This Town... That World

Yesterday's spring fever has turned today to the flue.

NO SUBSTITUTE

We would not knock radio and television, but the fact remains that during the New York newspaper strike 17 Broadway plays have closed. Now, New York is fairly blanketed by both radio and TV, but theatre-goers depend upon newspapers and their critics to point them to what is worth seeing. They want it in black-and-white—and were not referring to the kind of picture that comes in over their set.

NO WONDER

A woman phoned her bank to arrange for the disposal of a $1,000 bond.

"Is the bond for redemption or conversion?" a clerk inquired.

"There was a pause. Finally a confused voice asked, 'Am I talking to the First National Bank or the First Baptist Church?'"

TV SCRIPT

The man's head hurt dreadfully. It had been a tough day at the office. As he drove into the driveway at his home the family dog walked squarely in front of the car.

"You dummy! Can't you stay out of the way!" he shrieked, drowning out the screech of his tires.

"The dog tucked his tail between his legs and slunk away, casting reproachful glances over his shoulder. He was so shocked that he was forced to lie down for a spell in the master's bed.

"Don't take it out on the poor dog," said a grim voice from the doorway. It was the wife. "Pick on somebody your size."

"Charge!" yelled the man and leaped to the fray.

After ten minutes of family deriding-do the dog rose from bed and gave each, master and mistress, an Amazin.

DR. PETERSON IS SUSPENDED

Conflict of Interest Alleged by Governor; Counter-Statement Made

Suspension of Dr. Frank D. Peterson as vice-president for business administration of the University of Kentucky this week brought on a spate of charges and counter-charges.

The suspension was voted Monday by U. K. trustees after Governor Combs had accused Peterson of using his position for personal profit. Conflict of interest was alleged as Peterson was accused of selling real estate to the university at a profit and of owning interests in three firms which did business with the university.

Peterson claimed Combs has applied more political pressure on the Lexington school than the five preceding governors combined and that "he is trying to justify this political pressure by a smear on me."

Peterson's charge, Governor Combs said, is ridiculous. "I did what I had to do. I couldn't waver under the rug the evidence which had come to me."

In his counter-charges Peterson said this of the Prestonsburg Community College:

"The Governor approved paying $142,000 for 28.4 acres in Prestonsburg for a part of the community college site; $5,000 an acre, the 63-year-old Peterson said.

"His director of the budget asked Dr. Dickey to write a letter to the state to justify it. All other communities gave the sites for the community colleges."

"The purchase contract for the Funeral Of Aged Hunter Resident Preached 6 Months Before Death; Final Rites Held At Graveside

Graveside rites for J. W. (Uncle Joe) Lykins, 99, who died Monday at his home at Hunter, were held Wednesday at 10 a. m. with only two hymns selected months ago and a prayer. He had had his funeral conducted six months earlier.

The aged man, a member of the Regular Baptist Church for 70 years, had his casket made from walnut lumber more than a year ago. The pre-death rites were conducted in September from the Salisbury Regular Baptist Church, with the Rev. Mack McCloud officiating in the

GOVERNOR DEDICATES NEW MUD-CR. SCHOOL

COMBS URGES NON-PARTISAN AID APPROACH

Attack On Tax Revenues By Politicians Deplored; School Cost $340,000.00

What was described as "the largest crowd ever to gather on Mud Creek" heard Governor Bert Combs last Sunday afternoon deliver the principal address at the dedication of the John M. Stumbo elementary school which only recently opened for classroom work near Grethel.

The Governor declared that Kentucky's needs, especially those in the areas of education and care for the blind, deaf and mentally retarded, should be approached on a non-partisan basis.

"It is tragic," he said, "that the revenue for our schools should be jeopardized for political considerations. It is even more tragic that for the last quarter of a century every question of importance to the people of Kentucky has been converted into a political issue for the benefit of a self-seeking candidate."

Governor Combs was introduced by Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark. Music for the occasion was supplied by the Betsy Layne high school band.

The new consolidated school was built at a cost of $340,000. It replaces 14 rural schools of one, two and three rooms.

Its 520 students have 18 classrooms, a library, music room, kitchen and combined auditorium, gymnasium and lunchroom.

The Governor, referring to a proposal made by A. B. "Happy" Chandler to exempt food, clothing and medicine from the sales tax—which Combs contends would cut state revenue by nearly $35,000,000 a year—said:

"Those who would tamper with Kentucky's tax structure ought to be willing to reveal their plans. Let us take care not to jump from the frying pan into the fire."

The Governor reported that Kentucky, by investing $71,500,000 in public school buildings in the past three years, has provided an additional 3,595 classrooms.

GOINGS DIES IN OHIO FIRE

Prestonsburg Resident Succumbs In Columbus; Interment Made Here

Lewis Grant Goings, 48, Prestonsburg, died last Thursday in an apartment house fire at Columbus, Ohio. He had gone to his room approximately 10 minutes before the fire erupted and was dead when firemen reached him.

A native of Chicago, Goings was a son of the late Aldis Goings and Mrs. Kathalene Massock Goings, Portsmouth, Ohio. His second wife, Willadene Foley, survives.

Surviving by his first marriage are four daughters: Mrs. Carol Beagher, Columbus, Ohio, Miss Shirley Goings, Miss Candice Marie Goings and Miss Rodney Goings, all of Cleveland, Ohio. Ten brothers and sisters survive.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 2 p. m. from the Floyd Funeral Home Chapel, the Rev. W. D. Jagers officiating. Burial was made in the Harris cemetery at Lancaster under the direction of Floyd Funeral Home.

LAWMAKERS COMPLETE REAPPORTIONMENT JOB

Exactly a month after the special session on reapportionment convened, the Kentucky General Assembly completed the task of reapportioning its 38 Senatorial and 100 House districts.

Floyd county was practically untouched by redistricting. The only changes made were in the members of districts. No. 56 (Magisterial Districts 1 and 2) is now No. 55; No. 57 (Magisterial District 3 and 4) is No. 56. The Senatorial District still is composed of Floyd, Knott and Martin counties and it is still the 29th.

Just before the special session adjourned, Gov. Bert T. Combs, at a joint House-Senate meeting, signed into law the two bills that accomplished the redistricting.

Combs told the legislators they had done "a better than average job." At a press conference, Combs said, "I have no doubt the bills are legally sufficient," and predicted they would be upheld in a federal court test.

The legislation raises Jefferson county's senatorial representation from five to seven and Fayette county's from two to four, and gives one more member each to Campbell, Warren, Hardin, Boyd and Christian counties.

Over-all, the measures give more populous counties three additional Senate and 13 additional House seats.

The re-drawing of House and Senate district lines was made necessary because of population shifts from rural to urban areas. Both redistricting acts adopted a middle course between the requests of urban and rural forces in the legislature.

At the press conference, Combs quoted state research analysts as giving this effect of the redistricting: assuming 100 per cent as an index of ideal representation, reapportionment boosts Kentucky from 76.1 to 91.4, second only to Oregon with a 93.9 rating.

Combs said Kentucky is much better off than Florida in equitable representation, even though that state has had several special legislative sessions and federal court intervention.

The Governor said he had played a "hands off" role and let the legislature do its own drawing of district realignments, although he acted as a "clearing house" of ideas for some of the assemblies.

The Legislature completed its business when the House approved the Senate's redistricting plan, 73-20. Previously, the Senate had approved the House plan, 25-6.

Dewey Reservoir Closed To Prevent Floodwaters From Reaching Ohio River

Gates of Dewey Dam were closed Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. to prevent Johns Creek floodwaters from entering the Big Sandy and eventually adding to the swollen Ohio River.

