Day of Decision On Liquor Issue

Both sides on the issue of a wet or dry Floyd county stepped up their respective campaigns this week in anticipation of the day of decision, the election next Tuesday.

The June 29 voting will be the first local option poll since 1969 when the county voted dry by more than 2000 votes.

The countywide vote was ordered after an attempt to hold a vote in only one magisterial district, No. 3, was held illegal, and after a petition filed with County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. asked the countywide vote.

Dry forces, represented by the Committee Against the Sale of Alcoholic Beverages, are headed by Huey Darby, chairman, and George Barnette, treasurer. The opposition, the Committee for Alcoholic Beverage Control, has as its chairman Sandy Boyd, with Fred Bingham as treasurer.

Leaders of both sides in the campaign this week expressed confidence they would win the election.

Historically, Floyd county has voted dry. It has been dry for more than 35 years.

Election officers for next Tuesday's voting were named by the county election commission last week and these officers will be instructed in the use of voting machines at the courthouse Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m.

Although a heavy vote is expected, the number of applications for absentee ballots is far below the number normally filed in major elections, County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson said. As of Tuesday morning, only 186 applications had been received, and Tuesday was the last day they can be accepted legally.

PART OF A GROUP of some 400 Mud Creek area residents who gathered to discuss strategies for the rebuilding of the Mud Creek Health Clinic, are pictured at a special community meeting, Sunday evening at the John M. Stumbo Elementary School. The clinic and all equipment contained therein was lost to fire last Tuesday night.

Judge Rules Mayor Must Sign Contract

The unusual procedure of a legislative body going to court to force by mandamus action its executive officer to sign an ordinance which it had voted resulted last Friday in an order by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley for Mayor Larry B. Hall, of Martin, to do just that.

Yet the case, which involves the future water supply for the community, is not closed. Mayor Hall was given till Friday, this week, for possible appeal of the decision, and Hall said Monday that an appeal "definitely will be filed."

Members of the Martin city council who had voted the ordinance and later passed it over the mayor's veto, voiced the fear that continued litigation may lose federal funding and jeopardize the entire water system project at Martin, but Mayor Hall said he has no such fear.

"Funds are locked in for water transmission mains inside Martin," he explained.

The ordinance in question was enacted by the council, providing for the purchase of water from the Prestonsburg system when an auxiliary or "backup" source of supply was needed.

John David Preston, attorney for Mayor Hall, argued that if the ordinance stands, as passed, it would eliminate competitive bidding between standby water suppliers, since it accepts Prestonsburg as the source. David Barber, Martin city attorney representing the council, maintained, however, that bids were sought from the Beaver Elkhorn Water District, as well as from Prestonsburg, and that the former failed to submit a bid.

Mayor Hall continues to argue that the town will save money, now and in the future, by getting its water from Beaver Elkhorn. "I feel that the people of Martin want to go with Beaver Elkhorn," he said.

Opponents point out, however, that the council, representing the people, knows public sentiment and continues to insist on the town having its own water plant, with Prestonsburg water available in an emergency.

Both factions agree that, regardless of the source of water, a general overhaul of the existing transmission lines must be done.

In rendering his decision that Mayor Hall must sign the ordinance contracting with Prestonsburg as a water source Judge Conley said, "The question of which is a better deal (to recon-

Police Suspect Arson, Robbery; Rebuilding Seen

Fire late last Tuesday night destroyed the 20-room main building of the Mud Creek Health Clinic, a trailer which housed the respiratory therapy unit, all equipment housed in the structures, and nearly 20,000 patient charts. In short, all was lost. But by 8 o'clock the following morning, medical staff and employees gathered near the smoldering ruins of the clinic on the Mink Branch of Big Mud Creek to resume operations, the best they could.

A booth was set up in the yard, telephone company workers promptly ran a new line, using a willow tree in place of a pole, and more than 20 patients were seen that day. The attitude on the part of all the employees was "What can I do to help?" according to Eula Hall, personnel director of the clinic.

A like number of patients was seen on Thursday, and by Friday, clinic operations had been moved to the John M. Stumbo elementary school at Grethel. Necessary equipment and supplies were provided by Floyd county's three hospitals as well as the

Neeley Penned 10 Years After His Third Trial

In a matter of little more than five hours Tuesday, a jury was empanelled, testimony was heard, the case argued and a verdict given in the third trial of Cisco Neeley, charged with the death in an auto collision five years ago of Mrs. Loletta Howard on KY 7, near Hueysville.

Neeley was convicted and his pen term was set at 10 years. He was given terms of 8 and 10 years at his two earlier trials, and both verdicts were overturned on appeal.

At Tuesday's hearing neither the defendant nor any defense witness testified. Commonwealth testimony was produced by four who said they were eyewitnesses to the tragedy and by Debbie Jacobs and Danny Stumbo, of the Kentucky State Police, Commonwealth.

Brother-in-Law Stabbing Victim, Miss. Man Held

A dispute between brothers-in-law over the merits of one truck as compared with another is cited as the probable cause of the fatal stabbing at David last Wednesday night of Milton Charles Lindsey, 27, allegedly, by John Dwayne Hill, 18.

It was the third slaying in this county in as many weeks.

Bond of $30,000, plus $1000 bond to keep the peace, has been asked by District Judge Harold J. Stumbo for Hill's release.

The slaying was investigated by Sheriff Henry C. Hale, State Police Detective Robert O. Forsythe and Coroner Roger Nelson. Sheriff Hale said he was told the two men, residents of the same mobile home on the Mountain Parkway, near here, had driven after work to Magoffin county to look at a truck and on their return trip began arguing. This version of the trouble says Mrs. Lindsey and her son, Jason, 5, occupied the middle of the truck seat, with Hill driving and Lindsey sitting next to the opposite door. Lindsey began striking Hill with his hand or fist, the sheriff said he was told, and Hill stopped the truck near the foot of the mountain, on the outskirts of David. Both left the truck and met at its rear, where the stabbing took place.

Autopsy Is Ordered In Probe Of Death

The body of David Gibson, 14-year-old Prestonsburg boy who died Tuesday morning, has been sent to Pikeville for an autopsy to be performed today (Wednesday) by Dr. George Buckley, district medical examiner.

The autopsy, Coroner Roger Nelson said, was ordered to pinpoint the cause of death. The boy was suddenly stricken shortly around noon Tuesday on Graham Street, and the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad was called to the scene as he apparently had difficulty breathing. He was dead on arrival at the Highlands Medical Center.

Coroner Nelson said a 10-year-old boy-companion of the victim reported that they had been sniffing gasoline. The victim was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson. Funeral arrangements had not been announced Tuesday afternoon.

This Town...That World

Now that Mother's Day and Father's Day have come and gone, wonder if somebody could arrange for us fossils a little of the old heyday.

UNPALATABLE, TOO

Harold Black, one of the first preachers to get me interested in the human condition—this human's condition, in particular—was in town last week but didn't get around for the usual palaver session. But he did leave behind a bit of grist for the mill. It goes to this effect:

The Upper Crust is a batch of crumbs held together by a lot of dough.

WELCOME VISITORS

Besides the birds that—thanks be!—are always with us, we have other visitors that are seldom seen around the place. A mother rabbit and her youngster have been hopping around the yard and on occasion feeding with the birds, and two young squirrels and another that we presume is the mother have ventured down. But still missing is the groundhog which graced the scene, a few seasons back, and the fox that looked us over from the mouth of his den.

These are among the delights left us more sedentary folk, these pushy, modern days.

PARTING SHOT

We're doing a little work on an addition to our building, and Lenna Moore left last week for Evansville, Ind. with this parting observation: "See your desk has got so bad you're gonna have to move to a new room." Just like he had to take Mrs. Moore with him to keep from getting lost.

OFFICIAL WARNING

Found on aforesaid desk the following, marked "Important Notice," and apparently indited by a curmudgeon of an employer:

GAPING TEAR IN GUARDRAIL near the intersection of U.S. 23 and the Mountain Parkway near the Western Sizzlin' Steakhouse shows the path which a tandem truck rig took last Thursday morning as its driver, Joseph R. Henry, of St. Clairsville, O., attempted to avoid an auto which veered into its path. The rig, hauling roof bolt plates for the Smith Trucking Service, of Steubenville, O., and heading toward Allen (south) at the time of the mishap, struck the auto, driven by Arthur MacDonald, of Pikeville, and vaulted over the bank landing on its top as shown in photo. Henry escaped the accident, reportedly unmarked, and MacDonald, whose injuries are not believed serious, was treated at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Formaldehyde—Area's Unseen Health Menace

When Russell and Susann Smith bought a mobile home two years ago, they thought it was the right move. Since Mr. Smith's job carried with it the possibility of relatively frequent relocation, easily transportable housing seemed a wise choice.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith wanted a high-quality trailer with "all the conveniences," and so they sank about $25,000 into a 14 x 70-ft. single-wide mobile home purchased from an Olive Hill, Ky. dealer. The trailer was set up on a nice lot at Dana, and the Smiths, with their eight-year-old daughter and infant son, excitedly moved into their new home. That's when the nightmare began.

"The first night my baby never stopped crying," Mrs. Smith recalled. "The next morning we were at the emergency room and he had a high fever and ear infection—the first time he'd ever had anything like that."

Mrs. Smith and her daughter developed chronic throat blisters, and Mr. Smith experienced headaches, but it was their son, then four months old, who suffered most. "I'd average twice a week to the doctor," Mrs. Smith said, "and the baby kept a cold." Doctors looked, unsuccessfully, for bacterial or viral causes for the chronic illness, and one Pikeville physician even tested the child for cystic fibrosis. Such was the severity of the frequent bouts of respiratory trouble.

Conventional allergy testing revealed only minor and quite manageable allergies, but the illness continued.

At age 1½, the child "was not talking at all," according to Mrs. Smith, and he did not respond as quickly to stimuli as their other child had at the same age. It was then they found that the child had suffered hearing damage.

The Smiths felt desperate and helpless, but they had come to associate their problems with the mobile home. "We always knew we couldn't get him well there," Mrs. Smith said, referring to her chronically ill child. "We didn't know why."

Finally, Mrs. Smith noticed an article in a daily newspaper concerning the work of Dr. Charles Jordan, a Pikeville College professor of chemistry, on the effects of exposure to formaldehyde, particularly within the home.

Court Approves Bonds for New Bank Structure

The $2,293,766 budget adopted June 11 for the county for the next fiscal year received final court approval last Wednesday after it had been reviewed and approved by Robert L. Purdom, state local finance officer.

The court voted its cooperation with Prestonsburg Bankshares, Inc. a subsidiary of the First Commonwealth Bank, in $6½ million financing through the issuance of the Economic Development building bonds for construction of a bank building here, with attendant downtown business improvement, in the area at the intersection of Arnold (Second) avenue and Friend street. No obligation is incurred by the county.

Burl W. Spurlock, president of First Commonwealth, said a lengthy financing procedure is involved and that it would be premature at this time to detail construction plans.

Wednesday Marks Opening Of Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre

Tonight (Wednesday) is when theatre-goers will catch all the glittering fun weeks of rehearsal and preparation have produced at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre. It's opening night!

Heading off this season is The Music Man, the All-American musical theatre classic that features a swindling salesman challenged by Iowa stubbornness. The salesman, Harold Hill, wins the town over, but has his heart won over by the town's librarian, Marion. The Music Man will run this week on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday and then continue through August 22 in repertory with The Fantasticks (opening Saturday) and Shenandoah (opening July 7.)

And, adding to the glamour of opening night, movie actress Cheryl Ladd will be at the theatre for the second night of the season tomorrow (Thursday).

Miss Ladd, in the area to film the 20th Century Fox production, Mantrip, will be joined by Walter Doniger, film writer-producer-director; Mel Efnos, production manager; Olivia Maggard, casting director; Jack Clements, first assistant director, and Raymond Bradbury of Martin County Coal Corporation. Much of the upcoming film is to be done in and around the Martin County Coal Corporation mines.

The production staff for 20th Century Fox plans to take advantage of the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre talent pool. Many cast members of The Music Man, The Fantasticks, and Shenandoah will also be seen on CBS this fall when Mantrip airs.

Reservations for the five summer music theatre performances this week are going fast. Call 886-9274 for tickets.

Mark 21 Years of Achievement

Roger and Karen See, of Haiti, receive $300 check from Karen Prater, member of Joy Bible Clubs.

The Joy Bible Clubs of Eastern celebrated their 21st year of Achievement Programs, May 22. A full house of well-wishers shared in this activity.

The program began with a medley of songs, followed by two puppet plays. Muppeteers were Karen Prater, Mitsy Branham, Melissa Conley, Katrina Bragg, and Kelly Branham. The Tuesday club recited Psalm 8.

Some children of the Thursday Club drew pictures from Bible stories which were then drawn by them on slides and shown on the screen. These drawings were done by Jenifer Martin, Darnella Bradley, Tracy Gunnels, Faith Frazier, Warren Halbert, Jeremy Bellamy, Brian Conley, Milly Gibson, Allison Ratliff, and Millison Ratliff. The children then joined with others to recite Psalm 100 and John 14:1-6. Timothy Slone was skillful in his timed exercise of books of the New Testament.

Karen and Roger See and their family from Haiti were the honor guests. An event long anticipated by the children of Joy Bible Club finally arrived when Karen Prater, a seventh grader presented a gift of $300 to the See family for their work among the Haitian people. Karen explained that the children raised this money by giving weekly offerings through a 12 mile walk-a-thon and through selling items, also recycling. After expressing their gratitude to the Bible Club boys and girls, the Sees showed their collection of Haitian curios, showed colored slides of their work, sang with their children, Darcie, Aaron and Julie, in the Creole language and taught the audience to sing in Creole.

Awards were presented to: Melissa Conley, top award; Karen Prater, runner-up; Gold Trophy Cup, to Melissa Conley, and Silver Cup to Kelly Branham, runner-up; to the Thursday Club—Jennifer Martin, Gold Cup and runner-up Silver Cup to Darnella Bradley. Camp awards: Karen Prater (best) and partial camp awards to Kelly Branham, Katrina Bragg, Melissa Branham, Tim Slone, Warren Halbert, Jeremy Bellem, Brian Conley. Other awards were given to Jennifer Martin, Darnella Bradley, Tracy Gunnels, Faith Frazier, Millie Gibson, Kenneth Bradley, Scottie Bellem, Miranda Prater, Vanessa Conley, Angela Bragg, Patty Baldrige, and Allison and Millison Ratliff.

Karen Prater, Melissa Conley, Jennifer Martin, Tim Slone, Jeremy and Scottie Bellem, Darnella Bradley, Faith Frazier, Patty Baldrige and Miranda Prater were commended for their excellence in Bible memorization.

Crafts made by the Bible Clubbers were displayed. These two clubs will again resume in the fall, as usual. They are held in the home of Miss Lois Holmquist and Miss Barbara Wynsma at Eastern. Miss Sarah Helmentoler is also instructor in the clubs.

Mrs. Patti Bellem presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Julie Klint served the decorated Bible Club cakes.

Mountain Music Concert MSU To Feature Goins Bros., Others

Culminating Morehead State University's sixth annual Appalachian Celebration will be a Mountain Music Concert, Saturday, (June 26) at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room of the Adron Doran University Center.

The Appalachian Celebration is a week-long festival of events appealing to a wide range of age, interest, and educational levels and that pay homage to Appalachia's past, present and future. It is sponsored by MSU's Appalachian Development Center.

