

Cooley Is Shotgun Victim; Brother Jailed in Slaying

A Town Branch man was killed by a shotgun blast Monday. His brother was lodged in the Floyd county jail, charged with murder.

Robert Greenville "Bob" Cooley, 58, was pronounced dead at 9:37 a.m., by physicians at Highlands Regional Medical Center's emergency room. A spokeswoman for the hospital said doctors attempted cardiopulmonary resuscitation for about 45 minutes before pronouncing Cooley dead. Charged with murder is James Jackson Cooley, 60.

Floyd County Sheriff's Deputy Harold Johnson, the first officer to arrive on the scene, said the victim had apparently been shoveling gravel into a wheelbarrow when he was shot. Johnson said the shooting took place shortly after 9 a.m. After coming upon the scene while on patrol, he radioed for assistance from other deputies and the state police.

Coroner Roger Nelson said Cooley was shot at least twice with a .20 gauge shotgun, once in the right chest and once in the right arm. The body was sent to Pikeville Methodist Hospital for autopsy by District Medical Examiner Dr. George Buckley.

Sheriff's deputy John Blackburn said there had been a long-standing dispute between the brothers regarding ownership of property inherited from their parents. Blackburn said James Cooley told him the two had been arguing for several years. "They just couldn't get along," he said.

The brothers, both of whom had returned home here in 1978 after living in Iowa, lived in homes separated by the driveway in which the victim had been working. A sister, Irene Cooley, lives behind the brothers. After seeing his brother filling the wheelbarrow with gravel James Cooley felt was his, the accused reportedly asked Robert what he was doing. Robert Cooley, who was said to have been making a parking area for his sister, told James "it's none of your business," according to Blackburn. This angered the accused, who went back to his porch, got his gun and opened fire, according to witnesses. The shots were fired from a distance of about 48 feet. Witnesses said Robert Cooley staggered across the road, sat down and fell forward.

James Cooley is scheduled for arraignment July 2. Bail was set at $25,000 property bond or 10 percent cash.

Detective Danny Stumbo is heading the investigation for the state police.

Born September 25, 1927, Robert Cooley was a son of the late Dave and Helen Cooley. He was retired from the Rath Packing Plant in Waterloo, Iowa. A veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, he was a member of Disabled American Veterans Chapter 18, Auxier.

Survivors include two sons, Robert Cooley, of Waterloo, Iowa, and James Cooley, of Scottsdale, Arizona; a

District Court Juries Weigh Varied Charges

Of four jury trials this week in Floyd District Court, one resulted in a guilty verdict while three ended in acquittals.

Billy R. Combs, 26, of Hindman, was convicted of charges of drunk and reckless driving on the testimony of Deputy Sheriff Anthony Castle, who pulled him over on KY 80 at Garrett on April 3. Castle said Combs was driving at over 100 m.p.h., failed field sobriety tests, and registered .15 percent on the Breathalyzer.

Combs, who represented himself, acknowledged having had "a few beers" but claimed he was given no field sobriety tests and denied being drunk. He was ordered to pay $357 in fine and court costs.

Michael E. Fannin, 36, of Allen, accused by his estranged wife of assault last Nov. 10, was acquitted by a jury. Danette Fannin said Fannin knocked her to the floor. She has also filed complaints accusing him of terroristic threatening and charging Evelyn Keathley, also of Allen, with harassing communications and menacing.

Fannin also faces a drunk driving charge brought by Prestonsburg police captain Darrel Conley. For his part, Fannin has charged his estranged wife with harassing communications. All charges but the assault charge, which was disposed of by last Wednesday's jury trial, have been continued until a special prosecutor can be appointed.

Also acquitted by a jury was Roger Paige, of Wheelwright, who originally faced a felony charge of wanton endangerment brought by Paul Mullett, of Weeksbury, in Floyd Circuit Court. The charge was reduced to criminal mischief, a misdemeanor, on Jan. 17 and the case remanded to district court.

Mullett said Paige fired on his car with a large-caliber weapon on April 19

Jury Acquits Hall As Dupe In Con Game

Even the defense attorney conceded he at first thought "nobody's going to believe" his client's story. A circuit court jury was convinced, however, deciding in less than 20 minutes that Donald Hall, Jr., of Toler's Creek, was not guilty of trying to pass a forged check at a Harold bank last year.

The facts of the case, which was tried Monday in Floyd Circuit Court, were not generally in dispute. Hall, 26, tried to cash a $3000 check on May 20 last year at the Harold branch of the Bank Josephine. The check, drawn on an Elliott Supply Co. account and purportedly bearing the signature of a secretary in that firm's Lancer office, was made out to Hall.

An inquiry by bank officials revealed that the check had neither been issued to Hall nor signed by Dolla Williams, the secretary whose name appeared on it. In fact, it was one of several checks that had recently been stolen from Elliott Supply. The check was returned by bank officials to Hall, who said he threw it in the trash.

The central issue for the jury, said Jerry Patton, Hall's attorney, was whether his client was a conscious party to the attempted fraud or merely an innocent dupe.

'Cotton Patch Gospel' Hits Home As Entertaining Religious Satire

After three years of preaching, working wonders and unnerving local authorities around Gainesville, Georgia, the protagonist rolls on Atlanta in a noisy motorcade like a charismatic Southern populist whose political fortunes are about to peak.

Only, he knows something his handlers and p.r. flacks don't want to hear—that a lynching at the hands of the Klan will precede his triumph and, even then, it will be a victory like none they had imagined.

If the plot sounds familiar, it is a contemporary retelling of an old story—Kentucky minister Clarence Jordan's account of the life of Jesus. The Cotton Patch Version of Matthew and John—and it can be heard any of the next 10 Sunday nights (Friday, June 27, too) at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre.

The Summer Music Theatre opened its 22nd season here last week with Cotton Patch Gospel, the off-Broadway musical based on Jordan's book and featuring music and lyrics by Harry Chapin. (Chapin was killed in a 1981 auto accident, shortly before the New York opening of the long-running musical.)

Star of the Jenny Wiley production is Louisville native Dan Delafield, who "cut his performing teeth" on the Jenny Wiley boards from 1974 to 1979, who traveled with the touring cast of Cotton Patch Gospel for a year, and who returns to Jenny Wiley this season as artistic director. (Coincidentally, the touring cast is performing this week at Lexington's Opera House.)

Delafield's performance is a one-man tour de force as the apostle Matthew—always an especially demanding type of role outdoors, the solo artist poised like a star on the lip of a gaping black hole—and he is ably supported by four cast members standing in for the other 12 disciples. To the musical's loss—although Matthew may be as much to blame as Jordan—there are no women in the cast. A rather laid-back bluegrass quartet featuring two local pickers, Mike Wright on guitar and Zandel Adams on banjo, provides the music.

A midweek performance on a fine, warm night drew an appreciative but sparse audience. The show has enjoyed ringing endorsements in the religious media—including a Baptist Press review that praised it for the "unusual freshness and creativity" of its reading of the gospel and pronounced it "the kind of drama that Southern Baptists can and should support"—but the word has apparently not yet filtered down to local congregations here.

There are those who feel little enthusiasm for Bible reworkings that

Certified City Status Is Again Sought Here

Prestonsburg is gearing up for an inspection by the state Chamber of Commerce, which officials hope will lead to a second consecutive Certified City designation here.

After last year's certification, inspectors made a number of recommendations on ways the city should improve before this year's inspection. The evaluation team will grade the city on progress made in these areas since last year.

Areas to be evaluated Monday include tourism, public affairs services, municipal administration, recreation and the public library. Later, transportation, codes and ordinances, city planning, fire and police protection, traffic, utilities, community appearance, quality of education, and health care will be examined. Committees comprised of local government, business and civic leaders were established to examine recommendations for each area.

It was suggested last year that a full-time tourism director be hired, that the city develop and expand its attraction base, have a stronger promotion effort aimed at bringing more tourists into the area, and educate the community about the importance of tourism.

The report, by a committee made up of Larry Wingate, of the Big Sandy Area Development District, James L. Reed, of the Department for Employment Services, and businessman Edward Music, said these goals have been met.

They cited the Chamber of Commerce's opening, in March, of an office on the first floor of city hall. Peggy Bailey, whose major responsibility is to act as a tourism director for the city and county, said on average she receives four or five calls a day from people interested in vacationing here. Most of the calls come from out of state.

"A lot of people call and want to know about places that make crafts, or where they can go and look for arrowheads," Miss Bailey said. She makes lists of such places and sends them to the callers. She said Jenny Wiley State Park is a major drawing card for the area. She expressed confidence the city would be re-certified.

As to the other recommendations, the committee pointed out the "numerous quality events" already offered at Jenny Wiley. Upcoming events at the park include the Big Sandy Senior Games, June 27, and Heritage of the Hills, a ten-day cultural festival, also beginning June 27.

The report listed the new Prestonsburg Holiday Inn as a boon to tourism, and lauded the efforts of the Big Sandy ADD in exploring ideas for new attractions.

The report outlined a proposed Chamber of Commerce campaign designed to make area residents aware of the importance of tourism to the region. Set for late summer, plans call for a media campaign and for Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo to designate a tourism awareness week.

As of June 16, 1986, the Division of Water has not received verification of the Public Notification. ## Win Nat'l Safety Council Award for Safety

Employees of Lee surface mine, one of five Martin County Coal Corporation mines honored by the National Safety Council for outstanding safety performance during 1985, were presented the Award of Commendation for their outstanding record.