Flood conditions already exist along the Ohio. The Big Sandy was adding to the Ohio's rise, cresting at Pikeville at 36 feet Wednesday afternoon and expected to reach a standstill at Paintsville at 1 p. m. this afternoon (Thursday) with a peak of 38 feet.

The flood-gate here was closed Wednesday morning to prevent backwater from entering low-lying areas of Prestonsburg. Pumps were put into operation to carry off the accumulation of surface waters behind the floodwall.

Although Dewey Lake is expected to take on the semblance of a lake again, no order has come through to hold the water behind the dam. Unless such word is received, the water will be returned to the level at which it has stood through the winter while seining of rough fish has been done by personnel of the Division of Fish.

NLRB TO HEAR PICKET CASES

Unfair Labor Practices Charged To Individuals, Seven Mine Union Locals

Charges of unfair labor practices alleged against seven United Mine Workers' locals and more than 100 individuals, including roving pickets, will be the subject of hearings scheduled next month by the National Labor Relations Board.

The NLRB hearings will be held at Lexington and Hazard. The Lexington hearing, scheduled April 15, will involve charges of mass picketing, assaults on employees and threats against 13 coal companies in Floyd, Knott, Pike and Perry counties.

Several weeks of quiet have prevailed in the coal mining counties, with the exception of scattered dynamiting which have not been definitely ascribed to the labor trouble. In Floyd county the situation has been peaceful, and last week Bernard Howell, who is described as a picket leader, was quoted as saying conditions have improved in this county and that he thinks the miners' problems can be settled without further picketing.

His statement was made after Berman Gibson, leader of Perry county picketing, had threatened to resume picketing Monday. Gibson later decided against the action, however.

FLOYD CLUB MEMBERS OBSERVING 4-H WEEK

Floyd county's 1,401 4-H boys and girls, along with 4-H'ers all over the state and nation, are observing National 4-H Week, March 2-9. The week's theme is "4-H: Young Citizens in Action." In Kentucky, 4-H membership totals 84,599; nationally, the total is about 2,265,000 members.

Project work, in which members "learn by doing" methods of sewing or caring for a dairy cow or making an electric lamp, develops responsibility as well as skills, Friar points out. In this county, 4-H'ers carried 2,089 projects last year. Most popular projects were foods, sewing, woodwork, electric, grooming. But carrying projects is only a part of 4-H work.

Activities such as giving demonstrations, making speeches and taking part in community service projects help give 4-H'ers more poise and self-confidence and more pleasing, forceful personalities.

"Visitors who watch 4-H'ers give demonstrations, conduct a meeting or make a speech are impressed with the ability of even the younger 4-H members to stand at ease before a group and talk with intelligence," County Agent Jack Friar says.

In this county last year 120 members gave demonstrations at local or county 4-H meetings or before other groups. Forty gave speeches connected with 4-H work.

Four-H members also have the opportunity to serve as junior leaders, helping younger boys and girls with project work and with their 4-H programs. This, too, develops a sense of responsibility, self-confidence, and the ability to work with others. Floyd county has 18 4-H'ers acting as junior leaders.

The boys and girls also hold office; give leadership to local civic, safety and health campaigns; plan and take part in recreation and social events.

The four H's of 4-H Club work stand for Head, Heart, Hands, and Health which the members pledge to "clearer thinking, greater loyalty, larger service, and better living" for their clubs, community and country. Citizenship and leadership are stressed in all 4-H Club work.

Floyd county's 4-H'ers belong to 43 clubs and are assisted by 120 adults who volunteer their time to help with 4-H work. In Kentucky, a total of about 16,625 local volunteer leaders helps with activities and projects in the 2,509 clubs of the state. Giving professional leadership to the 4-H organization are the federal, state and county Extension Services.

ASC SHAKEUP IS PROSPECT

Present Committeemen Defeated At Farm Poll; Convention Slated Today

A shakeup in the organization of the Floyd Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee was in prospect this week after two community elections last Saturday resulted in victories for opponents of the present county committee.

The present county ASC committee is composed of Daniel Akers, of Grethel, W. M. Hicks, of Hippo, and Lewis Burchett, of Emma. But forces said to be opposed to them now hold possibly four of the five community committee posts.

Membership of the county committee will be determined today (Thursday) when the five community committeemen meet here.

The two community elections held last week were directed by the State ASC committee. Results of the September 24 poll in the Right Beaver and Left Beaver communities were protested to the state ASC, resulting in the voting last week.

Committeemen previously elected in the other three communities of the county are:

Middle Creek, Woodrow Fitzpatrick; Mud Creek, Webster Akers; Cow Creek, Lewis Burchett.

The county committee is elected for a term of one year, or until successors are named.

GIRL CHARGES RAPE ATTEMPT

Johnson Executes Bonds Totaling $5,500; Trial Set March 18 by Stumbo

Bonds totalling $5,500 were asked this week for the release of John Ed Johnson, 21, of the Middle Creek section, following his arrest on a warrant sworn out by a 16-year-old West Prestonsburg girl.

He is accused in warrants issued by County Judge Henry Stumbo of attempted rape of the girl and of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Johnson waived the rape attempt charge to the grand jury. His trial on the second count was set for March 18 in quarterly court.

The girl told county officials a detailed story of her date last Sunday night with Johnson, of their going with another couple to the Shamrock, on Dewey Lake, and of getting beer and whiskey, of driving around while the boys drank, of later picking up another couple after they had driven back to Middle Creek, and then of returning to the Shamrock.

The girl said that as they were driving back from this second call at the Shamrock a man whom she identified as Denver Shepherd told her and another girl that they were taking them to a motel. Johnson then drove to the Sunset Motel at Banner, she said, and the men rented two rooms. Ordered to leave the car and go to the motel, the girl said she and the other girl ran inside Room 3 and looked the door.

Thereupon, she told authorities, Johnson forced his way into the room, threw her onto a bed and attempted to rape her. She said her girl companion helped prevent him.

Represent Prestonsburg In Report on Progress

R. V. May, Harold Dicks and T. W. Chisholm were in Louisville Tuesday, presenting a report on the progress of Prestonsburg during 1962. This was in connection with the State Chamber of Commerce contest on the Kentucky city that has shown the greatest progress during last year. Recently Prestonsburg, under the leadership of the Community Development Council, won the contest in the Seventh Congressional district, bringing it into competition with the winners in other districts of the state.

A series of raids, conducted by the officers previous to the Brushy Creek discovery, were made in Knott, Harlan and Letcher counties by Flannery and others. Their searches netted 60 gallons of moonshine, five stills and 600 gallons of mash. Eighteen defendants were arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner at Pikeville. All their trials were set for April 22.

Kentucky State Police assisted in the three-county raids.

Disposition of Funds Raised for College Site Explained by Reynolds

Dr. Frank D. Peterson, suspended administrative vice-president of the University of Kentucky, does not give the people of Floyd county sufficient credit for their giving toward the purchase of the Prestonsburg Community College site.

This statement was made Wednesday morning by W. J. Reynolds, Jr., chairman of the Big Sandy College Development Corporation's finance committee, after Peterson had criticized Governor Combs for approving the price asked for land and had said that all other communities gave sites for their colleges.

A total of $94,919.17 was contributed by residents of Prestonsburg, Floyd county and by others interested in the college here, he said. The money was expended, as follows:

$41,080.75 sent directly to the State Treasurer.

$20,000 paid to Joe M. May for a part of the site.