The concert will feature regional musicians and will be highlighted by the dancing feet of James Bowling, holder of both national and world championship awards in clogging. Bowling is an MSU graduate and a native of Ashland.

Ray Ross, Jr., assistant professor of music at MSU, will emcee the program which will open and close with music by Leo Blair and the Appalachian Celebration Band, including Ray Ross, Jr., Ken Baldauf, and Ray Ross III. Other performers include Herb Rose, Sonja Bird Yancey, J.P. and Anna-deene Fraley and the Goins Brothers Band of Prestonsburg.

The Goins Brothers will perform in the Mountain Music Concert shortly after having returned from the World's Fair in Knoxville. Members of the band have played with the Lonesome Pine Fiddlers and with both Ralph Stanley and Bill Monroe. The band has performed at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville and at major Bluegrass festivals around the country. They have 14 record albums to their credit and have represented Kentucky in concert at the Smithsonian Institute.

Mexico is estimated to have enough oil to supply all U.S. needs for the next 40 years.

WHY AM I AFRAID TO TALK ABOUT DEATH?

You should know first that your fears are common ones which have been fostered for many centuries. Until recent years the subject has been taboo and "swept under the rug" until it affects us personally. Only recently has there been substantial scientific research on the subject.

We don't talk about death because we fear it and we know so little about it. In the interest of mental health, such feelings need to be changed. Public education, based on our new psychological and medical data, offer us our greatest help.

These educational helps are becoming more and more available to us. The librarian (and we) can recommend some very fine books written about death-and-dying; thanatology courses are offered in many schools; many churches now offer classes and discussion groups on the subject.

Here at our funeral home, we can arrange a tour of the facilities and an explanation of our services for you and your friends. We can also be your personal consultants to answer some of your concerns about death.

Students To Attend U.S. Skill Olympics

Thirteen students from Mayo State Vocational-Technical School will participate in the VICA (Vocational Clubs of America) United States Skill Olympics to be held in Louisville this week. Kentucky will be the host for this event.

Danny Blevins will compete in the job interview contest and Terry Fields in the mining mechanics competition. Both students won the Kentucky Skill Olympics in their respective contests in March.

Mayo's opening and closing ceremony team will also compete for national honors. The team members are Sherry Layne, Pansy Griffith, Karen Mims, John Johnson, John Holbrook and Kirby Alexander.

Randall Muncy and Mike Porter will represent Mayo as part of the "Hillbilly" Hospitality Corps. These students will serve as hosts for the Skill Olympics.

Two students, Dink Huffman and Roger Coleman, will serve as national voting delegates. Both have held state offices for the past two years. Approximately 5,000 persons are expected to take part in the United States Skill Olympics. Kentucky will be the host for the next two years.

★ COUNTY JUDGE - GARZA COUNTY
(806) 495-2521
POST, TEXAS 79356
16 June 1982

Mr. Norman Allen, Editor
FLOYD COUNTY TIMES
3rd Avenue
Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653

Dear Mr. Allen:

Reference the advertisements that have been appearing in your newspaper against the sale of alcoholic beverages, citing crime figures in Post, Texas.

I am presently running for my fourth term as County Judge of Garza County, taking office in 1970, and have been a lifetime resident of the County, living here when the county was voted wet to sell alcoholic beverages in 1960. The advertisement you have been publishing has been used many times in the past 22 years by communities having alcohol elections but we have been unable to determine the source of the information used in the advertisement. I do know the figures are not correct now, nor have they ever been correct. In fact our County has a very low incidence of crime.

The legalization of the sale of alcoholic beverages has provided a boost to our economy. The businesses operate in an orderly fashion and are a part of the business community.

Garza County, of which Post is the county seat, is a rural community with a population of 5,364, which is dependent on textile industry, farming and ranching, and the oil industry for support. We have an unemployment rate of 2% and do not feel the legal sale of alcoholic beverages has created unemployment, an increase in crime or other illegal activities.

On behalf of the people of Post, Texas, we would like you to publish this letter to "set the record straight" on our community. While this letter is not in support of the sale, or against the sale, of alcoholic beverages, it is intended to correct false figures and the representation made on crime in the city of Post, Texas.

Sincerely,

GILES W. DALBY
County Judge
Garza County, Texas

cc: Huey Darby
Roy L. Compton

Information below taken from district court records of Floyd and Fayette Counties during the period Jan., 1981 to March 18, 1982.

	Floyd County (Prestonsburg)	Fayette County (Lexington)
Population	48,000	215,000
Percent of Population Arrested Involving Alcohol	3%	1.4%
Number of Arrests per 1000 People, Involving Alcohol	31 per 1000	14 per 1000

CONCLUSIONS AND FACTS

1. Twice as many arrests per 1000 people are made in dry Floyd County as in (wet Lexington) Fayette County.
2. Floyd County has less than 1/4 the population as has Fayette County.
3. People that abuse alcohol are in the minority (3% maximum in Floyd County)
4. People have easy access to illegal alcohol beverages in Floyd County including those under 21 years of age.
5. More people in Floyd County drink on the highway when coming from where they buy the alcoholic beverages, because they are afraid if they don't consume the beverages as fast as possible they will be confiscated.
6. In an area where alcoholic beverages are legalized there is less trouble related to alcohol than in a dry area.

WE HAVE AVOIDED THESE PROBLEMS FOR ALMOST 40 YEARS NOW. WHY DON'T WE GET THEM OUT IN THE OPEN SO WE CAN DEAL WITH THEM LIKE PEOPLE IN OTHER AREAS HAVE DONE? ANY QUESTIONS CONCERNING THE FACTS ABOVE SHOULD BE DIRECTED TO THE COMMITTEE FOR ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CONTROL.

THIS COMMITTEE IS MADE UP OF CONCERNED CITIZENS AND IS NOT FUNDED BY ANY ONE INDIVIDUAL OR ORGANIZATION. WE NEED THE SUPPORT AND HELP OF PEOPLE INTERESTED IN FLOYD COUNTY. ANY CONTRIBUTION WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

ECONOMIC FACTS

1. ASHLAND RECEIVES A 3% LICENSE FEE THAT AMOUNTS TO $24,000 PER MONTH.
2. $800,000 PER MONTH IS BEING SPENT IN ASHLAND ON LEGAL ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES THAT PREVIOUSLY HAD BEEN SPENT ELSEWHERE.
3. A $12 MILLION MOTEL IS BEING BUILT IN ASHLAND THAT ACCORDING TO THE MAYOR WOULD NEVER HAVE BEEN BUILT THERE HAD NOT ASHLAND VOTED FOR THE LEGAL SALE OF ALCOHOL.
4. MAGOFFIN COUNTY RECEIVES A LICENSE FEE THAT AMOUNTS TO $240,000 PER YEAR.
5. FLOYD COUNTY COULD RECEIVE $1 MILLION PER YEAR FROM A SIMILAR FEE ALONE. THIS WOULD NOT INCLUDE TAXES FROM SCHOOL AND PROPERTY TAX.
6. BASED ON WHAT IS SPENT IN ASHLAND, WE COULD LOOK FORWARD TO KEEPING $3 MILLION PER MONTH HERE IN FLOYD COUNTY THAT IS NOW BEING SPENT ELSEWHERE.

ANSWER YES—VOTE YES

1. Are you against selling alcoholic beverages to people under 21 years of age?
2. Are you for keeping money in the community that is now spent elsewhere on legal alcoholic beverages?
3. Are you for the people controlling the sales of alcoholic beverages?
4. Are you against the criminal element controlling sales of alcoholic beverages?
5. Are you for having a voice in the control of alcoholic beverages through local government?
6. Are you against bootlegging and the criminal element that control the sale of alcoholic beverages?
7. Are you for developing the community so as to attract business to the community which will create more jobs?

PLEASE CONSIDER THESE TWO QUESTIONS AND YOU WILL SURELY COME TO THE DECISION TO

VOTE YES:

1. WHY DON'T THE DRY FORCES FIGHT BOOTLEGGING AS HARD AS THEY DO LEGAL SALES?
2. WHO WOULD BENEFIT FROM A DRY FLOYD COUNTY?

The Boom That Was

After riding high on a coal boom, the like of which the region had never before experienced, Eastern Kentucky recoils in shock to the knowledge that the boom is no more.

But, even as coal mining is admittedly "slow in general," there are encouraging signs that the industry will rebound. In fact, there are those who even now are preparing for the renaissance of the industry, although the days when anything black would sell are gone.

Mining permits are still being sought, and at Ashland a permit is being sought for a river port to be constructed, mainly for the shipping of coal. At the same time, John T. Collison, president and chief executive officer of the Chessie System, spoke in Huntington of his company's "concentrating more and more in the Tri-State area" and of his confidence in a market turn-around for coal.

While smaller mines depending on the "spot market" struggle, larger operations with contracts for their coal apparently are still thriving. Mr. Collison pointed out that last month, a "slow market" month for most, 3.3 million tons of coal were dumped at Chessie's Chesapeake Bay docks—and that surpassed the company's May, 1980 record of 2.9 million tons.

The coal business will return to normal, or above normal, production, eventually. And it will fall again, and rise, and fall, as it always has. The fatalities will be the small miners. Many of these may already be doomed. Big Coal and Big Oil will swallow most of them in the best Little Fish, Big Fish tradition.

And that is bad news. This county needs the "small" operator—people who live here, spend their money here and, win or lose, remain a part of Floyd county.

struct the Martin plant and use Prestonsburg water in emergency or to contract with Beaver Elkhorn for all water needed—I can't attempt to answer that. All I can decide is what is legally correct."

After reviewing the steps taken toward adoption of the ordinance contracting with the Prestonsburg system, he added, "I think the town council has followed the proper procedure and that the mayor should go along with them on this."

Magoffin County Clinic so that some semblance of "business as usual" was resumed in spite of the disastrous fire.

The blaze reportedly started at the rear of the main clinic building, and state police are investigating the possibility of a case of attempted robbery and arson. According to Mrs. Hall, a "low" estimate of $300,000 loss has been determined. She said the clinic was covered by only "minimum" insurance.

By the end of the week representatives of the Appalachian Regional Commission and the state Department for Human Resources inspected the damage, and Mrs. Hall expressed hope that assistance may be available from one or both agencies.

Additional funding possibilities were discussed in a community meeting held Sunday at the school which was attended by some 400 area residents, "mostly patients and supporters," according to clinic board member Delmar Frazier. He pointed out that $1,463 was raised from individuals who attended the meeting, with an additional $3000 being pledged. Two thousand dollars of that total came in the form of a pledge from the United Mine Workers. The UMWA has been closely involved with the clinic's respiratory therapy unit which has served area miners who suffer from occupation-related ailments.

Frazier said the immediate aim of the clinic board is to raise $45,000 for a new clinic structure to be located about one-half mile from the old location on the main Mud Creek road (979). "If we can raise enough to buy the site, then we feel confident that we'll be able to get the $400,000 we need in grant money for construction of a new clinic complex," Frazier pointed out. He said plans for a new clinic and location had been talked in the past "but all the federal cutbacks made it impossible."

"Now that we have to rebuild," he said, "we want to make an all-out effort to purchase the new site and go with our earlier plans."

(Individuals or businesses interested in helping with the rebuilding of the clinic, which has served thousands of patients in the Mud Creek section since 1974, may call 587-2200.)

WIN MEN'S DOUBLES IN PIKEVILLE MEET

In the final round of the men's doubles division, Russell Music, Sr. and Thomas Tackett, of Prestonsburg, defeated Harvey Tackett, of Jenkins, and Lee Smith, of Pikeville, 6-2, 6-3. The Pikeville College tennis team sponsored the tournament which was held May 19-23.

Coroner Nelson said Lindsey lived "six to eight minutes, at the most." Hill had marks about his face and eye which, it was claimed, were the result of his brother-in-law's blows. Mrs. Lindsey was quoted as admitting the two men had had "a few beers."

Lindsey, his wife and son and Hill were all from Corinth, Miss., and the two men were employed by a contractor on a coal tippie being built in Breathitt county for the Sierra Coal Company.

The body of the victim was sent by the Floyd Funeral Home last Thursday to Corinth for burial.

The court employed 12 lifeguards who will do summer work at the new Allen Park swimming pool part-time on a rotating basis. They are James Doug Adams, Coletta D. Harris, David R. Hereford, II, Steve M. Hinchman, Brian K. Holbrook, Pamela L. Porter, Tamyra A. Prater, Paula A. Spencer, Letisha L. Fields, James R. Turner, Meada G. Hall, Joan Alma Slone.

Representatives of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co., who were present when a Dwale woman protested a road hazard at Dwale where drivers approach a rise on a one-way road and are unable to see approaching traffic, promised a study of the road and possible correction.

The court approved travel reimbursement at the rate of 20 cents per mile for individuals using their own vehicles for authorized county business purposes. Sol Crum was authorized to run a small gas line through a culvert on the Arkansas Creek road, and the Columbia Gas Transmission Co. was granted permission to construct a two-inch line along 476 feet of a dirt road on a branch of Toler Creek.

Gunfire Riddles Home Of Widow Late Monday

State Trooper James Rederick said Tuesday morning that he had no clue to the identity of the person or persons who riddled windows and doors of the home on KY 7, three miles west of Hueysville, of widowed Norma Lee (Ducky) Moore around midnight Monday.

Neighbors said several shots were fired into the residence, near the mouth of the Raccoon Fork of Salt Lick, and that buckshot or deer slugs were fired into the house from an automobile or truck.

Mrs. Moore, who is the widow of Glenn Moore, was not hit but was later taken to a hospital, apparently, suffering from shock. She was alone at the time of the shooting, it was said. No motive for the incident had been learned Tuesday.

Letters to the Editor

The views expressed here are those of the writers, and not necessarily those of this newspaper. No unsigned contributions will be published.

Says Ad Incorrect

Reference the advertisements that have been appearing in your newspaper against the sale of alcoholic beverages, citing crime figures in Post, Texas.

I am presently running for my fourth term as County Judge of Garza County, taking office in 1970, and have been a lifetime resident of the County, living here when the county was voted wet to sell alcoholic beverages in 1960. The advertisement you have been publishing has been used many times in the past 22 years by communities having alcohol elections but we have been unable to determine the source of the information used in the advertisement. I do know the figures are not correct now, nor have they ever been correct. In fact our County has a very low incidence of crime.

The legalization of the sale of alcoholic beverages has provided a boost to our economy. The businesses operate in an orderly fashion and are a part of the business community.

Garza County, of which Post is the county seat, is a rural community with a population of 5,364, which is dependent on textile industry, farming and ranching, and the oil industry for support. We have an unemployment rate of 2% and do not feel the legal sale of alcoholic beverages has created unemployment, an increase in crime or other illegal activities.

On behalf of the people of Post, Texas, we would like you to publish this letter to "set the record straight" on our community. While this letter is not in support of the sale, or against the sale, of alcoholic beverages, it is intended to correct false figures and the representation made on crime in the city of Post, Texas.

GILES W. DALBY
County Judge
Garza County, Texas

wealth Attorney James R. Allen said. The defendant has time already spent in prison as credit against the new sentence and may soon be eligible for parole. He was represented by Ned Pillersdorf, of the Public Defender's office.

The trial of Otis Wallen, charged with the slaying of Paul Edward Mullins, has been continued to the September court term.