The awards were announced by T.C. Gilchrest, president of the council. The highest honor was presented to the Lee surface mine whose employees completed 255,777 hours without an accident involving days away from work, December 31, 1985. This record is continuing, and employees of this mine celebrated three full years without a lost time accident, May 27.

Gilchrest presented a plaque for the accomplishment and said, "By your caliber of safety and health performance you have set an example for others in the coal industry and in your community."

In accepting the award, Donnie Sparks, mine foreman at the Lee mine, said, "Every employee of our mine is to be congratulated for this honor. Our miners continue to demonstrate a total commitment to mining coal without accidents. This commitment has also resulted in our surface mine being a leader in efficiency and productivity. The safe work habits developed and practiced by our miners are the key to a successful operation."

National Safety Council President's Citation awards were presented to employees of four other mines at the Martin County Coal complex for their safety performances. Gilchrest recognized the White Tail and Black Bear underground mines and the MTR and 3-C surface mines. He stated, "I commend each of you for helping to make the nation's workplaces safer and healthier in 1985. It is by working together with a fixed goal in mind that noteworthy achievements are made, such as these being recognized by the Council."

Employee hours accumulated without a lost time accident were: White Tail mine-85,707, Black Bear mine-123,535, MTR mine-142,220, and 3-C mine-189,566.

Stumbo Retires Campaign Debt

Dr. Grady Stumbo announced last week that he has retired the debt incurred in his 1983 race for governor. With the elimination of the debt, which totaled $361,312.51, Stumbo said his 1983 campaign committee would be dissolved.

Stumbo said he was gratified by the good will and support he encountered at fundraising meetings across the state, adding that an announcement on his political future will be made in the fall.

last year while the car was parked beside Mullett's home.

An harassment charge against Floyd Carr, Jr., 20, of Abbott Mountain, was dropped and a jury found the defendant not guilty of reckless driving after he and Prestonsburg police patrolman Mike Meade gave widely differing versions of Carr's passing another vehicle on North Lake Drive.

The harassment charge was pressed by Meade when Carr allegedly threatened to have the reckless driving charge "taken care of" on the following day. District Judge Harold Stumbo noted, however, that the Kentucky Court of Appeals recently struck down the state's harassment statute as vague and unconstitutional.

An angry judge dismissed a charge against Teresa Hall, 28, of Galveston, who was scheduled to be tried by jury on a second drunk driving count. Defense attorney Jerry Patton moved for dismissal when the prosecuting officer, Constable Morgan Joseph, failed to answer a subpoena.

It was the second day in succession that Joseph failed to appear in court here. "If he doesn't want to prosecute these cases, I can't prosecute them," the judge said sharply.

A shoplifting charge against Kathleen Powell, of Garrett, was dismissed on account of a technical defect in the warrant. Judge Stumbo noted that the warrant, issued by Trial Commissioner Jack Hyden, failed to note the store from which the defendant allegedly stole the goods.

Ralph Hall, of Wayland, was fined $100 after pleading guilty to a charge of criminal mischief brought by Neva Ratliff. All but $10 of the fine would be suspended on condition that Hall replaced the storm door Mrs. Ratliff accused him of breaking, according to the court ruling.

Convicted of drunk driving:
Tony C. Blanton, 22, of Swamp Branch, two days' jail, $407 in fine and costs; Joseph B. Isaacs, 21, of Stanville, 15 days, $557; Gregory Lynn Robinette, 37, of Van Lear, two days, $407; James G. Gayheart, 41, of Prestonsburg, $157; Terry G. Hubbard, 36, of Prestonsburg, also convicted of driving without a license, two days, $407; Grover M. Tussey, 18, of Allen, five days, $407; Edward Hall, 38, of Printer, 10 days, $507; Herbert M. Ferrell, 32, of Manton, $157.

Ten Years Ago

(June 16, 1976)

Twice within the last two weeks, William Stallings, Jr., operator of the paddle boat concession near the public swimming pool at Dewey Lake, has rescued potential drowning victims who had stepped over a ten-foot drop-off in the lake's old Stratton Branch channel. Stallings, who waded into the deep water to make the rescues, cannot swim. An 18-months-old baby was drowned late Saturday afternoon in Dewey Lake when a boat loaded with members of a West Virginia family capsized and sank near Copperas Creek, in the upper section of the impoundment. Floyd county last week became the owner of a portion of land near Allen, needed for the construction of a county playground and recreational center, when the National Mines Corporation's deed for its holdings there was received by County Judge Henry Stumbo. Although Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross has not had an executive director since the death of Ella Noel White, provisions have been made for the handling of services to members of the armed forces and their families, it was said here this week. After more than three weeks of right-of-way acquisition along the 10-mile stretch of the Jenny Wiley Trail, which will wind its way along Floyd county ridgetops to meet with another section of the trail under construction in Elliott county, actual clearing work on the Floyd section of the hiking trail is expected to begin this week. Twenty-five Scout troops from eastern Kentucky and southwest Virginia will be camping at Camp Shawnee on Dewey Lake this summer as part of a year-round camping program in the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America. There died: Ebb Bentley, 74, of Garrett, Friday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Mrs. Hattie Chick Patrick, 79, of Nashville, Tenn., formerly of Hueysville, May 28 at the home of a daughter in Thompson's Station, Tenn.

Twenty Years Ago

Floyd county wet forces have won their fight for local option election this year. Date of the election will be Wednesday, July 27. With the beginning of the school term next fall, the Floyd County Board of Education will assume full responsibility for the training and education of exceptional children of the county. A busy Pikeville street was the scene, Monday noon, of the slaying of Palmer Compton, 50, of Allen. Mrs. Susan Burke Anderson, 83, of Buckingham, was instantly killed Friday evening when the car in which she was riding was struck by another, two miles north of Paintsville. Married: Miss Sandra Lynn Scutchfield, of Water Gap, and Clarence D. Frasure, of Warsaw, Indiana, June 11 at Haysi, Virginia. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis, of Syracuse, Indiana, a son, Charles, Jr., May 29 at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital. There died: Mrs. Mollie Ousley, 80, of Risner, Monday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Mrs. Stella Blanche Reckle Hall, 42, of Bevsinsville, Sunday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Mrs. Margaret Bentley Lambert, 91, last Thursday at the home of a daughter at East McDowell; Noah Martin, 88, of Minnie, last Thursday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; George Clemons, 57, of Garrett, last Wednesday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

Steppe's Cafe at the top of Abbott mountain, near here, was levelled by fire late Saturday night, and with the building were destroyed all its contents. All assets of the Sparks Brothers Bus Co., Inc. will be sold at Public auction here Friday. Removal of the pony ring operated at the picnic and swimming area of Stratton Branch on Dewey Lake to another site, to eliminate conditions which have drawn criticism, may be effected soon, it was said this week. The newest and most modern Kroger store in Eastern Kentucky opened here Wednesday morning in a new brick building specially designed for its purposes. William R. Mayo, coach of the Garrett Black Devils basketball team from 1933 to 1943, was the honored guest at a surprise party, May 28, in the Garrett school library. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. George Cecil Brown, of Prestonsburg, twin boys, Larry and Gary, June 12, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. Married: Miss Thelma Fraley, of Emma, and Mr. Clyde E. DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bee Daniels, here. There died: Rufus Crisp, 67, of Allen, last Saturday at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Harry Sammons, 81, Monday at his home here; A. J. (Andy) Martin, Floyd county native, Wednesday at Washington, D.C.; Malcolm Gearheart, 83, last Friday at his home at Eastern; Mrs. Elizabeth Collins Blackburn, 52, former Floyd county woman, Saturday when a tractor which she was driving overturned near Jackson, Ohio; Green Allen, 66, Wednesday at his home at Hueysville; Henry Meade, 58, of Cliff, last Saturday at a Lexington hospital; S. D. (Sodge) Martin, 63, of Eastern, Tuesday, en route to see a doctor.

Forty Years Ago

(June 13, 1946)

Dry forces of Floyd county will seek a local option election, some time between the August primary and the November general election. Jesse Elliott, Betsy Layne, temporary chairman of the Dries' steering committee, said following a meeting here Friday. The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club has started a move to procure the development of the Johns Creek reservoir area into a playground which would attract thousands of tourists and sportsmen annually to that section. Floyd Castle, 52, of Virgie, was killed Monday night in the mine of the Inland Steel Company. Wheelwright, when a mine car which he was riding was wrecked, knocking down timbers supporting the mine roof and permitting slate to fall on to him. Winfred Tackett, 25 years old, was instantly killed last Wednesday in the Koppers Coal Company mine at Weeksburg when his head was crushed between a two-ton piece of slate and a mine car. Within the next ten days, Prestonsburg will realize its dream of a public library. Miss Alice Harris president of the Woman's Club here, which is the organization sponsoring the project, said this week. Total employment in 14 local mining establishments, 12 of which are located in Floyd county and two in Johnson, was 5,618. Married: Miss Marjorie Manuel, of Manton, and Mr. Walter England, May 11; Miss Aileen Sellards, of Banner, and Mr. Walter Hall, of Betsy Layne, June 5; Miss Virginia Ousley, of Dock, and Mr. James E. Barnett, of Martin, June 5; Miss Doris Hall, and Mr. William E. Miller, both of Prestonsburg, May 30. There died: Robert L. D. Clark, 65, at home at Honaker, last Thursday.