Here's how to get the most for your money when you buy eggs. First, decide on the grade you want. Then check prices of various sizes. Medium-size eggs are more economical than large eggs if they are one-eighth cheaper, says USDA. Small eggs are a better buy if they cost a fourth less than large eggs of the same grade.

DeROSSETT
For
CIRCUIT CLERK

This is my first time to ask the good people of Floyd county to entrust to me one of the highest offices in Floyd county, but I assure you that my background, qualifications and Christian training will be an asset in discharging the duties of Circuit Clerk.

In addition to the normal duties, I will promote a driver training program in every Floyd county high school. Such training can save you money on insurance premiums. One reason so many young people are killed on our highways is a lack of proper driver training.

As an extra service of my office I will send all drivers a 30-day notice that their licenses are about to expire.

I invite you to enquire of me. Ask my friends, my neighbors, my business associates, any one who knows me well.

If I win it will be on my merits, not shortcomings of any of my opponents.

Trusting your judgment, I am,

MARTIN FOR STATE SENATOR

Without any solicitation from Senator Martin, we take this means of bringing to the attention of the general public and the Democratic voters of this county the immediate need of having Burnis Martin return to the State Senate to represent the people.

His record in the state senate for the school teachers and the schools, for the establishment of the college in Floyd county and his record in the state senate of having never voted wrong on a labor issue should especially endear him to the Democratic voters of this county.

Senator Martin has had four years experience in the State Senate, would make a strong candidate in the two Democratic counties of Floyd and Knott, and knowing his way in and around Frankfort and the maneuverings of the legislative process, the Democrats should unite and get behind Senator Martin and return him to the State Senate where he can be of great benefit to the people.

If you want a man you can have confidence in, a man who will stand and fight for the interests of the common, laboring class of people, a man of experience and unquestioned ability, a man who, at the last session of the legislature, was named by a poll of the newspapers as an outstanding Legislator, I urge all Democrats and Republicans alike to get behind Senator Martin and request that he run for re-election. AH, SPRING!
Spring arrived at our house last Sunday afternoon when the peepers picked up where they left off last spring and the rabbit which last year ran the family nut (or nuttier) came out and hopped casually about. Those peepers broke into their chorus as if in answer to the rhythm beat of a leader. I could imagine one tiny frog taking his stance at the top of the ditch, stomping the mud with his foot in two-four rhythm and swingin' the whole bunch off in vernal song . . . Believe I know now who found the Lost Chord. Anyway, those chirpers picked right up on the note they so suddenly dropped months ago.

Prestonsburg acreage was sent to me to approve for the university. I submitted it to the executive committee and returned it unsigned.
"I am sure this did not incur goodwill. They say we are not cooperating."
(It was pointed out locally that the Prestonsburg area was not given credit for raising in excess of $94,000 toward purchase of the college site.)

Answering Peterson's statement, Combs said "the important thing is whether Dr. Peterson used his office to enrich himself. He has not denied that he owned an interest in (the three firms) which did business with the university."

"Some of this was violation of a specific Kentucky statute, and all of it was a breach of his fiduciary relationship with the university. . . .
"The charge of politics is ridiculous. Nothing is involved except Dr. Peterson's guilt or innocence."

Combs said Peterson is entitled to a public hearing. "And if he is innocent, he certainly should request such a hearing at an early date."
Peterson's suspension will be in effect until a firm of management analysts thoroughly studies the university's business operations. No date for beginning or completing the study has been given.

Adjoining homes of Mark and Luke Walters, who formerly operated a mine in Perry county, were damaged by a dynamite blast near Hazard early last Saturday.
Defendants in the NLRB hearings are UMW Locals 5899, 7788, 8161, 8505 and 8919 and two groups of persons, one numbering 83 and the other 63.

The NLRB said the locals and pickets tried to coerce the coal companies by massing at the entrances to mines in order to prevent entrance or exit of coal or employees, and forced companies to shut down.
It said the incidents started September 13 at the Premium Elkhorn Company at McDowell, and spread through the next two months to the last incident reported, on November 2, at the Allen Fork tippie of Right Beaver Company in this county.

The hearing at Hazard April 23 names as defendants 138 persons and UMW locals 8280 and 9606. The NLRB said many of the 138 were among the roving pickets accused in the Lexington hearing.
The Hazard hearing involves alleged shooting and mob action at the Blair Fork Coal Company at Tilford, Perry county.

The complaint said pickets began displaying firearms and threatening workers December 3, put a chain across a road to the Blair Fork mine and assaulted an employee who tried to remove it on January 7, and shot at mine employees on January 8, 18 and 22.

NUMBER OF TOURISTS IN STATE INCREASING

Frankfort, Feb. 21 (Spl.)—Nearly 20 million out-of-state tourists spent $205 million in Kentucky during 1962, an increase of $12 million over 1961, Cattie Lou Miller, commissioner of the Department of Public Information, has announced.

Miss Miller said 1962 was the second consecutive year in which the percentage of increase in tourist dollars spent in the state exceeded the national average. The 20 million visitors was a 6 per cent increase over 1961.

Releasing statistics from the third annual Kentucky travel survey prepared for the Department of Public Information by Dr. Lewis C. Copeland, University of Tennessee economist, Miss Miller noted that the $12 step-up in Kentucky tourist income in 1962 was double the $6 million increase in 1961. The national increase in tourist spending was 5 per cent.

Tourists from other states also contributed $4,890,000 to Kentucky in sales taxes and $13,025,000 in gasoline and other taxes and receipts during 1962.

The $205 million tourists spent here in 1962 compares with $193 million in 1961; $187 million in 1960; and $180 million in 1959, the commissioner said.

"This is a solid indication that Kentuckians' efforts to build their tourist industry are on a sound course," Miss Miller said. Miss Miller attributed Kentucky's increasing travel business to several factors:

1. The state's expanded parks program.
2. Better highways.
3. Increased efforts by private businessmen, community groups, civic clubs and business organization to develop accommodations and attractions.
4. All-out support by the Kentucky press and other news outlets of tourist promotion programs.

5. The state's stepped-up tourist advertising and promotional program.

In his 1962 analysis, Copeland observed that "tourist spending is the most obvious way of showing the economic impact of travel on the state." Relatively speaking, he added, Kentucky—because of the rapid development of tourism in the state during the last few years—gets a high proportion of the country's tourist customers.

According to the report, all travelers spent $304 million in the state last year, $14 million more than in 1961. This total expenditure represents almost 9 per cent of Kentucky retail business.

During 1962 local customers and away-from-home travelers spent $659 million in Kentucky's places of business which cater to the needs of people away from home. Almost half of these were expenditures by travelers, and a third came from out-of-state tourists.

Economic impact of the travel business in relation to jobs and payrolls was an integral part of Copeland's report.

"There are 14,000 firms in the travel business which create jobs for 63,000 Kentuckians. This is 8.5 per cent of the businessmen and paid non-farm employees in the state. Payrolls and other personal income paid out in 1962 amounted to $195 million."

The report pointed out that purchases by tourists in the state last year created enough business to give jobs to 20,000 persons, with personal income of $68 million.

It also noted that "besides creating a market for a large volume of goods and services, one-fifth of the receipts of the travel business is collected as some type of tax."

The state collected $88 million in gasoline, sales and business taxes from firms in the travel business—amounting to 29 per cent of the $305 million total State tax revenue.

Union Officer Jailed For Withholding Records

A Williamsburg resident, former financial secretary and treasurer of a Knoxville (Tenn.) local union, was recently sentenced to 12 months imprisonment after entering a plea of guilty to charges made under the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act.