Meanwhile, in district court, preliminary hearing for Price Hall, charged with murder in the June 14 slaying at McDowell of Ed Ray Moore, and with first-degree assault in the wounding of Moore's sons, Ricky and James, has been delayed until this week. County Attorney Arnold Turner said the defendant now has legal representation in the Public Defender's office and that a hearing is expected by Friday.

Turner admitted that strict security measures will be taken when the hearing is held.

In District Court

Sentenced in district court, following guilty pleas or verdicts were:

Tivis Neeley, Hueysville, assault in third degree, order allowing defendant to remain under cash bond; Emogene Conn, Justell, Ky., unlawful transaction with minor, $125.50, 60 days in jail; John White, Prestonsburg, speeding, $52.50; Robert E. Exley, Jr., Louisville, drunk driving (DUI), $120.50, one day in jail, refer to Alcohol Driver Education (A.D.E.); Mack R. Keaton, Garrett, speeding, referred to State Traffic School (S.T.S.); Richard Lee, Bypro, speeding, S.T.S.; James C. Poston, McDowell, reckless driving, DUI, attempt to elude, order revoking 180 days probation; Kenny L. Akers, Bradford, Emma, overweight, $25.50; Vernon Baker, Hyden, speeding, $52.50; James G. Terry, Wayland, speeding, $40.50; Billy G. Goble, Prestonsburg, speeding, $55.50; Larry K. Mullet, Auxier, speeding, $44.50; Emit F. Newsome, McDowell, speeding, S.T.S.; Phyllis L. More About Post, Texas

I am writing in response to the letter of the 16th instant which The Floyd County Times received from Post Texas County Judge Giles W. Dalby. I also received a copy of said letter from Judge Dalby denying the crime figures for his town that our committee ran as an advertisement in your paper.

Mr. Dalby is obviously proud of his town. He is a politician and, for understandable reasons, wants to present his town and county in a good clear and clean light. However, the fact remains that some Post, Texas businessmen—as can be read elsewhere as an advertisement in this week's Times—made statements in the early 1960's that indeed Post, Texas was less than a favorable community after they voted wet. These citizens were businessmen that were concerned and not politicians. We would respectfully tell Judge Dalby that until we are presented with contrary official data on Post, Texas, we stand behind our advertisement. The crime figures on Post were obtained from the Temperance League of Kentucky and they reportedly got them from the Texas Crime Council. Judge Dalby says he took office in 1970, and Post voted wet ten years prior to his election.

We do indeed apologize to the wet forces in Floyd County for not specifying that by "recent case history" we meant, in the early 60's. We maintain that liquor is today as dangerous and sorry as it was one hundred years ago.

Replies To Letter

To whom it may concern and especially to Ms. Janet Stumbo to whom it does not concern:

First, I have two questions for you, Ms. Stumbo:

1. Were you at the majorette tryouts?
2. Do you have any children of your own?

It's quite plain the answer is no to both questions or your article would not have been in the paper last week. You would have to have children of your own to understand how important these "minor" defeats are to both them and their parents.

As I see it, anything a child puts years of work, their whole heart and soul and every free minute of their time into is by far not "minor." These young ladies could be using their free time in the ways of a lot of the other young people, such as dope, wild parties and drinking. But then, these things are important only to a parent who is grateful for the interest these girls have in twirling.

You made the statement you were embarrassed for both the girls and their parents. Don't waste it on us. Direct it toward the ones that need it more—the teachers, principals and others of our leaders who cannot be trusted to administer the leadership of our children, that we must leave in their hands. Be embarrassed for anyone who will so bluntly remove any small reward from the hands of a child who has rightfully won it. These "small" rewards are major stepping stones in the lives of our children, for how can they be expected to look up to their superiors for anything important when they cannot be trusted to handle the "minor" aspects of their lives?

So, Ms. Stumbo, rest assured that I am fully prepared and not the least embarrassed to fight for what rightfully belongs to my child from "minor" through "major." But then you have to love a child to feel that way.

Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Parley Bryan and Grace Ousley Flanery celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the Martin Grade School lunchroom, April 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanery were married April 27, 1932, by Reverend Alex Allen at Allen.

They were presented with several gifts made by their children. These included a family tree wall hanging containing pictures of their nine children, spouses and 35 grandchildren; and a quilt with a square for each child's name and birthday. Their anniversary cake was also made and decorated by their children.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Flanery's nine children and families: Bill Flanery, of Jackson, Michigan; Arnold and Eunice Hall, and children, George, Jeff, and Jennifer, of Martin; Jesse Calvin and Barbara Flanery and children, Timmy, Tony, Todd, and Mary Beth, of Scott Depot, W. Va.; Gerald and Nora Sue Tomberlin.

Honors Slated for 12 Students

Twelve outstanding postsecondary vocational students from across Kentucky have been named and will be honored June 22 at a luncheon sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Education in Frankfort at Cliff Hagan's Restaurant.

This will be the first time that the state has recognized vocational students at the post-high school level, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber.

"In previous years, we have had awards programs for students in the regular high school program in academic areas and feel that students in our vocational programs deserve a similar opportunity to be recognized for their achievements," Barber said. Students were nominated on the basis of excellence in attaining a gainful skill, leadership ability, good citizenship, pride in workmanship and respect and appreciation for the American worker.

A similar awards program was also initiated by the Education Department this year for the outstanding vocational teacher of the year. Teacher awards were recently presented at a luncheon on the campus of Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond.

The regional outstanding vocational students are: Rose Marie Kinney, Fulton County Area Vocational Education Center, Hickman; Timothy Reasons, Madisonville State Vocational Technical School, Madisonville; Lisa Faye Clark, Daviess County State Vocational Technical School, Owensboro; Sharon Hagan, Glasgow School for Health Occupations, Glasgow; Barry Borders, Elizabethtown State Vocational Technical School, Elizabethtown; Riley Jo Bayes, Jefferson State Vocational Technical School, Louisville; Chris Schwerts, Northern Kentucky State Vocational Technical School, Covington; Darlene Tackett, Mayo State Vocational Technical School, Paintsville; Verna Messer, Leslie County Area Vocational Education Center, Hyden; Gayle Langford, Pineville School for Practical Nurses, Pineville; Regina Burton, Somerset State Vocational Technical School, Somerset; and Beverly Damron, Central Kentucky State Vocational Technical School, Lexington.

Kentucky's 14 high school Presidential Scholars will also be honored at the June 22 luncheon.

Woman Feared Dead Found Alive and Well

Rescue squad members dragged the Big Sandy, divers attempted to probe stream, volunteers searched the banks of the river, the family posted a $500 reward for information as to her whereabouts—and Mrs. Betty Jane Brewer Cole, who had been missing since the evening of June 12, was found last Wednesday walking along US 23, in the Weddington Plaza area, alive and well.

State Police Detective Robert Forsythe, who found her, said she told him she abandoned her car on the Boldman bridge after it had "quit on her," and had later been in the Louisa-Ashland area.

State Police are prohibited by law from accepting a reward, and the $500 posted by Mrs. Cole's brother was donated by him to the Pike County Rescue Squad which dragged the river.

Woodland Fire Loss Less In '82, Yet Held Too Much

As the spring fire season ended May 15, the word from the six-county Eastern District of the state Division of Forestry, of which Floyd is a part, was good news. The number of fires in the district was down about a third and acres of woodland lost to fire was reduced even more, compared to last year's fire season.

The district office here reported 304 fires during the 1982 season, which runs from March 1 through May 15—about 150 fewer fires for the district than in '81. Even more encouraging is the fact that acreage lost to fire was 5,543 acres, compared to a whopping 127,000 acres for the same period last year.

The improved statistics for the Eastern District, which also includes Johnson, Pike, Martin, Lawrence and Magoffin counties, conforms rather closely with statewide figures which show 1,608 fires over the state as compared with 3,275 last spring. Last year's fires burned about 150,000 acres but this figure dropped to 25,844 acres this year.

Forestry Director Donald Hamm attributed the reduction in fires and woodland losses to four factors: increased law enforcement activity; the cool, damp weather during the early part of the season; fire-prevention activities by forestry personnel before the season began, and what he termed "increased cooperation between local news media and our department."

Steve Brackett, district forester, commented that the enforcement of laws governing burning and increased penalties for infractions may result in a continued reduction of fires in the future. The penalty for allowing a fire to escape now stands at from $100 to $500, plus suppression costs, according to Brackett, and the woods arsonist could pay up to $10,000, plus a jail sentence up to five years.

Brackett said that, although convictions are disappointingly few, 92 court cases originated as a result of forestry law-enforcement activity within the Eastern District this spring and that $2,774 in fines and suppression costs have been collected in the district.

Although fire activity was down this spring, Brackett stressed that fire-fighting activities in the district probably cost about $100,000. He also said that, even though the 5,543-acre total burned during the fire season is relatively small compared to last, it still represents a loss of $2,000 per acre in timber, erosion control, and wildlife refuge, or a total of $11,086,000.

On Again, Off Again Is Story Of Water Woes

Will Martin's water problems never cease?

Bewildered residents of the community found themselves without water again, Monday. But, then some resourceful souls got together and figured out a way to solve the problem, so the water came back on. Around midnight, Monday, however, yet another almost unbelievable situation interrupted service again, and as of Tuesday afternoon household spigots around town still produced nothing more than odd, gurgling sounds.

Monday's problems resulted from the burnout of a pump at the water plant, latest in a long history of such breakdowns. This minor crisis was solved when the Martin Fire Department donated a one-cylinder, gasoline-powered "Billy" pump to draw water from the creek and get the water flowing once again while a new pump was on the way.

Then, just as the folks began to feel confident about taking a shower again, insult was added to injury.

It seems a car, driven by Mike Boyd, of Arkansas Creek, went out of control about midnight in the vicinity of Our Lady of the Way Hospital. Although Boyd escaped injury, the careening vehicle ran over a gas meter, tore out a fire hydrant, breaking a six-inch water main, and smashed into a parked truck near the home of Johnny Maddox. The water was off again!

The geyser of water from the hydrant also caused problems in the immediate area of the break with water flooding the basement of the Martin Clinic building and causing an estimated several thousand dollars damage to the basement level of Our Lady of the Way Hospital where some patient records were damaged and carpeting was ruined.

Work to repair the broken main was expected to return water service Tuesday, although now the performance of the small displacement gasoline pump is being watched anxiously until the replacement pump is delivered.

HONEYCUTT, ADAMS VOWS TO BE SAID HERE SATURDAY

The wedding of Miss Jamie Carol Honeycutt and Mr. Harry Allen Adams will be solemnized Saturday evening, June 26, at 7:30 at the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg. The custom of open church will be observed.

He pointed to particle board, which is made by bonding wood chips in a slurry of formaldehyde-containing adhesives under pressure, as "by far the major source," although he stressed that considerable amounts are also used in some types of fiberglass insulation, carpet backing, plywood and panelling. Because mobile homes generally contain large quantities of these materials, problems may be more pronounced, although he emphasized that all types of homes, as well as schools, hospitals, churches and business places may also have unacceptable levels of formaldehyde.

Residents of this section are learning of the problem, to be sure, and Dr. Jordan pointed specifically to a series of news features broadcast within the past year by a Huntington television station, and to the fact that his testing service has demonstrated the formaldehyde danger here. Although only an estimated "25 or so" of his investigations have been conducted in this county, many more have come from Pike county where "there are several cases of confirmed physical damage to individuals," and he has worked in most counties of Southeast Kentucky.

"It's sad for me to see very sick people who have spent thousands of dollars on medical treatment when the problem is related wholly to environmental causes," he said. According to Jordan, only about "One out of 100" doctors looks at patient complaints in terms of such factors.

In about one-fourth of the cases he has investigated, Dr. Jordan said families were forced to leave their homes. In others, renovation, such as removing particle board sub-flooring or applying sealing agents over the material has sufficed.

"It's an overwhelming problem, and there are probably a lot of manufacturers and corporations who would love to come down on me with a big lawsuit," he said. "But I intend to concentrate on this problem and do all I can to spread the word."

In the case of the Smiths, they'll continue to stay away from home as much as possible and seek compensation for the pain and expense they have suffered. When they can, they'll abandon their mobile home and maybe leave behind some of their resentment as well.

"My baby cried constantly for the first year-and-a-half of his life," Mrs. Smith said. "I feel so uneasy here."

(In next week's issue of The Times, a more detailed listing of products which contain formaldehyde and related information will appear.)

Everything in the article seemed to apply to her family's situation—of the symptoms, and especially the fact that mobile homes were particularly suspect in the problem of exposure to the chemical.

"It all became clear why my little boy would clear up when we were away, and then immediately become sick when we returned home," Mrs. Smith commented. "I knew then why friends and even my parents were reluctant to visit—it was the trailer—the formaldehyde."

Mrs. Smith soon contacted Dr. Jordan, who operates a lab and testing service at Pikeville. Air samples, collected within the trailer as well as outside, revealed concentrations of formaldehyde of 2.9 parts per million (ppm) inside the trailer, a level well over an arbitrary "acceptable" tolerance limit which has been established and enough to cause severe and lasting damage to hypersensitive individuals.

Since then, the Smiths have stayed away from the trailer as much as possible, and now, return there only at night with windows open and the air conditioner running (recommended procedure since ventilation and lowered temperatures may minimize the concentration of formaldehyde fumes within a home).

As she learned from Dr. Jordan, the trailer's sub-flooring of particle board, perhaps the most widespread and notorious source of formaldehyde pollution, was the major source in their trailer, although the panelling which covered every wall was coated with a thin glaze containing the chemical. Insulation as well as the backing of the home's carpet were also cited by Dr. Jordan as probable sources, and, all of the built-in cabinets in the trailer were made of particle board.

After their unsettling revelation, the Smiths took their plight first to the mobile home dealer in hopes of exchange or an offer of corrective renovation. According to Mrs. Smith, the dealer offered only to send a team and spray the interior, floor to ceiling, with ammonia, a strategy which may reduce, for a time, at least, the formaldehyde concentration. "We couldn't accept that," Mrs. Smith said. "We didn't want even more chemicals introduced into our living environment after what we'd been through."

The Smiths are now in the process of collecting and documenting evidence to use in a legal action with testing for formaldehyde sensitivity in their young son, first on their list of priorities.

The experience of the Smith family, unfortunately, is not an exceptional or isolated incident. The toxicity of formaldehyde, which most people think of only in terms of its use as embalming fluid, is well documented, and its use in everything from building materials to toothpaste has become rather widely known in many areas of the country, although public awareness of the problem in this section has been minimal. And, according to Dr. Jordan, who is considered one of the foremost authorities on the subject in the nation, it is rural areas such as much of Eastern Kentucky, where the highest concentration of mobile homes are found and thus the potential for formaldehyde pollution is greatest.

"Literature on the subject has been around since the early '70's and some countries, such as Denmark, Canada and even Russia have taken strong measures to restrict the chemical's use," Dr. Jordan explained. The United States, however, was described as "at the bottom of the heap" in terms of the monitoring and control of formaldehyde. "Canada offers substantial support for families who face the problem of cleaning up their homes," he continued. "Here, it's up to the individual."

More tons of formaldehyde are sold than almost any other chemical, according to Dr. Jordan, who came to Pikeville College five years ago from the University of South Carolina. Produced from methyl alcohol, the chemical is used in scores of cosmetics, detergents, air fresheners, some clothing, as well as in building materials, like particle board, where it is utilized as a polymer in glues and adhesives. A recent check in a Floyd county home of one popular brand of disposable diaper even revealed surprisingly high levels of formaldehyde in the diaper's fabric and plastic lining.

