license, permit, or privilege to operate a motor vehicle has been revoked or denied.

trator (KRS 132.370)., Section 107 authorizes the creation of additional elective county offices, but none have been created. Section 101 requires the jurisdictions of constables and sheriffs "to be coextensive with the counties in which they reside." Section 144 requires counties to have a fiscal court composed of justices of the peace

Terms of Office and Oualifications

The county judge/execu-tive, county clerk, county attorney, sheriff, jailer, coroner, surveyor, constables, justices of the peace, county commissioners, and property valuation administrator are elected for terms of four years (Ky. Const., secs. 99,144; KRS 132.370). These officials may be elected to an unlimited number of consecutive terms (Kentucky Const., sec. 99). No person is eligible for any of these positions unless he meets the age and residence qualifications prescribed by the Constitution in Section 100. County attorneys must also meet the legal qualifications set forth by Section 100. Section 100 also enumerates special qualifications for county clerks. The age, residence and special qualifi-cations for each official are discussed in the chapters which follow.

Wednesday, September 1, 1993 - etc. 7

The power of the General Assembly to add to the qualifications stated in the Constitution is negligible, if existent at all. The Kentucky Court of Appeals in Broughton v. Pursifull has held that it is "incompetent for the Legislature to pre-scribe additional disqualifications not recognized by the Constitution."4 In this case the court cites several authorities which hold that constitutional qualifications for public officials restrict the legislature's power to pre-scribe additional qualifications

This citizen's guide to local government is brought to you bv:

The Floyd County Fiscal Court

John M. Stumbo-Judge DeRossett-Magistrate

The student may appeal the decision to District Court and show cause why his or her operator's license should not be revoked.

In order for a student to have his or her license reinstated, the court must be satisfied that the license is necessary to meet family obligations or that its revocation would create an undue hardship. A license may also be reinstated if the student returns to school and completes his or her course requirements.

Not all high school students are subject to the provisions of the dropout law.

The statute

does not apply in school districts that do not operate an alternative education program, approved by the state Department of Education, which is designed to meet the learning needs of students who are unable to succeed in the regular school setting.

Prior to the passage of this law in 1990, students could drop out of school without legal penalty at any time after their 16th birthday.

The new law was enacted to keep students in school.

Family Ties

by Kelli Newsome John M. Stumbo Elementary

A family is a group of people related by blood or marriage or all those descended by a common ancestor.

Many families that grow up in Eastern Kentucky drift to other parts of the world, but something always draws them back to their roots. My family is a good example of this.

My father's grandparents were the parents of nine children. All of the children were born and raised on a particular creek in Flovd County. As the children grew older some became teachers and took roots in this area. Others chose to move to different sections of the United States but as a family, they always stayed close.

Thirty-five years ago the children decided to gather once a year, with their families, to keep alive their ancestoral heritage. This is how the family reunion began. The first few years the reunion was held in Ohio, Indiana, and other states, but they always felt as though something were missing. The original homeplace was not available for reunions but granddaughter had a place five miles from there so the reunion was moved to that spot. The reunion lasts one full weekend and at least five generations attend.

People come from Michigan, Texas, and many places in between.

We start things off on a Friday night with a fish fry. The men of the family have dug a pit which they use to cook all the meats underground. The meat is put in the ground about midnight and cooks for twelve hours. Around noon all the food is ready. We say blessing and then sit down to a wonderful dinner, and we continue eating till Sunday afternoon.

Some activities that have been done include

A golf tournament

A family cookbook A yearly newsletter

A mini-olympics

A talent showcase

And a family book of memories written by the remaining nine children.

This year we have many new activities planned like a basketball tournament. Activities are a major part of the reunion.

Three of the most popular activities, include the crafts, family walk, and quilts

Every member of the family brings a homemade craft. We all gather around and the crafts are given out who wishes can participate. The walk is made to the homeplace in honor of one family member who walked that distance to school every day. One of the most memorable events to me took place at the last reunion.

When the children were growing up a huge rock sat beside their home. The center of the boulder had been carved out by someone, we don't know who, and was used as a wash basin and a feedbowl for the animals. After sitting by the homeplace for more than seventy years the boulder was moved to the site of the reunion. This rock has many sentimental and historical values to the family.

This reunion gives me a chance to see the past and the present put together. It also gives me a chance to get closer to my family. I have enjoyed this family reunion for thirteen years and 1 hope to enjoy it for years to come.