Fifty Years Ago

Crop-saving rains Saturday night and Sunday afternoon broke one of the worst spring droughts this section has experienced, but their benefits were counteracted by destructive winds which uprooted fruit trees, damaged houses and fences and otherwise caused damages estimated at thousands of dollars. Representatives of Floyd county, the city of Prestonsburg, the county board of education and the county health department met with Works Progress Administration officials here Friday in a joint effort to map out a WPA program in the county for this year. Sam Parker, 28 years old, employee of the Morell Supply Company here, was struck and killed by a train Thursday morning near the mouth of Town Branch, across the river from here. Oliver Williams, 81-year-old Drift miner, who was shot May 28 at Wheelwright Junction, died at the Gearheart Hospital, Martin, Sunday morning. Ballard Hunter on Saturday, June 6, re-entered the office of County Superintendent from which he was ousted by order of the county board of education, February 8. Offer of E. S. and F. M. Mayes, Springfield, Kentucky, to sell the Prestonsburg Water Company to the city of Prestonsburg for $100,000 was turned down Saturday by the city council. Marvin Marshall, of Water Gap, was elected Commander of Floyd Post, American Legion, at the annual election of officers held Saturday evening at the Auxier Hotel. For the administration of the Soil Conservation program in this county, committees representing the four communities into which the county has been divided for this purpose were elected in a meeting of farmers held at the office of County Agent S. L. Isbell in the post office building here Friday. Married: Miss Dallas Franklin, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Leon J. Zimmerman, of Wheelwright, June 5. There died: Mrs. Jane Osborne, 76, at the home of a daughter at Allen, Friday; Curtis Gregory, of Wheelwright, at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Friday.

WITH SIRENS BLARING and lights flashing, police and fire department escorts led the way for members of the Lancer Baptist Church's Bible school parade Saturday. Winding the length of Lancer, the parade helped attract 81 children to Bible school, said Mrs. Betty Wilson, one of the teachers there.

Better Equipment May Lower Garrett Insurance Rating

Garrett Volunteer Fire Department has already spent the money it hopes to receive in its first year as a tax-supported agency and the money is well-spent, said Terry Triplett, the department's secretary-treasurer.

On the basis of Property Valuation Assessor Lovel Hall's estimate that the fire district would reap $7300 in tax revenues this year, the department borrowed $17,000 to buy a used pumper and $1000 to equip it. The annual payment on the truck is $6500, Triplett said.

As a result of the new purchase, Garrett firefighters can now carry 2400 gallons of water to a fire scene, and that might well persuade insurance analysts that the Right Beaver community deserves an improved rating for insurance purposes, said Triplett. He has asked the Insurance Services Office to schedule another inspection of the district's firefighting capacity, he said.

While the newly-purchased Ford pumper is a 1967 model, it is in good condition, has only 8000 miles on the odometer, and comes equipped with a 1000-gallon tank, Triplett noted. It complements the 1100-gallon tanker and 300-gallon mini-pumper the department already owned.

The district currently has a Class 9 rating overall, while residences within 1000 feet of a hydrant are designated Class 8. Triplett said he hopes that the whole district will be raised to Class 8 at least, and possibly to Class 7.

Drift Man Killed In Traffic Mishap

A 28-year-old Drift man was killed last Thursday near Pikeville, after being struck by a tractor-trailer.

State police reported that Ricky Adkins was pronounced dead at the scene by Pike Coroner Charles Morris, after being struck both by a north-bound rig driven by Herbert Keith Damron, 26, of Shelbyana, and then by an unidentified vehicle in the southbound lane.

The accident reportedly occurred after Adkins stepped from the median into the northbound lane of U.S. 23 across from the Green Meadows Country Club, about five miles north of Pikeville. State Police Public Information Officer Kenneth Frost said an investigation was continuing in an attempt to discover the cause of the accident. Trooper Ladonna Johnson is in charge of the investigation.

Born June 18, 1958, in Michigan, Adkins was a son of the late Russell and Julia Wright Adkins.

In addition to his wife, Virginia Shepherd Adkins, survivors include a son, Richard Lee Adkins, of Prestonsburg; two brothers, Alex Adkins, of Banner, and Arbie Adkins, of Marshall, Michigan; two sisters, Ruby Adkins, of McDowell, and Juanita Adkins, of Dade City, Florida.

Funeral services were conducted Monday, June 16 at 11 a.m. at the Hall Funeral Home chapel, Martin, with Raymond Wright officiating.

Burial was made in the Garth cemetery.

Farmers Invited To Run For Committee

All eligible farmers in Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Pike counties are invited to become nominees for the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) county committee, FmHA County Supervisor, Thomas W. Keeth announced recently.

As a result of the 1985 Farm Bill, two of the three members of FmHA county committees must be elected. The third member is designated by FmHA. The Johnson County Area county committee assists the FmHA county office in determining the eligibility of applicants for certain types of FmHA loans.

Generally, farmers who are residents of the counties but not FmHA borrowers, are eligible to become nominees for the FmHA county committee.

"Farmers in these counties serving on the committee, play an important role by assisting in the process of loan applications and reviews," said Mr. Keeth. For the first election only, two members will be elected at the same time. One member will be elected for a term of one year, and one member will be elected for a two year term.

Judge Denies Branham Plea For Probation

Despite an attorney's plea for probation for his client, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ordered Monday that Paul "Peanut" Branham, 22, of Turkey Creek, serve the one-year sentence recommended three weeks ago by the jury that convicted him of stealing a video-cassette recorder.

Attorney Robert Greene said during a sentencing hearing that he found it "ironic" that Probation Officer Frank DeRossett, Jr. should recommend for Branham the "sheltered" setting of the penitentiary. Noting that it was his client's first conviction as an adult, Greene said that in prison Branham "would be associating with convicts who have been in and out several times, who know all the ropes."

"I don't think he'd be sheltered but exposed," the defense attorney said. Greene also argued that Branham was "a good father" to his wife's two children by a previous marriage and that the couple are expecting their first child next month.

For his part, Branham said he had "learned a lesson" from the 20 days he spent in the county jail since his conviction.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Albert A. Burchett countered that Branham had learned nothing. "He has not repented. He is not remorseful," the prosecutor said, adding that the Commonwealth objected in principle to any lessening of the penalty recommended by a jury.

In denying probation, Judge Conley noted that Branham had "quite a record" as a juvenile and that the interests of society required that the defendant serve his sentence. However, he agreed to allow Branham to remain free on bond pending an appeal.

Branham was found guilty of borrowing a VCR from Video Village in Martin and then selling it. He claimed he asked another man to return the equipment while he went to Utah in search of a job.

Cardiac Rehab Has Open House

The Cardiac Rehabilitation Department at Highlands Regional Medical Center will have an Open House on Thursday, June 26, from 5:00-7:00 p.m. Past and present rehab patients as well as the general public are invited to attend.

"We've received so many questions about cardiac rehab since our ad campaign featuring 'Miss Kathryn' Frazier began that we decided to have an Open House," said Carol Blevins, public information officer at HRMC. This way people can come in and see what Cardiac Rehab is all about. Dr. Rodney Handshoe, our cardiologist, Miss Kathryn, and the Cardiac Rehab Team will be on hand to answer questions during the Open House.

Cardiac Rehabilitation is a structured, supervised program of exercise for high risk patients as well as post heart attack and post surgical patients. Under the Medical Direction of Dr. Handshoe and supported by a professional staff of Registered Nurses the Cardiac Rehab program at Highlands is one of the largest, best equipped programs in Eastern Kentucky.

Statement By Lafferty

Following settlement of a case brought against him by Allen United Methodist pastor Ken Lemaster, Lonzo Lafferty last week denied punching the pastor or carrying a concealed weapon. He noted also that four doctors have declared him free of major psychiatric illness and denied a report that he had a "history of problems with the (Allen) congregation," which he said he "loved to the utmost."

It Wasn't Kelly

The William K. Moore listed last week as convicted of drunk driving was not William K. (Kelly) Moore, Prestonsburg barber.

Also, the William J. Shepherd listed recently as defendant in a lawsuit brought by Vanhose Lumber is not the Gunlock preacher who bears the same name.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Sandy Patton, of Chicago, attended the graduation of her son, Tim Patton, at Allen Central High School, last Tuesday evening. While here, she was the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. George Patton. Her son accompanied her back to Chicago for a few days' vacation.

Vacation Bible School is being held at the Maytown United Methodist Church this week from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Graduation exercises will be Sunday evening at 6:30.

Rally Against Drunk Driving

Some 150 balloons, filled with helium and with student pledges to "not drink and drive," were released May 23 by students at Allen Central High School. The balloon project, coordinated by Student Council representative Peggy Shepherd, was the finale of many activities during the national observation of Students Against Drunk Driving.

As part of the ceremony, a monologue entitled "I'm only Seventeen" was delivered by Amy Mayo, a member of the school's Speech League. Then, a gigantic circle was formed around the parking lot to show unity among the students and the faculty in their efforts to speak out against drinking and driving. While hands were joined the chorus, directed by Mrs. Marcia Thompson, sang "Hands Across America."

Guest speakers, including some from Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, spoke during the week on alcohol and drug abuse; a poster contest, organized by Lowell Martin's science and biology classes addressed the same theme; Steve Halbert's vocation classes started the week off with a film "Just for the Ride"; Mrs. Joyce Watson's films "Double Trouble" and "Wasted" were shown throughout the week.