The chemical's use has become so common over the years that a Kentucky law actually dictates that beauticians practicing in the Commonwealth use formaldehyde to sterilize the tools of their trade. "It's an excellent germicidal," Dr. Jordan commented, "but the beauticians are slowly poisoning themselves, as well."

The chemical has a cumulative effect. The more contact that is made with formaldehyde, the more sensitive an individual becomes. It is just such a process of sensitization which makes the everyday breathing or absorption of formaldehyde in the home a losing battle, according to Jordan.

Symptoms of formaldehyde poisoning include such manifestations as chronic sore throats, nasal and eye irritation, headaches, lack of energy, ear infections and coughing. Even more frightening, the chemical has been shown to be a potent cancer-causing agent in laboratory animals, Jordan pointed out. "Rats exposed to concentrations of formaldehyde approximating that which humans encounter in many situations routinely developed nasal malignancies in these experiments," Dr. Jordan said.

Q. I have cancer, and the future doesn't look good. My family and I are coping, but advice about "miracle cures" is getting to me. I trust my doctors, but with my outlook, can it hurt me to try one?

A. First, you are wise to trust your doctors. They know you and the extent of your disease and are the ones best equipped to treat it.

Second, it is perfectly normal for any cancer patient whose current medical treatment is not curing or controlling the disease to consider unproven methods. And, yes, some of them can very definitely harm you. The "miracle cure" dangled before a cancer patient is really a disservice and may be an unscrupulous quack scheme to bilk the sick of their much needed money.

Discuss your concerns openly with your doctors. They understand your frustration about the progress of your cancer and that it can lead to a helpless, even hopeless, feeling. When someone mentions "miracle cure," it becomes a chance to regain control of your life, to do something positive.

What a temptation for any cancer patient!

Some patients are afraid to mention their interest in such "cures" to their doctors for fear later medical treatment will be refused. No physician can ethically refuse to care for a patient for such reasons.

When you talk to your doctors about it, they will probably point out the harmful effects of unproven methods: interference with prescribed treatment, whether it is designed to cure or relieve symptoms; financial cost to the patient and family; and diversion of important and expensive community resources. It is estimated that $2 billion are spent annually on worthless treatments and tests. For example, laetrile has been proven ineffective against cancer and also harmful to the patient.

Once your doctors realize your wish to consider other treatment, they may suggest that you consult another physician. This can accomplish two goals: relieve your mind of any doubt that all possible treatments have been explored, and confirm your own doctors' opinion.

Your doctors may also suggest participation in federally controlled clinical cancer trials as an alternative. Patients in them are fully informed of the advantages and risks of the new treatment. Acceptance into a clinical trial depends on your kind of cancer and other factors.

LITTLE LEAGUERS on the baseball diamond are as much a sign of summer as tent revivals and family reunions in this section. Here, Todd Little, eight-year-old son of Merle and Mary Lynn Little, of Brandy Keg, and a player for the Prestonsburg Little League's Reds, slams in a double, which brought in two runs during a recent game at Archer Park.

Population Disproportionate . . .

District Redistricting Studied

Redistricting of the county's four magisterial districts may be near, it was indicated this week as a move in that direction was reported within the fiscal court.

The new federal census and the one-man, one-vote rule require eventual redistricting wherever population figures are disproportionate, but magisterial redistricting was not urgent until the new census figures for each magisterial district in the county became available. Now, it was said, the court may appoint a redistricting commission as early as next month.

Of the county's 48,764 population, new census figures show that District 1, with 17,318, is highest, and more than twice the population of the smallest, District 2, which has a population of 7,508. District 4 is next with 12,129, and District 3 has 11,709.

Eventually, redistricting of the five educational divisions of the county is expected as a consequence of shifting population figures. Superintendent of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. said, however, that a breakdown of population figures for the educational divisions from which board of education members are elected has not been received by his office since completion of the census.

Officials have found "most surprising," it was said, the magisterial district totals showing District 1 with 9,810 greater head count than District 2. District 4 has 4,621 more than No. 2, and District 3 has 4,201 more than that district.

Muncy Pallbearers

Pallbearers at funeral rites held at Wayland last Wednesday for James B. Muncy were Bill Turner, Devenis Hall, Claude, Fredy, William Honshell, Hobert Adkins, Tilden Ellis, Ronnie Slone, and Arnold McFarland.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Jerry Wendell Bailey wishes to express our thanks to all who helped in any way during the tragic death of our beloved one-to the Blevins family and all who came to the scene of the accident and took him to Our Lady of the Way and remained with us sharing our prayers and tears; to the staff of the hospital for their consoling words; to all who brought food into our home; to all who sent the beautiful flowers; to all of the pallbearers for a job well done; to Brother Woody Pack for the appropriate singing. Our special thanks to Brother Roger Madden for his comforting words and the entire congregation of the Martin Church of Christ for their prayers. The choir and quartet, accompanied by Maggie Taylor, did beautifully and Brother Steve Stout did an excellent job reading the obituary. The funeral was well arranged, the message and songs were fitting and proper. We're thankful we had the church family to rely on. Thanks to the entire staff of Hall Funeral Home. Jerry was beautiful and you handled it all efficiently. We can never thank you enough for your kind and courteous service. Our prayers go to all of you and we need your prayers. May the Lord bless each and everyone.

Pharmacy Footnotes

When congestion makes breathing difficult, it is often helpful to introduce a vaporizer into the sickroom. This mechanical device can sometimes provide real relief. By placing liquid in the proper chamber, it becomes electrically heated. Under pressure, the liquid turns to steam and is expelled into the room where it is directly inhaled. Be sure to operate the vaporizer according to instructions and keep it out of the reach of inquisitive little hands. A vaporizer's benefits can be increased by introducing medication into the heated liquid. Consult your physician.

Often times a vaporizer can help with congestion and your doctor may even order that a certain medication also be used in the vaporizer. At COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. we try our best to be dedicated to you and your health. We're always happy to answer your health-related questions and to offer alternatives to a problem. And remember, we're the most complete and professional prescription service in the area. Located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg. Open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106

The Latest Election Joke

In an article that appeared July 20, 1982 in the Ashland Independent Mr. Jeff Bingham, a grocery store owner just north of Prestonsburg and treasurer of Wet forces, spoke out: "Strictly controlled legal sales will put money into the county coffers instead of the bootleggers' pockets. With our population there could be 21 package liquor stores (there's no limit on the number of beer and wine establishments). If we pass a 3% sales tax it would produce $1,800,000.00."

Now, Mr. Bingham, as we have quoted in this paper before, Floyd county cannot impose a sales tax on liquor or beer, and it makes no difference how little or how much is sold. This is per state law.

And, even if your tax production of $1,800,000 was correct, which it is not, how did you know how much liquor would have to be sold in Floyd county to produce that much income? We have figured, loosely, that to produce $1,800,000 income on 3% sales tax for Floyd county the Wet forces would need to sell seven and one-eighth railroad "gons" full of booze per day, or have $60,000,000 in annual sales. ($60,000,000 x .03 equals $1,800,000).

Don't be fooled in the last few days by a False, Secret campaign. We have been open and truthful with our information. The Good Book says to know the truth, and the truth shall set you free.

The marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Meek to Mr. Larry Alvin Hyden was solemnized at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 1, at the Prestonsburg First Church of God.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Shearlene Meek and the late Stewart Meek, of Boones Camp. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle Dennis Ray Mollett. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hyden, of Prestonsburg.

The double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Garland Lacey, and the piano was played by Linda Wells.

Miss Tina Gay Meek, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Mrs. Wanda Spriggs, of Boonescamp, and Miss Elisha Goble, of Auxier, served as bridesmaids. Carolyn Jones and Camilla Blair were flower girls, and Tammy Smith served at the register.

Onda Lowe Hunt, Jr., of Prestonsburg, was best man, and John Clinton Woods, of Prestonsburg, and Douglas Dale Woods, of Allen, were ushers.

The ceremony was followed by a reception held in the church hall.

The bride is a graduate of Johnson Central High School. She is also a graduate of Mayo State Vocational School.

The groom is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and also a graduate of Prestonsburg Community College.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyden spent their honeymoon at Carter Caves State Park and now live on Auxier Rd., north of Prestonsburg.

HUD Rental Rehab Program Is Announced

HUD Secretary Samuel R. Pierce, Jr., has announced that HUD will accept applications from communities to demonstrate a program designed to increase the availability of rental housing for low- and moderate-income families.

Communities selected for participation in the demonstration, will use community Development Block Grant (CDBG) or other public funds to spur the private renovation of apartment units primarily in small buildings.

"I want to encourage innovative approaches to preserve smaller low- and moderate-income rental properties," said Secretary Pierce, "because they provide the vast majority of decent, moderately priced housing in America."

This will be the second round of a demonstration begun in September 1981. Twenty-one cities and two counties are taking part in that effort, and will spend $7.5 million to attract an equal amount in private investment.

In addition to increasing the number of sites for rehabilitation of smaller rental properties, the second round demonstration will accept applications from states as well as cities and counties.

PSC Names Miller Executive Director

State Public Service Commission Vice Chairman Katherine Randall today announced the appointment of Katie Lou Miller, of Frankfort, as executive director of the commission.

Miller, a native of Horse Cave, has been associated with state government since 1947. She has worked with numerous governors and held various posts. Since December, she has been serving as commissioner of the Department for Administration.

"The commissioners and staff of the PSC are delighted to have the benefit of her considerable abilities and experience," Randall said. "We look forward to a long and rewarding association and believe her expertise will add to the efficiency of our operation."

The executive director is the chief administrative officer of the commission. The primary responsibilities of the executive director are to provide staff direction and coordination in implementing the commission's programs and duties.

Richard D. Heman, Jr., secretary of the commission, has been serving as executive director on an acting basis. He continues in his duties as secretary.

Vice Chairman Randall made the announcement in lieu of Chairman Marlin M. Volz, who is vacationing out of the state.

PESKY GUESTS...The tent caterpillar, familiar to many homeowners, is once again in season in Eastern Kentucky. Dr. Gerald DeMoss, associate professor of biology at Morehead State University, says that chemicals are the only way to control the pests. Since DDT has been banned, he recommends methoxychlor.

Named To Honor Society

Kerry Kevin Hamilton was recently named to the Jasper Co., Junior High National Honor Society in May of this school year.

Membership in the National Honor Society is based on scholarship, leadership, service, character, and citizenship.

Young Hamilton completed eighth grade at Jasper School where his father, Ernest Hamilton, is principal. He played both flute and trombone in the school. He is the son of Ernest and Priscilla Hamilton, formerly of Floyd county; his maternal grandparents are the late Rev. and Mrs. John B. Hamilton, of Legion. The paternal grandparents are the late Garfield Hamilton, of Teaberry, and Mrs. Edna Hamilton, of Wellington, Ohio.

VOTE DRY, VOTE NO

We, the undersigned, wish to express our support of the Dry Forces in the upcoming vote on the wet and dry issue. We humbly beg our friends and neighbors to help us defeat another one of Satan's causes. This list of Old Regular Baptist preachers urges our people to voice out, June 29, by casting their vote NO.

Major Braddock Completes Course at Army School
 Maj. William R. Braddock, son of Evelyn G. Braddock, of Martin, has completed the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College regular course at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

In the 10-month regular course at the Army's senior tactical school emphasis was placed on career development for the officer's future duties as a senior commander or staff officer.

Major Braddock received a master's degree in 1977 from Central Michigan University. His wife is the former Joanne Gimondo, of Albany, New York.

Noxious Weed Control Help Offered; Mowing Operations Scheduled

The Department of Transportation again is receiving requests on the Noxious Weed Control Program, a spraying program which was initiated to aid the adjacent property-owners in controlling noxious weeds such as kudzu, vines, Johnson grass, sumac, etc.

Those who wish to control the noxious weeds on their property and would like the Department of Transportation to control them on the state right-of-way so that a complete removal may be accomplished are asked to call the District Highway Office in Pikeville, Telephone No. 437-9691.

The Department of Transportation will be stepping up mowing operations on all state-maintained routes between now and July 1, it was announced last week.

The excessive amount of rainfall in late May and the first part of June has generated a rapid rate of growth of vegetation on state roads, and immediate attention is now being given to this problem.

All secondary roads, as well as primary roads, will be mowed during this period. DOT urges motorists to use extreme caution where mowing machines may be present.

In Highlands Summer Program

Frank (Bud) Keathley, operating room orderly, is one of 17 students who gained summer employment at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

All are pre-med or nursing students who have completed one year of study toward becoming registered nurses. They are assisting staff members in different departments of the hospital such as physical therapy, laboratory, pharmacy, emergency room, and surgery, thus gaining practical experience as orderlies and nurses aides.

Hospital Administrator Clarence Traum noted that many of these summer workers have expressed an interest in settling in this area after completing their education. "We are glad to be able to offer these students the opportunity of working in a hospital," he said. "Ultimately the entire community will benefit when they return to practice their medical skills."

Many of the students applied for the limited number of positions as early as February. They were chosen for their interest in the medical profession and their scholastic achievement, among other qualifications.

David Crafts at World's Fair

A houseboat sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Commerce and containing a variety of quality hand-crafts from Kentucky is now on display at the 1982 World's Fair in Knoxville.

Members of the David Crafts Center were invited to submit several hand-made items for display. Joy Ousley, a member of the program for the past five years, designed and quilted a wall hanging called "Storm at Sea" that will be hung on the houseboat throughout the duration of the Fair. Several other crafts made by members of David Crafts are also on display at the World's Fair. These crafts include a wooden bowl by Ross Johns, a hickory-woven coffee table by B. Justice and hand-whittled carvings by Roy May.

Crafts from the David Center will be displayed and sold at the upcoming Appalachian Crafts Weekend, June 25-26, on the campus of Morehead State University. The Appalachian Crafts Weekend is in conjunction with the sixth annual Appalachian Celebration, June 21 through 26.

Crafts from the David Center will also be on display at the Jenny Wiley Theatre throughout the summer. The Crafts Center in David is open Mondays through Fridays, 9-4:30 and the shop on Court Street in Prestonsburg is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 11 to 5.

State Police Year Up . . .

It's the Marijuana Season

Kentucky is again in the May-to-September marijuana growing season. This year the marijuana eradication program conducted by the Kentucky State Police narcotics section is entering the 1982 season with new tools for use in this effort.

State police now have officers trained to spot marijuana from an aircraft; a fully operational canine unit; officers at the posts trained to conduct microscopic and chemical analysis at the post rather than sending the marijuana to Frankfort; and the advantage of tougher laws.

To help enlist aid from the public, a brochure is near completion which will describe the activities commonly surrounding large-scale cultivation.

Also, as in years past, the Frankfort-based narcotics section is depending on support from troopers out in the field, said Lt. Louis Stiles, section commander.

Field support and the new methods of aiding detection are especially needed this year, said Stiles. Kentucky is already to be second only to California in marijuana cultivation and an upswing in production is expected this year, he added.

The upswing is anticipated because the flow of marijuana into South Florida from South America has been slowed through action of a federal task force and increased military help. The task force was formed by Vice President Bush.

Last year in Kentucky, state police destroyed marijuana in more than 100 locations with a total value estimated at $18 million. Eradication this season is now under way. In May, Columbia Post 15 destroyed 32,000 plants.