In the United States and Canada, Labor Day is a public holiday that honors all wage earners. Banks, schools, government offices and most businesses are closed for the day For most citizens, it is a day of rest and recreation that generally marks the end of summer and of vacation.

Many countries observe Labor Day with labor union parades and mass meetings. In Australia, the day is known as Eight Hour Day, celebrating the Shorter Working Day Law

The first Labor Day observance

Over a century ago, a great parade marked the first observance of Labor Day. In 1882, Matthew McQuire, secretary of the Central Labor Union of New York City, suggested the idea of a labor holiday to the leaders of other labor organizations in New York.

September fifth was the day chosen for the holiday and the city celebrated with a huge parade sponsored by the Knights of Labor The holiday was a tremendous success and became an annual event on the first Monday in September.

In 1877, Oregon was the first state to make

States entered its greatest industrial period in the early 1900s. As late as 1870, more than half of all workers made their living in agri-culture. Although many families left the farm for jobs in the city, their lot was hardly improved by the change. Wages were so low that in most cases entire families, including children, had to work to keep food on the table. Employees often worked 12 to 14 hours a day for another man's profit and who had little regard for the workers' need for a safe working environment. In the garment industry, women and girls often were made to work in dangerously crowded and unsanitary conditions

Individually, a worker had little voice in the workplace. Anyone who protested too vigorously about poor working conditions could lose his job. The additional threat of being blacklisted by other employers effecuvely kept the worker in his place.

Workers in a trade or factory began to form one organization called a trade union or a labor union with one spokesman to represent them. Union demands were to seek higher wages and improved working conditions for laborers. By the late 1800's, a strong united labor movement led by Gompers and others had begun.

and the rise of the labor movement The first great labor leader in America was an English immigrant. Sumuel Gompers rose from humble beginnings as the son of a poor Jewish cigar maker in London to become a founder of the giant American Federation of Labor

Due to the efforts of Gompers and other labor pioneers in the late eighteen and early nineteenth century, the rights of men and women who labor in the United States were established and protected.

The labor movement began in England in the 1700s with the Industrial Revolution. The invention of power machinery heralded the mass production of goods in factories and brought sweeping changes in the way people earned a living. People begun leaving the farm for life in the city and the steady em-ployment factories and other industries offered. Not all people worked in factories. Line By Line

WHAT YOU NEED: Paper scissors

WHAT TO DO: Fold the piece of paper in half lengthwise. Use the scissors to cut a very thin, tiny, narrow slit like in the drawing. Unfold the paper and hold it about 12 inches from your face. Look through the slit at a window. Doesn't look like much, does it - until you wave the slit up and down quickly.

WHAT IS GOING ON: When you flash the slit up and down, it's a lot like the picture tube in your TV, drawing a picture really quickly with a very skinny line. Your brain puts the images together, and instead of seeing a lot of slices, you see the whole window.

experiment #2

You Actually Need A Brain To Watch TV WHAT YOU NEED: Phone book - pencil

WHAT TO DO: Draw a copy of drawing #1 on the bottom of the first page of your phone book. Then draw #2 on the bottom of the next page, but move it over just a tiny bit. Go to the next page and draw #1, moving it over a bit more. Go to the next page and draw #2 again. Keep going till you have drawn 40 or 50 stickpeople. Now grab the book and flip the pages with your thumb.

WHAT IS GOING ON: The little guy or girl walked across the bottom of your phone book, right? Well, not really; it just seemed to. We got confused by all the different pictures changing so quick that our brain just put it all together. We call that an illusion (ee-LU-shun).

When something on TV seems to move, it is only because we are looking at lots of different still pictures at a high speed. If you have a VCR that has a feature called frame advance, you can look at each picture by itself. Try it.

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

It's a whole new ballgame this weekend when the 1993 tootball season officially gets underway on Friday, August

It will be a different season in Floyd County as we welcome a new high school, a new coach and some firstune players he consolidation of McDowell and Wheelwright brings us a new school in South Floyd Nicknamed the R oders, the school will sport silver and black uniforms.

Also, along with the consolidation, comes some new players from McDowell who have never suited up for a tootball game until this year. The new school will play their games on old Brackett Field until a new stadium is built. Finally, it's a new coach

Good Luck, All

but there's already excitement in the air at Allen Central. New head football coach Glenn Reeves has the players and fans believing that this season will be better than the 2-8 mark the Rebels posted last year.