Making resources available for the events were Mrs. Ruth Ann Akers of the Floyd County Resource Center; Paul Day, of Kentucky Welding of Prestonsburg; and Jack Scott and Nancy C. Salisbury, of Nan-Ack, Inc., of Pikeville.

Assisting the Student Council were faculty sponsors Jerry Fultz, Patricia Murphy and Patricia Watson.

Clubs Donate To Breast Center

Local clubs have donated $583 to the Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center. In addition to amount already given, one club has pledged to raise $500 and has almost reached their goal.

Clubs giving to the Breast Center include: The East Point Development Club, The Xi Alpha Psi Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, and The Johnson County Homemakers of Johnson County and the North Prestonsburg Homemakers and Harold Homemakers of Floyd County. The Riverday Homemakers pledged $500 to the Breast Center and are reaching their goal through bake sales, raffles, and garage sales.

"We really appreciate the clubs who are giving to the Breast Center," said Carol Blevins, Public Information Officer at HRMC. "We would like to see even more support from local organizations."

When the Breast Center is completed the wall of the waiting area will be covered with ceramic tiles. Each tile will bear the signature or name of the person or organization who gave at least $25 to the Breast Center. A signature or message will be silk-screened on the tile so each one will be different from all the others.

Donations to the Breast Center have now reached nearly 26 thousand dollars.

Bluegrass Fest To Begin Friday At Archer Park

There'll be toe-tappin', rafter ringing music at Archer Park this weekend when the Goins Brothers 11th Annual Bluegrass Festival gets under way. The first scheduled performance will begin at 5 p.m., Friday, and Bluegrass fans can bring the whole family, even the dog if it's on a leash.

Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys will be on hand Friday evening, as will Bill Grant and Delia Bell, the Bluegrass Strangers, and the Goins Brothers. All these will perform again Saturday, excepting Ralph Stanley. But for those who can't make it Friday, The Country Gentlemen, Hook and Beans, and the Outdoor Plumbing Co. will all join in Saturday night's performance which should gladden any Bluegrass fan.

There will be free parking and camping, but limited hook-ups, concessions, shelter in case of rain, tight security, and no alcohol or drugs will be allowed in the concert area.

So, bring your lawn chair, rare back and enjoy.

Armstrong Prods Army On Nerve Gas Disposal

Attorney General David L. Armstrong has asked the Army to provide specific information about how an incinerator which may be built at the Bluegrass Depot in Madison County to burn chemical agents and munitions will affect citizens living nearby.

The U.S. Army has for years stored nearly 70,000 obsolete nerve gas rockets at the Bluegrass Depot which have now been determined to be deteriorating. The Army is considering three alternatives to the problem: building incinerators at the eight separate sites where nerve gas is now stored including the Bluegrass Depot or building incinerators in Utah, or in Utah and Alabama, where the majority of the nation's obsolete chemical munitions are housed. In either of the latter proposals, Kentucky's nerve gas will then be transported out of the state to the alternative sites.

The Army initially had scheduled December 1985 as the date for issuing the final Environmental Impact Statement which will contain the Army's initial decision about the location of the incinerators. That draft statement now due to be made public on July 1. Armstrong said that he, along with the Kentucky Resources Council and citizens' organizations from Madison County, take issue with the manner in which that statement is to be prepared.

In a letter sent this week to LTC Robert R. Vocelka of the Army's Toxic and Hazardous Materials Agency, Armstrong called for the Army to expand the scope of the initial statement which the Army has said is now limited to a general discussion of the potential impact of the disposal of the entire stockpile of chemical agents and munitions currently stored in eight communities throughout the country.

"It is our understanding that the statement will not include at this time a 'site-specific' discussion of the impact such incineration will have on people living in close proximity of each of the sites which have been proposed," Armstrong said. "Without knowing all the facts about how each community would be affected, how can the Army make any comparison about impact?"

Armstrong said that his letter asks the Army to make its initial statement site-specific. "Given the hazardous nature of the site deserve nothing less than a procedure which will result in the most complete record upon which to base this decision," Armstrong said in the letter.

In a later interview, he added that he felt that the Army itself couldn't make a valid decision until the environmental impact is known on the various sites. "We're concerned about getting information on population density and location, danger to water supplies and other questions which haven't been answered as yet," he said. "The time is running on this project and there are still too many unanswered questions."

Blue Grass, Country Concerts New Features of State Fair

Members of the Kentucky Farm Bureau met with the media and a satellite audience, June 6, to announce a major new addition to this summer's State Fair.

Two "Pride of Kentucky Concerts," featuring entertainers with Kentucky ties, will be staged to raise scholarship money for Kentucky's farm youths. Ticket sales will determine the number of $2,000 scholarships to be awarded to college-bound freshmen. The concerts will be sponsored by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

The shows will be outdoors in Cardinal Stadium Aug. 20 and 21.

The 8 p.m. Aug. 20 concert will be hosted by Bill Monroe, considered the father of bluegrass, and will star Ricky Skaggs and the John Conlee Show, featuring Carolina Fever, and Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys.

The 8 p.m. Aug. 21 concert will also be hosted by Monroe and will star The Judds, New Grass Revival, and Monroe and his group.

The event will be one of many new attractions at the 83rd annual Kentucky State fair, another 10-day indoor/outdoor extravaganza of carnival rides, lovable mules, award-winning quilts, concerts, and special fair food galore.

And "new" applies to the fair in a big way for '86, from new hi-tech exhibits, to new free events (like racing pigs!)

Home Pools Pose Danger

The Department for Health Services wants to find out how many drownings and serious injuries occur in residential swimming pools each year, and it is asking the cooperation of the general public and medical professionals.

"Nationally, drowning is the fourth leading cause of death for youngsters under five," said E.P. Conyers of the department's product safety branch. "But we don't have any statistics for Kentucky. We'd like to know the magnitude of safety problems involving residential pools."

"The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has asked us to gather this information as part of a nationwide effort," he said. "The CPSC is looking for causes of pool accidents and will work with developers of safety features in designing warning devices to make pools safer."

The product safety branch seeks the cooperation of pool owners, physicians, emergency medical personnel and hospitals throughout the commonwealth in reporting accidents at residential pools.

Conyers asks that any drownings or serious injuries occurring in residential pools be reported to his office at (502) 564-4537. His address is Department for Health Services, Product Safety Branch, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, Ky. 40621.

"We are concentrating on residential pools," he said, "because most commercial pools already have good safety precautions—full-time lifeguards, high fences with locks, and rules that prohibit horseplay that can cause injuries. And you usually don't see very small children unsupervised at commercial pools like you might see in residential pools."

Conyers offers the following general safety precautions for pool owners.

Never leave a child unsupervised near a pool. Even children who have had swimming lessons are not "drown proof." Flotation devices do not substitute for adult supervision.

Completely fence the pool and install self-locking and self-closing gates. Position latches out of reach of young children. Remove from the fence area tables, chairs, walls, and other objects that might be used to climb into the pool area.

Have a telephone close to the poolside, and tape to it emergency numbers. Have rescue equipment handy.

Never use a pool with its cover partially in place—covers should be removed completely.

For more information on pool safety contact Conyers at (502) 564-4537.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our wonderful mother, Emma Honeycutt, of Auxier, who passed this life June 13, 1983:

She was just an old-fashioned mother. She did not pretend to be "smart." To care for her home and her dear ones was the wish that was first in her heart.

We were raised by the old-fashioned methods. So sparsely employed today. And when we so richly deserved it. We were "spanked" in the old-fashioned way.

She taught us the old-fashioned virtue. "A good name is far better," she'd say "Than all of the wealth of the nation. And truth is the best any day."

She believed in the old-fashioned Bible. She trusted in old-fashioned prayer; She told us that Jesus would hear us if we'd speak any time anywhere.

Thank God for an old-fashioned mother, For the Bible and old-fashioned prayer; For the old-fashioned faith that is looking

For our Lord to appear in the air.

—MRS. J. R. PULLYBANK

Sadly missed by all of her family. Poem submitted by her daughters, Beatrice Patton and Louise Hall.

Food Stamps Mark 25th Year In State

More than a half million Kentuckians were able to eat healthier last year with a little help from the U.S. Department for Agriculture and the Kentucky Department for Social Insurance.

1986 marks the 25th anniversary of the "help" which began in Kentucky when Floyd county was selected to be one of eight counties nationwide to participate in a pilot project. Since 1966 (the earliest figures available), the number of Kentucky families participating has grown from 15,131 to 191,401 today.

"A good nutritional diet is important to good health and that's especially true when meals may be limited due to a family's financial situation," said Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson. "The stamps increase the family's food-buying power when added to the household's food budget."

Food stamps have proven to be very valuable but they aren't available to everyone, according to Robinson. "You just don't walk in and receive food stamps," he said. "You have to be eligible for the coupons and you must regularly prove that you're still meeting all the requirements, including actively looking for a job."

Any individual or household with a low or temporarily reduced monthly income may be eligible to receive food stamps, according to Joe Padgett, manager of the Eligibility Services Branch. The guidelines are set by the federal Agriculture department, which funds the food stamp program nationwide.

"Only U.S. citizens and legally permanent aliens are eligible to receive food stamps," said Padgett. "All able-bodied household members between 18 and 60 years of age must register for work, seek and accept suitable employment unless they are already working full time or are otherwise exempt."

Padgett added that the resource and income requirements vary depending on the size of the household. If there are any elderly persons in the household, income and resources limits are increased.