The two officers trained in aerial detection will be on the job throughout the entire growing season this year. Trooper John Fuqua, Madisonville Post 2, and Trooper Benjamin Hadley, Columbia Post 15, were available for part of the 1981 season after receiving specialized training in Atlanta. The troopers may be helping train additional officers in aerial detection.

Dogs were also available on a limited basis last year. However, this is the first time the state police have had a fully operational canine unit with three officers assigned full time.

The officers are Detectives Paul Brooker, Dry Ridge Post 6; Carey Eaton, Madisonville Post 2 and George D. Campbell, London Post 11.

Each of the three now has a tracking dog and a drug dog. The dogs and their handlers are assigned to the narcotics section but are available to other KSP divisions.

The drug dogs can detect marijuana or its derivatives, heroin, cocaine and methaqualone (commonly known under the brand name, Quaalude). State police drug dogs have been used at Blackburn, Eddyville and LaGrange correctional facilities with drugs found on each occasion, and public schools when requested.

The tracking dogs have been used extensively both in tracking suspects and in locating lost children.

The new brochure now being prepared is aimed at enlisting public

Firemen Attend School

Eight firefighters from Floyd county fire departments attended the 53rd annual Kentucky Fire School at the University of Kentucky, June 7-9. Six were from Prestonsburg and two from Allen.

More than 1,400 firemen from across the state participated in the school which included classes on fire fighting, arson investigation, transportation of hazardous materials, extinguishing forest fires and rescuing people trapped in vehicles at accident scenes. Training included classroom lectures on the UK campus and on-site exercises at the Lexington Fire Department training grounds on the outskirts of the city.

help in locating marijuana "farms."

Some signs which may mean large-scale marijuana cultivation are: new owners who refuse to talk about how the land will be used; people who either make a large cash down payment for land or pay for the land totally in cash; a rural house where there is a great deal of night traffic and where occupants and visitors are mostly male; and the presence of a gate at the property entrance which is constantly locked.

Enforcing the marijuana laws and other section responsibilities has kept the narcotics officers busy this year. During the first months of 1982 the section has had the highest activity level since its formation.

Lt. Stiles said during the first four and a half months of 1982 the officers have opened more than 700 cases and made more than 500 arrests.

DAVID NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hackworth, of David, had as their guests recently their daughter, Mrs. James W. Lyon, and Mr. Lyon, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, and their son, Larry and Mrs. Hackworth, of Chelsea, Michigan. During their stay they visited, shopped in Pikeville and West Virginia, visited in Ohio, fished at Cave Run and Grayson Reservoir and Dewey Lake and visited locally with friends and relatives. Mr. Lyon spent several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lyon, of Isonville, on their return trip home, the Lyons will tour the World's Fair in Knoxville and continue on through the southwest with a tour of the Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona.

The battle of the bulge is lost at the hips for many women. In consolation, the June Reader's Digest points to a six-year study that shows overweight women whose body fat is concentrated below the waist run a relatively low risk of contracting diabetes.

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

The Local Churchwomen met Friday at 12:30 for a luncheon meeting at the First Baptist Church. The tables were decorated with white vases holding bouquets of red roses. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, president, conducted the regular business session, which was opened with Mrs. Julia Curtis giving the devotions, the title of which was "Prayer." The president introduced the Rev. Delbert Butts, of Louisville, who serves as executive director of the Temperance League of Kentucky. The Rev. Butts stressed the importance of prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages, and gave statistics regarding some of the major effects of alcohol. He said that the number one cause of deaths among young people, ages 18-24, in America is alcohol, and added that it makes sense to prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages, just as it does to prohibit the sale of drugs. A question-and-answer period was conducted along with his lecture.

Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, a member of the committee for the Hospice program, stressed the need for persons to become involved in this program, and the group voted to donate $50 toward this cause.

Mrs. Robinson offered the group the facilities of the Riverview Nursing Home, of which she serves as director, for the preparation of meals for fundraising for worthy causes.

The president said she had received a telephone call from Evangelist Billy Graham, asking that one of his religious films be shown by churches here this coming November. Much interest was shown, and it was decided to pursue the matter further.

It was decided that $50 would be donated to the "Dry" cause, relating to the forthcoming election.

The next meeting will be at St. Theodore's Catholic Church, Friday, August 3, at 10:30.

Present at Friday's luncheon-meeting were a guest, the Rev. Delbert Butts, and members, Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, Community United Methodist; Mrs. Fannie Runnels, Miss Alice Harris and Mrs. Gladys Blackburn, First United Methodist; Mrs. Elma Jessen and Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, First Presbyterian; Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, First Christian; Mrs. Eileen Burchett and Mrs. Pat Necessary, St. Theodore's Catholic, and Mesdames Eva Collins, Docia Woods, Julia Curtis, Dolly Pettry, Rebecca Rasnick, Opal Dingus and Lucy Regan, First Baptist.

PLAN WESTERN TRIP

Mrs. Patsy Evans, director of the Senior Citizens' Center at Archer Park, announces that a trip is being planned by her and Mrs. Dee Burchett, director of the Martin Senior Citizens' Center, to some of the western states during July, and asks persons who are interested to contact her or Mrs. Burchett soon.

Local AARP Chapter Holds Picnic Meeting

The Jenny Wiley Chapter of the National Association of Retired Persons held its regular monthly meeting with a picnic at the recreation area below Dewey Dam, Thursday afternoon.

Following the picnic lunch, Otela Smiley, secretary, presented the report by Virginia Goble of the area meeting she attended at London, recently.

Those attending were Jack Freed, Otela Smiley, Marie Goble, James E. Goble, Susan Akers, Aaron J. Akers, Mildred Horn, Clifton Horn, Virginia Goble, Hagar White, Glenn S. Anderson and Matilda Johnson.

SPEARS FAMILY REUNION

The Spears Family Reunion will be held Sunday, July 4, at the Dewey Dam area of Jenny Wiley State Park. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Opens Office

S.K. Jain, M.D. announces the opening of his office in the Paintsville Clinic Building, 111 Main Street, Paintsville, for the practice of allergy medicine and family practice.

Dr. Jain took B.S. and M.A. Degrees from University of Allahabad, India in math, physics and chemistry and taught these subjects before entering the University of Saskatchewan, Canada for pre-medicine and received the M.D. degree in 1972 from the same university. He interned at St. Mary's Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., in 1972-73 and practiced medicine in Ontario, Canada until 1981, during which time he trained at McGill University in Montreal in allergy medicine.

Job Corps Youth Help Summer Music Theatre

Working with the Jenny Wiley Summer Musical Theatre staff for the second summer are six young men from the Prestonsburg Job Corps who are helping prepare the Jenny Wiley amphitheatre for the season's theatre-goers.

The Job Corps offers vocational training for men ages 16-21 who will receive their GED upon completion of the program. Tom Hummer serves as Center director and the senior vocational instructor is Paul Daniel.

Not only concerned with the young men's academic and vocational education, the center is charged with their social education as well. Hummer commented that "the work has been a good social experience for these men, most of whom have never been involved with the arts before."

In addition, the workers attended performances at the theatre last year and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They plan to return this year for productions of The Music Man, The Fantasticks, and Shenandoah to be performed in repertory, June 23 through August 22.

DAV MEETING SLATED

Disabled American Veterans Chapter 18 and ladies Auxiliary Unit, No. 18 will hold their regular meeting Friday, June 25, at 7 p.m. at the Auxier Post meeting hall.

Statement of Declaration of Position On Alcohol, Its Sale and Consumption

As concerned citizens that represent the members of the church, the body of whom Jesus Christ is the head, God's Son, we are compelled to state our position and warn of the dangers of the sale and use of alcohol and its evil.

Its evil is in the harm it can and does bring upon society. It erodes and weakens the structure of the fundamental moral, ethical and spiritual principles that keep a society productive and strong. It creates a permissive society that ignores evil and its offspring. It's a killer. It has no respect of person. Its victims include the innocent and the guilty. It maims, scars, destroys and mocks all that is good.

We, therefore, declare it a destructive evil force that should be restricted, bound and prevented from being released, legally or illegally, to pursue its course of destruction.

It is a physical and spiritual curse that man can well do to avoid and eliminate its deadly works. It destroys all that is good when its power is not restricted. It can and will destroy both body and soul.

Big Sandy Navigation Pros, Cons Get Airing

(In the Huntington Herald-Dispatch)
LOUISA, KY.—Almost everyone at a public meeting Thursday night approved of making the Big Sandy River and the Levisa Fork navigable to Louisa. The only people speaking against the idea were the ones who depend on Big Sandy navigation. They said making the river into a barge canal is a waste of time and money. The meeting was conducted by the Huntington District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, to present findings of the reconnaissance report on its Big Sandy River Navigation Study. District Engineer John Devens said no decisions have been made and the study will not be finished until late 1984 or early 1985. About 58 people attended the hour-long meeting. The corps presented three proposals. One was to dredge the Big Sandy as far as Louisa. Another was to build one dam about 12 miles above its mouth and dredge below the dam. That would extend navigation 20 miles up the Levisa Fork from Louisa. The third proposal was to build two dams, one above Louisa which would extend navigation to the Van Lear area.

Most people supported extending navigation, saying it would boost the coal industry and provide jobs, water supply and recreation. One proponent identified herself as speaking for the FIVCO Area Development District. Another said he represented the Louisa Rotary Club. But Richard Saunders, vice president-transportation for Ashland Coal, presented arguments against the proposals. In a prepared statement, Saunders said the corps erred in assuming 185 million tons of coal is mined annually in the Big Sandy Basin. He said trucks moved 9½ million tons last year and railroads only 53.4, for a total of only 63 million tons. Only 28 percent of the coal, or 17½ million tons, goes to the Big Sandy and Ohio rivers for loading onto barges, Saunders said. Further, the break-even point for using water shipment of coal compared to rail or truck shipment is limited to a narrow area from seven to 15 miles of the Levisa Fork, depending on which lock-and-dredging plan is adopted, and narrows to nothing at the Big Sandy's mouth at Catlettsburg, Saunders said. "What has been done in each of the three plans is the creation of an advantageous zone in the shape of a tear drop, which occupies a very small portion, perhaps from 5 to 10 percent, of the entire Big Sandy coal-producing region, and even that is located in that part of the Big Sandy Basin which produces very little coal," Saunders said. Also, expected traffic increases with a navigable Levisa Fork would cause serious congestion on the lower Big Sandy, Saunders said. That also would cause the locks to be overused and wear them out more quickly, he said. "A more permanent solution to the siltation problem on the lower Big Sandy is imperative and should receive a higher priority for existing facilities than consideration of the momentous expense of extended navigation for attempting to attract tonnage which isn't going to be there," Saunders said. After Saunderson's comments, a local resident stood and said he fears for his life driving on U.S. 23 between Louisa and Ashland because of the coal trucks and suggested that if Ashland Oil Inc. was worried about congestion on the Big Sandy, it could put a traffic light on it. Ray Williams, Lawrence county judge-executive, turned to Col. Devens and asked him to decide the matter based on the common good and not for the good of Ashland Oil. "We all know canalizing this river would help this county and create jobs. It's time that we stand up for what's right," Williams said. Jim Herickhoff, manager of Dock's Creek terminal, said, "This river's not called the Big Sandy for nothing." He asked how the corps could dredge 23 miles of river when it will not have money next year to dredge a few miles of the lower Big Sandy. Don Herndon, chief of the district's planning division, said Congress is considering several revenue-generating plans for such projects, including increasing the users' tax.

Next School Year To Mark Third Year for EKEDC Centers

The 1982-83 school year will mark an important milestone in the educational history of the Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Corp. (EKEDC) and 10 school districts in the Big Sandy area, as begins the third year of operation for two Big Sandy Diagnostic Service Centers.

Although handicapped education in these districts began long before the start of these centers, the two diagnostic service centers have provided many services to participating districts, and all at no cost.

The main emphasis of the two centers is to insure and increase proper identification, testing, evaluation and placement of handicapped children through a combination of coordinated and proper evaluation and placement, and an intensive child-find effort.

During the 1981-82 school year, a total of 426 children have received such services, and a projected total of 785 are in need of such services during the 1982-83 school year.

Primary emphasis is upon serving first priority children. These are exceptional children between the ages of 5 and 17, who are not receiving any educational services, and they are required to have a free and appropriate public education made available to them.

When these first priority children (or any child) is first identified, model procedures that use a team or multidisciplinary approach are also used for evaluation and placement purposes; and placement is also proposed for what shall constitute the least restrictive environment—in other words, the educational setting that best meets the needs of the child.

The centers also work at meeting the needs of what is known as second priority children—those who are severely handicapped and not receiving adequate services.

Also provided through the two centers are an expanded series of support services, including interagency planning and coordination of services, expanded awareness and training opportunities and inservice for both school personnel, parents and others who work with exceptional children awareness or child-find work, and a computer-based tracking system.

Diagnostic Service Center No. 1 is chaired by Pike County Superintendent James T. Dotson, and is staffed through clinical psychologist Anna Moore. Other participating members are: Pikeville Independent, Dr. John Waddell, superintendent; Morgan county, Superintendent Earl Reed; Magoffin county, Superintendent Herald Whitaker; Floyd county, Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr.

Copper gets its name from the island of Cyprus where it was first called cyprium. It's a red metal, found in a pure state.

Diagnostic Service Center No. 2 is chaired by Martin County Superintendent Dr. Dan Branham, and staffed by clinical psychologist Mark Poston. Other participating members are: Willis H. Conley, superintendent, Johnson County Schools; Allan Osborne, superintendent, Paintsville Independent; Eugene Binion, superintendent, Elliott county and Paul Wright, superintendent, Lawrence county.

Celebrates Birthday

Charla Ann Hall, daughter of Carole Hall, of Wayland, celebrated her birthday June 3 at Archer Park skating rink. The theme of the party was Strawberry Shortcake. She received many nice gifts from friends and relatives.

Puppetry Caravan To Be In Area

The Puppetry Caravan for Appalachia is starting its thirteenth season this summer. The Caravan arrives in Pikeville, June 21, for a week-long series of performances and workshops to be held Monday through Friday, 9-11 am. at the First Christian Church.

Every morning of their five-day stay in each community the puppeteers conduct a workshop in the art of paperbag marionette construction. This workshop involves members of the community, both adults and children, and at its conclusion features a performance.

A wide variety of puppets are represented in the repertoire of the Puppetry Caravan: Punch and Judy, the centuries-old hand puppet show, famous for its improvisational nature; life-sized puppets; larger than human creations, including Hannah, a bird ridden by one of the puppeteers, and Dottie March, a nine-foot-tall friend who comes to dinner; wooden puppets; and two puppets modeled after the Bunraku style, an old mountain man and his wife, Matilda and Reuben Bledsoe. The ancient Bunraku form of puppetry, originating in Japan, allows for more intimate audience contact in contrast to that of the traditional proscenium theatre. Matilda and Reuben will be operated by two puppeteers each, in dialogues covering folklore and issues pertinent to the mountain culture, informing as well as entertaining to the audiences.

The Puppetry Caravan was originated and is directed by Neil Di Teresa, professor of art at Berea College. Student puppeteers for the tour are: Dan Chapman, a junior art education major from Cincinnati, Ohio; Kerry Dunnam, a junior studio arts major from Nashville, Tennessee; and Veda King, a junior biology major from Pikeville.

The Caravan, begun in 1970 with the cooperation and funding of Berea College and the Rockefeller Foundation, is subsidized by local sponsorship and the college. The Caravan is a non-profit program dedicated to involving Appalachians in cultural and creative activities, to developing a sense of rapport between Berea College and the Appalachian mountain communities (especially the small or, isolated ones).