J. L. Finley, official of the McAdoo Lodge No. 921, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Knoxville, was sentenced by District Judge Mac Swinford in Richmond, Kentucky, January 28 after pleading guilty to a charge of wilfully withholding and destroying books and records of the lodge he was representing at the time in violation of Title 2 of the Landrum-Griffin Law.

The law, administered by the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports of the U. S. Department of Labor, requires union records to be preserved for a period of five years. Violation can result in a fine of $10,000 and/or 12 months imprisonment.

SCIENTIST URGES CAUTION IN USE OF MODERN DRUGS

Modern drugs should be used with caution, warns Dr. Robert E. Gosselin, professor of pharmacology at Dartmouth Medical School. For example, he writes in a March Reader's Digest article, "What You Should Know About the Drugs You Take," you may be—or may become—allergic to the most common medication.

Penicillin is certainly an effective drug—more than 500 tons are consumed each year—but it is often used indiscriminately.

Pencillin shock and other side effects are genuine hazards to those who have become hypersensitive. Anti-biotics should not be used for a runny nose.

Drugs may create symptoms, or hide them. Drowsiness may be caused by a hay-fever capsule, sleeplessness by a diet pill. Certain drugs used in combination can cause restlessness, nausea, confusion, delirium and collapse.

"With our tendency to move frequently, and with various kinds of specialists available," writes Dr. Gosselin, "you may find yourself consulting several doctors. If so, you should insist on learning the name of every medicine prescribed so that you can keep your various physicians informed . . .

"A number of unintentioned suicides are caused by intrinsically safe drugs, each well within the accepted dose, but hazardous when used together or with alcohol."

But if it is unwise to take powerful medicines casually, it is equally irrational to refuse to use medication under a doctor's care. Fear is a major reason patients refuse the medicine they need—fear of being poisoned or fear of becoming dependent or addicted. Others regard taking of drugs, especially painkillers, as a sign of moral weakness.

"We should accept modern drugs as we do the automobile," writes Dr. Gosselin in the Digest. "Both can do a great deal of harm when they are misused and much good when handled properly."

LOG SPLASH DAM AND MILL DAM ON RUSSELL FORK RIVER

This primitive dam, constructed on the headwaters of the Russell Fork River, served the dual purpose of splashing logs downstream and as a mill. It was constructed in the late 1890's.

These old mills and splash dams were an economic necessity when this region was isolated by the lack of modern transportation facilities.

The First National Bank presents these pictures in recognition of our historic heritage.

THE HOLY SCRIPTURES

Children of Men: Know all men by these presents.

From that time Jesus began to preach and to say, "REPENT; for the kingdom is at hand." (Matt. 4:17). He that is not with me is against me; and he that GATHERETH not with me SCATTERETH abroad (Matt. 12:30).

But he answered and said, It is written, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by EVERY word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." (Matt. 4:4).

For whosoever shall be ashamed of me and my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed when he shall come in his own glory, and in his Father's, and of the holy angels (Luke 9:26).

Jesus answered and said unto them, "THIS IS THE WORK OF GOD, that ye BELIEVE on him who he hath SENT me." (Jno. 6:29).

They said therefore unto him, "What sign shewest thou then, that we may SEE and believe THESE?"

What dost thou work? Our fathers did eat manna in the desert; as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat." Then Jesus said unto them, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven. For the BREAD OF GOD is he which cometh down from heaven; but my Father giveth you the TRUE BREAD from heaven, for the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven and giveth life unto the world." Then said they unto him, "Lord, evermore give us this bread." And Jesus said unto them, "I am the Bread of Life; he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst. But I said unto you that ye also have seen me and believe not. All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. For I came down from heaven NOT TO DO MINE OWN WILL, but THE WILL of him that sent me. And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of ALL which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day. AND THIS IS THE WILL of him that SENT ME, that everyone which SEETH THE SON and believeth on him may have EVERLASTING LIFE, and I will raise him up at the last day.

The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, "I am the bread which came down from heaven." And they said, "Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How is it then that he saith, I CAME DOWN FROM HEAVEN?" Jesus therefore answered and said unto them, "Murmure not among yourselves. No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him; and I will raise him up at the last day. It is written in the prophets, and they shall all be taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me. Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that BELIEVETH on me hath EVERLASTING life. I am the BREAD OF LIFE. Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderness, and are dead. THIS IS THE BREAD which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof and not die. I am the living bread which came down from heaven; if any man eat of THIS BREAD, he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world. The Jews therefore strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat? Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. Whoso eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood DWELLETH IN ME, AND I IN HIM. As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father; so he that eateth ME, even he shall live by me. THIS IS THE BREAD WHICH CAME DOWN FROM HEAVEN; not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: He that eateth of this bread SHALL NEVER DIE. These things said he in the synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum. Many therefore of his disciples, when they heard this, said, "THIS IS A HARD SAYING, who can HEAR IT?" (Jno. 6:26-60).

Labour not for the meat which PERISHETH but for that which ENDURETH UNTO EVERLASTING LIFE, which the Son of man shall give unto you; FOR HIM HATH GOD THE FATHER SEALED (Jno. 6:27).

And if any man hear my WORDS, and BELIEVE NOT, I judge him not; for I came not to judge the world BUT TO SAVE the world. He that REJECTETH ME and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him; the WORD that I have spoken, THE SAME shall judge him at the last day. (Jno. 12:47, 48).

Without faith it is impossible to please him (God); for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of THEM THAT DILIGENTLY SEEK HIM (Heb. 11:6).

Morality which is not flowing from FAITH IN CHRIST resembles an artificial flower; which has the appearance but neither the life nor the fragrance of a real one. Sanctity of life, indeed, is good in its place and morality is a sweet and pleasant plant; I wish it might grow more abundantly in everybody's garden, but if "trusted in" for salvation it will prove as deadly to the soul as the poisonous, deadly nightshade.

AND THIS IS HIS COMMANDMENT, THAT WE SHOULD BELIEVE ON THE NAME OF HIS SON, JESUS CHRIST, AND LOVE ONE ANOTHER, AS HE GAVE COMMANDMENT (I John 3:23). Love is the sweetest bud that blows. Its beauty never dies; On earth among the saints it grows, And ripens in the skies. Pure, glowing red, and spotless white.

Its perfect colors are; In Jesus all its sweets unite, And look divinely fair.

Is it not strange that many talk of KEEPING GOD'S COMMANDMENTS, and never remember that "this is the NEW COMMANDMENT I give unto you, that ye love one another as I have loved you" (Jno. 13:34, I Jno. 2:8-10); and that ye should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ (I Jno. 3:23).

Let us remember well that if we wish (have that INWARD DESIRE) to fulfill the LAW, and not covet, as the "LAW" DEMANDS, COME, BELIEVE IN CHRIST, in whom grace, peace, liberty and ALL things are "promised" you, if you believe, you shall have all; if you believe not, you shall lack all. For what is IMPOSSIBLE for you in all the WORKS of the Law—many as they are, but all useless—you will accomplish in a SHORT and EASY way THROUGH FAITH. All his obedience becomes ours by believing the TESTIMONY of the Father concerning His Son, and TRUSTING IN HIM. So, if we SAVINGLY believe on the Lord's Christ, imputatively, we are FLAWLESSLY righteous in God's sight. THIS, and THIS ONLY, will cure us of all spiritual diseases.