There is reason for the high optimism that fans and players alike have for the start of a new season. Coach Reeves is a defensive-minded coach and that is the strong part of this year's team.

However, while the defense is in place, the offense will not be lacking any itself. Returning quarterback Brad Blackburn has noticed a difference in camp already. "Coach Reeves has really turned a lot of heads," said the third-year signal caller. "All of us are looking forward to the season. We're different." Blackburn said the difference was "probably in the defense and the way we're tackling.

"We have a lot better form in tackling," he said. Blackburn looks for the coach to let him throw the ball more this year "I think we will throw more this time," he said. Blackburn named off some of the receivers that he will be targeting.

"We have Thomas Jenkins who has good hands and is just a freshman. There's Austu Shelton, a good receiver. He also has a big body for blocking. Then we have Rondal Stewart and Jeremy Hall."

Blackburn believes that four wins in the district could put the Rebels in the playoffs this year and he looks for Pikeville and Fleming-Neon to battle for the top spot. Coach Reeves has noticed a lot of positive things about the Allen Central program since arriving on campus in July. "We have good work ethics here," he said. "The boys are working real hard. We haven't had any discipline problem as of yet and most of the kids show up for practice." Reeves clarified that, saying he hasn't had any who have missed practices since it began the first of August.

This will be a very young Allen Central team even though it will return eight seniors. But the eight returning are short in playing time and some will be at new positions.

The youth part comes in that the younger players are going to be expected to fill key positions and still have a lot to learn, according to Reeves

Reeves. "We're still a young foolball team. We have a lot of things to learn about foothall yet. Basically, we're just learning the fundamentals of the game."

Coach Reeves believes that once his team does learn their roles and the fundamentals "they would be all right." Coach Reeves liked the way that Blackburn has handled himself in the team's scrimmages this year. "He is throwing the ball well and making good decisions on the field. I'm really pleased with his option play. That has been real positive."

Reeves said that the offense that his team runs will make it difficult for the opposition and cause them to play the Rebels honest.

"Basically, what we have out of formation is when we go to the left it's usually in a wing "T" and then when we come back to the right we're talking about a wish-bone type offense. So, they can't play us either to the left or the right. That's been proven in our scrimmages."

Glenn Floyd (60°, 195 senior) will run the fullback positon for the Rebels and was a strong runner for Allen Central in his junior season. He is deceivingly quick for his size.

"He's done a great job for us," said Coach Reeves. "He just does a great job of running the football." James Osborne (5' 7", 180 senior) will join Floyd in the backfield for his final year. Osborne is a finesse runner where Floyd likes to power his way through.

"James is a hard-nosed foothall player," said the Allen Central mentor. "He lovesit. He's gets afterit when he is on the field. I can always call on James when 1 need him."

A coach doesn't know just when a player will bloom and step forward to add to the offense, especially when he wasn't being counted on to start with. But Shawn Howard has been a pleasant surprise to Coach Reeves in learning a new position.

hands. Patrick Collins, who we will also work in at guard, will also be at an end position. Then we have Jeremy Hall playing this year at tight end.

While the Rebels start a new season on August 27. there is still work to be done in the camp, especially on the offensive line comer who just came out this

"Our offensive line will have to be able to pick up the blitzing linebackers," said Reeves. "They will have to be able to block the gap.

"So far what we have practiced is a straight six then a five front. We need to get these things taken care of.

"Basically, we want all our boys to be able to block anything they see. We want them not have to wait to get a scouting report but be able to make that decision on the spur of the moment."

The team seems to be enthused about the new coach and the feeling is mutual with him.

"I'm enthused about them " he said. "Their attitude is great and I feel positive about them. I believe that nothing but good things will come out of Allen Central."

Coach Reeves concurred with Blackburn's assessment and looks for Pikeville and Fleming-Neon to be at the top. "After those two we will be evenly matched with the other teams." said Reeves.

Reeves will measure the success of this year's team not in the number of games won or lost, but in their ability to put points on the

Being able to score when we get hold of the ball is going to determine if we are a successful team or not. Being able to make first downs is another. The kids coming off the field feel positive about themselves

"On defense, we've got to be able to stop them. Of course, if they don't score and we score once, then we win. We have to play defense. We just want to find a formation these kids can work out of which looks like a six right DOW." Reeves said that he wants his team to air it out this year and they will throw the football more. "Austin Shelton is going to help us out a lot there at right end. He's caught some good passes in our scrimmage "Floyd can run out of the to help us there, also. He's a first-year player but reportedly a great athlete. We want to utilize that talent. But, again the line has to give us time to throw Excitement, enthusiasm, high expectations are the ingredients for this year's Rebel football team. Winners of just two games last year, the Rebels hope to be better than a .500 club this season.