Call Kathy Sohn or Linda Williams at 432-9349 for further information regarding times and locations for the workshops and performances.

Nature Trails...

By RUFUS REED

Most Valuable of Herbs

The books call it "ginseng," the botanists call it "Panax," a cure-all, the Chinese call it "schinseng," the olimters called it "sang," and hunting for it in the woods was called "sanging". The standard equipment for a day's sanging in the deep woods was a bag of tough ticking with a shoulder strap for carrying the roots, a lunch of corn pone and a bottle of sweet milk, a rifle to shoot the rattlesnakes, and a "sang hoe". This was a slender tool, five inches long, with a sharp point and a socket for a handle. With such a tool the "sanger" could probe under the root of a big four-prong and gently lift it out without damage to the precious root.

As dried ginseng now sells for about $140 per pound, men are flocking to the woods to hunt for it. In these times of recession and no work, men are going to Nature for keep. One half-pound of dried ginseng will buy enough groceries to last a family two weeks. In some cases, men are camping out in good "sang territory" in order to dig it. So I am deeply concerned about ginseng soon being wiped out.

The olimters called it "the purtiest plant that grows in the woods." The larger plants have four compound leaves each with five toothed ovate leaflets. The larger plants were called "fourprongs" by the sangers; the lesser ones were "three prongs" and "two-prongs." A ginseng plant is beautiful of form.

Medical doctors used to scoff at ginseng as a good medicine, but lately it has come to be recognized as a great medicine, especially for elderly people. The Chinese have used ginseng tea as a medicine for 2,000 years. So fifty million Chinese cannot be wrong! They use the tea as a tonic to promote long life and sexual power. Ginseng promotes fertility in women. The Chinese are the fastest of breeders and there are now almost half a billion of them!

For thousands of years, they used the tea made from their own schkinsing, abundant in the mountains of China. But in pioneer days, they found that our American ginseng made better tea than theirs, so they created a strong demand for American ginseng. It has been estimated that since pioneer days the Chinese have bought over one hundred million dollars worth of American ginseng.

Earns Dean's List Honors

HILLSDALE, MICH.—Hillsdale College has recognized 230 students for academic excellence during the second semester of the 1981-82 school year, including 55 who achieved perfect 4.0 grade point averages in their studies, with publication of its dean's list. The dean's list is published each semester and is composed of all students who achieve grade point averages of 3.4 or better on the four-point scale.

Among the students who won academic recognition on the latest dean's list was Bert Layne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Layne, of Manton. He is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and received a football scholarship to Hillsdale College.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Floyd County Board of Education, Prestonsburg, Ky., until 12 noon July 6, 1982 for furnishing lunchroom food and supply items. Bid conditions and specifications may be obtained from Blanche E. Dingus. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

State Road Resurfacing To Top Last Year's Record

The state Department of Transportation's resurfacing program will total nearly $57 million this year and will put new surface on about 1,600 miles of Kentucky roads.

This year's resurfacing program is being increased from $23.5 million announced earlier to $57 million, making it larger than last year's record resurfacing program.

Last year's program totaled nearly $44 million and covered more than 1,000 miles of roads. The 1980 resurfacing program involved some 585 miles of roads at a cost of $21.3 million.

"This money is some of the best spent money in the state," Transportation Secretary Frank Metts said. "It's preventive maintenance that protects the state's investment in its highway system."

All the roads to be resurfaced have not been identified, he said, but will be included in bid lettings this summer.

Last year's resurfacing program cut the resurfacing cycle on state-maintained roads from an average of once every 35 years to once every 15 years.

If this cycle is maintained, roads will receive new surface before they can break down and require more costly repair work.

BETSY LAYNE COMMUNITY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burke of Mentone, Ind., visited, recently, with Mrs. Elizabeth Spears and Mr. and Mrs. James George while en route to spend the night with Mr. and Mrs. Argus Richardson and Mr. Burke's aunt, Mrs. Patrick, his sister, Mrs. Ann Burke Gunnels, of Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallet Eddy, of Catlettsburg, visited her aunts, Mrs. Eliza Blackburn and Mrs. Elizabeth Spears, last Monday.

Dr. June Brose and Mrs. Zinna Scott and daughter, Janice Friend visited with Dr. Brose's parents in Lebanon, Indiana, Memorial week-end.

The Betsy Layne United Methodist Church welcomes the return by the Methodist Conference of its pastor, Kaminski Robinson and his family for this church year.

Robert Juanita Stafford Lowe, of Bishop, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rucker. Mrs. Lowe, is trying to visit as many former friends of Betsy Layne, as she can.

Dr. and Mrs. Earl Hays, of Sue Bennett College, and their youngest son visited several relatives here, Memorial week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Caldwell attended the funeral June 13, of Foster Childers, at the Methodist Church of Emma. Several others in this area attended also.

Visiting Myrtle Howes over the Memorial Day week-end were James and Babe Wallace Merrill of Bluefield, Va., and Morey and Kathryn Woods Ritter, of Huntington, W. Va.

Era Stone is now at her home but is still not doing too well.

W.B. Stone, of Lexington, formerly of Betsy Layne, visited his sister, Georgia Lewis, last week.

Martha Adkins, daughter of Dewey and Roselee Keathley Adkins, is a patient at Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington. She suffered bone fractures, in a motorcycle accident, and will be there for several weeks and would appreciate cards and letters from friends.

T.J. and Della Layne Stratton, of Flatwoods were here to attend the funeral of Henry Otis Wilson, Jr. They also visited old friends and relatives.

Citizens of Betsy Layne extend sympathy to Billa M. Stratton Wilson and family upon the death of her husband, Henry Otis Wilson, Jr., Friday at the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoage and Sheron, of Albion, Mich., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Castle Collins, and others here this week.

Opal and James Webb Adkins are both in very bad health.

Don Smith and Arthur Crider are both very ill at their homes.

Ed Lewis, of Oceana, W. Va., formerly of this area, is reported to be in very bad health.

The Shelbianna Methodist Church has for another year its pastor, O.E. Stanley. Rev. Stanley has been ill for sometime but is greatly improved.

Citizens of Betsy Layne remember in prayer the sick and shut-ins of our community. Known at this time are Otis Leedy, Mae and Lee Cecil, Cora and Harold Fife, Rubin and Hettie Hall, Arthur Crider, Don Smith, Maude Colegrove, Willie Lawson, Opal and James Adkins, Ed Lewis, Bert Stratton, Fannie Steele, Georgia Lewis, Era Stone, Crate Meade, Randell Sweeney, Irvin Owens, Vannie Turner, Mamie Stanfield, Charles Goble, Joe Osborn, Garfield Castle, Flossie Hamilton, Martha Adkins, Lula Thompson.

USDA Moves To Verify School Lunch Applications

In an effort to ensure that school lunch benefits go only to those legitimately entitled, the U.S. Department of Agriculture is proposing that states verify the information on a sampling of applications for free and reduced price lunches.
 The rules, implementing the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981, were issued along with a companion proposal clarifying the specific information parents must provide.
 "Congress initiated these changes because verification will greatly improve the integrity of the school feeding programs," said Mary Jarratt, assistant secretary for food and consumer services. "We are very concerned about the potential abuse in the school lunch program that can be caused when parents under-report their incomes on free and reduced price meal applications. We believe this regulation strikes the balance between the need we have for increased accountability without imposing excessive paper requirements on school officials," she added.

 Under the verification proposal, state agencies are required to ensure that for school year 1982-83, a minimum of 3 percent, or 3,000, whichever is less, of all applications for free and reduced-price lunches on file in each school food authority are verified. Verification procedures will be at state and local discretion.
 "This proposal will provide a way to counter abuses in the current free and reduced-price application system," Jarratt said.
 The companion proposal clarifies the information required on the application forms, including the requirement that parents must provide Social Security numbers for household members that are at least 21 years old.
 Previously, applications for free and reduced price meals required only family size and income information. School districts could verify the information only if they could show they had reason to suspect it was false or erroneous.
 The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981 requires that applications include the Social Security number of all adult household members and requires USDA to set up standards for schools to verify the information on the applications.

PSC To Study Power Facilities

In a rate order issued June 3, the state Public Service Commission said it will soon begin a study of statewide planning of electric generating and transmission facilities.
 The commission said, "Uncertain growth in demand for electricity, loss of firm power sales, the extremely high cost of additions to capacity, the impact on consumers' bills of additions to capacity, and the current outlook for reserve margins at least through the 1980s in the commonwealth and the region are some of the considerations which cause the need for additional generating capacity to be a matter of ongoing concern to the commission and to others."

Kentucky Afield

Kentucky hunters harvested 180 wild turkeys during the recently completed spring season, according to preliminary data compiled by George Wright, the wildlife biologist in charge of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' turkey program.
 Although the number of turkeys taken isn't that large when viewed in isolation, the increase in harvest over the past few years has been dramatic indeed. In 1976, only 24 turkeys were taken in the entire state, so this year's total represents a 750 percent harvest increase over the last six years. In 1981, 116 turkeys were taken, while in 1980, the total was 63.

The statewide wild turkey population is estimated at approximately 7,000 birds, Wright says. In 1976, this figure was less than 2,000. Since 1976, the year a major turkey restoration began, over 600 turkeys have been stocked in Kentucky and it is the offspring of these birds which account for the increase.
 The two keys to a successful turkey restoration are (1) acquiring the birds and (2) finding suitable habitat for them. Pen-raised turkeys won't make it in the wilds so it is necessary to find a source of wild birds, trap them, and transport them to the release site for restocking.

Last year, 32 turkeys were obtained from Missouri, 20 from Virginia and 82 were trapped in Kentucky and relocated.
 Finding suitable habitat can also be tricky, since wild turkeys won't live just anywhere. They seem particularly sensitive to human activity, particularly during nesting and brood-rearing periods.

Ideal turkey habitat is a minimum of 15,000 acres of woodlands, with about half in mature hardwood forests. Obviously, such areas don't occur everywhere in Kentucky, but the goal of the current turkey project is to locate and stock all suitable turkey habitats. The $6.50 turkey permit required of turkey hunters is a major source of funding for this restoration project.
 We'll probably never have as many wild turkeys in Kentucky as we do deer because of the different habitat requirements of these two species. But biologist are confident that they can develop turkey populations to optimum levels and can greatly increase turkey hunting opportunities around the state.

For this to happen, however, it will take more than just stocking. Successful restoration depends upon the support of the local people. If game laws are followed and poaching is discouraged, turkeys will flourish. If not, all the best efforts of wildlife biologists will have been in vain.

SKUNKS AND RABIES

There are two good reasons to leave skunks alone. Anyone who's ever been downwind of one of these odoriferous creatures already knows the first reason, but can you name the second?

It's not well known, but skunks are among the most serious carriers of one of mankind's most dreaded diseases, rabies.

Skunks are responsible for most outbreaks of rabies in the wilds, according to wildlife biologists with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Along with foxes, skunks represent a reservoir of rabies and as populations of these two species increase, so do the chances of rabies outbreaks.

Skunks can apparently carry and transmit the rabies virus for six months or longer without showing any symptoms of the disease. This means that even a "deodorized" skunk obtained from a legal source after a quarantine period could still suddenly contract rabies. To compound the problem, rabies immunization of skunks isn't always effective.

Although skunks represent perhaps the greatest threat of rabies from the wilds, almost any mammals can contract and transmit the disease. Since most rabies outbreaks occur during warm weather, now is a good time for parents to warn their children about the dangers of picking up or trying to "adopt" wild animals.

A rabid animal often does not exhibit the fear of humans that is normal with most wild creatures and will often allow itself to be picked up. In some cases, children (or adults) have taken rabid wild animals home, thinking they are lost pets.

Television programs which depict wild animals as cuddly, friendly creatures don't help the situation, since they can foster ideas about wildlife in the minds of children.

So parents, particularly those in rural areas, should make sure their children know that any wild animal which allows a person to approach it is sick, if not from rabies, then perhaps from one of the many other wildlife diseases which can be transmitted to man.

Animals which are acting suspicious should be reported to the proper authorities—either the county health department, the sheriff's office or to a fish and wildlife conservation officer.

Rabies is generally transmitted from one animal to another or from an animal to man by the saliva from the diseased animal, usually through a bite. But the virus can enter the skin from any open wound which the saliva contacts.

Anyone bitten by a suspected rabid animal or even coming in close contact with one should see a physician immediately. If at all possible, try to capture or kill any animal which attacks a person or a pet. Health department officials can make positive determination of rabies and decide whether the individual needs to take the painful series of shots. If the animal cannot be located, the victim of a bite usually must undergo the rabies treatment as a precaution.

An Innocent Sound

(Editor's note: The University of Kentucky Medical School's outreach clinics provide specialty medical services to rural areas of Kentucky. During the past year the children's heart outreach clinic examined 211 patients in Prestonsburg. One hundred seven patients were new referrals, and 104 were returning patients.)

By TAWNEY R. ACKER

It sounds like a moth beating its tiny wings against a hurricane lamp. In reality it is the magnified heart beat of a two-week-old baby.

But something is amiss. There seems to be an echo, a hollow thump, followed by a briefer version of the same sound. Perhaps, it is only the determined fluttering of the moth's wings against the warm glass—an innocent gesture. Or perhaps, the moth has flown into the lamp opening and is frantically beating its wings against the hot glass trying to escape.

The physician listens again. Ah, it is an innocent sound, what the doctors refer to as an "innocent murmur"—something that needs no treatment or breeds no fear in parents' hearts.

This baby is one of the lucky ones, one of the 500 or so without heart disease seen by Dr. Jacqueline Noonan, director of the UK Cardiac Pediatric Outreach Clinics.

The others are not so lucky. Out of a thousand patients seen at the clinics, approximately 700 had some type of congenital heart disease, and about 100 had some type of rheumatic fevers.

The 20 clinics in rural areas of the state provide services, such as electrocardiograms and chest x-rays, often not readily available to patients, and it also provides the services at a fraction of the cost. Operating on a rotating clinic schedule site allows the patients to receive long-term follow-up care. Another clinic service that is particularly beneficial is provided by Susan Norman, the clinic patient care co-ordinator. She serves as the contact person for patients who are referred to the UK Medical Center for further tests. At the clinics she provides information and solace for patients and families.

"It's very rewarding work," Norman says. "To be able to help provide operations or treatment that help babies thrive."

"It is a gratifying field," Noonan agrees. "Occasionally we will see a very sick baby, and it is a good feeling to know that you are able to help it, but then you wonder what happens the rest of the year?"

For many patients the rest of the year may entail a visit or visits to the Medical Center for extensive testing, or treatment. Or it may mean, simply traveling to another clinic site for further consultation.

"We have some patients who've moved away, then they come back to us. They schedule their vacations around us," Noonan says.

In 1981, the clinics had 794 repeater patients out of a 1,432 patient count.

This kind of follow up often leads to a special rapport between patients and clinic personnel. A couple visited the UK Cardiac Pediatric office recently to return some unused medicine—unused because their five-year-old daughter, the patient, had died in her sleep. They returned the medicine, so it could be donated to another needy child. Their daughter had been a patient since she was two weeks old. She was born with complex, congenital heart defects, that even the most advanced technology could not correct. The child had been referred to the clinic by a regional physician, as most clinic patients are.