Prayer is a golden key which, being turned by the "hand of Faith," unlocks all God's treasures. True faith justifies WITHOUT the deeds of the Law (Gal. 3:11; Rom. 3:28). Moreover, whatsoever is not of faith is SIN (Rom. 14:23). BELIEVING is the most wonderful thing in the world. Put anything (even the smallest mite) of thy own to it, and thou SPOILEST it. Faith is the soul's going out of itself for all it wants. Faith only can find out God; though not to perfection, yet to salvation. Faith is the soul's coming to God; unbelief is the soul's departure from God. HAVE FAITH IN GOD! (Mark 11:22).

My friend, brother or sister, whether you be weak or strong in the faith of Christ, examine yourself carefully. After reading the following anecdote, I believe you will be helped to ascertain your status quo better:

An Indian and a "white" man were both convicted by the same sermon. The Indian was soon rejoicing, but the white man struggled for days. When finally he found peace he said to his red brother, "How was it that I was so long under conviction when you found comfort so soon?" "Me tell you," the Indian replied, "There came a rich prince. He propose to give you a new coat. You look at your old coat and say, 'I don't know; my coat pretty good. I think it will do a little longer.' He then offer me a new coat. I look at my old blanket. I say, 'This good for nothing. I fling it right away and accept the beautiful garment. Just so, brother, you try to keep your own righteousness for some time; you don't want to give it up. But I, poor Indian, had none. So I glad at once to receive righteousness of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Do as much as thou wilt, but stand with all thy weight upon Christ's righteousness. Take heed of having one foot on thy own righteousness and another on Christ's. Christ will be a pure, total Redeemer and Mediator, and thou must be a UNDONE sinner, or Christ and thou will never agree. Do not Legalize the Gospel, as if part remained for you to do and suffer, and as if Christ were but a half mediator; or as if you were to bear part of your own sin, and make part satisfaction. Let sin break thy heart but not thy hope. The higher a bird flies, the more out of danger he is; and the higher a CHRISTIAN soars above the world, the safer are his COMFORTS. "Arise, shine; awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city; for thy Light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee; shake thyself from the dust, ye have sold yourselves for nought; and ye shall be redeemed without money (Isa. 52:1-3; 60:1, 2). Alleluia! Glory to God in the highest!

Fly to the throne of grace by prayer. Pour out your wishes there; Effectual, fervent prayer prevails. When all other method fails, Fly, then, awakened sinners, fly. Your case admits no stay; The fountain's now opened for sin—Come, wash your guilt away. See ho from Jesus' wounded side

The water flows, and blood; If you but touch the purple tide, You then have peace with God. Only by faith in Jesus' wounds The sinner finds RELEASE.

No other sacrifice for sin Will God accept but this. Sinners, I read, are justified BY FAITH in Jesus' blood; But when to me that blood's applied.

'Tis then it does me good. May God bless, I pray, every soul who reads this, to study these lines prayerfully. If one-half of us wearing the NAME of Christianity were one-half as hot for Christ and His doctrine (Mark 1:22; 4:2) as the Communists are for Karl Marx and his beastly doctrine, this Cold War would soon sink into oblivion. It is high time to start a "hot" crusade for Christ and His "Love-Law" Gospel. Truth will prevail and conquer all things. This generation is sunk in worldly cares and ease, and religion is so cheap that it is quite undervalued. The Lord and His great works which He did in the land, are almost worn out of ken and out of mind with this generation; and the generation that knew not Joseph and his afflictions are fast filling the stage and proclaiming themselves unconcerned in them; trampling on that religion that others suffered for, thereby grieving and quenching the Spirit.

The Spirit is compared to a fire; and when that holy fire is cherished and nourished a small spark may become a great flame; but, being neglected and sought to be extinguished, it abates. Many have been the methods taken publicly and privately to quench the Spirit in this generation; and they have prevailed far till that which remains is even ready to die.

Let us look to the Lord for the operation of His mighty power, to cause us to believe. There is urgent need of this:

1. For the begetting of true faith in us, NATURAL POWERS assisted with the best of eternal means will not do it.

2. For the increasing and exercise of FAITH.

And with respect to both, both ministers and people have need to look to the spirit of God. As the ship will make but sorry progress if the wind blow not, so the Gospel will be but ill improved, if the spirit of the Lord does not blow. The times are perilous! "For, behold, darkness covers the earth, and gross darkness the people (Isa. 60:2). The earth is filled with violence. The wickedness of man is great. Dog won't eat dog, but men will eat each other up like cannibals, and boast of it, too. A holy Asaph reflects, "I was as a beast before thee." (s. 73:22). Listen to Abraham, the father of the faithful, who says, "Behold, I have taken upon me to speak unto the Lord, which am but dust and ashes." Then holy Job exclaims: "Behold, I am vile; I abhor myself." Listen to the "Weeping Prophet" Jeremiah a moment: "O, Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I was deceived; thou art stronger than I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision daily, and every one mocketh me. For since I spake, I cried out of violence and spoils; because the word of the Lord was made a reproach unto me, and I a derision daily. Then said I, I will NOT make mention of him NOR SPEAK ANY MORE 'IN HIS NAME.'" (Jer. 20:7,8).

Now we must not forget the greatest of the Apostles (in point of service), St. Paul, the inimitable Paul, the "whole-time" preacher Paul, the traveling evangelist Paul, who deliberately lost his life for the truth's sake, who said, "By the grace of God I am what I am." (I Cor. 15:10). It is no wonder that the great Prince of Peace warned the self-righteous Nicodemus, "Except a man be BORN AGAIN, he cannot see the kingdom of God." None less than God's almighty Son Can move such loads of sin; The water from His side must run To wash this dungeon clean.

BEWARE OF, and shun as serpents, those who are saying, "Where is the promise of his coming? for since the Fathers fell asleep all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." (II Peter 3:4).

Stop, poor mortals, stop and think Before you further go; Will you sport upon the brink Of everlasting woe?

On the verge of ruin stop. Now the friendly warning take, Stay your footsteps, ere you drop, Into the burning lake.

The foregoing Scriptures are the TRUE words of God, taken from the Scriptures and are not the words of men born a hundred or a thousand years since Jesus. St. Peter, St. Paul, St. John and others, writing the inspired words of God, tabernacled here below. Any one seeking the truth can find these Scriptures are identical in the Douay version with the King James. Both versions are faithful in warning men not to ADD to nor take away from them, lest God take away his portion from the tree of life and from the holy city and from the things WRITTEN IN THIS BOOK (Apocalypse 22:18,19. Douay version).

Now, for Christ's sake, let us listen to St. Paul saying that he himself "laboured more abundantly than any of them (the Apostles), yet not I but the grace of God with me (I Cor. 15:10). Also study what a rebuke St. Peter received at Antioch from St. Paul for dissembling (acting the hypocrite with the Jews). "But when Cephas (Peter) came to Antioch, I withstood him to the face, BECAUSE he was DESERVING OF BLAME,

For before certain persons came from James he used to eat with the Gentiles; but when they came, he began to withdraw and separate himself, fearing the circumcised. And the rest of the Jews DISSEMBLED along with him, so that Barnabas also was led away by them into that DISSIMULATION. But when I (Paul) saw that they were not walking uprightly, according to the truth of the Gospel, I said to Cephas (Peter), before them all: "If thou, though a Jew, livest like the Gentiles, and not like the Jews, HOW IS IT THAT THOU DOST COMPEL the Gentiles to live like the Jews?" We are Jews by birth and not sinners from the Gentiles (Gal. 2:11-15).