With the new season comes new attitudes, positive ones, and a new expectation that wasn't evident in last year's ballclub.

The Bobcats will be coming off a winless (0-9) season last year, but if the players play according to their expectations, it will be a good year and a fun year.

This team is zero to two years in experience." said Derossett in evaluating his team. "I'm talking about in teaching situations. I'm not making excuses, but we're limited in experience. That's going to hold us back a little hit right now ' Derossett said that if he could get the players to come out when they are freshmen and work their way through the program, things would be different.

'If they would work their way through from the eighth grade up, it's no telling what It's a whole new season for these kids can do," said Derossett.

> Derossett reported there was no defeated attitude among the team but just the opposite

"We lost eight players from last season," he said, "but these kids this year expect to win. They had a good season in the weight room and got themselves in shape to play. But the big problem right now is taking what they did in the weight room and taking their summer conditioning and carrying it over to game situations.

Derossett said that the team attitude is good and they expect to win. "Unlike last year, we went out expecting to lose but this year they're expecting to win. But they must step through some things in order to win," he said.

The quarterback position came open when last year's caller Brian Combs graduated. Combs will play for Sue Bennett this fall. However, the position seems to be in the capable hands of Marty Keith Hamilton.

"Marty played point guard on the basketball team last year and he's a tough kid. He does a good job for us. I just wished that he had played four years of football because he's a natural at quarterback. He's At the fullback slot will be got a good head on him and he's a good team leader." A foursome will be seen inning out of the backfield for Coach Derossett in 1993. The four are not necessarily world beaters but are very competitive players whom Coach Derossett really likes Rocky Hamilton will be at one back position. The junior has been out with a pinch nerve in his neck but is expected to make a contribution to this year's squad. "Rocky has unlimited potential," said Derossett, "But he has got to get there and take what he did in the weight room and getting himself in shape, transfer it to the football field. That's our problem. "As far as Rocky's strength and speed, he's as strong as any other back in this part of the state. But he needs to transfer that into a football mode."

Derossett echoed the same sentiments about running hack Brent Akers.

"He's the same as Rocky. He just needs to transfer some things that he has learned to the football field."

senior Adam Roberts. Roberts has been a very pleasant surprise for Coach Derossett and he will be the main ball carrier for the Bobcats.

"Adam has been running hard and hitting hard," said Derossett. "He's been a surprise for us, a good surprise. Newcomer Jamie Robinette not only has found his way into the heart of his coach with his determination but also has found his way into the Bobcats' backfield.

"He's a first-year player. He has been in the hand for the past three years. He just came out here and started playing. That's what a lot of our players need to do. They need to take an example from Jamie. He comes out here and lays it on the line every day

The only question for Blackcats is who will do the kicking?

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

When the 1993 football season gets underway on August 28 for the Prestonsburg Blackcats, there will not be too many pressing questions that need answer-

However, two stand out as the Blackcats come off a 12-2 season and a final four appearance in the state football playoffs last year.

Question number one that is being asked about this year's ballclub is who will replace Marcus Araujo and do the kicking.

Arajuo was a big addition to the Blackcats' football team last season. He set a school record for the most consecutive PAT attempts. He had 17 consecutive kicks that split the uprights. He was a threat from 35 to 40-yards out for a field goal.

Question number two is who will do the receiving this season with the loss of Jason Day Crisp. Junior Clint Shutts (5'10", 139) is a good candidate for that position as well as John Stout (5'9", 134) who also is a junior. Outside of those two areas, the Blackcats have to be the top choice to repeat as not only district champions last year but regional as well. Prestonsburg is expected to receive some stiff competition from Russell, who fielded a young but talented regional team last season

The backfield for Prestonsburg returns intact as the "dynamic duo" of Seth Hyden and Dwayne Garza (5'10", 197) return for their senior year. Both runners have rushed for over 2,000 yards in their previous three years and will be a threat again this year coming out of Coach Bill Letton's backfield. Garza will be returning to the Blackcats offense after injuring his knee against Russell in last year's playoffs The running fullback out of the backfield. says things look good.