It was a touching farewell—tears and smiles. For five years, everyone had been blessed with a special presence.

Thanks to medical advances, very few children have inoperable heart conditions today. "Technological advances have made our job much easier in many respects," Noonan says. "But it is still very difficult to diagnose heart disease in babies, and that's what we are there to help with."

Martin Jayceetes Hold Cookout, Sale

The Martin Area Jayceetes held a cookout recently at the home of Nyoka Slone and also held a very successful bake sale for the benefit of installing lights at the ball park. The group is most appreciative of the help given with the bake sale by Pat Bentley and Vanny Akers.

Members are Nyoka Slone, Mary Kenkins, Bonnie Crisp, Jayne Howard, Dorothy Tackett, Pat Caudill, and Tommy Whicker. Cheryl Campbell, who was a very active member of the group moved away recently.

Avoid Crowds, Fish at Night

Weekends can get pretty crowded on Kentucky's waters with boaters, skiers and fishermen forming a seemingly endless parade up and down our lakes and large rivers.

Fishermen who have a day off in the middle of the week can usually find conditions a lot calmer than those who only have weekends to fish. But there is a way to fish on weekends without being bothered by the crowds—fish at night.

Not only do you have the lake more to yourself, but you'll also probably find your catch rate increasing. Remember, anglers aren't the only ones bothered by heavy boating traffic or other activities on and around the water. Chances are that most game fish (and particularly the larger ones) find a deep-water hideout during the day and do most of their shallow water crushing and feeding at night when things are more peaceful.

Some white bass and crappie fishermen are quite skillful at night fishing. They use lanterns or battery-powered sealed beam lights to attract plankton, which attracts shad, which in turn attracts game fish. This angling system involves anchoring in a fixed location, setting up the lights, lowering a baited hook and waiting (sometimes until just before dawn) for action to develop.

Trout fishermen at Laurel Lake in Southeastern Kentucky have discovered that this technique works well on trout, but instead of minnows, their favorite baits are worms, whole kernel corn or small cheese balls.

Bass fishermen tend to move around more, searching for feeding fish in shallow water. Black lures are generally the most productive. Noisy surface lures and large black plastic worms are two favorites with confirmed night bass casters.

Although it's pleasant to be out on the water on a bright moonlit night, fishing seems better when there's no moon—the rule here is the darker the better.

Since it's difficult (and sometimes impossible) to see the shoreline, hang ups and snags are much more frequent than when fishing in daylight. So light tackle isn't recommended. Another reason for heavy gear is the size of bass the fisherman can encounter at night. Lunker largemouths seem to do most of their shallow water foraging at night, so the angler's chances of meeting up with a really big bass are enhanced if he doesn't quit fishing when the sun goes down.

With visibility reduced to near zero, it pays to be particularly safety conscious at night. Make sure your boat has the proper running lights as required by state law and that they are in working order. A powerful spotlight is helpful while underway, and reduced speed is a must.

It's a good idea to be familiar with the particular section of the lake where you'll be fishing. In particular, make sure you can find your way back to the dock or launching area—an unlighted ramp can sometimes be hard to find on a pitch-black night.

A jug of coffee, a supply of mosquito repellent a light jacket to ward off the cool, damp night air and a spare flashlight are about the only other extra pieces of equipment the night fisherman needs.

Water Safety Class Slated at Pikeville

Brown Declines To Call Session

A group of Madison countians who want to repeal a law increasing legislators' pension benefits received scant encouragement Monday.

Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. met for 15 minutes with Millard Jones, of Richmond, and his delegation of a half-dozen people who want a special legislative session to repeal Senate Bill 103.

The bill, passed in the last General Assembly, was vetoed by Brown, but the veto was overridden.

Brown told the group he had no plan to call a special session on the issue, or to include it on the agenda, should he call one on other matters.

But Jones told reporters, who outnumbered his group on the Capitol steps. "He could change his mind."

Jones said the pension increases would cost the state $2,118,200 for the first 30 months.

"That's just for the present bunch," he said. "I don't know how high it could run, but it's going to be terrible. In a recession, I think it's ill-timed."

"It's worse than Frankie and Jesse James."

Jones, a retired farmer, said he has heard from hundreds of Kentuckians who agree.

The group plans meetings in other counties to tell people about the pension measure, Senate Bill 103, which group members call the "greed bill."

Spelling Winner

Randall Keith Colvin, son of Barbara and Steve Burkett, of Lancer, was boys' winner of the "Shoot for the Stars" spelling test in Mrs. McGuire's second grade class at Prestonsburg Grade School. He is the grandson of Nebraska Martin and the late Allen Martin, of Lancer.

Attend Teen 4-H Camp

Twelve Floyd county teen 4-H Club members attended the teen leadership camp last week at the Diederick 4-H Center. While at the camp they received training in citizenship, recreation and leadership.

Attending from Floyd county were Brenda Mosley, Tena Mosley, Rhonda Johnson, Todd O'Brien, Angela Lawson, James Kidd, Greg Castle, Scottie Crum, Troy Samons, Lolita Baldrige, Stannual Mullins and Rondell Martin.

"Fitness vacations" are sweeping the country, as resorts dedicated to a healthier lifestyle spring up in town after town. Each offers a program to suit different people's needs and tastes. This is evident, the June Reader's Digest suggests, in the prices charged for a week's stay at the various resorts which can range from $150 to $2,275.

KSP Auto Theft Section Gears Up for New Title Law

In the Kentucky State Police auto theft section personnel are gearing up for the new Kentucky title law effective in 1983. The law passed by the legislature this year is the latest phase in a war against auto thieves who are using Kentucky as a "dumping ground."

The law, which requires verification before out-of-state cars are issued Kentucky titles, is the "best in the nation," said Lt. Richard D. McQuown, section commander.

Years ago, out-of-state vehicle titles surrendered for Kentucky registration were retained on the county level and were never verified.

Since a new law passed in 1980, the county clerks send the surrendered titles to Frankfort where the state police section checks on title legitimacy. From August, 1980 to date, the section has detected 250 stolen vehicles and 2,500 altered, stolen or counterfeit titles, said Lt. McQuown.

Yet detection of a phony title often came too late. The car thief was issued Kentucky registration over-the-counter before the surrendered title was sent to Frankfort, and many times the vehicle had already been sold.

The 1982 law requires that the surrendered titles be sent to the section for document examination before a Kentucky title is issued, said McQuown. This will mean greater protection for car buyers, he noted.

This shift in emphasis towards title document examination was eased by full operation statewide of the computerized Automated Vehicle Information System.

The computerized system, known as AVIS, is administered by the Bureau of Vehicle Regulation in the Transportation Department and is a cooperative effort of the state police and other state agencies.

AVIS frees auto theft section workers from time-consuming filing and retrieving information from motor vehicle files.

All that information is now automatically entered, stored and retrieved. The information is punched in by county clerk offices and immediately entered in a central computer in Frankfort.

The information can instantly be retrieved by troopers or other authorized personnel.

5 Floyd Students On President's List

Five Floyd county residents are among the Morehead State University students recognized on the 1982 spring semester President's List.

The President's List includes fulltime students maintaining a perfect 4.0 point average for the semester.

The list includes Rebecca Jane Wells, Prestonsburg; Howard Lee Brown, Banner; Stacy Ann Conn, Betsy Layne; Karen Newsome Henry, Teaberry, and Donna Lee Layne, of Ivel.

Nine other Floyd students are among those recognized for superior academic achievement on the semester Dean's List at MSU. Students included on the Dean's List must be enrolled on a full-time basis and achieve at least a 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 (A) scale.

Included are:
Angela Grace Ratcliff, 3.5, Charleye Gail Sammons, 3.62, and Steven Eugene Sauber, 3.41, all of Martin; Kevin Douglas Sturgill, 3.6, and Sandra Lea Vaughn, 3.5, both of Auxier; Joseph McKinley Allen, 3.47, and Teresa Renee Moore, 3.57, both of Garrett; Cindy Lou Blair, 3.5, Tram, and Eric Christopher Conn, 3.4, Stanville.

Sad Comments from Post, Texas Residents

Post, voted wet in the 1960's. However, liquor is as strong and evil today as one hundred years ago. These statements were made in the 1960's

From Those Who Know: POST Residents

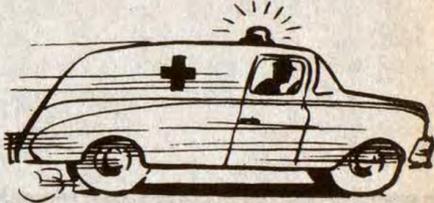

"Most of the liquor stores are owned by someone out of town. I operate a hotel. Drunks try to sleep in the lobby, they ruin my rooms, and leave their bills unpaid. This problem has arisen since "Legal Liquor" came to Post. I am a member of the local A.A. organization. More of our members are returning to drinking than ever before. Some of them had not taken a drink for years."

—George Tracy
Alzerita Hotel

"It has definitely helped our ambulance business! We have picked up a lot of drunks from automobile wrecks but have never collected one penny from any of them."

—Hudman Funeral Home

"I served on the Grand Jury last week. If it had not been for the many problems that "Legal Liquor" has brought, there would have been little Grand Jury business."

—Lowell Short
Short Hardware

"I operate the Humble Station in Post. The "Legal Sale of Alcoholic Beverages" has made no noticeable increase in my business. No increase would be worth what we have to put up with by having "Legal Sales" in Post."

—Derl Lovell

"Where we might have 2 to 4 in jail on Saturday nights, we now have 14 to 20. I have been called out of bed in the early mornings (after midnight) to release business men from jail on bond so they could get to their business the next morning without being embarrassed. I have even been called out of church to see about cases of drunkenness since "Legal Liquor" sales came to Post."

DRIFT NEWS

BIBLE SCHOOL AT DRIFT

A vacation Bible School was held at the Drift Presbyterian Church the week of June 14 to 19. The leadership was provided by the "Colorado Teens" of Montview Presbyterian Church in Denver, Colorado. The group conducted a Bible school in the morning and did work projects in the Drift area in the afternoon. The leader of the group, Harriet Isbell, said she felt that her group benefited from the experience of meeting the children in the neighborhood and being able to help in some home repair in Drift and McDowell. "We were frustrated because we couldn't do more," she commented.

The "Teens" led worship at the church on June 20, and the Drift children in the Bible school also participated in the service. The "Teens" presented several special musical selections.

The next work group at the Presbyterian Church will be from Monday, June 28 to Thursday, July 1. A youth group from Bryn Mawr, Pa., will be doing service projects in and around Drift. For more information about summer activities at the church, call 377-2342.

IS YOUR INSURANCE AGENT LOCKED INTO ONE COMPANY?

There are 2 ways to buy insurance. You can buy your insurance from a one-company agent. But he's locked into only those policies that his company sells. So his hands are tied.

Or you can buy your insurance from an Independent Insurance Agent... the more-than-one-company agent. You see, your Big "I" Independent Agent doesn't work for one company. He represents several. So he's free to give you an independent opinion and advise you on the best coverage at the best price. And that goes for homeowners, automobile, business, life and health insurance.

Before you reach a verdict about insurance, see your Big "I" Independent Insurance Agent... the more-than-one-company agent. Do it today.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

78-CI-089

Ellis Adams and Mary Adams, his wife; Lina Adams Howard and Adam Howard, her husband, Sharon Kay Holbrook and Willie Holbrook, Jr., Ellis Adams and Sheril Adams . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the Aug. 18, 1981 term, in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the premises to be sold on the Mountain Parkway, on the waters of Middle Creek in Floyd County, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 12th day of July, 1982 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

Those certain tracts of land lying and being situated on the waters of the right fork of Middle Creek in Floyd County, Ky., described as follows:

Those two (2) tracts of land conveyed by deed of May 30, 1944, from Ruby and Ollie Holbrook to Ben and Vinie Adams as recorded in Deed Book 124, page 200, on October 9, 1944, and described more particularly as follows: and a part of the land conveyed by deed of March 24, 1947, from Norman and Hattie Holbrooks to Bennie and Lina Adams as recorded in Deed Book 133, page 617, on May 12, 1947 and described more particularly as follows:

No. 1: A small wedge shaped piece of bottom land of one acre more or less between the state highway and Middle Creek with the barn on the lower end and being a part of the land purchased 3/24/47, D.B. 133, p. 617, from Norman Holbrooks, et al.

No. 2: A tract of land on the upper side of the state highway (right) side going up Middle Creek known as the home place of about seven acres more or less facing the state highway and running up the point below the house with the Helen Johnson Line to top of hill to the Charlie Hackworth line running westwardly with same to Beecher Holbrook line, thence down the point and with the point to state highway, being the same land purchased 5/30/44, D.B. 124, p. 200, from Ruby and Ollie Holbrooks Said Grantor.

Tract 2 of this property is sold subject to the following reservations of rights of way:

A right-of-way over Tract II to Tract III, seventeen (17) feet wide as presently in use.

A right-of-way seventeen (17) feet wide over Tract II to the lands of Ellis Adams' heirs, as presently in use, including a private bridge for the exclusive use of the family of Ellis Adams and his successors in title.

There is excepted from this sale that portion of Tract I that was sold Ellis Adams and Mary Adams, his wife, on May 5, 1963, by Bennie Adams and Viney Adams, his wife, as recorded in Deed Book 231, page 339 on October 31, 1977.

There is hereby reserved and excepted from the sale all mineral interests on Tract III of this property.

TRACT NO. 3

That certain tract of land conveyed by deed of March 24, 1947 from Norman Holbrook, et al, recorded in Deed Book 133 pg 617, Deeds of May 1, 1950 from Isom Holbrook et al, Deed Book 145 to pg 145 and Deed of May 2, 1950, from Norman Holbrook as recorded in Deed Book 145, page 211, and being the same land devised by Viney Adams to plaintiffs and defendants by mutual will of Bennie and Viney Adams, executed September 19, 1977, recorded in Will Book C, page 789, on December 3, 1977, and described more particularly as follows:

Being on the right hand side of the Mountain Parkway across the Right Fork of Middle Creek from the barn lot and running up the branch with the branch alongside the homestead of the defendants to the second point on the right and up the center of said point to the top; thence right around the head of the hollow with the top ridge; thence with said ridge along the hill tops and with the crest of the hill tops along and up the Right Fork of Middle Creek to a marker at the top of the hill; thence to the creek at a point beyond the upper end of the wedge shaped tract and Right Hand Fork of Middle Creek; thence down said stream, to the mouth of the branch, the point of beginning.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of the late Bennie and Viney Adams.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall include the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the date of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 21st day of June, 1982.

For people who work in watercolor, it is the most prestigious and competitive exhibition in the United States," says Dr. Bill Booth, head of MSU's Department of Art. Approximately 150 paintings were chosen for the exhibit.

"For one of our graduates to be selected is important recognition for MSU," says Dr. Booth. Akers also had a painting accepted for the 1979 exhibition.

"Woodrow's Room" also was selected for inclusion in the American Watercolor Society's traveling exhibition. The 50-painting display will tour major art museums and galleries throughout the U.S. this year.

In addition, Akers' work is featured in the June issue of "American Artist." A six-page article by Dr. Booth, "Gary Akers: Paintings from the Borders Brothers Farm," includes several photographs of the artist's paintings. "American Artist" is the nation's largest art magazine. Akers will be featured in five other national publications this year.

Akers, who received his bachelor's degree in 1972, finished a master's degree with an emphasis in painting and drawing at MSU in 1974.