Persons wishing to apply for food stamps must file an application and be interviewed by staff from the Department for Social Insurance office in the county where they live. The application may be picked up at the local office or an individual may request for an application to be mailed to the home.

"It's important to file the application the same day it is received," said Padgett. "After the first page of the application is completed, it should be turned in to the local office. Once that part of the application is submitted, food stamps can be started within 30 days."

"If the household has little or no money and needs help right away, the food stamp office staff should be told immediately," he explained. "Often, they can get food stamps started within a few days."

Persons who cannot travel to the food stamp office may appoint an authorized representative who is familiar with the applicant's situation or request an interview in the home, Padgett said. When attending an interview, the applicant should furnish payroll stubs or employer's phone number; benefit letters from Social Security, Veterans Administration, Unemployment Insurance or Supplemental Security Income; pension information; statement of checking and savings accounts; bills for rent or mortgage, utilities and home insurance; and receipts for child care expenses or care for dependent adults.

"Food stamps can be used to buy almost any food item, except ready-to-eat hot foods," said Padgett. "They may also be used to buy seeds and plants to grow fruits and vegetables in gardens." Items which cannot be purchased with food stamps include tobacco, alcoholic beverages, pet food, soap or other household products, medicines, etc.

For more information, contact the local office of the Department for Social Insurance or call the Food Stamp Hotline, toll-free, at 1-800-372-2973.

HOW DOES A FUNERAL HELP THE LIVING?
Funeral services act as a focusing point for the grief people feel at the loss of a friend or loved one. The funeral is a chance for those close to the departed to gather, share memories, and help each other through a difficult time.

If there is no funeral, or if only a memorial service is held, such sharing may be incomplete. Memorial services alone fail to emphasize the fact that death has occurred, partly because they usually take place after the most intense grief feelings have passed.

But a funeral—with visitations at the funeral home, religious services and a committal service—helps the bereaved finally to accept their loss.

If you have questions about funeral arrangements, please stop in and talk with us.

THE SECOND COMING

By WILMAY

There is more interest today in the return of Christ than ever before. One reason may be the threat of a nuclear holocaust. Increasing concern about the last days appears in the media, secular and religious. Scripture is packed with information describing how and when Jesus will come back to earth. Chapters Matthew 24, Mark 13, and Luke 17 are among those devoting much space to the subject. The disciples asked in Mt. 24:3: When shall these things be, and what shall be the sign of thy coming and of the end of the world? The occasion will not be the end of the world but the close of this the gospel dispensation, often referred to as the age of grace. The end of the world will come after the millennium, or thousand years of peace when Christ establishes his earthly kingdom as he promised his chosen nation of Israel centuries ago.

The Second Coming will have two parts. In the first, known as the rapture, Jesus will come for the saints. In the second, called the tribulation, he returns with the saints from heaven. The word rapture does not appear in the Bible, but the incident it connotes is mentioned hundreds of times in the Old and the New Testament, by scores of writers. Often it is called the blessed hope, or the day of the Lord. According to the Bible and excellent commentaries the rapture is the next event on God's timetable. John 14:3 says: I will come again and receive you unto myself that where I am there ye may be also. I Thessalonians 4:16, 17 briefly explains what the first part will be: The Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout...And the dead in Christ shall rise first. Then we which are alive and shall remain be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. A magnificent homecoming and reunion.

Vivid descriptions of the time when Jesus comes back appear in scripture. The Pentateuch, prophecies, four gospels, epistles and many other books in the Word refer to the Second Coming, time and again. Fortunately, more people are reading and studying the Bible than previously. On the other hand, more are attacking it than ever before. Mounting concern about the rapture and the tribulation may be largely attributed to the fact that for the first time ever all signs preceding the events are in place. This in itself may have alerted Satan to Christ's imminent return. Could one doubt that he is on the battlefield in Christian warfare in America today as we view our once tranquil land? The signs will be discussed later.

It's surprising that some who know the innumerable passages which foretold in detail the first coming of Jesus find it difficult to believe those about his second appearance. The latter ones far outnumber the first which were completely fulfilled. God told approximately forty writers what to write. Their labors covered about sixteen hundred years. Few of them ever knew each other, but predictions galore found in the Bible have come true, so why not believe the remainder will? God's Word is the chief target of Satan. His favorite method is sowing doubt among believers and skeptics both. But he cannot win. Jude 14 says that Enoch foretold that Christ would come back with ten thousands of his saints. Rev. 19:11-14 says he will be accompanied by the armies of heaven, all riding white horses. No one knows how Jesus will accomplish such, but he spoke the universe into existence, keeps the planets in perfect orbit, controls the seasons and the seas, so why ponder how our Creator does anything? Therefore let us not sleep, as do others, but let us watch and be sober. I Thessalonians 5:6. More on this subject to follow.

The 31-year-old, Floyd county resident decided to join the Army because "I was tired of always being laid off from the mines. The Army is giving me a steady job, training, and a $17,000 education bonus for just a two-year enlistment."

Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., June 16—Good weather brought moderate to heavy fishing activity to most of Kentucky's 17 major lakes, and with water temperatures approaching 85 at some locations, summertime bluegill fishing was the best bet across the state during the June 14-15 period covered by this report. # Ask Toni

James Garner is 58

By Toni Reinhold

When and where was James Garner born? I think his birthday is the same day as mine: April 7. — E.S., Flint, Mich.

You're right. Garner was born in Norman, Okla., on April 7, 1928.

Back in the '50s, Broderick Crawford played a character who was called "Chief" in a series named "Highway Patrol." What was the complete name of the character he played? — J.S., Leyser, W.Va.

Crawford was the only regular cast member of this 1955 police drama. He played Chief Dan Matthews. The show was narrated by Art Gilmore, and actor William Boyett appeared in supporting roles in a number of episodes.

Who was Elizabeth Taylor's first husband, and who is the father of her two sons? — M.D., Lodi, Calif.

Taylor's first husband was Conrad Hilton Jr., whom she married in 1950 and divorced in 1951. She married Michael Howard Wilding in 1952, and they had two sons: Michael Howard Wilding Jr. and Christopher Edward Wilding. Taylor and Wilding divorced in 1957.

Could you tell me the names of the movies in which Al Pacino has starred? — T.M., Lombard, Ill.

Pacino has far too many film credits to list here. He made his film debut in "Me Natalie," which starred Patty Duke. Some of his best-known films are "The Godfather," "The Godfather, Part II," "Serpico," "Dog Day Afternoon" and "... And Justice For All."

When was the show "Route 66" on the air? — M.D., Hattiesburg, Miss.

This adventure series, which featured Martin Milner, George Maharis and Glenn Corbett, aired from 1960 to 1964 on CBS.

Expect quintessential Joel Grey in Ford Theatre salute

By Lynn Hoogenboom

Joel Grey is planning to do something extra special on "The Kraft All-Star Salute to Ford's Theatre," which airs Wednesday, June 25.

Joel Grey

"They've given us the choice," he says. "We're supposed to do whatever it is that's an indication of what we do best. I'm sure that Fernando Bujones is going to do his most spectacular solo. And Kathleen Battle will sing something with the highest note. And Sandy Duncan and Tommy Tune will add a few more taps."

That probably means that viewers can expect some energetic song-and-dance numbers from Grey, who made his reputation in the New York musical theater ("Cabaret," "George M"). He has also performed in straight plays ("The Normal Heart"), has made occasional forays into films ("Cabaret," "Man on a Swing," "Remo Williams: The Adventure Begins"), and is usually touring with his one-man show when he isn't working on a play or movie.

"When you perform on any kind of occasion that has the sense of history to it, there's an incentive to be your very best," says Grey, and the fact that the president will be a member of the "Ford Theatre" audience will give the performers an additional incentive, if any is needed, to be at their very best. Grey has another reason for hoping to make this appearance pretty special. He is rarely seen on television, and since much of his best work has been in the theater, there is no remaining record of many of his best performances.

"I get very blue when I think of all the shows that I've seen and the ones I was in of which there are no visual records," Grey says. "It's just heartbreaking. I saw the opening number of 'Cabaret' the way we did it in the theater 20 years ago. But there's no tape of the whole show. You can see I'm into continuity and history, and that's what really makes it exceptionally fun to be in Washington with something that has the office of the president connected."

Grey's own musical tastes run the gamut — almost. "I have a very wide range of things that I like to listen to," he says. "My record collection ranges from unaccompanied cello music by Bach to rock.

"I don't really like hard rock especially," he adds, "but I keep listening."

BLACK GOSPEL MUSIC

The Call... And the Response

By PEGGY LANGRALL
Smithsonian News Service

The gospel spirit has influenced jazz, blues, soul, rock and other popular music, even country and Broadway.

The concert hall is packed. The house lights go down as a young man and woman step into the warm light on stage. Casually, the piano player lets his fingers flow over the keys, releasing a magically beautiful cascade of notes. As the singers begin to blend their rich voices into the sound, a tide of appreciative murmurs rises around the room—"Amen!" "Yes, Lord!"

This 1956 photo of the Clara Ward Singers shows Clara standing. She was known for her dramatic flair. The group toured extensively, singing in churches, schools and theaters and helped identify the modern sound of women gospel singers.

The Soul Stirrers, one of the first gospel quartets, was organized in the late 1920s. The young Sam Cook, seen at left in 1955, would go on to perform on the Ed Sullivan Show, becoming one of the first black popular singers to enjoy national attention.