Now come, dear reader, hear St. Peter saying of St. Paul: "Therefore, beloved, while ye look for these things, endeavor to be found by Him without spot and blameless and in peace. And regard the long-suffering of our Lord as salvation, just as our most dear brother Paul also, according to the wisdom given him, has written you." (II Peter 3:14, 15).

Now, to cap the climax, about the PRIMACY (the chief ecclesiastical station or dignity in a national church) of St. Peter in the infant church of God, let's hear him talk on this matter: "Now I exhort the PRESBYTERS among you—I, your FELLOW-PRESBYTER (one equal to or like another) and WITNESS of the SUFFERINGS of Christ, the partaker also of the glory that is to be revealed in time to come—TEND the flock of God which is among you, governing NOT UNDER CONSTRAINT, but WILLINGLY, according to God; nor yet for the sake of BASE GAIN, but eagerly; not yet as LORDING it over YOUR CHARGES; but becoming from the heart, A PATTERN TO THE FLOCK." (I Peter 5:1-3).

Worship God! Alleluia! Glory to God in the highest!

Pray TO GOD (Acts 8:22; Apocalypse 18:10; 22:9; 19:3; Luke 2:14, Douay version).

Yours in Him, whom to KNOW IS ETERNAL LIFE (Jn. 14:20; 17:3).

WAYLAND

DR. MARTIN SPEAKS The disease of diabetes was discussed last Monday evening by Dr. Lowell D. Martin, of the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, as he spoke to the ladies of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club at the clubhouse here.

"The most important thing to know about diabetes is how to detect it," said Dr. Martin. He went on to explain in layman's terms just what causes the disease, what its symptoms are, the various classes of diabetes, the complications of the disease and its treatment. Dr. Martin emphasized the point that the belief that persons who have lost a great deal of weight and eat a lot of sweets are diabetics, is erroneous, as actually fat persons are more likely to be victims of the disease. He advised overweight persons to reduce and all persons to have checkups in order that the disease, if present, might be detected and controlled. Dr. Martin conducted a question-and-answer period at the conclusion of his discussion.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr., in the absence of Mrs. Delbert Sloan, program leader.

At the conclusion of the program a dessert course was served by Mrs. George E. Evans, Jr., and Mrs. Bert R. Stapleton to the following: Mrs. Buford Rollins, guest, Mrs. L. B. Price, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr., Mrs. M. M. Collins, Mrs. Arnold Cocley, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. Fred Hall, Mrs. N. D. Howard, Mrs. J. E. Miller, and Mrs. Otto Martin.

A business session preceded the program.

HEART SUNDAY was observed at both Wayland and Garrett, February 24. Members of the local Boy Scout troops marched through both communities and surroundings to collect funds for the Heart Drive. At the conclusion of the march cookies and soft drinks were served to the boys by members of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club.

Prestonsburg Youths Attempt 50-Mile Kennedy Hike; Spradlin Reaches 42-Mile Mark At Cow-Cr.

Three Prestonsburg teenagers, listening to the publicity attendant on the attempt of Estill Lee Carter and Carlos Branham to do a 50-mile Kennedy hike, decided to try it themselves.

Like Branham and Carter, they failed but they chalked up a better record. They were Gary Puckett, David Miller and Joe Mayo Spradlin.

The trio started at the Blue Bell Motor Court, south of Ivel, at 8:15 a.m., walked in the direction of Pikeville. Somebody with an car for news called the Pikeville Radio Station WLSI and urged them to send out a mobile unit to interview the 15-year-old youths.

The radio car passed the boys below Pikeville and, not recognizing them, headed north and found Carter and Branham at Mullins school. Publicity passed them by but they were unaware of it. They probably didn't care, anyway, for they were beginning to feel the first faint complaints of their feet.

Arriving at Pikeville, they turned back and faced north again, two hours ahead of Branham and Carter whom they passed on the road. Spradlin, completing approximately 39 miles of walking, capitulated at the Alpine motel, south of Allen, and was picked up by Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and finished the return journey in a car. Gary and David kept grimly on toward Prestonsburg.

They surrendered at 7 p.m. at Cow Creek. Their feet were blistered, and they crawled into Mrs. Hubert Fickett's car. They had walked 42 miles.

They plan to try again in early spring when the weather is warmer.

ARMY'S MOST DECORATED NURSE RETIRING AFTER 30-YR. SERVICE

Col. Ruby G. Bradley, the U. S. Army's most decorated nurse, is retiring from Army service this week after 30 years in uniform.

At the time of her retirement she was director of nursing activities at Brooks Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

A native of Spencer, West Virginia, she is a sister of Smith P. Bradley, of Prestonsburg, whom she has visited here on several occasions.

She received her nurse's training and was graduated from Philadelphia General Hospital in 1933. On October 16, 1934, she entered the Army Nurse Corps and was assigned as a surgical nurse at Walter Reed General Hospital.

Five years later, with world tensions mounting, she was assigned to Ft. Mills, Corregidor, but was shifted to Camp John Hay, Baguio, P.I., as an administrative nurse. On December 29, 1941, she was captured by the Japanese and spent the next 37 months as a prisoner of war. She was liberated from Santa Tomas, Manila, on February 3, 1945. As a prisoner of war she had assisted in 230 major operations, delivered 13 American babies and shrunk to a mere 86 pounds.

Two weeks after her liberation, she was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement while in the hands of the enemy.

Returned to the United States in July, 1945, Col. Bradley was assigned to the Station Hospital at Ft. Myer, Virginia, as assistant chief nurse.

In August she was transferred to McGuire General Hospital Virginia, also as assistant chief nurse and the following March, was made chief nurse at Ft. Eustis, Virginia.

In April, 1946, she was awarded a second Bronze Star for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy in the Southwest Pacific Area from December 8 to 23, 1941.

In September, 1946, she enrolled at the University of California under the Army's training program, as a candidate for a degree in nursing education. In August, 1947, she was assigned as an administrative nurse at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco and a year later she was back at the University of California to complete requirements for her BS in Nursing Education, in January, 1949.

In the interim, she had been awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon, the Distinguished Unit Badge with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the World War II Victory Medal, the American and Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medals, the American Defense Service Medal, Philippine Defense Medal, Philippine Liberation Ribbon, the Allied Occupation Medal (Japan), and the Philippine Presidential Unit Citation.

One month after the Korean War broke out, Col. Bradley volunteered for overseas assignment and was assigned to the 171st Evacuation Hospital. She went as a combat nurse, despite her experience as a prisoner of war earlier.

Always near the frontline troops, she worked to set up casualty hospitals from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang to the South Korean capital of Seoul. Finally, in December, 1950, she was ordered to Japan with the 171st Evacuation Hospital, but in a few months she was back again, and with tenacious stamina served as the Eighth Army's chief nurse until she left Korea in June, 1953.

In June, 1951, she had been awarded the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service from October 31 to November 30, 1950.

In April, 1952, she was awarded the U. N. Service Medal.

On June 18, 1953, as she prepared to leave Korea, Col. Bradley was given a full-dress, honor guard ceremony—the first woman ever to receive a national or international honor guard salute—and Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army Commander, awarded her the First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit. She was entitled to wear seven Korean War battle stars.

Three days later, on June 21, 1953, she left Korea to return to the United States, where she was assigned as chief of the nursing division, medical section, at Third Army.

The Women's National Press club, Washington, D. C., named her "Woman of the Year" in 1953. In 1954, she was named "Atlanta's Woman of the Year in Defense Effort." A few months later, in May, 1954, the West Virginia Society of Washington, D. C., picked her as "Daughter of the Year."