MAYO FAMILY REUNION HELD HERE OVER WEEKEND

More than 100 descendants of John D. and Anna Porter Mayo gathered here last weekend for a family reunion and dedication of the newly renovated Mayo cemetery.

The clan gathered Saturday and Sunday at the adjoining homes of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goebel, Jr., and Mrs. H. L. Mayo on old U.S. 23, located on land that was part of the old Mayo farm.

During Sunday dedication services, several family members outlined the Mayo history. Dr. Porter Mayo, of Lexington, traced the line back two centuries, to Valentine Mayo, an Englishman who came to this country and settled in Virginia in the late 17th century.

His grandson, William James Mayo, came to Floyd county in 1799 to serve as the combined clerk of the county and circuit courts, a position he held until 1825, when he was succeeded by his son Jacob.

Reading excerpts from family letters dating back to the 1800's, Dr. Mayo outlined the family's long interest in government and education.

R. V. May, Prestonsburg, told how his grandparents, John D. and Anna Mayo, married in 1876 and settled eventually on the farm on the banks of the Big Sandy River.

The story of their 12 children was related by Dr. Jack Allen, of Nashville, Tennessee.

The three surviving children of John D. and Anna Mayo were special guests. They are Mrs. E. L. Allen, of Lexington, Mrs. Homer Salisbury and Miss Maurine Mayo, of Prestonsburg.

The other children were Gladys, who married Robert F. Clay; Julia, who married the late Congressman Andrew J. May; Fanny, who married H. D. Fitzpatrick, Sr., a former state legislator and banker; John Dick Mayo, whose wife Regina survives him; Walker Porter Mayo, a former Floyd county attorney; Henry Lewis Mayo, whose wife, Maude, survives him; Pearl Mayo, who died as a young man; Mabel, who married pharmacist Golden W. Curnutte, and Lucille, married to businessman David C. Herndon.

A perpetual care trust has been formed to govern the Mayo family cemetery and the Mayo public cemetery, adjoining on the old family farm. H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of Prestonsburg, said the non-profit trust is to be administered by three trustees, Frank Fitzpatrick, Clifford Latta and Ruth Mayo Goebel.

A new access road and steps have been built for the cemeteries and landscaping has been completed.

Attending the reunion were the following:

From Prestonsburg, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goebel, Jr., Mary Mayo Goebel, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goebel, III, Deborah G. Reed's Newest Book Now in Bookstores

The Fairy Queen of East River Mountain," written by Rufus Mitchell Reed, of Lovely, Martin county, has been recently published by Todd & Honeywell, Inc.

It is the story of two children—Billy and Betty—who encounter a fairy queen when they are lost in the woods. The fairy queen introduces them to all the inhabitants of the forest, the animals, birds and trees. The animals speak to the children, who learn about their habits, friends and enemies, and purpose in the woods. This is a magical tale and children will love to have this book read aloud to them.

"The Fairy Queen of East River Mountain" also teaches children to respect the environment—a most important lesson. The fairy queen deeply loves the forest and the animals and this love shines throughout the book.

Mr. Reed's new book is available at better bookstores everywhere or directly from the publishers, Todd & Honeywell, Inc.

Floyd Banks in Consortium Aimed at Home-Loan Problem

All four Floyd county banks have joined 90 other Eastern Kentucky banking institutions in an effort to make more home loans available, with lower down-payments and longer terms for the loans, it was announced last Wednesday at a news conference in Lexington.

Although leaders of the 94-bank consortium do not expect their efforts to produce home-building and new home ownership to any marked degree until interest rates go down, they do see that their efforts may make the purchase of a home of good quality more affordable.

The consortium of 94 banks in 46 Eastern Kentucky counties holds 95 percent of the commercial banking assets in the region.

The group will not make mortgage loans but will help member banks deal with the red tape involved with federal mortgage purchase programs and will lobby for changes in regulations regarding secondary mortgage purchases.

"Our action can't change the fundamental problem of high interest rates," said O.T. Dorton, president of Citizens National Bank in Paintsville. "But the consortium will help our banks be in a better position to make loans when interest rates drop."

Mortgage purchase programs offered by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration have been used infrequently in Eastern Kentucky, Dorton said, partly because special problems in the area make it difficult to meet requirements.

The group plans to conduct seminars to educate bankers on the programs available and federal officials on the special needs of Eastern Kentucky.

Those needs include a lack of public utilities, mountainous terrain and the inability of appraisers unfamiliar with the area to assess property values properly.

"It's a lot easier to stay along the interstate, stay in the big cities, to cut costs," said Robert M. Duncan, president of the Inez Deposit Bank. "We're inviting them into Eastern Kentucky."

A recent University of Louisville study showed that Eastern Kentucky housing starts in the 1970s reflected less than one-third of the need, Dorton said.

Duncan pointed to a 48 percent population increase in Martin county alone in the past decade, saying many of the new residents were faced with living with relatives or in mobile homes.

Typical mortgage terms available in much of the region have included down payments of up to 40 percent and terms of maturity ranging from seven to 15 years.

The consortium hopes to see down payments in the 5 percent to 10 percent range as well as fixed, 30-year payments and greater availability of private mortgage insurance.

The Mountain Association for Community Economic Development, a non-profit organization based in Berea that operates primarily on private donations, will provide staff assistance to the consortium and was instrumental in organizing the group.

The U.S. manufactures two-and-a-half times as much portland cement as any other country.

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

REVIEWS

Blondie — "The Hunter" (Chrysalis) — Blondie's new LP uses the excuse of a unified theme (hunting, searching) to further expand and diversify the band's sound. But the band sounds better when its boundaries are more limited.

The first single from the album, "Island of Lost Souls," continues "Tide's" calypso direction. They also foray farther into rhythm-and-blues (as Debbie Harry did in her solo effort) with "The Beast" and Smokey Robinson's "Hunter Gets Captured by the Game," originally recorded by the Marvellettes in 1967. Still, the simpler song, "Danceaway," which spotlights Clem Burke, one of the best drummers in the game, comes across as a more cohesive, pleasing number.

Despite the droopy "English Boys" and the pretentious "Dragonfly," this record is bound to dominate the airways this summer.

Haircut 100 — "Pelican West" (Arista) — Dance-oriented music is undergoing some interesting changes. No longer is funk the only acceptable beat; Latin rhythms and tribal chants are making an appearance... often from the strangest quarters.

Haircut 100 is an English band whose members look like prep school refugees. They sound like Adam and the Ants gone squeaky clean, with horns. It's vivacious, infectious and danceable.

UPDATE

In the Studio: Dire Straits and Bruce Springsteen working on new albums. Peter, Paul and Mary are mixing a live recording of their 20th anniversary reunion. The Dead Kennedys are up to something in San Francisco's Hyde Street Studios

In Memory: July 3 marks the 13th anniversary of Brian Jones' death and the 11th anniversary of Jim Morrison's.

In the business: Neil Young has signed to the can-do-no-wrong label, Gettan Records. Steve Miller is embarking on his first U.S. tour in four years. Have the Eagles really broken up?

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND Health Educator

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in the United States; this disease strikes without any symptoms. For this reason persons over age 35 are urged to have regular screenings for the disease, since this is the high risk age for glaucoma. The Floyd County Health Department is having a glaucoma screening clinic Friday, June 25, as a free service of the Health Department that is open to persons of all ages, but those over 35 are especially urged to be screened for glaucoma.

Cervical cancer can be one of the most curable of all cancers if it is detected early enough. The test to detect cervical cancer is a simple painless test which takes a few moments of a woman's time. This is the Pap test.

The Floyd County Health Department is having Pap clinics at both the branch office in Wheelwright and the main office in Prestonsburg. The Wheelwright Clinic will be on Monday, June 28, from 9 until 2; the Prestonsburg clinic will be on Wednesday, June 30, from 8:30 until 11:30 and from 1:00 until 2:00.

Children entering school in Kentucky for the first time are required to be immunized against the childhood diseases; measles, rubella, whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus. They are also required to have a T.B. skin test. These tests and immunizations are available free of charge from the Floyd County Health Department.

Figures Show 3210 Floyd Co. Veterans

Floyd county has a total of 3210 veterans, of whom 2810 served during a war-time period, according to the Veterans Administration.

The latest statistics show that 790 served in the Vietnam Era, and of these 740 had no service in Korea. There are 510 Korean Conflict veterans, and of these 450 did not see service in World War II.

The largest group of veterans is from World War II. They number 1560. Yet surviving are 60 veterans from World War I, according to VA data. Since the ending of the Vietnam War 100 from Floyd have served in the armed forces and have been discharged. There are an additional 290 who were in service between the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam Era.

One-fourth of all Vietnam Era veterans served in the combat area during the almost-11-year war.

In Kentucky there are 407,000 veterans of whom 350,000 served in time of war. There are 125,000 Vietnam Era veterans; 75,000 Korean Conflict veterans; 166,000 World War II veterans, and 6,000 World War I veterans. There have been 16,000 persons who have been on active duty and are now discharged since the end of Vietnam Era, and 42,000 veterans who served between Vietnam and Korea.

OUTPATIENT REGISTRATION

Tammy Joseph and Angela Fannin, admissions interviewers, work in the new outpatient registration area. The separate area for outpatients makes registration faster and easier.

A new outpatient registration system has been implemented at Highlands Regional Medical Center, according to Clarence Traum, administrator.

At the heart of the system is a new outpatient registration area. The purpose of having a separate area for outpatients is to make the process faster and easier. Patients needing laboratory tests, x-ray, physical therapy, cardio-diagnostic treatment, outpatient surgery, respiratory therapy and other tests or treatments which do not require an overnight hospital stay, will now register at the outpatient window. These patients previously registered along with all patients being admitted to the hospital, which sometimes caused delays and crowded conditions in the hospital lobby.

The new area is located in the rear section of the hospital, near the Radiology Department. Signs have been posted to direct patients and the information desk personnel in the front lobby also supply directions.

"This is another example of our efforts to improve the services we provide to residents of the Big Sandy," explained Paul Hutchison, director of Outpatient Services. "Our outpatient programs are constantly being reviewed to assure positive benefits to our patients."

JW Summer Music Week Is Proclaimed

Floyd County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. has signed a proclamation declaring the week of June 20-June 26 as Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre Week. Wednesday, June 23 of that week marks the opening of the theatre's 18th summer season.

The declaration, also signed by Jenny Wiley Managing Director John McCann, is a representation of Floyd county's appreciation for the high quality entertainment the theatre has provided for 18 years.

The week's festivities include an opening night celebration at the theatre, complete with special guests, State Representative Keither Endicott, State Representative Gregory Stumbo and Major General Billy Wellman. Also during that week dollar off coupons will be distributed by local merchants, and radio station WPRT will offer special complimentary tickets.

Heralding the new season will be high school bands from Pikeville and Betsy Layne whose members are included in the cast of "The Music Man," Jenny Wiley's season-opener. Other area bands will perform in the musical throughout the summer.

During opening week "The Music Man" will be performed Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights, and "The Fantasticks" on Saturday and Sunday. The theatre expects record crowds opening night. To reserve seats, call now. The box office is open from 10 to 6 daily; for reservations call 886-9274. Special group and senior citizen rates are available, and children under six will be admitted free.

KMA Program Helps Towns Find Doctors

The Kentucky Medical Association will be sponsoring the Fourth Annual Physician Recruitment Fair, at the Hyatt Regency/Lexington Convention Center, on October 16. This highly successful program has been instrumental in assisting communities needing the services of a physician.

The half-day program features an exhibit hall where sixty or more communities exhibit items that highlight their community's social, economical and recreational benefits.

Resident physicians from Kentucky and the surrounding states are invited to meet with the community representatives. It is estimated that 200 potential candidates will meet with the communities' representatives this year.

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

When getting ready to purchase an item, how many times have you heard, "Don't worry about signing this—you've got three days to cancel if you want out." Have you ever been told, "Go ahead and sign; if you decide that you don't want it, we'll just forget it?"

According to Attorney General Steven Beshear, "Contracts are binding legal documents and cannot be 'gotten out of' as easily as some people would lead you to believe. The only exceptions are if you have purchased something in your home that costs more than $25 and is not insurance, or when the contract has a cancellation clause in it."

Both of these exceptions have procedures you have to follow in order to cancel the transaction properly. If you want to cancel a door-to-door transaction, you should send a written notice to the company or other party within three days. To be safe, you should send it by certified or registered mail. Transactions other than door-to-door are somewhat more involved when it comes to cancellation. Written contracts must have a written clause for cancellation in the contract; most have specific information and some have penalties for cancellation. Remember when you get ready to sign your name on the dotted line you should be very aware that it is a legally binding agreement between two parties. In almost all cases, oral statements by a sales person cannot change the terms of the written contract.

If you have questions concerning contracts or other consumer matters, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Kentucky, or call the toll-free Consumer Hotline: 1-800-432-9257.

Graduates with Honors

Garry Herbert Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Conn, Garden City, Mich., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Stratton, formerly of Betsy Layne, graduated from West Senior High School, Garden City, Mich., June 10, with high honors in leadership, character and scholarship. His poem was chosen for the class of over 300 graduates. He will enter Eastern Michigan University College next fall.

His poem follows:
The Class of '82
A heart warming feeling engulfs your heart.

To know that you will always have been a part,
A special part because we are the last from West,
But when the doors close we can claim we are the best.

Yes, you can say we are the Class of '82,
But we're also so very close, a family too.
With each member playing a Special Role.
Working toward a common goal.

We'll always look back and remember the past,
Of how time went by, so very, very, fast,
To reflect now draws a special tear,
Now that graduation time is near.

Now we must go out into this bountiful world,
With all its' riches about to unfurl.
We begin our journey in June, fresh and New,
And we'll let this world know, We are the Class of '82.

The Knott County Gingerbread Horse Show, postponed because of rain on June 12, has been reset for Saturday, July 3, at 6:30 p.m.

The 22-class horse show has been sanctioned by the Eastern Kentucky Horse Show Association.
The Gingerbread Horse Show, a fund-raising event for the county's fall festival, will be held at the Knott Central football field, four miles off new KY 80 on KY 160 near Hindman.
For further information, contact Larry Dixon, (606) 785-3189, nights 785-3210.

Come to the seminar to learn how you can build your own home the Miles Homes way. Thousands have already built their reward - and you can do it, too!

Miles Homes you can do it SEMINAR

*Sample Credit Terms. Let's assume you purchase a Basic Miles Home with a cash price of $24,000. No down payment is required. Processing charges would be approximately $100, bringing the amount financed to $24,100. Though the interest rates vary from state to state, in the example we'll use the 12.9% annual percentage rate. The total finance charge for the 24-month contract is $6,217.80. The deferred payment price of $30,317.80, which is the amount financed plus finance charges, is paid in 22 interest only payments of $282.83 and a 23rd payment of $24,100. The first 22 payments will not reduce your obligation to Miles. If you purchase a home under Miles Homes' "Build-A-Home Revolving Credit Account and Security Agreement," the amounts and due dates of payments are similar to those in the above example. With this plan, your finance charge is calculated at an annual percentage rate of 12.9%, which is applied to a balance that is equal to what you would owe each day of the billing period divided by the number of days in the billing period. In both cases, your final payment is normally paid with longer term financing, arranged through your local lender. Miles does not arrange long-term financing. The figures above may vary depending on the Miles model you choose, local sales taxes and recording fees and whether you after the Basic Miles Home or add optional packages at additional costs. 6-23-21.