"Sister Rosetta Tharpe," at piano, and "Madame" Marie Knight, who sang together from 1947-1955, were the first duo to achieve prominence in gospel music. Tharpe was the first gospel recording star.

"The printed version of a gospel song is a mere skeleton, it becomes the responsibility of the performer to bring the song to life."

Thomas A. Dorsey, the "Father of Gospel Music," created some 500 songs and established a publishing company for black gospel composers. For many years, he directed a large gospel choir in Chicago.

Sacred music with a bounce, the gospel sound can raise the roof. For listeners worldwide, in church or theater, gospel's electrifying, adventurous harmonies and visceral rhythms are an improvisational delight. The need to speak out and be heard is the essence of gospel music, and for black Americans, churches once provided the only established outlet for creative expression. "Gospel music has its roots in holiness and sanctified churches of the rural South," says Horace Boyer, gospel musicologist and curator at the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History in Washington, D.C. In those churches, at the turn of the century, ancient African musical traditions—call and response, hand clapping, improvisation and spirit possession—intensified religious fervor. These customs would give gospel its special emotional appeal.

Today, gospel has become a major form of 20th-century American music. Black and related white styles account for 7 percent of U.S. record sales—just ahead of classical and jazz. The gospel spirit has influenced jazz, blues, soul, rock and other popular music, even country and Broadway. The style's "message" songs have struck a response on college campuses, and its musical complexity has generated entirely new perceptions in conservatories of music steeped in Western European theory.

How this once unwritten rural music has evolved is a subject scholars and musicians explore in an ongoing series of black gospel concerts and colloquia at the Smithsonian Institution.

New church songs, some including traces of the "sorrow songs" that grew up anonymously among groups of slaves, began to be written down after emancipation. As hope arose for black people, these songs were transformed by individual composers into livelier, more rhythmical forms. The music came to be called "gospel" because its nature and impact were felt to be the truth.

Thomas Andrew Dorsey, born in Villa Rica, Ga., is known as the father of gospel music. At 87, the now frail Dorsey is still the leading light of the Chicago gospel milieu he created. Raised in Atlanta by deeply religious parents, he often heard the old familiar hymns of English theologian Isaac Watts. At age 12, Dorsey was working as a water boy at the circus when famed evangelist Billy Sunday came to Atlanta to conduct a revival on the circus grounds.

Some folks could only see the drama in the revival as Sunday would pull off his coat and loosen his collar in the summertime heat, setting off hollers of "Amen" and "Hallelujah." But the young Dorsey was profoundly impressed by Sunday's religious fervor and by the trombone-playing of his accompanying musician, Homer Roadheaver.

Dorsey became a highly sophisticated blues musician before he dedicated his talents to gospel. He mastered several musical instruments while still a child and in his teens began playing blues and ragtime. At the time, thousands of black people were moving to the North, taking their songs and music with them, then adapting them to city life. Dorsey's family headed to Chicago, and there the young man became a jazz and blues composer and arranger. As "Georgia Tom," he played piano for the renowned blues artist Gertrude "Ma" Rainey.

But Dorsey loved the songs of an early gospel composer, Charles A. Tindley, pastor of the Philadelphia Methodist church that now bears his name. Spread mainly by word of mouth, Tindley's compositions incorporated folk images, proverbs and biblical allusions familiar to black churchgoers. His best loved song, "Stand By Me," for example, has a standard gospel form echoing both the fervor of a spiritual and the musical predictability of a Watts hymn:

When the storms of life are raging, stand by me,
When the storms of life are raging, stand by me,
When the world is tossing me,
Like a ship upon the sea,
Thou who rulest wind and water, stand by me.
In 1921, Dorsey heard pioneering gospel singer A. W. Nix sing "I Do, Don't You?" at the black National Baptist Convention in Chicago. He was so moved that he decided to devote his life to composing and singing gospel music. But as the Smithsonian's Boyer notes, "Dorsey found it less than easy to exchange his glamorous past for the status of a gospel singer and composer, unwelcome at the more affluent black churches and unnoticed by publishers interested primarily in ragtime and jazz."

Although Dorsey's tunes had a rocking beat that most churches wouldn't countenance, he went on composing gospel music. Trying to live in two musical worlds, he continued to work with Ma Rainey and others until, in 1926, he suffered a nervous breakdown.

Dorsey lay ill for two years. During this time, inspired by the sudden death of a young neighbor, he wrote the song that would become his first gospel hit, "If You See My Savior, Tell Him That You Saw Me." He borrowed $5 and mailed 500 copies to churches throughout the country. Three years passed before he got a single order. But in 1930, at the Jubilee Session of the Baptist Convention in Chicago, a young girl with a powerful voice put his song across to loud acclaim. Dorsey's future was set.

Dorsey now committed himself exclusively to gospel—writing, traveling, directing, even forming his own publishing house. With rocking, hopeful music, he and his energetic assistant, singer Sallie Martin, "livened up" black congregations, from shabby store-front to large established churches. "Sallie Martin would travel in advance of a concert date," Bernice Johnson Reagon, director of the Smithsonian's Black American Culture program, says. "Arriving in town, she would visit choirs and teach them Dorsey's songs. At concert time, the audience would then be full of local choir members who would buy the sheet music to add to their repertoires."

An ever-growing number of gifted performers lent their individuality to Dorsey's songs and created new songs of their own. Two distinct types of gospel groups developed, Boyer explains: quartet and "gospel."

The unique sonority of such a cappella men's groups as the Golden Gate Quartet and the Soul Stirrers comes from the harmonic tradition of the barber shop quartet. The groups called "gospel," among them the trailblazing Robert Martin Singers and Clara Ward Singers, were originally made up of choirs of women only, accompanied on the piano.

Men in the quartets, who usually wear business suits or tuxedos, often slap their thighs in time with the music. The women in "gospel" groups, wearing choir robes, may clap their hands for rhythmic accentuation or sway hypnotically in unison, and the timbre of their rich treble voicings can shift from fiery-shrill to a raspy growl or wordless moan as emotion takes them.

"The printed version of a gospel song is a mere skeleton," Boyer says. "It becomes the responsibility of the performer to bring the song to life." Listeners will shout out their approval for the subtlest change in tune, time or harmony sung with heartfelt emotion. They may respond with a "Yes, Lord," "Well," "Oh" or "You know!"

The great soloist Mahalia Jackson, who was invited to sing at the inauguration of John F. Kennedy, was the first performer to bring sacred gospel music to a national audience. "Sister" Rosetta Tharpe, bowing to promoters' pleas, began to share her unique old-time gospel style with church and nightclub alike, opening up a new era for gospel. Contemporary styles in popular music now augment the gospel sound, and many of today's performers are equally at home in church, theater, films or on television. This is as true for traditional singer James Cleveland, who was the first to add choirs to his programs, and Shirley Caesar with her evangelistic style as it is for contemporary gospel composer Andrae Crouch and such popular groups as the Mighty Clouds of Joy.

Gospel's wide appeal can be judged by the success of Thomas Dorsey's much-loved song, "Take My Hand, Precious Lord." The song has been translated into more than 30 languages and recorded by virtually every professional gospel singer, black or white.

True to its nature, gospel continues to evolve, made contemplative or lively by thousands of folks singing out in their own original styles.

ACHS Prom Gets "Personal Touch"

The prom scene for Allen Central High School always receives the personal touch, thanks to Mack Martin, local artist and instructor at the school. In less than a week, Martin transformed an ordinary wall in the cafeteria with a mural depicting a fanciful castle bathed in the glow of the setting sun.

Babe Ruth Baseball News

The Piranhas beat the Cardinals last Monday, 9-8, but the Cards bounced back Saturday, taking a double-header over the Piranhas.

In the first game of the double-header, the Cards prevailed 14-0. The winning pitcher was Nathan Shelton. Shelton had five strike-outs, giving up three walks and four hits. Jeff Hughes aided the cause with a three-run, inside the park home run. Dustin Conn was two for two.

Game two saw the Cards triumph 9-2. Winning hurler Henry Webb gave up three hits, two runs and two walks, while striking out four batters. Shortstop Shawn Hicks went three for three. Rady Martin and Mark Tipton each went three for three, while Nathan Shelton and Jeff Hughes both had triples.

In other action, the Betsy Layne Astros extended their winning streak last week, sweeping a double-header with the Garrett Pirates.

Betsy Layne's Duran Newsome pitched his team to a 13-2 triumph in game one, while Brad Hall did the honors in the second game, which Betsy Layne won 4-0. Hall has won four wins this season against no losses.

The Astros lead the league with a record of 10-0. The Martin Cardinals are in second place. The teams finished last season in the same order.

There will be a mandatory coach's meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. at Stumbo Park near Allen. All-Star selection will be discussed.

ENJOY PICNIC

A picnic was held at the Spillway at Dewey dam, by members of the Community United Methodist Church, their pastor, the Rev. Rondal Masters, and Mrs. Masters, following services at this church, Sunday. Games were played, and a period of fellowship was enjoyed by the approximate 100 persons attending.

Teachers Are Key To Positive Change

"Teaching can be the most rewarding or frustrating experience in the world," Joel Fink told 600 fellow teachers at a luncheon in their honor at the Galt House in Louisville, recently.

The luncheon, sponsored by the Kentucky Educational Foundation Inc., attracted representatives of school districts from around the state.