The International Red Cross Committee awarded her the Florence Nightingale medal in June, 1955. In January, 1958, U. S. Lady magazine named her U. S. Lady of the Year—the first woman in uniform ever to be so honored.

Of all the honors Col. Bradley has won, the most significant, perhaps, was a letter from a Decatur, Georgia, mother, which summarizes everything Col. Bradley has worked for during her Army career. The letter was written after Col. Bradley had appeared as the honored guest on "This Is Your Life," in 1954:

"If every mother whose wounded—even dying—son could have, at the time, known that her child was being cared for by such a God-sent woman as you are, how comforted she would have been. Surely some of them were watching last night and even now their grief is made more bearable in the knowing."

"I pray that my own nineteen-year-old son will never have occasion to know a battle field, but in the event that comes to pass, I pray also that you're somewhere near. And I must be speaking for literally thousands of mothers."

CLOSING PLAN STILL STANDS

For Miners Hospitals, Sturgill Is Advised In Letter This Week

Special to The Times
Washington, Feb. 26—Josephine Roche, director of the United Mine Workers of America Welfare and Retirement Fund, replied by letter today to Troy B. Sturgill, chief clerk of the Kentucky House of Representatives, concerning a resolution adopted by the Kentucky House of Representatives requesting the trustees of the fund to reconsider their decision to close the four hospitals of the Miners Memorial Hospital Association at McDowell, Whitesburg, Hazard, and Middlesboro unless they are previously sold under arrangements satisfactory to the Trust Fund.

The reply follows, in part:

"Please be assured there can be no reconsideration by the trustees of their decision made last fall to close the four hospitals of the Miners Memorial Hospital Association at Whitesburg, Hazard, McDowell and Middlesboro by July 1, 1963 unless they are previously sold under arrangements satisfactory to the trust fund.

"The constant reduction in the number of eligible fund beneficiaries in these hospital areas had long made obvious the fact that the trustees under their legal and financial obligations could not permit the trust fund to continue indefinitely financing the operations of these hospitals with their excessive drain on trust fund resources."

Wheelwright Students Have 'Our Town' Roles

Pikeville, Ky., March 5 (Spl.)—Richard E. Roberts and Sandra K. Terry, both of Wheelwright, will have roles in Thornton Wilder's play, "Our Town," to be presented by a Pikeville College student dramatic group at 8 p.m. Thursday (March 14) in Faith Chapel at Pikeville.

The widely known play, which was also the basis of a motion picture of a few years ago, "is thought by many the greatest American play," its director, Dr. Anna I. Miller, said today. Dr. Miller, chairman of the college's division of humanities, is directing a cast of some 20 members of "The Peach Orchard Players," dramatic group at Pikeville.

Famous Basketball Teams Honored Saturday Night

Richmond, Ky., Feb. 25 (Spl.)—Two famous Carr Creek basketball teams were honored Saturday night between halves of the Eastern-Western game at Weaver Gym, Eastern Kentucky State College.

Members of the 1928 Carr Creek team, perhaps the most famous schoolboy basketball team ever in Kentucky, and the present Indian team of Coach Morton Combs, currently the state's second-ranked team, were presented to the capacity crowd of 3,000 and received a standing ovation. Saturday was designated "Carr Creek Day" on the Eastern campus.

The day's activities at Eastern consisted of a pre-game dinner for the Carr Creekers, the Eastern-Western game, a reunion with old friends for the former players, and the special presentation during halftime ceremonies.

The '28 team, although beaten 13-11 by Ashland in four overtimes in the state tournament at old Alumni Gym, and again by Ashland in the quarter finals of the national tournament, was one of the most popular teams in the nation that year. The Knott county five was labeled the "Cinderella Team," for they came from a mountain community, played on an outdoor court, and were underdogs throughout the season.

The regional tournament was played at Eastern that year.

The "Creekers" literally found a "home" here, for six of the top seven players came to Eastern to play under Charles "Turkey" Hughes, present athletic director. Members of Eastern's famous "Carr Creek" team included Ben and Gurney Adams, Zella, Herman and Lawrence Hale, and Gillis Madden. Zella was chosen on the SIAA All-Southern team while at Eastern.

In three varsity seasons, that team posted a 35-14 won-lost record and was selected to play in the SIAA tournament at Jackson, Mississippi, each of the three years. Eastern was a member of the SIAA and the KIAC at that time.

WILD DUCKS

Our ducks are divided into two major groups: The Diving Ducks and the Dabbling Ducks. The Diving Ducks seek their food beneath the surface of deeper ponds, lakes and in the open seas, and often dive at great depths to capture fish, crustaceans and other kinds of food.

The Dabbling Ducks feed mostly in shallow water and are often seen with their tails turned straight up, while they dabble around on the bottom of shallow ponds or marshes for their food, using the bill to stir in the mud for choice tidbits, or water plants. These eat the roots of arrowheads and water plants called "duck potatoes."

THE PINTAIL

This is one of the dabbling ducks and is regarded as the most handsome and stream-lined of all the wild ducks. It is also one of the most widely distributed, and is well known to duck hunters and naturalists. The pintail gets its name from its long, streaming, needle-like tail. Its neck is also long, slender and curving, and has a white stripe leading from the top of the neck down each side to the breast. The breast of the pintail is snow-white, and the head is a rich shade of brown, glossed over with green and purplish tints. Its back is silvery gray, with waves of dusky and white; the wing coverts are tipped with cinnamon and edged with green.

The pintail often winters along the Ohio valley and as far south as the Gulf Coast, and multiplied thousands of them spend the winter in the marshes of Louisiana. This duck may often be seen in our region as it makes its early spring migration back to Hudson Bay and northern lakes to rear its family. Migrating pintails stop off at local ponds and other water areas to rest and feed on their northern migration. This duck is said to be next to the Mallard in abundance and prefers shallow ponds and marshy areas covered by sedges, and reeds. Pintails build their nests in dry sedges or reeds alongside the marshes. These ducks are one of the favorite of duck hunters and make a fine table delicacy. Like the Mallards, they can be domesticated and

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky
By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week the Kentucky State Senate, by a vote of 14 to 12, approved the following resolution: "That the course taken by Col. Gilbert in suppressing the late convention assembled here on February 18 is condemned by the Senate as uncalled for by the exigencies of the time, and not needed or desired by the Union Democracy of Kentucky, who are self-reliant and able to control all such assemblages. Such interference on the part of the military is dangerous in its tendencies, and should not pass unrebuked."

However, at a night session at which some of the senators who had voted for the resolution were not present, the resolution was reconsidered and was buried by being referred to the Committee on Federal Relations. The measure referred to the action of Col. E. A. Gilbert, commander of Union Army troops at Frankfort, in breaking up the Democratic Party state convention, which had assembled at the capital to nominate candidates for governor and other state officers.

During the same week the House of Representatives of the Kentucky legislature adopted a select committee's report exonerating Gen. Lucius Desha, the representative from Harrison county, of a charge of "having given aid and assistance to the Rebel, John Morgan, and his guerrilla band in the engagement at Cynthiana, July 17, 1862, and of otherwise having aided and abetted the present rebellion."

Although Morgan himself was in Tennessee during the week under review, while the legislature was dealing with an aftermath of one of his previous raids into his home state, a detachment of only 750 of his Confederate cavalry under command of Col. R. S. Cluke was spreading consternation among the much larger Union Army forces in the Bluegrass Region. From Winchester, which he occupied, Cluke sent three separate, comparatively small bodies of cavalry respectively toward Lexington, Paris and Mt.