"I feel great," he said and is excited about the upcoming season. "It's a 100 percent and no pain anywhere. I'm ready to go out and play foot-

Garza is the power runner on this Prestonsburg team and has been known to get the extra two to three yards after being hit. An excellent third and short runner.

Hyden is the finesse runner. Good speed and quickness make him a constant threat to break away and run the long yardage.

Hyden picked his blockers well and gives Prestonsburg a solid outside threat.

But there is a third person in the backfield, Jody Cornette, and look for Coach Letton to utilize him more.

While not the explosive runner that Garza and Hyden are. Cornette is an excellent back with good hands. He will add to the receiving game Matt Porter (5'10" 167), a senior, has been impressive in preseason scrimmages and will see some playing time in the backfield.

Porter is a strong player who is deceivingly quick. If he gets outside on the opposition, he can be trouble.

The Blackcats lost perhaps their most athletic player in quarterback Aaron Tucker, who will be at Sue Bennett College this season. Tucker's replacement will be junior Thomas Ratliff (6' 1", 155), who was moved into the signal calling spot.

Ratliff, also very athletic. will not be a stranger to the quarterback spot having quarterbacked the junior varsity team as a sophomore.

The junior possesses a strong throwing arm but must learn to read the defense better. Ratliff will have to recover quickly from any hits pounds and a go-getter. He comes everyday with fire and ready to practice."

Good young players who can play the game and carry the future of Bobcat football will make their impact as well on this year's ballclub.

"We have a lot of good young players," said the Bobcatmentor. "Darrin Reynolds and Shawn Keathley are doing a real good job for us. Brad Kimbler is another one who will be a help to us.

"Craig Hamilton is a bright pot for us. He weighs about 125-pounds but runs like he's 175. He's one of those players who doesn't have strength or speed but when he goes out there and the lights come on he gets ready to play.

One player that Coach Derossett is high on is sophomore Rodney Hamilton. Hamilton did not play football last year but has made a move to play this season. "Last year at this time Rodney wasn't even playing foothall. Right now he's our middle linebacker and leading us in tackles," stated Derossett.

Like most local schools this season the kicking game could be lacking for the Bobcats this year but it isn't because they haven't concentrated on it.

"Our kicking game could be a problem for us," said Derossett. "We've worked awful hard on it. During our camp we took one practice a day and worked on special teams alone. We've got some good kickers though." Derosseu said that the duties will be handled by Roberts, Robinette and Combs.

They all can kick the football," said the second-year coach. "The problem comes in getting the snap back cleanly and that is where we are seeing the problems.

The coaching staff at Betsy Layne will be well in place with the loss of one and addition of another

We lost my brother James who went back to school at Fastern. Losing him was a big loss to us because he really was like three or four coaches. He ran the grade school team, coached on the varsity and anytime there was a job to do he would go and do it," Derossett said.

Also helping out the Bobcats will be Solomon Kilburn. Dwight Newsome and Jeff Speaks, along with veteran Jody Cecil.

Solomon has been here at the school working with us and he's a help. We have Jody Cecil back and he will be our defensive coordinator as well as coaching the grade school

"Jeff Speaks is a new coach for us this year. He's from Raceland and played at UK. He will be a big help to us.

Derossett said that he is going to implement the Little line of scrimmage. We need League Football program this season.

The Floyd County Times Football Preview '93

"It will be a lot like the one at Presionsburg. We'll squeeze the yard lines in to 30 yards wide and 80-yards long for the smaller ones in grades third through six. We will have our eighth grade program that will run a full sea-

Derossett said that he wants his team to get better each day in preparation for opening day against South Floyd.

We need to control the to do the fundamental things. We're not going to finesse or trick anyone but we will come right at them. We want to work hard for August 27." Betsy Layne will be in their second year of not competing for a district title. They also tried to tone down their schedule some but as Coach Derossett said, "Everyone is getting better."

"I don't know that we did tone down our schedule any," he said. "We have Allen Central and South Floyd on it and I was impressed with them both in the gridorama, especially Allen Central. "We've picked up East

Carter and they are expected to have between 60 and 75 players out this year. So, I don't know if we helped ourselves or not. Teams are getting awful competitive anymore with weight programs and off-season training."

The difference in this year's team from last season can be summed up in one word-expectation. The Bobcats expect to win this season he will experience and come back strong. The new quarterback will be a very good option quarterback but may lack that rushing ability that Tucker had.