Fink, Kentucky's 1986 Teacher of the Year, said, "I have found when I took an interest in a young person, some good things happened for them and some good things happened for me."

Seeing students succeed—watching "the light turn on for them"—is motivation to keep teaching, said Fink, who teaches biology at Oldham County High School.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald commended the teachers for their efforts to improve education in Kentucky and stressed the importance of their involvement in administrative decisions.

"Every Kentucky Department of Education task force now includes teachers," she said. "I believe you cannot design programs for first-graders without input from first-grade teachers."

She noted that U.S. Education Secretary William Bennett had praised Kentucky for its progress "in all areas of education" last year and particularly for its success in raising the test scores of graduating seniors and reducing the dropout rate.

"Keep striving for excellence. You are the key," she told the teachers.

Pat Esreal, Fayette County Teacher of the Year, urged teachers to "use the power of positive thinking to combat all the things that fall on our heads."

She encouraged teachers to get involved and to share their classroom successes with other teachers to help motivate them.

"We are the key to any positive change that takes place in this state," Esreal said.

Miss Howard Attends Leadership Conference

Jane M. Howard, of Prestonsburg, represented the Mountain Christian Academy at the Kentucky Youth Leadership Conference held recently in Lexington. Approximately 220 high school sophomores attended the weekend event.

Former governor Julian Carroll, Kentucky State University President Raymond Burse, Lexington developer Dudley Webb, United States Congressman Larry Hopkins, and state government officials Alice McDonald and David Boswell were among the speakers.

The Kentucky Youth Leadership Seminar is part of the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation which sponsors similar seminars in all 50 states and numerous foreign countries. Founded by actor Hugh O'Brian, (HOBY) is designed to teach students how to think, not what to think.

For more information, call your area HOBY ambassador or state chairpersons, Ralph and Susan Coldiron, 606-253-0187.

UK Students Intern at HRMC

Students from the University of Kentucky College of Allied Health Professionals visited health care organizations in the area from May 27 through June 6. Three of these students were placed at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

"None of the students who visited here had been to Eastern Kentucky," said Carol Blevins, Public Information Officer at HRMC. "They had heard all sorts of negative things about this area and were pleasantly surprised to find that we are modern and up-to-date. They also were impressed with the beauty of the area and many of them expressed a wish to come back."

Paula King, of Paducah, Elizabeth Riggs, of Louisville, and Sandy Mink, of Middlesboro, observed at Highlands Regional during their two weeks in the area. Paula and Elizabeth are Health Administration majors at UK. They spent their time observing the workings of HRMC's Administration. Sandy is a Physical Therapy major at UK. She spent her time working with Gary Knight in HRMC's Physical Therapy Department.

"We were glad to have the chance to host these students," said Blevins. "We hope they will take their good impressions of Highlands Regional and Prestonsburg back to school so others will know that Eastern Kentucky isn't as backward as people think it is."

Adams Certified AS EMT Instructor

Captain Larry Adams, of the Prestonsburg Fire Department, was certified as an Emergency Medical Technician instructor recently, after completing two week-ends of intensive training at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond.

Adams' certification will assist in keeping the training of the fire department's EMTs in line with state requirements. He has been involved in the field of fire and rescue since 1969, and a member of the Prestonsburg Fire Dept. since 1979.

June Buchanan School To Offer Lower Level

Dr. Jerry C. Davis, president of Alice Lloyd College, announced that next school year there will be a first and second grade of The June Buchanan School. In addition, the program will be expanded to include the seventh grade. Dr. Davis said, "The Caney Creek Community Center has come full swing now—once again offering education for children from nursery school through college. This has been a long time in coming and it is something a lot of people have wanted to see."

Dr. Davis went on to say, "We are pleased to announce that Mrs. Ginny Steiger, who has been working with our preschool, will be teaching the first and second graders. Mrs. Debby Cook, who assisted Mrs. Steiger last year, will supervise the preschool program. Mrs. Joy Balkcom will teach the seventh grade and serve as coordinator for the lower school."

Parents interested in enrolling their youngsters in any of the grades this fall should call Mrs. Sally Brashear, guidance counselor, for further information. Class size will be limited, application should be made soon.

LIFE INSURANCE
Which Kind is Best For You?

The many types of life insurance make it confusing for the average person to decide what to buy. Life insurance policies are either "whole life," "term," or some combination of the two. It's the combination of these two which has provided a variety of new products including "universal life."

Term insurance is the lowest premium policy for providing straight protection. These policies generally have no cash value and the premiums will increase as you get older.

Whole life is term insurance plus a savings program. The premiums are higher than for "term" but are normally level for all the years you own it. As the savings grow, the insurance coverage decreases. This is true because if you die while the policy is in force, your beneficiary gets the face amount of the policy but not the savings (loan) value. Some companies might provide that you get both the savings value and the face amount; if they do, the premium will be increased accordingly.

If one has a need for $200,000 of life insurance, what should it cost? For a 35-year-old person, the first-year premium on a $200,000 term policy would probably be about $500. The annual premium on a similar amount of whole life could be $3,000 or more.

If this 35-year-old person has a $500 annual budget for life insurance, he or she could buy about $200,000 of term insurance or about $25,000 of whole life.

An insurance policy may not be for you if you will be either unable or unwilling to continue the policy in force. A large part of your early premiums go to pay the administrative costs of setting up your policy. If you terminate the policy, you will have paid a high price for a rather short term benefit.

Have your insurance agent give you a comparison of the options available to you.

Center Readies For 2nd Summerfest

Basket-makers draw curious onlookers at last year's Summerfest, sponsored by the David Appalachian Crafts Center.

If you would like to see a split oak basket being made or listen to traditional area music, David Appalachian Crafts has this and more for you. Summerfest will be held Saturday, June 21, at the David Appalachian Crafts Center on Highway 404 in David. The celebration will begin at 11 a.m. with a potluck dinner for the center's hundred-plus craftspeople and their families. Craft demonstrations from 1 to 4 p.m. will be featured events open to the public. Basket-making, wood-carving, quilting, and cornshucking and more are sure to offer something of interest to every one. Finished crafts and the "National Peace Quilt", will be on display in the center. In addition local musicians will provide musical entertainment. One of David Appalachian Crafts Center's goals is to encourage the production of authentic, high quality, traditional, Appalachian hand-crafted goods. Mary Pineau, founder of the center, will return for the day, as guest of honor. Craftspeople and visitors are asked to park nearby at the David School. For more information call 886-2377.

Not For Everyone, But... Here's Bat House Plans

People go to great lengths to crush, poison or electrocute insects that invade their living and recreational space. But one possible solution to the backyard insect problem doesn't involve chemicals or electricity. It's a bat house.

A bird house for bats isn't as batty an idea as it may sound. A single bat eats about 3,000 insects a night. A small colony of bats, one about the size that would live very nicely in the average backyard bat house, will eat more than 100,000 insects nightly. That's a lot more dead bugs than even the best bug zapper would chalk up.

Craig Huegel, Extension wildlife specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said many of the perceptions people have about bats are wrong.

"Some people think of bats as flying rats. They're not even related. Rats are rodents and bats are not. And the 17 species of bats found in Kentucky do not attack humans, or any other type of animal, for that matter," Huegel said.

Thousands of bat houses have been built in Europe over the past 60 years, and hundreds of the structures have been popping up here in the U.S. in recent years. Not every bat house will lure bats to set up housekeeping. Just as birds, bats are a bit fussy about the design and location of their living quarters.

One very important consideration many bats setting up housekeeping share with newlywed humans setting up housekeeping for the first time is the nursery. Bats almost always insist on a nearly airtight house with only a small opening at the bottom. This arrangement allows them to enjoy a fairly stable temperature of between 80 and 90 F in the nursery.

The orientation of the bat house to the sun also is important as this will determine to a large extent just how warm it gets in the house. Huegel said builders of backyard bat-dominiums should put a minimum-maximum thermometer in it and record the high and low temperatures in the structure as it is shifted in orientation to the sun from day to day. A location and orientation that keeps the temperature with a few degrees of the 80-90 F range during the summer should be inviting to a group of bats.

Bat houses should never be painted or varnished, or made from treated lumber. Cedar or redwood are popular building materials among bats. Bats seem to like lakefronts lots, too. Houses located 12 to 15 feet above the ground near a permanent water source are most likely to be inhabited.

"Bats are as clean as any wild animal. They are no more likely to transmit disease or parasites to people than are the rabbits and possums that live in backyards all over the state. And bats provide the benefit every night of removing hundreds of thousands of insects from the area in which they live."

"I'd much rather sit on my patio or back deck and watch bats doing their thing than to have to listen to the incessant buzz and wheeze of some glowing purple contraption that attracts more insects than it kills," Huegel said.

For a copy of a set of plans for a bat house, write to:
 Dr. Craig Huegel, Department of Forestry, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky. 40546-0073.

Two Floyd Hospitals Sponsor Blood Drive

Twenty-one people participated in Our Lady of the Way Hospital's last blood drive with 18 pints donated. Chairperson Tobi Bingham organized the drive in conjunction with Central Kentucky Blood Center. Also 54 people participated in Highlands Regional Medical Center's last blood drive with 40 pints donated. Chairperson Don Hicks organized this drive.

Blood drives are held in industries for the convenience of donors and industries; the result is a two-part community service. The employees' community service is when they share their good health by donating. The hospitals' community service is demonstrated by providing their employees paid release time to donate, chairpersons time to organize and by providing the site.