Sterling to demonstrate against the Union garrisons in those towns and confuse the enemy. Finding that his tactics seemingly had immobilized the Union troops and he was in no immediate danger of being attacked, Cluke granted leaves to a good many of his soldiers whose homes were in Central Kentucky, and they visited their families.

The demonstrators sent toward Mt. Sterling learned that the Union garrison was evacuating the town, so they attacked and routed the Federals. Cluke then moved to Mt. Sterling. Union officers had found out that the Confederates were not so numerous as they had first believed, and on February 25 a Federal brigade drove Cluke out of the Montgomery county seat. Upon hearing of that, the Confederates on leave hurriedly reported for duty. Cluke sent one of his men, in a Union uniform, riding into Mt. Sterling with faked orders for the brigade to march at once to Paris. As soon as it left, Cluke moved in, capturing Union supplies that had been left under a light guard.

Brotherhood Award Made To Combs In Recognition Of Rights Contributions

Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky has received the "Brotherhood Award" of the Chicago Conference for Brotherhood presented in recognition of his contributions to civil rights.

The interracial organization cited achievements such as establishment of the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights, Combs' sponsorship of two state-wide Governors' Conferences on Human Rights, and enactment of a Merit System which forbids racial discrimination in the hiring of state employees.

In introducing Governor Combs to the Chicago Conference, Frank L. Stanley, Sr., publisher of The Louisville Defender, described him as "one of the most remarkable statesmen of our age" and said that "because of his leadership, civil rights have taken on a new meaning in Kentucky."

ADDED HOSPITAL CARE PROVIDED IN PROGRAM

Frankfort, Ky., March 4 (Spl.) — Four additional days of hospital care and other liberalizations of the State's Medical Care Program for the needy and aged will go into effect April 1, Governor Bert Combs has announced.

The Governor reported the expanded benefits at a meeting of the Kentucky Advisory Council for Medical Assistance, which sets goals and makes recommendations for the Medical Care Program. The program is administered by the Department of Economic Security and the Department of Health.

The liberalized provisions announced by the Governor are:

1. An additional four days of hospital care paid for, raising the limit from six to 10.
2. An increase in the income limit for older persons eligible for medical care. The present income limit of $1,200 for single persons will be raised to $1,600 and the present limit of $1,800 for married couples will be raised to $2,400.
3. Six additional annual home or office visits by physicians, raising the annual limit from 12 to 18. In addition the scope of eligible home or office services by physicians has been broadened to include preventive, diagnostic, and rehabilitative services in addition to treatment of illness.

4. The list of medical drugs which may be paid for under the program has been expanded to include drugs previously recommended by the Advisory Council but not previously provided because of lack of funds.

5. The program will now pay for fluoride treatment of children's teeth as a decay preventive measure and the present $48 annual ceiling on dental services has been removed. The Advisory Council has long recommended the fluoride treatment, pointing out that decay prevention will cut dental costs of the program in future years.

The Governor said a review of the Medical Care Program showed that additional services could be provided to the aged and indigent citizens who are eligible for the care provided. The program, launched January 1, 1961, is financed by state and federal funds.

The Kentucky Hospital Association and the Medical Advisory Council have long been on record advocating additional days of hospital care for Medical Care Program recipients, Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell and Health Commissioner Dr. Russell Teague pointed out.

Claims paid under the Medical Care Program during its first two years totaled $6,705,116 with the state's share of this total amounting to $1,756,422. Edward Ellis, administrator of the program for the Department of Economic Security, reported at the meeting.

He said the expenditures were broken down as follows: physicians, $1,541,873; pharmacists, $1,576,280; hospitals, $3,258,671; dentists, $280,442; and nursing homes, $47,856.

COST OF LOAF OF BREAD NO BENEFIT TO FARMER

The cost of a pound loaf of bread went up by more than half between 1947-49 and 1961—from 13.5 to 20.9 cents, USDA reports. Yet the farmer gets less for the wheat in the loaf now than he did in the 1947-49 period. The retailer gets about the same amount. The big increase has been in costs of baking and delivering bread.

KENTUCKY IS AWARDED FOR TRAVEL PROMOTION

Frankfort, Feb. 21 (Spl.)—For the nation's "most creative concept and imaginative presentation of travel advertising and promotion" Kentucky's Department of Public Information and its Tourist and Travel Division have won Redbook Magazine's 1962 national "Award of Excellence."

The award, an engraved bronze plaque signed by John J. Cain, publisher of Redbook, was presented to Gov. Bert Combs here by Warren Shoemaker, Chicago, Redbook's Midwest representative.

Shoemaker explained that Kentucky was chosen for the award in competition with other states which conduct aggressive travel promotion programs.

Combs pointed out that the state's travel program was instrumental in attracting a record number of vacationers from other states last year. "The out-of-state traveler spent $205,000,000 within the borders of Kentucky last year, $12,000,000 more than was spent the previous year," Governor Combs added.

Shoemaker explained that Redbook's judges considered all segments of a state's travel promotion program in making the award.

"Advertising alone did not win this award for Kentucky," he added. "Our judges also studied your publicity efforts on behalf of your state's travel attractions, your motion pictures and television films, your attractive travel folders, your exhibits, the tours you conduct for travel writers, your outdoor posters and many other features of your program. I am happy to say Kentucky scored high in all categories."

Participating in the presentation were Cattie Lou Miller, commissioner of the Department of Public Information, Charles Warnick, director of the Tourist and Travel Division, and employees of the Public Information Department.

Miss Miller told the group that the national award climaxes a "strong promotion and advertising program which was launched in 1960."

"Kentucky's selection for the award," Shoemaker said, "is not related to the amount of advertising used in Redbook Magazine. Space used by a number of states with larger advertising budgets

PERRY ISSUES FOOD STAMPS

Three Regional Counties Participate In Program Of Assistance To Needy

Perry county began issuing food stamp coupons Monday to its eligible needy families certified to participate in the pilot food stamp project.

The project is an experiment of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to test out another means of using America's agricultural abundance to improve the diets of low-income families by increasing their food purchasing power.

Perry joins Floyd and Knott to give Kentucky three counties now participating in the federal food program. No other counties in Kentucky have been designated to take part in the pilot food stamp program.

The pilot projects in Kentucky are administered by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service in cooperating with the Kentucky Department of Economic Security.

As in Floyd and Knott counties, food stamp coupons will be issued to Perry county residents who have been determined to be in economic need of food assistance. Ralph E. Wells, social service supervisor for the Department of Economic Security, reports that more than 1,000 needy families have been certified to accept food stamp coupons. Wells estimates that 3,200 Perry families, or about 12,000 persons, are eligible to receive food stamp coupons. Most of these families are expected to be certified within the next few weeks, he said.

All persons receiving public assistance are eligible to receive food stamp coupons. Other persons whose income is very low may also be eligible to participate in the food stamp project.

According to Carl Horn, food stamp project supervisor of the Agricultural Marketing Service, nearly 154 grocery stores have been authorized to accept food stamp coupons in Perry county's pilot project.

Horn reminded grocers not to accept food coupons unless they have been authorized by the Agricultural Marketing Service. If any food merchants have not turned in their application, Horn said, they should do so immediately before food coupon customers begin trying to trade at their stores.

When fixing up home study areas, keep the table or desk surface dull and light-colored. This type of surface will add to the available light for seeing. Lighted shiny surfaces, such as highly-polished finishes and mirror tops, produce glare, which become irritating to the eyes. A good desk-top finish is a pastel blotter, for example.