When you measure the two lines for Coach Letton's ballclub you have to remember that this is probably the biggest they have been for some time. The offensive line, which will average over 200pounds, will not only be talented but experienced as well.

Kyle Fitzpatrick (6' 2", 251) will anchor the offensive line as the Blackcats should afford Ratliff plenty of time to throw the ball. Fitzpatrick is a hard-nosed player who enjoys winning and hates to lose. That makes him even tougher to get through.

There will be help for Fitzpatrick on the offensive line in the person of Kevin Farthling (6' 2", 262). Farthling is a solid lineman and makes the Blackcat line more solid.

The leading "hit man" for the Blackcats on defense will be Larry Morris (6' 0", 195).

Morris is an example of what a defensive tackler should be. Plays hard all the time and smells out the quarterback for the sack. Morris loves to get to the opposition's quarterback

Ryan Elliott (6'0", 246) is a heavy weight that will make the defense even more formidable. Brad Wells (5'10", 184) will also join the defensive side of the line

Receivers also will include Kevin Vaughn (6' 3", 172) and sophomore Jason Spurlock (5'11", 169).

Sophomore Keith Marsillett (5'11", 139) will be the Blackcats' back-up quarterback should Ratliff go down. Marsillett doesn't throw that often but is an excellent ball carrier in his own right.

Garza and Wells will see time at the linebacker's spot with Ratliff and Blake Leslie at the safeties along with Risner THOSE TO WATCH Prestonsburg lost 11 seniors from last year's regional championship team. However, replacements are here and it should be another banner season for Coach Letton and the Blackcats.

As usual, the schedule has no easy opponents. Prestonsburg has traditionally played a tough schedule and this year will be no exception

The Blackcats open their season August 28 on the road at always tough Clay County, a 3A school. It will be an early test for the experienced Blackcats and an early momentum setter.

Coach Letton'g ballclub will get a taste of district opponents when they travel to dangerous Whitesburg for their third game of the season. Whitesburg is expected to be the team to challenge Prestonsburg for the district title.

Then Coach Phillip Haywood will bring his Belfry Pirates (another 3A school) to the Cats lair as Prestonsburg looks to avenge a 30-0 shutout from last year. Belfry is one of the premier programs in the state Newcomer Pike Central will grace the Blackcats schedule this season. The chool, a consolidation of Mullins and Johns Creek, will be in their first year. District road games in-

New name and new season for Coach Daniels

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The 1993 football season will enter the year without a Wheelwright Trojan squad, but some of the veterans from the school, along with Coach Donnie Daniels, will try to make this season one of success in the first year for the South Floyd Raiders

Coach Daniels will have only two new identities when the season starts and that is a new school and a new name But the coach also knows that this is going to be a rebuilding year for him, personally.

We will be working on blending our younger players in with our returning ones," the Raider mentor explained. We have 18 kids returning who played varsity ball last year. The rest have no varsity experience at all.

Out of the 18 returning players, 15 are seniors and that gives some experience to the new season. But the Raiders coach has other problems.

"We're not getting any harmony on the field," he said. "Our higgest problem is consistency. When you think you're over the hump you turn around and you don't think they are doing a very good job We go from being average to being below average.

While Coach Daniels looks to put together a consistent offense, he is pleased with the way his team has looked defensively We've always been a good defensive ballclub," he stated. "I look for us to be a more solid defensive club than last year. Of course, your defense is always ahead of your offense.

South Floyd will be a consolidation of McDowell and Wheelwright High Schools and sometimes that creates problems.

Not here. There is a great relationship between these kids," said Daniels. "The older players have picked up the younger ones and are helping

"What this team needs to understand is that they can't identify with Wheelwright or McDowell but South Floyd. They need to communicate with each other and, hopefully, it will carry over in the school."

Gone will be speedster Muntu Oden and Steven Shelton, part of last year's nucleus. But the Raiders will not be without last years leading rusher, Arnold Adams. Arnold is a four-year starter for us. We will be look ing to him for leadership on the team. He is more knowledgeable than last season."

Adams makes few mistakes, according to his coach, and will be a versatile player for South Floyd.

Last year's EKMC Speciality Player of the Year. Adams will handle not only running the football but the team's punting. He averaged over 38 yards per punt last season.

Jason Martin (5'11", 275) will move from center to tackle this season in just one of several moves that Coach Daniels will make

We will also move Charles (Johnson) from tight end to split end in order to free him up more," Daniels said

Johnson, a 6-foot, 180pound senior has good hands for the outside positon and was Wheelwright's top receiver last year.