Hosts Spring Banquet

The Christian Women's Fellowship of Floyd County recently sponsored their 10th Annual Mother/Daughter/Friends Spring Banquet. The evenings program, Reflections of His Beauty, was enjoyed by approximately 190 women.

Serving as co-mistresses of ceremonies were Miss Barbara Wynns and Miss Patricia Watson. Mrs. Lyda Faye Crum, president, gave the welcome and introduction. Mrs. Sylvia Heintzelman and daughter, Ruth Ann, presented the mother and daughter tributes.

Highlighting the program was the performance of Gods Woman of the Hour, with 24 women from the Christian Womens Fellowship and various churches participating. Mrs. Mina Oglesby of Chattanooga, Tenn., narrated the pageant and also served as the singer and speaker of the evening. Mrs. Leah Bowers, of Sassafras, Ky., accompanied her on the piano.

Mrs. Esther Williams, of Johnson county, was presented a lovely plaque and honored as Mother of the Year. She was also honored for her vibrant Christian testimony and leadership through the years. Mrs. Williams taught school from the age of 18 until she retired in 1972.

Marie Hall, a senior at Allen Central High, was honored for her art, poetry and Christian leadership. One of her poems written especially for the occasion, was read by Patricia Watson.

The 11th Spring Banquet will be held in May, 1987 and will be sponsored by the Christian Womens Fellowship of Floyd county.

To the many people who know her, Kathryn Frazier is a cheerful, soft-spoken retired music teacher—not a high risk heart patient.

But on February 6, 1985, Kathryn suffered from what she thought was simple indigestion. It turned out to be a heart attack.

Kathryn was enrolled in the outpatient cardiac rehabilitation program at Highlands Regional Medical Center, where a comprehensive program of

For "Miss Kathryn" Frazier, cardiac rehabilitation was a heartening experience...

"We all just had a really good time helping ourselves get well. That doesn't sound possible, does it?"

exercise, dieting and instruction helps heart patients like Kathryn return to a normal, productive and enjoyable life-style.

And like most things in her life, Kathryn got more out of the program than just her healthy recovery.

"I made new friends down there and it was good for me. The doctors are very good and they monitor you very carefully so you don't overdo yourself. Yet at the same time, they insist that you do what you can. I tightened up muscles, I rode my bicycle and we just had a really good time helping ourselves to get well. That doesn't sound possible, does it?"

The cardiac rehab program at Highlands isn't just for heart attack victims. It helps patients recover fully and quickly from major heart surgery. Supported by highly sophisticated diagnostic technology, cardiac rehab can also help prevent future heart problems for those in high-risk categories. And it's all right here at home, in the Big Sandy.

Call Patsy Sword for more information about the outpatient cardiac rehabilitation program at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The gas company doesn't like it.

The electric heat pump.
The gas company doesn't like it. Because it doesn't use gas. Yet in the winter it can heat your home twice as efficiently as a gas furnace.
In the summer, it gives you the bonus of central air conditioning.
It's all you need for year-round comfort. So, call us about the only all-in-one heating and cooling system.
The reliable, flameless electric heat pump.

Acreage Report Deadline Nears

Joe E. Slone, chairman of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, is asking all farmers to file an acreage report, whether they are participating in the 1986 commodity programs or not, and protect their crop acreage bases.

By certifying, farmers establish documentation for future crop acreage bases as well as eligibility for different benefits if they decide to participate in farm programs.

It is important for farmers who are participating in the 1986 program to file an acreage report. Without it, they are not really participating. ASCS must have the report in order to determine the level at which producers are eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments, and other program benefits.

Farm program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to CRP. When farmers report to the county ASCS office, they can review aerial photos of their farm and pinpoint the fields in which the crops are grown. This information is then documented for program compliance and crop acreage bases.

Final certification date for corn, ACR, and other crops is July 15.

Pageant Winner

Sheena Brooke Adams, 19-month-old daughter of Danny and Connie Adams, of Prestonsburg, participated in the Miss Rose Petal pageant held in Garrett, June 6.

She won the titles of Toddler Miss Rose Petal and Toddler Miss Photogenic, scoring perfect in both beauty and photogenic competitions.

She will participate in the Dream World's Kentucky State Pageant in August.

Miss Adams is the granddaughter of Monroe and Nancy Adams, of Middlecreek and William and Polly Hall, of Prestonsburg.

David Crafts Will Feature Peace Quilt

The National Peace Quilt, whose final destination is the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C., will be displayed at David, June 21. The quilt's 50 squares, one from each state, are based on children's drawings. Kentucky's block was sketched in 1984 by seven-year old Kim Newsome, of Ligon, and applied by members of David Crafts in David.

The adults who planned and stitched the finished quilt share concern over increased violence, nuclear build-up and international unrest which threaten the future of our children.

The intent of the project is to have every U.S. Senator sleep under the Peace Quilt for one night. Seventy-three senators have already done so. They then recorded their reflections in the accompanying notebook and had their names embroidered next to their state block.

Kentucky's two senators were among the first to experience the Peace Quilt. "Peace is one of the most beautiful gifts that God has given us. We must cherish it and strive to preserve it for future generations," reflected Senator Mitch McConnell. Senator Wendall Ford's response was "The flowers, grass, trees and children are our future. We can save the world with peace."

This history-making quilt will be on display Saturday, June 21, in David at the second annual David Crafts Summerfest from 1-4 p.m. Along with the quilt display there will be music and craft demonstrations.

Suit Filed Against Season Sash, Inc.

Attorney General David L. Armstrong recently filed suit in Fayette Circuit Court against F.M.P. Corp., doing business as Season Sash, Inc., a window replacement company with its corporate headquarters in Lexington. The suit seeks a permanent injunction against alleged deceptive practices, restitution to victims of the practices, and civil penalties for willful violations of the Consumer Protection Act.

In addition to Season Sash, Inc., other defendants named in the suit are: Transnational Capital Corp.; GMX Corp.; United Equity Corp.; and Delta Financial Services Corp. The corporations (which are interrelated) manufacture, market and finance replacement windows, doors and related products which are sold through sales presentations conducted in consumers' homes.

Armstrong said, "We are seeking a temporary injunction against certain of the corporations' alleged deceptive practices and hope to obtain a permanent injunction against all the alleged deceptive practices at a later date." He added, "The Consumer Protection Division has received numerous complaints against the defendants in the last several years. This suit is the result of a lengthy investigation."

The complaint alleges that the defendants have engaged in numerous unfair and deceptive practices which violate Kentucky's Consumer Protection Act. These include: harassment of consumers through repeated high-pressure telephone solicitations; use of high-pressure sales tactics in sales presentations made in consumers' homes; misrepresentation of the material terms of sales agreements, such as the existence of a security interest in a credit sale; the use of unsubstantiated claims about the energy-saving capabilities of their products; the misrepresentation of the position and authority of sales personnel; the misrepresentation of the nature, quality and performance of products; the use of high-pressure sales tactics and undue influence to take advantage of elderly consumers; and the failure to respond to consumer complaints and requests for service.

The suit is pending in Fayette Circuit Court.

Nurses Who Attend Childbirth Told of Family-Centered Care

The Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association and the University of Kentucky School of Nursing last month co-sponsored a highly successful one-day conference on family-centered maternity care. The conference focused on the role of the obstetrical nurse in ensuring a positive birthing environment. The meeting was attended by 86 participants including practicing staff nurses, nurse administrators, nurse educators and L.P.N. nursing students from Mayo Vocational Technical School.

Presenters at the conference included, three area physicians, Dr. Chandra Varia, obstetrician-gynecologist, Dr. Ellen Joyce, family physician at the Mud Creek Clinic, and Dr. Kathy Neider, family physician at Mary Breckenridge Hospital in Hyden; Wendy Wagers and Erica Goodman, certified nurse-midwives from Frontier Nursing Service; and obstetrical nurses Mary Montgomery of Our Lady of the Way Hospital and Donna Donochick of Booth Maternity Center in Philadelphia. Jean Rosenberg, BSF and CEA director, acted as moderator. Technical assistance and materials were provided by the Continuing Education Department of the University of Kentucky's School of Nursing.

The nurses' key role in shaping a positive environment for the birthing family was highlighted repeatedly by speakers. Some presenters spoke of the simple techniques that put families at ease in the obstetrical setting while others challenged these nurses to be innovative in their approach to care by describing alternatives to traditional birthing routines, positioning and delivery settings.

Conference planners and presenters used both small group discussions and panels to address the nursing challenges to deliver family centered care in realistic, less than ideal situations. Understaffing, malpractice-conscious physicians and overly assertive clients with demanding agendas were a few of the real life concerns discussed.

Dr. Varia gave a presentation combining the two most sought-after mini-sesion topics at the conference. One focused on vaginal birth after cesarean delivery, "VBAC". This obstetrical practice is changing the old view that once a woman has a cesarean delivery all following children must be born by the same route. Dr. Varia also spoke on the value of having a coach or family support person be present when a woman is delivering by cesarean section. She gave the audience many positive anecdotes from her own experience with both practices.

Donna Donochick, nurse manager from Philadelphia's Booth Maternity Center, gave nurses a variety of techniques for dealing with families who experience unexpected outcomes or neonatal death. This is an area of obstetrical nursing that challenges the best nurse to provide family-centered care.

Evaluations completed by participants were highly complimentary of the presenters and content of the program, which qualified for six hours of nursing continuing education credit.