"He runs the patterns real well." said Daniels, "but he hasn't been blessed with speed.

Coming off the line from last year and moving into the backfield will be Cruse Caudill (5'1", 170 senior) who will run at the fullback position.

"Cruse didn't get to see too much offense last year, but he is a beck of a blocker," said Daniels.

Playing both sides will be John Caudill, who will handle the defensive guard slot as well as seeing some time on the offensive side.

One person whom Coach Daniels is looking for speed in the backfield will be from Patrick Tackett (5'8", 150) and that is the reason he will move from the split end position to the backfield.

"We don't have the speed in the backfield that we once did," said Daniels, "and Patrick will give us that. He has that "burner speed" and if he gets into the secondary he could do some damage.

Others that Daniels will be looking at will be Shannon McKinney (5'10", 295), Kelly Lackey (6'1", 221) and newcomer Mike Tackett (5'11", 205)

"Kelly will be a big plus for us on defense." said Daniels. "This will be Mike's first year out and he could start at center Shawn Howell (5'10", 185) and Jackie Kedrick (6', 170) are from McDowell and Daniels believes both will be a help this year.

But every team has a question mark at the start of any new season and the Raiders will not be without theirs. Who will call the signals this year?

Justin Ray, heir apparent to the departing Steven Shelton, was counted on to fill that yoid this season but Ray will have to sit out the season because of injuries from an automobile accident.

"We have four right now that we are looking at," said Daniels, "Two freshmen and two sophomores."

The two sophomores includes Aaron Hall (6'2", 190) and newcomer Terrance Mullins (5'9", 150). Eric "Scotter" Moore and Scotty Johnson are the two frosh. "Aaron runs the better of Terrance can run the deep pattern plays. We will take a close look at both of them. "I've also been impressed with both freshmen. But if I had to go to someone today it prohably will be Aaron." Goals for the Raiders this vear are twofold. First, be competitive against all opponents. In key positons we are going to be green as a gourd," said Daniels. "We're doing a lot of things that need improving." Secondly, Coach Daniels wants his team to show improvement during the season. "I want us to show a lot of improvement during the season. If we do that, regardless of the won and loss column, it will be a good season. While Pikeville was a rebuilding team last year and advanced to the final four in the high school playoffs, Daniels views the Panthers as the four," said Daniels, "but a clear choice for another district championship. Fleming-Neon will have a new coach but the Pirates rate a secondplace finish.

After Pikeville and Neon

it looks to me like the other four teams will be about even and can knock one another off on any given night."

Daniels likes the numbers he has this year (56) and it gives us the most depth we have had in a number of vears

"I want to get away from going both ways with the same kids," said the Raiders coach. "But I will go with the best players I have at the time. I would like to get away from going both ways with the same players.

Several will join Coach Daniels as assistants this year as excitement is in the air about the upcoming football season. Keith Smallwood, Robert "Catfish" Jackson return to help develop this team this season.

Vic Rhea, former Trojan, Bob Hall, John Osborne, Robbie Harris, Dennis Harris, Charles Jeff Hall and Anthony Rhea will be on hand

Five former high school football players have found their way to Sue Bennett College in London, Kentucky and, hopefully, will help make the new program a successful one Sue Bennett has never dressed a football team before until this year. They hired Joe Debella to be the first football coach at the London school.

Debella invaded the mountains of Eastern Kentucky and inked some pretty impressive players. Seven of those players played at Floyd County schools last year.

From Betsy Layne, former Bobcat guarterback Bryan Combs is likely to be the starting signal caller for Sue strong throwing arm.

center for the new team will be Betsy Layne's Wayne Stevens. Stevens joins Combs once again as the two hope to make an impression. Five former Prestonsburg students also inked with Sue Bennett, but four may have to sit this season out for academic reasons. Former Blackcat quarterbacks Aaron Tucker, Brian Horn, Joey Nunn, John Goble and Jay McIntyre are part of the Sue Bennett team. Goble, Tucker, Goble and McIntyre will have to miss this season.

Though Goble did not play in his senior year at Prestonsburg, he received a scholarship to Sue Bennett. Horn was an offensive tackle for the Blackcats and also played on defense.

The Floyd County connection has been made with Bennett. Combs has a very Coach Debella and look for other stars from the county to Getting the nod as starting find their way to London.
